WELLAND CANAL DISASTER KILLS NINE

500 TON STREET GATE KILLED 9

Mass of Steel Crushes Life From Workmen In Welland Canal

LIKELY MORE DEAD

Over Thirty Badly Injured Many of Whom Not Expected to Live

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 1.—The crash of the steel gate of lock number six of the new Welland Canal at Thorold, Ont., shortly before noon today, caused the deaths of at least nine workmen and injuries, some of which may prove serious to about thirty others.

Almost forty workmen were in the vicinity of the lock when the disaster occurred and none is believed to have escaped death or injury. When the debris has been cleared away, it is expected, the death toll will be higher.

The accident was caused by a boom of one of the cranes slipping when an effort was being made to raise the huge 500-ton steel gate into place on the west side of the lock. Two cranes were at work at the time, one handling each end of the heavy gate. The crane nearest the head of the lock held; but the boom of the crane at the lower end slipped. The operator is said to have endeavored to right the situation but the slip of the boom resulted in the great crashing thy crane to the bottom of the lock. The huge gate crashed into the steel gate fixed at the east side of the lock and smashing the steel work, fell to the bottom of the lock; crushing the workmen as it fell.

Caused Several Explosions.

Where the gate killed were so badly crushed that identification had not been made up to two o'clock. They were caught beneath flying steel and the massive gate, and killed instantly. It is reported that two men on the crane, which fell with the gate, were killed but their bodies had not been recovered. It is also feared that several bodies will be found beneath the great gate when the twisted steel is raised so as to permit workmen to walk beneath.

Not only were the men actually working on the task of raising the huge gate into place caught in its fall, but also riveters, helpers and ground men working at the head of the gate. Word of the disaster spread quickly and a crowd soon had gathered about the locks looking at the mass of ruins and at the workmen's fair below as the latter carried out injured and had them hauled to the top of the lock, from where they were rushed to the general hospital. Every possible efforts was made to rescue the living but in many cases they were so badly crushed that little hope is held for their lives.

Work of administering first aid was carried on by physicians from Thorold, Merritton and St. Catharines. Doctors were with the rescue crews and administered relief to sufferers before the trip to the hospital. It will probably be late this afternoon before the rescue work is completed and the bodies of the dead recovered. Time will also be necessary for identification of those who have been killed.

The accident is without parallel in the history of the construction of the ship canal and appears to have been entirely accidental.

ENGLISH OLYMPIC STAR AND HIS FIANCEE

Whilst Traditions of British Sport

Lord Birdgbley, who won the 400 metres hurdles for Great Britain at the Olympic games at Amsterdam is one of England's most notable athletes. When at Cambridge he held the American intercollegiate hurdles championship. When he ran one of the greatest races of his career, he was watched from the stands by his parents, the Marquis and Marchioness of Exeter, and his fiancee, Lady Montagu-Douglas-Scott, who is the fourth daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Buccleuch.

CHURCH BELLS RANG THRU NIGHT FOR AGED WANDERER IN BUSH

RECOVER $2,000,000

Eighty Year Old Spent Dark Hours Looking For His Cow

Lorient, France, Aug. 1.—A message from Belle Isle today said that a sunken treasure consisting of diamonds and precious stones valued at $2,000,000 had been recovered by Italian divers from the hold of the Belgian steamer "Elisabethville", which was torpedoed off the coast near here during the closing months of the war. The divers were employed by the Belgian Government.

When Mr. Richard Neal, who is over eighty years of age, left his home on Monday morning about eight o'clock with the purpose in mind of going berry picking and had not returned by evening, the entire village of Marmora was aroused and search parties were sent out to scour the countryside, believing the aged man had met with a serious accident.

Mr. Neal had been seen several times during the afternoon, about four miles west of the village, but although the parties kept up the search long into the night no sign could be found of him. The church bells were kept ringing most of the night as a signal.

On Tuesday morning, Mr. C. Scoll who was on the way to work at Deloro, found Neal walking on the road leading to Blairton, about six miles west of the village. Mr. Scoll brought the aged man home, and he did not seem much the worse for being out all night.

Aphasia the Cause

Mr. Neal had not the slightest recollection of where he had been all afternoon and evening when the searchers were frantically scouring the countryside for him. He had not heard the church bells ringing all night long, nor had he worried in the least about not coming home.

Mr. Neal stated that he had been looking through the woods for a cow belonging to him that he alleged had been straying away. Although nights have been decidedly cool for the past few weeks, the aged wanderer was little the worse for his experiences.

NUN DENIES ANY INFLUENCE USED

Declares She Thought That 'Pepe' Would Not Hurt A Flea

Mexico City, Aug. —Conception Arcebedo de La Plata, nun, who was arrested with Miss Leon Toral as having influenced him indirectly, to assassinate General Alvaro Obregon, testified at the preliminary hearing of Toral, today that she had never told him or anyone that the death of President Calles, General Obregon and Patriarch Peres were necessary for the settlement of the religious conflict.

"I never thought that he would kill even a flea," she said. In speaking of the prisoner she used the intimate nickname of "Pepe."

Toral's wife testified that the nun and a priest named Jiunton exercised such an influence over Toral that they had distracted his attentions from her. She denied having any knowledge of her husband's intention to commit the crime.

Following the fair at the Capital, Mr. Reeves will go to New York City for the shown sponsored by the Tuxedo Club. He will also go to Kansas City for another Dog Show.

"I never saw so much optimism in the western Provinces as there is at the present time," said Mr. Reeves in speaking with the Intelligencer this morning. The crops are coming along splendidly and farmers look forward to the biggest wheat harvest in years.

Mr. Reeves, who is an ardent golfer witnessed the playing of the Western championship which was played at the course of the Edmonton Country Club.

SMART WORK GOT TWO OF A GANG

Wild Chase Through The City Streets in Early Morning Hours

CONFESSED THEFTS

Admit Breaking Into Service Station and Taking Car in Hamilton

Two men held responsible for gasoline service station robberies at Deseronto and Prescott are being detained in the County Jail on a nominal charge of vagrancy and the police are endeavouring to learn of their previous records. Shortly after midnight last night Constables Graham and Anthony Rooney both claiming Ottawa as their homes they were arraigned this morning and after a short hearing were committed to jail. The police are investigating charges of two other men who may be members of the same gang.

This morning at 5.30 Sergt. Arthur Harman who was on night duty, received a call from A Mrs. Sharpe at Deseronto stating that four men had broken in her husband's garage, stolen a quantity of tobacco, cigarettes and gasoline and were heading westward in a touring car. Mrs. Sharpe stated that there was no number plate on the front of the car.

Street Sweeper Recruited

Sergt. Harman summoned Constable Jackson who was on duty and they stationed themselves at the corner of Bridge and Front Street. The street sweeper was on the morning rounds and the operator placed the huge vehicle across the road, forming a barricade.

The car was noted approaching the corner and as it neared the City Hall the driver of the car spotted the uniforms of the officers and he car shot up through the market square at a terrific rate. Sergt. Harman and Constable Jackson arrived near the Post Office in time to see the car turn and shoot up east Bridge Street and he gave chase. They turned north on John and the police sensing that they were attempting to make their way westward wirded around to wait for their return down Victoria Avenue.

Just as we reached the Hydro building we could hear them coming down the hill" said the officers in relating the story to the Intelligencer. Sergt. Harman who is a veteran in the point of service on the local force reached his car directly in the centre of the road allowing them only the space of a car to turn past on Victoria Ave.

As they swerved around the officer they shot their rear fender and jammed them up against the curb. In less time than it takes to tell it, the four men were out of the car and were being up Victoria Avenue s'g the other two in the direction of Pinnacle. Constable Jackson pulled his gun and started up Victoria Avenue shouting at the fleeing men to halt. They paid no heed but finally the officer overhauled one of them while the other effected his escape.

The other two men had made a dash for the C.N.R. yards, presumably in the direction of the Capital Hotel yards. The police searched the garage with no traces of either of them.

Official Declared That United States Woman Finished First

Amsterdam, Aug. 1.—The protest of Canada against the awarding of the 100 metres women's event to Elzabeth Robinson of the United States, was thrown out by a jury of the International Amateur Athletic Federation. Canada held that Fanny Rosenfeld should have been declared the winner.

PERCY WILLIAMS REPEATS IN 200

Brilliant Young Canadian Makes History by His Double Victory

Amsterdam, Aug. 1—Percy Williams of Vancouver won the 200 metres championship at the Olympic games today, performing the remarkable feat of winning both Olympic sprints as he captured the 100 metres crown on Monday.

Again the British Empire triumphed in the astounding victory of the Vancouver sprinter who has carried away the major glory of the Olympic so far. Williams preceded his feat of taking the 200 metres final by winning the semi-final of the same event. He defeated the world's greatest sprinters among others the Italian ace, Helmut Koernig and Jackson Scholtz, of the United States. It was the first double sprint victory since 1912.

Run Brilliantly

The sensational nineteen year-old school boy was uniformly brilliant throughout the 200 metre preliminaries as he had been at the shorter distance. His victory in the final was the crowning performance of the tournament.

He won by a good yard from Walter Rangeley, of Britain and Scholtz, United States, and Koernig, Germany were far third. Johnny Fitzpatrick of Hamilton was fifth.

Williams, as in 100 metres, had tremendous speed left for the final dash after trailing the leaders until near the finish. The curly-haired Canadian boy was unbeatable.

Williams was nearly mobbed and was photographed with the Canadian flag draped around him. The Williams was 21 4-5 seconds, one fifth of a second slower than the record.

Women Semi-Final

Amsterdam, Aug. 1.—Percy Williams Vancouver, B.C., won the first semi-final heat of the 200 metres at the Olympic games today, defeating Charles Peddock, of the United States among others, he young Canadian, who crashed into the limelight with his victory in the 100 metres, Monday, looked very weak as he led the field over the twenty track in 22 seconds flat.

Johnny Fitzpatrick, Hamilton, Ont., also qualified when he was second to Helmut Koernig, Germany, in the second heat.

TAKE ANOTHER DAY TO CONSIDER SENTENCE FOR YOUNG H. SAYERS

JUMPED OVERBOARD

Dr. N. Cuthbertson.

Depressed by foggy weather during a two days' voyage he had been told that the days spent on the ocean in the sun would probably bring him back to his health, Dr., Norman Cuthbertson, well known throughout Canada and especially in the west for his work in the Yukon district and the North West Territories, while in mid-Atlantic on the steamer Lapland, left his wife and friends and jumped overboard. He was not aware of my slight a minute.' Mrs. Culbertson, his young widow, said on landing. "And after he left me we never saw him again."

CLIPPED RECORD IN PRELIMINARY

Jean Thompson, Sensational High School Girl Runner In Finals

Amsterdam, Aug 1.—(By W. Inman, staff correspondent of the Canadian Press)—Jean Thompson, 17 year-old high school girl of Montreal, Canada and Fany Rosenfeld, Toronto will represent Canada in the finals of the women's 800 metre race at Olympic Stadium tomorrow. The Montreal and Toronto girls were among the athlete were the only Canadian girls to enter the event and both qualified.

Miss Thompson beat the world's record in easily winning her heat of Florence MacDonald, United States, her time being 2.23 1- compared with the world's record of 2.23 4-5.

HEAVY TRUCK RAN OVER BABE'S HEAD

Peterboro, Ont., Aug. 1.—The fifteen months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mohler, of Douro, was instantly killed in front of her home when a heavy truck passed over her head, according to a report received here this afternoon. Emerie Robinson was driving the truck, which backed over the child as it was playing on the farm with a load of milk. An inquest will be held.

The Italian press is dedicating whole pages to the return of General Nobile. Distinguished editorialists occupy the columns and these may be summed up in the words of Popolo Romano, Fascist organ, which says, "General Nobile, greeatr. All of Italy stands up for misfortune made your heroism all the you and your superb brothers, for those who are dead and for those who are alive, for all sinlacious fine and great things you have done."

"Greeting given you by the Roman people is an admonition to all records and renegades who are cursed because they are compelled to live outside

Today in court Magistrate Ketcheson said, "My own disposition would be to suspend sentence upon Sayers. Everybody concerned seems to want a suspended sentence and I would like to give serious consideration to it." The terms under which sentence would be suspended would be necessarily very, very severe."

Continuing, His Worship outlined a masterful plan—"It would only be on condition that this man would never ride in a motor vehicle of any description for the period of his suspension. This is a great punishment and to be able to even ride in a car. I would like him to take service in the line of life he would quit the ule of alcoholic liquor. I am influenced to a very great extent by the Ontario Temperance ing this battalion and by the views of those concerned." Mr. Mikel stated that Colonel Kester had written him and at his office this morning to plead for a suspended sentence for young Sayers.

Although it is not in my power to order, I would expect to know that the sentence would be carried out, that he had been to church regularly." I would like him to take service in the battalion. I would expect to find the man off the streets at night, or, if I should find him there, I would send him jail for thirty days. I don't know just what the Magistrate might accept in me in the meantime."

The Crown Objects

Crown Attorney Bowerman was decided- ly not in favor of a suspended sentence, stating that he was "personally opposed to suspended sentence."

"These men are potential killers always and this is a very bad case. I have only to submit that the accused should receive a term of imprisonment."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

"And think of duty: still always be doing, and to the utmost of strength use things to perform it."—Mary Lyon.

LET CHILDREN WORK OUT THEIR PROBLEMS

Harold Gregsbee writes in the Rotarian World at Henry Ford and his son Edsel. The passage that should be studied by all young men, by boys and girls even, is Edsel's account of his father's policy in training men: "He literally gave me a chance to do anything. He just tells them what is to be accomplished. The man has to work out the matter for himself, and my father is the most patient man in the world about mistakes. He lets a man shake mistakes even when he knows in advance that a mistake is going to be made. Of course, if the results of the mistake are going to be too disastrous in the long run, he steps in at the right time. But other times he will let the man go ahead and find out for himself what he has done wrong. That is what he has done with me. I have had to learn that for me otherwise it is possible to make a man into accepting responsibility. The hardest thing in business is to get men to take responsibility. It is easy enough to get men who will carry out orders."

If this policy of Henry Ford could be introduced to the families of the world generally it would work a great improvement in the character of the race. Parents have simply no other idea of bringing up a child than by issuing orders and insisting that they be carried out the most meticulous detail. What child has no chance to develop initiative. Mistakes are considered to be sins that they are magnified into crimes, and severe punishment is meted out to the unfortunate boy or girl who transgresses the parent's wish very often a silly or stupid wish. Children who show initiative and display keen zest down as "disobedient brats" or something worse and gain a bad reputation.

How can children develop into independence of character when all their training and experience is toned down to slavish subservience? Especially in the older countries is this slave mentality noticed in the case of children by independent turn; it frequently leads to revolt, and such young men skip often among the emigrants who build up the overseas lands.

Parents would do well to think for their own children, but have the privilege of assisting them to find their way into the world and of giving them the result of their own experience in reaching a start. Every child has his life to live, and the parent's greatest service must be in enabling the child to find out what kind of life that is to be, not in imposing on the child a life such as the parent would like to have it follow. It is in this way the child will gain a sense of the meaning of responsibility, and its practical, the value of self-reliance, and confidence in the reason and judgment that all possess, and which increase in power and wisdom by the use made of them.

NOT HOW FAST BUT—HOW QUICK TO STOP

When it comes to a fight place on the highway it doesn't make much difference how fast you can drive your car. The question that crowds itself to the front is: In what distance can you come to a stop?

The Department of Highways is doing some intelligent advertising on this point, and it is of the kind that deserves to be noted.

A car going 35 miles per hour, it is pointed out, moves 51½ feet every ten seconds; at 40 miles an hour, 587 feet every ten seconds, and at 45 miles an hour the rate is 725 feet in ten seconds.

As the rate of a car increases, so does the distance in which it can be stopped, and its this stopping-up feature that is of chief concern for the moment.

If your car is equipped with four-wheel brakes, and they are in average condition, you should be able to come to a full stop in the following distances:

At 35 miles an hour in 72 feet.
At 40 miles an hour in 95 feet.
At 50 miles an hour in 150 feet.

Here's the point worth noting: At 10 miles an hour it takes 10 per cent. more distance in which to stop than at 35 miles, although your speed has increased slightly less than 43 per cent.

MORE TAXES PAID AT THE LOWER RATE

The figures issued by the department of national revenue for collections of income tax in the first three months of the present fiscal year are "highly gratifying. They show that the old bottom, in spite of tax reductions, are the highest since the tax was established in 1917 and reached the grand total of $47,551,622." This figure is three million dollars greater than the previous high level, and over six million dollars more than the amount collected in the same three months of 1927.

Before income tax is paid there must be income to justify its payment, so this increase points to a remarkable increase in the earnings of the people of Canada. This state of prosperity is all the more marked when one takes into consideration the reductions which were made in the tax in the last two budgets. That is not the first time that a decrease in income tax rates has been followed by a jump in the amount collected, and that would seem to indicate that as the levy is low ered there is a greater inclination on the part of the people to pay their just dues.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

The hit-and-run driver is not deserving of mercy. There are criminals for whom it is sometimes difficult not to entertain feelings of sympathy. Such an attitude towards the coward who strikes in the dark with a weapon of fifty-horse-power or more, and then speeds on, hoping to escape in the fog of anonymity, is inexcusable.—Boston Transcript.

THE SILVER BIRCH

Fair silver birch,
A dream of rare delight
In spring's fair dawn,
Thro' winter's darksome night
Thy slender form
Is full of witching grace,

But why so sad
When joy is all around?
With drooping head
Thou bendest to the ground,
Surely fair spring
Will kiss thee ere she pass,
Sweet, weeping birch—
Her shadow's on the grass!

CROWE LAKE REGATTA.—A Big Field Day and Regatta will be held under the auspices of the Marmora Women's Memorial League at Crowe Lake next Monday. Reg. Blomfield the world's trick canoeist, the American and Canadian single blade champion will give an Exhibition. Mr. Blomfield holds the record for upset and flip. Softball games between Marmora and Deloro and a general sports program including acquatics will be held. The Marmora Band will furnish music for the afternoon.

GOOD CATCHES.—Messrs. Chas. Jeffery, Sr., his son Charles, Jr. and 'Bouncer' Holway and a party made a splendid catch of fish in the Bay of Quinte on the telegraph Light yesterday. Five goodsized bass were the result of the day's expedition. Another party of old fishermen came home with thirty-five members of the fishy tribe over the week-end. Telegraph Light is a popular rendezvous for followers of the Walton Isle year.

Mr. Steve Garvin, dogcatcher at the south depot was the recipient of two fine specimens of speckled trout this morning. They were sent by his brother who resides at Hornepayne, Ontario. It is said that fishing in the North country is at its height at the present time. The donor states that the waters in the vicinity of Hornepayne team with speckled trout.

ADVERTISING CAR HERE.—An advertising car representing the Provincial National Exhibition was in the city today distributing hand-bills and advertising matter. The Canadian National Exhibition will be better than ever this year. The big Wrigley swim will be one of the features is drawing a big entry. George Young hopes to defeat his strongest rival Ernest Vierkoetter, the German. They are now in training for the big contest.

SOCCER PRACTICE.

Officials of the local Soccer team announced today that a practice will be held at Pine Street School grounds on Friday at 6.30 p.m. to p.m. The Belleville team will play in Deloro on Saturday and the Steelers captured the game played here the locals will have to be on their game on Saturday. Belleville won the game played in Deloro and the visitors were the best in the return and therefore the two teams are on even terms now. An invitation to all Soccer players in the city is extended to attend Friday night's practice.

LESS VIOLATIONS

Tourists and city motorists in the city seem to have learned that it is against the law to leave automobiles parked on the main streets all night, and the police of the city sweeper in the early hours of the morning. In the past few days there have not been many cars found lined into court charged with this offense.

and as they emerged empty-handed the man was climbing sub rosa into the car which was under motion in about thirty seconds. Sergt. Harman and Constable Peaker took him into custody. They gave their names as Anthony Johnston and Hunt and Douglas Graham alias John Hogan.

Car Stolen in Hamilton

The car was stolen in Hamilton as the officers on examination found the two original number plates under the rubber mats in the front seat. Another number plate was found stuffed beneath the canvas top and this was said to have been attached to a car stolen from a man named McCauley of Frankford some weeks ago. A box of cigars, chocolates, biscuits, soft drinks and a quantity of other confectionery was found in the car.

Graham admitted the theft of the car as well as the robbery at the gas station. Both men declared that the other two men at large are innocent of any robbery as they are tramps and were picked up on the highway early this morning. The number plate on the car was picked up on the highway by Graham on the way to the city.

The Police were notified this morning that a gas station at Prescott had been robbed and the same both are suspected of the offence.

LAWS OF HEREDITY MAY BE MODIFIED

By DR. LOUIS E. REICH

"The laws of heredity cannot be set aside" is not to be ignored. Yet there is such a thing as people getting into a needless state of fear because they misinterpret or misunderstand heredity and worry because some older member of the family is ill.

People become alarmed if some ancestor has suffered from insanity, or from cancer or a nervous breakdown. They get the notion that they, too, will develop an identical malady because of hereditary influence.

When we think scientifically about the transmission of disease from parent to offspring or of peculiarities or weaknesses in figure it out in terms of what is known as the Mendelian hypothesis or the Mendelian Law of Inheritance.

This dates from 1865 when a monk by the name of Gregor Mendel made certain keen observations on the cross fertilization and resultant colors to be found in ordinary garden peas.

This momentous contribution to science remained unknown, however, for thirty-five years when his report was discovered simultaneously by several botanists.

Mendel's work at once put the subject of heredity upon a sound, rational and almost mathematical basis.

Since, therefore, hereditary transmission of disease is not a hit and miss affair, it ought to reassure you about your ancestors.

Although scientists are applying the principles of Mendelism to traits and diseases, only a few, like color of the eyes and Huntington's chorea, have been thoroughly worked out.

Mental defect probably follows the theory, but although epilepsy and insanity have hereditary birthrate, specific prophesies aout them cannot be made.

Tuberculosis is not hereditary.

If we inherit anything at all regarding these dread conditions, we merely inherit a tendency toward development of insanity or tuberculosis, and not the disease itself.

This, of course, is something quite different from inheriting a disease and being doomed to develop it despite what you may do. Yet no matter what your heredity may show, you can sure ly always fight and counteract a tendency quite easily.

Dullest all the talk you can about it. Consult an expert. In any case, apply Mendel's theory. That often clears up doubts.

Don't let your ancestors frighten you. Don't let disease scare you. Don't let heredity alarm you.

Try to adopt a scientific viewpoint. Get an unbiased opinion on this thing you fear and study it from every possible angle.

People sometimes worry themselves into a nervous disorder when they might so readily have obtained the advice needed to reassure them and chase the fears away.

Don't be afraid to admit your heredity bugaboo either. It's best to realize that you are afraid, for such realization is the first step toward constructive help.

But if you hide your fears you make them worse. You give them an importance they don't deserve.

Don't let your ancestors frighten you!

Wilful Wives By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 6

The Tryout

Marguerite was certainly happy for the first time since her marriage. She was going down to Long Island. Her self-satisfied label telephoned that morning, saying:

"Brownie has puppies. I know you'll want to see them. Ask Hal if he can spare you?"

"I'm afraid you'll have to take a later train," admitted Mrs. Culver, rueful ly. "The chauffeur had an accident with the big car last night and he's too busy repairing it to drive the roadster in for you."

"No matter, I'd come, if I had to walk," declared Marguerite.

She gave her orders for the day to her domestic staff. Even in her excitement, she didn't forget her duties as a wife and housekeeper. Then she fled for the train. It was a hot and dusty, but when she first breath of fresh country air began to blow through the windows she took off her hat and let the warm wind play havoc with her soft brown hair.

A few minutes later, she was being welcomed by her pets. She romped with them all, regardless of her frock. Her mother, watched her fondly.

"What a child you are, Marguerite! I really don't think you should let the servants see such an undignified performance. Remember, you're a married woman now."

Marguerite got to her feet.

"Oh, dear! I'd quite forgotten," she said, her radiant face clouded.

Some call for lunch. "You're a perfect mess. I have several guests coming—very nice women who have taken me up, since your marriage to Hal."

"Must I appear, darling? Couldn't I have lunch up-stairs in the sun room? They needn't know I am here."

"Don't be absurd. I especially want you to meet them." Her mother eyed the damaged frock critically. "It's a pity you've ruined that. You look very smart in it. Lucille will have to give you one of your old gowns."

Bathed and fresh as a rose, Marguerite descended just before the luncheon-gong to meet her mother's guests. They exclaimed over her.

"Why she's only a child. How could you let her marry so young, Mrs. Glover?"

"She's over twenty," replied the hostess complacently. "And I believe in early marriages, don't you?"

"It all depends upon the man," murmured the woman, and there was frequent exchange of glances with another signified that she knew Hal Heyward and her doubts.

Directly after coffee, Marguerite escaped again to the garden and the kennels. The net result was an afternoon of bliss and one more ruined frock. Marguerite had forgotten all of her duty as a wife, and she scampered for her train.

It was dusk when she reached the apartment building. For the first time, she became aware, under the critical eye of a supercilious elevator-boy, that she was rather disheveled, for a resident of so smart a place. She hurried for her own door and slip ped quietly, setting aun thumbed for Hal or one of the servants should see her.

But Hal was pacing the drawing-room floor. He came to the door, frowning.

"Great suffering cats! Where have you been? And what have you been doing?"

"I—I've been home—in the country with my pets," she said.

"You look it." was the grim response "Do you realize that's my opening night with Lydia Converse? I've been waiting three quarters of an hour."

Her hand went to her throat In dismay.

"Oh, she gushed. "I'd forgotten all about it! Mother telephoned this morning, and I—I—Brownie has puppies. And I was so excited—"

"Well, for Heaven's sake, hurry and change. We can't keep Lydia waiting all night. It's bad enough as it is."

"Must we go, really?"

"Of course, we must go. She's invited us to dine, and—Hurry, Marguerite, hurry."

She tried to obey him and dashed hastily through her bedsite. But her hair was dusty, there was no time for a manicure, and her hands were scratched. She was tired and the fact that she knew she didn't look her best was a handicap.

When she went out to the impatient Hal, he looked at her and shuddered. Lydia Converse looked at her fifteen minutes later and smiled with inward satisfaction. Hal Heyward was requisite in a gown of cloudy tulle. She felt avenged.

Sport clothes require sport jewelry and the modern French decorative designs are particularly adaptable to sport costumes.

The fresh cifne note in tweeds is a forerunner of all fashions and bright violet is the given preference over the reds and greens always in conjunction with this clear bright shade.

New York reports that just now corsair is claiming almost as much interest in the sports world as golf and tennis, and Neysa McMein is a great fan and has followed them on the Continent with several new angles on the game.

Little Boy Bloomers

Peggy's a "little boy" all about these gaudy little bloomers of pink gingham, with deep rose gingham collar, cuffs and pocket. They have the simplicity that is a requisite feature of all smart children's clothes and allow all the freedom of motion that youngsters love especially indeed. Mothers will like the banded cuffs on the "shorts" instead of elastic and the convenient envelope closing.

SINCLAIR'S

Advice to Girls By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am twenty-three years of age and go with a young man of twenty years. We are engaged to be married. I love him and he loves me, but I do not know whether I should marry him or not.

He is extremely jealous. I can never go anywhere without him for he always gets very angry. Also his education is not very much and his English at times is poor and very noticeable.

Do you think I would be happily married to him or do you think the differences of education, ages and his jealousy would ruin our future happiness? Everyone tells me not to consider marrying him, for they are sure his jealousy would make my life miserable after marriage. What shall I do?

WORRIED PEG.

WORRIED PEG: It might be best if you waited awhile and were absolutely sure of yourself before marrying Peg. If you are criticizing the young man now, my dear, in the manner your letter indicates, it shows that your love is not as deep as you thought it to be. His jealousy would probably make you very unhappy and it might be best if you broke your engagement until you were sure of yourself. If your love would stand the test of a broken engagement, then you could be more sure of your love after marriage. However, you know your own heart best, but personally, I should not care to risk my life and happiness with a man whom I felt would make each day a bit more miserable.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a girl steadily for over a year. We are not engaged. This girl tells me going with other friends. She says she does not care for them, but likes to go out with them for a change.

Should I continue on going with this girl?

Please advise me what to do.

WONDERING.

WONDERING: As you are not engaged to the young lady, you have no right to attempt to limit her friendships. However, if you are enough for her to ask her do be your wife, then you would both be more or less limited in your friendships with the opposite sex.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To take the shine from serge goods rub it with hot vinegar and then sponge it with ammonia.

To remove shine from black cloth, rub it well with a piece of flannel dipped in spirits of turpentine; dry in the open air.

For shiny serge suit, lay it on a folded blanket and place on shiny parts a clean cloth wrung out in clean water (must be quite wet); iron across it lightly, with very hot iron, twice.

For shiny coat collar, sponge it with a cloth moistened with ammonia and vinegar. Clean a soiled coat collar by rubbing briskly with an old tooth-brush dipped in naphtha or any good cleaning solution.

Lumps of camphor placed about the haunts of mice is another effective method of keeping them away. Pieces of gum camphor laid near books on the shelves will protect them from mice. Fill holes that are suspicious of rats and mice with putty mixed with mustard and broken glass.

NELS T. NELSON TOBACCO HEAD

Nels T. Nelson, B. A., M. D., Ph.D., has been appointed to the position of Chief of the Tobacco Division, Experimental Farms Branch. This became vacant upon the appointment of Mr. C. M. Slagg to an important position in Australia.

Dr. Nelson comes to Canada from Windsor, Conn., where he has been Tobacco Expert for the past four years. After graduating from the University of Wisconsin, Dr. Nelson was appointed to the staff of the University and in 1919 and 20 worked on tobacco diseases under Dr. Johnson, America's leading tobacco expert. From 1921 to 1923 he was Assistant in Agronomy at the University, and for the past four years has given special attention to tobacco fertiliser, curing, improvement of varieties, etc. Dr. Nelson has had fifteen years' experience on the tobacco farms of Wisconsin and comes to Ottawa with the best of recommendations.

He will take up his duties on August 15th.

The knitting-frame used in the manufacture of silk stockings in England is substantially the same today as when it was invented in the reign of Queen Elizabeth.

JACK MINER ON CONSERVATION

Kingstonian Speaks for Educational Conservation Need Laws he Says

Since making the statement in a former article in the Toronto Globe, that I stood for educational conservation, my mail has been heavy with requests for a full explanation, and in brief I will say that during the last fifteen years I have been lecturing I have no doubt spoken to a million or more school children in North America, to whom I have emphasized the importance of building bird-houses. If I can get a child to build a bird-house, he will naturally erect some on a pole, and that boy or girl at once becomes a conservationist. Moreover, he becomes a better citizen because of the love kindled in his heart. He certainly will not kill the bird that is going to nest in a house that he has made, nor is he likely to allow any other person to destroy a bird in his vicinity.

This I call 'educational conservation.' But we must not lose sight of the fact that we have got to have laws—and strict laws—for experience and personal observation have taught me that kindness without firmness is a total failure. And we have go to have qualified game wardens to enforce these laws. There is a small percentage—less than five per cent.—who are outlaws, and this small percentage of people easily can undo what has been accomplished by the majority of people.

"Too many citizens look at conservation as merely a sportsman's proposition, when the fact of the matter is it is one of Ontario's biggest assets. Between Sudbury and Port Arthur there are thousands of square miles of territory which has been stripped of the valuable timber, and at present practically good only for mining, big game hunting and fishing. No State in the United States or Province in Canada has such a vast area of wilderness, and if we will take the wolves out and let the deer increase, not only by the actual number put out for licenses, but that left in our country, by tourist and hunters will give bountiful return. Stop and think of the different places tourists leave money—railways, gas stations, hotels, stores, taxis, boat fares, rent of cottages, rents of boats, and, moreover, outfitting of all the money he would leave with the guides and settlers.

"I still stand for raising the bounty on wolves, and at the same time raising hunters' license fees enough to meet the extra money paid. Let the wolves out of the country, allow deer to increase and thus bring tourists by taxis to Ontario. We all know that $100 brought in by tourists has just as much purchasing power as $100 received for wheat shipped out. Let's get together and educate each other how to make our lakes worth more than a productive wheat field. I was told by one of Wisconsin's governmental officials that lakes in Wisconsin and Minnesota were more valuable to these states through money brought in than the same area of cleared agricultural land, and we all know those states border on Ontario. Such being the case, what is the value of our lakes, which up to the present time are free of pollution?

"Think it over. Don't let us get together to 'talk laws.' Let us get together and 'do something.'

Sees Maritimers

For the last ten years I have been getting invitations to go to one of the Maritime Provinces on a lecture tour, and these invitations I kept on multiplying until the pigeon-hole was about filled. Finally I decided to go, and I am a better Canadian today through the fact that I did go, for no person can be greeted and treated twenty days in succession as I was by the kind and real Canadian Maritimers treated me without becoming a bigger and a better man.

Yes, I had heard these old stories how they still used oxen on the farms down there and how there were aged people on Prince Edward Island that had never been off the Island for forty forth. I found these stories were true, and to me they are beautifully true.

Well, my first stop was at the dear old town of St. Andrew's, N.B., where the leading men and school children honored me by allowing me to plant a chestnut tree in the high school park. Then they named the tree "Uncle Jack." From there I went to St. Stephen's, N.B., then to St. John, where we had a two-thousand-seating-capacity house filled twice. Then on to Newcastle and Moncton, then to Amherst, N.S., Wolfville, Windsor, Halifax, Truro, New Glasgow and Yarmouth. All gave me the same royal reception, and today I cannot help but laugh at the unschooled innocent vision I have always had of the climatic conditions of our Maritimes. The date cells were in full bloom on May 1st, and Dorothy Perkins roses, climbing along some fences where they had been exposed to the winter, were bulging with real life the same as mine were in Southern Ontario.

I did see three yoke of oxen at work. One span was hauling a muck cart out of a barnyard; the other two pairs were lowering their heads and leaving their backs under the low limbs of the apple orchards where big horses couldn't go. Here these obedient beasts were being used to cultivate the soil so that it would produce apples in a field of weeds—and, by the way, please let me state that, unless I am greatly mistaken in my judgment, a span of good fat oxen on a farm is a far better asset than an old one-eyed, second-hand, self-tire, gulosh-top car!

Now as a summer resort country, I have not seen anything better. I motored over one hundred and twenty-five miles in one day, and I am sure we crossed fully twenty trout streams where we saw the sportsman's auto parked beside the road, and I actually saw them landing the speckled beauties! Really it made me wish every day was Friday noon, and to any person that hasn't driven through New Brunswick and Nova Scotia I wish to say that it is a delightful trest. I saw the nicest and best-kept-up apple orchards I ever looked upon, but best of all, is the lovable Christian people.

My last two or three days were spent on Prince Edward Island, and oh, how agreeably surprised I was! Why, down your life, it is not a farming country at all. It is a garden containing twenty-one hundred and fifty square miles. Really, without any exception, it is the most beautiful rolling and finely cultivated piece of country I ever beheld, and when I go there again I want to set those aged people that they tell me have never been off the Island. Yes, I want to grip their hands and congratulate them. Well, my first stop was Charlottetown, where I was privileged to visit the ancient Parliament Buildings and invited to sit down in the room where I understood our great and advantageous Federation was born. The next day we motored down to Summerside, but at this time I am simply done out or killed with kindness, and I ask permission to go to bed for two or three hours. After the lecture that night I was given a sort of "farewell party," and the next morning I steamed up for home.

And now, after having a personal jump-around view of the Maritimes, I want to advise all Canadians to SEE CANADA FIRST. Yes, with all due respect to the land where my parents were born, I would sooner have my three boys spend two weeks in the Maritimes than have them spend six weeks in Europe. I firmly believe it is more to their advantage to see Canada first, and best of all, get a glimpse of the co-operative spirit of these Maritime people, both religiously and commercially, which is sure to increase our pride in real Canadianism and our love for Canadians and Canada, as I understand from the best of authority that over 97 per cent. of the 46,000 people on Prince Edward Island are Canadian-born. By all means see and know Canadia and our people first.

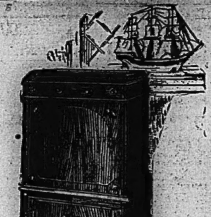

Ringed in by almost impassable underbrush in the forests north of Red Lake, John Helmer, veteran prospector, lived for 22 days without food. Blundering through the woods, without equipment and lacking proper clothes, Helmer several times saw rescue parties looking for him. But his strength was gone. He could not call loud enough. An reason tottered as his body wasted away. In the illustration above Helmer is shown in the forest fastness calling out to an aeroplane overhead, am a Christian," he says. And when which passes without seeing him. "I am a Christian," he says. And when it appeared that help would not come he offered up prayers to his Maker.

ROBERT MANTELL H A D HARD LIFE

Laboured Under Terrible Handicap for Many Years Says Carruthers

For more than 10 years Robert Mantell, the veteran actor, labored under a terrible handicap, writes E. E. Carruthers in the London Free Press. 'Yet few who enjoyed his plays were conscious of it. Carruthers says, as a performance of 'The Merchant of Venice' at the new Grand Theatre in London (Ont.) the writer saw that Mr. Mantell limped rather noticeably. Chatting with the Canadian after the final curtain, he inquired as to the cause of the lameness. 'Have a nail into my foot at Toronto,' was Mr. Mantell's explanation. Some two years later the limp was more noticeable and inquiries from other sources revealed that it was paralysis. The grand old man was battling for the drama and fighting a handicap that could not be overcome. For the last few years of his life you may have noticed that all the characters he played were costumed in robes that reached to the stage. This is the explanation.'

SHEEPMEN WILL HAVE FINE YEAR

"Never have I noticed such a permanent feeling of confidence as seems to exist among sheepmen all through the Western Provinces this year," states W. H. J. Tisdale of the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, who has just returned from his sixth annual Western tour, during which he motored all through the principal range areas of British Columbia and Southern Alberta, as well as visiting practically the whole of the sheep farming areas of all four Provinces. "Not only are the sheepmen confident, but I found the same feeling in respect to agriculture generally among the leading banking and railway officials of the towns and cities. Good crops and good prices have had a wonderful effect on Prairie and British Columbia conditions and live stock is coming back rapidly."

Mr. Tisdale reported a continual trend toward mixed farming. Sheep are now considered to work in well with grain farming, where the proper fly has been fenced. From 100 to 150 ewes are being kept on many half sections where, owing to the abundance of waste feed, their feeding cost is very small. The sheep have been found very useful in keeping summer fallows clean and in helping to solve the weed problem.

"Undoubtedly the most spectacular is in British Columbia. There, farmers have doubled their sheep population in the past four years, and in Grazing Commissioner, T. P. McKenzie, assured me that there was room for 2,000,000 sheep, or more than fifty per cent of the present total for all Canada, in the interior of his Province alone."

Unfortunately, according to this official of the Canadian Co-operative, the range lamb crop of the West this year due to extreme weather conditions at breeding time last fall did not run over 55 per cent but among the farm flocks of the West it was well up to average.

The wool coming from this part of the country this year is as good as any Western clip he has ever seen, being clean and bright. Of the total Western clip the Co-operative expects to handle about 300,000 pounds from British Columbia, 750,000 pounds from the flocks of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and 1,250,000 pounds from Alberta this season.

HENRY MEANS A GLOBE TROTTER

Fifteen Years Ago He Finished First Round The World Trip

Yokohama, Japan, July 28.—John Henry Meahs well known New York newspaperman and globe encircler, felt quite at home when he stepped aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Russia here for it was on this famous ship fifteen years ago that he completed his first successful trip around the world.

Leaving New York on June 30 Meahs crossed the Atlantic by steamer in a few hours across Europe and Asia as his reached Yokohama early this month, and incidentally the City of New York, sing and boarded the Russia for the last sea lap of his journey.

The fall of the plane was attached to a motor truck at the Tokio flying field and towed to Yokohama, a distance of thirty-five miles, where it was hoisted to the deck of the "Empress" and lashed in position for the ten-day Pacific crossing. When the mosquplane arrives at Curtiss Field, New York from Vancouver, Means and his pilot, Charles Colyer will have passed around the world in twenty-three days and beaten the existing record established by Wells in 1926 by five clear days.

"I am told," says Major-General J. H. MacBrien, President of the Aviation League of Canada, "that Bell Telephone scientists are directing their attention to improving communication with aircraft and to aeroplanes in flight. Developments along such lines will be of great value in the extension of commercial aviation.

"The effort suggests to my mind the immense strides which wire and radio communication have made and how greatly modern civilization is indebted, not only to the telephone scientists and engineers who evolve the apparatus, but to the great army of telephone operatives, male and female, who make it function throughout our waking and sleeping hours for the benefit of their fellow men."

BELLE THEATRE

William Russell, appearing with Virginia Valli in "The Escape," directed for Fox Films by Richard Rosson, has at last drawn a role with which he is thoroughly conversant by reason of long association. The locale of Paul Armstrong's gripping story of night life is laid in the exact center of the district in New York where Russell was born. Russell, characterized as one of the most versatile "he-men" in the motion picture industry, has a color ful background. He overcame a tremendous physical handicap in early life, mastered the rudiments of boxing, and amazed his critics by becoming champion of his class in the amateur division. He has appeared in leading roles in some of the best box-office productions made in America. "The Escape" is showing at the Belle Theatre tomorrow to Saturday.

REGENT THEATRE

"The First Auto"—A romance of the hist horse and the first horseless carriage. It carries the reader back to the days of the '90's in the style popularized by Mark Sullivan's best seller "Our Times" and is filled with balloon tires right up to now. A vivid story of American progress, vividly told. Tomorrow at Regent.

IMPROPRIETY

There is a very proper man
Who walks with me, as lovers do;
I banker after him; he is
Most sober, wise and true.

Yet when I walk with him I love
My soul flies outward, indiscreet,
And I would gladly leave my shoes
To feel the rain upon my feet.

And I would leave my hat and gloves
To catch his hand and run and sing,
To be a part of wind and rain,
And earth that bursts with spring.

Yet when I let my soul creep out
In ways like this I do not please him.
He dare not fling his hat and run
For fear his next-door neighbor sees him.

—Dorothy Collins Alyea,
in The Delineator.

TO REORGANIZE TARIFF BOARD

Problem of Rehabilitating Commission Is a Thorny Problem

Washington, D.C.—(By The Canadian Press).—A thorough-going reorganization of the United States Tariff Commission is on the agenda of the next session of Congress. The extent of the changes will undoubtedly depend on the outcome of the November election but it is unlikely that either Hoover or Smith will tolerate the continuance of conditions revealed by the report of the Senate investigating committee recently made public.

The commission had been frequently criticized in Congress, and the disappointment in the performance of the commission designed to take the vexed tariff question out of politics was expressed in a Senate resolution of March, 1924, calling for an investigation of the whole work of the commission. The attention of the investigating committee was directed especially to the operation of the Flexible Tariff provisions of the Fordney-McCumber Act of 1922 but in the course of its hearings it touched on every phase of the commission's activities. The hearings lasted from March 1926 to February, 1927, and for various reasons the report of the committee was not presented to the Senate until the end of last May.

It appears from the testimony that the original Tariff Commission was created by President Wilson in 1916 with Professor Taussig of Harvard as Chairman. Under the Act of 1922 it was clothed functions in the general antitrust field. It was given power to hold hearings and advisory body composed of members of both political parties; its chief duty was to keep the tariff rates that body's periodic revision of the general tariff schedules by preparing exhaustive reports on the financial and economic conditions of the principal protected industries. In 1922 the functions of the Commission were enormously extended. The United States Tariff Act of that year was characterized by a wholesale increase in its part duties. These increases were defended by the spokesman for the Administration, Senator Smoot of Utah, as temporary measures intended to meet an emergency situation existing at that time. As circumstances changed the tariff schedules would be revised to meet them, provided always that the protective principle embodied in the Act of 1922 was observed in each adjustment. This task of revising the tariff was delegated to the President of the United States who was to be assisted in this work by the Tariff Commission. Thus the Commission which had been created to advise Congress in the matter of Tariff revision found itself faced with a virtually diminished by every change. Its duties were enlarged while the facilities and capacity of the commission were diminished by every change. Its personnel made by Presidents Harding and Coolidge. Under the circumstances its failure to function satisfactorily is not surprising.

This years experience of the Flexible Tariff provisions administered by the President on the advice of the commission has led the majority of the investigating committee to recommend the repeal of this feature of the Tariff

GIANTS, CUBS SPLIT DOUBLE

But New Yorkers Take Series By So Doing

New York, Aug. 1.—The Giants won their series against the Cubs, four games to two, by dividing a double-header here yesterday. The home team got away with the first clash, 8-7, by batting on a five-run uprising in the ninth, but the visitors hit three New York pitchers hard to take the second, 10-4.

The last-ditch rally of the Giants resulted the opener. Old Lindstrom, Terry, Stone, Cohen and Hogan all hit after two were out. He last two drive, being off Guy Bush, who relieved Fred Blake. Hogan's hit was a double with the bases full, which ended the game. The Cubs had taken a healthy lead through home runs by Stephenson, Cuyler and Heathcote off Fred Fitzsimmons.

Bill Walker, young Giant left-hander, fanned five in four innings to start the second game, but the Cubs knocked him out in the fifth when English's homer with two on capped a four-run rally.

Dale rallied enabling the Robins to defeat the Reds 3-2, at Brooklyn and earn an even break in the four-game series. Dazzy Vance pitched fine ball for the home team, allowing only seven hits and fanning eight.

Sherman and Flowers got three hits each, and it was Flower third single with the bases filled in the eighth that drove in the two deciding runs.

The St. Louis Cardinals administered a 14-5 trouncing to the Phillies that gave them the series three games to one. The Cubs got sixteen of their runs in four successive innings, starting with five in the fifth. Taylor Douthit was the batting star with four singles and a double.

In the fifth inning, Baird, the Phillies' shortstop, thinking there were three out, threw the ball into the diamond and Haley scored all the way from first while some of the other Phillie players waited off the field. This began the Phillie rout.

The Braves hopped on two Pittsburgh pitchers to run up a commanding lead and defeat the Pirates in the final game of the series 11-5 at Boston. The visitors had won the first two games yesterday. In the first inning Boston piled up five runs off Meadows before he was relieved. In the third Brame yielded a four-run flurry. Taucher finished the game.

YANKS AT LAST BEAT INDIANS

Win 12—9; Athletics Keep Pace, Beating St. Louis

Cleveland, Aug. 1.—Twang the lyre and thump the merry cymbals, the Yanks won a ball game yesterday.

Just when everybody was saying, "well, they were good fellows when they had it," and bewing a long sigh, the champions came out of their slip van Winkle snooze and a number of things began happening at once. The champs lambasted a flock of Cleveland pitchers for twelve runs and twelve hits and grabbed the finale of a ball series, 12 to 9.

But if you have gained the idea that this homecoming was a mere triumphal procession for the Bugging athletes, you are all wrong. The Bugmen had to battle desperately to maintain their dignity, self-respect and a big lead.

Twice during the ball game the Colgates enjoyed a five-run lead. Once they lost it and once again they regained it. In desperation, and with tears in his large, limpid eyes, Mr. Bugging finally was forced to summon his best pitcher, Herb Pennock, who was being carefully saved to open the St. Louis series today.

Pennock rescued Wilcey Moore in the eighth and held the Indians at arm's length, though roughly handled himself. The game ended with two redmen on the bases.

The Philadelphia Athletics, swept the series when they turned in an 8-4 victory over the Browns at St. Louis. More than that they extended their consecutive string of triumphs over the Howley men to nine and held their own with the Yankees in the American League pennant race, since the leaders returned to the victory column also.

The final game was sprinkled with six home runs, two of which were lifted out of the park by Haas. Simmons and Bishop turned in four-base hits for the Athletics, while Blaeholder and Mannah hit for the circuit for the Browns.

A four-run rally by Washington in the eighth inning was not enough and the White Sox won the final game on their five-game series, 7-5 at Chicago.

Ted Blankenship allowed but three hits until the eighth inning when he walked three men and Bucky Harris doubled. Grady Adkins relieved him and held the Senators in checks after they had tallied four runs. The White Sox nicked Gaston and Marberry for eleven hits. Goose Goslin hit a home run in the first inning with none on base. Today's victory was the third straight for the White Sox.

Victor Sorrell held the Boston Red Sox to four hits and the Detroit Tigers took the final game of the series 7 to 3. It was the seventh Detroit victory in the last eight games. Charley Ruffing, Boston hurler, who was hit consistently during the game, robbed Sorrell of a shutout in the seventh inning, when he drove the ball over the scoreboard for a home run with Rogell on base.

HAIL AND WIND DID SOME HEAVY DAMAGE

Kincaid, Sask., July 31.—Worst hail and windstorm experienced in the history of this district swept over Kincaid last evening, leaving behind a trail of desolation. Promising crops for miles around were laid low as though a mowing machine had gone over them.

ANCIENT RIVALS TO CLASH AGAIN

Beavers Hope to Repeat Victory Over Ontarios Thursday Night

Another grim package will be offered for the approval of the fans at the armouries tomorrow night when the Beavers hook up in another battle with the Ontarios. The Beavers secured the long end of the score in the game played last week but the Ontarios maintain that the victory was more or less of the "Phaby" variety. The Ontarios since thrown for a loss by the Beavers captured the game with the Napanee Leafs the other evening and are in fighting trim right now. They have recovered their hitting form, Aubrey and Aiken with their heavy guns, but home-runs in their game with the Leafs. The Beavers were playing great ball when they took the Ontarios into camp and they are hoping to gain another verdict tomorrow evening. Hilda Matthews and Mollie Gray will be the opposing pitchers. The game will start promptly at 8.30.

FRONTENACS TO MEET CATARAQUI

The Frontenacs, local girls' softball team have arranged for a visit here by the Cataraqui team of Kingston tonight. The Cataraqui Club represent the village just East of the Limestone City and according to the advance reports they sport a clever girls' ball team. The Frontenacs however will field a smart aggregation and unless there is something radically agoing the visitors will go home with the short end of the score. The Frontenacs have played in the City League for the past three years and have built up a record for themselves as a softball team, that is hard to equal. Reg. Mcdorrel, was the original manager of the Frontenacs and Bert Girling who has succeeded him has made an equally good job of it. Fans who desire to witness a real fast softball game should come around to the armouries tonight.

MAKES DONATION TO SCOTTISH LIBRARY

London, July—(C.P.—Sir Alexander Grant has made a second gift of $500,000 to the National Library of Scotland. His first donation was in June of 1923.

Some time before that date the Faculty of Advocates had asked the Government to take over their famous library as a Scottish public institution, but owing to the financial position of the country difficulty stood in the way of acceptance by the Government of this offer.

That difficulty was removed by Sir Alexander's first $500,000 donation. It is understood that the sum now given is to provide additional accommodation for the library.

Sir Alexander Grant is the managing director of a large firm of biscuit manufacturers, Edinburgh. A native of Forres, he entered this firm as a working baker over 40 years ago, and generally secured advancement until he became general manager, and subsequently acquired a controlling interest.

Radio listeners in Australia got a shock recently when they tuned in to hear 'the greatest talking parrot in Australia.' The broadcasters had not inquired too carefully into the bird's training and interests were startling to hear a string of violent oaths.

It is estimated there are 25 million homes in the United States.

PLANS FOR FAIR ARE UNDER WAY

This Year's Exhibition Sure to Exceed All Previous Attempts

Belleville's Four Big Days and Four Bigger Nights are looming in the offing as final preparations are made for the annual Exhibition to be held here on August 28th, 29th, 30 and 31st. This year, truly, the Fair will be a bigger and better one in every way. It is expected that more exhibits will be on show, greater attractions will be offered in the way of amusement and better prizes are to be awarded.

Yearly old Belleville fans have watched the Exhibition grow from a babe in swaddling clothes to a man, finished with success and the pinnacle of perfection has not been reached yet, as those of this year promise to be a great one. The buildings at the Fair Grounds are being cleaned out from top to bottom in order that they may be in readiness for the displays. The grounds will be put in attractive shape shortly and on August 28th, in the early afternoon, the official opening ceremonies will be held, with all the pomp and ceremony connected with such an event.

Improvements on last year's exhibition will there be although there have not as yet been announced. The trotting runs this year, as always, will be one of the big pulling powers for the crowds and the immense fireworks display held at the special attraction for the kiddies.

Belleillians! It's up to yourselves! All pull together and the 1928 Fair can be put over with a bang.

Claims Abbess Heads Terrorist Organization Planning Murder

Mexico City, Aug. 2.—Attorney General Cobres in a statement today, asserted that Jose de Leon Toral, assassin of General Alvaro Obregon, belonged to a terrorist organization headed by Abbess Maria Concepcion Acevedo de La Llata. The Attorney General, who is supervising the preliminary hearing investigation into the slaying issued this statement:

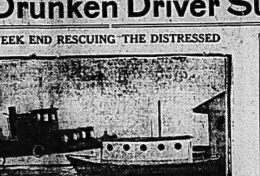

"I am convinced this group of individuals who directly or indirectly participated in Obregon's murder belong to a Terrorist organization headed by no one other than Abbess Maria Concepcion Acevedo de La Llata, who is an intelligent woman and had been trying to mislead justice.

SPENT THRILLING WEEK END RESCUING THE DISTRESSED

Capt. Albert McKenney, who has been piloting boats on Lake Nipissing for 45 seasons, last week-end experience one of the most thrilling periods in his life. The excitement started last Thursday when he rescued a man from drowning at the North bay wharf. Later Thursday one of the boys on the boat, Maxsi Beach, broke and burned his engineer. After the accident, Capt. McKenney proceeded to pick up a fishing party but a storm forced them to seek shelter. The next day they started out again, being towed by two smaller boats, but were forced to turn up. Some of the party were taken to North Bay and Capt. McKenny took food to those still on the boat and then returned Saturday with another boat and towed them to their destination. Then Sunday evening he saved a boy who fell in the water while playing on the wharf of North Bay.

Percy Will See Job Through To End; Refuses To Drop Relay Team

Amsterdam, Aug. 2.—Percy Williams sprinting champion, whose name was never heard outside Canada before the Olympic games, celebrated his double victory, the first since 1912, by retiring a sound nights sleep in preparation for further efforts on the cinder path in the Odympic stadoum.

"He is sleeping like a baby", C. J. Modeyski, chief of the Canadian team, told reporters who besieged the 19-year-old Vancouver school-boy hero of the ninth Olympiad last night. "Don't disturb him. He must run in the relay Saturday.

That is all Canada asks of her Olympic star, besides winning the 100 and 200 metre dashes from the pick of the world's sprinters, he must run on Canada's relay team.

It was proposed to drop Williams from the relay team in order to give him a rest, but he modestly stuck to his determination to see his task through to the finish.

Bandsmen And Others Ask For Leniency—Mikel's Heart Touched

When Harold Sayers appeared in court this morning to receive sentence for driving his car while drunk on June 7th last, Magistrate Mikel was pleased in view of special circumstances to suspend sentence for one year.

The prisoner, therefore goes free but must pay the costs of the court action. Mr. Mikel handed out to the press the full text of his decision, which is as follows.

Re Harold Sayers

B. C. Donnelly for prosecution.

C. A. Payne for accused.

Accused having been found guilty his counsel asked that sentence be not pronounced, but be suspended for a period owing to the youth of the accused, his previous good character and the fact that he is assisting in the support of his widowed mother. Similar requests were also presented by a number of citizens.

Lt. Col. Eric Keeler, Officer Commanding, Mr. Chas. Hanna, B-Mayor and for many years an officer of the Band of the 15th Battalion, a number Band of the 15th Battalion, a number of the members of the 15th Battalion Band were amongst those who requested that sentence on the accused be suspended.

While my intension originally was otherwise, I feel that I should give heed to these requests and therefore suspend the pronouncing of sentence for one year. Under the provisions of the Criminal Code the accused may be called before the Court any time within that year and sentenced to a term of 90 days imprisonment or the period of suspension may be extended for a per. ed longer than the year. The convicted man will be expected to be of good behaviour during the period of suspension. Immediately after the trial I request accused to pay a visit to the

ARREST FOLLOWS TWO ACCIDENTS

Driver of Car And Companion Pleaded Guilty to Illegal Drinking

Barrie Kirkey faced two charges before Magistrate Mikel in police court this morning, the one of consuming liquor illegally and the other and the other of being drunk in charge of a car. He company with Kirkey, William Robinson was charged with consuming liquor in an illegal place. Both men pleaded guilty to "illegal consuming" and were fined $50 and costs by the Magistrate. On the second charge of being drunk in charge of a car, Kirkey was fined $100 and costs or three months in jail. Provincial Officer Hanmer, who was on duty, referred the matter to Provincial Officer Hanmer. When Mr. Hanmer arrived at the scene of the accident the car containing Kirkey and Robinson had disappeared.

Later, however, it is alleged that Kirkey crashed into another car, owned and operated by F. Bedell, 2nd of Sidney, damaging the latter's car to some extent. Both Kirkey and Robinson live near Stirling, in the country.

Arrested Here

Bedell followed the car part way into Belleville, and it was here that the arrest was made by Constable Arthur Hannan and Constable Hazel of the local police force found the car hidden to the Baptist Church barns, on Pinnacle street. The men were in the automobile at the time and were promptly taken to the police station where they were charged. Kirkey pleaded on his own recognizance pending his trial for drunk driving.

HIGH-GRADE ORE CUT ON NORANDA 'B' BODY

Operations at Depth Confirm Forecast of Richness

Rouyn, Que., Aug 2—Noranda has cut high grade ore on the "B" ore body at the 400-foot level. There are 80 feet of high-grade, running 13 to 15 per cent. copper. It also shows good gold values and the grade is much better than one level above. This fully corroborates the expectations of officials that "B" ore body would grow richer at depth, just as "E" ore body has already done.

Provincial Officer Hanmer, who was on duty, referred the matter to Provincial Officer Hanmer. When Mr. Hanmer arrived at the scene of the accident the car containing Kirkey and Robinson had disappeared.

Later, however, it is alleged that Kirkey crashed into another car, owned and operated by F. Bedell, 2nd of Sidney, damaging the latter's car to some extent. Both Kirkey and Robinson live near Stirling, in the country.

Arrested Here

Bedell followed the car part way into Belleville, and it was here that the arrest was made by Constable Arthur Hannan and Constable Hazel of the local police force found the car hidden to the Baptist Church barns, on Pinnacle street. The men were in the automobile at the time and were promptly taken to the police station where they were charged. Kirkey pleaded on his own recognizance pending his trial for drunk driving.

HAD DROWNED IN THE THOROLD CANAL

Thorold, Ont., Aug. 2.—Mike Rogozynski, thirteen, was drowned in the power canal at the Dominion Power and Transmission Company's plant above Decew Falls yesterday while bathing. Other lads were present but were unable to give any assistance.

POLICE COURT

Theresa McDowell, the Irish girl that was arrested some time ago for vagrancy, and has been remanded time out twice, this morning was given suspended sentence by Magistrate Mikel and it was ordered that she be put under the custody of her sister Mrs. Jones, as is alleged, was leading a rather flighty life previous to her arrest.

SERIOUS CHARGE.

Albert Mott, of the township of Mayo, this morning was remanded for one week by Magistrate Mikel on an extremely serious charge. Bruce is alleged committed an offence against a woman. He is being held in jail.

PRICELESS JADE IN ONTARIO MUSEUM

Toronto.—(C.P.)—A circular piece of precious jade, probably a foot in diameter with a small hole in the centre—the supreme god of China—now reposes in the Ontario Museum. It comes from the Imperial Palace at Pekin and its history has been authenticated for the past 3,000 years. The piece had been kept by the rulers of China throughout history as the supreme god of the heavens, because the circle represented to the Chinese mind symmetry, perfection and endlessness. The substance is jade because this material is more precious than gold and harder than steel.

The jade came from the Kara Kash River, away north of Tibet, where man dive into icy turbulent waters for the precious material. Wrought entirely by much polishing with emery powder, jade's surface has a smoothness and translucence which must have greatly aided the belief that it held some strange powers.

RED BERRIES ARE SCARCE

There is a decided scarcity of red raspberries on the city market these days. Instead of selling for eighteen cents the box, as they did on Saturday, the few boxes of these luscious berries that were offered for sale last week sold at twenty cents the box this morning. There was any quantity of blue raspberries shown, but no great demand was evidenced for them. They were selling at fifteen cents the box, two for twenty-five cents.

That most necessary article, the cow by and humble egg, had an aristocrat's price, as it has had for the past month and per dozen was selling for thirty-five cents.

The engagement of Miss Catherine Hyman daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Hyman, Bridge St., will also be formally announced at a reception and dance to be held in her home on Saturday night of this week. The guests will include many prominent members of the younger set in Belleville. The marriage will take place early in September.

ORR—FULTON.

On Wednesday evening, Aug 1st, at the home of the bride, 32 Forin St., a quiet but pretty wedding took place when Arthurena Jane, youngest daughter of Mrs. Emily Fulton, became the bride of Edward Arnold Orr. Front Street. The Rev. R. Hall of John Street United Church performed the ceremony.

The house was beautifully decorated with gladioli, sweet peas and ferns. The wedding march was played by Miss Doris Kerr.

The bride who was given in marriage by her brother looked charming in a gown of white georgette with rhinestone trimming. Her tulle veil fashioned in coronet style was caught with orange blossoms and she carried a bridal bouquet of roses, lily-of-the-valley and baby's breath.

After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served, girl friends of the bride assisting. Later amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for a trip to Muskoka and a boat trip through the Great Lakes, the bride travelling in an ensemble suit of rose-beige with hat, shoes and bag to match and she wore an amber fox fur, the gift of the groom.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful wedding presents. On their return from the honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Orr will reside in Ridgetown.

EXPRESS SERVICE FOR RIMOUSKI, QUE.

Montreal ,Que.—Although in the past Rimouski, Quebec, has been many miles and many hours removed from Montreal and Quebec City, it has been brought within three hours of Montreal thanks to the air express service connecting with trans-Atlantic vessels in the St. Lawrence River. The latest air shipment by Canadian Pacific express was five gallons of ice cream ordered from J. J. J. Joubert in Montreal for the Ursuline sisters and vacationists at Rimouski by an enterprising merchant, Mr. Bernier. The ice cream, packed in a special ice preparation, arrived safely in Rimouski about four hours after it had left the hands of the manufacturer in Montreal.

ROYAL YORK TO BE THE BIGGEST

New Toronto Hotel Will Have Wonderful Organ Installed

Toronto.—Pride and playfulness combine to entertain Toronto citizens who are reported to have enthusiastically described the "Royal York Hotel" to American tourists and recommended them to wire for reservations at once, being sure not to get a room above the seventh floor. As this huge hotel is now being constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway, has just reached the seventh floor in its growth, and will not be opened until May 1st or later next year, the gullcious ones who actually wire for accommodation are disappointed. The new Royal York Hotel will be the largest hotel in the British Empire, being 25 stories in height and having over 1000 rooms. One of its unique features is the cantvant organ installed in the Concert Hall which will be the greatest and finest on this continent.

HEYER

Banff, Alberta.—Hamed "E-Ya-Kha-Ton" meaning a painter in words in the dialect of the Indians, Peter B. Kyne, the well known American author was ceremonially admitted into the tribe of Stoney Indians as a blood brother at the Pow-Wow of Rockey Mountain Rekskins in progress near beside the Banff Springs Hotel. The rites practiced with the authors initiation were solemn and impressive and he was presented with two arrows, a medicine rattle and a gorgeous headdress by the assembled chiefs and councillors of the tribe. The list of those honored by the Stoney Indians in this fashion is a select and distinguished one, only seven individuals have been accepted as chiefs into the Stoney tribe the Duke of Connaught, the Prince of Wales and Lord Willingdon.

Prices Move Down

New York, Aug. 2 — Reactionary price movements in to-day's stock market reflected growing uneasiness over the credit situation. Operators for the advance endeavored to bring about resumption of the advance by bidding up a selected list of oil, public utility food and merchandising shares but they encountered heavy offerings on all rallies. Trading showed a tendency to turn dull on the decline, indicating absence of any extensive for ced liquidation.

Call money renewed at seven per cent, and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure. Fears of a large increase in brokers' loans after the close of the fiscal quarter coupled with the New York Federal Reserve Bank's refusal to the overloaded position in the lucrative credit review tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm.

Special features of all shares was had on the publication of unusually favorable earnings report by the Atlantic Refining Co., by the improved statistical position of the industry and recentiquative price advances, the rates being put into effect by the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky. Atlantic Refining soared more than six points to a new peak at 163, on talk of a four-for-one stock split up and Houston moved up three and half points before selling pressure became effective. Amiral that group.

GRIZZLIES-FAVOR BERRIES TO MEAT

Montreal— Although the nervous may feel the grizzly bear has a weakness for raw meat, in reality their favourite dish is huckleberries, and according to reports from British Columbia received by the General Tourist Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway the fine crop of berries in the Rockies this year will provide a feast for the bears during September and early October. The report continues that at the present time the fishing is excellent, and big rainbow and silver trout are taking the fly with avidity. The cold nights have further combined to get the mosquitoes out of business.

HAROLD SAYERS

County Coal not as a prisoner but as a free man. He should immediately dispose of his automobile and all interest in his automobile absolutely and not own or ride in a motor vehicle during the above mentioned period of suspension. He will be expected to be in his own home every night by 9.30 p.m. and remain there the remainder of the night during the period of suspension. He is to give a pledge in open court to discontinue the use of intoxicating liquor absolutely. He must pay the costs of this proceeding.

Law Is Flouted

It is the opinion of the Intelligencer this judgment and the reasons for it are pure drivel. The purpose of the Law is flouted and the repeated declarations of Attorney - General the Honorable W. H. Price that drunken driving will not be tolerated are disregarded. It would seem that any fool may get as drunk as he likes, kill or maim innocent bystanders and if he hires a clever lawyer can get away with it in the Belleville police court. with nothing happening much more than a gentle slap on the wrist and he is told to go to bed early.

Take the first paragraph of the judgment. Our worthy Magistrate pleads the youth of the prisoner and his previous good character as well as the fact that he is supporting his widowed mother. Harold Sayers is 25 years of age which is scarcely extreme youth and it is not usual for a man to get as drunk as he was on June 7th on his first attempt.

Appeals For Leniency

Lieutenant Colonel Eric Keeler, Officer Commanding the battalion, ex-mayor Charles Hanna and some members of the Argyll Band asked for leniency for the accused. This weakened of them, but neither Mr. Keeler nor Mr. Hanna were seriously injured nor were other public minded citizens who added their voices to the appeal for leniency. Credit is due to the men who actually suffered pain and distress for their forgiving attitude, but the other requests are scarcely deserving of much weight.

Mr. Mikel says that his intentions originally were not to suspend sentence but his heart was apparently melted by the kindly attitude of those people who asked that Mr. Sayers' offenses be over looked.

Conditions Absurd

The conditions under which suspended sentence was granted are absurd. Any intelligent man as being absurd. Who under the sun is going to follow Mr. Sayers around to see that he goes home at 9.30 in the evening. We venture to say that there is not a male or woman of twenty-five years of age in Belleville or any other town who is home by 9.30 on even the majority of the evenings, unless he or she is too old to walk or drive a car. Then who is going to say that the accused does not take a ride in an automobile for the next year, and while he may give a pledge in court that he will abstain from all alcoholic drinks liquors we can, see no way by which this pledge can be enforced.

Glaring Case

There has been no more glaring case of reckless and drunken driving before the Belleville police court since the introduction of the Liquor Control Act. When the present system of Government Control was introduced Premier Ferguson promised that any possible danger arising from the mixture of liquor and gasoline would be avoided by a stern administration of the law. The administration of the law in Belleville can scarcely be termed "stern" as regards drunken driving.

When Mr. Mikel was appointed Police Magistrate of this city the Intelligencer joined with the majority of the citizens in congratulating him and considered that an ideal man had been selected for the post. His attitude and course of action in this and other cases does not bear out the good opinion that the citizens of Belleville had of him and grave doubts arise as to whether he is fitted for the duties of William Russell, playing opposite Virginia Valli in "The Escape," a Fox Films production which opens a three day run at the Belle Theatre today, has long been recognized as one of the most dynamic personalities appearing upon the silverscreen. Hailed according to Director Richard Rosson, has an abundance of "it," but success has never 'gone to his head,' and he is one of the easiest men to direct Rosson has encountered in his stage and screen career.

"In The Escape," said Director Rosson, "Russell is cast in an underworld role, one of the most difficult parts conceivable, and he is called upon to do some things which, I think, the average actor would find difficult. Russell never falters in the intricate scenes tied up with the night life of New York.

"I have found one thing to be true, action is to be convincing to the spectator, must likewise have a grip ping effect upon the director and photographer, otherwise the actors' work they are going through their scenes. In brief, if the actor fails to impress those near him at the studio, he will not make a lasting impression upon his public when the picture is exhibited to the many who will eventually pass judgment upon his work."

When you see Bill Russell doing a scene at the studio you are indisputably drawn to him. It is the same with Miss Valli. That's why they are always in demand.'

REGENT THEATRE

Do You Remember?

Remember when you used to plank for an hour watching a fellow crank his "Merry Oldemobile"—

Remember when you used to slap a fellow pump a tire for an hour, and the tire was still flat?

Remember when the batteries were run down and you had to walk, ten miles to get six more batteries—

Remember—when the car wouldn't go and you finally found that the tank was empty—At the Regent today.

TO DETERMINE SEED GOODNESS

Department Issues Some Valuable Advice To Those Interested

The verification of the genuineness of variety names in the case of cereal grains, as well as of the degree of purity of variety, has come to occupy an important place among the numerous functions of the Cereal Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms System. The need for such determinations has become more and more apparent as the importance of using "the right sort in the right place" has become more fully demonstrated. The importance of using varieties which possess a high degree of purity (uniformness to name) has also contributed substantially in bringing about an increased interest in this matter.

Unfortunately many well inclined people, as well as others who appear to be less interested in or less informed regarding the needs of the individual farm, advertise varieties which are not always worth the price asked for them. In some cases these "new" varieties are not only in reality little in advance of standard varieties, to permit a safe rating to be made.

Act, it is now legal for anyone to ad vertise or offer for sale any new variety until it has been proved by actual ality. It is also illegal to offer an old variety under a new name. In order to make the law effective, a system of licensing has been inaugurated, which system in turn places the responsibility of making the determinations and declarations, in the case of grain crops, upon the Dominion Cerealist.

In addition to the work of verifying varieties for which licenses have been issued, the Division devotes a large deal of time to verifying the genuine ness and purity of seed stocks produced by members of the Canadian Seed Growers Association.

A short description of the method followed in these verification tests might be of interest. Samples of the stocks to be verified are collected by the Secretary of the above association and forwarded to the Cereal Division under variety name and test number. All notes taken in the field regarding uniformity, purity and trueness to var iety are recorded against these numbers. In the laboratory careful scrutiny is made of several hundred heads from each variety under test, and if no "off heads" are found the lot is passed and is recommended to receive a certificate. If "off heads" or impurities are found, these are analyzed and if necessary grown in the greenhouse or field to see if any furth er break up" occurs. The numbers of the stocks in which impurities are found are sent to the Secretary and the grower is notified that his seed is not pure enough to register. These verification tests while they entail a great deal of time and minute study are considered to be of great importance, especially in the case of "Elite Stock Seed"; since this class of seed is the basis of all Registered Seed in Canada.

WILLINGDON IS MOUNT CLIMBER

Accompanied by His Wife His Excellency Scales Signal Mountain

Jasper, Alta., July 31.—Breaking golf for the day their inconsistencies the Governor General and Lady Willingdon made the ascent yesterday of Signal Mountain, behind Jasper Park Lodge. The weather was without a blemish and from the summit they had a magnificent view of the surrounding country. Snow covered mountain ranges pushed up all around them and the broad valleys were laced with rivers and jewelled with lakes of surpassing brilliance. With their Excellencies rode Viscount Harding, R. Wright, superintendent of Jasper National Park, and his two daughters, James Thornton, son of Sir Henry Thornton, and Langford, Superintendent Wardens. The outing took a day with a stop for a delightful picnic lunch at the cabin near the summit.

Today their Excellencies are again on the golf links. Sunday morning the Governor General will attend service at St. Mary's Anglican Church in town after which he will lay the corner stone of the new building. In the afternoon he will take part in the 250th Cavell Memorial Service which will be conducted at the foot of the glacier on the mountain peak which was named after the woman whose death made her her one in English history.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

So life we praise, that does excel.
Not in mech time, but acting well.
WALLIH.

PRANKS AT OLYMPICS

The Farmer Son is reflecting the thoughts of many Canadians when it editorially deplores the conduct of some of the members of the team which this country has sent to the Olympic games, conduct which is being commented upon by observers at the games and which is causing the Canadians to run into mild difficulties with the Amsterdam police. The Sun says that "it is not that their athletic prowess is in doubt but, if news despatches from authentic source are to be credited, there is a lot of room for improvement" in their demeanor and deportment. We read that after a recent workout half the Canadian team went slumming and came home with wooden boots. Their appearance in the slum district created a near riot and it was necessary to beat a hasty retreat. In the evening they blockaded busy downtown streets by parading with the wooden shoes and doing the 'black bottom' and 'Charleston' in the square in front of the Queen's palace. On Sunday, we read, the Canadians had their first experience with the Amsterdam police. What is described as a rough crowd of Amsterdam young men blockaded the hotel door. The Canadians upstairs showered them with water which action resulted in the police being called.

It is possible to excuse this type of conduct on the ground that "boys will be boys" and that a group of athletes away from home, nearly always believe in mixing a bit of fun with the more serious business, nowadays, of endeavoring to capture championship honors. But, as the Sun adds, what can be said in extenuation of the unsportsmanlike action of some of the girl athletes attached to the Canadian team in delib erately 'double-crossing' the members of other teams who were witnessing their practices? One of the high jumpers is said to have purposely fumbled. The discus thrower cut her throw by eight feet, and the sprinters ran slowly in order that a false impression might be spread abroad.

Such tactics alien to the best traditions of amateur sport, are not calculated to gain additional friends for Canada amongst those who attend the Olympic games, or amongst the Dutch people themselves and richly merit the condemnation which the Sun gives them.

VANCOUVER'S GROWTH

An interesting souvenir has been received in this office from the Vancouver Sun, consisting of a small sack containing a portion of the eighty-millionth bushel of wheat which has passed through the port of Vancouver in the season of 1927-1928. The sun is taking this means of bringing forcibly to the attention of the east the growing importance of Vancouver as a west-shipping centre. In the season of 1926-1927 half a million bushels of wheat passed through this port to the markets of the world. This season, seven years later, the eighty millionth bushel mark has been passed. Truly this is a splendid record of growth, and it shows the great importance of having ample railway and terminal facilities linking the far west of Canada with the central plains and the industrial east. The Vancouver Sun is and effective method of letting its be complimented on its very novel newspaper contemporaries all over the country know of the expansion which is taking place in the community which it serves.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

"Saskatchewan Wages War on Clown," says a headline. Why not turn them over to her politicians to sail?—Ottawa Journal.

The mayor of Toronto says that city does not need any airport. He probably thinks that the machines can alight on those flat Sundays which are so characteristic of the Queen City.—Brantford Expositor.

A certain Aichison man has no car, but he has three backseat drivers for his radio set.—Aichison Globe.

Who can recall when the room where mother left her sewing materials and Junior stored his toys used to be referred to as father's "den"?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

It is always father's car when it needs a new tire or a tank of gas. At other times the whole family owns it. —Los Angeles Times.

Toronto is said to have been agitated by a "shockingless girl." Poor old Mrs. Grundy seems to be getting "socks" these days.—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

WHY THEY KEEP AT GOLF

He topped his drive from number one,
Resulting in a roller;
And dubbed his mashie to the green—
Took seven ere he holed 'er.
And though, mayhap he cussed a bit,
It only made him bolder!

On number two he tore a slice
Into a swampy thicket;
The ball fell in a hollow log
From whence he had to pick it;
And e'en while growling at his luck
He vowed that he could kick it!

He hooked one badly down at three,
Then on into the bunker
And chipped and dug for fourteen strokes
'Fore finally he "sunk" 'er!
All those who saw him at his task
Could swear he was no flunker!

At four and five the divots flew
In manner quite alarming;
At six and seven one would think
He was engaged in farming;
At eight he missed so many that
The air got quite a warming!

But when on nine, his driver struck
Like lightning on the rubber,
And on it flew toward the pin
As though steered by a rudder!
Three hundred yards—a single stroke!
He holed out in another.

His palpitating heart proclaimed
The joy the wallop brought him;
He told his feat a hundred times
To anxious fans who sought him.
And that is why man keeps at golf
When once the "bug" has got him.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

It was their first quarrel, and it lasted longer than post-honeymoon squabbles generally do. But finally it was over and the wife was confiding to a friend.

"My dear, it was really terrible while it lasted," she said. "But I'm glad in a sense. See what a splendid present Percy gave me afterwards."

"Oh how gorgeous to have a husband like that!" she cried. "That's a cloak with a silver-fox lining."

KINGSTON NO MATCH FOR LOCALS WHO CAPTURED HOLLOW VICTORY

Nationals Swamped Visitors In One-Sided Game

TWO PITCHERS

Belleville Team Rode Rough-Shod Over Joe Daley's Club

Kingston's Central League Club brandied as the second-place team, Belleville, opponents in the finals were utterly put to rout in a listless and one-sided game here yesterday.

The score was 17-3.

The Nationals demonstrated to the rest of the world and particularly to the Kingston club that they are the rightful holders of first-place, by piling up the biggest score of the year before a fair audience at the Exhibition Park, yesterday. The locals exercised no mercy in disposing of Joe Daley's tribe and they pounded out eighteen hits during the course of the donnybrook. The Nationals practically clinched first place yesterday and the light now centres on the scrap for second place with Oshawa the favorites over Peterboro and Kingston.

On top of their tremendous clouting, the Nats played almost faultless ball in the field and it was seldom that the visitors made any semblance of a threat. The locals were complete masters of the situation and when the contest was half completed the stands presented somewhat of a crowded appearance, the fans having to seek some more exciting diversion than watching the Nats belabor the Pontiac pitching assembling the manner of a cat playing with a helpless mouse.

Commencing early in the fray the Gorow-Rowsond - Mills combination proceeded to lay it on thick and before the ball-way - clark had been reached the Ponies were snowed under an avalanche of runs. Six in the fourth and five more in the eighth were not enough to flattering their batting averages in the early innings the Nats were leading 16-2 at the end of the fifth. Kingston team exhibited their superiority but struggled along tenaciously, seeking the opening that never came. It was tedious work both for the players and spectators and a sigh of relief went up when the prolonged agony was over.

Scott's Home Run.

Home-runs triples and singles were sandwiched in together in the clouting feast and it remained for Bob Scott, rollicking third-baseman to give the apple the ride that netted for him the coveted home-run.) Bob's drive came in the fourth inning of the first ten and the pellet went straight and true, a fine drive, to right centre and Scotty trundling with the speed of an Olympic sprinter does for the plate to beat the ball, which reached Jimmy Arnell's hands, by inches. The fanoon rose and rejoiced. It was Bob's first circuit-drive and it was a thundering homecoming for the chubby little third-baseman. 'Peeny' Mills made a great effort to duplicate Bob's feat a few minutes later but his pedal extremities don't function with the same regularity as the youngster's and he was forced to remain at third. But Mills' clout carried a whole lot more significance with it than that of his predecessor since he cleaned the bases which had previously been cluttered by 'Tammy' Jamison and Baker, a novice yesterday. The little hurler set his jaw and went to work but after laboriously trudging through three long inning his task was announced in the fourth and he made for second place with Oshawa the favorites over Peterboro and Kingston.

Summary

Bases on balls by Gibson 2, by Jamison 2, by Cherry 4. Two base hits, Gibson, A. Weir, Cherry. Three base hits, W. Mills, Blakely, H. Mills. Home runs, Scott. Double plays, Blakely to Weir to Harry Mills. Hit by pitched ball, Harry Mills. Passed balls W. Mills. Earned runs, Belleville 14, Kingston 2. Struck out by Gibson 5, by Jamieson 1. Left on bases, Belleville 9, Kingston 7.

were real clean hits. Every one of the hors shared in the hitting and one of the brightest features of the whole contest was the terrific clouting of Stan Hagerman. This boy has been in the throes of a batting slump and appears to be emerging from it with-in the last few weeks. Hagerman banged out three pretty plugs and they were all timely. Another lad who will bear watching is Alex Weir, one-time mascot of the old Grand Trunks who has been making rapid strides toward stardom this year. Alex got three hits yesterday one of them a nice double, which had it not been for the guide, post would have gone for a triple.

Kingston made a real threat in the eighth when they filled every corner of the diamond with nobody out. Gibson promptly went to work and the next three men filed out and the visitors were kept scoreless.

Locals Had 19 Hits.

We will not burden you gentle reader with the details of the game. It was just another ball game as far as the Nationals were concerned. It would appear that the locals hold little more than the minimum amount of respect for some of the pitchers in this league. The adding-machine-like performance of the Belleville batsmen formed us that they were nineteen hits yesterday while Kingston had eight. The comparison does not end there, but rather with the ability of the Nationals to move around the bases while taking advantage of the ineffectiveness of the Kingston pitchers.

Tricky' Ross supplied one of the chief fielding features when he scurried back to take a long drive of Brittan's bat in the eighth. It was a well-nigh perfect catch and the crowd gathered on the grandstand's bleachers when the Yankees are at home would turn cart-wheels if they saw Rob do the same thing. It was surely 'big league stuff.'

Harry Hagerman also pulled down two long hooks and made himself generally useful over in left field.

On the Kingston men in the ball game, they were part of it, at least their presence was felt at times. Hewitt Smith and 'Brick' Stone made two hurdling catches and take it from yours truly both of them were of the circus variety. They were the two redeeming features to Kingston's nonchalant display.

BUFFALO WINS DOUBLEHEADER

Montreal Beaten Twice By Leafs Yesterday at Toronto

Buffalo, August 2.—Buffalo captured both games of the doubleheader here by the odd run, the first, 6-5, and the second, 5-4. Last inning rallies gave the Bisons victories in both games. They came from behind to score two runs in the eighth and ninth innings of the first contest, Mokin, pinch-hitting for Wertz clouting a homer off W. Wills c ..... 4 2 2 2 1 0 Wertz with one on in the ninth. Both runs of the Bisons in the second game were scored in the fifth. Berwing, pinch-hitting for Schorter and Spero ranks being batted off the mound in this frame.

Reading suffered a fourth straight defeat in the third game of the series with Baltimore by the score of 12 to 2. The Orioles rallied for seven runs in the seventh inning to break a 10, and routed Socks Seibold, league-leading pitcher.

That Montreal invasion of the Leafs stadium which earlier in the week threatened to tumble the O'Hara's help off the lofty summits of first place in the league standing was ambushed neatly by Toronto's crippled forces, and when the casualities were counted the Royals had suffered a double defeat, the Leafs taking the first game 10 to 4 and the shorter contest by 2 to 1.

"GRAND-STAND GOSSIP"

Three more game and the Nationals will be ready for the finals. It won't be long now!

Smith's pick-up of Scott's hot ground-ball in the first inning was a smart piece of business. He robbed Scotty of a sure-fire hit.

Weir emulated Percy Williams feat by running out a ten-foot bunt in the first inning. When Weir gets under motion he goes like the flying Finn.

The Blakely-to Weir to Harry Mills double killing in the second inning was executed in jig-time. This boy Blakely is certainly playing wonderful ball this year.

Gibson pitched five balls in the third inning and the side was retired.

With the bases full in the third inning "Hoot" Gibson grounded weakly to Elliott and the crowd groaned. We needed them then!

With two down in the fourth 'Peeny' threw to second in hopes of catching Ada stealing. The latter crossed them up and while the infielders were running him down 'Del' Cherry scored from third.

Scott's home-run in the fourth was close at the plate but he beat the ball by two steps at least. He collided with Stone at first base but he whirled around and sped for second like a jack-rabbit.

Harry Mills the galloping ghost ran out a bunt in the fourth and everybody was safe. Can you imagine it!

"Big Peeney's "triple in the fourth cleared the bases and was a timely clout. The crowd roared when Mills pulled up at third. The official,baseball guide has published Cherry's name and no doubt these will indicate him as still well within the shadow of the bag.

Del Cherry had a legion of friends in that crowd yesterday and even when in distress he was given a hand by the Kingston fans. Cherry always was a popular boy here.

"It's your last year in this League" helped a fan to George Sullivan when the veteran umpire made what appeared to be a bad decision. Old good-natured George realizes that his retirement is near but he grinned and waved his acknowledgement of the banter.

The grass has been cut in the outfield and certainly it is a great improvement. The Parks Board is to be congratulated.

"Sunny" Green didn't get in the game yesterday. One of the big-gest thorns in his back is bothering him. The fans missed him yesterday but he consoled himself to coaching duties.

Oshawa did not play the double-header in Deleon yesterday. The ground was too wet and the motorists were notified before they reached the village.

RUTH SLAMS HIS 42ND HOME RUN

Hank Johnson Went Route, Bob Meusel Got Homer Too

St. Louis, Aug. 2.—The honorable G. H. Ruth hit a grand home run into Grand avenue early yesterday afternoon and behind this sweet swat the rejuvenated Yanks surged over the Browns to a 12-1 victory—one of those old-fashioned victories that they need to win when the Yanks were the Yanks and not the door-mat of the American League.

There were signs yesterday that the door-mat era is over. For one thing, young Hank Johnson pitched the first nine-inning game that any Yank twirler has turned out in several days. For another thing, the champions manipulated their bats in the good old time fashion, slamming a trio of long drivers for sixteen bagging bases.

So Mr. Ruggles, dry as his eye, summoned a wan smile and admitted that everything was O. K. He'd bet as it seemed two days ago. Mr. Johnson made him feel good. Mr. Ruth did likewise, and there was also something soul-satisfying about Mr. Meusel's return with two on in the ninth.

Besides holding the Browns to seven hits, young Johnson made five himself—five clean singles in five times at bat—and as the other Yanks couldn't be shown up by a young squirt of a pitcher, they got busy in the approved fashion.

Ruth's 42nd homer, putting him 32 games or eight homers ahead of the 1927 record, landed on the roof of the right field pavilion and bounded into Grand Boulevard. This was in the first inning.

GOUEN MARIE VISITS VELDES

Belgrade, Jugoslavia, Aug. 2.—Queen Marie and the Princess Ileana of Rumania have arrived at Veldes, where they will remain a fortnight as guests of King Alexander.

In spite of the fact that they have a habition in that country, American still celebrates Independence Day.

The box score will tell its own story as far as the rest is concerned and Belleville will have no further games until next Wednesday when they go to Deloro for a double bill.

S. AFRICA FIRST IN HIGH HURDLES

United States Provided the Winner of the Discus Throw

Amsterdam, Aug. 1.—Print championship at the Olympic games today went to South Africa when Sidney Atkinson won the 110 metre high hurdles in 14 4-5 seconds equalling the world's record.

Atkinson's victory was something of a surprise as this countryman, G. C. Weighman-Smith was the favorite on the basis of his world's record breaking time of yesterday.

U. S. Wins Discus

Jud Houser, United states, won the discus championship with Olympic record breaking toss of 47.32 metres.

Jack Walters of Hamilton, and his brother Pete were eliminated in the heats of the 1500 metres. Jack finished fourth in one preliminary and Pete fourth in another. Dave Griffin, Hamilton, the third Canadian in the 1500 metres also placed fourth in his ning heat.

MADOC GIRLS WIN FROM DELORO TEAM

Madoc girls soft ball team defeated Deloro on the latter grounds in a regular league game on Monday evening by a score of 22 to 18. The score does not by any means increase the game, as it was close up until the last two innings, Madoc securing 12 runs in the two innings. In the third inning R. Sleenbitz, who play's second base for Deloro had her ankle hurt and had to retire from the game. The line-up was as follows:

Deloro—E. Ether, cf; R. Sleenburg, 2b; E. Mantle, ss; R. Mantle, lb; E. Reynolds, 3b; E. Brown, cf; D. Gray, c; M. Caffrey, p; L. Gray, lf; H. Foster, 3b.

CATARAQUI WON EXCITING GAME

Visitors Score Two In Seventh To Clinch Verdict

Belleville Frontenacs lost to the Cataraqui team on the armouries lawn last night by the close score of 4-3. The Cataraqui team came on with a driving finish to score their winning runs in the seventh inning. It was one of the best games of the season and the Frontenacs put up an excellent battle against the Easterners. Miss Alice Thompkins made her initial appearance as a pitcher and turned in a great game and will develop into a real smart pitcher. She was given good support by her teammates. Miss Walker did the flinging for the Cataraqui team and she had a nice assortment which baffled the Frontenacs. The Cataraqui team were late in arriving and took the field on their arrival. The Frontenacs scored their three runs in the sixth inning while Cataraqui counted one in the third, one in the fourth and two in the seventh. It was a fast game and was played in forty-five minutes which is almost considered record time: Don Hurst, of Belleville, umpired behind the plate and Weir, of Kingston, was on the bases.

Cataraqui—H. Pappa c. M. Walker p. M. Hurst, 1b. M. Campbell 2b. N. Senior 3b. L. Davidson lf. E. Dove ss. S. Sprott r f. M. Hall c f.

CANADA STEAMSHIP LINES

CRITICIZED BY CHURCH TIMES

London, Aug. 1.—We read with deep regret a circular issued by the Bishop of Saskatchewan, urging restrictions on non-British migration into Canada, in which His Lordship permits himself to refer to 'dirty, ignorant, garlic-smelling, superficient continentals,' says the Church Times, a leading Church of England organ, today.

'Dean Inge has been properly taken to task for some scornful references to the French-Canadians; the paper continued,' but this gibe by a Canadian bishop is infinitely worse. His Lordship seems to have entirely forgotten he is a prince of a Catholic Church that knows no distinction of race or language and that he is the servant of a Man 'Who died for all men—for garlic-smelling continentals as well as Englishmen and Scotsmen.

The paper was referring to the circular issued some weeks ago by Rt. Rev. G. E. Lloyd, Anglican Bishop of Saskatchewan.

SPANISH AIRMEN STARTED TRIP

Will Endeavour To Make Flight Around World In 45 Days

Cadiz, Spain, Aug. 1.—Four Spanish airmen hopped off this morning in a four motored seaplane on the first leg of a flight around the world in 45 days. Two attempts were necessary before the plane, Numancia, left from the waters after part of its load had been lightened.

The plane headed for Azores 1200 miles away. From there the airmen intend to fly over the Atlantic and land New York.

Ramon Franco, is pilot, and commander and with him is Captain Ruiz de Alda who was with Franco on the first flight across South America in 1926. Other members of crew were Emilio Gallarza, co-pilot, and Pablo Rada, mechanic.

The plane will go from Halifax to New York and later stopping places are Havana, Mexico, La Paz, Bolivia, Lower California, San Francisco, Port Essington, B.C., Unalaska, Alaska and Petropavsk, Siberia. From Siberia Make Franco will fly to Japan, Philippine Islands, India, Italy and back to Cadiz.

The purpose of the flight is to prove possibility of using the seaplane as a economical means of transporting passengers and mail across the ocean.

TEMPLE NAMED TO SEE OF YORK

London, Aug. 1—The Right Rev. William Temple, Bishop of Manchester, has been named Archbishop of York to succed the Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang.

Dr. Lang was recently elevated to the archbishopric of Canterbury to succeed the Most Rev. Randall Davidson whose resignation becomes effective November 11.

The new Archbishop of York is a sympathizer with the labor movement and has always taken a keen interest in social questions.

He is also renowned as a preacher and has frequently spoken by the hour on the most abstruse theological questions and without notes.

In the recent prayerbook controversy he strongly favored the revised book, and since its rejection has been one of the leaders in the movement to secure spiritual liberty for the church, without, however, disestablishment.

WILLINGDON AT NATIONAL PARK

Enjoys His Visit At This Beautiful Spot Exceedingly

Jasper, Alta.—After several weeks of strenous journeying which included their first trip to the wealthy Peace River County the Governor General and Lady Willingdon settled down at Jasper Park Lodge recently. For a quiet nine days they spent part of the day renewing acquaintances with the Golf course which gave them such pleasure last fall, and it is likely that Golf will take up most of their time while they are here. Their excellencies both played the 10 holes this morning short by after their arrival, and Lord Willingdon went around again in the early evening while her excellency enjoyed a swim. Their Excellencies' Aides are Viscount Hardings Captain, the Hon. G Jarvis and Capt. Melville. The Vice Regal party is occupying the self contained cottage overlooking Lacdeauvert The plans are not definitely settled, said Capt. Melville this afternoon, "We have been very busy for some weeks and their Excellencies have looked forard to their visit to Jasper Park as rest." "Rest", of course includes golf and for Lady Willingdon whose energetic idea of rest is another form of activity swimming and riding. Plans have been sketched for a long trail trip for her and is not unlikey that she will ride to Pocahontas and the famous Miette Hot Springs. Her enthusiam for the trails of Jasper has grown ever since she made a trip to Maligne Lake last year. The Governor General was the guest of honor at a dinner party given in the lodge by R. H. Knight, Supt. of the Park, among the other guests were Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, Sir Henry Thornton, K. B. E., president and chairman of the Canadian National Railways, Dr. H. Mc-Cul.

BAYSIDE

Misses Evelyn and Flossie Jeffery and two lady friends from Oshawa spent a week with Miss Mabel and Mrs. Libby Jeffery.

Mrs. Henderson gave a lawn party to her friends on Sunday evening. Her place looked lovely lighted with Chinese lanterns. Five car loads of our friends from the Mission, Belleville, drove out and held a service. The Radio afterwards was at its best and all enjoyed the weiners and buns.

Mr. and Mrs., Roy Jeffery have moved to Trenton. We were very sorry to lose them as neighbors, but wish them success in their new home.

Many were disappointed they did not know of the lecture in Wesley Church circle by Mr. R. J. Graham. He is quite a splendid speaker and tells of most interesting things. He saw in his travels. If it had been better advertised the house would not have held the crowd.

The Trenton Faith Mission held services at Mrs. Adams. There were three musicians and much interest is taken in these meetings at each other's homes.

It's a long time since we saw as many out to Wesley Church. We certainly enjoy our new minister's sermons very much. He is making his first calls on his parishioners now, and as he has no horse or car, Dert Hall is engaged as his chauffeur.

NO MORTAL IMMUNE FROM MATING CALL

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

Love can be found in many shades, shapes and varities. At one extreme it is hot as lust, a kind in which no one can take pride. At the other extreme is the most praiseworthy type that exists—love for a cause, a principle or my one's country—the kind of love for which people will lay down their lives.

Love between opposite sexes is the special brand of love that interests us, however, and it is quite complicated. We can't we merely leave it.

But that is not all important. The point is that this sort of love is the most romantic love!

Romantic love is invariably colored by idealism, hope and beauty. And that is the trouble with it. It is too dreamy, too exciting, too enchanting. Nothing, love, in fact, has all the earmarks of a disease! A person catches love just as he catches the measles.

Let the individual who is sick with measles or love—one who is sick with love by or happened and in either case the answer will be vague. He or will know, but, neither will know exactly.

A change in expression, a costume, a fashion, an atmosphere—the most mild thing and abnormal kind of thing may start the infection going.

Then, when romantic love has taken a firm grip, the afflicted goes with one delusion after ill.

I have seen cases with poor appetite and loss of weight, palpitation of the heart, sleeplessness, inability to concentrate on work, general restlessness, muscular twitching, backache, and dizziness.

On other cases on occasion have I observed people to bed for a prolonged rest.

And all this distress, mind you, is not suffered or the cessation of wanting to hear about, or think about, or actually be with, the loved one, the whole twenty-four hours.

Males are just as susceptible to romantic love as females, but it undermines them more. Indeed, I am inclined to believe that, in general, love-sickness attacks men more seriously than women.

The physical side of women's nature does not seem to be so dangerously affected.

People actually go to nerve specialists to be treated for it. In these severe cases of love realities remain distant, unnoticed, behind you.

Ordinarily one does not speak or a person who, although he has a definite background, considers very a degree or two of temperature.

Listening, one should not think of a person attacked with romantic love as ordinarily sick unless love, colors and changes all his thoughts, feelings and actions.

Most people recover completely from love-sickness. A few never do. And the heart-hungry pains that follow as an aftermath in these chronic cases are among the most distressing that flesh is heir to.

If you have been in love yourself you will agree with me that love is in reality a disease.

Perhaps you only had a mild case of it. Perhaps it will attack you more viciously next time. Who knows?

But whether or no, the way to stop love from completely unbalancing you is to dream about it less and reason about it more!

Make yourself realize that the object of your desire is only a human being after all and nowhere nearly as wonderful and perfect as you like to imagine.

Form an attitude will not rob you of the pleasures of love.

If still merely structuring you against the cruel awakening, that you often comes when the hectic flush of romance passes and the patient once again faces the stern realities of life.

At the age of 70 years Miss Gertrude Rickards of London has challenged the pedestrian record of Edward Payson Weston, by proposing to accomplish a walking tour of 1,264 miles through Scotland and England.

Wilful Wives

CHAPTER 7
Social Padora

The evening at Lydia Converee's party was an ordeal for Marguerite. Lydia was gushingly cordial; the other women polite, but coolly critical of the bride Hal Reynolds had brought into their midst. All of them called him by his first name and seemed on the most friendly terms with him.

Marguerite grew more and more self conscious as she found herself left on the well-groomed guests. The women were all sleek, so beautifully dressed. Lydia added to her confusion by saying:

"My dear, you look charming. So sweet and fresh ..... But how did you get that delicious sunburn? Do tell me. I try and try, but I never burn."

The other guests talked of things she had never heard about. The man on her left tried her on Russian ballet, finding that he drew a blank, abandoned her politely. The man on her right was more kind, but he gave her the impression of labouring through an ordeal. Hal and Lydia were the center of interest.

When she refused highballs at the end of the meal, everybody said: "How sweet and original," but cyebrows were raised significantly.

The evening wore on. Lydia reading among her guests chattering gaily. Somebody sang songs that meant nothing to Marguerite. She joined jestingly in the applause, but, when her dinner partner asked what she thought of that particular interpretation, she was silent and embarrassed. Privately, she had thought it trivial.

"You must meet this little friend of Hal's. If you hadn't happened along ——" Her smile was eloquent.

Marguerite wondered if these people actually believed that the marriage between her and Hal was a love-match later she decided that they did. Hal had obviously been too proud to admit that the arrangement had been his father's and that Adam and Eve could had been the motivating power.

She made her adieus nicely, but, going home in the cab, she fell asleep. Hal awakened her when they reached the apartment-house.

"I hope you had a pleasant evening," he remarked, with a touch of satire in his voice.

"Oh, yes, really," she was intent upon pleasing. "Every one was very kind."

She was dismayed. Was there to be much of this sort of thing?

"I'm sure I shall," she murmured.

"You must let Lydia advise you about your frocks. She has excellent taste. You are a trifle—er—ingenue for my crowd."

"I shall be very glad, if she will take the trouble." She looked down at her pale rose-chiffon gown. She had liked it because it was so simple.

"She knows all the best shops." Hal went on. "In fact, to tell the truth, since she ditched her family for the stage, she hasn't too much money. I have an idea that she gets a commission for the patrons she brings to modists, but no matter. Financially, you and I are on top of the world—now."

"The business is going well—Dad's and your father's?"

"Reddenly," he yawned. "How stupid it is, though. You and I were altogether too much a Roman holiday but, believe me, it's some holiday."

In the apartment, he said: "I dare say you're tired and want to go to bed ..... The crowd was going on to a night club, but I didn't want them in be same. I've had enough. would bore you. Will you mind, if I drift over for an hour's?"

"Oh, no! Please do exactly as you wish. I'm not ..... Yes."

He looked at her steadily for a moment. "Marguerite, it's a shame. You're a good little sport. I'm sorry for you—and for us both, for that matter. I'm honestly trying to play the game, but it's hard."

She nodded. "I know. We're strangers."

He left her with a bow and the briefest touch of his lips on her finger tips. She heard him whistling as he let himself out of the apartment.

She was staring at her reflection in the mirror when her maid came to help her disrobe. She looked like a hurt and badly turned-out child.

"Madam is not going out again tonight?"

"It is I who am the failure," she thought. "Hal is honestly trying to be kind."

She fell to thinking of the rosy dreams of romance that had been their inevitable place in her girlhood. Hal was handsome enough to be Prince Charming. But he was a stranger. She feared him, was awed by him ..... seemed to be no common ground on which they could meet. Her subject vivacity deserted her at his coming. She was ugly an awkward child in her efforts to please.

She fell asleep, finally. Her last thought was: "I am glad he is having a good time. He was awfully bored with me tonight."

The next day, she met Irma Brockton, the girl who was to figure so largely in her life.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

In reply to Sue's letter giving a list of qualifications which she and her friends had prepared to judge the boys whom they met, I have received quite a few replies. Here are two—one girl giving what a group of boys require in their friendships with girls, and the other—well it speaks for itself.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

In compliance with Sue's request we would like to have you publish ways in which we judge girls.

1. We judge them by their appearance, that is we think they should be "chic."

2. An excess use of cosmetics is not admirable.

3. A "gift of gab" or ability to carry on a conversation is essential.

4. Having a religion is preferable.

5. A girl must also be able to dance

6. A girl must not be a cad. By this we mean a girl must not show her letters or tell everything she knows to her friends.

7. Petting cheapens a girl but a good-night kiss is acceptable.

8. A girl must not be too proud and should be friendly and loyal to her friends.

The Taffeta Picture Frock For Dancing

Taffeta really spring most charmingly into a graceful, youthful role this season, being in the favor of an orchestra. The one shown above, of rose-colored taffeta, shows the new dip at the right instead of the center back and the new square decolletage. Very smart, too, are the "lingerie" shoulder straps of narrow transparent tulle and the wide molding girdle that ends in a huge drop bow. This girdle, whose long ends effectively break the breadth, is faced with fuschia taffeta, exactly matching the fuschia flower posed at the left of the bodice. Satin slippers of fuschia and suave complete the costume, (Copyright, 1928, by Bellevue).

The record for smart simplicity among the hundreds who went to the year's Courts belonged to the Hon. Mrs. Norton, a daughter of Lord Grimthorpe, who appeared in a black satin dress and coat, the coat being lined with white satin. Her hat was of white satin, and she carried a white satin bag.

Nevata, a daughter of Lord Airedale, has designed for her debut a model for her debut of moonlight blue lace, new luminous fabric, neither satin nor tissue, had not a scrap of trimming, and the train was of the same fabric almost unadorned, save her only jewels consisted of a long rope of pearls.

POLISH AVIATORS HOP OFF FROM FRANCE

Canadian Scullers Win By 3 Lengths From Dutch Crew at Olympics

DEATH TOLL IN WELLAND CANAL DISASTER MOUNTS HIGHER TODAY

RIB PUNCTURED BUT MADE NO COMPLAINTS

Winghan, Ont., Aug. 3—So serious-ly injured that she died within a few hours, Mrs. Alexander Campbell, 71, drove home with her nephew after an accident yesterday and never men-tioned that she was hurt. She col-lapsed and died when nearing her home and it was found a rib had punctured her lung.

ARGO SCULLERS AGAIN VICTORS

Joe Wright and Jack Guest Defeat Dutch Crew Easily

Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 3.—(By T. H. Loudon, Special Correspondent of the Canadian Press)—Canada's double sculls crew, Joe Wright and Jack Guest of the Argonaut Rowing Club, Toronto defeated the Holland crew in their pre-liminary heat at the Olympic regatta by three lengths today.

The time for the 2000 metre course on the Sloten Canal was 7 minutes, 45 seconds.

Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 3.—This was the third victory for Canada in the preliminary heats of the regatta, for the singles yesterday, Wright-Guest headed H. F. Gunnerus, Holland, and the Argonaut crew defeated Den-mark in the singles.

Wright and Guest strolled into the lead from the crack of the pistol row-ing as per early minute to Holland's 36, at the one-quarter mark, the Argonaut duo had a length lead, but Holland thrashed in for the next 750 metres and came up even with the Canadians at the 980 metre flag. They could not keep it up, however, and at the finish the way their open water again separated the two crews with Canada out in front.

The Canadians continued to pull ahead of their Dutch opponents and were in good shape when they crossed the finish line three lengths ahead.

AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN CONFINED TO HIS BED

London, Aug. 3.—Sir Austen Cham-berlain, who was announced Wednes-day to be confined to his home with a chill, is suffering from a mild attack of bronchial pneumonia, it was stated, He is progressing satisfactorily, it was stated, and that his condition gives no cause for anxiety.

TRAP FAILED TO WORK FIRST TIME

Baltimore, Md., Aug. 3—Charles P. Carey and Benjamin F. Sprague, paid with their early today for the slaying of a prison clerk in an attempt-ed escape from the Maryland State Penitentiary in July 1927.

Neither of the men's necks was broken in the first fall through the trap and the bodies were left hanging until the victims had been strangled to death. One of the witnesses in the death chamber when Carey, the first man to die was dropped through a trap but twelve remained when Sprague was led in.

Versatile Spouse Occupies Pulpit In Hubbie's Absence

Mrs. Aylesworth B. Bell, of Roch-ester, New York, wife of the pastor of the South Congregational Church there, needs her husband in more ways than one. She supplies for her husband in the pulpit, aids in parish duties, looks after the family and has found time to organize a new church of her own.

Mr. A. B. Bell, of this city, 371 William Street, is a brother to the pas-tor, Bell, of Rochester.

Mrs. Bell began preaching before her marriage eighteen years ago, and she has been doing a good deal ever since. Before she went to Rochester in the summer of 1926, she occupied the pulpit of the Genoa City Con-gregational Church in Wisconsin. During her first year of residence in Rochester, she contented herself with occasional preaching. Then last No-vember Walter Rollins, D. D., superintendent of the New York State Congregational Conference, suggested that she take charge of the new little-ton community which was being planned in the Winona road section.

It was just the sort of undertaking which pleased Mrs. Bell's interest, so a store was rented at Winona Road and Tryon Park. At that first serv-ice in November there were exactly six who came for Sunday school and nine for church service. They didn't fill the little room to overflowing, but they formed the nucleus for a grow-ing organization, and within eight months nearly a hundred have regis-tered at the Winton Congregational Church.

Remaining Eleven Who Were Injured Expected To Recover

CONDOLENCE MESSAGE

Alex Wilson Who Heroic-ally Faced Danger to Warn Men Dies

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 3—The death toll in the Welland Canal disas-ter increased to ten today with the deaths of Alex Wilson of this city and Leo Dion, of Sherbrook, Que. Wilson, who had a fine war record, serving in the submarine chaser H. M. S. G-Men Strand, succumbed early today, but Lion lived until about noon though his recovery had been known to be hop-less. All the remaining eleven injur-ed men are expected to recover.

At the same time a list of the in-dividual fatalities mounted with the death of James Dawshow, who was crushed in Scott Weller, Jury 1, when a tractor he was driving overturned. He was born in Manitoba.

Memorial Hospital

St. Catharines, Ont., Aug. 3 — The death list in the accident at Lock 8 Welland Canal on Wednesday was in-creased to nine this morning by the death of Alex Wilson, St. Catharines, foreman of the riveters who worked on the huge gate that was carried to the bottom of the eighty-foot lock when the crane toppled over.

Wilson is said to have lost his chance of escape by taking time to warn his men of the danger and was caught in an avalanche of steel debris which ac-companied the fall of the big leaf.

The condition of Leo Dion, Shaw-bridge, Que., remains unchanged, he is still breathing, but there is no hope for his recovery.

A message of sympathy has been received from both Viscount Willing-don and Premier Mackenzie King.

Deputy Chief Engineer Sherwood of the Federal Department of Railways and Canals returned to Ottawa last night after investigating the cause of the accident.

FOXBORO CHURCH HELD LAWN SOCIAL

On Tuesday evening July 31st under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Foxbo-boro W.M.S. a well attended lawn social was held on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Sills. The lawn was beautifully decorated and lit with elec-tric lights and with the beauty of the Moira made an ideal location for the social. A good program was given by the Foxboro Band and enjoy-able evening with well rendered selec-tions. Ice cream, bitter bannity flowed and the singing of "God Save the King" the audience left for home hav-ing spent a most enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Sills have the thanks of all present for their generous hospitality in opening their home and loaning their lawn. Proceeds were $29.80.

JAMES BLUE IS GIVEN FREEDOM

Belleville Man's Efforts to Liberate Brother Are Successful

Montreal, Aug. 3.—James Blue, of Frincville, Que., who was interned in the Verdun Protestant Hospital as in-sane at the demand of his wife, was liberated in the custody of his brother, Thomas Blue, of Belleville, Ontario by Mr. Justice Demers in the practice court today. The judgment was ren-dered by the court after the evidence had been given by Dr. Pourieux, Sur-gritendent of the Hospital, that al-though Blue was of subnormal mental ity, there was no likelihood that he would become dangerous either to him self or others.

In the petition for the release of his brother, Thomas Blue stated that he was prepared to take his brother to Belleville with him. Evidence was given that James Blue was interned after some domestic trouble with his wife.

REQUEST MERCHANTS TO OBSERVE HOLIDAYS

The executive of the Belleville Mer-chants' Association requests the mer-chants of Belleville to close their stores next Wednesday afternoon as usual. It is the opinion of many of the mer-chants in the city that sufficient pub-licity by the Association has not been given in regard to holidays which fall during the same week. It is felt that most of the merchants will co-operate with the Association in closing their stores all day Monday, which is a civ-ic holiday as well as the half holiday on Wednesday.

BELLEVILLE RINK CAPTURE TROPHY

Miss Hurley's Rink Win-ners In Cobourg Bowling Tourney

Miss Hurley's rink won the Bowling Tourney at Cobourg yesterday and came home with the huge trophy which they will hold for the next year. The tournament commenced in the afternoon and although rain threatened, all of the games were completed. Rinks from practically every centre in Central Ontario took part in the contest. Miss Hurley's rink was composed of Mrs. Bunny stead, Vice; Mrs. M. P. Duff, sec-ond; Mrs. George Davis lead and Miss Hurley, Skip. The tournament was conducted on the plus system and the winners had a score of plus 24. The Peterboro ladies won second prize while Mrs. Dolan's rink of Belleville was third with a score of plus 10. Therefore the local rinks were well up in the scoring. Mrs. Dolan's rink was composed of the following players, Mrs. Ackerman, Vice; Mrs. Devoche, Second and Mrs. Lettimer, Lead. Miss Hurley's rink received silver cake baskets as in-dividual prizes. Two other rinks from this city were entered but did not manage to bring home any prizes. They were Miss McLean's rink, Mrs. Russell, Miss I. McKeown, Mrs. Sum-bridge; Miss Carr's rink was made up of Miss Bleeker, Mrs. McGuiness and Mrs. Vare. The visiting players were entertained after the games.

WINNIPEG BOY LOSES 400 METRE RACE TO UNITED STATES RIVAL

EDWARD'S 6TH

United State's Officials Admit Competition Too Keen

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—Ray Barbuti brought United States its first running victory by winning the 400 metre cham-pionship in close finish from Jimmy Ball of Winnipeg. Barbuti's time was 47 4-5 seconds which is within 1-5 o. second of Olympic record.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3. (By W. H. In-gram, Staff correspondent of the Can adian Press)—Two of the three Cana-dians were eliminated in the 400 metres semi-final at the Olympic games to-day, leaving James Ball, Winnipeg to represent Canada in the final late to-day. A. Wilson finished fifth and Phil Edwards, Hamilton sixth in one semi final while Ball was beaten by inches by Ray Barbuti of the United States.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—Ball just fail-ed by inches to nip Barbuti at the fin ish and secure victory. He forced Bar buti to set such a terrific pace that the United States runner collapsed completely at the tape. Ball timed Barbuti's effort a little too late or other wise he would have been a certain win ner as at finish he was gaining on Barbuti at every step losing out at the finish by less than a foot.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—Willie Ritola, of Finland, won the 5000 metre long nlng championship at the Olympic games today, succeeding as champion his countryman and rival Paavo Nurmi.

Nurmi, after sticking to Ritola's heels for the last eight laps created a sensation by not chasing as Willie closed with a spurt that carried him to tape 40 metres ahead of Nurmi. Nur-mi kept looking at the next man, Ed-win Wide, and contented himself with just beating the Swede for second. Ritola's time was 14 minutes, 38 sec-onds nearly seven seconds slower than Nurmi's Olympic record.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—Not overrat-ing as alleged by the London news-papers but slifter competition is re-servable for the poor showing of United States athletes in the track events at the Olympic games, members of the United States Olympic commit-tion state.

Amsterdam, Aug. 3.—A majority o the Canadian athletes competing at Olympics will take part in the Pol-teans games in Ireland, August 15-17, the British Army games at Woolwich, England, on the 18th and the Scottish games at Glasgow, August 27, it was announced today.

KING ENDORSES KELLOGG PACT

London, Aug. 3.—Confidence that the Kellogg pact to outlaw war will be an important guarantee of peace was expressed by the King in prorogu-ing parliament today.

The speech from throne said, "It is my confident expectation that when completed it will constitute a new and important guarantee of world's peace."

The speech mentioned the appoint-ment of High Commissioner in Ot-tawa and the recent merger of the Empire cable interests.

Wildcat Killed In Northern Waters By Daring Canoeist

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Aug. 3.—The wolf and bear stories that Algoma has been telling lately has, in Dominic Tal-rico's estimation, quite eclipsed by an incident which concerns an honest-to goodness wildcat. Two prospectors were out in a boat on Wawa Lake, when the wildcat swam toward them. In his manner leaving no doubt as to its intention to attack one of the boat's occupants was thoroughly scared by the menacing aspect of the animal, and headed the boat for shore in a hasty retreat. The other man, how-ever, after dropping his partner on shore, returned to the wildcat, struck it over the head with an oar, and held its head under water until it drowned.

Talarico has an interesting photo of the wildcat after death. It is a very large specimen of the feline species and certainly from its appearance in the picture is quite capable of instill-ing fear into the most courageous.

NO REQUEST FOR EMBARGO ON DOGS

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Dr. J. H. Grie-dale, Deputy Federal Minister of Agriculture, who is in Toronto today, stated that no request had been re-ceived from the Ontario Health authorities supported by evidence that the Dominion places an embargo on American dogs to check the rabies epidemic. Dr. Griedale was speaking in regard to a statement made by Dr. Forbes Godfrey, the Ontario Minister of Health, to the effect that the pro-vince had asked the embargo.

INTREPID FLIERS BRAVE ATLANTIC

Polish Aviators Expect To Reach New York Tomorrow

Le Bourget, France, Aug. 3.—Two Pol ish knights of the air sped westward with dawn today, hoping to make the first non stop east-to-west flight to New York across France.

The fliers, Major Louis Idzikowski and Captain Kalada, of the Polish air service, hopped off at 5.46 a.m. Paris time (11.45 pm. Thursday - eastern standard time) in their plane Christ-ened Marshal Pilsudski, in honor of the Polish dictator.

They should have passed over Lon-don, France at 9 a.m. but nothing had been seen of them as they flew. Weather conditions did not favor observa-tion, however, it was sunny and hazy, with shading visibility poor.

Le Bourget, France, Aug. 3.—The fli-ers took off against the advice of the French weather service, but were con-fident in word from the United States that they would run into good condi-tions on that side of the Atlantic. They expected to land at New York on Saturday afternoon after a flight of from 3,800 to 4,000 miles, depending on the route followed. A strong north easterly breeze wafted them on their course which led south west over the Azores. They carry no radio.

FATHER LALLY IS APPOINTED

Changes in the staffs of the variou Jesuit institutions in Montreal have recently been announced and it will be of interest to many people of Bell-ville to learn that Rev. Thomas Lally, S. J., has been appointed Assistant Parish Priest of St. Patrick's Church Ogle. Father Lally is a native of Belle-ville boy having spent his youth in this city and is held in high esteem by a large circle of friends here who will be pleased at his appointment with much pleasure.

MISSING THE POINT

Is What has become of the much-heralded approach or the "saturation point" in the production and sale of automobiles which students of economics have been forecasting in recent years?

One naturally turns to the United States for the answer. Statistics indicate that there are now enough automobiles in operation in the United States to give everybody within its borders a ride at one time. Does this mean that the saturation point—that is to say—is filled with automobiles that it cannot stand any more—has been reached?

The truth appears to be that the saturation point in the automobile industry is much further away than economists have looked to predict. Just as they seem to get their production and consumption curves well pointed towards it and prepare to congratulate Henry Ford before it is finally and definitely reached, it appears to slip from under. At the present moment, in a somewhat nebulous point beyond the range of the naked eye.

The saturation point may come when there is an automobile for every man, woman and child in the United States. Then, again, it may not. Who can say with any confidence that there will not be one-and-a-half or even two automobiles to every body before it is reached?

In computing on a basis of population the economists may have fallen into error. It may be that parking space will eventually be the deciding factor.

UNIQUE CHAMPION

The valedictory of Gene Tunney, world's champion heavyweight boxer, is an interesting document. To the ring with Tunney is, we think, the only prize-fighter in the history of the ring who could have penned a statement of that kind. The retiring champion takes pains to point out that he is not ashamed of the sport that made him a millionaire. It owes him a debt he is not unmindful of and one he cannot hope to repay, he declares, but the fact was impressed upon him that he could never hope to be a "popular champion." The lesson is plain. Let's get down to brass tacks now and in the future call these encounters prize fights, not boxing contests. Tunney was a boxer—and the public would not warm up to him. Dempsey was a "killer" and the public ate him up. The fight fan, given a choice of boxing science and the crisp crack of a haymaker connecting with the button, has voted for the sledge-hammer punch. Tunney has discovered that boxin' bearing and the fight game do not mix. He was forever being accused of being "high hat." The retiring champion has improved a sport that sadly needed improving, but the realization came to him, we think, that the sport was not improving him other than in a material way. We read now that he has plunged a unique vocation, a walk for four through Europe with Thornton Wilder, author of the season's best seller. Shade of John L.! The only walking tour the champs of the olden days ever went on were tours of the cabin—and then they walked in open hacks.

GOLF ETIQUETTE

Walter Hagen, foremost professional golfer of the United States, and Archie Compston, England's best, are admittedly great box-office attractions and it is not unlikely special inducements were made to them to enter the Canadian open tournament at Rosedale, Toronto, last week. Stars though they be, they are not bigger than the game, and it would be interesting to know why they were not reprimanded by the governing body for their disregard of appointed starting times. Pair 3d together on the opening day of the tournament, both were late reaching the first tee, and on Saturday morning Compston deliberately kept his opponent, Armour, the defending Canadian open champion, waiting half an hour past the appointed time. Cool-betting in sport is not an English characteristic and the effect of the English giant's artistry with his clubs was offset in no small degree by his failure to measure up to the English standard of sportsmanship. The situation was reversed in the afternoon when Armour in retaliation, sat leisurely dallying with his lunch while Compston await ed him at the tee and when the Briton sent word that it was past starting time Armour's reported reply to the messenger was that "he would start when he was ready and not before." The governors of Canadian golf could have done a big thing for the royal and ancient game by disqualifying both Hagen and Compston that first day when they flagrantly broke the rules of the competition. Disqualification for the stars meant, of course, the gallery were most interested in seeing in action would have occasioned keen disappointment, but if any of the ordinary players in the tournament had similarly violated the rules they would have seen their names stricken from the list of competitors, we have no doubt. Some day, some ruling body will step in and impress the etiquette of the game on a Hagen or a Compston and lovers of tournament golf will roundly applaud its courage.

HE CAME BACK

Percy Williams, of Vancouver, didn't get a chance to contest in the Olympic games last year. He made the trip from the west in a hurry and was not in the best of condition. He was crowded out of the final tests because there was not a lane in which he could run on the track.

This year he came back and won the Canadian trials, the semi-finals and the final at Amsterdam.

Percy Williams is good proof of the fact that it doesn't pay to be too early set to one side.

LITTLE PEACE

Hon. Peter Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, has a rough time with the newspapers. We're inclined to sympathize with him at times. Just now he's on his way over to Canada, and the London papers have stated that he is going to confer in Washington, to displace Hon. Vincent Massey there.

The chances seem to be that Mr. Larkin will be in Canada about three weeks and then he will return to his office in London.

When he gets back to London, Mr. Larkin, we suppose, will have the newspaper men there forming fours and otherwise showing their regret for their brief excursion into speculative rumors.

Just Stories

The Widow—In the residence of Sir Dhumjibhoy Bunsell, wealthy Bombay merchant, stands within sight of the towers of Whitsor Castle. It is said to be furnished more elaborately than even that royal home. Every bedroom in Sir Dhumjibhoy's home is filled with marble wash basin, and every hydrant, bracket and hatrack is made of solid gold. In Sir Dhumjibhoy's own room the legs of the washstand are also of gold. All the furniture is on a corresponding style of magnificence. The rooms are furnished according to various periods and the furniture consists chiefly of rare antiques. Sir Dhumjibhoy Bomanji was knighted in 1922 for services rendered the British and Indian governments during the World War. He is now ill England to make it his permanent residence.

X X X

When one hundred years ago Daniel O'Connell was known as the Irish liberator, pageantry in the politics of the day was the usual and striking. When he moved about then the livery worn by his servants —to quote the Dublin Freeman of that date—was "pure unmitigated green; the coloring of the carriage itself, green also; the dress of the agitator himself, that of the order of 'O'Connell Liberators' and that of the gentleman who accompanied Nicholas Purcell O'Gorman, secretary, to the Parliament of Ireland, was dressed in a green coat, with white silk lining, the buttons being engraved with a shamrock, with the legend 'Erin go Bragh. All these 'contributed to awaken in the minds of the peasantry the idea that the time is coming when the people will be free. . . . As the night approached,' the different towns through which they went were all illuminated, and bonfires and tar barrels were blazing in all directions. They crossed the Shannon at O'Brien's Bridge, part of which town is in the County of Clare, and here, on their first arrival in what may be extraordinary spectacle of the day was called the scene of action, the most presented. The venerable parish priest, at the head of about 5,000 of his flock, advanced and met the procession, which the priest hailed with a degree of enthusiasm that almost drew tears from Mr. O'Connell and the gentleman who accompanied him.'

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 20 years ago)

Early this morning Lewis Simpson G.T.R. driver was struck by a pilot engine in the yard at Brockville and instantly killed. Mr. Simpson was one of the best-liked engineers on the road and he had spent most of his life in Belleville.

One of the oldest and highly respected residents of the county passed away in the person of Mrs. William Elliott who died at her late home in Hungerford.

Ensign Taylor who is in charge of the Belleville Corps of the Salvation Army some years ago will conduct a special service here shortly.

Mr. A. E. Morrow, a teacher of classics at the High School, has resigned having accepted a position at Arnprior High School.

The most important battle plane developed since the war has been built in France, being a huge 1,000 horsepower craft armed with six machine guns.

A FINE CATCH.
Mr. George Brickman of this city who recently returned from Paudash Lake brought back with him to Belleville two fine specimens of small mouth bass, weighing about five pounds. The fish were beauties and monsters for their species.

CARS RECOVERED.
The local police, through their unceasing and tireless efforts, have this week recovered three stolen automobiles. The police are endeavoring to locate the owners.

STORE CLOSED MONDAY.
The Liquor Store will be closed all day Monday, it being a civic holiday. As well, the store will close at its regular hour, tomorrow, one o'clock.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.
Last evening a delightful birthday party was given by Miss Lillian Baldwin, at her home at 149 Truman street. About forty or forty-five guests were present, and a splendid time was had by all. The delightful luncheon was served to the guests. Mr. Jack Denmark furnished the music for the dancing. The rooms were decorated with freshly cut flowers and presented a beautiful appearance. Miss Baldwin was the recipient of many lovely presents in honour of the anniversary of her birth.

GRANTED EXHILARIENT.
William Poole appeared before Magistrate Millet in police court charged with being drunk. Mr. Poole, who lives on Catherine street, requested a week's enlargement of the case which was granted to him.

The Rev. Mr. Gern returned from his vacation early on Wednesday and time to take charge of Christ Church parish during the absence of Rev. Rural Dean Clarke. Mr. Gern resided Winnipeg, Edmonton and Jasper Park. He also spent twenty miles up Mount Cavell where he climbed his hundred to the "ceiling." At St. Monitor he preached in Christ Church at morning service and at evening service he preached in All Saints' Cathedral.

CARMAN GIFTED POET INDEED!

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—When Miss Carman was in this city recently her cousin Dr., G. G. D., Roberts chaffed him gaily over the following incident:

Miss Carman was in Tennessee, and one day received a letter from a lady with artistic tendencies, who had sent his picture in a newspaper. The letter read:—

"Dear Sir; I am a painter and making a life-sized portrait of you from a picture I saw in a newspaper. Will you please write and tell me the color of your eyes and hair?"

The poet's answer was in impromptu verse:—

"Dear Madam:
My hair is bronze yellow
My eyes are bronze green.
My complexion is pale
About half way between.
I'm not a modern impressionist plan
You might try a mixture
Of purple and tan."

BABE VINCENT TO PITCH HERE

Beavers Arrange For Visit By Oshawa Chevrolet Team

Softball fans who attend the games at the Armouries here, will have plenty of action on the holiday, Chevrolet Ladies of Oshawa, will likely be here for two games at 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. This team already has played here this season and the locals' fans are a thirsting. And how they are waiting for seven o'clock! There is one of the snappiest dressed and best teams in the Province and were popular on their last appearance.

As an added attraction "Babe" Vincent of Peterboro will pitch one of the games for the Beavers in an effort to stop the Oshawa crew. Bonnie Doolittle will likely start in the other and this girl will get her chance to make good Mollie Gray will be held in reserve for relief work. Both of these teams will have a chance to step out in front of the Queen Mary. Napanee has been potson to the locals and they are going in with the hope that they can chase the Port Hope team from the east outfit. Any of these games will be well worth seeing.

INDIGNATION AT VERDUN GHOULS

Both Sides of Rhine Alarmed by Ghoulish Souvenir Hunters

Verdun — Indignation over the mercileless behaviour of battlefield tourists and souvenir hunters, long since a matter of profound annoyance and irritation to French war veteran societies has spread to Germany. A committee of German investigators that went quietly over the shell-scarred territories of Verdun and the other memorable lands of skulls and bones are carted away each season as souvenirs, the committee was headed by Herr Wolfgang Von Weber, himself a former soldier who, fought at Verdun. Herr Von Weber personally came on a pilgrimage to visit the graves of relatives who died in the Crown Prince's attacks on Fort Douaumont. His report on the conduct of the souvenir-crazed tripper has stirred public opinion on both sides of the Rhine and may result in a strict supervision of the battlefields after 1930 by a French Ministry of War.

An estimate of the number visiting war scenes can be made when it is known that no less than thirty big sight-seeing cars pull out in Paris daily during the tourist season loaded with visitors, and that the Paris-Metz highway, on which the Verdun sector is situated, offers each day a spectacle of interminable rows of cars, private automobiles. Visitors at the Douaumont Ossuary, the gigantic concrete crypt where the bones of tens of thousands of unidentified French and enemy soldiers lie buried, number seven or eight thousand each Sun day.

Souvenirs For Sale

All along the road are refreshment booths and post card stands. On the Dead Man's Hill, on the left bank of the Meuse, where the fighting was heaviest, piles of rusty helmets, bayonet, machine gun parts, cartridge pouches, binoculars, bits of field-grey cloth, water-soaked note books and diaries are on exhibition and sale to the highest bidder. The whole atmosphere of the battlefields, to many pious pilgrims and thousands more parents a stretch of territory forever sacred, is in the grip of a cold-hearted commercialism.

TWO SIDES TO THE PENSION QUESTION

There would seem to be room for two opinions as to the efficacy of old age pensions as a means towards a practical social end. F. C. Thorman, chairman of the expert committee on old age annuities of the National Civic Federation, told the members of a conference held recently in New York city that they were a "discredited experiment." At first blush this is positively startling, so much having thus far been taken for granted in respect of the matter; but Mr. Sherman made out rather a strong case. It would seem that many countries which had taken up the pension idea with enthusiasm are now swinging away from it and, giving preference to compulsory old age insurance. This is particularly true of Great Britain, Belgium, the Netherlands, Denmark, Germany, France, Australia and New Zealand, Mr. Sherman himself recommends the wider adoption in industry of service pensions, the encouragement of thrift, provision for the suitable employment of men along in years and likely to be dropped from heavy work, as well as institutional care for those who actually break down. Back of that, adequate measures are advocated for the segregation of the mentally defective and chronic vagrants.

The Episcopal Church of Scotland has decided to all cths, marriages now by substituting "cherish" for "obey."

SHOULD WE PUNISH THE CHILDREN

By DR. LOYD E. RICH

All learnings that is completely to go to extreme, and, after swinging the pendulum far in one direction, to follow this up by swinging it too far in the opposite direction.

Not so many years ago, when our parents-parents were young, punishment of children was not only considered a necessary evil for their proper upbringing, but, in addition, the punishment meted out was usually extremely severe and sometimes it even bordered on cruelty.

Nowadays an opposite view is held by the extremists of the no-punishment school. They hold, indeed, that children should never be punished.

Beautiful as they are, all children are like wild, untamed little animals. No child can understand why he shouldn't be allowed perfect freedom—that he cans and ought to do as he will. From his own viewpoint the wishes of the parent are all wrong.

And the child would be right were it not for the fact that he cannot always remain a child. As he develops into adulthood, the world outside gradually puts a more restrictive curb upon his instinctive urges. Every man and woman must learn to hold himself in check for the common good. We are allowed only-to express ourselves freely to so long as we do not step on the toes of the other fellow. It is on this principle that all laws, manners and customs have been built up.

That's why children must be taught self-restraint and respect for the feelings and rights of others. If not, they grow up to find themselves out of tune with their neighbors. Consequently they become discontented and unhappy. They cannot understand why they are different from other people. It's a blindness, therefore, to restrict early in life. Give them all the leeway you can, provided their self-expression does not run counter to established rules. If it does, if there is a decided anti-social tendency manifest, a child should be punished.

Of course, we must not punish arbitrarily or because children are malicious and irritating. We must respect childhood. We must be kind sympathetic and understanding. And whatever we do, never, never, should a child be punished when we are angry.

Corporal punishment is a thing of the past. Even, the mildest, the time-honored spanking, except as occasionally used on a vigorous but reflexatory boy, is out of date. Frequent physical punishment may develop a nervous disorder or an entirely wrong view of life.

Don't be an extremist about the punishment of children!

And remember that it's the kind of punishment that counts.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

As soon as there is an oil or break in the skin of any member of the family put first on safety's sake, paint it with iodine.

To clean satin slippers take a little lemon juice in it; apply to slippers with soft white cloth or linen.

When shoe or slipper linings wear through inside the heel cut a piece of adhesive plaster to cover both sides of the heel, warm slightly and press firmly in place.

To mend holes in enameled ware use equal parts of soft putty, table salt and sifted coal ashes; cover the holes with cold heat on the stove till cement is hard. To mend holes in any utensil for holding cold liquids, pour melted paraffin over the holes and let harden.

CHAPTER 8

The New Acquaintance

Marguerite was standing in her draw ing-room, staring at a small package that had just been delivered. A message had thrust it into her hand as she was leaving the apartment for an afternoon stroll in Central Park. She had signed the book without noticing the address, a little pleased at the thought that Ward was sending her a gift. Her wistful heart yearned for some show of friendliness.

Now she saw that the package was not for her at all. The boy had made a mistake. It was addressed to a Mrs. Stephen Brockton. And who was Mrs. Brockton?

The answer came with the ringing of the door-bell. The maid ushered in a young woman, extremely pretty, in a dashingway, fashionably dressed, with long earrings dangling against cheeks that were frankly rouged.

"Are you Mrs. Reynolds?" she demanded. "I must apologize for this intrusion. I'm Irma Brockton." I have the apartment upstairs, just above you. I've seen you often in the elevator, but you never seemed to be aware of me ..... Listen, did a boy bring you a package just now?"

Marguerite held out the object in question.

"I'm sorry. This must be for you. I didn't notice the name when I signed"

Mrs. Brockton took the package with a laugh.

"You'll get used to this. You have only been here a few days. Delivery people always get mixed up with the floors below. And no man ever had a better time—my husband says I'm horribly extravagant and that, moreover I have terrible taste ..... So sweet husbands, aren't they? Well, I just treated myself to a perfectly precious bit of jewelry. I'm off to a tea now and I didn't want the package lying around where he could see it. Would you come home. And, my dear, you've no idea what my maid is. She's an old retainer of my husband's family. She never misses an opportunity to tell on me."

She was tearing open the package with nervous fingers as she spoke.

"Look. Aren't they darling?" She held up a glittering mass of crystal, a necklace, earrings, and several bracelets.

"So stupid of Steve to buy that. If one can't afford real diamonds, one must go without any jewelry." She slipped the necklace around her throat, and surveyed herself with frank Marguerite, slightly bewildered by this satisfaction in the mirror.

"Here, try it yourself." But, when display of vivacity had obeyed, Mrs. Brockton shook her head. "Not for you—you're not the type. Real pearls or nothing, for you. And one simple strand, at that."

She gathered up the package hastily. "I must rush. I'm fearfully late now. So good of you to have taken the parcel in. It would have been just my luck to have it come in my absence, when Steve was there."

At the doorway she paused. "Do let's see each other again. It's silly living in the same house and never knowing one's neighbors. But that's New York. But I don't think you're a New Yorker."

"I have no family nearer than Long Island," Marguerite told her, "and no friends at all in New York. It would be nice if you would come down sometime to tea."

"My dear, I never have a moment. But you run up one day in the morning while I have my beauty treatment. We can chat while I'm being done. Done is right. I patronize Jules, and he's a perfect robber, but he does give the most marvelous facial. Have you tried him ..... But, of course, you don't need him."

With a humorous grimace, she rushed away.

That dinner, Marguerite spoke to Hal of the incident. He shrugged.

"They're all right for you to know. Stephen Brockton is in the Street. I know him slightly. She's always out for a good time. He's the quiet, and type, I understand. Takes life very seriously ..... Yes, I think she'd be a good person for you to pal up with."

"Am I really too awfully quiet, Hal?" she asked wistfully.

His answer was insincerely gallant, and she felt it.

"You are very charming, Marguerite dear ..... And no man ever had a better wife."

She flushed with pleasure.

"If you like," she said.

"Don't feel that you have to on my account. I merely asked. As a matter of fact, I have a game on at the club. "Then you by all means," she told him. "I shan't be lonely, really. I've heaps of things to read."

But, when he came in after midnight she was fast asleep, the book, unread, the tall lamp near the open window.

"Can't you leave such things for your maid?" he demanded, frowning. She looked surprised.

"I'm reading something for a girl I used to go to school with out west. She's going to be married soon."

He said, wearily: "I can give you the address of several shops where you can buy excellent stuff like that."

But she will value it so much more, if I make it myself."

He threw up his hands.

"Very well. But it seems such a futile waste of time." I guess, I'm not sentimental ..... Good night, Marguerite."

SINCLAIR'S

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

In yesterday's paper, I read a list of qualifications by which girls judge boys. It amused me to notice that intelligence and character were of no importance in this list. I, for one, like a boy who is some thing more than a two-by-four-ten-cent dude who owns an auto mobile and can dance and pet pretty.

ANOTHER GIRL.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

A week or so ago I went out with a young man who I had known but a short time. He tried to kiss me, but naturally I would not allow it.

Since then I have not gone out with him. However, he calls me up almost every day and apologizes He says that he understands now that I am not the kind of a girl who would permit such liberties and he wants to be given another chance.

Do you think I should go out with him again?

WENDY.

WENDY: The young man is evidently sincere in his apologies and you should be no less forgiving, my dear. One should not be condemned utterly for a single error, especially when the repentance is sincere. So act and be as he feels as he does, who can given him another chance? It may lead to a fine and lasting friendship and perhaps to a deeper emotion in time.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a boy two years my senior. He is very bashful. In two weeks he is moving out of town and he told my best girl friend that he would like to write to me. I am afraid he won't dare to ask me and yet I would love to correspond with him. Will you please tell me what to do? Would it be proper to ask him for his address?

WAITING ALWAYS.

WAITING ALWAYS: It would be most improper for you to ask the young man for his address. It is his place to write you first, after asking your permission to do so.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a professional man. He does not know that I care for him. He talks to me, but please tell me how he will become interested in me. He is not married.

BLONDIE.

BLONDIE: How I wish there were some set formula to could give you girls who want to know how to attract a man. For truly, there are no two to whom the same rules can be applied—if there were any rules. You can interest some men by ignoring them, some by flattery and some by "mothering" them. For every man there's a different method, so you see, my dear, how impossible the task of answering your question. However, you can try being interesting and dom pasionable. Make yourself as charming in every way as you possibly can. Be interested in the things that interest him. Above all, be a good listener, for a man loves that type of woman. He wants to be a hero in her eyes, and many a girl has "stolen her man" by an adoring, listening attitude More than this, I can't tell you, for I don't know myself. Anyhow, I wish you all the luck in the world.

The Slimmest Frock Has a Set-In Girdle

This smart afternoon frock of black satin sketched above has a deep girdle which women are sure to like. It has a more flexible line than the superimposed girdle and is also extremely slenderizing. It seems only one thickness of material over the hips; also, that the dress won't pull up out of the girdle, but can be fitted very snugly about the waist.

The down-to-back beauties of the frock is also new and smart for formal afternoons, the sleeves beeline having been extensively an evening fashion until this season. In fact, this very same design, without sleeves and with another neckline makes an evening frock of great chic.

GREAT SEASON FOR YACHTING

Banner Summer At English Regattas — Many Improvements

London, July (C.P.)—Yacht racing in England has been recovering steadily from the effects of the war and is now practically at its pre-war level; in fact, there are ample indications that the present season will equal the historic year of 1893, which is generally considered the greatest in the annals of British yachting.

In that year King Edward, then Prince of Wales hoisted his racing flag in the famous Britannia, and the whole season was marked by large entries in all races, keen racing, and public interest, at all regattas round the coasts.

"Britannia is still the royal racing cutter and the very many regattas that she has attended during her long life have gained much from her presence, whether regarded from the point of view of the yachtsmen or that of the public spectators. The sport of yachting is enjoying a steady stream of recruits and there has also been in recent years a remarkable revival in yacht building.

"The outstanding features of the present season are the unusually large numbers of yachts in each and every racing class and the fact that many new craft are making their debut than in any year since the termination of the war.

"Hence, it is expected that, in all the important regattas, there will be big entries in all races, and this has the effect of making the racing keen, close and spectacular.

"There is much diversity of size and type in the yachts comprised in the racing fleets of England, and they must be sub-divided into racing groups so that the disparity between all those in the same race may not be too great.

1. Yachts exceeding 135 tons Thames Measurement. This is the class of largest British racing yachts; this season [illegible] large cutters and a large schooner, and they are the grandest racing craft to be found anywhere in the world. Two of the cutters—Cambria and Astra—were built and completed this year.

2. Yachts exceeding 70 tons Thames Measurement, but not exceeding 135 tons.

3. Yachts exceeding 20 tons Thames Measurement, but not exceeding 70 tons.

4. Yachts exceeding 15 tons Thames Measurement, but not exceeding 20 tons.

5. Yachts not exceeding 15 tons Thames Measurement.

6. Yachts of the 12 metre International Rating Class.

7. Yachts of the 8 metre International Rating Class.

8. Yachts of the 6 metre International Rating Class.

There are seven yachts in class 1, thirteen in class 2 at present; eleven in class 3, and eleven and five contain respectively twenty and twenty-three vessels.

In the International Rating Classes there are fourteen 12-metre, thirteen 8-metre and thirty-six 6-metre boats.

ALBANIAN KING HAS HARD TIME

Rumour Has It That He Is Prisoner In His Own Palace

Ahmed Bey Zogue, the one-time Mpret, now king of Albania, has been having difficulties of late, one recent report being to the effect that he was a prisoner in his palace. His racial affiliation with the Ghegs, a sectarian branch of his people plays a part in the difficulties. Seventy-five per cent. of the Ghegs now hold a strategic district of Albania are Mohammedans. They were originally Christians, but accepted the Moslem faith to save their skins from the Turks. They are like the Pomaks of Bulgaria, the Musulmen of Bosnia and Herzegovina and even the Deunmeh of Saloniki (Jews who had to become Mohammedans). All have a part in order to exist. Putting aside the faith in which they were brought up, they accepted Mohammedanism and accepted life wealth and prosperity at the expense of those that clung to the faith. (It may be mentioned that in Turkish days the Christians dreaded the Turks less than they did the Ghegs). There was no more ruthless body of people than the Ghegs.

Yet those qualities of the Albanian people which the nation-builder must, that is, the chivalry, the valor, sense of gratitude, once faith was kept, pride, the staunchness and physical strength of the nation have been preserved by the Ghegs.

Another racial blend, the Tosks, having fallen under Greek influence, is more cultured and cares less for the national traditions and institutions.

The proverbial Albanian 'besa' word of honor, or pledge of faith, which still exists in some Gheg districts, was not spread among the Tosks, as were also the fresh another Albanian institution that is disappearing.

From the Tosks come most of the intelligent and intellectual Albanians; they constitute the majority of government and civil functionaries. But the highest posts in the republic are in the hands of Mohammedans, though religion is not a determining factor in filling an important government position. The more liberal rule of Ahmed has involved him in trouble even with his own people who fear his foreign gestures. "The king would, for one thing, start fighting in Albania, where now there are none. This mode of covering the ground and overcoming space and time finds no favor with the mountaineer Ghegs.

CLOSE TO EARTH FOR AIR THRILLS

Not Much To Perform Stunts at High Altitudes

Boston.—Stunt flying holds out no thrills to the aviator unless he performs at a dangerously low altitude, according to Lieutenant Francis H. Crowley, one of the crack stunt fliers of the United States Army.

Army airmen are under orders to perform no stunts under 500 feet from the ground, and 1000 feet is declared preferable.

"There is no particular thrill to the aviator in doing his stuff at that altitude, Lieutenant Crowley declares. "Although the spectators may be gasping at the apparent audacity of the manuvers, to the flier it is old, conventional stuff for which he had been trained.

"But if they let us come low our thrill comes in wondering if we are going to clear the ground when we start a loop, or, if on climbing a bank that is, when a flier has not quite reached the altitude he seeks, he is on sliding out of bank. The plane will fall into a spin and there is no chance to get out of it because of the low altitude.

"If a flier falls into a spin at a high altitude, he has a certain chance to recover, but at a low altitude it is usually "curtains".

The more sensational and dangerous stunts are prohibited by army regulations. One of the stunts banned is the outside loop, which is a dive from a high altitude in which the plane completes a circle. The stunt is not particularly difficult to manipulate mechanically, Lieutenant Crowley explains, but the physical strain on the pilot constitutes a great menace. In the evolution required by the loop, the blood is driven to the pilot's head and there is the danger of his losing consciousness. Meanwhile, his plane, is travelling at terrific speed and if he "passes out," disaster is almost certain to follow.

"It is believed information secured by the expedition will greatly aid in the forecasting of weather and the appearance of ice bergs in the steamer lanes each year.

CANADIAN GEESE TRAVEL BY TRAIN

The migratory movements of the Canada goose are famous, but it is not generally known that civilization has so far affected their habits as to cause a few of them to travel about the country by railway. A pair of Canada geese passed through Windsor station yesterday under the proverbial wing of the Canadian Pacific express en route to a point in the United States. Bird authorities say, in existence in many places throughout Canada and the States and pairs of pinioned wild geese are generally kept for breeding purposes and to reassure their wild friends that all is safe within the refuge.

MAN IS 15,000,000 YEARS OLD ANYWAY

Vancouver, B.C.—Man is at least 15,000,000 years old, according to Prof. Charles Hill-Tout, British Columbia anthropologist, who has spent years in studying the origin of coast Indians. "One of the most outstanding results of modern research," said Prof. Hill-Tout, "is the remarkable extension of time that has begun to be recognized in connection with the origin of man. In the seventeenth century the calculations of Ussher, which are adopted in the Bible, placed the creation about 4,000 years ago. Modern research has placed the time at nearer 15,000,000 years.

"So it becomes a matter of computation to find out how long the world has been in existence," he declared. "This naturally stretches the age of man. It could not have been before the time of the mammals, and man could be traced back to the tertiary age. Man's time period on the earth is something about 15,000,000 or 20,000,000 years."

BELLE THEATRE

"The Escape," Fox Films production featuring Virginia Valli, has been hailed by local picture fans as the most sincere and wholly gripping melodrama at the Belle Theatre in recent months. It is superbly staged, intelligently directed, and thoroughly absorbing in its swift action and smashing climax. The supporting cast, including William Russell, Nancy Drexel, George Fecher and William Demarest, is more than adequate; Richard Rosson directed this screenplay from the Paul Armstrong stage success and, as in "The Wizard," he has made another fine picture. Put this one on your list of favorites, by all means, for you cannot afford to miss it.

SAILING HABIT IS A LASTING ONE!

Vancouver, B.C.—When one gets the habit of sailing it becomes lifelong, as Captain Scoddy, veteran Vancouver pilot, has rigged a modern yacht schooner for his journey inland.

Captain Scoddy's "ship" moves on which but that is about the only feature that distinguishes it from many of the small craft that he has piloted in Vancouver waters. It has a galley, an pilot house, an ice chest and stateroom, with a neat little dining saloon. There are hatches and a companionway, port and starboard lights, a direction finder and wireless. The veteran navigator will "cruise" the western mountain passes, eating and sleeping where the will overtakes him. In appearance his vehicle is very different from many motor camps on wheels which mow up and down the coast highways, piloted by road pirates.

When the time for ostrich eggs to hatch is nearly due the bird is literally broke again. The insects which swarm for a feast on the contents then supply her 15 or more chicks with sufficient food to keep them going until they are able to provide for themselves.

Now—Permanent Riding Comfort!

Patented features insure permanent riding comfort and the absence of pitching, sidesway and violent spring rebound. Your car will last longer, your up-keep bills will be less and you will drive—especially at the higher speeds—with greater safety. Come in and learn more about this life-time shock absorber.

BEAVERS RALLIED TO HAND RIVALS ANOTHER LOSS

Ontarios Forced to Accept Defeat at The Hands of Beavers

Belleville Beavers were facing defeat in the ninth inning of last night's game with the Ontario but three took on a new lease of life and scored five runs and, came rambling home, on the long end of a 10-8 score. In a few minutes the whole complexion of things was changed and the Beavers will find privately been tagging along on the shoe end of the score, came through with a great rally to win the game. It was a bitter pill for the Ontarios to swallow having to accept two defats at the hands of the Beavers in the last week. The Beavers had previously not beaten the Ontarios in two years but they have inflicted a pair of losses and fans are becoming convinced that the Beavers are the better team of the two. Certainly they are even and the supporters of softball will eagerly look forward to the return meeting. Th Bay of Quinte League is getting a close race with all three teams running neck and neck. The Ontarios helped themselves to an early lead scoring five runs in the second and three in the third innings. However Molly Gray who was doing the pitching held them scoreless during the balance of the performance. The Beavers hung up five in the early innings and scored no more until the last when they counted the five. Hilda Adams was on the firing-line for the Ontarios and she was going great and was given some nice assistance. Molly Gray batted second, ball and on her youthful shoulders goes a lion's share of the honors for the double victory.

CONTARIOS—Molly Adams, p.; Mc Generous r. f.; Aleen Wilkins c, Audrey Wilkins c, H. Matthews p, L. Ridley ss, A Kelliher 2b, O. Adams ss, M. Bolwey 1b.

The Beavers were without the services of their star catcher. Evelyn Whalen, but Miss Thrasher who substituted caught a fine game.

YANKS LEAD IS GETTING SMALL

Herb Pinnock Succumbed To St. Louis Attack Yesterday

St. Louis, August 3.—The once fat and opulent lead of the Yanks was reduced to a slim four and a half games yesterday when the Browns beat the champions in fifteen innings, 4 to 3, while the mad maulers of McGillicuddy, otherwise the Athletics, were continuing their giddy pace.

Dog-tired, wearied by the heat and his labors of fourteen innings, the good man Pennock succumbed in the fifteenth and the Browns won with nobody out. Blue started with a single and went to third on O'Rourke's cushie, which landed squarely on the left-field foul line.

Schang was walked purposely to fill the bases and Professor Pennock had two strikes on Walter Stewart when the St. Louis left-hander dropped a hit back of third. Which Geo. Ruth pursued hotly but did not catch.

And so the Yanks slipped back another notch toward second place, and the Athletics and Pennock, pitching one of the best games of his long and honorable career, suffered a bitter defeat because of one serious flaw in his defense.

It was a fumble by Robertson, after the Yanks had gained a three-run lead, that enabled the Browns to tie the score at 3-all in the eighth. The game wheeled into extra innings with Pennock and Stewart who had relieved Curley Ogden, standing toe to toe and giving thrust for thrust. It was touch and go. Pennock so weary that he could barely lift one foot after the other, gave a really superb exhibition. The Browns hit him twice in the twelfth and had men on third and second with one out, but Pennock, the old master, fanned both Kress and Blue.

The Yanks dubbed their big chance in the thirteenth, Durocher was safe on error and Bengough doubled to right. Pennock flied out and Lazzeri, batting for Koenig, was walked intentionally. Combs lined toward left but O'Rourke nabbed the ball, stepped on third for a double play and broke twenty-five Yankee hearts.

DELORA PLAY AT KINGSTON TODAY

Oshawa Have Scheduled Double-Header On Civic Holiday

Kingston, Aug. 3.—R. A. Elliott's Delora team will make their last appearance of the season here tonight, when they play Kingston at the Fair Grounds, and this game, together with the two games on Monday with Oshawa will be the last scheduled game for here, unless the locals are fortunate enough to land in second place and secure a right to played with Belleville for the O.B.L. championship.

Delora have been more or less a door-mat for the other teams, but in every game they have played they have enough ball to win any ordinary game. The failure of Jack Shea to develop into a consistent winner, hurt the team's chances, and Carl Wood came along just a little too late in the season to pull the team out of the cellar. In Lambert Collins they have one of the best catchers in the league, while the infield of J. Hughes, Art Quinn, Jack and Reggie is a well performing one. The outfield has been good, but as a general rule the hitters have not been coming through with enough hits to win.

GIANTS CLIMBED TO 2ND PLACE

McGrawmen Defeat Cincinnati to Move Ahead of The Reds

New York, August 3.—The Giants took second place from the Reds by the point here yesterday, winning the opener of a four-game series by 7-5. Cincinnati remains half a game ahead of New York in games, but lags in percentage through having lost three more than McGraw's club while winning only four more.

The turning point came in the fifth when, after Vern Fuhr had been purposely passed to fill the bases, Jackson doubled, scoring two runs. That broke a 3-3 tie, giving the Giants an advantage which they never thereafter lost. Red Lucas, one oldtime Cincinnati pitchers, was in the box at the time. Joe Genewich was his hard to cope, but won with something to spare.

The tall-end Phillies took their usual beating this time from the hands of the Pittsburgh Pirates, 16 to 4, at Philadelphia. The Pirates clinched the game by scoring 12 runs in the first three innings. Glenn Wright hit a two would reach around the world.

homer with two on in the second inning and Grantham duplicated the stunt in the third.

Harold Carlson, making his first start of the season, defeated Brooklyn, 3-2 in the opening game of the series. Although outhit by 8 to 5, the Cubs won by bunching Maguire's single with two errors by Flowers, an infield out and a sacrifice in the sixth. Riggs Stephenson's homer in the second accounted for the other Chicago run.

St. Louis bunched hits off Delaney in the first and eighth innings for three runs in each inning and defeated Boston in the first game of the series 6 to 1, at Boston. Three fast double plays helped Pitcher Rhem out of tight corners. Harper drove in three runs, double by Clark, Durell and Hohn were defensive highlights.

Every atom of your Commonsense warns You to be Careful at Railway Crossings

Despite the fate of those who have attempted it, there are motorists still who try to beat trains to railway crossings. It is the most desperate chance in motoring. The train can't stop. The motor vehicle may stall, or it may be too late. Then two thousand tons shatter and wreck two tons.

If the motorist gets across safely, he saves a minute or so —and has the thrill of beating the train. If he loses—then to the hospital or the cemetery.

Railway crossings are well marked. Slow down as you approach them. LOOK—both ways—and LISTEN. If a train is in sight, SET YOUR HAND BRAKE, and wait for the train to pass. Do not take the most desperate of all chances in motoring.

REMEMBER these 7 Rules of Safety

1. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape —particularly Brakes, Steering Gear and Head lights.
2. Give your undivided attention to your driving. In passing traffic, be sure there is room for you in the traffic line ahead.
3. When other motor vehicles try to pass you —let them pass.
4. In entering main streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a full view of the track is obstructed, stop and look.
5. Don't "loaf" where traffic is heavy.
6. Always signal before you slow down, stop or change your course.
7. Never back up before ascertaining that the road behind is clear.

STORM WREAKED HEAVY DAMAGE

Bell Telephone Company Busy Repairing Fallen Lines

NO FIRES

Rain Flattened Crops and Gardens in Quinte District

Although the Hydro Electric Power Commission had little trouble during the storm yesterday the Bell Telephone Company report heavy damage to their property. The pole lines to Madoc, Cobbyshield, Stirling, Bancroft and Petawawa, were out of commission. Some lines were suffered east of the city, but only minor damage which was soon repaired.

To-day, according to an official of the company, all available men were busy repairing lines that were torn down and disrupted. Yesterday afternoon's storm which started shortly after four o'clock and raged well into the night was the worst that has struck Belleville this year. A vivid electrical display, accompanied by heavy rains, which did much damage to crops in this vicinity, there was little, save of thunderclaps of the storm until after eight o'clock.

The E. J. Ketcheson Insurance Company, speaking to the Intelligencer to day stated that although they had received no word of any fires due to lightning in this neighborhood they expected to have some claims, presented soon.

No buildings in the city were struck by the lightning, but some gardens were practically ruined by the heavy rains. Front streets shortly before five o'clock in the afternoon presented the appearance of a flood as the sewers were not large enough to carry away the tons of water that fell.

VIOLINIST HELD UP AT BORDER

Refused Permission To Enter United States At Brockville

Brockville, August 4.—After having waited four months at Prescott in order to obtain the necessary papers permitting him to re-enter the United States, Moscha Elson, Polish violinist, has at last received them under the new quota arrangement. Elson and his wife became involved in difficulties with the American immigration authorities when they arrived at Prescott to have his permit renewed upon entering Canada to complete his engagements, after having at the border for re-entry to the United States, he was refused admittance and had since been obliged to wait until a new quota for Poland was avail able, although he left his home and family citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Elson will, however, continue to occupy a summer cottage east of here until September 15, when they will proceed to New York.

HEAD-ON CRASH WEST OF HERE

Mrs. Fred LaBrant of Frankford while driving east along the Provincial Highway near Jones' Creek yesterday afternoon collided head-on with a car driven by W. B. Tripp of Pontiac, Mich. Both cars were considerably damaged in the impact, the tires, wheels and radiators being badly jammed. Fortunately, none of the occupants of either car were injured, although they received a bad shaking-up.

Mrs. LaBrant was driving behind another car when the driver of the latter slowed up and to avoid striking the rear she turned to the left and met Mr. Tripp's car head-on. The accident occurred about 3.30 yesterday afternoon. Highway Traffic Officer Wesley Prick, who is only recovering from an accident of three weeks ago, investigated. An amicable settlement was reached between the parties concerned.

THE WEATHER

Moderate winds mostly southwesterly warm and unsettled to-day and Sunday with local thunderstorms.

MONTREAL CHAMPION CYCLIST

Joe Le Forte, Canada's Hope

Joe Laporte, Montreal, one of the representatives in the Olympic road race of 100 miles in the which four men from each nation participated. Above is an exclusive picture of Joe Laporte, Montreal's challenging long distance cyclist, who is a member of the Canadian team. Laporte's forte is his 100-mile distances or longer and in the final Olympic trial of 100 miles at Montreal he finished 11 minutes ahead of the second man. Laporte, who was born in Montreal, represented Canada in the Olympic road race at Paris in 1924 when he finished 36 in a field of 200 riders.

MIKEL OBJECTS TO CRITICISM; STILL HAS FAITH IN POWER Or RELIGION--AVOIDS REAL ISSUE

Magistrate W. C. Mikel has written the following letter to the Editor of the Intelligencer in answer to the criticism of his handling of cases of drunken driving in the local police court. In fairness to him we print his letter in full.

Dear Sir,—

In Thursday night's Intelligencer you made some comments adverse to the judgment in the Sayers case. I try Belleville Magistrate Court in a year. This one apparently displeases you. Therefore you criticise me. It might be well to call attention to the fact that the Parliament of Canada has seen fit in its wisdom to authorize the suspending of sentence. Parliament clearly intends this to be used. In this case it was put in operation in accordance with the law. Any time within the period of the suspension the accused may be brought before the Court and sentenced with or without cause. This will tend to keep accused within the terms of the suspension. Your criticism should therefore be directed against Parliament for enacting this legislation. In the case at first offence, when the accused is a young man capable with them appears to be some reasonable favorable cause for suspension it has been the practice to suspend sentence. That was done in this case. Lt. Col. Keeler, Officer Commanding the Argyle Light Infantry, who gave kindly and honorable service overseas, and Mr. Chas. Hanna who has been an officer in the Band of this Battalion for years, was twice Mayor of Belleville, Member of Parliament, President of the Retail Merchants Association, President of the Pair Board, and a Director of the Chamber of Commerce, both requested that sentence be suspended, also members of the Band of the Battalion and other citizens. It was reported that accused contributed to the support of his widowed mother and aged otherwise lose his position. Under these circumstances suspension of sentence seemed reasonable if the statute providing for suspended sentence, is to be made use of at all. It would not be fair to suppose that these citizens who requested a suspended sentence acted in bad faith in making this request.

Mikel Satisfied

You will no doubt admit that the abovementioned citizens who were born and have lived all their lives in Belleville know the Sayers family well and are interested in the welfare of our citizens. Violence was not committed on the question of punishment. You do not cite any authority in support of your view due to the fact that you do not have studied any of the well known authorities on punishment. I have had a long experience in dealing with offenders and have some knowledge of the theories of punishment and am satisfied I did what was right and what will produce the best results. Correction is the highest function of punishment. I am not aware of any injustice in connection with the recent Toronto mail car robbery.

Where the accused again committed the offence. Experience after all is a safe guide. I have still some faith in humanity and in the power of religion as well as its goals.

Yours truly, W. C. Mikel.

While we are glad that Mr. Mikel still believes in the power of religion and has faith in humanity we think that the explanation that he gives for his opinion of action is a weak attempt to belog the issue. In the Sayer's judgment and in his decision in several other cases since his elevation to the Bench, we think that Mr. Mikel has violated the intent of the law even if he has, as he claims, kept within the strict letter.

The Intelligencer supported the Provincial government platform of Government Control of the sale of liquor for the same reason that thousands of good citizens of both parties of political opinion did, that is, to bring the use of liquor under sane, effective control and to see that the money received under the old system of "bootlegging" were abolished. One of the strongest arguments of the "bone-dry" prohibitionists was that with the almost universal use of automobiles the law men would be under the influence of liquor, attempt to drive their cars and cause accidents, loss of life and property, possibly entailing pain and suffering to innocent people.

Premier Ferguson and his entire Cabinet answered this argument by this declaration that any person, regardless of standing or other consideration, who drove his or her car while under the influence of liquor would be sternly dealt with and would go to jail without the option of a fine.

Removes Safeguards

Our complaint against Mr. Mikel is that he wilfully and weakly violates this pledge and thus removes for this district the safeguards which the Government intended to erect. We had no animus against Mr. Sayers or any other individual, but Mr. Sayer's case happens to be one of the most glaring which has occurred in the past two years and Mr. Mikel's handling of this case is hardly going to act as a deterrent to others who have not the fetish of will-power to conduct themselves in a decent, respectable manner with due regard to the safety of others.

Mr. Mikel seems to have no conception of the gravity of the situation which may easily arise if drunken fools may drive their cars, cause loss and suffering to others, confident that nothing more will happen to them than a few unctuous words from a benignant magistrate coupled with the admonition that they really ought to go to church and get to bed early.

REWARD FOR ARREST OF BOYEN

Toronto, August 4.—Chief of Police Draper yesterday issued a circular offering a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of William "Billy" Boyen, of Detroit, who is wanted by the police here in connection with the recent Toronto mail car robbery.

POLISH FLIERS SIGHTED AT SEA

Two Hundred Miles North Of Azores Islands

BEHIND SCHEDULE

British Steamer Port Hunter Intercepts Radio Message

London, Aug. 4.—Wireless messages today indicated that possibly the Polish planes flying from Paris to New York had been sighted at sea this well at 9.40 p.m. but night, eastern standard time.

The Valencia wireless station said that it had received a message from the British steamer Port Hunter relaying the message intercepted from the steamer stating which year:

"Polonaise flying this morning latitude 44.22 north longitude 31.05 west by direction of 73 degrees at 2.40 Greenwich time." The position given would place the plane about 200 miles south of the Azores. If the plane is that of the Polish airmen they are apparently behind schedule as they estimated that they would pass over the Azores between 9 and 11 p.m. Greenwich time last night.

CONSERVATIVE PICNIC OFFICIALLY CANCELLED

Brockville, August 4.—Owing to the receipt of word from Hon. H. H. Bennett that his itinerary would not permit him to be present upon August 22, when originally set for the great Conservative picnic, to be held at Point Iroquois, it has been deemed necessary to cancel the arrangements made for that day. No alternative date has yet been chosen.

MARKET PLACE CROWDED TODAY

Grain Crops In Quinte District Hard Hit By Storm

Twas a grand market, this morning, with farmers coming and going until well afternoon, produce sold rapidly, and, with the exception of a few good prices. Eggs, however, are still stealing thirty-five cents for a dozen, with no prospect of an appreciation in price.

There were quantities of blue sage butter selling rapidly at fifteen cents the box, but the red berries were in small quantities, and those were soon disposed of. The latter variety of berries are not in such demand, while cranberries sold for two boxes for twenty-five cents.

Potatoes are slightly cheaper today. Forty cents the peck was the highest price for this vegetable, while other vegetables, such as lettuce, carrots, beets, etc., were the same price as last week. A feature of to-days market was the flowers that were on sale. Nearly every booth had its quota of the lovely blooms.

Farmers stated today that last night's rain did considerable damage in the countryside to market produce.

PROBLEM SOLVED

Graduate of Illinois University Evolves Chinese Code System

Urbana, Ill., August 4.—Another Chinese graduate sending Chinese by telegraph, has been solved after 15 years of research by Dr. C. C. Wang, former University of Illinois student.

Out of the mass of characters making up the Chinese language, a combination headed by Dr. Wang has evolved a system of phonetics which for the first time will enable the Chinese to send telegrams in their own tongue.

11 - MONTHS - OLD TRAGEDY TOLD

Death of "Mountie" Revealed In Report From Patrol

Ottawa, August 4. — An eleven-months-old tragedy of the far north came to light here when a message from G. P. Mackenzie, in charge of the northern patrol of the Beothic to Commissioner Cortlandt Starnes, of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, announced that Constable W. S. Stephens, of the Dundas Harbor post, had accidentally shot himself on August 4, 1927. The details were brief nor will full particulars be available until the return of the Beothic late in the fall.

It was learned, however, that Constable Stephens had been on a hunting expedition eleven months ago, armed with a high-powered rifle, and that it was while engaged on this that the fatal accident occurred. Inspector Joy, commanding the district, investigated the tragedy and a survey of the circumstances showed him that evidence of accidental death was overwhelming. That he considered no inquest necessary.

Constable Stephens was a young man in his early twenties, and had been with the Royal Canadian Mounted Police for about seven years. On the post at Dundas Harbor which is on the south coast of North Devon Island there were three members of the force: Constable Urquhart, in charge; Constable Stephens and Constable Hopping.

The parents of Constable Stephens reside near Armstrong, B.C., and it is understood that he has been forwarded by Commissioner Starnes to the Inspector at Penticton, B.C., for conveyance to them.

The wireless from the Beothic also announced that Inspector Wilson had made a patrol from Pond's Inlet south to Arctic Bay, on Baffin Island in the Fury and Hecla Straits and Melville Peninsula. This trip occupied about three months and was undertaken by dog team.

After leaving Dundas Harbor the Beothic will continue northward to Bache Peninsula, where is stationed Constable Taylor, the most northern Canada, and the most northerly outpost of civilization in the world. The Beothic will then proceed east and post office at Bache Peninsula is only 700 miles south of the North Pole.

PILGRIMAGE TO BATTLE FIELDS

Prince of Wales Will Accept Salute of Service Men

London, Aug. 4.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Eleven thousand ex-service men and their families, constituting the great pilgrimage of modern times will leave Victoria Station next-end for the battlefields of France and Flanders under the auspices of the British Legion. Three thousand women are included in the party.

Prince of Wales will join the pilgrims at Bethune on Tuesday and Wednesday will drive through the historic towns of the war. On Wednesday great commemorative services will be conducted at Notre Dame de Lorette and Vimy Ridge by the Most Rev. Bernard Count Landon, Archbishop of York and next Archbishop of Canterbury. The Prince will take the salute before the fluted cloth hall of Ypres with Prince Charles of Belgium, Marshal Foch of France and Admiral Lord Jellicoe attending.

PRINCE APPEARS MINUS HIS VEST

London, August 5.—London tailors were aided by their heads: Sackville yesterday at pictures of the Prince of Wales wearing a gray flannel suit without a vest. They agreed that although the Prince could do no wrong, it was an unheard of sartorial liberty for royalty.

It was warm and sticky weather yesterday when the Prince arrived at the Daily Telegraph exhibition of antiques and Georgian silver. The tailors then agreed that under certain conditions it was permissible to follow the Monarch's example and abandon the vest. "But general neglect of waistcoats is hardly likely to follow the Prince's lead," he said. "Warm weather does not last long enough in this country."

Startling Surprise When Young Canadian Lost Today

ANOTHER CHANCE

Canadian Girls Set Up New Record In Relay Race

Loten, Holland, Aug 4.—J E Wright Jr, of Toronto Diamond Sculls winner was beaten in the singles trial of the Olympic rowing contests today by Hirsks Hungerford. The Canadian rower's defeat by three lengths over 2,000 metres course came as a startling upset.

Amsterdam, Aug 4.—Wright has a chance to get back into competition in the single sculls tomorrow when he races with others unsuccessful in today's preliminaries.

Amsterdam, Aug. 4.—Both the Canadian men and women's 400 metre relay teams were successful in their Olympic trials today, the girls setting up a new world record in their heat. The finals of both events will be run tomorrow.

The men's team, John Fitzpatrick Ralph Adams and George Hester, of Hamilton and Percy Williams, Vancouver 100 and 200 metre sprint champion, won their trial with Britain second and Italy third. The time was 42 1-5 seconds.

TROPICAL SHREW TO BE PRESERVED

Kingston, August 4.—Shrew, a tropical animal, was picked out of a shipment of bananas in North Bay. It had twelve young ones with her. A graduate shipped them to Queen's Natural History Museum. The parent shrew and two of the young arrived; the others examined the remains of the others. The shrew and brood were killed and will be preserved.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

There is an hour in each man's life appointed
To make his happiness, if then he seize it.

FLETCHER.

GOOD BRAKES FIRST NECESSITY OF SAFETY

General Draper, the new Toronto police chief, is making a strong effort to remedy traffic conditions in that city, and to ensure that safety shall be the first consideration of every motorist. One of the directions in which he is heading his efforts is in the inspection of brakes, and the value of the tests being made are not satisfactory from the viewpoint of safety. The Toronto Globe, commenting on this, has the following paragraph:

"A test made by motorcycle officers revealed the amazing fact that 12 out of 100 stopped at random had defective brakes. In some cases, the brakes were utterly useless. It is difficult to understand how any driven would venture on the streets with his car in such condition. It shows a degree of indifference to safety which would justify the chief of police in assuming that the majority of automobiles require checking up by traffic officers, and that the majority of drivers require watching."

If such a condition exists in Toronto, then there is a strong possibility that the same holds good elsewhere in Ontario. One of the great essentials of safety in automobile driving is that the car be in perfect condition much possibly and that, above all the brakes be in perfect working order. The driver who finds himself in a tight position is lost if his brakes are not work ing properly, and thus accidents occur. The careful motorist will never start out on a trip in uncertainty, but will see that his brakes are right before he leaves the garage. All drivers assess the reputation of being careful, but this is one respect in which, apparently, many of them fail short, with the possibility of disastrous results to themselves and to others.

SPEEDING NOT CHIEF DANGER OF HIGHWAY

Discussing the safety of the highways, the Kitchener Record suggests that conditions might be better if On tario were to abolish the speed limit altogether, so far as the open country is concerned. It points to the examples of New York, Michigan, Indiana Illinois and, Wisconsin, and declares that "the result has not been an increase in the number of automobile accidents, but rather the better observance of other very important rules and laws for motorists." "There is better compliance with safety measures across the line than here in Ontario," the Record states. However this may be, there is little doubt that the speed limit does sometimes invite disaster rather than prevent it. Some drivers, interpret "safety" as an obligation to crawl along the highway holding up traffic and creating risk by forcing others to "cut in." The slow driver is just as big a menace as the speed fiend, though he does not know it. No doubt if the speed limit were abolished, there would still be the leisurely motorist, occupying the centre of the road and creeping along at fifteen miles an hour, sublimely unconscious of any offense. On the other hand, the absence of a speed limit would do away with the excuse which many motorists offer for exceeding the limit, and it would confine the attention of the traffic officers to reckless drivers. The careless or incompetent driver is much more of a danger on the highway than the one who, when conditions are right, lets go the gas a little.

PEACE

A hundred years of Peace—betwixt us twain!
'Tis naught to boast of! What's a hundred years?
Peace came to dwell, in this sad vale of tears,
Two thousand years ago! Will come again;
When men and women, on this mundane plane,
Have learnt to love; have shelved degrading fears;
Have buried deep their hatches, bows and spears,
Suspicions and deceit; then Peace shall reign!

Then shall come Peace on Earth—Goodwill to men!
When guns and battleships are for reviews;
When nations vie in charity, not choose
To fight on slight pretext; and not till then!

A hundred years of Peace—betwixt us twain?
A hundred thousand—ere we fight again!

DEATHS & FUNERALS

FREDERICK HUNTER

Kingston, August 4.—Frederick Hunter, aged 90, died during the night following a paralytic stroke received on Friday days ago. He was born at Glenburnie, Frontenac County, and farmed there until fourteen years ago when he removed to the city. He was unmarried. A sister, Mrs. Rae, lives here, and a brother, Fred, is a provincial Government official living in Belleville.

BEES ATTACKED FARMER'S TEAM

Horses Were Frantic With Stings Of Swarm

Lucknow, Aug 4—Thomas Cosgrave, East Wawanosh farmer and his son, Wilfred had an exciting time when a swarm of bees attacked a team of horses attached to a load of hay The bees men as soon unhitched the horses thinking they might get away before any damage was done, but in vain. They became frantic with the sting of the angry bees and in a short time became unmanageable, their bodies literally covered with the swarming insects

Mr. Cosgrave and his son were forced to flee from the scene and protect themselves in a pond close by.

Veterinary surgeon was summoned from Blyth and Belgrave, who did everything to ease the suffering of the dumb animals, which are in painful condition, their bodies being badly swollen

As if enough trouble had not fallen already, the Cosgrave house was struck by lightning during the electric storm that swept these parts of Ontario Thursday night. The bolt in one of the chimneys smashing it to pieces, but fortunately did not set fire to the building.

RUST RESISTANT WHEAT FORECAST

Work of Dominion Research Laboratory is Extended

Winnipeg, August 4.—Within three years western Canada should have a rust-resistant wheat which will grade as high as the varieties now being grown, according to L. H. Newman, plantation specialist, who arrived here from Ottawa yesterday.

Mr. Newman is spending a month or more in the west, inspecting the work of the Dominion rust research laboratory at the Manitoba Agricultural College, and the various Dominion experimental farms in the west. He will also visit farms where rust-resistant grains are being produced for experimental purposes.

The Ottawa official announced that the work at the research laboratory here would be extended within a year. An expert cytologist, Miss Hollingshead, formerly of Saskatoon, and now at Berkeley College, California, has been added to the staff, he said. Miss Hollingshead will assume her new duties next spring.

The appointment, Mr. Newman said is the first of its kind in Canada, mark ing a distinct advance in the linking of pure scientific research with the practical purposes of agriculture.

Cytological research, the work which is engaging the attention of the depart ment in the raising and marketing of high grade malting barley.

"We have found that 'trifa' a variety of barley grown in Manitoba, corresponds closely with the favored variety bought by old Country brewers in California," Mr. Newman said, adding "Prof. H. C. Grant, of the Manitoba Agricultural College, is now in England to confer with heads of malting firms there on the marketing of Canadian barley."

JAPANESE GIRLS WILL MAKE HIT

Montreal, Que.—Forcialling a production that would keep theatregoers on the edge of their seats throughout the presentation and bring in a startling fashion before the public at Canada and the United States the delicate type of feminine beauty to be found in Japan, Ray Comstock, the internationally known theatrical producer of New York arrived in Montreal yesterday afternoon on board the trans-Canada Limited, on his return from Japan which he visited for the express purpose of judging the appeal of Japanese pantomime for the basis of the public on this continent. He was accompanied by Frank McCoy and his secretary, and left for New York last night.

Fifty-seven pretty Japanese shebines, picked from over 700 girls who are being trained at a dancing school at Takaramuka, near Kose, will be brought over for a 52 or 52 weeks tour of Canada and the United States, explained Ray Comstock in an interview at the Windsor station. The Japanese girls, none of whom is over twenty years of age, in the show have a striking and charming talent, and act vivaciously and with distinctive character in their performances. The proposed production will be patterned after the style of Sadlli's Russian Ballet but will be almost entirely pantomine, the clever little actresses being able to demonstrate clearly by gesture and dance alone the development of the plot.

WEST PREPARES FOR HARVESTING

Yield, It Is Expected, To Be One of Largest Yet

Winnipeg. — Present reports from districts served by the Canadian National lines would indicate that Western Canada is about to commence harvesting one of the greatest crops in the history of the country, while a few local districts report showers during the past week the weather has generally been fair and warm with a result that all grains have made excellent progress toward maturity.

Many districts throughout the West report rye cutting as general and a number of districts in North and Central Manitoba will commence cutting barley the first week in August.

With the exception of a small area in the North Battleford, Sask., district, which reports slight damage from hail there has been no losses from any source during the past week, and notwithstanding that there has been excessive moisture in some districts previously, with the fine weather of the past week which has created some fear that rust would develop there from this menace in any part of the country.

Harvesting wheat is expected to commence in Manitoba about the 12th to 15th of August, with Saskatchewan and Alberta from 9 to 10 days later, and while interest is generally centred on the prospects of the wheat crop, the coarse grain crop also promises to exceed previous years by a large margin.

With optimism running high among the farmers throughout the country with the excellent weather for harvesting a bumper crop they are now considering the problem of help for handling the crop, and in many districts considerable harvesters are being purchased which will eliminate the hired help problem to some extent.

WINTER HOMES FOR THE BEES

Valuable Advice for The Bee Farmer Issued by Department

Cases in which bees are to be wintered may be made for local use or more colonies according to the desire of the beekeeper, but one that will take four colonies is about the cheapest to construct and is most generally used. Whatever type of case is made, it must be large enough to permit sufficient packing material to be placed around the bottom, sides and top of the colonies inside the case and also to allow for at least one inch of air space above the top packing. For the greater part of Canada, four inches of packing on the bottom and sides and six inches on top is sufficient, but where the temperature is apt to around thirty degrees below zero and remain so for several days at a time, thicker packing should be used, especially if the apiary is not well protected from the wind. In addition to being large enough, the cases must be tight so as to keep the packing material dry, for, if this becomes wet, it will lose much of its insulating value; therefore, it is best to use matched lumber for building the cases. The bottom should be made to telescope over the sides of the case and to project about two inches for at least one inch to air the drip The covers should also be protected by some waterproof material, metal. The cases must also be provided with a flight hole opposite the entrance of each colony. These holes may be cut eight inches long by one inch high and by revolving disk which will regulate the size of the entrance may be reduced during very cold weather. For further particulars regarding winter cases, write to the Bee Division, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for free bulletin No. 74, on "Wintering Bees in Canada."

CATCHING SPORES BY AID OF PLANE

Ottawa, Ont. — Catching minute spores by aeroplane is the latest western sport. At least it has all the fascination of a new game, and the additional advantage of being of in estimable value to the country.

For some time past the Department of Agriculture has been making use of aeroplanes in an effort to combat wheat rust which appears in certain areas in Western Canada, particularly in Alberta. The method is at once interesting and unique. The fliers, including a technical expert in agricultural bacteriology, are provided with sterilized plates which are exposed to the air. The spores of wheat rust, floating at high altitudes are caught on the plate and analyzed The spores have been detected at a height of 5,000 feet, and the fliers have run into clouds of these invisible organisms which have registered as many as 5,000 to the centimeter. The spores float at an altitude and when there is a rain storm they are precipitated and thus the rust appear in widely separated areas and without any visible means of contact. The ur of sensitized plates and the aeroplan has revealed how rust has spread in the past, and provides a means of checking one of the principal menaces to the western wheat crop.

Winnipeg, August 4.—Prairie provinces crop conditions for the week ending August 1st, as reported by the Canadian National Railways, are as follows:

Manitoba—Cool weather has prevailed throughout the province during the week. Rain has been general and heavy in many districts. Harvesting will commence in the Southern districts about August 15th.

Saskatchewan—Cool weather has prevailed throughout the province during the week. Rain has been general and heavy in many districts. Harvesting will commence in the Southern districts about August 15th.

Alberta—Cool weather has prevailed throughout the province during the week. Rain has been general and heavy in many districts. Harvesting will commence in the Southern districts about August 15th.

SINGER SALVINE ALMOST INSANE

So Says Critic, Eccentric To Point Of Madness

Many are the peculiarities of men and women of genius. Dryden once wrote "Great wit to madness often is allied." Someone else has declared there is only a tissue paper thickness in the wall that divides genius from insanity. According to Edward Michael, author of "Tramps of a Scamp" (Laurie, London), a race volume of anecdotes about actors and actresses, full of vital, the singer was eccentric almost to the point of madness. "When a visitor called upon him," says Mr. Michael, "Salvini would with irresistible bonhomie produce one of those long and dangerous-looking Italian cigars with straw backbone—value about eight a penny—extract the straw cut the cigar carefully in two, and with superb courtesy present his guest with one of the halves.

"Another amusing little peculiarity was his insistence on a clause in his American contracts which stipulated that his dressing-room table should be provided with four large, wax candles for every performance. These were never lit, but were carefully collected by his secretary each day, and at the end of the tour the accumulation was packed in sacks, and embarked with his luggage. What on earth he did with them no one knew. Some suggested that they were presented to Mother Church; others—and so I—conjectured that they were sold in Italy and later figured in Another item in the actor's bank account."

ANGLICANS WILL BUILD EDIFICE

Of Inspiring Dimensions; Built on "Nob Hill," San Francisco

San Francisco.—On the top of "Nob Hill" where it will dominate San Francisco's skyline, Grace Cathedral, an Episcopal edifice of inspiring dimensions is being erected.

Work was begun 18 years ago, but after the crypt was built war and post war conditions intervened to delay the completion. Now, with Herbert Hoover as honorary chairman of the endorsement committee, subscriptions from church men of many faiths will enable its completion within five years at a cost of $3,240,000.

Bishop Nichols, the second bishop of California, conceived the idea of erecting the new church as a "spiritual civic center" for the city, when the original "Grace cathedral and seven other Episcopal churches were destroyed in the earthquake and fire of 1906. It is one pf three now rising, the other two being in New York and Washington. Three more are projected—at Seattle, Baltimore and Philadelphia. Bishop Edward Lambe Parsons is present head of the San Francisco diocese.

Architects of world prominence collaborated on the plan for Grace Cathedral, while there are modlves in its architecture that may be traced to the Middle Ages, a whole its lines are of America and the twentieth century.

It will stand 278 feet above sea level. Its spire, which is to be lighted at night, will be 320 feet high and the tower 230 feet. It will be 500 feet above San Francisco bay," making it visible from all the surrounding country and for miles out at sea, by mariners approaching the Golden Gate.

WORRY MORE DEADLY THAN CONCRETE ILLS

There is so much worry in the world today that many of us come to accept it as a matter of course. We cannot exactly picture ourselves free from it. Yet worry can be controlled like most other mental and emotional maladies.

Psychology has much to offer in explanation of worry.

Is anything really worse than worry? The anticipation of dread possibilities —which is what worry means—is a thousand fold more harassing than the catastrophe itself, no matter how serious that may be. When we worry we don't know what's going to happen. When one of the many things that fermented us actually does occur, there is a feeling of relief. The worst has happened and we know what it is. Knowing what it is we can take measures to handle it. It's the element of uncertainty in worry that undermines and devitalizes.

If we don't see where we're going, how we are to get out of a difficulty how we can meet an emergency or what seemingly impossible task, in other words, wherever we lose our sense of direction—worry results. But before the worry happens confusion sets in. Mental confusion always comes before worry.

And that is just why worry can be controlled. We can nip it in the bud by controlling the confusion that, like a danger signal, precedes it.

In the middle of the night you are suddenly startled out of a sound sleep by a loud noise—a crash of china in the kitchen. You sit up, rub your eyes and wonder. Can it be a burglar? Did I lock the kitchen door? Is it the cook perhaps, out late again? Maybe one of his children got hungry and is rifling the ice box.

So you think and ponder and, wonder. You get all stewed up over possibilities. Your mind becomes a whirl. You are all confused. Unless addition to evidence comes to your aid to substantiate one of the possible reasons for the crash in the kitchen, or unless you get out of bed and discover for yourself what the matter is, you are likely to awaken several times during the rest of the night—worrying.

I have chosen a very simple example to explain the psychology of worry, but the same mechanism applies in all cases of this besetting sin of present-day civilization.

When you are worried you can't be real ill or bedridden, or set it aside by thinking or doing something diverting. Will power has nothing to do with this business of controlling worry. When you are worried you are confused and the worry will continue to pop up into the mind despite everything.

Get your bearings, think things out clearly, center your thoughts upon the most probable consequence that your reason, judgment and experience of the past dictates. Fix your attention upon this issue and upon that aloof, and confusion will be avoided. In this way can worry be controlled.

Beware, also of the habit of worry. People often could reduce their worries by half if they could break up the habit.

The way to do that is to employ your reasoning not only to worries but to every unreal activity you engage in. That is, fight the habit of worry, with the habit of reasoning.

The Untouched Meal

"I simply cannot eat," Actual tragedy is suggested by these simple words, or rather heard, because loss of appetite is the beginning of trouble that sooner or later reveals itself as indigestion, dyspepsia, with violent headaches and other serious symptoms. Loss of appetite, whether a man or woman, is a symptom you dare not ignore. If you do, much suffering is sure to follow.

The secret of a good appetite—the secret of keeping well—is to keep up the quality of the blood. By enriching and purifying the blood Dr. Williams' Pink Pills supply strength to the enfeebled organs of digestion, and enable them to digest thoroughly the food eaten without causing pain or distress. Proof of this is given by Mr. William H. Kelly, Kingston, Ont., who says:—"I cannot recommend Dr Williams' Pink Pills too highly. I had been bothered with indigestion in a chronic form for almost ten years. Everything I would eat would turn sour. I felt as though there was a big ball in my stomach all the time. I felt tired and weak and would often turn dizzy. I doctored and tried many medicines, spending many, many dollars, but to no avail. One day I heard a lady praising Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to try them. I am more than glad I did, for soon I found relief, and after taking the pills for a couple of months the trouble had disappeared and now I can eat all kinds of food, and have again my old time health and strength."

Send For Three Health Books. "Two useful books, "Building Up the Blood," and "What to Eat and How to Eat," will be sent free by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont., if you mention this paper.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box.

Wilful Wives By Mildred Barbour

CHAPTER 9

Another Bad Day at Household

Marguerite met Stephen Brockton one afternoon, just as he and Irma were getting out of a taxi in front of the apartment-house. Irma greeted her breezily and presented her husband.

He was tall and blond and grave, wearing horn-rimmed spectacles. He looked very kind and dependable.

"Come up for a cup of plain tea, if you aren't busy," invited Irma. "I've been telling Steve about you."

"Thank you, I—" Marguerite flushed, in spite of herself.—"I've got to go home and prepare the salad for dinner. My cook always does it badly."

Irma laughed. "Listen to that, Steve. Wonderful you are with a wife with a conscience? My dear, don't spoil your husband at the start. It's bad business."

She linked her arm through Marguerite's and led her on. "Come up and have tea, and maybe I can rustle something more potent."

A maid admitted them to the apartment. The sight of the startling room rather surprised Marguerite. There was one of the loveliest of her own slick and span apartment. Photograph records were scattered over the floor.

"I've been trying out the new records that the shop sent up," Irma explained laughingly, as she swept them away to make room for Marguerite. "Wait a minute, and I'll tell you how."

Brockton had excused himself for the moment. Later he returned, looking rather weary.

"I don't know whether my house is a home or a cabaret," he explained to Marguerite, with an attempt at humor.

Irma was doing an intricate dance-step up and down the floor.

"Watch this, Steve . . . It's the latest," she commanded.

"You are fond of dancing, Mrs. Reynolds?" he asked.

"You're lucky," he sighed. "The world is dazzle mad. There is no time for, serious things . . . time for reading, or thinking . . ."

Even when the tea arrived she kept the phonograph going. She didn't serve. A maid did that, and rather badly.

"Tell me about this husband of yours," said Irma. "Steve knows him in a business way, and I'm always hearing him at the theatre and the night clubs. He's tall and dark and distinguished handsome, isn't he?"

Marguerite answered shyly: "I think so."

Stephen Brockton said quietly: "Irma, aren't you being rather too personal with Mrs. Reynolds? Remember we have not had the pleasure of her acquaintance long."

"There's no one like a husband for calling you down, is there? ..... May I call you Marguerite? I know it's your name, because I read about your marriage in the papers weeks ago."

"Please do," urged Marguerite.

"Poor old Steve! He's shocked at my lack of formality. But what's the use of formality when we live such a short while?"

He made a valiant effort to respond to her mood, but Marguerite could see that he was uncomfortable.

"You'll live an even shorter while than you think, my dear, if you don't stop your mad career and rest occasionally . . . My wife, Mrs. Reynolds," he turned to Marguerite, "spends her afternoons dancing in a stuffy, smoky place, her evenings at the theatre, and her mornings in bed, repairing the damages of the night before."

"You forget, darling," Irma reminded him mockingly, "that there are nights and nights when I sit home and listen to you while you read aloud. Steve's a nut about philosophy," she told Marguerite, "but he must have some one to listen to him. I am the victim."

"And she promptly goes to sleep," he laughed. "Or else I find her keeping time with her foot to the jazz from a radio across the court."

Irma pouted prettily. "But why should I be interested in your old Kant and Schopenhauer? They were all dead ages ago. I prefer live ones."

"Little barbarian!" He looked at her with real affection but she had turned back to the phonograph.

Marguerite went down to her own apartment in time for Hal's arrival, feeling curiously depressed. Was this all that marriage meant to any one? Were all her girlish dreams of a home and perfect companionship absurd and unreal and fantastic? Where was the love that are two people together; that held them against all outside influence?

But, when Hal came home, she was in her tranquil, sweet self, reading quietly in the drawing-room. As he looked at her, he knew that he couldn't die, like her, and couldn't quite pity her. What was the end to be? he asked himself.

To Be Continued.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

A Good Test for Eggs

Take a basin fill it with water, and add a large lump of coarse salt. Place the egg in the basin—if it is fresh it will lie across the bottom of the basin; if it is three or four days old it will rise with its broad end just slightly, and the angle will increase according to the age of the egg. A month-old egg will float on the water's surface.

To Clean Oil Furniture

To clean old furniture wash with warm soap and water, then dry with a cloth. Give one or two coats of white French polish with a soft brush; when dry, polish with a clean brush, such as is used for polishing boots. This method both renovates and preserves the antique appearance of the furniture. French polish can be obtained from any good cabinet maker.

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Miss. Yolande Laffoe, who has just won the title de Pelegance for 1928 was one of the first of the Parisian beauties to sponsor the cranch feather cap which matches, exactly, the tint of the skin—and "make-up" and completely covers the hair, and quite recently, when dining at the Chateau de Madrid, in the Bois de Boulogne she was wearing a cap of this order made of flesh pink feathers which were so much the tint of her skin the one almost gasped.

Send It to the Modern

Somewhere a smell of something burning. Nothing on the stove—and then you suddenly realize! You'd gone to answer the door or telephone and left the hot iron on your husband's best pair of trousers. Pressing trousers is no job to be done at home. It's the work of expert cleaners and dyers. No use trying to save money on things like that. You usually slip up somewhere and lose more than you save. The Modern can assure you a job that will make your suit look like new. No trouble—just a phone call, and the suit will be called for, cleaned or pressed perfectly, and returned promptly. And you'll be amazed at the results this 'better'-cleaning service can provide.

Nan Tey ..... Myrna Loy
Gregory Kent ..... John Milian
Nadine Howells ..... Leila Hyam
"Dagger" Fee ..... Montagu Betz
Major Howells ..... Andrew Randolf
Sing Yoy ..... Anna May Wong
Richard Hazard ..... Richard Tucker

"The Crimson City" is a thrilling yet tender love story. It tak to do with Nan Tey, slave in the "House of a Thousand Daggers", on the China coast, and with Gregory Kent, fugitive from justice.

Nan Tey, like another "Madame Butterfly," rescues Kent, nurses him to health, only to give him up at last, when his honorably has been proved and his white sweetheart has come from England to claim him.

This is but a bare outline of a story which is crammed with exciting action brilliant coloring and breath-taking suspense. The sure direction of Mr. Mayo is evident in every crowded foot of the film.

Myrna Loy plays Oriental parts as no other white woman can, her exotic temperament and her mysterious manner having given rise to the false rumor that she is herself Eurasian. In "Nan Tey" is a part of such passionately pathetic appeal as to give her thy best vehicle of her career.

The atmosphere of the piece is heightened by the presence of Dat gral character actor, Sojin, and the bewitching Anna May Wong. Matinee Daily at 2.30. Evenings portrayal of the slave driver, Leila Hyams, always lovely, plays the part of the Eng- lish girl and Andrew Randolf is convincing as her father, the British army officer. Richard Tucker is as effective as Hazard the double-eyed deceiver. "The Crimson City" is a melodrama with your name. A vigorous story splendidly told. Starting Monday at the Belle.

MACDONALD GOT HIGHLY PRAISED

For Certain Passages In His New And Popular Book

In a book, "The Soul of Public Speaking," recently published in England, Hon. J. E. Ramsay MacDonald is quoted. The following is designated as "a fine passage":

"In every workman's heart there is a dim perception of a social order in which there will be a higher human equality and justice.

"He feels himself to be that divine and superior something called a man, with certain rights inherent to his manhood which can never be argued away by the verbal accuracies of philosophers. He has the economic reasoning and convenience of business men.

"These instinctive perceptions and feelings are imperative and inconquerable, and can never be made subject to experience or business advantage.

"They are the vital creative factors which change social relationships, and which, when strong enough in the consciousness of a clear conception of their economic and industrial values, will create a society where they will rule in peace and unchallenged."

That society of human order I call socialism, and until it comes it will be an agitating ferment in all other social forces."

x x x

And again:

"The Indian mind is a mind constantly seeking the eternal, not with foot on solid ground, but with wings in air, and it is a terrible thing for westerners to deal with.

"Such is the Indian mind. The rich Indian treasure hoards are full of the jewels of truth, hears the call of the Infinite Void in his soul, and he gets up, lays aside his possessions and, clothed in sabes and with begging bowl in hand, he leaves his home and goes out to seek peace.

"The common man leaves his place, and, clad in saffron or in other pilgrim garb, wanders away to some sacred place or city in some stream of immortality, to worship in some prescription, so that his soul may be satisfied and the cool shades of peace come to refresh his weary heart.

"The stormy petrel of a politician feels the shadow of his life lie heavily upon him, and he lays down his pen. "This spirit, blurred by blackguardism, finds its way to indifference in its purity the spirit which we have coarsened by deceit, is nevertheless to understand.'

Awakening at night with the premonition that something was wrong at his store, C. J. Samuel of Chicago hurried there, and caught a burglar.

GIANTS RALLY TO BEAT REDS

Lindstrom's Homer Was Winning Blow—Cubs Beat Robins

New York, Aug. 4—The Giants pulled another game out of the fire with late rallies here yesterday, a home run by Fred Lindstrom with two on in the ninth and Ott on base giving them their second straight victory over the Reds, 7 to 5, the same score as the one by which the visitors were defeated the day before yesterday.

The Giants trailed by four runs when they went to bat against Adolpho Luque in the eighth, but Frank Hogan's homer cracked a four-run rally giving them an edge. The Reds tied it in the ninth on doubles by Heinish and Ford, setting the stage for Lindstrom's homer. Hustery Grits, Cincinnati reliever, struck out his own pitching game hitting streak to twenty-one.

The Cubs made it two straight over the Robins at Brooklyn when they drive Jim Elliot and Kaufman out of the box under a severe barrage in the third to win finally by 8 to 5. Hartnett started the attack in the third with a home run, Wilie Beck collected four hits in four trips to the plate.

Eight pitchers were used five by Brooklyn. Mehl started in the fifth, and gave way to Shaw, who in turn departed in favor of Percy Lee when Mehl was the winning pitcher. Blasomette, the Brooklyn slugger, had a great day at bat with two triples, two singles and a pair in five trips to the plate.

Sherdel held Boston to five hits and registered his 14th victory in 19 starts this season. The score was 7 to 1. Cardinal batters hit hard and opportunely and gave Sherdel fine support. Barnes, pitching for Boston, left the game after five innings in a state of considerable wrath. He was extreme heat.

Pittsburgh had slugfest every afternoon with the Phillies yesterday, being the tail-enders around by a score of 14 to 8. Pie Traynor led the assault on three Phillie pitchers with 3 singles and 2 doubles that figured in the scoring of 8 runs. John Schulte of the losers, and Fred Brickell, Phillie outfielder, each hit a home run.

YANKEES AGAIN TAKE A LICKING

Famous Murderer's Row Has Gone 21 Innings Without a Hit

St. Louis, August 4—"We may not have nerked, gentle readers, but its a tough world at that to be blue and dreary. If you think otherwise, ask Miller James Huggins, the manager of the Yankees, and he will put you in a few thousand well-chosen words that death has no sting and the grave no victory.

Mr. Huggins' thoughts this morning were dark and funereal. Here his hated rivals, the Athletics, had finally gone and lost a ball game, and the Yankees had a golden chance to do something striking and effective for the good old cause.

But did they do it? In a word, no, they did not. They allowed themselves to be shamefully maltreated by the down-trodden Browns. They failed to gain on the Athletics. Their pitching incited the local clients to jeers and unkind remarks. Their defense was sieve-like, their hitting practically non-existent, their play dispirited and lethargic, and the Browns won 5-0. What has been widely advertised in the newspapers as the greatest hitting team in baseht has now gone twenty-one innings without a run. Murderers' row is as rough and ferocious as an affectionate little kitten.

The Browns made a run in the second and two more in the fourth on Mansbach triple. Schulte's sacrifice fly in said three by Koenig, a steal and Combs's double.

One more run in the fifth and one more in the sixth and three runs in the seventh when Schulte singled and Gehrig tripled, and, whatly the use?

A wild seventh inning during which top Detroit pitchers walked five batters in succession and then allowed three singles for a total of six runs was Washington the last time it visited the home of Ed Dedbil. After retiring the first two batters in the seventh, Huggins issued three passes and was replaced by Vangilder, who walked in two runs and permitted three singles before retiring the side.

Cleveland, put a temporary stop to Philadelphia's chase after the league-leading Yankees by taking the third and final game of the series 9 to 5. The Mackmen bopped one Joe Shaute for a three-run lead in the first, but Rube Walberg was unable to hold it, the Indians pounding him for two in the first and six in the third.

Connie Mack used 18 players, including five punch hitters and three pitchers in a vain effort to stop the Tribe.

Ed. Morris of the Boston Red Sox scored a win over Tommy Thomas, of the Chicago White Sox when Boston won the last of a five game series, 3 to 1, at Chicago.

Chicago outhit Boston 7 to 6 Thomas struck out six batters while Morris fanned four. Both pitchers saw nine runners on the bases.

SINICAL SADIE SEES

OF INTEREST TO CHILDREN.

Classic of interest.

(F—ws heading)

Sinical Sadie says: The Irish who brought the winter's outfit to Canada last week may sell us, saying in the words of Dagberry, "Oh! that I had been writ down an ass!"

One day this week this paper told of a contest in the South "Why is a newspaper like a woman?" Sinical Sadie would like to point out that they missed the best answer, viz.—"Because every man should have one of his own and go go after his neighbor's."

I see in the paper a picture from the Detroit Zoo, of a scalled "scoala," which looks to me exactly like the evil Bruin Percy friend of school children Bance:

Mary had an scoala—
It must have been a sham,
For everywhere that mary went
Folks thought it was a lamb.

It followed her to school one day,
Which made them children glad,
They all quit work and ran to play
With Mary's scoala.

Alas, the teacher kicked it out!
Said she: "It never had
A chance indire, nor will again,
To kick an scoala."

—Detroit News.

PLEASING EFFECTS.

"It was at the manoeuvres. A sudden clatter of hits fire burst out, and the gossip sat in front of the garrison stopped right back into the arms of a handsome young man behind her. "Oh!" she gasped, looking pretty. "I am so sorry, but the rifles started me." "Don't mention it!" said the young man eagerly. "Let's go and watch the artillery!"

Poems Old And New

POEMS OLD AND NEW ENGLAND

By Sally Carrington Brent

Months of Europe 'round in spun
Touring France and Italy.
Months of magic 'round in spun
Bring—when all is said and done—
Bring at last a sad unrest,
Put hearth-loving hearts to test.

Ah, but if there dawns a day
When our pains lead England-way,
England with her hedge and stream
Moors and downs and Devon cream;
Old cathedral towns and towers,
Grey stone walls a-drip with flowers,
Thatch and heather, cloudy skies—
Or, is it mist before our eyes?
And like music sweetly sung
Cups—the same old English tongue;
Here a Darby meets his Joan,
Anglo-Saxon to the bone.
We admit the hearts' turmoil
A sore feet press England's soil;
Ah, forgive us, Paris, Rome;
This is England; this is Home!

GJOA—TO AMUNDSEN

By John G. Jury

(The Gjoa, the craft in which Captain Amundsen made the Northwest Passage, is now in Golden Gate Park, at the ocean beach.)

O Winged Winds of the North—
Winds from the world's white rim—
Out where the lamps of the stars
Hang low and their lights are dim,

Tell me—What of my Captain—
Fearless Viking of Storms—
What has become of him?

Once I was as free as you
Over the nights that stun,
And felt the sharp, white teeth of ice,
The spears of sleet and hail,
And the shaking swords of ice rain,
But against the dauntless will of one,
How could three prevail?

Now from my deck the sparrows fly,
My masts are bare as a shrinken hare,
Except for you, O Winds,
Only the ghosts of the sea come nigh.

Again, I call to you!
Winds from the world's white rim,
Where is Amundsen—
Viking of Storms—
What has become of him?

Rub 2 cheese (peasloes, add 1 cup whipped cream, 1-3 cup finely chopped olives, 1-4 cup finely chopped pimiebos, Season with salt, cayenne lemon juice or vinegar to taste. Soften 1 tablespoonful gelatine in 1 tablespoonful cold water, dissolve over hot water, cool and add to cheese, mix well and turn into 1-3 pound baking powder can previously wet with cold water, cover with a piece of white paper, chill covers and pack in ice and salt. Let stand several hours. Serve with salad course with toasted water crackers.

SPICED JELLY.

Soak 1-4 package in 1-4 cup cold water and dissolve in 1 cup hot sweet pickle syrup from sweet pickled peaches, cool, then add sweet pickled peaches, watermelon, ripe cucumbers, citron, raisins, etc. Cut in small cubes to fill 1 cup, add 1-4 cup Maraschino cherry wine. Turn into a mould, chill thoroughly. Unmould and cut in 1 inch cubes and use as a garnish with cold meats or turn into very small individual moulds. Chill and serve with roast meats, games, etc.

GOOSEBERRY PIE.

Remove blossoms and stems from 2 cups gooseberries, wash, drain and mix with 1 cup sugar and 1 tablespoon flour. Line a pie plate with plain paste, fill with gooseberry mixture; wet edges and cover with top crust made of Full Paste or Rich Paste. Press edges and flute with fingers. Bake in a quick oven 35 to 40 minutes. Sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve hot.

SOME GOOD BARGAINS

Probably the world's best bargain was that of Peter Minuit, a Dutchman, who bought the whole of Manhattan Island from the Indians in 1626 for goods worth $26. Almost as good was that of Simon Van Der Stell, one time governor of Capetown, who bought the bay of Port Natal for £100's worth of goods.

The East India Company made a gigantic bargain in the year 1668. Charles II. "sold" but been given the island of Bombay as a dowry at his marriage with the Infanta Catherine of Portugal. The King thought the place worthless as the Portuguese had done—and allowed the Company 1 rent in for £10 a year. In 1813 an agent of Lord Blifting's sold the whole of Nantucket Island to Thomas Mayhew for £46; eighteen years later they few sold a joint interest to nine partners for £500 and two beaver hats! The island is now a separate county of Massachusetts.

A world-wide sale was effected by Roger Lodjee a year before Mayhew bought Nantucket. Lodjee gave the Indians six fathoms of wampum, 6 coats, 10 hatchets, 10 hoes, 10 knives, 10 pairs of scissors, 10 jew's harps, 10 fathoms of tobacco, 3 kettles, and about 10 looking glasses for all the land between the Norwalk and the Saugatuck rivers in Connecticut, extending up one day's walk from the Sound.

Let Me Tell You

If brown shoes are to light in color to square a nied dark tan rub them with a cloth dipped in ammonia; repeat process letting leather dry between applications.

A salad that few people use and that almost all like is fresh cabbage and sliced orange and salad dressing. Mix thoroughly and serve soon.

To keep scorched or burned potatoes from tasting, set the pan of potatoes quickly into cold water for a few minutes. If scorched badly, and you wish to mash or season, put them into a clean pan.

To draw threads easily for hemstitching make a stiff lather of white soap, and brush it over the linen where the threads are to be drawn. Let it dry, and the threads will come out easily.

If, when baking juicy pies, the juice boils out into the oven, sprinkle salt over the spilled juice, and it will not burn, or cause a disagreeable odor in the house.

Do not use powder to clean rough or chased brass. Wash the article in soap and water, dry, and then rub over the surface with a freshly cut lemon. Rinse, and rub dry with chamois.

Save your celery leaves dry them in a paper bag and mix up equal quantity of salt. This is an excellent flavoring for soups and stews, and economical.

In making jellies leave a flat skimming spoon or dipper in the kettle while cooking, the contents will not rise up and boil over. One does not have half of the skimming to do, as by the old way, and it comes out nice and clear, too, with less work.

More oil and gas pipe l'nes converge at Fort, Worth, Texas, than any other place in the world.

JUST IN PASSING

ALMOND BLOSSOMS!

Almond tree,
Yesterday forlorn and bare,
Now a mass of pink
Flaked in a sooty square,
Do you think
I could ever bloom like you,
Triumph over pain,
Loveliness of soul renew
Once again?
You who seemed a dead black thing,
Can I be
Wakened by a touch of Spring?
Answer me!

GREAT LITTLE WOMEN

When Shakespeare made Portia remark that her little body was "aweary of this great world," one wonders if he meant to draw attention to the fact that, in the case of women, at least, it is rare to find outstanding intellectual ability and restless energy housed in a massive, physical frame. The great women of history are nearly always little women. Yet it is cnirva how the popular fallacy persists which links intellectual greatness with large bodily proportions. He would be a daring sculptor, indeed, who would depict Boadicea, or Deborah, or Lady Macbeth as the fragile wisps of womanhood they probably were.

THE SPECTACULAR SEX

Women constitute a spectacle, not only for man, but for mankind. When Jack takes Jill out for a walk in some public promenade he knows just as well as she knows that a part of her function is to show herself, to contribute to the great spectacle of her sex. He may grumble at the cost of her clothes; he may make irrational and unfair remarks concerning the futility of mere appearances; he will almost certainly get irritable because she has kept him waiting at the start; nevertheless he would be disconcerted if she as his own particular Jill, failed worth fly to play her part in the spectacle.

The spectacle is a delight to the eye. It may, and probably does, stimulate thoughts which lead to actions that have their influence upon the future of the race; but it is primarily the eye's affair. Now there was a strange period in the history of the northern peoples when the delights of the eye were regarded with suspicion, even with disapprobation, and when it seemed to be that the eye was a culprit among our sensory organs and ought to be deprived of satisfaction: the other organs were entitled to their appetites, but not the eye, the theory being that "appearances" were in themselves wicked and if they could not b suppressed, should at any rate be reduced to a num lmum. This period has passed away by reason of its unnatural perversity and few regret it. The claims of the eye are once more fully recognized.

MOUSE TICS UP AN AFRICAN CITY

A mouse paralyzed the electric power system of Johannesburg, South Africa, for three hours at noonday recently, caused a city-wide tie-up and brought injury to five persons. It poked its nose into a terminal box at the central power station. With a flash and a roar, a blinding cloud of flame shot out. Five men nearby were scorched, three of them so badly they were taken to a hospital.

Some 15,000 workers on their way home to luncheon on fast express trams were brought to a standstill. All electrically driven machinery in the city went dead and many of the workers living at a distance had to go without their noonday snack altogether.

American typewriter companies report that more than one-third of their output is sold abroad.

HE WON A WIFE SHOOTING OWLS

Enlarged His Bank Account with a Trusty Rifle

Williams Lake, B.C.—Young men contemplating wedding and the duty of "making" wedding presents of the matrimony of cash set being told, himself "hunting and" fishing, and Joe himself allows that this way of co-operating with cupid could be a lot worse.

Not so long ago Joe was feeling mighty blue. He wanted to get married but he wondered whether his savings were enough to support a family that there, just when he was beginning to feel optimistic, he lost his job.

But Joe admits that he is of an inquisitive turn of mind and that he'll try anything once. He noticed a placard announcing that the government was offering a two-dollar bounty on owls. That offered a slim hope. Joe thought a long time and then made up his mind. He kept his secret but when he retired into the woods friends wagged their heads. Night after night he occupied his time with making queer noises. They wondered what had gone wrong with him, but Joe was learning a new trade—learning how to hoot like an owl.

When Joe discovered that even the owls were fooled by his voice, he decided that he was proficient enough to go after big money. He borrowed a horse and some blankets and set up a trusty gun. He slept by day and hid in the woods at night.

"I hoot and then shoot" said Joe.

The engagement has been announced in New York of Miss Madeleine North way, called the perfect blonde and a noted dancer, to Mr. Charles Read of Toronto, son of Mrs. William Read.

Toronto. The romance began a year ago when Mr. Read saw Miss North-way dancing. Miss Northway's name is Madeleine Northway Deady and she is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. H. P. Deady. Mr. Read was a captain in the 48th Highlanders during the war. The marriage will take place in Octo ber and the bride and groom will sail for England where the birds will dance.

LITERARY FARE OF FAR NORTH

Northern Ontario People Enjoy Government Schools Car Journey

Toronto — (C.P.) — Constitutional history, applied science and the classics to a surprising extent constitute the literary fare of the people who live in the scattered settlements of Northern Ontario. The teachers in charge of the two government school cars operated in the transcontinental railroad lines, who also look after small travelling libraries, are authority for this statement. On behalf of the residents in the portions, they continually request works of the standard authors, the classics, commercial law books, technical volumes and works dealing with electrical matters.

The two cars at present in operation have turned out to be so useful that five cars will be travelling when the Fall term opens. The cars started with 300 books each, the libraries being considered a fairly extensive collection. But it was not long before requisitions came in to W. O. Carson, inspector of Libraries, for books of a standard not exactly considered popular.

In addition to the books lent to the pupils there is a big demand from the children's parents, university students and the general public. It is stated by Fred G. Sinclair, who is in charge of one of the cars.

In the Fall the teaching facilities will be augmented by picture lanterns operated from battery power, in the usage of which the travelling teachers have been instructed this summer.

The teachers in charge of the cars are doing a great deal for civilization, in the opinion of Mr. Carson, for their activities range far beyond the academic bounds. The teaching itself is no small problem, with a great proportion of the pupils being of foreign parentage, and the frontier representatives of the authorities are called on for many services from advice in legal matters to aid in barbering.

WAYSIDE INN WAS FAMOUS LANDMARK

Edmonton, Alta.—(C.P.— Some 25 years ago the Halfway Hotel, a veritable wayside inn, was a favorite stopping-off place for the freighters and was well-known throughout the district. It took its name from being just half-way between Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan on the Fort Trail. It has been purchased by the Provincial Government which plans to dismantle the building and erect other houses in a scheme of the beautification of the "Mental Institution" which the purchased property adjoins.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

Cholera infantum is one of the fatal ailments of childhood. It is a trouble that comes on suddenly, especially during the summer months and unless prompt action is taken the little one may soon be beyond aid. Baby's Own Tablets are an ideal medicine in warding off this trouble. They regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach and thus prevent the dreaded summer complaints. They are an absolute safe medicine, being guaranteed to contain neither opiates nor narcotics or other harmful drugs. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PLANT DISEASES AND REMEDIES

The Farmer Can Help Himself in Such Matters Say Experts.

The farmer is engaged in the fundamental business of feeding the world. Blooms in his chosen vocation depends upon many factors, important among which is the extent to which crops suffer from disease. Serious losses are experienced in Canada annually from the ravages of Plant Diseases; a condition which may be appreciably remedied by an application of control measures, as recommended by Plant Pathologists of the Experimental Farms Branch.

Until recent years the farmer, in ignorance of the nature of plant diseases, suffered very heavy losses from them, some innocuous of the fact that his crops were affected. Or, if the presence of the disease was known the extent of damage was underestimated. In this way a loss of forty or even one hundred bushels of potatoes to the acre was often overlooked. Today it is different. With the aid of easily accessible literature the farmer may acquaint himself with the symptoms and controls of the more serious diseases. In other words the farmer's power over organisms which injure cultivated plants was never as great as it is at the present stage of agriculture development. One by one the life histories and haunts of such parasitic organisms are being studied and armed with this knowledge the intelligent is devising means to prevent their destructiveness. It only remains, therefore, for the farmer to sources of information and put into practice the recommendations which are based upon thorough investigations of the plant diseases peculiar to his particular locality. This information is available at the nearest branch plant pathological laboratory.

In appreciating the importance of plant diseases the farmer must know that his responsibility does not end until his crop is marketed in a sound, disease-free condition. In these days of keen competition and diligent efforts to secure markets the secret of success is the manner in which we conserve the crops. This necessitates serious effort on the part of every farmer to control plant disease.

NEW Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher endow these new McLaughlin-Buick creations with a measure of style, individuality and dashing beauty unapproached by any other automobile.

Gorgeous new colors and wonderful new upholsteries lend an added touch of luxury. New adjustable front seats and wider rear seats provide unequalled driving—and riding comfort.

Increased bore and stroke—greater piston displacement—improved carburetion and other advancements in McLaughlin-Buick's famous valve-in-head six-cylinder engine—give tremendous new power to what was already the most powerful automobile engine of its size in the world.

The same great developments impart thrilling new pick-up, lightning acceleration and new top speed that few drivers will care to attain.

Other features include new high-pressure gas pump—handsome new radiator design—new chrome-plated head-lamps and cowl-lamps—new type instrument board—as well as many additional appointments of luxury and convenience.

The 1929 McLaughlin-Buick is an epic car marking the supreme achievement of automobile engineering.

VAST IMPROVEMENTS ARE NOTED IN LATEST McLAUGHLIN BUICKS

Three New And Complete Series Of Master Sixes

Specification as to what McLaughlin-Buick will do for 1928 is set at rest today with the detailed announcement of the new cars and simultaneously their first showing at branch and dealer showrooms.

Three completely new and strikingly original series of sizes comprise the McLaughlin-Buick offering. These are announced as longer, larger, faster and more powerful; but more immediately apparent are their smartness of new body lines and colors.

There is no car now on the road to which the new McLaughlin-Buick may be compared, a fact which makes description difficult. However, among the innovations affecting its appearance may be listed the greater "unification" of the body, just below the windows, which are arched across their top where they were formerly straight; a complete blending of the side and roof lines in a pleasing curve which is carried around the sides and rear of the car; massive, graceful new radiator enphasizing the curve motif further; new one-piece front fenders and long and deep rear fenders.

The car's appearance is still further enhanced by smaller wheels and larger section tires, which make the new McLaughlin-Buick seem lower, though its road clearance is actually unchanged. Large new hubs, new easy-on radiator cap of radical type—elliptical instead of round—and relocation of the traditional mark, in a new and distinctive position, on the radiator homecrowning instead of the shell, lend additional touches of beauty. The new head and parking lamps, on their chromium-plated brackets, are the most worthy features.

Interior refinements include a completely adjustable front seat in every closed model, longer guaranglit lever, foot-operated cowl ventilator, and a tandem-blade electric windshield wiper cleaning device. The severely plain instrument panel is entirely new, being simply a grouping of the dials on the background of black cloth. The 8-mile speedometer is mounted, directly before the driver, and the hydrostatic gasoline gauge is of the latest and most accurate type.

Less apparent is the casual eye, but no less vital, are the enlarged and improved power plant and strengthened chassis, designed to provide a reserve store of energy and reserve of safety. Wherever leakage is possible the three sets of plain instrument panel is entirely new, being simply a grouping of the dials on the background of black cloth. The 8-mile speedometer is mounted, directly before the driver, and the hydrostatic gasoline gauge is of the latest and most accurate type.

Less apparent is the casual eye, but no less vital, are the enlarged and improved power plant and strengthened chassis, designed to provide a reserve store of energy and reserve of safety. Wherever leakage is possible the three sets of bearings have been extended an inch, the new lengths being 116-inch, 121-inch, and 128-inch. Horsepower of the new McLaughlin-Buick engines has been stepped up, that of the smallest from 60 to 76 and of the other from 77 to 90 1-2. Increased piston displacement accounts for part of the power increase, the remainder being due to new design of camshaft, valve mechanism, manifold, ignitor, intake manifold and exhaust. The power increase is out of proportion to the increase in weight. While some of the engine and chassis improvements, notably the addition of a mechanical fuel pump, are seemingly radical departures, none of them affects the car's basic design.

The "vibrationless performance" claimed for McLaughlin-Buick's engine has been guarded in preparation of the 1929 car, specifications show. The crankshaft is heavier, and so are bearings, pistons and pins, while greater attention than ever before has been paid to their balancing as a single working unit. And McLaughlin-Buick has now cradled the entire engine in bronze rings of thick, soft rubber, to absorb the last vestiges of vibration. Smooth, slip of clutch action is assured by using indentations or grayed on each of the ten plates which permit the driving and driven faces to engage gradually.

Despite the advance in performance built into the McLaughlin-Buick line, its gasoline consumption remains virtually unchanged, and it operates efficiently on any fuel. Retention of the centralized lubrication system introduced in the 1928 models makes it easy to grease, and heightened economy of servicing is sought by several of the mechanical improvements, such as the interchangeable main bearings. A slim pin and ingenious method of lubricating the differential gears by deflecting the grease entering the differential housing downward upon the gears is a distinct advance.

Eight body models, a complete range of open and closed cars on the three wheelbase lengths, make up the line.

WINTER CARE OF YOUR OWN CAR

Chrysler Service Manager Passes Out a Few Good Tips

At this time when sporting pages are carrying stories about training camp baseball, when golf bugs, just recovering friend wife's ire by breaking window panes and chandeliers in their practice, and anglers are looking over rods, flies and other fishing tackle, the season has arrived, in the opinion of the Chrysler Corporation's Service Department, when a message of friendly counsel should be broadcast to automobile owners about the spring care of their cars.

Devotees of sport take pains to recondition their golf clubs, tennis rackets and, other paraphernalia that have been laid away in dark closets through the winter's doldrums. In the opinion of the Chrysler Service Manager, But how many automobile owners, he asks, give proper thought to having the car checked over as the summer season nears. So that they know it is in tiptop condition the prompt answer to his own query is that there are decidedly fewer than there should be.

Yet there was a time when things were otherwise, he reminisces.

"In days gone by, when automobiles were new and the roads were rough, it wasn't thought good form to use them during the winter months, and the cars were taken in the spring to see that they were thoroughly overhauled and everything put in A-1 order.

"But because cars are used all during the winter months now and roads are sometimes prone to forget that the bus requires a little spring tonic" to make it function at its best."

The Chrysler Service Manager makes the interesting suggestion at this point that if the car were put away in the Fall, big the golf and fishing tackle and sporting equipment, it would receive as much and as thorough attention as the golf clubs and blue skies as is given to any of the other possessions which contribute, to one's cheerful enjoyment of life.

"Preventive Maintenance" is the remedy he prescribes for the general neglect of Spring tuning-up for automobiles. The Chrysler Standardized Maintenance System, he says, assures Chrysler owners continued satisfaction, but their cars at all times and is particularly advantageous for spring adjustments, he reminds them. If there is need for any reconditioning work after hard winter use, he urges them to have a little overhauling done now rather than to take a chance on some annoyance, however slight, during the height of the happy summer motoring season.

Accused of the charge of disorderly conduct, Mrs. Mary Gaithen of Chicago aged 66, tried to fine the judge. Mrs. Frances Anne Ripley of Chicago stuffed in her divorce suit that her husband frequently stuck pins in her.

WOULD BE CONTRARY DEMOCRATIC SPIRIT

Vancouver, B.C.(C.P.)—The Women's Canadian Club has defeated a resolution brought before its members which proposed "that no member of the club shall sit on the executive committee in any capacity for more than five consecutive years."

It was considered that such a restriction would be harmful to the democratic spirit of the club. It was also urged that the members use it as a means of vantages their power of nominating to office those who have not already filled executive positions.

NEW STUDEBAKE A REVELATION

Sensational Improvements Featured In Latest Models

A sensational improvement in motoring comfort has been made possible by Studebaker's new ball bearing spring shackles, which are featured on the new Studebaker cars announced here last week, according to W. J. Green local Studebaker dealer.

"Studebaker's new cars now are just as far ahead in riding comfort as they are in proved performance," said Mr. Green. "The ball bearing spring shackle has been hailed as the greatest advance in riding comfort since the development of the balloon tire.

"For years engineers have sought to reduce friction to a minimum at the spring shackles—that point which will link the body and the axles of the car. They have tried to make the shackles flexible yet firm and uniform in action, to make them noiseless, and to eliminate the need for frequent lubrication.

"The ball bearing spring shackles of all new Studebaker models have completely solved these problems. They give an unbelievably flexibility of action, give the springs free play to smooth out road irregularities, and add buoyancy to the car's riding qualities.

"The incessant action and reaction of the springs is carried on ITS steel balls rolling in lubricant. This means no binding, no squeaks, no rattles, no backlash. And no place for complicated systems for oiling and greasing. Each ball bearing spring shackle contains sealed within it, ample lubricant to insure proper lubrication for a long period of time.

In addition to the new ball bearing spring shackles all the new Studebaker models are equipped with hydraulic shock absorbers front and rear. Together, they make a dream in a new Studebaker a revelation in restful riding.

"Designers of the new cars did not stop with the development of new and improved power action, however. A wholly new type of form-fitting loose cushion has been created, with contours scientifically designed to conform to the shape of the body.

"In each model the upholstery is of the oversutfed type, deeply tufted, and projecting somewhat over the edge of the bottom and cushion. Riding in these cushions the passenger has the luxurious comfort of a deep lounge chair."

Another feature of the new cars designed primarily for the driver's comfort is the adjustable steering wheel found in all Studebaker models. Mr. Green pointed out. By a simple adjustment, the wheel can be raised or lowered to the most comfortable position for each individual driver.

The ease with which all the cars can be handled is a result of Studebaker's engineering policy, in building what D.O.B. Reed, chief engineer, calls "well mannered cars". "Good manners" have their foundation deep in the principles of chassis design. They result from good chassis balance, in order that passengers may have a feeling of comfort and safety, at high speeds; from light, easy steering, from smooth clutch action and steady, firm braking; from light pedal pressure, and from instant and effortless flow of power from the motor.

WALKER OUTFIT A REVELATION

Vancouver, B. C.—When Mayor J. Walker arrives back on his sidewalks of New York, he will still have at least five Kilowatts of British Columbia sunshine in his system, having in the thirteen minutes stay in Vancouver Thursday night the Chief Executive of America's largest city smiled and "double-cracked" up to his reputation through features coated with the kind of sunburn which is only acquired after a day on the British Columbia beaches. And Mayor Walker "double-cracked" with keen zanes. He left for the East on his private car "Nomad" on Canadian Pacific train No. 3, the Imperial Limited. Dapper, as Mayor Walker always is, was "out" on his first visit to Vancouver. He was "just folks" and he wanted the two or three hundred people who greeted him at the Canadian Pacific Pier, on Thursday night to be "folks", too.

Saturday, New York's Mayor managed to give Vancouver at least one thrill. He wore a soft, Panama, hat, the coat and a polka dot tie all conventional enough but his trousers were the piece de resistence. Vertical wide stripes of blue and white alternated over the legs of his dinnerlike worship. Stepping from the G.P.R. ship the Motor Princess, which brought him to Vancouver from Nanaimo, Mayor Walker was greeted by acting Mayor Woodside.

JOE WRIGHT ELIMINATED FROM SINGLES

Ladies' Bowling Tournament Opens - Week-End Motor Accidents

DISTRICT CLUBS REPRESENTED AT ANNUAL BOWLING TOURNEY HERE

Belleville Ladies Hosts To Rinks From Quinte Section

PRELIMINARIES

Men Took Part In Competition At Campbellford Yesterday

Belleville Ladies' Bowling Tournament got away to a splendid start this morning at ten o'clock, when rinks from various towns in this district, assembled to decide a winner at the Willaid Street green. Rinks representing Deseronto, Campbellford, Peterboro, Trenton, Warkworth, Stirling and Belleville, were drawn up for the first round.

Eighteen rinks are competing in the tournament and winning rinks are credited with ten points. If the defeated rinks lose by only one point, they are credited with eight points, if they lose by two points they get credit for seven points. This is a new method of scoring and keeps all rinks in the competition until the end.

Yesterday three rinks from the men's club journeyed to Campbellford, and were well up in the running. Rinks were present from Peterboro, Stirling, Hastings, Cobourg, Port Hope, Warkworth Brantford, Belleville and Campbellford, and the competition did not end until late at night. In the select finals of the Consolation, the first rink skipped by C. J. Symons lost out, this rink being composed of J. McLean, R. of Dewar, Vanier and C. J. Symons. W. Walsh and his club composed of G. Wadsworth, Buchanan and Mr. Sandwell, one green and four two, by 27 points, defeated Mr. Thompson, Mr. Cabbier and J. Cook won two and lost one.

Another rink skipped by C. H. Sulman, and consisting of H. Bryant, A. Symons and A. McCle played at the marville and were quite successful only going out in the third round of the competition.

The results of the first round in the Ladies' Tournament this morning were as follows:

Mrs. Linton, skip, Campbellford, won from Mrs. Thompson, skip, Deseronto.

Mrs. Greenlaise, skip, Cobourg, won from Mrs. McKinnon, skip, Cobourg.

Mrs. Dale, skip, Belleville, won from Mrs. Jennings, skip, Cobourg.

Miss Hurley, skip, Belleville, won from Mrs. Smith, skip, Warkworth.

Mrs. Whitby, skip, Stirling, won from Mrs. Clark, skip, Tweed.

Mrs. Delap, skip, Belleville, won from Mrs. Reeves, skip, Tweed.

Mrs. Harwood, skip, Belleville, won from Mrs. Heaston, skip, Belleville.

HIS NASTINESS COST HIM $30

G. E. Morrow, Toronto, Will Respect Traffic Officers In Future

When G. E. Morman, a truck driver from Toronto, was stopped in Napanee on Saturday night by Traffic Officer Bliss for having no tail light, he became rather nasty. When the officer drove up to ask him a question, the driver slammed his car into gear and drove off at a fast rate of speed.

Mr. Bliss jumped on his motorcycle tried to stop him or block him, but could not succeed, and the truck driver threatened to clinch him. The officer, reaching the first telephone, informed Belleville of the approach of the driver, and Chief Alexander Kidd, in the police car, stopped the truckman in the west part of the city. Morman was taken back to Napanee and hailed before the court. His fine and costs amounted to $30, which he paid.

RECEIVE WOUNDS IN AUTO CRASH

Toronto People Injured When Motor Strikes Ditch

Two are lying in the hospitals in Trenton today as the result of a car turning completely over into the ditch about one miles east of Trenton at 2:30 yesterday afternoon. When Constable Bell, of the state of Michigan, struck the rear-end of another automobile driven by Charles Lawrence of Toronto yesterday, the Lawrence vehicle was hurled into the ditch, the driver and his brother's wife, Mrs. John Lawrence receiving serious injuries, the extent of which are not known as yet.

It is stated that Bell was trying to pass the Lawrence automobile at the time of the crash, and that his home is on the first car, hurling it into the ditch, and turning it completely over. The police are investigating the smash.

MIKEL STILL QUIBBLES ABOUT HIS JUDGMENTS, WHILE PEOPLE ARE CONCERNED WITH RESULTS

We print below a second letter from Magistrate W. C. Mikel dealing with our criticisms of his judgment in the case heard last week and with the letter and the Editor's comments we publish close the case as far as The Intelligencer is concerned.

To The Editor of The Intelligencer:

Dear Sir—

In your comment on my letter in last Saturday night's issue of The Intelligencer on the Sayer's case, you express the view that I betrayed the issue. The issue is clear and definite, namely, did I in this particular case act wisely in assenting to the request of the long citizens of Belleville who have served their city and country and are as capable as you and as intelligent as the writer of our citizens as you, or should I have disregarded their request and acted on your request. The principle applied by me is recognized by the Judiciary of every civilized country, namely to extend leniency in the case of young persons on a first offence, especially when the offence is one of a class not covered by statute and not by common law. When you speak of betraying the issue, you might put that cap on yourself. I p.ou't comment Saturday night on anything or something you say Premier Ferguson said some years before the Sayers case and not referring to Sayers at all. Besides Premier Ferguson did not pass the Act under which this man was prosecuted. It was passed by the Dominion Parliament. You suggest that I may not appreciate the gravity of the case. I can assure you that I appreciate it fully and you must admit that the Belleville citizens who made their request to me appreciated the situation quite as fully and as intelligently as yourself.

Yours truly,
W. C. MIKEL.

Just Legal Quibble

Mr. Mikel is still dealing with legal quibble. It is quite true that the law forbidding a man to drive his car while drunk is part of the criminal code, and therefore comes under the section preceding the enactment of th Liquor Control Act and during the session of the Legislature which passed the Act and it was quite clearly understood that the Federal Government would put enough teeth in the Criminal Code to prevent drunken fools endangering the lives of innocent people with their motor cars. The fact that Premier Ferguson did not actually pass the law forbidding drunken driving is just a quibble! It did not come within his province but he made sure that the law was there.

Our criticism of Mr. Mikel is that in our opinion the Law is not administered, impartiality in the various cases which come before him, that he displays poor judgment in his decisions and bolsters up his cases with weak and foolish arguments and that he is savoying one of the safeguard of the public, the fear of certain sure punishment - for men who ar weak-willed or irresponsible enough to drive cars when they are not in the position to do so.

The Intelligencer has said all it has to say on this case, but one of a group

RAIN IS CAUSE OF HEAVY LOSS

Telephone Communication To Point Anne Cut Off By Fallen Tree

High wind and rain on Saturday and Sunday in this district caused considerable damage, a great many trees were blown down, sewers blocked up, hoarding cellars, telephone and Hydro lines were rendered useless and lightning caused fires.

Between Belleville and Point Anne Sunday morning twenty-three large trees, were counted which had been forced down by the wind, and one huge old giant had fallen directly across the Point Anne road, blocking traffic for several hours, until it was finally cut away. This tree carried down with it all the telephone lines running into Point Anne, leaving the citizens of that village without telephone communication until late Sunday morning.

Bell Telephone trouble men had an extremely busy week-end, as the lightning played havoc , with transformers and other parts of the system. The firemen of this company were also busy at the jump because of the falling trees and branches. A large tree on Harriet Street fell and narrowly missed landing on top of Union.

Many cellars of Front Street merchants were inundated when the sewers filled up and became blocked with the variety of refuse which backed down the streets, and the Footbridge gangway was flooded to the depth of three or four inches during the heavy down-pour. Pedestrians who were in the habit of using the gangway waited in the shelter of the sewers at that point for about twenty minutes until the water receded.

LEADING MASON LAID TO REST

Hundreds Attend Funeral of The Late R. H. Spencer

WELL-KNOWN

Held Prominent Offices In Masonic And Oddfellows' Lodges

Impressive indeed were the last rites of one of Ontario's foremost Masons, Richard H. Spencer, of Trenton, held yesterday afternoon in Trenton with Masons from all over the Prince Edward District, which includes Hastings County, in attendance.

The funeral was under the auspices of the Masonic Order and took place at 2 o'clock to St. George's Church. Within the Reverend Hayward conducted the services. It is estimated that fully fifteen hundred persons of the order were in attendance, and all the pall bearers were District Deputy Grand Masters, other than Mr. Spencer.

The late Mr. Spencer died on Saturday afternoon, after an illness of six months. He was taken ill during the latter part of December, and for some time appeared to be gradually improving. He suffered a relapse, however, and never recovered.

Mr. Spencer was one of the leading Masons in Ontario, and in this district. He was sixty-eight years of age when he passed away. He was Past Grand Master of the Grand Chapter of Canada, Royal Arch Masons, Past District Deputy Grand Master of A. F.&A.M for Prince Edward District, Past-Grand Prior of the Knights Templar, Honorary Member of Lenaire Friendship Chapter, Belleville. Other degree members of the Rouleau Rite and had just been installed for his second term as head of the King Hall. win Preceptory.

Was Town Official.

Mr. Spencer was for years as Town Clerk and was also treasurer of Trent Lodge No. 38 A.F.&A.M. Besides this he was also Grand secretary of the Gill and Fortune Lumber Company for some time and a Past District Deputy Grand Master of the Independent Order of Oddfellows.

The interment took place at Carrying Place, and the bearers were all high officials of the order. They in- of Brighton, W. J. Potts, Trenton; Reded: Rt. Wor. Bro. O. L. Morrow, M.P., Picton; Wor. Bro. Gerow, Belleville; A. Backus, Belleville; John Newton, D.D., Hertz, Belleville; and Henry T. Wills, Trenton. Mr. Spencer was the Grand Secretary of the Grand Chapter of Canada, Royal Arch Masons.

BARLOW FAMILY HELD REUNION

Annual Affair Took Place Yesterday At Irwin's Island

The Annual Barlow reunion took place at Irwin's Island, Desoronto, yesterday. In spite of inclement weather there were fifty relatives and friends from Havelock, Madoc, Toronto, Basil Ste. Marie, Rochester, Deloro, Frankford, Tweed, Stirling, Belleville, Picton, Trenton, Bath and Kingston.

Baseball, swimming contests and games made the time pass all too quick ly and supper being over, and when all parting for their different homes after voting Mr. and Mrs. Irwin ideal host and hostess, one and all accepted an invitation to meet there again next year.

Of the original Barlows living there present were John, of Shannonville; Isaac, of Havelock; Susan, of Madoc and George, of Belleville.

THE WEATHER

Light to moderate winds, fair an warmer. Wednesday, moderate south west winds and for the most part fal and warm, probably few local thunder storms.

GAS GOES UP!

Necessary Liquid Advances One Cent Per Gallon

Gasoline rose exactly one cent in price today. This will be a sad blow to most motorists, many of whom are complaining about the high level of the necessary liquid. Doomy motorists, sad to say, the time one has purchased a hundred gallons of "gas," there's still abut 10 pieces, and to most of us a dollar means something. Of course, there's always the chance of the price fluctuating down, but again today's advancement may be the start of an upward trend.

HOLE-IN-ONE FOR LOCAL PLAYER

Bryson C. Donnan Attains Golfers' Dream At Belleville Club

Bryson C. Donnan, Crown Attorney for Hastings County achieved the lifelong ambition of any golfer when he made the perfect "Hole In One" on Friday afternoon at the Belleville Golf Club. Mr. Donnan is a member and ally President of the Belleville Golf Club was playing a friendly match with a lady member, Miss Coy and the game had reached the eleventh tee with both having made excellent scores. Mr. Donnan who is noted for his splendid driving sent the ball on a direct line over the fairway and noted the little white pellet approach the game itself. Then he lost track of it. Picking up his clubs he walked down and searched for ten minutes thinking he must have over-driven the green. His companion, however looked in the hole in passing over the green and the ball was resting at the bottom of the tin.— Mr. Donnan was naturally surprised and any golfer can readily realize the thrill that was his. The 5th hole is two hundred and ten yards from the tee and although plenty of players manage to reach the green on their first drive, few have ever made the hole-in-one stroke. Mr. Donnan will be the recipient of several prizes for his feat. Mr. Donnan is said to have been playing golf for several years and although he has reached the peak of the game he has expressed the opinion that he "will not retire on his record."

Messrs. Alf Legault, Lorne McGonnell and John McGee are the only members of the Belleville Club to make a hole-in-one and these came on what was formerly the third hole.

MRS. W. PONTON SUSTAINS HURTS

Mrs. (Col.) W. H. Ponton had the misfortune to be thrown from her horse while riding yesterday. She sustained an injured hip and was taken to the Hospital where an X-ray examination of the injury will be made later today.

Mrs. Ponton was riding her horse on the bridle path when it stumbled and she was thrown forcibly to the ground. She is at present resting fair ly comfortably in the Belleville General Hospital, under the care of Dr. Conacher.

It will be remembered that Col. Ponton was able to attend to his legal duties only within the past few days as a result of having been struck by an automobile at the corner of Bridge and Front streets some weeks ago.

BACK HURT WHEN CAR TURNS OVER

When Colonel Pugh, of Outremont, Montreal, drove off the highway on to a gravel road just opposite the Roman Catholic church at Marysville, his automobile turned over on its side, and Mrs. Pugh sustained a severely spraned back.

It appears that the Colonel had left the main highway in order to avoid hitting a second car that was coming down the wrong side of the road, passing another car which was turning around. When the Pugh car struck the gravel road the driver applied his brakes quickly in order to avoid hitting a pole, and in turning sharply, his car turned over on its side.

Traffic officer Hinchcliffe investigated the accident, but the names of the drivers of the second and third cars, could not be determined, as they had promptly driven away from the scene of the accident. Mrs. Pugh's condition was reported as favorable today.

WOMAN INJURED IN CRASH AT ODESSA

An accident that might have resulted fatally occurred at Odessa on Saturday night about midnight when a car driven by Miss Laurenda Campbell was driving from Toronto to Kingston, crashed into the ditch. Miss Campbell who is from the Queen City was rushed to the Kingston General Hospital, where it was found that she had sustained cuts and bruises about the face. Today her condition was reported as favorable.

Toronto Woman Captures Huge Lunge In Waters of Moira Lake

It has remained for a woman to make the biggest catch of the season on the waters of Moira Lake, near Madoc. Mrs. Harry McDonald of Toronto who has been holidaying with her husband at their summer cottage hooked a maskinonge near the railway bridge which spans the channel and tipped the scales at twenty-five pounds. She was sitting in the rear of the boat, holding the line on which the spoon was attached. Suddenly she completed that the hook was caught in the weeds and the spoons proceeded to reel it free when he felt a terrific tug at the other end of the line.Carefully reeling in, he played the huge fish for some minutes and he was able to make use of the gaff hook and the lung was landed in the boat. It weighed twenty-five pounds, measures forty-nine inches from tip to tail and was eighteen inches in circumference. Mr. and Mrs. Ponton have taken the cottage on Gull-van, who were members of the same party were occupying a skiff near by when the lunge hooked itself and made off. This fish story which is true in every sense of the words dis-tells any rumour that the waters of Moira Lake have been "fished dry."

COMING EVENTS

FUTILE THINGS OF LIFE

No bridge can love to love convey;

WENT TOO FAR

A fairly good story comes from Old London. Newspapers there are featuring the fact that the United States Olympic team is just meeting with much success because the members ate too much on the way over, and are continuing to indulge too heavily in their victuals.

Official officials of the steamship company are said to be somewhat worried owing to the size the story has reached. They intended it in the first place just as a nice little bit of free publicity, no doubt with the idea of showing that the steamer President Roosevelt served very tempting meals.

The reporter who secured the story, given out by the chief steward of the liner, worked it for all it was worth. The enthusiasm carried them far beyond the bounds of showing that the menu was quite all right. They went ahead to show that the supply of ice cream, which was supposed to last until the trip was through, had been gobbled up already, and that the manner in which steaks and chops had been polished off the platters was calculated to put such a load in an athlete that he wouldn't be able to shuffle his feet fast enough to make a record in the games.

All the average newspaper man, who is used to receiving many such bids for free publicity, the story is rather amusing.

The officials of the steamship company saw a chance for a nice little story, which would point to the tables of their vessel as being well supplied. The reporters have jumped on it as the explanation for every work on the Olympic track.

The steward was after a little free publicity, onlythis time he got more than he expected.

NORTHERN PARK

A new national park is to be opened this month by Premier King, which will have an area of about 1,600 miles, situated north of Prince Albert, Sask., Edmonton, and to be called by the name of that town. Little is known by the majority of Canadians about the northern part of the western provinces, the general conception being of an illimitable bleak area, where none but the hardiest can survive. It is also another an erroneous conception, of course, which the establishment of these wonderful national parks should do much to dispel. Jasper park, in Alberta, has become deservedly popular and famous throughout the world. The thousands of tourists from all parts who annually visit there spread a better knowledge of the geography of Canada abroad. It is hoped that Prince Albert park will do the same for Saskatchewan, for the locality is very beautiful, and an ideal playground for those in search of rest or recreation.

Gradually the truth about Canada's delightful climate is being learned. There are still some people who regard Canada very much as Mr. Rockefeller regarded the line—as having length without breadth; but the northward thrust continues and the neglected regions, with their vast potentialities, are coming into their own. The tourists and their camping outfits will be followed by more permanent settlements. It is a revelation to the Easterner to visit the West (and to Toronto, for which, grow up in the Western) as late as the fall, flowers are in full bloom with fruit of a size and quality which can scarcely be matched in more southern localities. There is a great and beautiful empire waiting to be conquered in the north, of enormous extent and inestimable value.

CHARACTER SCHOOL

Three Eton boys, one the son of a poor, have been requested to leave the college for violating rules by being out of bounds tonks and betig on Pram tree Hormond to sell liquor. It appears that the boys went secretly on airplane flights, were guests at a popular Thames resort and changed from Eton suits to ordinary clothing, which, as defined by school regulations, was "masquerading." That the facts were considered important enough to be cabled across the Atlantic as news is a compliment to Eton College. This famous institution has a history of more than four centuries to live up to It was founded by Henry VI., and received its first charter in 1440. In the following year the buildings were begun, and were completed in 1563. It is a public school that has a record second to none in the world. From its classrooms have come scholars, statesmen, churchmen, ambassadors, and soldiers including the Duke of Wellington, whose remark that "Waterloo was won on the playing-fields of Eton" is historic. In the World War 5,000 Etonians served and 1,150 made the supreme sacrifice. Honor is the school's watchword and masters and pupils alike are determined to keep that honor unsullied. The youths who have been asked to leave probably acted out of bounds. They did nothing reprehensible, barring the breaking of bounds. They did violate Eton tradition and regulations, however, and for that they have been punished by the school authorities. The incident will tend to confirm the general conviction that Eton College is a British institution of character where boys are safely trained in the way they should go.

"Madam," he said, politely, "are you shopping here?"

The woman looked surprised.

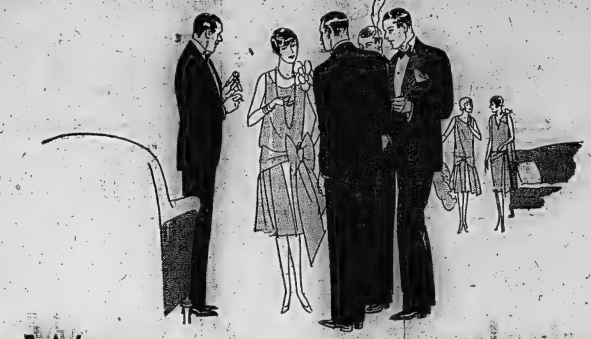

"Certainly!" she replied, "Whatever else should I be doing?"

For a moments the assistant hesitated, then blurted out: "Well, madam, I thought you might be taking an inventory."

WALL, CAVED IN.

When Symons and Hall, proprietors of the old Ballmeral Billiard Room, moved into their new quarters which adjoined it, the latter, having recently vacated, they moved just a few days too soon. No sooner had they started to clean the place up, preparatory to getting settled when the back wall, which also supports the roof, fell in. It is believed that the damp weather of the last few weeks had weakened the mortar, with the above result.

UNITED CHURCH EXCURSION.

Many people from Belleville and vicinity have signified their intention of taking the Cobourg to Port Dalhousie excursion tomorrow, which is under the auspices of the Young People's Association of the United Church. Chamberlain and Forbes are sending a large number on the excursion, and all that is needed to make it a success is for forgotten care to be left behind, a fine day, and plenty of time to Cobourg in plenty of time for the trip by boat.

TENNIS COURTS READY.

Men are busily engaged at the present time at the Bay of Quinte Country Club laying the top cover on the new tennis courts. After some delay the work was commenced about a week ago, and now the top covering is being laid, with plans being made to use them on Wednesday. These courts will be almost the finest between Toronto and Montreal when completed, and although it is a little late in the season for the players to commence to play, next year they should clear some weighing in their leagues.

HIT AND RUN REPORT TO BE MADE.

A Hydro pole was broken out on College street in front of Albert College on Sunday morning about 1.45. Until the person or persons who caused the damage, did not report it and it is not known yet who broke the pole. The police are investigating the affair.

STREET DANGER SIGNS.

Although every week for the past month or more has been on account at the Overhead Bridge just west of Trenton, there should be little excuse now for motorists to miss the turn. The Department of Highways have erected three large danger signs directly in the lie of the road, where there formerly was only one, and unless the driver absolutely disregards all these warnings, there should be little danger.

REPAIRING RELIEF.

Due to the wearing effects of time and the weather, the stone pillar at the north-west corner of the Church Church belfry has cracked open and workers are busily engaged in taking out those stones which are loose and are cementing the pillar back in its original solid position. The work will be finished by the end of the week.

EXCURSION TO ROCHESTER.

Yesterday saw another boat excursion to Rochester when the Steamer Hamilton of the St. Peter-in-Chains Church of Trenton held their annual picnic. Many from the city took advantage of the low rates for a day's sail over beautiful Lake Ontario, and all report having a fine time, even though the weather was threatening.

PLAYGROUNDS BUSY.

Belleville's playgrounds are now in full swing, after little over a month of activity. Children find plenty of things to occupy themselves with at the playgrounds, and are out of mischief and off the streets, and consequently out of danger. Both Victoria and West Hill playgrounds are under competent supervision, and the parents can rest assured that their children are safe when they are at either place.

ELEVEN CAUGHT.

Eleven speeders were summoned by Traffic Officer Hinchcliffe over the week-end. Five of them were tagged yesterday.

REMANDED AGAIN.

Joseph Richardson and Anthony Rooney, claiming Ottawa as their home, appeared in court again this morning on a nominal charge of vagrancy and were remanded for trial.

HASTY SIDE CALL.

The fire department was hurriedly called to the Belleville Creamery on Saturday night, but when the firemen arrived it was found that somebody had ignited a bonfire in the Creamery yard. No damage was done, and there was several cans put to the vicinity of the bonfire. The party who was responsible is unknown.

CAME POSTPONED.

The baseball game between Napanee-Leafs in a scheduled Bay of Quinte League game on the Armouries lawn tonight. The Beavers have won their last two starts and hope to dispose of Hilton tonight. At the present time a tie exists between the three teams, the Belleville Ontarios, Beavers and Napanee, and the winner of tonights game will assume the championship. Gray will likely pitch tonights game for the Beavers, with Elton Thrasher doing the catching. The Beavers are the Cahan Motors team a great battle, in both games yesterday and are ready for the invasion of the Napanee club. Fans will be well repaid for a trip over to the Armouries tonight. The game starts at 8.30 sharp.

of letters which appear below which have been received from various citizens will perhaps enlighten Mr. Mikel as to how the public views his grotesque arguments.

Belleville, Aug. 7, 1926

The Editor—The Intelligencer.

Dear Sir—

I would congratulate you on the stand you have taken in the press protests recently in justice that has been perpetrated by our police magistrate. I have discussed the case with a great many citizens during the last few days and I have yet to meet anyone who disagrees with you. The only people whose plea for leniency should carry any weight with Mr. Mikel would be the men who are so badly injured and I haven't read any where that they made any such plea. I don't believe that they could or are willing so, nor that they could be grateful to Mr. Hannan and Mr. Keeler for calling it upon themselves to plead for the offender.

Mr. Mikel's judgment in this case reads like something you would hear at a comic opera. One can imagine a scene and a dialogue something like this on the stage.

"Sal so you were driving a car while drunk, eh! And you careered madly along the street and nearly killed half a dozen citizens, eh!

"Well, don't you know that's a very serious offence, Sal, you've been a very, very bad boy.

"Voice from the court-room—But he is a man, sir!

"What's that! what's that! a man, you say. Twenty-five years old, tut! tut! a mere boy, a mere boy!

Now my boy this all comes from the vicious habit of carrying matches and chewing gum and not going to Sunday school and church regularly, and being out of the house after nine in the evening; I am sure if I ask you to be a good boy and mind your little toy, and stay in the house at nights, that I will be punishing you quite enough and punish you severely.

Can't you imagine the roars of laughter on the part of the audience at the comic aspect of the thing. That is all right for the stage or theatre, but I think we are all agreed that we don't want any comic opera police magistrates in real life.

I notice, too, that it was reported in your paper that the government was paying the expenses of the men who were injured. If this is true, I should like to ask in what right does the government, (by which is meant, I presume, the Department of Militia and Defence), have any money to pay for the damages committed by a drunken murderer. Does it always do this? And if not, why do so in this case? If the Department officials have been prevailed upon to do this, think they have acted very unwisely, and very unjustly.

I hope that from now on Mr. Mikel will carry with him the impression that the citizens of Belleville want him and expect him to hand out evenhanded justice, fearlessly and courageously, without mixing any sloppy sentimentality with it.

Yours truly,

H. J. PARKER.

MATING CALL SOUNDS UP FROM THE DEPTHS

By DR. LEWIS E. BUSCH,
National Psychologist.

If there is any subject about which more lies have been told than any other, it is Love. In fact, the so-called "love instinct" seems to motivate everybody and everything.

Novels, plays, stories, poems and songs have love in them to gain a hearing. Sex, child and dream about love all our lives.

What is love, anyway?

Why love he or she—as it happens?

What do we mean by that?

We probably mean that when a person is in love he or she—as it happens—is making to involve any faults in the beloved object. Or, if the faults are recognized, they are largely passed over and do not influence the lover to any appreciable degree.

That's correct, of course. The beloved is always over-idealized, placed on a pedestal and worshiped.

In true love reason flies out of the window. Love is an abandon of the spirit that scorns consequence. Love is hope. Love is full of anxious fears. Love can make us angels as well as devils. Love can exalt us as well as debase us. Love can bring out the best. Love can beget the worst.

Sexuality has no place in love.

Love is sacrifice.

Love can stimulate. Love may paralyze.

Love cannot be concealed.

Yet, love is all of those things and nothing but more! Nothing is so contradictory as love.

Because love is what it is, it defies analysis. As Shakespeare wrote, "O, how this spring of love resembleth the uncertain glory of an April day!" Yet the expression of love is an absolute necessity! It is no exaggeration to state that without love even the race cannot prevail!

Behind and activating love lies, of course, the love instinct. Instinct is the longing to mate and reproduce the kind that cannot be stilled.

Motherhood and fatherhood may be defended or condemned, but they can not be denied.

If love were not blind, if it were not so fearless, if it were less contradictory if it were more calculating, what do you suppose would become of the human race?

Nature is wise and perhaps love is just about what it ought to be after all. But one must consider——

Is that perhaps its greatest charm?

Is not perhaps its greatest charm? Is that why it continues to intrigue us despite disappointments? Is that why we continue to go back to it even when it has seemed to play us false?

I am not prepared to answer these questions by a categorical yes or no. It's all too complicated.

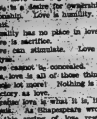

So far love has defied even the researches of psychology!

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To prevent soggy fruit pies, beat the white of an egg and before filling, brush the sides and under crust with it, then sprinkle with grated bread crumbs. Do not moisten and add filling and put at once in oven. Putting in the sugar when the pie is half filled also helps to keep fruit pies from being heavy.

Fine orange or lemon flavoring for cakes, puddings, etc. When using fresh orange or lemons, pare and cut very thin (do not get any of the thick white inner skin), and put in a glass jar and cover with sugar. When sugar has absorbed enough oil to become moist, it is ready for use and will keep indefinitely.

Orange or lemon flouring—Do not throw away orange or lemon peel, but dry it in the oven after removing all the white inner skin. Grate the yellow part or put it through the food chopper, using a fine knife; use it for flavoring cakes, applesauce, pudding sauce, cake frosting, or wherever flavoring is required. It gives a delicious taste.

Sour Stomach

Sweetened instantly

Just a tasteless dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in water. That is an all-but effective, yet harmless. It has been the standard anti acid for 50 years among physicians everywhere. One spoonful will neutralize at once many times its volume in acid. It is the right way, the quick, pleasant and efficient way to kill the excess acid. The stomach becomes sweet, the pain departs. You are happy again in five minutes—any druggist's.

MUST THESE LITTLE ONES SUFFER FROM FLIES?

Not only the tantalizing torment . . . but the danger of dread disease . . . and even death. Flies are the filthiest insects known. They must be killed. FLY-TOX is the scientific insecticide . . . easy to use . . . fragrant . . . harmless to people . . . guaranteed.

CHAPTER 10.

PERPLEXITY.

Trma Brockton was determined to be friendly, and Marguerite welcomed the diversion during those days of her one life when she was alone all day, pining for her parents, for the beautiful outdoors, and, the pets that she loved. There was so little to do in her apartment, where her servants looked after everything. She was painstaking about her household duties and regretted that there were so few. In the evening she was always prettily dressed, awaiting Hal with her coffee, tray and he was always polite, but bored. Before Irma's gay presence, was somewhat to hold Hal's eyes, though they had little in common. Irma took the initiative by inviting the young Reynoldses to dinner. Hal told Marguerite to accept.

"Anything is better than sitting around here all the evening," he was cruel enough to add, without really meaning to be cruel. "But I wish you'd play around with Lydia Conwerse!"

"I never know what to say to her," apologized Marguerite.

He grinned—one of his rare grins in those days.

"You don't have to bother about that, Lydia will talk enough for two."

The Brockton dinner was abominably served and badly cooked. Marguerite wondered how Steve Brockton himself could stand for it; How Hal could eat with such gusto! She saw that he was enjoying himself enormously, and when, after the coffee, Irma turned on the phonograph, he danced with her with evident pleasure.

"Do you care to dance, Mrs. Reynolds?" asked Brockton. "I'll have to warn you in advance that I'm an absolute incompetent myself. My wife absolutely refuses to dance with me when we go out together."

"I'm sure I'm much worse than you could ever be," she laughed. "You had so little opportunity to learn, except at school."

"Then come into the library, and I'll show you some new books I've bought. That is, if you won't be too bored."

"I should love to see them; she replied. So they adjourned to the library, where, he showed her several old volumes he had picked up in a second-hand shop down town.

"I'm not very keen about the new stuff," he explained. "Books are friends, and one likes to feel that the volume one holds has been read and appreciated by other human beings who think and feel as we do."

He picked up a book at random, opened it, and began to read aloud.

NURSES know, and doctors have declared there's nothing quite like Aspirin to relieve all sorts of aches and pains, but be sure it is Aspirin — the name Bayer should be on the package, and on every tablet, Bayer is genuine, and the word genuine—in red—is on every box. You can't go wrong if you will just look at the box!

Tablets Aspirin Genuine

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trade mark.

"Look at them!" she exclaimed dramatically. "Wouldn't you just know that Steve is riding his hobby, if he has an appreciative listener?.....

"I am enjoying this, really," declared Marguerite truthfully. But Brockton closed the book, looking a trifle confused.

"I'm sorry. I didn't mean to monopolize you. I hope Mrs. Reynolds doesn't mind!" . . . . . interrupted him, lighting a cigarette. He turned to Irma. "Shall we try that last record again?" he asked her.

When he and Marguerite returned to their apartment, she said shyly:

"Did you have a good time? They're very nice people, aren't they?"

"Irma? Charming, but he's awfully bore. However, you were a good little sport to play up to him."

"But I enjoyed it."

"I know that I don't meet your requirements as a—a wife, but, honest, I try, Hal."

He shrugged. "If only you'd let Lydia Converse take you in hand! What's the trouble? Don't you like her?"

"I think she's very beautiful," Marguerite responded, "but she frightens me a little. I guess she's too clever for me."

"A superficial cleverness, my child. Don't let her fool you. But she has her points. Try and cultivate her."

Marguerite telephoned Lydia Converse's studio the next day and asked if she might come to tea that afternoon. Lydia could. Over the wire that was frightfully busy, but any other day would be satisfactory. So Marguerite went to the nearest tea room in the park and sat long in a secluded glen. She encountered Irma Brockton at the elevator. Then she returned. Then later looked at her queerly.

"Why, weren't you there, too?"

"Where?" queried Marguerite in surprise.

"At the Ritz for tea."

"I—I had no reason to be there." Irma looked a little bewildered.

"It's not my place to make trouble. But . . . your husband was there with that insufferable Converse girl. I know her methods. . . . If I were you, I'd treat him to a scene when he comes home!"

Marguerite went up-stairs, perplexed and bewildered. Why couldn't Hal have tea with an old friend? She didn't mention it when he returned for dinner. Nor did he!

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Printed chiffon for dresses have never been lovelier, and the new designs and colors for fall would send an artist into ecstacies; for flowers sprawl big over a sheer fabric, autumn leaves in every conceivable form and color, sprays of berries, tropical fruits, all the latest inspirations of 'art moderne' —these are only a hint of what to expect.

Long mitts of silk lace which reach to most to the shoulder and look like long tight sleeves are offered by several Paris dressmakers as a suggestion for the formal costumes worn at the race course on sunny gala day, and the mitts come several inches short of the shoulder and permit women who have scanned summers at southern beaches to display their brown arms without wearing short sleeved dresses, which are to be a smart afternoon events this summer.

ROACH EATS BEDBUGS.

Washington, D.C.—One redeeming trait has been found for the cockroach —he eats bedbugs.

But that, say entomologists at the Department of Agriculture, in relating the discovery, does not make the cock roach the choice of the two. If anything, they give the breaks to the latter.

"It is not recommended," they hasten to assert, "that cockroaches be kept for eradicating bedbugs."

SINCLAIR'S

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl in my early teens. Am in love with a boy about seventeen. He has never asked me for a date but smiles and speaks to me when he passes.

Do you think he cares for me Please advise me what I can do to win him.

PRETTY LILL.

PRETTY LILL: Similes do not necessarily indicate any deep emotion. Lill, just be as charming as you possibly can be whenever you meet the young man. Take an interest in the things that interest him. Couldn't you have some of your friends to your home for a little party and include the young man in your invitations? Then perhaps when he sees you in the environment of your home life, and sees how charming you really can be and if am sure, you are, he may ask to call After that, well it will probably be up to yourself to obtain and hold his interest.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going steady with a girl I am very much in love with. Over some recent trouble with this girl's sister, her father has refused me the pleasure of seeing her.

I think of her constantly and cannot get off of my mind. I have apologized for my part of the affair, but it did no good.

I know lots of girls whom I could go with, but I do not enjoy their company since I have met this one.

WORRIED.

WORRIED: If you have apologized as you say, Worried I am sure I don't know what else you can do. However, the girl must obey her father and not see you, so the wisest thing you can do is try to forget. Go out with other young people and time will eventually either make you forget, or bring about a reconciliation.

When making jam, add one tablespoonful of glycerine to each pound of fruit. This will prevent crystallization an dthe jam will keep better.

BELLEVILLE TIE WITH DELORO 3-3

Teams Play On Soggy Field At Northern Village

Rain and lack of regulars didn't stop the Belleville Soccer team from journeying to Deloro. Rawden, Williams and Robinson took the places of Gorman, Cross and Colegough. On arrival at Deloro the teams decided to play although the ground was in bad shape, pools of water lying upon the ground. Deloro kicked off but Belleville was soon attacking and soon Knott shot by. From the goal kick Deloro attacked but Taylor and Hatfield kicked clear. Brown then obtained possession on the left wing and centred for Cousins to beat Rawden for the first goal. Williams made a good run for Belleville but his centre went by. End to end play followed. Nice combination by the Belleville forwards put them on the attack when an offside spoilt the movement. Soon afterwards Norridge went in and scored for Belleville. Deloro now attacked but the visitors' defence was equal to any kick given against Belleville resulted in another goal for the home team. Caldon shot at goal and Rawden failed to hold the greasy ball and Cousins netted, making it 2 to 1.

Belleville tried hard to equalize. How ever made some good runs. Kennedy drew shot but Murray listed away. Belleville by good forward combination kept the home team on the defensive and Knott forced a corner which was cleared and half time came with Deloro leading 2 goals to 1.

For the second half Hatfield and Williams changed places, Hatfield going to the left wing. Belleville kicked off and Howard went away on the right wing and shot by. From the goal kick Robinson kicked ticked across to Hatfield who centred and mouth. Kennedy scuuilled for Belleville from a pass by Knott in the goal ville. From the kick off end to end play followed first Belleville and then Deloro attacking. Both teams seemed evenly matched. Keegan put in some long kicks for Belleville. Brown then broke through and centred and Crowe rushing in beat Rawden at short range. Deloro kept up the pressure and the visitors were hard pressed. Robinson gave a corner and Taylor headed away. A free kick was given against Hatfield was cleared. Belleville forwards again got possession and took the ball down the field by nice footwork and eventually Knott centred down to the centre. Belleville were attacked hard when the whistle blew for time, Score 3 Belleville 3.

The teams were:

Belleville		Deloro
Sanders	backs	Taylor
Caldon		Hatfield
Hart	halves	Robinson
Lorbern		Keegan
Knott	forwards	Williams
Hoskin		Knott
Brown		Norridge
Brooks		Kennedy
Groves		Howard
Brown		J. Hatfield

Fifteen-year-old Dorothy Kennedy of Dixie, Ont., was killed by lightning during a violent electric storm, one of the worst which ever swept a large part of the district around Toronto, almost ruining standing field crops, barn, went straight through, and ran down the ladder, striking the child on the head and knocking her to the floor, twenty feet below. Death was immediate.

TITLED FARMERS POOL BOOSTERS

Wales And Other Men Prominent Members of Democratic Pool

Blue-blooded Britishers who are taking up Western land in increasing numbers, are evidently strong supporters of the democratic pool system of marketing. Among shippers to the wool pool, operated by the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, are the Prince of Wales, who contributes his clip from the P. P. Ranch at High River, Alberta, and also the first consignment of the same Province. The popular Prince is also a member of the Alberta Wheat Pool, which he joined last year. Just recently another British nobleman signed a wheat pool contract. This personage is George Bridges Harway, eighth Baron of Rodney, who operates a thousand-acre farm east of Edmonton.

Hired Man and Cook

Lord Rodney is a 1919 graduate of Oxford. On their arrival in Edmonton they hired out as "hired man and wife" employees of a bachelor farmer near Fort Saskatchewan. While Lord Rodney did the cooking, her husband worked as a farm hand. For a whole summer they cooked, slept and worked from sunup until sundown. A few years later Lord Rodney became a farmer in the district and has since increased his size to 1,000 acres. This is a "real farmer and tells as hard as most of his neighbors."

Another Royal Member

Another British peer who is a member of the wheat pool is the Duke of Sutherland. The 1,700-acre Sutherland farm at Brooks has been under a pool contract for a number of years. The Duke of Sutherland's farm at Brooks is one of the show places in that district. The land is irrigated and the farm beautiful with large areas of trees.

POOR MUSICIANS NOT APPRECIATED

Chicago, Ill.—Musicians in general and saxophone players in particular, whose harmony is not of the best, should avoid West Africa in concert tours.

Blitzing the mouth of musicians faulty in this regard is a favorite practice among savages in the Cameroon country, West Africa, says Wilfred D. Hambly, assistant curator of African ethnology at Field Museum.

Other African methods of jubilating the musician who produces displeasing sounds, Mr. Hambly said, were biting off his ears or chopping off his hands.

But the saxophone is unknown in African wilds.

She Gained Weight at, With McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets

You remember of course—but so long ago she was a regular scarecrow—skinny is a mild word for the way she looked.

Just look at her now—if ever a woman had a perfect figure she has it—she is the envy of half the girls in town.

It's nothing to get excited about—all she did was to take on weight—fill out the hollows in face, neck said chest—any skinny, weak, run down woman can do the same and gain a clean, clear complexion at the same time.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets or 2 one dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your druggist is authorized to return the purchase price.

Ask any good druggist.—Adv.

FOSSILS FOUND BY EXPEDITION

In Mongolia; Fossils of Pre-historic Carnivore, the The Claim

New York, N. Y.—Important discoveries of fossils of prehistoric carnivore in Mongolia are reported by Roy Chapman Andrews, leader of the Fourth Central Asiatic Expedition of the American Museum of Natural History. In a letter to Dr. Henry Fairfield Osborn, director of the museum, The expedition seeks primarily, the "cradle of the human race."

The letter contains an account of how Dr. Andrews was wounded early in May when his revolver was accidentally discharged while he was attempting to shoot an antelope.

Among the more important finds reported in Dr. Andrew's letter to Dr. Osborn are a fragmentary canine tooth of the eudinoceras, a premolar of the eudenoceras, and other fossils which indicate that "we are fast getting a good collection from the eocene age, the earliest part of the age of mammals."

The first eudinoceras tooth was found by Dr. Andrews on June 1, 1922. In September of that year Dr. Osborn found another. The eudinoceras, Dr. Simpson said, should resemble a hippopotamus rhinoceras although there was no relation between them. With the femur found by Dr. Andrews it may be possible to reconstruct a skeleton, or at least to fix the approximate size of the eudinoceras, it was declared.

The andrewsarchus, Dr. Simpson explained, was the largest land carnivore that ever lived having been larger than the Kodiak bear, which is the largest living carnivore. It was said to be about 6 feet 2 inches tall and from 12 to 15 feet in length.

Dr. Andrew's letter, which was dated, "Shara Murun (Mongolia), May 3, 1928, in camp," follows in part:

"We are in the midst of our daily sandstorm and the dust drifts in so thickly upon my paper that it is difficult to write. We have been here for twelve days and never have I seen such infernal weather in Mongolia. Every day such terrific and gales that we only sit in the tents while a yellow cloud swirls about us. Everything is a mass of sand-guns, cameras beds—we are simply smothered in it. Nevertheless we have managed to put in some hours working and in spite of the storms have discovered some good things. Max Young found a remarkable titanotherе skull, quite unlike anything Granger or Thompson know. A river bed deposit has proved to be a rich quarry and bird bones, carnivore skulls and many other things are plentiful.

"We got through the brigand area without trouble. We spent one day near Tarin's place while I visited a Mongol prince, Sunnit Wang, in whose province I will be panting the camels next Wlolor. Then we came straight here. The camels of 125 camels arrived on the same day that we did.

"After getting the party at work I made a five-day exploration westward to find a suitable trail for the caravan to follow. Then I returned and got the camels started two days ago, (May 1). They will go on as fast as possible and we will overtake them. We'll spend a-Bother ten days in this region and then start west. In the meantime I expect to explore the country between here and Iren Dabasan and will leave this letter at the telegraph station hoping some one will take it out.

"A short exploration toward Iren Dabasu has shown that there are great areas of beautifully exposed sediments and that they contain such deposits of fossils. Probably there is no limit to the extent of our search. We will stop here again this September and work more, but I want to get started westward soon.

"We are earlier in the field than in any previous year. Thus far, all our plans have gone like clockwork. I laid out the whole program for getting away last January and the machinery moved exactly to specification. We were very fortunate in every way.

"The camels are in fine condition—Tserig I have made the caravan leader. All the staff is keen and we have a happy family in camp. This fortnight has been very trying because of the continual sand storms, but they have stood it well. I know of few things more nerve-wracking. However, all of it will be glad to start west. The deposits here are very rich indeed and we feel quite sure that they will warrant a party working here all next Summer. We will almost certainly leave some men here.

"This quarry is particularly important because apparently it gives a complete exhibit of the fauna of the region. Rodents, insectivores and other small things are well preserved as are the larger specimens. A fine premolar tooth of Andrewsarchus has turned up, terms of Mudroceras, also canine tooth of same. I am hoping we will get some petrosic stuff before the quarry is exhausted. There seems to be weeks of work in it still waiting to be done. We'll have another go at it in September.

"You will not hear from us again till about September."

ABOLITION BACK SEAT DRIVERS

Peter Jones, an English inventor, has an idea about abolishing back seat drivers by facing them in another direction than they now occupy. Jones has built a car with the car entirely encased in glass and facing to the rear. This arrangement he claims gives the rider a better view and keeps him from getting excited over what the driver may be doing.

The invention resulted from the kindness of Jones. He was never comfortable while watching the driver. To keep his nerves steady he made him sell a car looking to the rear. Now he wants the world to join him in the use of it.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little needs at times. All your little worries prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do herself, physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sugar coat other than Baby is perfect relief. It has a magic in ingredients. Yet you have cured your child, without the use of a single narcotic drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain; you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crying pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

BELLE THEATRE

Belle's admirers had their silent days cinematically, but the talkies came to their own. The Crimson City, which features Myrna Loy, with John Miljan, Louis Wolheim, Matthew Betz, Anders Randolf, Hulin, Anna May Wong and Richard Tucker.

The Crimson City is a vivid and thrilling romance of the china coast, picturing the love story of Nan Yu, Chinese slave girl (magnificently played by Myrna Loy), and Gregory Kent, an English refugee, whom she rescues, nurses to health and finally surrenders to the white girl, who is his former sweetheart.

REGENT THEATRE

"The Little Snob," a Warner Bros. production, starring May McAvoy, is now playing at the Regent Theatre. This delightful comedy is a Robert Lord adaptation of an E. T. Lowe, Jr., story. It was directed by John Adolfi and includes in the supporting cast Alec Francis, Robert Fraser, Virginia Lee Corbin, Doris Miller and Frances Lee.

May McAvoy is cast as the daughter of a Sunday Island plowman. Out of the old man's savings he sends her to a fashionable boarding school where she takes on airs and begins to consider father and the rough-neck boys of Sunday Island days quite beneath her notice.

How the rough-neck thrashes the snob and how she learns to turn up in wrath, how the rich friends evaporate, and a score more acquaintances of the days of poverty are amusing as well as most humanly gripping comedies of the season.

A fire which threatens to destroy the richest relic of Acadie in the world, in Pennsylvania, has been burning since 1858, in spite of every effort to extinguish it.

SHOULD TEACH THEM HISTORY BY MOVIE

Montreal, Que. (C.P.)—If Canadian children could have history taught by the visual method of the movies, they would never forget it. And a love for the great past of their country would be inculcated in them which nothing would ever destroy, said Miss Alice George, educational director for a Hollywood studio, when interviewed here.

"Just imagine, if they could see people dressed up like Jacques Cartier and Champlain and Frontenac actually landing here and then doing the things they did. Then would the Canada of today instead of being told to study pages 25 for home work tonight—can't you just imagine how thrilled they would be."

Hollywood is a much maligned place and its folk unfairly judged, Miss George contended. She described the town as one which people from many countries have chosen for their homes, and said the average movie actor was a devoted husband and father, and an extremely hardworking man.

NO REASON FOR LION MAN-EATER

Cannot Be Said Why Beasts Suddenly Turn That Way.

Strangely enough, in spite of all the hunters and natural history writers, we know but little of the lion's domestic life, writes a contributor to Current History. He has never been known to fight for a mate in the troop in a way where one lioness only accompanies half a score of males.

No one can say why adult lions and deadly forsake their usual antelope or other meat, and take to human beings exclusively. When the Uganda Railway was being built a pair of man-eat ors appeared at Tsavo Station to inaug rate a reign of terror which, eventually suspended all construction on that im portant line.

BEAVERS DIVIDE WITH VISITING OSHAWA LADIES

Babe Vincent Pitched Splendid Ball In Last Night's Game

Belleville, Beavers divided their double-header with the Oshawa General Motors team yesterday on the Armouries lawn. Two of the fastest games of the season were played before a fair delegation of fans. The visitors took the first half of the holiday attraction while the Beavers captured the night-cap affair. The score in the first game was 11-8 while the Motorettes grabbed the verdict in the evening tilt.

Misses Knoll and O'Neill supplied pretty catches in the first, game and "Smiley" Meisner knocked a home run. Miss Doolittle pitched the first seven innings while Mollie Gray completed the pastime. Miss Elliott opposed her on the hillock. The Beavers started well but the Oshawa team gradually cut down their early lead. Johnny Kerr umpired at the plate and "Twig" Woodley on the bases.

Second Game Pitched.

The second game was a different story and local fans were given another peep at the renowned "Babe" Vincent of Peterboro, who had the visitors in the palm of her hand most of the way. Miss Vincent fanned seven batters and it was not until the seventh inning that the Oshawa team were able to get within striking distance of the blue-shirts. The Beavers had scored four in the first and clinched the game in the ninth when Madeline Kelleher knocked a home run to break up a slow pitching duel. It was one of the best games of the year and this time it was Misses Knott and E. Elliott who made the feature plays. Miss Cringle was sent to the mound by the Oshawa manager and she is one of the finest hooting pitchers to step on the local diamond this year. It was a splendid game and the finish was especially thrilling with Miss Kelleher poling out her long home-run. Ken Codling umpired at the plate and Woodley on the bases.

She thought it would be too expensive

The old lady was so hungry for the sound of her daughter's voice that she made a desperate resolve — she would call her by Long Distance!

She had never before spoken over a long distance line, but the operator was kind and helpful. In a moment the beloved voice was sounding in her ear.

And when the telephone bill came she found the call had cost only 45 cents.

Now the Sunday evening talk to the absent daughter is a regular thing. More—it now costs only 25 cents, for instead of asking for her daughter by name, mother gives "Long Distance" the distant number—hence the charge (after 8.30) is only 25 cents.

SCHOLARSHIPS RESULTS KNOWN

C. P. R. Boys Will Get Free University Training at McGill

Montreal—Announcement of the successful candidates for the two free university scholarships offered by the Canadian Pacific Railway have been made by the head offices of the company here, the names given being Stanley T. Rudkin, son of the C. P. R. station agent at Sawden, B. C., and Gordon F. Allo, son of a foreman in the Angus Shops, Montreal.

The scholarships entitle the winners to a year's free tuition in the Faculty of Arts in McGill University, and four years tuition in architecture, chemical, civil, mechanical or electrical engineering, and are open to employees enrolled on the permanent staff of the company under twenty-one years of age and to minor sons of employees.

The winners are determined through the regular matriculation examinations held at McGill University and various other centres through out the country. The candidate making the highest average and complying with the requirements of admission are awarded the scholarship. Ten scholarships are maintained by the Canadian Pacific Railway at McGill University, a few of which are reopened each year.

OSHAWA AND KINGSTON SPLIT A DOUBLE-HEADER ON THE HOLIDAY

Belleville Have Three Remaining Games In O. S. D. L.

Belleville Nationals have one more game at home and two more away and the schedule will be completed. The team has three games remaining materially alter the standing as Deloro and Peterboro are practically out of the running. Delora have already clinched the outer pinnacle and cannot be routed from there while Belleville have firmly established themselves in first place and are certain of being in the play-offs. The Central League has but a short time to go and it looks like Oshawa and Belleville for the championship. Jupiter Pluvius was master of ceremonies over the week-end and turned the tap at Kingston on Friday previous to the Delora game and spoiled any chances of playing. Yesterday, however, the games at Kingston proceeded and the double-header was played. Kingston taking the first half by a score of 5-0 while Oshawa captured the second 12-1. This practically eliminates Kingston, and Oshawa and Belleville will likey hook up in the finals. Whether the series will be the best two out of three or the best three in five has not been decided. Belleville should walk through the series if the results of the season's games mean anything. The Motors have been the Nationals jull once although they ran into tough luck on at least two occasions down here. It will be a merry session and Manager Walter Gerow is grooming Gibson and Ukrainki to hurl in the series. Belville hope to have sture the remaining three games, two with Delora and a postponed game with Peterboro. Saturday's game with the Pelss will be played in Belleville. Fournier pitched the opening game yesterday for Kingston while Matthews twirled for Oshawa. Dabby had it over his rival handcuffs like the proverbial tent yesterday afternoon.

DECIMATE HERD OF SEA LIONS

Vancouver, B.C.—Sea lion hunters report that they are at last making some progress towards the elimination of the herds of salmon killers that have been a menace to fishermen off the British Columbia coast for years.

In the past seasons when the Canadian government and Province called away for the sea lion rookeries prepared for slaughter it mattered little though the number of animals swelled them each successive year, but now the Divenchy has returned to port with the news that the rookeries seem comparatively depopulated. Even at that the Givenchy accounted for 1,143 sea lions on the trip. In previous years the killings averaged about 2000 a trip.

Passing of the sea lion is dictated by the stern business of salmon packing in which there is little room for sentiment. For many years the sea lion herds have been a picturesque feature of coast cruising, but their doom has been ordered by the fisheries department as part of a campaign to predestruction of the salmon runs. The seal is regarded as a serious menace as each animal is said to account for a dozen or more edible fish daily.

The Givenchy leaves for the rookeries every spring with a machine gun mounted at her bow and on the approach of the vessel to the lion-infested islets, lead is sprayed among the animals, usually packed in close formation, so that the slaughter is carried out on a wholesale basis.

During the last few months a protest has been made against the policy of exterminating the sea lions, it being contended that the animals are not such a serious factor as some fishing interests claim and that in reality they are an aid to the industry by killing

INTERNATIONAL MEET

Washington, D.C.—Invitations to 46 nations from President Coolidge as authorized by Congress, to send one or more delegates to an international conference on civil aeronautics at Washington December 12 to 14, have been issued by Secretary of State Kellogg. The conference will be held in connection with the 25th anniversary of the first aeroplane flight by Orville and Wilbur Wright at Kitty Hawk, North Carolina.

Information also was sent to the foreign governments that the account ical industry of th United States has arranged to hold an international aer nautical exhibition in Chicago the week preceding the Washington conference.

The average time taken for the blood to circulate from one arm to the other is 25 seconds, and makes the round trip from the heart and return in three and a third minutes.

The Church is represented in the House of Lords by two Archbishops and twenty-four Bishops.

COLORFUL PAGEANT OF N. A. COLONIES

Paris.—(C.P.)—Next year Paris will see an historical exhibition of the French colonies in North America. It will include among others, Canada, Louisiana, Newfoundland and St. Pierre and Miquelon, and consist of documents, autographs, engraving books and maps recalling the various features of colonial life and retracing the work of France in these various countries.

The General Committee, presided over by M. Gabriel Manoteaux, has decided that the exhibition will be held in April and May in the fine building of the Geographical Society, the former hotel of Prince Roland Bonaparte.

CHINAMEN NOT EXCLUDED HERE

Malay Peninsula Welcomes them with Open Arms as Citizens

Vancouver, B.C.—Asiatics may be a menace to Western Canada and be agress with the exclusion, but A. P. Agar, of Singapore, knows one country where Chinese are at a premium.

Mr. Agar, passed through Vancouver recently, states that throughout the Malay peninsula the Chinaman is welcomed as a valuable citizen.

Although thousands of Chinese have been admitted already to the country no fear is held for its integrity, he advised. In Singapore alone, there are 250,000 Chinese, which is five-sixths of the population.

"The Chinaman is a natural trader," Mr. Agar continued, "and many thousands of immigrants have engaged in commerce on the peninsula. The Malay, the native, is a lazy fellow, but the Chinaman is a hard worker.

The Chinese as well as nearly all the other races of the settlement are represented on th Legislative Council which shares the executive power with the Governor, Mr. Agar said. Although complete native self-government has not been seriously proposed, education and the knowledge of such experiments in governments in Ceylon has increased the desire for it.

Chinese are engaged in shipping, the principal business of Singapore, and they are also interested in the growing and marketing of rubber. Many of them own estates, and a still larger number do coolie work on the plantations.

SAY BEAN IS A HELP TO HAY

May Be Harvested When Pods Full; Similar To Clover

The soy bean, a crop known in countries of the United States and commencing to get a foothold in Canada, makes a very good class of hay. The Department of Agriculture has issued a pamphlet on soy beans in Canada that gives a very good idea of the uses of the crop. The soy bean, like clover, makes a heavy hay that is relished by live stock. It is ready for harvesting any time after the pods have developed until the leaves begin to turn yellow.

Best Time to Cut

C. P. McKenzie of the Forage Crops Division says that the best time to cut is when the pods are well filled, when the highest yield and best quality are obtained. After being cut with the ordinary hay mower it is left in the swath for about a day, or until the leaves are thoroughly wilted. The practice in this respect is about the same as with clover. When wilted it is raked into windrows where it is allowed to cure.

Thorough Curing Needed

After two or three days, if the weather has been favorable, it should be put into small cocks for further curing and drying. Thorough curing is need ed to prevent spoiling in the mow. The hauling and handling require to be done carefully in order to preserve the leaves, while the life most valuable part of the feed, as much as possible.

An aerial taxicab service with meters which will record the charges per pass enger every two-thirds of a mile is to be started in Buenos Aires.

PILES GO QUICK

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Rold, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Rold has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. J. S. McKeown and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Rold with this guarantee.

HISTORIC PAGEANT

First Rehearsal Called For Armouries Lecture Room Thursday

Belleville's Annual Fall Fair will be held this year on the 28th, 29th, 30th and 31st of August. According to Mr. R. H. Ketchenon, secretary of the Fair Board, entries are streaming into his office this year in much larger numbers than ever before and added to that is the fact that they have been coming in for the last six weeks which is much earlier than usual.

More show horses have been entered this year both in the light and heavy classes than ever before, and the entries in this particular class are greater than at any show held for three years.

Horse owners who have never exhibited their equines in Belleville have filed their entry forms and more are expected to arrive.

The racing program will consist of eight different events, and $2,350.00 in cash prizes, will be awarded. There will be nine bridle the 2.10, the 2.14, the 2.19, the 2.24, the 2.30, the 2.35, the 2.40 and the free-for-all. Belleville fans in the races will see plenty of speeding in the racing class in the four days, as two races will be run each day and usually four or five heats are run to decide a winner.

Professional vaudeville will be a part of the afternoon program and it will probably be pulled previous to the pageant. It is said that the pageant this year will be ended by a display of fireworks, which are supplied by Professor Hale of Hamilton. The pageant of the John B. Rogers Company of Fostoria, Ohio, and the first rehearsal will be held soon. All in all it looks as though the Belleville Fall Fair will be one of its best years.

A meeting of the Pageant Committee of the Belleville Agricultural Society was held in their rooms at 319 Front Street last night. Judging from the number present great interest is being taken in Belleville's historical pageant, and the organizations have signified their intention of furnishing the talent required in the various episodes.

Charlie Hands the chairman announced that the first rehearsal would be held in the lecture room in the Armouries on Thursday evening. The director is expected to arrive in the city today. Costumes will be supplied for 500 performers.

STOCK MOVED TO NEW QUARTERS

Stephen Licence Will Occupy Store Vacated By James Finn

Stephen Licence, after ten years of successful business, is moving from his present store at 333 Front Street to the quarters originally occupied by James Finn, shoeman at 384 Front street.

Mr. Licence has been forced to seek larger quarters in view of increased business and an ever-growing clientele. The past two years his business has assumed great proportions, and there is a distinct possibility that it will grow greater.

Mr. Licence announces that his store will become one of the agents for Dominion Tire Depot's in Ontario. The proprietor will still handle Cleveland bicycles and a complete line of Spalding sporting goods. Mr. Alex McClashan, who has been with Mr. Licence for eight years will continue with the firm.

LARKIN MOOTED AS SUCCESSOR

Despite Denials London Journal Affirms His Appointment

London, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable)—In view of the denials by Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian High Commissioner in London, that he would be the next Canadian Minister at Washington in succession to Hon. Vincent Massey, the following, in today's issue of the Truth Weekly publication, is of interest to Canadians.

"Hon. P. C. Larkin will be much missed in London, which he left, last week. He has not very popular, even for a millionaire. In that character he will be less conspicuous at Washington, no matter whether his successor as High Commissioner will inherit his office furniture, said to be the richest in London and his Turkish carpet, one of the finest in the world."

STORM SWEEPS FLORIDA COAST

Residents of Fort Pierce Barricade Selves In Homes

Miami, Fla., Aug. 8.—With a tropical storm that has been raging off Florida coast centered near Fort Pierce, the residents of that city were reported to be barricaded in their houses early today when a brief report was received from that section shortly before all communication was cut off.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8.—The Florida east coast from above West Palm Beach, to Melbourne, 100 mil stretch, was battered today by a tropical hurricane which distressed shipping, isolated towns and brough damage to property.

The anxiety was expressed over whereabouts of the palatial "Havana Special" of the Florida east railway which was five hours overdue, at Miami. It had last been heard from on leaving Fort Pierce last night.

CRASHED GATES AT OLYMPIC STADIUM

Amsterdam, Holland, Aug. 8.—A portable typewriter, cable blanks and a rich American twang to a single sentence were the predentials of the champion sob sister of the ninth Olympiad. For ten days he passed the gate-keeper with flying morning. I am an American correspondent.'

Today, at the swimming stadium a newspaper man, hyrsander said 'What' paper do you represent?'

The 'gate crasher' stared. He didn't know any other English words. He was eliminated.

SEVERE INJURIES IN AUTO WRECK

Car Turned Turtle In Loose Gravel Near Wellington

Clifford Cleaver of Wellington was badly injured and is now in the Picton Hospital as the result of an automobile accident this afternoon which was being driven by a neighbor's boy, George Jackson, turned turtle when it struck some loose gravel near his home at Wellington.

The car was a complete wreck and Jackson was badly shake up and received several bruises. Mr. Cleaver who recently had undergone an operation in the Picton Hospital sustained a fractured collar bone, several deep cuts from flying glass and had his left arm broken in three different places. The car in its plunge into the ditch turned completely over twice, and it seems a miracle that both passengers were not killed. Dr. Scott of Wellington is attending the injured man.

PETERBORO GIRL IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

Peterboro, Aug. 8.—Hazel Wilson 22 Thomas Street, daughter of Lieutenant Robert Wilson a former member of Peterborough Fire Department had a narrow escape from death last night and is lying in a semi-conscious condition as the result of falling through the floor of a fire escape at the Regent Theatre. Miss Wilson, 22th her sister, was leaving the theatre by the fire escape door on the west side after the show last night when it is supposed that some coins out on the fire escape above and the heavy ladder dropped, striking her on the head.

HALT IS CALLED TO DANCE DERBY

Further Affairs of The Kind Will Be Forbidden

Toronto, Aug. 8.—The Provincial Police received instructions from Hon W. H. Price, Attorney General for Ontario, today to stop the marathon dance in progress at Crystal Beach. The action is taken under Section 222 of the Criminal Code dealing with nuisances which are deemed to be dangerous to the safety or health of the public or to the safety of any individual. This marathon has reached the stage where fatal accidents applies,' said Mr. Price. The Crystal Beach affair, will likely be the last marathon dance held in Ontario for some time to come, as the Government is of the opinion that enough has been said about the matter.

INFANT'S BODY WAS SECRETED 15 MONTHS

Truro, N. S., Aug. 8.—The dead body of a 15-months-old baby was found by the police last night in bed in a two-room apartment occupied by Mr and Mrs Edward Sleet and declared by medical authorities to have laid in the bed for six months. Neighbors complained to the police that the child had not been seen for months. Sleet was arrested and Mrs. Sleet could not be found.

PETERBORO WON BOWLING TROPHY

Defeated Crack Cobourg Rink In Ladies' Tournament

BELLEVILLE THIRD

One of Most Successful Gatherings of Year On Local Greens

Peterboro won the Belleville Cup in the Annual Ladies' Bowling Tournament at the William St. greens only after a hard and bitter struggle with the crack Cobourg rink, which had been a favorite to win the tournament. Eight teams had scored the same number of points at the end of the scheduled play, so it was necessary to play another match to decide the winner.

Besides the cup which will be held for a year by Peterboro, each player was the recipient of an individual prize, the players of the winning rink receiving a silver tray with silver cream and sugar. The second prize consisting of China tea sets, was won by Mrs. Harcourt's rink of Cobourg. These two rinks were the pick of all entered, and consisted of the following players: Peterboro, Mrs. Graham, Miss Allet, Mrs. Hutchinson and Mrs. Coleman, skip. Cobourg, Mrs. Wilmurt, Mrs. Larkin, Mrs. Young, Mrs. Harcourt skip.

Third prize was won by Mrs. Whitby and her rink from Stirling, and each member was given Coldpot pitchers. This rink was made up of Mrs. Bailey, Mrs. Lagrow, Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Whitby, skip.

Fourth prize went to a Belleville rink stepped by Miss MacLean, made up of Mrs. Russell, Miss McKeown Mrs. Riggs and Miss MacLean, skip. The prizes for fourth place were flashlights and for fifth place, which fell to Mr. Mrs. Reed of Tweed, corn knobs. Her rink was composed of Miss Frost, Mrs. Wagar, Mrs. Reed and Mrs. H. W. Ackraman, was drawn Mrs. Reeves, skip.

A special consolation prize donated by Judge Hurley's rink of Belleville, and consisted of China cups and saucers. Mrs. R. J. Wyre and Mrs. J. D. Dewar, ably assisted by Mr. T. J. Hurley and several other members of the men's club looked to one of the entertainment in record time, and their help was greatly appreciated by the ladies.

DRUNK DRIVER GIVEN 15 DAYS

Port Hope Magistrate Imposes Jail Term On Offender

Port Hope, Aug. 8.—Joseph Conroy, Oshawa, who figured in a car accident near Montlin last evening, appeared before Magistrate W. A. P. Campbell this morning in Port Hope Police Court, on a charge of being intoxicated while driving a car and was fined $100 and 15 days in the Counties' Jail at Cobourg.

Conroy, in a very dishevelled condition, and apparently suffering from the effects of his accident, pleaded guilty to the charge, and no evidence was taken. When asked if he was the owner of the car, Conroy stated that he was not and that it had been loaned to him by a friend. Asked by the Magistrate what he had been drinking, he replied that it was grape wine which he had at another friend's house.

MISSED HIS BOAT AND TOOK HIS LIFE

Montreal, Que., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Because he missed his boat to Europe and because a heart disease was worrying him, Rosin Bilodo, aged 44, hanged himself in the bathroom of his boarding house on St. Urbain street, and was found dead daughter. Acting Coroner Hebert disposed of the case as suicide at the inquest yesterday.

MISSING GIRL IS FINALLY LOCATED

Thomas Matthews Appears On Serious Charge And Is Remanded

Thomas Matthews, charged with an attempted serious offence against a young girl under the age of twelve years, appeared in Police Court this morning and after a short hearing he was again remanded. The girl who had been receiving treatment at the Belleville General Hospital took French Leave on Monday night from the institution and after a search by the authorities she was located last night by the Provincial Police at a home in Point Anne. On Monday night the girl was visited by friends and shortly after they had left the premises the girl she was found to be missing. Patients informed the nurses that the child left her room and accompanied them. The supposition is that friends of the accused persuaded her to leave the hospital and go into hiding until Matthews' trial is over.—The girl is the chief Crown witness in the case. Provincial Police took her back to the Hospital last night and a close watch will be maintained in order that she cannot affect another escape. The police made a search of farm homes before she was finally located.

TRENTON'S CIVIC HOLIDAY TODAY

Excellent Program of Sports Outlined By Chairman

Our neighbor town of Trenton is today celebrating its annual Civic holiday and from all sounds it is one of the best yet. A splendid program has been laid out, which includes baseball, golf games, races for the children in the afternoon, and baseball and golf in the evening. A street dance will be held in the evening and no doubt many from Belleville will take part in this part of the program.

The tables will be set in Governor Park where the community as a whole will be welcome to participate in the evening. The baseball program has been drawn up by Rotarian Wm. Avery, and fine prizes await winners in the various events. Fred Ross of the picnic included a boat trip to the Ile Pelee, but no boat was available and so this was cancelled.

Trenton Rotary Club, Trenton Farmers Club and the Trenton Citizens Band are the guiding spirits of the Community Picnic this year and judging by the whole-hearted manner in which they are working together this year their picnic will be the best yet. When the Trenton Clubs get behind a thing they do not do it by halves and have made a success of it, and no doubt this will be no exception.

VIEWS DANCE AT CRYSTAL BEACH

Joe Milligan Describes Famous Marathon Dance To Scribe

Mr. Joseph L. Milligan of the local plant of the Canada Cement Company has returned from a business trip to Port Colborne, Ont., and while in that town was a witness to the Dance Marathon which is being held at Crystal Beach dancing pavilion. The dance is sponsored by Mill Crandall Dance and "Cash and Carry" Pyle is attracting wide-spread interest and hundreds of spectators crowd every inch of space in order to watch the glassy-eyed contestants in their quest of the almighty dollar. Mr. Milligan stated to The Intelligencer that the dancers continue at a dizzy pace while the spectators crowd the place, but in the best of the night they drag their pedal extremities around the floor at a slower rate. The picture of the ever-revolving figures is not as bad as it is painted and Toronto newspapermen have exaggerated matters on the affair. The dancers continue through the sheer force of will-power and it has reached the stage where it is just a question of endurance and stamina. It is said that a number of prizes are vended on Saturday night when the dance was scheduled to cease. Owing to the fact that dancing is not permitted on the Sabbath the contestants were taken aboard a boat stationed in American waters last Sunday.

GET 30 DAYS ON THEFT CHARGE

Anthony Rooney and D. Graham, who were arrested after a chase by Sergt. Harman and Constable Jackson last week appeared before Magistrate Bradford at Deseronto yesterday and were charged with the theft of a quantity of cigars, candy and cigarettes from Sharp's Garage. The pair pleaded guilty to the offence and were given thirty days in jail by the Magistrate. A nominal charge of vagrancy awaits them here and they will be brought back into their records. They are alleged to have stolen a car at Hamilton and the authorities are investigating on this case at the present time. They gave an Oshawa address at the time.

Collett, Wright's Conqueror, Is Defeated By Australian

TORONTO BOXER WON

Argos' Eight-Oared Loss To United States In Semi-Finals

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—Colin Highlath's stocky sculler won yesterday defeated Wright of Canada in the Olympic sculling race. He was defeated by Pearce of Australia.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—(By T. H. Loudon, Canadian Press Special Correspondent)—The Canadian double sculling team, Joe Wright, Jr., and Jack Guest of Toronto, easily defeated the German pair, Hand and Vogel, in the Olympic doubled semi-final today, winning by a length and half in six minutes, 44 seconds.

The Canadians started with a powerful drive of 32 strokes to the minute and though the Germans broke away at 40 to the minute, the Canadians hold a length lead in the first minute. Wright and Guest gradually pulled their shell down the lead of a length and half at the 750-metre mark. Halfway the Canadians rowing 32 strokes to minute to the German's 36, pulled into a still longer lead.

Then the German pair put on a sprint and came within a length of Wright and Guest but the Canadians held to a steady, 32 stroke clip and safely held the lead, though the Germans continued sprinting to the last half. The German pair, worn out, with repeated spurts, were hopelessly beaten at the finish and the Canadians won by a length and half.

Harry Lee, is U. S. Crew

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 8.—University of California, representing the United States won from the Argonauts of Canada in semi-finals of the Olympic competition for the eight-oared crew today.

A Stirring Finish.

Sloten, Aug. 8.—It was a heart breaking, nip and tuck struggle and United States gained victory over the Canadians by bare half a length. The Argonauts furnished the stoutest opposition which the crimson shirted crew has met so far in the competition.

At the halfway mark in the 2,000 metre course, the winners had a lead of one length but, the courageous spirt carried the Canadians by within one half length in the next 1,000 metres but the Argos just failed to get up in time to overhaul the powerful strokes leads from California.

Down the home of the race the United States coxswain flashed the word which his crew made for a supreme effort of his mate and waved it frantically around his head as the delighted spectators drove the crew to course in a last desperate effort, but it was in vain.

By defeating the Canadians the United States gained the right to meet England for the championship in the finals Friday. The English crew won took the final round by drawing a bye.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—(By W. H. Ingram, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—Apell, of France, gained a close decision over Vincent Oliotta, of Montreal, in the bout of the Olympic flyweight boxing competition today. Ray Smillie, Toronto welterweight, won his second straight victory when he knocked the decision over Lenahan of Ireland, in the 147-pound class.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—The United States double sculls crew of Paul Costello and Paul Costello, beat the Swiss pair of Bochard and Reidel, by four lengths.

Tuesday Bexar Won.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—Vincent Oliotta, Toronto, bantam weight gained the decision over Eglandi, Germany after a fiercely fought battle, which scored several knockdowns.

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—Turuta, Japan today became the Olympic champion in the 200-metre breast stroke. The Japanese swam the distance in 3:4 4-5. Rademacher, Germany was second and Tadefeaw, Phillipines third.

THE WEATHER.

Lower Lakes—Moderate westerly winds, fair and decidedly warm today and Thursday. Upper Lakes—Moderate westerly winds fair and warm today and Thursday.

TO-DAY'S THOUGHT

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Deeds are of less power than the life of the doer.

CLAUDIANUS.

FIFTY YEAR AN EDITOR

W. A. James is the Canadian Station-...Toronto, has been doing a little personal celebrating in his paper ...this week, and why not? ...His life, as we find out, has been divided into three sections; 30 years on a farm; 10 years teaching school; 10 years editor of the same paper, mak-...ing a total of 50 and still able to turn ...out his "copy."

A resume of his experience written by his son, says that in recent years there has been a change in his style; that age he has mellowed; he has, per-...haps a little more tolerance mixed ...with his accustomed vigor and this, is indeed a desirable thing.

Mr. James has been good to his ...town in Newmarkville; he has treated it well, and in turn it has been good ...to him, for we believe he has crossed the ocean some 12 times, has travelled ...and observed keenly all the same time.

We imagine Mr. James selected a good business in which to keep fairly young all the time—young in mind ...even if mere mature in years. With all ...due regard to other vocations, it is difficult to imagine anything that is ...interesting all the time as the newspaper field. Every day is ...new; if today's paper were not just ...what it should have been, next issue ...may be correspondingly ahead; there is always that fresh sheet to look forward to, ...and we imagine Mr. James has found it just the same in the weekly news-...paper.

And now his sons are at hand to ...carry on the business; a very desir-...able family tradition is to be preserved ...in this way.

STUNT WEDDINGS

A New Jersey magistrate has come ...strongly against what might be termed ...stunt wedding. He was asked by a ...couple to go up in an aeroplane with ...them so that they might be married ...in the air, and his reply, in the nega-...tive, they ought to be ashamed of ...themselves for trying to turn a solemn ...occasion into a stunt.

This rebuke was well-merited, and ...very timely. There is too strong a ...tendency in these modern days to ...look for some unusual and exciting ...manner in which to have wedding cere-...monies performed, just for the sake ...of novelty. Weddings performed un-...der these circumstances lose much of ...their true meaning. They lose the ...solemnity which should surround so ...important and scared a service as the ...marriage service. It would be only ...logical to suppose that marriages ut-...tered lightly, in a manner which ...stresses novelty, rather than solemnity, ...would be lightly regarded, and would ...not impress the participants with the ...serious nature of the step they are tak-...ing.

In a world which is losing much of ...its respect for the sacredness of mar-...riage, it would be well to have the ...old customs recalled. There was ...something impressive about the old-...fashioned ceremony which is sadly ...lacking in the stupid weddings about ...which one reads in the newspapers ...almost daily. The New Jersey mag-...istrate—his name is not even mention-...ed in the despatches telling of the ...incident—has set a noble example, not ...only to those who are entrusted with ...the task of consummating marriages, ...but also to young couples who might ...be tempted to look upon their mar-...riage ceremony as a means of attracting ...to some new form of advertising, ...performing some stunt which no one ...else has ever tried before them.

MAGESTERIAL DESCRETION

Police court capers tell of a case where a driver often automobile, drunk and driving recklessly, was taken be-...fore a local magistrate, and fined $25 ...and costs. The incidents in which ...the drunken driver was travelling and ...acting at the wheel in a semi-stupe-...fied state, in one of the principal dis-...tricts of the city. A drunken man at the wheel, in such a case, is a menace to the life of every paper ...man, woman and child on the road, ...whether walking or driving. The hit ...may be driving again today or tomor-...row. Apparently his escape to drive ...was not cancelled.

At Fort William, on the same day as the drunken man's case was before the local courts a speeder was hailed before a magistrate. A fine of $100 ...in all. The speeder's license was can-...celled for six months.

In every city in the West, ...the growing frequency of accidents is ...causing alarm. The Calgary Herald, ...a Canadian firm and vigorous measures. ...There are too many optional loopholes ...in the law. Driving an automobile ...while drunk is an offence, punishment ...for which, should not be influenced by ...the kindheartedness or leniency of a ...magistrate. The statutes should pro-...vide, for compulsory cancellation of the ...license of any automobile driver found ...under the influence of liquor.—Win-...nipeg Tribune.

THE ROAD — AND THEE!

The long road, the white road,
The road to the sunny sea,
The broad road, the straight road,
Oh! that's the road for me.
The smooth road, the speedy road,
The road that leads to thee!

The straight road is a good road
For speedy work and fast,
But give me a winding road,
When you're with me at last!
A wooded, winding, hilly road,
When the summer's day is past.

For on that wooded, winding road
I'm left in peace with thee,
To walk along its hilly length
Beneath the darkning tree.
Oh! then the world is beautiful,
And gaily quiet to me.

And by that wooded, hilly road,
The birds chirp on the bough,
They make a countless, rustling noise
To sanctify our vow.
And all along life's winding road
We'll go together now.

PASSING YEARS.

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

The Belleville Road Club which now includes almost every gentleman cyclist in the city, is arranging for a twenty mile road race, to be run in the near future. Almost all the mem-bers have signified their intention of entering.

A challenge has been received from the Deseronto Club for a relay race from Deseronto to Trenton. The King ston Club are also desirous of having a relay race with the local club from Belleville to Kingston. The locals, ho-lend to take up both challenges after the road race is over.

John Weir, employed on the dredge "Queen" had one of the toes of the left foot crushed by a heavy steam hammer this morning.

The police received a message last night that a score of tramps were act-ing disorderly near the G. T. R. Bridge. Sergeant McCrudden, investigated but could find no tramps.

The cricket match between Oxford and Lydford Lodges, Sons of England which took place yesterday afternoon, afforded a few pleasant hours to the sport loving sons of old Albion. The result was a win by an inning and 33 runs for Oxford Lodge.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

Bobby, (calling host)—I know a find game; let's play at navies and I'll be the Admiral.

Jessie—Highho, but I must be an Admiral, too.

Jessie—Then let's play I'm the Ad-miral's wife—that will do just as well.

S. R. Guggenheim, the New York financier, said on the Mauretania:

"Every man has a different taste-line, his own special tapeline, to mea-sure his fellows by their wealth, the blue-blooded men by their blood, and so on.

"Once an important personage lay very ill, and I said to an editor at the Lotos Club:

"How is Blanc today?"

"Blanc," said the editor, "passed on this afternoon."

"Poor Blanc!" I said. "Worth much?"

"Um—about a column," said the editor.

Seaside Visitor: "Nice of you to say so—but you ought to see me on Sun-days."

Little Girl (who has had a pair of woollen gloves for her birthday): "Oh, mummy, I wish you had bought kid gloves."

Mother: "Why, darling?"

"This kind makes my toffee so hairy."

Customer: "Can you change a pound note?"

Village Chemist (cautiously): "Cer-tainly. How will you have it? In pills or cough-drops?"

He: Chest development, nothing. He got that bulge from patting himself on the back.

"I smiled at a girl last night, and as she passed she gave me a smile in re-turn."

"What followed?"

"I did."

"I was sayin' some good things about you to a man this morning."

"You was?"

"Ya-as. I said you had the best cat-tle an' sheep of any farmer I knowed. An' what was more, I said that pair of hosses o' yourn was the finest in Frank-lin County—with at least $800."

"Whoof you say it to?" queried the flattered foe.

"The tax assessor."

A young apprentice chartered ac-countant was sent to audit the books of a woollen firm.

At the beginning of the audit he bought a nail-length, saying he would pay for it later.

At the end of his investigations into the company's books he wrot the nail length off as a bad debt.

Dean of Women—Did you read the letter sent you?

The Shipped Soph.—Yeam. I read it inside and outside. On the inside it said "You are requested to leave college and on the outside it said "Return in five days' so here I am.

I want some golf balls for a gentle-man, please.

Certainly, madame. What sort does he like?

Well, the only time I saw him play he used a small white ball. But I can not say I gathered the impression that he exactly liked it.

Two dentists who happened to be travelling north on the same train dis-covered they were of the same profes-sion.

Immediately their conversation turn-ed to "shop."

"You know, old man," said the first, "I have mastered the art of being gentle. I've got gentleness down to such a fine point that my patients fall asleep while I'm pulling out their teeth."

"Oh, that's nothing," retorted the other. "My patients always arrange for their photos to be taken when I operate because that's the only time they have such a pleasant expression."

FAREWELL SAID TO MRS. KNIGHT

Popular Member of Ladies' Auxiliary Recipient of Gift

A pleasing event took place yesterday afternoon in the form of a tea at the home of Mrs. Lavin, 131 Hagerman Avenue, in honor of Mrs. Knight who is leaving the city. During the afternoon Mrs. Knight was the recipient of a beautiful Irish linen tablecloth and the following address was read:

Dear Mrs. Knight,—We have called this gathering today to endeavor to express our appreciation of the good work you have done, being one of the first members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the assembly Legion Post 99, and since you have been most willing to do anything you though would help the Auxiliary we ladies cannot express in words how we feel over losing such a good member but we all join in wishing you happiness and prosperity in your new home and we hope that you will accept from the auxiliary this small token of remembrance, hoping you will always remember your sisters of the Belleville Branch.

Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Auxiliary

Mrs C. Lavin,
Mrs. J. Dafoash.

SETTLEMENT REACHED.

An accident occurred yesterday noon about 12:40 when a car driven by Harold Legale, 178 Charles Street, crashed into another car driven by Miss Mildred Jarvis of Burlington, Ontario. Luckily no one was hurt and little damage was done to either car. The matter was settled out of court.

MOTORCYCLE PARADE.

Bellevillians rubbed their eyes yesterday when a cavalcade of ten or eleven motorcycles passed through the city en route to Montreal. The cyclists were all from Toronto, and their were members of both sexes in the party. They stopped in the city for a short time.

FINE BUICK DISPLAY

In order to give citizens of Belleville and District an opportunity of properly inspecting the complete line of 1929 McLaughlin Motor Cars, now in the hands of the Dealers, the local Factory Branch of the McLaughlin Motor Car Company has arranged a special display of these fine new models in the Armouries for Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The spacious Armouries is being handsomely decorated for the occasion, and a good Orchestra has been engaged to provide snappy musical numbers each evening of the Buick showing.

This three day display will thus allow everyone to inspect thoroughly at their leisure these newest and most advanced products of General Motors, both open and closed models of automobiles which represent the last word in the motor car world both in appearance and performance.

KINGSTON CLUB QUITS C. O. B. L.

Faced With Financial Deficit And Drops Out For This Year

Kingston Central League Club through their secretary informed Newton Thompson, Belleville, Secretary of the C. O. B. L. this morning that they have withdrawn from the Central League for this year at least. This means that all games scheduled by the Kingston Club will be forfeited and Oshawa and Belleville will now hook up in the finals for the championship since Peterboro, the fourth team club have not chosen to get in second place. The action of the Kingston Club was only reached after due consideration on the part of the officials and is the direct result of Monday's game with the Kingston Club but and won against Oshawa. Had they won both of these undoubtedly they would have remained in, as they had a splendid chance to beat Oshawa once.

Kingston Club have been favored with very poor patronage this season, the attendance at Monday's double header was meagre and the club is now facing a financial deficit. The club was hard-hit by the weather at the start of the season and the fans did not turn out for the games despite the fact the team was well up in the run ning. It was learned that the club operating at a loss but they stuck to the ship as long as possible. Manager Joe Daley stated that the club had several of his valuable players and new and untried material was used to fill the gaps and some of the youngsters did not measure up to expectations. Kingston was lamented weak in the pitching department and their playing generally speaking was very untidy.

It is expected, however, that the club will be a member of the Central League next season, their clubs realize their position and while it is a regretable fact there will likely be little opposition to their entry again.

Belleville and Oshawa teams will now prepare for the finals which will start within two weeks.

FEAR SENDS WINGS IN A REAL SENSE

BY DR. LOUIS E. REICH

Medical Psychologist

Fear is such a common emotion that it has enabled a great deal of attention to itself. Fear is a great index finger.

An individual may be ever so strong physically and mentally, but once he has fear, he is used, and he becomes absolutely helpless.

To his brilliant James, Harvard philosopher, enunciated a theory concerning human emotions that was received coolly at the time, but has since attained the best of investigation. In short, James said:

Should you suddenly and unexpectedly be confronted by a wild animal in the woods your first impulse would be to remove yourself as far as possible from danger.

In other words, you would turn and run. Then finding yourself running you would realize that you might be attacked and the fright would be fatal.

The same is true for another emotion—blushing. A girl blushes not because she's embarrassed. A girl is embarrassed because she blushes! The flushing of the cheeks comes first—only then comes the emotional reaction.

All this happens with the greatest possible speed—the running, the blush ing, whatever the reaction may be.

In connection with fear another interesting mechanism has been worked out.

One of the functions of the liver is to store up sugar in the form of glycogen. This, is used for emergency purposes, to activate and strengthen muscles when extra strain is put up on the mind and body.

When we become afraid the nervous system carries messages to the adrenal glands—situated over the kidneys—which begin to overexcrete draw sugar from the liver via the blood stream, and stimulate the muscles so we can run faster.

All this sounds, and is, exceedingly interesting. In fact, all the body mechanisms are marvelous.

But a thorough understanding of all the emotions—and how they work, as it were—still remains a mighty problem.

Science has thrown a great deal of light on these mysterious sensations of man in the last decade but much research needs yet to be done and the future will explain many of the emotional mechanisms that seem so battle us today.

However it is well for everyone to try and understand as well as possible how his own emotions work.

That helps toward keeping the emotions in check and not allowing them to overwhelm reason and self-control.

Especially is this true of fear. It can become chronic. It can obsess her individual and make him intolerably unhappy nervously and mentally sick.

Wilful Wives

CHAPTER 11.

THE WIDENING BREACH

The following week Hal and Margaret Re entertained their respective families at dinner. It was a perfect meal in a perfect household, presided over by Margaretine, who looked very pretty in her dainty way.

Mrs. Clover arrived, resplendent in pearls and diamonds. Mrs. Reynolds was cool and remote in white, out of deference to the season.

The contrast made Hal wince inwardly.

"You certainly let me in for the whole basic nouveau riche," he remarked to his father, when they were alone in the library.

Reynolds took a cigar and shrugged. "Don't forget, my boy, that you and I would be practically penniless today but for Glover. I'm still paying your debts, you extravagant young puppy. ....And Margaretine all right. She seems to be an excellent housekeeper."

"If you care for housekeepers—yes."

"Listen here," the older man lowered his voice, "I've heard at our club that you're flying about a bit too much for a bridegroom. Cut it, Hal. It's not playing the game."

"But I can't sit home every night and watch Margaretta sew or look after her household accounts. And we haven't one taste in common—not one."

Reynolds smoked for a time in silence. Then he said:

"Margaretine aren't made in a day, my boy. It takes time for adjustment. And I'm afraid Glover pretty much rushed you two young people into it before you knew each other. The only thing is—will you know how to play the game. Your mother and I gave you that heritage, at least, even if we hadn't much else for you. We lived in terror of your marrying a chorus girl, or that poor pretty—the Converse woman. It's up to you to make a success of your marriage."

"Oh, I'm trying," Hal assured him. "But, Ha hard. I'm used to women with brains and a certain amount of dash. You can't expect me to cherish with glee when I fling myself tied up to a child who'll run a mile to see a cat or a dog or a bunch of silly flowers which all for hours with a book, and be tongue-tied when my friends come around."

Mrs. Reynolds opened the door suddenly.

"What are you two arguing about? You're not very courteous, Hal, to leave your guests."

"All right. I'll go back and listen to Papa Glover tell about his early days in the west, when he wore overalls and they had to live on 'rain stew.'"

His mother waved the remark aside. "Margaretta is looking pale and tired I think the honeymoon was much for her. Now, don't you both run down about when his father and I are leaving. Hal's ingenuous if he will was cut to the country for awhile."

"Nonsense. Margaretta's all right. Leave those two young people alone. It's the best thing for them."

Mrs. Reynolds shrugged and left the room. Reynolds threw an arm across his son's shoulders.

"Come along. Let's go back to the others."

Hal yielded with the best grace he could muster. He found Margaretta in tears.

"Margaretta is dead," she said, in a low voice.

"Really?.... Who was —" Brown.

Reynolds hastily.

"One of my dogs."

"I am—er—very sorry," he murmured.

"Dear Margarette" said Mrs. Glover. "She takes things to heart so. And she was her pets so.

"Very estimable, I'm sure," declared Reynolds heartily.

"In these days, girls hardly stop dancing for death in the family. Heigho, the youngsters! I'm going to be finished with all expensive picture.

I think we should be going," said Mrs. Reynolds, abruptly.

Margaretta bade her guests good night. Hal followed her. She kissed her cheek and received a grateful glance in return. Reynolds patted her shoulder.

"Heredity (YOU) is her capital, my dear boy. Margaretta will be very helping his mother-in-law into an elaborate wrap.

When the guests had gone, Margarette murmured a good night to Hal and went to her room. He smoked for a time, pacing the floor restlessly. Then a burst of jazz from the radio in the apartment under him lifted his head and listen. He hesitated a moment, extinguished his cigarette with a gesture of his tie, and went up-stairs, three steps at a time.

VENDETTA!

Stocchino, a classic Sardinian brigand, an avenger, not a robber, was hunted down and shot recently. This son of a brigand who had been sentenced to 30 years' penal servitude, hi had the vendetta in his blood. Always on the dagger and gun, not in mention minor outrages; a score or 30,000 lire had been set upon his head.

He was 22 years old and had been bold and daring since his boyhood.

During the Great War he had, like all Sardinians, shown the utmost bravery. Once he relieved an enemy trench alone, fighting like a lion. After the war he took to the mountains because he had the vendettas to pursue.

Stocchino proved merciless. When ever he killed a man he left a note on his body: "It was I who did it; now it will be the turn of so-and-so," and the turn invariably came. For eight years the Carabinieri hunted him in vain.

Canada claims to have the largest trading balance per head of any country in the world.

ONTARIO WOMAN BENEFITED

Vegetable Compound Helps Run-Down Condition

Sharon, Ont.—"For several years I used to be very feeling, almost down overwork. One day a neighbor called in to visit with me and while we were visiting she told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she advised me to take it. I had used the only medicine she tried was Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and she advised me to take it. I took the drug store and got a bottle and took it home. I took the first one, then two, then three, and all in all I was very much benefited by it. I felt very much run down in flesh and color and now I am very happy to say that I will tell others who are suffering as I was to take them. Mrs. Lorne Jones, R. R. No. 1, Elmore, Ontario.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To peel apples easily, pour boiling water over apples to be cooked; they peel much easier and it saves fussing later.

For washing potatoes, beets, turnips, celery, etc., use a small brush. It does the work better and saves time and fingers.

Grated cheese does not keep well. The least damp affects it. Keep it in a tightly corked bottle in a cool, dry cupboard.

To Wash Brushes

Dissolve a piece of soda about the size of a walnut in a quart of hot water; dip the bristles bristles downwards in and out of the water, keeping the back and handles as dry as possible. When clean, shake out and hang in the open air to dry. Never stand brushes on their bristles, and dry the latter quickly in the sun or near a fire. Wiping the bristles helps to make them soft, so does the use of soap.

Knitted Wear

Knitted Wear for Sportswear of all kinds offers many opportunities for selection. There are lovely fine Pullovers with a skirt of flat crepe to match, in soft colorings, at $19.95 to $25.00.

Jaeger Suits are shown in the well-known Jaeger qualities of soft yarns, chiefly in pullover styles that are very smart. Priced $15.00 to $27.50.

Knit-to-Fit Suits offer both cardigan styles and pullovers, in some very attractive models, at $13.50 to $28.00.

SWEATERS are filling a bigger need than ever this summer, and there are smart light weight Pullovers as low as $2.50.

Jaeger and other makers Sweaters in pullovers and cardigans at $2.95 to $13.50.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have known a young man for about three years. I went riding with him once and then he never came back for about a year or more. The other night I had a date, and when I got home I found out he had been there to see me. He told my mother he would be back sometime. Mother thinks I should write and tell him "I'm sorry I wasn't home," and I don't think I should. What should I do? I don't want to write because I'm afraid he'll think I'm running after him. Tell me what to do.

T. B.

T. B.: I think it would be quite proper to drop him a little note, my dear, telling him that you were sorry to have missed his call, and hoping that he would find the time shortly to call again while you were at home. He would never consider this rushing after him, as it would be nothing more than the conventional thing to do, when you have missed a call from someone for whom you entertain a friendly feeling.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a high school girl and I have been going with a boy about six months. Every one seems to like him. He is a real sport—although he has told me he didn't care for anyone but me.

He doesn't go with other girls and doesn't like for me to go with anyone else. I have several other boy friends I like as well as I do him.

Do you think I should drop them just because of his jealousy?

WORRIED.

WORRIED: I don't approve of dropping all your friends and going with but one boy until you are engaged, Worried. If the young man is jealous perhaps it would be best to gradually drop him from your list of acquaintances for the green-eyed monster will in time spoil all your happiness.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I was very much in love with a boy but now I do not love him at all. He loves me very much. He is kind and nice to me and I don't want to hurt his feelings. Should I write him a letter and tell him how I feel or what would be the best thing to do.

BLACK HAIR.

BLACK HAIR: The wisest and at the same time the hardest thing for you to do, my dear, is to tell the young man frankly of your change of feelings. I wouldn't write a kiter, for somehow this is the cowardly way out, and I am sure you wouldn't want him to think that of you. So just tell him in as friendly a way as you possibly can, and you will be able to hold his friend ship and respect.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Do you think it would be proper for me to give a birthday gift to a friend that I have been keeping company with for about four months We are not engaged but he has been very nice to me.

If you think I should, please suggest some appropriate gifts.

PAULINE.

PAULINE: The best thing for you to do, Pauline, is to write the young man a friendly letter of congratulation. Or, if you do send a gift, make it some thing very impersonal—a book is the best suggestion.

The New Sanitary Napkin which deodorizes

(For The Women Who Would Be Thin)

Two charming afternoon frock of ivory beige satin-stretched above to a happy medium for the larger woman. The surplice closing in a becoming feature and the girdle, which is set into the frock—with the body and skirt attached to it—gives a snugger and smoother line than the superimposed girdle. But in addition to being slenderizing, the dress is newly chic. The drapery attached at the side and falling below the beading lends smart "movement," as does the rippling flare at the front of the skirt. The tight sleeves, also are well-liked, but the dress may be fashioned without them and with a slight decolletage for evening wear.

B. C. DONNAN GIVES INTERESTING ADDRESS ON POINTS OF THE LAW

Kiwanis Learn of Steps Taken To Mete Out Justice

At their weekly meeting yesterday Kiwanians were treated to an interesting talk on "The Administration of Justice" delivered by County Attorney Bryson Donnan, a member of the local club.

Mr. Donnan explained clearly the various steps in the process of meting out punishment and satisfying justice. According to the Criminal Code, there are at the present time two classes of offences, summary conviction cases, the lesser offences in which the accused has no right of election but must be tried summarily by the magistrate and indictable offences — serious crimes. In the latter case, in accord with principles of British justice, a man charged with such an offence must within twenty-four hours of his arrest be brought before a magistrate and the charge made clear to him; then it is explained to him that he may either be tried forthwith before the magistrate or later by a jury; if the accused elects to be tried later, he has, in turn, the "privilege of being tried before the County Judge's Criminal Court without jury or at the Assizes before a jury.

The speaker pointed out that in most cases both could be arranged when the accused was apprehended, the amount of the bail being sufficient in the eyes of the authorities, to ensure the appearance of the man at trial; there are of course, certain cases in which the prisoner has no right of election, as in murder cases, and in which no bail is allowed.

The speaker stressed the fact that the magistrate's position was not an easy one; each case must be treated differently, and criticism of decisions should not be forthcoming, as is often the case on the part of those unfamiliar with the cases; officials were doing their best to administer justice fairly and should have the support and co-operation of the citizens.

EXPERT DRIVING SAVED THE DAY

Ernest Potter of Trenton Highway Blamed For Accident

When Ernest Potter who resides on the Trent highway turned off the road to go into his own driveway about eleven o'clock on Sunday morning, he failed to take into account what the result that a Chrysler sedan driven by H. McWilliams of Trenton narrowly missed crashing into the Potter car broadside, and only by dint of expert driving was the smash averted by McWilliams.

Potter had been across the road procuring gasoline, and turned out from the gasoline station at Jones' Creek toward Belleville. He proceeded about a rod in that direction and then swung across to the left to turn into his own road. McWilliams jammed on his brakes, and the car swung around, the pavement being wet, and the rear of the body of the Chrysler was badly dented, as well as a fender being completely smashed. It is understood that an amicable settlement was reached.

KI-Y WINNERS TO RECEIVE CRESTS

The pennants and sweater crests which are to be given to the three winning teams in the Ki-Y Softball League were completed by the Deseon Shirt Co. yesterday and are now on display in their front street window along with the License trophy which goes to the winning team of the Juvenile section. Both pennants and crests are done in a two-color combination and the effect is very pleasing.

Twelve crests will be given to each of the winning teams. Captains of these teams are requested to submit the names of the players entitled to these crests, to the physical director of the Y. M. C. A., before this coming Saturday. On Saturday, these players may call at the Association Office and receive their crests and the captains, the pennants and cup.

The Ki-Y Softball League, under the direction of the Kiwanis Club and the Y. M. C. A., enjoyed a very successful season and it is hoped to promote a similar league next year with several added age groups.

DISEASE GERMS CARRIED BY FLIES

Flies Must Be Killed if Infection is to be Prevented

Eminent health authorities say that the ordinary house fly reeks with filth and germs of dread disease. These flies' bodies are covered with fine hairs that are saturated with unspeakable matter. They drag their contaminated bodies over food intended for human consumption. Flies are fond of rotting stuff.

Science has developed a pleasant way to banish this most dangerous insect. Send a cloud of FLY-TOX into high places like air and ceiling, and stale flies crawling on ceilings resting on lighting fixtures or hiding behind bang pictures.

Have the sprayer handy filled with FLY-TOX and shoot those stinging insects such as flies mosquitoes, mothmillers and other bugs invade your home or golden days with an hour's eighty web, a few strokes of the sprayer ends the invasion with death.

FLY-TOX is a clean, pure fragrant liquid which is stainless and harmless to people. It was developed at Battelle Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship.

WALLBRIDGE W. I.

The July meeting of the Wallbridge Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Westover, Mrs. C. Holmes the president presided. The meeting opened by singing the Institute Ode and repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison. Roll call was answered with suggestions for care of linoleums. It was decided that each member be asked to bring to the August meeting donations for the School Fair, "Fish Pond". Miss Muriel Shorey gave a humorous reading. A demonstration in salad making was given by Mrs. C. Holmes and Miss Graham, the salads being a part of the delicious refreshments served later in the afternoon.

A very interesting paper on "The Value of Friendship" was read by Miss Graham.

After extending a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Westover for her hospitality the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

The Value of Friendship

With fear and trembling I approach the subject. How define friendship? The dictionary, usually a source of comfort did not help me here. It is all too inadequate for that peculiar spiritual, sentient relation that arises between human beings, when deep calleth to deep in the souls of men.

We are told that "the great rulers and monarchs in the past raised to a position near them one who we call favorites, but that in the Roman tongue it meant partakers of cares. This seems a truer designation when all is said and done life means not the easy things but our work, the strivings, the labor and discipline of sorrow. But like a golden thread friendship runs through this stern school and the curse of Eden becomes a blessing when shared by a friend.

We will never be able to gauge the exact influence friendship has had on history. Even in our own personal existence it partakes to much of the sub-conscious life. We only touch the fringe as it were and learn certain characteristics. Could we know, it would be very interesting to trace its influence on the lives and actions of the great of many ages. Abraham lost Isaacs have reached us. Just one or two notable ones. Solomon with varied experience tells us a man that hath friends must show himself friend by and speed of a friend that sticketh closer than a brother.

There was a little home in Bethany where the Master spent his happiest hours in the companionship of Lazarus and his sister, gaining strength for the great work before him.

Dr. Johnson lives for scholars today because he had a friend Boswell. Had Tennyson not loved and lost his friend Arthur Hallam, the world of English poetry would have been the poorer. "In Memories" with all its exquisite art and wonderful reflections on life, death, and immortality, telling to all time, the thought and advancement of his age, would have been lost to us.

The human soul is similar to an army. Each has its outposts. The procedure is common to all peoples. To the one who would enter the chief keeps goes up "who goes there?" If the reply is "a friend" the guard demands and they advance, and be recognized. In the wars way, we too, have guards and every body of hosts is entered only on recognition of a friendly word.

Consciously or unconsciously, there is always the challenge. One recognition that here is one who will love and mean us well, the banners are lowered. Here is one to whom we can open our heart and mind with its weight of joys, hopes, fears, cares. Here is rest and relaxation, counsel in doubt. We sweep and dust and put up a brave front for strangers, but the friend goes behind the outward show. Instinctively he understands and his trust braces our courage and brings out the better side of our nature.

For there is an ethical quality about friendship. Motives enter in, whatever failings one may have in ordinary social and business life, in friendship one may play the game. Here mistakes may be forgiven, allowance made for weaknesses, never for sin and intentional wrong, against the existing trust and affection.

One of the delights of friendship is the possibility of form unrammelled intercharge of thought—yet: one can at times delight in a silence, that is symphathetic. "It is one sharpwroth from all the commonness of a good man sharpeneth the face of his friend," when for example meet hearts grow warm, and the mutiknesss in a friend's nature has a cultural effect on our own. We learn to give and take graciously.

Strange associations takes place at times in the life of friendship. It occasionally brings together old and young, wealth and poverty, men and women of different race and creeds, to outward appearance in habits and temperament as wide as the poles apart. A noteworthy example is Carlyle and Emerson, the one hot, impassioned and argumentative also the other quiet, gentle. But these was a common meeting place in the life of the soul.

We learn to be careful about keeping friends. Habits of tact and considerations are formed for there is a certain truth in the old Scottish proverb "that friends eye like fiddle-strings. They maiuns be screwed ever tight."

The question of payment does not enter into friendship. Whe can pay for spirit? Material favors may be measured in coin, but not the "thin" nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and of love.

Time and space may separate us from many of our friends but a deep feeling of joy comes when we realize, at times, that somewhere under far horizons are those whose sympathies reach out to us. Sometimes I think that perhaps in the final analysis, when our work is summed up, it will be well if we can answer life's challenge by saying "I have been a friend" asked. "Did it?" he chuckled, "Say, I'm a son."

SULLIVAN HAD AN IRISHMAN'S LUCK

"Sullivan had Irishman's luck, all right," said Sir Donald Mann recently. He was recalling an offer of control made him of the silver-and Sullivan Mine in British Columbia for ten thousand dollars. He told the property for a whole lot more than the $10,000 I wouldn't give him." "And did it turn out to be a good mine?" Sir Donald was asked. "Did it?" he chuckled, "Say, that was thirty-four years ago, and the Sullivan Mine is still being operated by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, and it's paying them net profits of $13,000,000 a year."

Toasted bread formed a favorite addition to English drinks in the seventeenth and seventeenth centuries. Hence the custom of drinking "toasts."

BELLE THEATRE

An enthusiastic crowd of three thousand people forms the background for the big rodeo scene in the latest Tom Mix production, "Horseman of the Plains," feature attraction at the Belle Theatre for three days beginning tomorrow. Considering that some of these people are city players the story of how they came to appear in the picture makes an interesting narrative. It is also a tribute to the enormous popularity of Tom Mix with all classes of people.

The Mix company had been on location at Prescott, Arizona, for several days taking exterior scenes out in the Mojave desert. The next scene to be 'shot' was the rodeo and Benjamin Stoloff, the director, found that the script called for a grandstand crowd of several thousand people. Quickly gathering the Mix cowboys together Stoloff formed a parade, headed by Tom Mix and two cowboys bearing a huge placard notifying the townsfolk that a real rip-roaring rodeo would take place at 2.30 p.m. at their fair grounds. Admission free.

Needless to say, the fair grounds formed the scene of a tremendous gathering. The entire town turned out in a body to witness their favorite Western star display his skill as a rider. The chariot and auto races kept the crowd on their toes and the final of the auto race found them yelling themselves hoarse for Mix as he tore over the finish line, an easy winner.

"Horseman of the Plains" was made by Fox Films and has an excellent supporting cast which includes Rex Cookitt, Charles Byrds, Lew Harvey, Grace Marvin and William Ryno.

YOUNG KINGSTON OUTFIELDER IS LEADING CENTRAL LOOP HITTERS

Averages Up To End of July Are Officially Compiled

Earnie Reed, young outfielder of the Kingston team, was the leading hitter in the O.B.B.L. for the games played up to the end of July, his average of .360 being the best in the league with the exception of that of Moore, of Belleville, but the latter was in only one game, and up to bat only three times. Reed was closely followed by Spencer Ade, also of Kingston, who has the league mark of the season but fell down in the last few games. Jimmy Golden, of Oshawa, was presented a batting of .356, four points lower than Reed's but second position, and Ade, for the last couple of weeks the real ruler, was made by Wells, of Oshawa, who, after being up among the leaders, had dropped away a hundred points, but is now right with tail hitters, with a mark of .279. Of the regulars Green was the best Belleville hitter with .348, with a mark of .256, while Collins, of Deseronto was his team's best hitter, with .340, and Mastrean, with .318, was the best of the Picton's lot.

Kingston continues to lead the league in batting, with .289, but they took an awful tow in the last few games. They are still hitting only .268, but Belleville boasts better than Oshawa, while Bellevilla are only nine points under Oshawa, Deseronto have improved a little in batting, but are still under the average, with .238.

Young, of Oshawa, by virtue of his long fourth homers, two triples, three long hits, in addition to his singles, is the best slugger in the league, his nine clouts bits being good for thirty-eight bases.

Bickelly, of Belleville is showing the way in stolen bases by having pilfered fifteen sacks, four more than "Butch" Britton, of Kingston. "Kinky" Rose, of Belleville, after leading the league in this department, most of the season, is trailing Britton with nine sacks stolen.

Britton of Kingston, V. Weir, of Belleville, and Johnston, of Peterboro are leading in sacrifice hitting with five each.

In club batting Kingston leads in runs scored with 121, and in stolen bases with 136. Belleville have had most doubles, 26; while Oshawa lead, in triples with eleven, and home runs with thirteen. In fact the Motor City players have hit more homers than all the other teams put together. Belleville lead in stolen bases with 52 and in sacrifices with 22.

The batting averages are:

TORONTO BOX WINS HIS OPENING BOUT

MONTREAL WINS OVER ORIOLES

Hankins Twirled Leafs To a 6-1 Win Yesterday

Baltimore, August 6.—The Royals hopped off on the right foot yesterday afternoon by defeating the Orioles 8-7 in the opening go-to of a three-game series.

Roy Hockaday, hurling shutout ball for six innings, began to lose control in the seventh and after that was wild as a March hare, being yanked in the eighth with two down, Dugan following him and Miller being called into action before the final out was made. Dugan's mound went into the ninth trailing 8 to 2 but before the inning was over had secured four runs, four hits, including a home by Clark and had the tying run on second and the winning run on first when Lamotte fouled to Stapleton.

Dugan had the offerings of Roy Hankins with any consistency, the Newark Bears bowed to the league leading Toronto Leafs yesterday 6 to 1, the leaders. Al Mamaux waged a pitching duel for nine full games, behind second duet with Hankins for six innings, but in the seventh the Leafs hopped on him for four hits and three runs. The Leafs scored another in the eighth, and he was staken out, the game being finished by Reese and Sheridan.

Hankins pitching in the inches by John by Welch gave Reading a 1-0 decision over Vic Keen, of Rochester, in the opening gam cut a series at Reading yesterday. By their victory, the Keys crept into one from Rochester by a fraction of a percentage point.

Miss Babe Vincent, who, pitched for the Toronto Supremes last season, pitched a remarkable game of ball in the second game. Although she has only batted three times this season her form was still of the best. She was responsible for nine strike-outs in seven innings.—Oshawa Times.

BEAVERS AGAIN LOST TO LEAFS

Errors At Critical Times Responsible For The Defeat

MAY DISBAND

Local Team Failed To Appear At Kingston For Game

Napanee Leafs appear to have the Indian sign on the Belleville Beavers and they won another victory from the locals on the Armouries' lot last night by a score of 10-9. The Leafs scored seven runs in the seventh inning to win the encounter in hand and an exciting finish with the Beavers nearly tying things up in the ninth. The game had been closely contested up until the seventh with the verdict very much in doubt. The Napanee team is now leading the Bay of Quinte League with three wins and two losses.

Melille Gray hurled for the Beavers and should have won her game, the ragged support at times of her responsible for the loss. The visitors used two pitchers, Misses Johnson and Douglas. Errors by Pearl Tuttle and Clarinda Cruft spelled Miss Gray's downfall after the former had been leading by a substantial margin. The umpire behind the plate who failed to call Napanee runners back every little about the rules of the game had as a result a devastating influence upon the latter. This feature can do much to spoil a League and it is hoped that the Management will ensure efficient umpires in the future. Ken Colling handled the bases and made a good job of it. Another feature that is the cause of comment on the part of the spectators is the failure to get players away on time. Most of the title do not start until nearly seven o'clock and as a result the majority of are played in semi-darkness which is neither fair to the spectators or players.

The Beavers are arranging for a week-end game with a Toronto team and "Baby" Vincent will remain for the balance of the week and will twirl for the Beavers. It is rumored that the Beavers will disband after this season and Alan Meagher, the present manager, has expressed the opinion that he will retire as playing and business manager. It is stated that all is not serene in the ranks of another local girls' softball team following two defeats. The team was scheduled to play in Kingston on Monday and when some of the girls did not appear it was stated that several hundred spectators at Kingston were disappointed.

CANADIAN LACROSSE TEAM DEFEAT BRITAIN

Amsterdam, Aug. 6.—(By W. H. Ingram, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)—The Canadian lacrosse team from New Westminster defeated the British team today by the score of nine to five. This result completes the schedule series and Canada, Britain and the United States each have three entrants, have all lost a game and won one.

Canada lost to the United States six to three and Britain won from the United States, seven to six in the two previous games.

SportOgrams By "The Observer"

The Nationals play in Deseronto today but it's not about the nature of a friendly call as the game means practically naught to either of the teams. The Deseronto crowd are so far sunk in the cellar they think it's doubtful if they'll ever recover from the shock. Deseronto is a good Intermediate team but that's about all that you can say about them. They won the Provincial championship twice and were runners-up once and they also defeated Belleville last year but they've fouled out their Senior ball is about twice as fast and unless some new players come in the Sterling, village it's doubtful if they'll be entrants to the Senior League next year.

Jack Shea who was counted upon to be a goody member of games has fallen down miserably and that is one of the chief reasons for Manager Conroy's failure to get far. Woods has been one of the most consistent pitchers and while he does not rank at the top, still he is readily regarded by many baseball critics as one of the best in the Central League.

Woods has possibilities, and put a good team behind him and he'll do a whole lot better. He has youth speed and good control the three chief necessaries on the side and with a first-rate catcher he will bring home a good many wins.

Ukronki will probably be Manager Conroy's selection today and the youngster has been showing some good since he joined the local club. Coming here, an unrated rear rookie from High School ranks he has headed the teachings of the master mind behind the ball, William Mills until now he ranks with the best of them.

Gibson is the leading pitcher in the Central League and the boy has improved wonderfully this year. With this pace we should go through to the Ontario finals.

While Belleville have been leading the League all season and have been the king-pins in every department there's no overlooking this Oshawa team in the final series. The Nationals are big favorites to "take" the Motors but the latter might slip over a surprise and there's many a slip twixt the cup and.....

The locals must remember the Oshawa Club has two games to their credit. Should the luck once when Quinn threw the ball over the first baseman's head in the ninth inning and again when the team blew up completely behind the steady pitching of "Duke" Dainty.

"Duke" Dainty has been showing signs of his old-time form now that the warm weather has arrived while Matthews has been hurling steady ball. They not are to be overlooked and the Nationals must not take too much for granted. Besides this the Motors have two of the smartest outfielders in the League in the persons of Reg. Pair and Herbie Wells.

The winners of the Central League will hook up with the Toronto champs and it might be a good idea to extend the series to the best three in five should a delay be faced in waiting for the Queen City winners.

Another suggestion is to have out side umpires officiate in the final series. During the present season there has been a certain amount of "umpire-baiting" and to do away with any controversy along this line why not engage two of the leading arbiters in Toronto. The series will undoubtedly be close and with so much at stake it would be feasible to employ a pair of neutral umps.

Old pitchers must be like old soldiers, Mac. They never die. Lefty Sal. when Mister Hardill was A.W. O.L., the venerable Mister Mackman and Harrison simply stepped out there and showed how games is won, and the result is, Mister Sporting Editor, the boys is back in the hunt, and they can still make it closer than the next second going down the stretch. They was only 9 of the lads out there Sal, and if anybody broke a leg the game was over, but, fortunately, the understandings held out for the whole 18 innings and we grabbed off a couple of games that was needed worse than the parks need some good seats with backs on them.

The bois is showing a refreshing tendency of touching their clouts, and if you got any head for figures — I see the mathematical kind— it shouldn't take you long to dope out the fact that in their last 4 games they has scored 39 runs, which must be a record for any Peterborough st. team for the last 18 years. 10 runs a game is a nice average any way you look at it, and the gang can hey hey anything like that clip for the balance of the schedule they'll land in there for the play-offs with Belleville yet.—Peterboro Examiner.

The Central League didn't get to first base in being satisfied to have the first and second teams fight for the title. Belleville has the first position cinched and Oshawa, unless Dainty breaks his arm is firmly entrenched in the place position.—Oshawa Times.

"Hoot" Gibson is getting the league on fire with his consistency. The Belleville pitcher having won nine games according to the averages; but another victory last Wednesday over Kingston brought the string of wins to ten. Some of the pro scouts will be sending to Ward the Quick, town. — Oshawa Times.

"Duke" Dainty is, of course, Oshawa's leading hurler with six wins and three losses. If the veteran can chalk up a few more Oshawa will be on top of Belleville at the finish.—Oshawa Times.

Speaking of a recent game between the Guelph Leafs and the win City Panthers, the correspondent of the Toronto Mail and Empire has the following to say:

The defeat of the Panthers is due to the masterly pitching of the veteran of veterans, so far as senior baseball play-offs are concerned, Freddy Goyer.

Goyer never hurled more masterly ball in any play-off than he did here recently. Only 21 Twin City batsmen faced him in the nine innings, only five men reaching the runways, one of whom was nipped with a double play. Goyer allowed four hits, two of them of the infield variety, scattered through as many innings, and walked but one man.

It surely would be the wish of many Belleville fans to see Goyer's team hook-up with the Nationals in the Ontario finals. The Nationals are a better balanced club than ever and it would no doubt be a smart pitching duel should Goyer and Gibson hook up. The Nationals are about the best club in Eastern Ontario while the Guelph team is capped in a bitter battle for the honors in the inter-county loop.

One of the largest crowds of the season gathered on the Cricket Field, on Monday evening to see the Belleville Ontarios meet the local Supremes in a ladies' softball fixture. After waiting for over an hour, and watching the Supremes as practice for that length of time word was received that the Belleville team was unable to come and the crowd dispersed with a feeling of great disappointment at the close of Civic Holiday.—Whig-Standard.

Jean Lauzier, the French-Canadian who negotiated Niagara Falls in a rub her bill intends to repeat the performance next year for a prize of $12,000.

UNEXPECTED DEFEAT FOR DON CARRICK

T. Y. Wills Of Belleville Was Aboard Ill-Fated Yacht "Stranger"

HELEN SYMONS RECEIVED SEVERE SCALP INJURIES

Was Enroute To Ball Game At Deloro When Accident Occurred

CARS WRECKED

Motor Driven By Fred Symons Crashes Truck Piloted By Geo. Bailey

While proceeding to the baseball game at Deloro yesterday afternoon, about 2.30, a car driven by Fred Symons, 11 Bleecker avenue, crashed into a truck owned and operated by George Bailey, Reeve of Hawdon, when the latter's machine was cut about the head severely, but no one else was injured. Mr. and Mrs. R. Symons, Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers and Mr. Bob Boyce, 63 Chalmers street were also the other members of the party in Symons's car.

It appears, according to the police, that both Symons and Bailey were on the wrong side of the road at the time of the accident. Bailey was driving up a hill, south of Stirling, while Symons, going north, had just reached the top. Noticing that Bailey's car was approaching on the wrong side of the hill just at the same time Mr. Bailey endeavored to swerve the truck to the right. It was too late.

Both cars are a total wreck. It was stated that Miss Symons was thrown over the windshield, but this was through the windshield, but this was not serious. Mrs. Symons received a cut on her head. Miss Symons was taken to Stirling, and Dr. Ward-Wallace was summoned. In the latter's absence, medical attention was given by Dr. C. G. Cook. The latter today did not believe that the injured girl would be confined to bed very long. She received a nasty scalp wound, and spent a fairly good night. A search of the current last night failed to find the missing hat.

Symons had sustained a fractured skull.

SOLDIER STARTS ON LONG TREK

Will Fight For Pension Which He Says Was Taken Away

Saint John, Aug. 9.—Disabled soldier on way to Ottawa to fight for pension that was taken away from him, tramped on a shovel which Joseph McIntosh, a returned soldier, was spread on a shoulder as he left the city early today, to the Federal Capital in such renewal of his pension. McIntosh is married and has four children in the city while he makes a journey to claim renewal of an income of $1152.78 a month.

McIntosh, who is 31 years of age, stated that he joined up for active service with the 8th Argyle Highlanders in 1914. Later being transferred to the 25th Black Battery at Halifax, and going overseas with that unit in 1916.

He claims to have spent 20 months on active service in France and to have received three wounds during that time. Since 1917 he has been suffering from fits as a result of his war wounds and has been refused a good health certificate. He claims back of the certificate prevents him from getting employment here.

THE WEATHER.

WEST EXPECTS RECORD CROP

Harvesting Should Be General By Middle of August

Winnipeg, Aug. 9.—Western Canada is on the threshold of its 1928 harvesting season, with present prospects pointing to the production of the greatest crop in the history of the country.

Throughout the Prairie Provinces most encouraging progress is being made in all grains, and in districts where cutting has started estimates of wheat yields have ranged from 25 to 40 bushels to the acre.

Recent reports from authorities making their annual field inspection have revealed the crop in varying stages, with the most advanced having completed cutting, and in one instance threshed. Some of the backward areas another three weeks of favorable weather will be required to bring the crop to maturity. The general condition, however, finds the 1928 crop slightly ahead of conditions at this date last year, and binders are expected to be humming over the prairie fields within ten days.

Cutting of barley, rye and oats has been under way in some sections for the past week, with these crops yielding slightly above the ten years average.

While no official estimates have yet been made of this year's wheat crop, the consensus of authorities who have travelled through the western provinces during the past week, is that final figures will show a yield considerably above the 1927 crop of approximately 454,000,000 bushels.

OFFER PRAYERS ON SIGNING OF PACT

London, Aug. 9.—The Archbishops of Canterbury and York today issued a statement advising the clergy of th parish churches of England to offer prayers of Thanksgiving on the occasion of the signing of the Kellogg anti-war pact in Paris on August 27.

"The occasion is a great one in the contemporary history of the world, the statement said.

SLIGHT EARTHQUAKE.

San Francisco, Aug. 9.—A slight earthquake was felt here at 10:25 pm. last night. No damage was reported.

PLUMS SELL AT 30 CENTS QUART

Housewives, buying on the market this morning, bitterly deplored the fact that ripe, very delicious plums are selling at little cents the dozen. Raspberries seem to be practically disappearing, and although one or two boxes of the red variety were offered, blues predominated selling at the low rate of ten cents the box.

A new arrival today was plums, not very fine looking, it must be admitted, but nevertheless they were plums and were offered for thirty cents the quart. Pine looking huckleberries, and quantities of blueberries, went begging at twenty-five cents the quart.

CANADA WANTS IMMIGRANTS OF HER OWN STOCK

Premier Ferguson Finds Improved Conditions In Britain

DISTINCT ADVANCE

Says Ontario Has Room For Twenty-Five Million People

London, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—"I am going back better pleased than ever that I am a British citizen," declared Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario today to the Canadian Press. He is returning to Canada aboard the Empress of Australia, sailing Saturday.

The Premier has been in Britain and through stimulating migration possibilities, the educational system and agriculture since early in June.

"The man is a fool who says the Old Country is decadent," he said. "The next ten years ought to be the best starting in the whole history of Empire development."

Premier Ferguson, who travelled extensively through the scrutch Isles, said he found conditions in Scotland and Ireland greatly improved since his last visit. "It can see a distinct advance everywhere in interest in overseas," he declared. "The pressure of the unemployment problem will bring on itself greater consolidation of imperial sentiment and imperial forces than ever. Canada wants particularly people of her own stock. We do not seek to get only the cream of the population of some people are advocating, but to Ramsay MacDonald's statement in Quebec. We want a fair average of healthy citizens who are prepared to endure hard work. The western lands there are not the city areas where settlers are needed. In Ontario we have room for twenty-five million of the right sort."

POLICE FOILED BANK ROBBERS

Plot Uncovered To Loot Banks In Eastern Quebec

Montreal, Aug. 8.—A plot which the police state involved a wholesale looting of more than twenty banks in the eastern townships was believed thwarted by the Provincial Police with the arrest of John Dunn, alleged leader of a conspiracy to rob the Provincial Bank at St. Richard De Warwick, 140 miles from Montreal.

The trio, Eugene Vincent, Armand Gregory and Roger Gregory, all of Montreal, were heavily armed and had in their possession safe blowing tools.

Information furnished the police and which they used in making arrests was that men planned to rob a string of banks in succession.

PARTIES ESCAPE IN AUTO SMASH

Harold Reid And Max Matthews Passengers In Wrecked Car

While returning from the dance at Oak Lake last night, a Chevrolet sedan having as passengers Max Matthews and Harold Reid, both of Tyendinaga, failed to make the turn at the foot of Desormeau's Hill and crashed into a deep ditch, through the fence, and came to a stop several feet inside the field.

A lady passenger, whose name could not be ascertained, suffered a deep cut on the hand, and the rest of the party escaped with a bad shaking up. The car was a total wreck, and was towed to the Foxboro Garage where it is at the present time. Other parties coming from the dance brought the injured girl to Foxboro where her wounds were dressed by Dr. Ward. Although suffering from loss of blood it is not expected that there will be any serious consequences.

GOES TO JAIL FOR THREE DAYS

Joseph Travers, Front St. Unable To Raise The Fine

Twelve-dollars and fifty cents may not be much money, but it certainly was too much for Joseph Travers, of 323 Front Street, who had to go to jail for three days on account of his inability to "raise" the amount.

Mr. Travers lost his temper yesterday and assaulted Mr. William Argent, of this city. Mr. Argent, who is not half Travers' size, laid an assault against that surely red-headed gentleman, and the result was that a fine of $1 and $11.50 costs was levied upon the hot-headed one. With a wife and child on the way, Mr. Travers found he hadn't got the money and small chance of getting it, so he goes to jail.

Mr. Argent appeared satisfied.

CASES REMANDED IN POLICE COURT TODAY

Two cases were remanded before Justices of the Peace John Hawton and John Elliott in police court this morning. Frank Purdy, of Stirling district charged with being drunk in charge of a car, was remanded until Wednesday, 15th of August. He is being defended by Mr. C. A. Payne.

Albert Howe, of the township of Mayo, who is charged with a serious offence against a woman other than his wife, was remanded until next Thursday.

ENTIRE ISLAND IS DESTROYED

Relavia, Jaro, Aug. 8.—According to reports transmitted by a resident of Tinon, nearby the entire island of Calabuyan, in the Dutch East Indies has been destroyed by an eruption of Rokaindia, a volcano, on August 5. Six villages were destroyed in the fire. The death toll was believed to be nearly 1,000.

Six hundred persons were injured when hit by fragments thrown out of the crater. Further casualties were caused by the submersion of th whole seaboard of the island through the earthquake accompanying the eruption.

BELLEVILLE MAN HAS EXCITING TRIP ON LAKE

"Tom" Wills Aboard Boat Which Grounded Off Scarboro

TRAGEDY AVERTED

Yachting Party Returning From Regatta Faced Severe Storm

Toronto, Aug. 8.—After fighting her way from Oswego, N. Y., to within a few miles of her home port, the ill-fated Stranger, a class P sloop, ran aground in about four feet of sand at the foot of Pellingbrook Road, Scarboro township, last east of Toronto yesterday morning. Quick thinking prevented a possible repeat of the Ile aux Noix disaster of the yachting party—Skipper Harry Strangeer, owner of the vessel; Mate Jim Ryland and Leonard Haines, T. Y. Wills of Belleville, and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Strangeer.

Yesterday the tug Geary, a derrick and scow succeeded in getting the sloop off the sand.

For hours before the grounding a storm fog hung over the lake, shrouding the horizon for all but a distance of 30 feet, and an unfortunate mishap to the binnacle light which illuminates the compass prevented any attempt to guide the boat on a scientific course. Jim Ryland was at the stick when the boat struck the shoal. Skipper Strangeer was below at the time. Both crew members of the boat's crew, had gone below to snatch a much-needed rest.

"Oh, Frank— a steamer!" shouted Mr. Ryland, as not 100 feet away a big freighter bore down upon them. Engine trouble, grating on the keel, and the boat was grounded.

Immediately anchors were dropped. The grating on the steamer's keel and the roar of the waves on the beach were joined in the ensuing din from the right and left anchor cables, but it was only for a moment. The sandy surface of the lake bottom at this point furnished no catch for the anchors and they dragged. The spray flew high as the jib sail was thrown into the water in an effort to steer the stricken craft on boat's keel. Down came the mainsail with a crash. Mrs. Ryland appeared in oilskins ready to do her bit. A situation which would test the nerve of the strongest man found her unafraid and one of the coolest of the party.

THIRTY WERE INJURED.

Lagrange, Ind., Aug. 9.—Thirty persons were injured, three seriously, when a bus travelling from Cleveland, went off the pavement six miles west of here and turned over.

FAIL TO BREAK HUGE ICE-FIELD

Expedition Is Forced To Abandon Attempt At Rescue

Ottawa, Aug. 8.—Four days of battering the great ice fields in Flager and Buchanan Bays, failed to provide an opening for the approach of the S. S. Beothic and the Canadian Arctic expedition to the shut of the Melville Peninsula on Ellesmere Island. The ice pack, heavier and greater in extent than any encountered on any previous voyage cut off all approaches by the water to the farthest north point and as a result the expedition was forced to abandon their attempt to reach a settlement and have their supplies at Fram Haven from where they will be transported to post.

PRESENT PEACE PACT TO LEAGUE NATIONS

Geneva, Aug. 9.—Great Britain officially brought the Kellogg outlawry of war pact before the League of Nations today by transmitting copies of its notes to Washington on the question.

The League also was informed by Britain that the signature of the Kellogg treaty will not involve conflict with her obligations resulting from membership in the League.

MOTOR FORCED OVER THE CURB

Honeymoon Couple From Hamilton Escape Injury At Trenton

When William A. Rodgerson of 74 Cornick street, Hamilton, Ontario, was driving through Trenton this morning with his wife on his honeymoon trip, a near-catastrophe was averted when he was forced up on the curb-stone by a horse and buggy. The accident occurred at the corner of Dundas and Campbell streets. The horse and buggy was turning around at the time and although Mr. Rodgerson endeavoured to avoid striking the vehicle, the horse hit the back of his car, forcing him to drive up on the curbstone, throwing a rear tire and damaging the fender. No injury was caused to either Charles' Way of Prince Edward County, driver of the buggy, or Mr. and Mrs. Rodgerson.

NEW CONSTABLE ON DUTY HERE

W. H. McBrien, a new Provincial Constable who recently joined the Provincial Police at Dagmichie, where he has been living for about seven years, has arrived in Belleville where he will be stationed for a time on instruction duty. Mr. McBrien is thirty years of age and has had no previous police experience, although he was in the army for several years. He was born at Orrville, Ontario, and may be kept in this territory, after his instruction period is finished. He has the reputation of being a clever hockey player in Western Ontario.

DESERONTO CEMETERY CO. ELECT OFFICERS

At a meeting of the lot owners the following were elected as trustees of the Deseronto Cemetery Company: Mayor Leo G. Therrien, Clare W. Malley and Harold M. Rathbun. At a subsequent meeting of the trustees, Mr. Therrien was elected chairman, and Mr. Rathbun, secretary-treasurer of the board.

BICYCLIST WAS SLIGHTLY HURT

Bicyclists who ride on the wrong side of the street usually give motorists a mild form of heart failure and Mr. George Pratt, of New York City, must have been badly frightened, yesterday, when he knocked George Miles, East Bridge St. off his bicycle to the pavement, cutting Miles' hand severely. It is stated that Miles was on the wrong side of the street at the time of the accident, which occurred just opposite the Quinte Cafe, on Bridge Street at four p. m. yesterday.

Mr. Pratt's was not held by the police.

WON 800 METRES

Canadian Doubles Crew Meet U. S. In Olympic Finals Tomorrow

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—Don Carrick, Toronto, was outpointed by Pedro Arevalder, Argentine, in the first quarter finals of the Olympic light heavyweight boxing division bouts today.

The Argentine won the second and third rounds by a substantial margin after holding Carrick even in the first. The result was a surprise as the Toronto boxer was considered one of the most promising contenders for the title in the light-heavy division.

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—Denmark won her Olympic championship today for six metre yachts, today, the Danish craft Nibi showing the way in two hours, twenty-three minutes and forty seconds. Norway was second and Estbonia third.

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—Ok Yu Kwon won the second elimination heat of the 800 metres relay in the Olympic swimming today. Great Britain was second, both teams qualified for the finals.

Sloten, Holland, Aug. 9.—Charles McIlvaine and Paul Costello, the Americans, won their preliminary heat in the Austrians, Lowert and Plesa by two lengths in the semi-finals of the Olympic regatta this morning. The Americans will meet Jos Wright and Jack Guest of Canada in the finals tomorrow. The American time was seven minutes 2 3-5 seconds. The Canadians, who had to row over, covered the course in 7.23 3-5. The only other rowing event today was won by the Swiss four-oared Eath with the Coxswain which defeated Poland and entered the final against Italy.

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—(By W. H. Taylor, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent).—Vincent Cillona, Toronto bantam, lost on points to Isaac Del Real, Africa in the heat as the Olympic boxing tourney today.

The result leaves two Canadian boxers, Ray Smillie, welterweight and Don Carrick, light heavyweight, both of Toronto, in the quest for Olympic honors.

Amsterdam, Aug. 9.—George Kojac, of Los Angeles, won the Olympic backstroke swimming championship today in the Olympic water sports. Walter Laufer, United States, was second.

PLANS PROCEED FOR LOCAL FAIR

First Rehearsal of Pageant Takes Place At Armouries Tonight

In conversation with officials of the Fair Board today, the writer found all "hot up" over the Historical Pageant. Citizens of Belleville in general seem to be taking a new interest in Belleville Fair and the Directors are very optimistic indeed and feel that they are going to please the local public of our citizens this year. They have worked hard to make the Fair a success and have arranged a very extensive program of sports and entertainment. The best Fair sets and Midway obtainable have been secured. Entries are pouring into the Secretary's office as they never have before. All that is required to make this year's Fair a huge success is the continued support of our citizens.

The first rehearsal for the Pageant will be held at the Armouries tonight

SHOULD REMOVE ALL OLD CANES

Annual Spring Pruning Is Advised; Remove First Dead Canes

Pruning blackberries and raspberries may not increase the yield, but it will result in larger berries, and therefore in a good practice.

Annual spring pruning is advised, and the best done early before the new growth starts. In pruning keep in mind that these plants have biennial stems—each bear fruit the year after they are formed, and then die. For this reason it is a good thing to remove the old canes as soon as the crop is picked, but often this is not done, and in the following spring, when I remove first the dead canes, and then the new canes that would bear next year fruit, thin out so that the strongest canes stand six to eight inches apart. Then in pruning the annual varieties of blackberries and black raspberries, head back the strong canes to a height of eighteen inches to two feet, and shorten the side branches to eight to twelve inches, bearing five or six buds each. This should give a strong stocky bush. Red raspberries, which do not have heavy side branches, should be headed back to eighteen to thirty inches, depending on the vigor of the plant and the strength of the soil.

Currants and gooseberries too, do best if pruned annually while dormant. The largest and best fruit is produced on wood that is not over three years old. Pruning, therefore, should provide for thinning out and renewal. Figure on removing all wood over three years old, and leaving as much as possible of one and two-year-old wood.

Cut out canes that bend over so that their fruit would touch the ground. Take out one-year-old canes. Usually little heading back is necessary, but very long one-year-old canes may occasionally be tipped back to encourage branching.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

The Editor of The Intelligencer,
Dear Sir—

I shall be glad if you will permit space in your paper to call attention to the bad language of boys and girls in the streets of Belleville. The writer has discussed this matter with Sunday School Workers, Day School Teachers and Ministers of religion.

Some teachers are of the opinion that bad language is freely used by parents in the home in the presence of girls in school grounds to the annoyance to other children who do not hear such words at home.

Most people will agree that bad words are the direct result of bad thoughts but with children, especially young children this fact cannot be established, because their minds are not depraved.

The very young children receive their "education" from boys and girls of tee age. Then the question arises where do the boys and girls of tees age get their training. Is it not a sad fact that the tees age boys and girls "listen in" when the older folk are supposed to be talking big.

It would suggest that every young person of fifteen years and older over overheard using bad language in the [illegible]

[illegible] of Belleville should be fined by the police authorities and adults should be punished more severely.

No adult will use bad language because his heart and mind is impure; it is only the outward expression of inward, corrupted. Youths or residents will use bad language because of the wrong idea which gets hold of them. They think to talk like the folk they know, increases stature and develops manliness. Young children will innocently use bad words because because they are apt to copy or imitate all they see and hear.

Bad language used by youths and maidens will soon lead to immoral acts, and bad language used by young children will become a habit that may stay with them all through life with evil consequences.

There is no excuse for adults who use bad language. Some might say that it is only a way of expressing themselves. This is not the truth and there is plenty of words in the English language to express all that is sordid and base without the use of words that are foul in their pronunciation.

Then are boys and girls hardly need to know of the sordid and base acts of life ; each less to hear them spoken about in disgusting oaths and curses. Young children of tender years are injured in their minds, sometimes for life through this bad habit.

All adults should set the examples by not using bad language. Youths and maidens must be restrained from so doing and young children have to be taught that there are words which should not be spoken by pure lips.

Yours truly,
ARNOLD BROWN.

ANGORA RABBIT WOOL FARMING

To The Editor of The Intelligencer:
Dear Sir—

Since publication of my previous letter on "Angora Wool Farming" I have been asked for more information on this new and popular industry.

Each Angora after two months of age, is provided with a separate hutch, which should not be less than 2 ft. 6 in. by 2 ft. by 2 ft., and when space permits, 3 ft. long. Many persons, short of room, allow only 1 ft 6 in. for height of hutch, but the extra 6 ins. should always be given, if possible, as Angoras love to stand on their hind legs. Hutches can be placed in tiers of three. No elaborate hutch is need ed. Dry goods boxes, grocery and tobacconists' packing cases, make excellent hutches, with wire-fronted doors.

Angoras eat very little. In the morning 1-3 oz. or 1 oz. of oats or wheat or dry bread. At noon, green food, which, in winter, consists of a finger or two of carrot, turnip or cabbage; in summer either vegetables, grass or weeds. At night, green food. Young growing stock can be fed grain again at night. Water tray is kept in a rack at the side of the hutch and a full grown rabbit will eat a big handful of hay daily.

The first plucking or clipping takes place at six weeks of age. The second clipping at three or three and a half months of age. The third clipping takes place at six or six and a half months of age, and after that every two or three months as it reaches the required length. Use round-pointed scissors to clip the wool, leaving 1-4 inch growth of wool all over the body.

When buying Angoras it is just as important to buy good pedigreed foundation stock as when buying pure bred cattle, or poultry. A cheap animal only just as much to feed and you can't expect to sell breeding stock unless you have the best obtainable. You make more in the end by going in for quality, rather than quantity.

Rabbits are adults at six months. One buck is sufficient for five does. If your space is limited, say to a city yard and small fencing, the guinea-sters, as well as the wool from even a trio of Angoras, would bring in extraordinary returns, since there are four litters a year and the average litter seven to nine. The wool sells from $8.00 to $9.00 a pound.

This industry is being rapidly developed in Canada, as the demand for the stock proves.

Your truly,
MRS. W. H. SPENCE,
Bath, Rd. P.O
Kingston Ont.

While our clinic room is not as large as we would like to have it, we still have room for all the mothers with infants who care to come. And while stressing the care of the infant and the young child up to two years we do not minimize the value of the supervision of the pre-school child, from 2 to 4 years. It has been said "Between the child health centre and the starting to school, the pre-school child lives, moves and acquires handicaps. A very cordial welcome will be extended to all mothers who care to bring their 'toddlers' regularly to the clinic, to be weighed and to be seen by the attending physician if so desired.

OPPORTUNITIES In the Mines

Many mining Stocks have now been depressed far below their intrinsic value, and to the investor with faith in the future of this country, some wonderful opportunities exist today.

From an investment standpoint some of them with an assured long and profitable future, show a splendid yield with excellent chances for appreciation in market value.

For those inclined to the more speculative variety, there are a great many mines that appear to be certainly headed towards success.

The wise investor who takes advantage of these opportunities while the stocks are still depressed, will have reason to be proud of his good judgment later on.

With our string of offices throughout the mining areas we are in a position to give you the latest reliable news.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

WILL PAY HIS FINE.

It's bad form to abuse one's wife, especially in public. Mr. Frederick Tanner, a resident of Station Street, this morning appeared before the bench, charged with being found in an intoxicated condition on Station Street last night. He pleaded guilty to the count, and was assessed the usual $15 fine with $7 costs added. Mr. Tanner will pay his fine.

CONVICTED IN COURT.

Almon DeWitt, of Arkon, New York State, yesterday made the mistake of committing liquor in a public place and today paid a fine of $10 and $17 costs for his error. Mr. DeWitt did not know that it was a forbidden practice to drink in a public place, but quite cheerfully paid his fine. The liquor was confiscated, but his permit was returned to him.

LEAVING TWEED.

Rev. R. L. Webster of Tweed, has resigned the rectorship of the Anglican Church there and will return to take up work in Scotland. The resignation is regretted because of the illness of his wife. Mr. Webster came to the diocese in 1917 and has been a particularly successful clergyman at Parham, Marysburg and Tweed—in the latter place he has been three years. He is an Englishman, educated and trained for the Church in the Old Land.

RIVER'S HIGH MARK.

The River Moira is at it's High water peak at the present time, the height of the water being much more than is usual at this time of the year. Ordinarily in August there is little or no current, and weeds and other refuse makes it a rather unsavory place. The recent heavy rain no doubt are responsible for the high water, and it is to be hoped that the water remains in the same condition for the balance of the summer.

TOURIST REGISTRATIONS.

Tourists registering at the Belleville Chamber of Commerce today were: J. Oliver of Montreal; J. Liddin of New York City; W. McCallum of Smith's Falls; Medians; Hazel F. Hay and Kathleen Fair of Listowel, Ont.

MOTOR SHOW TONIGHT

Tonight, at the Armouries the McLaughlin Motor Car Co. will hold their twenty-first anniversary, and the new 1929 automobiles will be on display to the public. The display will commence tonight and will conclude on Saturday night. No doubt a great many Bellevillians will take advantage of this opportunity to see this advance showing of the new Buick cars.

MANY HEARD SINGER

Many patrons of the Belle Theatre were on hand last night to hear David Richmond, well-known singer, in his rendition of two of the latest hits of the season. Mr. Richard was ably assisted by Jack Denmark at the organ, and the two made a fine combination. This theatre is acquiring a reputation for the features which they obtain, and last night was only one of many special attractions which the management have put on through the summer.

MAGISTRATE AWAY.

Magistrate Millet was absent from the city today and in the Cadi's absence Justices of the Peace John Newman and John Elliott occupied the bench. Several cases came up before the Justices this morning.

RATTLER AT PICTON

Mrs. T. Kennaley killed a rattle snake, three feet six inches long, in Mrs. A. C. Grant's cucumber patch on Mary Street, Picton, the other day. Mrs. Grant was in the act of picking cucumbers and when she saw the snake, screamed to her assistant, Mrs. Collver, a nurse in her home. Mrs. Collver called to Mrs. Kennaley the nearby neighbor, who picked up a shovel, rushed to the scene and with the first blow stunned the snake, and afterwards killed it. The next morning another large snake was seen crossing Mr. Vandusen's lawn on the opposite side of the street. Evidently this was the mate to the one Mrs. Kennaley killed.

Social and Personals

Miss Bessie Clapsaddle left today to spend her holidays in Toronto and Niagara Falls.

N.T. so old Belleville boy is in this city renewing acquaintances for a week or so.

Mr. T. Bain of Kingston is the guest of his son-in-law, Mrs. O'Hara, 94 Grove Street.

Mrs. Jno. MacIver of Marion, Ohio, is visiting her father, Mr. S. Thompson, Shannonville.

Chief Alexander Kidd returned last night after accompanying his sister to Montreal where she will sail for Scotland.

Mrs. Harman is now offering her stock of millinery at greatly reduced prices for bush prong for fall models. 42 1-3 Bridge St. Upstairs Aug 7 24

Mr. Vincent Brennan, of Waterbury, Conn.

Misses Hazel and Irene Grills have returned home after spending two week's camping at Kawartha, Stoney Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Brown of this city accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Joe Humphrey of St. Thomas motored to the Lake on the Mountain yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Spanner and Marguerite of Toronto formerly of C. H. D., Belleville have returned to Toronto where Mr. Spanner has accepted a position as a teacher of printing in the new Technical School.

Mrs. (Dr.) McColl, George Street, and Miss H. A. Hudson, of the Masonhall Apartments, returned Saturday from a three months trip to England. While there, they visited the chief points of interest in the Old Country.

Mr. John Elliott has just returned from Toronto where he attended a dinner given ex-Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald of England, who is a guest of Canada, was the chief speaker. "The Right Honorable Mr. MacDonald gave an excellent address," Mr. Elliott stated to The Intelligencer today. "It was one of the best speeches I have ever heard. I was talking to the ex-prime minister for some time, and he is a most interesting man."

CRAWFORD—COWARD.

Otonabee, Aug. 9.—The wedding was solemnized on July 28, at the home of the bride's parents, of Pearl, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Coward, to Donald T. Crawford, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crawford of Picton. The Rev. Roy Rickard of Pickering United Church, performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a bridal gown of white georgette trimmed with lace, and carried a bouquet of sunburst roses. She was attended by Miss Daisy Watson, of Toronto, who wore mauve taffetta and carried sweet peas.

The bridegroom was assisted by James W. Crimmon, of Picton.

Luncheon was served at one o'clock and immediately following the happy couple left to spend a few weeks at Lawrence Park, Penelon Falls. On their return they will reside in Peterborough.

Guests from a distance included Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Crawford, and Miss Gertrude Crawford, of Picton; Miss Helen Clarke of Belleville, and Mrs. J. Gray, of Peterborough.

FIRE-FIGHTING VETERAN DIES.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—John Robinson one-time chief of the fire department of the town of Yorkville, before it became part of Toronto, is dead. He had been in the fire-fighting service for 55 years prior to his retirement in 1926.

PETERBORO GIRL IS SLOWLY RECOVERING

Peterboro, Aug. 9.—Miss Gertrude Wilson, who was struck on the head by the fire escape of the Regent Theatre while leaving that building by the side entrance on Monday evening, is somewhat improved today. While her head and neck are still stiff and sore, she seems brighter, apparetly recovering from the dazed condition in which she has been since the accident.

BICYCLIST KILLED BY MOTOR.

Halifax, Aug. 9.—George H. Loxdale 28, was struck and killed last night by a motor car driven by Dr. Finlay Weatherbe of this city as the former was riding a bicycle along one of the city streets shortly before midnight.

GROUNDED SLOOP TOWED BACK.

Toronto, Aug. 9.—The sloop, Stranger of the Royal Canadian Yacht Club, which ran aground off Victoria Park Sunday night, has been towed back to the club. The rudder was slightly damaged.

ELLEN TERRY WAS MARVELLOUS PORTIA

The Minneapolis Tribune recalls that "Ellen Terry illuminated her Portia with a humor that twinkled merrily through the story of Shylock's courtship and the masquerade in which she so neatly checkmated Shylock and saved her lord's bacon-factor and friend, Antonio. Portia wasn't realists in the present-day sense, all an Elizabethan prophecy of the modern woman. Miss Terry informed the character with a modernity that surprised and delighted her audience.'

BELLE THEATRE

A story of the sensational havoc wrought by a beautiful woman among the soldiers of a desert outpost in India. The wife of the commanding officer finding refuge from her husband's fury in the arms of a young lieutenant. The husband's bitter vengeance. The murder at the old fort.

A romance that blazes with desert heat! Today at the Regent.

REGENT THEATRE

SIX WINS PLAUDITS
IN LATEST PICTURE

For colorful drama, high powered action and fascinating scenic effects "Horseman of the Plains," Fox Films' production, starring Tom Mix, which opened at the Belle Theatre today, is one of the finest Westerns that has reached the screen this season.

Tom Mix, in the starring role, gives a portrayal that distinguishes him as the "ace of Westerners." The cast is top-notch, including Sally Blane, Hobart Conklin, Lew Harvey, Charles Byers, Grace Marvin and William Ryno.

"Horseman of the Plains" is a story of a man and a girl fighting to save a ranch from falling into the hands of grasping enemies. The girl is a fiery-tempered hoyden, as wild as the winds of Wyoming. The man is a peaceful citizen, roused to the heights of compassion at the sight of the frail girl battling for existence.

The manner in which Mix saves the girl's ranch from the villains takes the audience through a series of thrilling episodes, and gives him a chance to display his prowess as a horseman. Benjamin Stolotf directed the production.

WOMEN DOCTORS HAVE NO SHOW

Opportunities For Female Students In London Greatly Reduced

London.—(C.P.)—The deep concern felt by women's organizations at the great reduction in the opportunities for women medical students to receive training in London medical schools or clinical experience in the hospitals has resulted in the formation of a very representative committee seeking to improve this state of affairs. This joint committee of women's organizations is to promote equal facilities for women with men in the medical and hospital service held a meeting at the Hon. Mrs. Franklin's house in Portchester Terrace. Mrs. Corbett Ashby, president of the International Women's Suffrage Alliance, presiding.

"We think the position very serious indeed," said Mrs. Ashby. "Three of the London hospitals—St. George's, the London, and St. Mary's—which for some years admitted women have now closed their doors to them, and three others—Charing Cross, Westminster, and King's College—while allowing those at present training to finish their course will admit no more. At present one medical school—The London (Royal Free Hospital) School of Medicine for women—is reserved exclusively for women, and the University College Hospital admits not more than 12 women students a year."

It had been suggested, said Mrs. Corbett Ashby, that the Royal Free Hospital could take more students, but already it offered fewer beds per student than any of the other medical schools. "The committee," she said, "feels that medical students should have the choice of attending either a co-educational or a women's medical school. We should press that both type of school should be open."

"The Dominions have their own medical schools, but England is still largely responsible for training women doctors for Eastern and other more remote parts of the Empire." Mrs. Ashby added that the committee of management of King's College Hospital had consented to receive a deputation from this committee to hear its views. The offer to send similar deputation to a committee of the London University Senate had not been refused, but the Senate took the line that it was better for the University to deal with the matter itself.

A member of the committee representing the Head Mistresses' Association spoke of the appreciation shown by parents when they consult a woman doctor on the school staff. She said parents often asked for the address of a woman doctor for their own district, and that it was often difficult to find such a doctor. Another teacher endorsed this.

NEW STANDARD FOR A1 BUTTER

Has Steadily Been Rising For Past Few Years

The standard for first-class butter has been rising through recent years and has now reached a point that can be obtained only by the most thorough methods based on scientific accuracy. The facts brought together at public exhibitions represent the very higher type that is produced. In the past the judging has largely been decided by flavor and workmanship, but it has now come to be regarded that keeping quality must be given due consideration, and a system has been evolved for estimating whether or not the butter is liable to develop yeasts and moulds with long keeping.

Methods of testing for the presence of these growths have been evolved and are so easy of manipulation as to be used in judging the merits of exhibition butter. The dairy and cold storage branch of the department of agriculture at Ottawa has been working on this problem and has brought out a modified score card for exhibition butter. This provides 45 points for flavor, 15 for texture, 15 for composition, 10 for color, 5 for salt, 5 for bake, 5 for package and 10 for yeast and mould count.

By "The Observer"

The withdrawal of the Kingston team from the Central League occasioned little surprise among the ranks of those who have been in close touch with the state of affairs. The club struggled along playing before small crowds and it was known that Joe Daley was ready to desert the ship if the fandom did not lend better support. Daley is a fine manager and a King of Good Fellows both on and off the field and while the club's act is regretted nevertheless the sympathy of every fan in this district is with the club in their financial embarrassment.

Belleville fans have given the National fairly good support but not nearly that which the class of ball deserves. We have a distinct real section of a half-filled stand on all week two occasions when the attractions were of the highest order. Fin ances vanish rapidly when handling a ball team and those fireside and jump-the-fence fans who are the first to grouch when the team loses might take it upon themselves to amble around to the Park whilst for the home games and slip their four bits up to the cashier's window

Peterboro and Oshawa have fared almost as badly as Kingston and the executive of the Peterboro Club have been carrying on under extreme difficulties. It is a shame that baseball should be so poorly patronized in this district where the fastest class of ball in the Province of Ontario is played. Oshawa, a city twice Belleville's size has not lent any great adjount of assistance to the team while Deloro could not possibly carry on if the Deloro Smelting Company did not bear the burden of the finances. Many strange faces are noted in the stands at the play-offs but during the regular season they are a minus quantity. Belleville Ball team needs your co-operation and support, let's have it!

It is stated that the differences which arose in the ranks of the Belleville Ontarios have been patched up and the team will complete the scheduled games in the Bay of Quinte League. The time has come since the advent of girls athletics when certain girls, more athletically inclined, establish themselves as "Stars" in the eyes of the sporting public and as a general rule the applause from the side-lines acts as a stimulant to the well-known disease "swelled head". Managers of girls teams find the road anything but smooth when some of these so-called "stars" commence to ignore orders from any source. If they only knew it, they are only destroying their own prestige with the sporting public. The girl who plays for the game's sake and not for the applause that she receives from the side-lines is the one who really merits the credit.

The Golf Bug has bitten dozens of Belleville citizens this year and we know of one well-known actbe who is smitten with the game that he has little time for his friends any more. This member of the Fourth Estate, was once an ardent follower of Shakespeare, Tennyson and Burns but the works of these have become mouth-backed since the reader has turned his attention to the Ancients and Honorable. The Bug has a venemous bite for which there seems no cure.

Fall Fair dates have been announced, vacation season is drawing to a close and that Autumn tinge is already in the air, all of which reminds us that summer's on the wane and the football season near. The old question arises, "what of Queen's?" Will the Tricolor again rise to dizzy heights and maintain their record built up through the years by Harding, Evans, Batstone, Leadley Billy, Hughes and Orin Carson. The "one and only" Batstone will be lost to Queen's this year through the four-year rule but young Warren late of Western University showed untold possibilities with the Tricolor last year and who knows but what he may be the means of handing the Varsity Blues another licking.

PEMBROKE BOY IS BADLY INJURED

Pembroke, Aug. 8.—Thomas Gorman, sixteen-year-old Pembroke Collegiate student, was killed, while three companions were injured, one of them seriously, when the car in which they were riding ran off the highway into a ditch and turned turtle near here yesterday. Joseph Gorman, elder brother of the ill-fated boy, and driver of the car, is seriously injured; about the right thigh and deeply cut on the head. Albert Macdonald and Claude Keeley, of Ottawa, received less serious injuries and expect to be discharged from hospital tomorrow.

Costly Errors Paved Way For Win By Nationals Yesterday

QUINN'S PLAY

Deloro Now Eliminated—To Play Here Next Wednesday

Its getting to be an old story but it is never quite the same.

Belleville Nationals again took the measure of the Deloro crowd at the Bridge town yesterday, even though "Jinky" Woods did let them down with only two hits. At that, the lone run by means of which the Mats won the game was not earned. One run does not look big, much in some games, but yesterday that one run looked like a hundred, and the boys all battled valiantly to protect it.

Vinny Utrecht pitched the first six innings, allowing only five hits in his stay on the mound, and then retired in favor of Stewart Gibson, who got into the box, took up Regan, toasted Woods up for a single, and from then on not a Deloro player reached first, Both Utrecht and Gibson pitched real ball and were backed up by some nice fielding, but all the credit for the fine pitching of Woods had a little the edge on both, for he managed to get most of the hits the Deloro plate at all, although twice they were in a good position to score.

Woods also did not receive the support which he deserved in the pinches as Belleville's one run came on two errors, without a hit being made. This was in the seventh, Bob Scott getting on when Burgess in centre field dropped his fly. Scott stopping at second. Weir and H. Mills went out, but Green hit in the third baseman who erred, Scott scoring from second on the play. In seven of the nine innings only three Belleville players reached Woods while the Deloro boys went out one, two three in five different innings.

Art Quinn, who is playing second base for Deloro, pulled off the nicest catch of the day when he snared Big Fanny Mills' screaming drive after it had had run for two double plays were executed, Deloro getting credit for one and Belleville for the third, at Mr. Rose had knocked Haserman out to the pitcher who threw to second and Quinn shot the ball back in time, stopping what looked like the start of a rally in the fourth inning. Quinn also made one beautiful fielding stop of Weir, who tried to slightly on Gosland and Whitney threw Bob out at first.

Belleville had three errors and Deloro had two. R. Scott, Blakely and H. Mills being the luckless offenders, and Berry and Burgess assuming them up for Deloro. Their errors were the kind that come in critical places while the Belleville errors as it happened did not alter the score. This win definitely puts Deloro out of further competition this year and it is only a case of finishing out the schedule with them.

The Nationals are out to win all the games they can, and are trying their best at all times. Belleville fans should get out and support the team as all these trips have to be financed out something since than talk. We have a winning team, so lets all go out to the next game and give the boys a large boost on their way to the Ontario Championship.

GIANTS PICK AT ST. LOUIS LEAD

Cards' Margin Cut To 4½ Games As McGrawmen Win Again

New York, Aug. 9.—The Giants made it two out of three from the leading Cardinals here yesterday, retaining the last game of the series, 10-8. The victory gave the Giants an eight to seven edge over the Cards in games for the season, and reduced the St. Louis margin to four and one-half contests.

The home team piled up an early lead of ten runs, knocking out both Willie Sherdel and Harold Haid. Travis Jackson and Bill Terry each hit a homer with the latter the lucky. While six hits were bunched off the rival pitchers, the Giants also took up the three-game series and left the Cardinals sitting a very uneight. All three Pirate victories here were by one-run margins.

Ray Kremer not only held Brooklyn to eight hits but collected two of five Pirate Pittsburgh attacks in the series. Burgess in two runs, Kremer was caught stealing in the fourth and in the pinches. The home team used three pitchers, McNeely, Elliott and Petty.

Boston increased Cincinnati's losing streak to eight in a row when the Braves took both ends of a double header at Boston, winning the first game, 5-4, and the second, 11-1. Delaney and R. Smith pitched admirably for Boston.

In the first game Everett Purdy crashed into the fight pavilion with and became unconscious. He was closing a long drive off Sisler's bat. He did not regain consciousness for five minutes and was removed from the field, where he was placed under observation for possible head injuries.

The hitting and fielding of Sisler featured both games.

The Phillies made a clean sweep of the series from the Chicago Cubs by winning the final game, 4-2. A rally in the eighth tied the score for the Phillies, and Lerian's sacrifice fly to Stephenson with the bases filled in the ninth decided the game.

Chuck Klein, the Phillies, new right-fielder, hit a homer with one on in the first. Gabby Hartnett hit a home run for Chicago in the third inning.

Elwood English, Chicago short stop injured his leg in trying to stretch a single into a double in the first inning and was carried off the field.

ONTARIOS AND BEAVERS TONIGHT

Old Rivals Meet In Regular Bay of Quinte Fixture

Soft-ball fans will be given another treat tonight at the armouries lawn when the Beavers and Ontarios book up in what should be a real duel. The Ontarios are still smarting under the last two defeats handed them by the Beavers and they are seeking vengeance of the worst form in that game this evening. The Beavers appear to have the Ontarios pretty well buffaloed this season while the Napanee team have the Beavers completely at their mercy. The Napanee team are at the present time leading the Bay of Quinte League with the Ontarios in second place while the Beavers are occupying the cellar. The Ontarios will use their ace pitcher, Hilda Matthews, while the blue-shirts will rely on Mollie Gray to pull them through. The rivalry between these two has always been very keen and it has been strengthened by the result of the last two games which usually turn out in droves for these encounters and in order to get an advantageous position you are advised to be on hand early. The game will start promptly at 6.30.

BLACK CATS A DOUBLE WINNER

Leafs Beat Bears—Red Wings Lose Two Games

Jersey City, Aug. 9.—The Black Cats turned on the Bisons here yesterday afternoon and took both ends of the second doubleheader of the series, 8-7, and 7-3. Leo Mangum went the route for the Bird in the first contest, losing a close contest to three pitcher Jerry Black Cat pitchers by one run in the ninth. Henderson batted Hollingsworth in the second encounter, the Buffalo hurler giving way to a pinch hitter in the ninth and Sisler finishing the game.

Carl Fath and Lefty Rohn staged a slip-and-tuck southpaw battle, the Orioles pitcher having enough edge to beat the Royals 1 to 0. It was anybody's game, and the deep-dyed villain was Bill Urbanski, former Oriole and hero of Tuesday's tilt.

After tying up the game in the ninth inning on Fournier's single, Lyons's sacrifice and another single by Jacobson, the Bears were finally beaten by the Toronto Leafs, going down in the eleventh by a 2 to 1 count.

Toronto scored one run in the fire inning, but after that Herb Pruett, the Bears' new lefthander, waged a tight mound battle with Walter Lerian, veteran southpaw. Pruett was taken out in the seventh when Manager Walter Johnson made a futile attempt at pinch hitting, and Harvey Rees and Goldsmith finished the game.

The latter yielded the winning run in the eleventh on Cole's double, Webb's sacrifice and Bedore's sacrifice fly.

Wilbur Hubbell and Eddie Lautenschlager proved too strong for the Rochester, the Reading hurlers turning back Billy Southworth's crew in both ends of a doubleheader by scores of 15 to 2 and 4 to 1.

The Keystones held field day in the first game, rapping out 23 hits off a trio of hurlers. In the nightcap, Lautenschlager restricted the Red Wings to five hows and narrowly missed a shutout in the final frame when 4 batsed, ruly produced a counter. Rochester executed a triple play in the first game. Center fielding Hans Ehrle sang catching Dalrymple and Hubbell off first and second.

JAPS CONCUR IN NAVAL COMPACT

Provisions of Agreement Call For Two Classes of Cruisers

Tokio, Aug. 8.—The Japanese naval authorities are reported to have hinted that the recent Anglo-French naval agreement makes them provisions.

First, cruisers shall be divided into two classes, those armed with guns over six inches and those with guns under six inches.

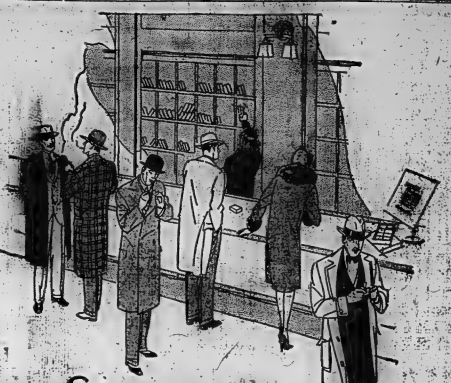

Second, the restriction of the gross tonnage of destroyers size of which must not exceed 1800 tons.

Third, the restriction of the gross tonnage of submarines over 600 tons, the size of which must not exceed 1800 tons.

Fourth, no restriction to be placed on warcraft under 500 tons.

The official naval spokesman stated that some parts of the forecast were correct and some incorrect. Japan was considering the matter, he said, intimating the authorities were in general accord with the agreement although they thought it needful that the United States would concur.

VALUE OF HIGHER EDUCATION FOR WOMEN

By DR. LOUIS E. RISCH

Higher education for women is often questioned. Does it, for instance, side track a young girl from motherhood ambitions?

Does it fill her mind with ideas and ideals that are not practical?

Surely higher education, since it enriches life, and develops mental resources, ought to make a distinct contribution to motherhood. Especially should it make a woman intelligent in grasping the best of modern methods in child culture.

It ought to make a woman quick to observe and seize and apply principles of modern psychology, all of which ought to help deeply her own children according to the highest and best possible standards.

Training ought to keep her alive in making any nervous divergences from normality as well as putting her in a position of knowing where and how to seek help.

As her children go on in school she should be well equipped to watch their progress, consult with their teachers, keep a wise eye upon the methods of teaching and their results.

But a college education, as such, does not fit a woman to be a home-builder any as it furnishes an elenhint of happiness by widening her resources, furnishing her mind richer so that she can take pleasure in it, giving her a love for the best things in books and drama-satisfying, with interests which she will never lose.

Intended to furnish foundations of learning materials that purely domestic studies do not develop the mind as well as certain other subjects do.

This is probably true, but more practical home economics and home management demonstrations would help to round out the more theoretical courses that a modern, intelligent, home-builder is a twenty-four hour job. It requires all the qualities that would win a woman success in any other field. She should be able to get somewhere practical training for it—knowledge of cooking, household care, management of servants, etc.

It is absurd to think that a young and inexperienced girl can step into such a position with success any more than a man can walk into his job with our previous training.

Would that we might have more old-fashioned modern these days!

If the up-to-date mother would think more specifically about preserving the home which she has her own mother taught her certainly our new generation of women would show great by respect for what they seem to con-

It is a fine thing but never should it take the place of fundamental mother by, wifely, feminine pursuits and in livers.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young girl in my teens. My parents allow me to go with young men. I have been keeping company with two young men for the past three weeks and mother says it isn't right to keep company with two young men at once. Please advise me what to do.

WONDERING.

WONDERING: As long as no engagement exists between you and either of the young men, I do not see what is to hinder your having as many friends as you wish. It is time enough to limit your friendships when you become engaged, my dear. But, of course you must do whatever your mother wishes, my dear.

CHAPTER 13

A SWITCH IN PARTNERS

When Hal suggested that they give a dinner-party for the Brockton's Margarita was hardly aware of the time for several days. The menu she chose was excellent. On the night of the function, the apartment was a bower of charm and beauty.

Irma arrived, looking striking in crimson chiffon. Brockton followed her dutifully. He carried several books under his arm.

"You seemed to be so interested in books the other night, Mrs. Reynolds, that I took the liberty of bringing down a couple of new ones I just ran across," he explained.

Irma made a wry grimace.

"He would do it, Marguerite. I really believe he carries a book to the theatre and reads it surreptitiously between acts, when I think he's out smoking. You've no idea what a trial he is."

She made a face at her serious husband. "Well, I have to go through it. He's always coming home with something he's found in a dirty little shop down-town. I can't see germs crawling over them.....Now this is the sort of library I like." She glanced around the immaculate shelves, with their handsomely bound volumes.

"Don't tell me you've read all those!"

"Not I," he laughed. "But I believe Marguerite has. She had time for reading nowadays, with movies and the radio and dancing."

"You're a man after my own heart," she told him.

Hal had suggested that Lydia Converse and a friend of hers be invited also. They arrived late. Lydia was drooping and languorous. She and Irma eyed each other warily, after the fashion of predatory women who instantly recognize that quality in each other. There began between them an exchange of conversation, subtle, but pointed: Lydia's recort was blase and obviously bored. He confined his remarks to Hal, ignoring Brockton. Marguerite became only a pretty moose by who saw to it that the dinner service was perfect.

When the coffee was finished, Irma was restless. She said:

"You haven't a phonograph or a radio, have you. I feel like dancing."

"But we can go on to a club," Hal suggested, with enthusiasm.

"But, Irma, I have an important conference tomorrow morning. Remember, I told you about it?" Brockton objected. "I'm not much good, after a wild evening," he apologized to the party laughingly.

"It's really too warm to dance anyway," drawled Lydia. "I'd much rather have a ride in the country, wouldn't you?" she added, turning to the blase young man.

He assented with alacrity. Marguerite looked from one to the other, troubled. "And I dance so badly. Why don't you and Irma go on somewhere, Hal? That is, if Mr. Brockton doesn't mind."

The latter laughed. "Mrs. Reynolds, I have long ebbe learned never to make an objection to anything my wife wants to do."

"Well, what do you say?" Irma turned to Hal with startling eyes.

Lydia Converse's eyes narrowed, but she said, with a smile: "Very well. We'll drive you and Irma up as soon for our ride.....Such a charming evening, Mrs. Reynolds. So—er—refreshing."

Marguerite felt a subtle irony in her tone, but she answered as the door like a gracious hostess. All, that is, except Brockton. He lingered.

"I dare say if your husband can go off with any wife, I may be pardoned for staying awhile longer. That is, if you're not tired of me, I really want to show you those books."

"Please do," she cried. "I'll order some lemonade."

She turned on a light of the lights and motioned him to an easy chair.

"Would you care to read to me?" she suggested, curling up in a chair opposite.

He sighed with contentment. "What heaven you are! It's been a long while since I've been so comfortable."

"But that's a woman's business isn't it? To make a man happy and contented?"

"Not the modern woman's," he laughed. "She looks out only for her own pleasure. I'll bet you've you have the present-day out-look."

She sipped her lemonade thoughtfully. "I don't seem to belong, do I?" she asked, with a little laugh. "That is the worst of it—you'll learn."

After that, he opened a book and read aloud. Several times he glanced up at her suspiciously, as if he expected to detect some sign of boredom in her face. But her expression was bright and alert. Her eyes showed interest.

Time passed, unheeded by them both For the first time since her marriage, Marguerite forgot to be self-conscious. Hal axed her, but Stephen Brockton was repeated. She felt a sense of companionship. They spoke the same language. She found herself arguing a point or two with him.

They had a mutual feeling of astonishment when a key rattled in the lock of the door and Irma and Hal stood on the threshold.

"Well, of all things!" exclaimed Irma. "How wife has vamped my husband this! She went into peals of mirth. "Or maybe it's the other way round, though I'd never have thought of giving Steve credit."

Steve sprang to his feet apologetically.

"I'd no idea it was so late, Mrs. Reynolds. A thousand apologies for keeping you up until this hour. I do hope I haven't bored you."

Her grateful eyes were his answer. It was the beginning of many such an evening.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Every man is bound to tolerate the sin of which he has himself been the example.

PHAEDRUS.

FOUNDED CALGARY

The death of Sir Cecil Denny was recently recorded in the city he founded in 1884. Calgary, which is built upon a little bay on the west side of the island of Mull in Scotland, was named by Sir Cecil, then an officer in the Mounted Police, who decided to be stood at the junction of the Elbow and the Bow that it was a good place for a fort. Col. James Walker is the only other surviving officer of that time, and his tall figure was chief among the mourners at the funeral, who were all old veterans of the Mounties, and he the sole survivor of that original force. Sir Cecil at the time of his death was archivist to the Alberta government. He was 79 years of age.

SUING THE CROWN

Much dissatisfaction is felt in Britain over the statement by the attorney general that he could not hold out any hope for early legislation on the subject of placing the Crown on the same footing as the subject in respect of litigation. A commission was appointed by the late Administration in 1921, and after much and laborious study brought in a report and a draft bill in 1924, but nothing has been done, and the attorney-general's statement indicates obstruction. The Morning Post traces this to the departments. These enjoy a privileged position such as Dickens satirized in the Circumlocution Office, which is not the caricature many people imagine. Whilst the departments fear to the check of the law, they find that to be beyond the challenge of the aggrieved subject makes for the comfort of their days; and once more they are in have prevailed with the cabinet." Thus the Morning Post. This is one of the questions that the next Labor government will have to deal with.

INVESTORS' CHANCE

When one reads that the Montreal market suffered "the worst break in years," there is danger of jumping at wrong conclusions. What happens in these cases is that a concerted drive is made against speculators, those operating on margin sometimes having a genuinely bad time of it. But the fact, it is a specially favorable opportunity for the person with money to make purchases of seeded stocks, with the assurance that they will appreciate in value. Both in the United States and Canada, it has been found advisable to curb the activities of speculators, who borrow money on the off-chance that they will be able to reap a profit, without any thought of legitimate investment. This is as bad for themselves as it is for business in general, and it is not surprising that periodical flurries on the stock exchanges should occur, which involve various classes of security. When conditions make it possible to borrow money at a low rate, there is naturally the incentive to "take a punt." When the rates go up, speculation is discouraged and the gamblers find themselves in difficulties.

As for the investment situation in Canada, it was never more favorable. The gratifying fact is that the interest

A CENTRE OF INTEREST

The Representative Showing of the New McLaughlin-Buick models for 1929 has made the Armour ies a centre of interest to car owners in Belleville.

The New Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher representing a radically new conception of motor-car beauty ... a departure from the rigid formality of straight body lines.....have been hailed as beginning a new era in automobile design. In addition there are innumerable improvements in engine and chassis giving greater endurance, power and acceleration.

To afford the public an opportunity to see the New McLaughlin-Buick 1929 models the Armouries have been secured. The cars will remain on view there on Thursday, August 9th.

They must be seen to be appreciated.
Visit the Armouries on Thursday, August 9th.

rican capitalists in the Canadian investment market is spreading rapidly to Europe. There is a much keener demand on the part of British capitalists for information concerning Canadian industries and our vast natural resources, and it is reported that the French people are viewing the Dominion as "an increasingly interesting potential field for investment." Like the bubble from over Mother Country, they are coming over to make personal investigations into the situation. Two prominent French financiers are now in this country on a tour of inspection, from east to west, in order to see for themselves what scope there is for investment. These men realize the advantage of growing up with the country. They want to get in on the ground floor and participate in the profits of development. Speculation, to some extent, is inevitable; human nature being what it is. But there is every reason for the greatest measure of optimism and confidence. Canada is forging ahead at a constantly accelerating rate of speed.

DEATH BY ACCIDENT

The health news bulletin issued by the United States public health service makes the appalling statement that more than 80,000 people are killed and over 2,000,000 seriously injured by accidents every year in the republic. Of these 32,000 are killed by railways, 20,000 cars, etc., over 12000 by falls more than 6,000 each by burns and drowning, and more than 21,000 by other accidental causes. The object in calling attention to this impressive loss of life, greater than that in ordinary war is to arouse interest in first aid and the injured. Many deaths could, humanly speaking, be avoided if proper care were given to the wounds, dislocations, fractures burns and so forth of which the injuries consist. For one's own safety as well as for the benefit of others, people should acquaint themselves with the means by which injuries can most advantageously be treated. Red Cross and other bodies supply all needful information.

THE IDEAL WOMAN

She is no angel from the skies
But better far a woman
Perfection's form, with soulful eyes
That tell at once she's human
Her blooming cheeks like flags unfurled
Proclaim an angel of this world.

No phantom from some unknown sphere
But living flesh and mind
With loving face that knows no fear
And every grace combined
She sighs not for a world of bliss
But elects to make a heaven of this.

With pearls from the fathomed
And sympathetic tear,
By helping others she is blessed
She lives to help and cheer,
With head at ease and heart to give
For her is paradise to live.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

An amusing story is told by Rosita Forbes, the well-known explorer, concerning a certain famous violinist who when appearing in Constantinople some years back, was declared as "reviving a command to play before the Sultan."

In accordance with court etiquette nobody ventured to applaud him but at length the Sultan himself rose from his seat and clapped loudly.

Delighted at what he regarded as a special mark of royal appreciation the violinist started to give an encore but his ruse was immediately seized by the Grand Vizier.

"Do you want to lose your head?" he whispered hoarsely. "Don't you hear His Majesty clapping his hands?"

"I am greatly honored", responded the overjoyed violinist.

"Honored!" gasped the Grand Vizier, "don't you know that is the signal to stop?"

"Do you believe there is such a thing as honor among thieves?"

"Certainly not. They are just as bad as other people!"

Elsie—"Have you heard the story that's going around about Bunkie?"

Grace—"Heard it? Why, honey, I started it."

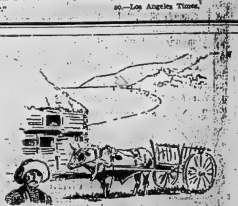

"What sort of face powder does your mother want, my girl?"

Women spin in wonderful colored wools, home dyed, rugs and bed spreads that you will want to take home.

Canada Steamship Lines' luxurious vessels ply the waters of the St. Lawrence River, from the Great Lakes to where it is joined by the Saguenay; nearly a thousand miles of fascinating beauty. Steamers may be boarded at Lewiston or Rochester in New York State, or Queenston, Toronto or Montreal in Canada. There are short trips and long, to fit every vacation purse. For example, the eight-day trip from Toronto to the Saguenay and return, including numerous landings, costs $110.

CHINA AGREES TO SETTLEMENT

Britain Pledges To Enter Negotiations On Treaty Revisions

TO FIX AMOUNT

Atone From Outrages During Nationalist Movement In March

Nanking, Aug. 10.—The British-Chinese agreement for the settlement of the so-called Nanking incident was signed last night by C. T. Wang, the Nationalist Foreign Minister, Sir Sydney Barton, the British Consul General at Shanghai and Consul General Sheldon of Nanking.

Simultaneously, another agreement was signed whereby Great Britain pledged herself to enter into negotiations with China upon the subject of treaty revision.

The terms of settlement were not disclosed, but it was understood that they follow along the lines of agreement with the United States last week.

The negotiations arose out of the demonstrations at Nanking during the Nationalist occupation in March, 1927, when foreign property was destroyed. In the United States, Secretary Kellogg stated that Chiang Kai-shek was responsible for acts of Communists who accepted the responsibility for the outrages. Payment of $1,400,000 was made for the damage to American property.

The agreement is said to provide for the withdrawal of the Nanchang (Nanking) Government in favor of a compradore system. Banking nationalists against Chinese "Labor" government has been abolished.

Under the agreement, Peoples' Nationalists against Chinese "Labor" government has been abolished.

Belleville Fair Promises To Break All Previous Records

Last night at the Armouries the first rehearsal of the Pageant which will be shown during the four evenings of the Belleville Fair in the Exhibition Park took place. Well over one hundred persons were on hand which is indeed gratifying to those who are behind the Pageant.

Miss Cecelia Presland of Fayette, Manitoba, is the director and with her previous experience along this line she is well-qualified for the position. Each night she will have the leading directors of the John R. Rogers Co. of Pretoria, Ohio, and is residing at the Queen's Hotel during her stay here. This pageant is expected to be one of the best ever sponsored in this district, well over three hundred local people being included in the cast, and should be well worth viewing.

Rehearsals will be held regularly until the Exhibition opens and any who are desirous of taking part in the display will be welcomed to step forward their names to the directress, or appear at the Armouries for rehearsal. Each night after the Pageant, which will be held in front of the Grandstand a huge display of fireworks will be put on. Professor Hand of the Hand Fireworks Co. of Hamilton, having arranged to be in Belleville in person. On the whole the evening performances at the Belleville Fair promises to be bigger and better than ever, and should do much to enhance the already fine reputation which the Fair has already acquired in this district.

TWO ACCIDENTS ON TARRED ROAD

Francis Donahue Escapes Injury When Car Turns Turtle

Reckless driving and a disregard for warning signs were responsible for at least two accidents on the highway six miles east of Belleville, yesterday. Fresh tar has been applied to the road and although no effort has been spared to warn motorists of the danger, it meant the elimination of all but one of Canada's boxing hopes at Amsterdam.

Francis Donahue Grove street, was piloting a new sedan toward Shannonville and swerving around a barricade placed in the centre of the road, the car struck the fresh-laid tar and after whirling around twice turned completely over in the ditch. The motor which was practically new, was badly damaged to some extent. Although workmen shouted to the young motorist, he ploughed through and a serious accident was narrowly averted. The accident occurred at 8.15 yesterday afternoon.

At 11.15 yesterday morning, a car driven by Margaret O'Callaghan, of New York City, left the road and struck the ditch but the vehicle was little damaged.

With the highway department insisting that every precaution is noticed, it is only fair that the signs and barricades should be respected. On Tuesday morning one of the officials took a count of the cars passing on the highway for one hour and found that over one hundred and fifty autos formed almost a continual stream. That is almost an average of two and one half cars per minute. The American tourists far outnumber Canadian motorists.

HIT BICYCLIST FAILED TO STOP

Douglas Frink Thrown From Wheel At Four Corners

A hit-and-run driver created into a bicyclist in Belleville about five o'clock yesterday afternoon. Douglas Frink a young son of Traffic Officer Wesley O. Frink, was turning around the "dummy" at the corner of Front and Bridge street when a car with license number 114-678, cashed into him, throwing him off his wheel.

Young Frink was taken to the police station by Mr. G. Cornrabrig and Mr. Cronk. Upon the arrival of Officer Cronk was called to attend the injured youth. It was discovered that the victim had a badly bruised back, but that no serious injury was done.

Another accident occurred at the corner of Coleman and Oliver streets, when little Helen Boyle, Murney street was struck by an automobile driven by an American tourist, knocking her off her bicycle, but also not injuring her. Cronk attended Miss Boyle. Witnesses claimed that the tourist was not at fault in the matter as he was proceeding a a low rate of speed at the time and the accident was unavoidable.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Let us, in whatever anxiety they may be, if they are men, somewhat indulge in relaxation.

CICERO.

"PIG BOATS"

The tragedy of the Italian submarine F-14 once more draws the attention of the world to the perils of submarine duty. Shocking as is the distressing that the crew had been killed by choking gas it is less harrowing to the imagination than the sleeper deaths of the crew of the United States S-4 member Boston last December, who died from suffocation while rescuers worked frantically but unavailingly to aid them. But all will feel a pang of regret that the success of the rescuers of Walter Bishop, radio announcer, who went to his death on the S-4 in which the submarine is said to have been designed "in the cankerous brain of the devil." Submarine crews have no illusions about them. In the United States navy they are called "pig boats", because the atmosphere in them brings to mind an ill-kept sty. On British submersible craft however, the conditions are slightly less unfavorable.

Considering the life and the unhappy conditions in which the crews exist, it is a question whether the submarine is worth while. Even to-day, with the recollection of the activities of the German submarines during the war fresh in the mind, naval authorities are divided upon their value as a weapon of war. In these danger is the present, in war or peace. They cannot sink too low or they will be crushed by the weight of water. This happened to the United States F-4 on Honolulu some years ago, when 26 men were killed. It was an unhappy day for many when France set the example of using the submarine as a war craft. The conscience of the civilized world shall be aroused in abhorrence. Fortunately, there are signs of a desire for peace. The voice of Brigadier-General Gunn, president of the prohibition command of the Canadian Legion, has been just added to those who stand for it. It is another straw indicating the direction of the wind. It may not be far distant when the use of submarines will be placed in our list of assemblies of a past barbarism.

A VOICE CRYING FOR INDEPENDENCE

Mr. John S. Ewart, K.C., who is the Herbert of Canada, has had such success in promoting the development of Canada, as an autonomous Dominion within the Empire that he now wishes to foresee the development of Canada as an independent Dominion outside the Empire. He has rivals in Egypt, where the thought of "My Queen or trade" with Britain is never dear to the fellaheen. But Mr. Ewart's logic is to be admired with his success as a herald of autonomy. Even if he succeeded, in getting independence, it would only be until the United States gathered us into her arms. Perhaps Mr. Ewart would not shrink from that subtle.

FIRE HOUSE ETHICS

The firemen of a certain station in Worcester Mass., are having a terrible time because one of their number broke off an engagement to marry a Worcester girl.

It was that the firemen are proud to worry about affairs of the heart. They have, one may assume, the typical fire department attitude in that matter. But the flinkt young lady is revenging herself on her unfaithful kin' doin, it in a way to disturb all of his buddies as well.

Every night, during the small hours she turns in a false fire alarm to disturb the one-time peaceful slumber. Night after night the engines go rolling out, with sleepy firemen clinging on, on a futile errand. The calls can't be traced and the young woman can't be found; but every fireman in the place is convinced that he knows what is wrong.

It is a fiendish scheme. One can imagine that the Worcester firemen are ardently praying for a reconciliation.

NO EXCEPTIONS

Judge H. P. Mauldin of the northern judicial district in Manitoba was dismissed from the bench by order-in-council, passed in Ottawa.

This is rather an unusual procedure as the judge in this case was not even given the opportunity to resign. In plain language, he was fired.

It was established on the evidence of lawyers that the judge had been under the influence of liquor on four open occasions, when he was actually undertaking to preside on the bench; there were also other charges brought against him and sustained.

It is in the interests of the administration of justice, in this country and of the building up of substantial respect for the bench that such a step was taken.

It demonstrates that a judge can be removed from office just as readily as an official of lesser standing, and also that the country expects of its judges a code of ethics in keeping with the high office to which they have been called.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this date 2 years ago)

During the week a young man named Chithler, whose home is in Queens boro, visited Marmora, and from information received, identified the young man who was killed on the C.P.R. track near Marmora River, Bridge about 2 weeks ago as his missing brother.

A tennis match between Stirling and Belleville will be played this afternoon on Mr. Clenco Holme's lawn.

The condition of South Albert St. is exceedingly discreditable. The Alder men of the Ward should look to it.

Mr. Joseph James, of Actinolite, has been shipping large quantities of roofing material to Chicago recently.

A citizen said today that it would be well if the Police Magistrate would charge all the tough looking characters who want to attend the Police Court the each. This would keep them out, and might cause them to look for employment.—Kingston News.

Mr. Fred Rollins, of Madoc is preparing a fine case of North Hastings minerals for exhibition at the Toronto Fair this year.

HIGHWAYS

Riding over the highways all in a motor car,
Through Battery Park to the Golden Gate
From the Canada line to each southern state
The wide roads stretch afar.

Greeting at every break of dawn,
Down a perilous mountain side;
Skirting the edge of a rocky ledge
O'er the gorge where a river died

Through cabin-strewn fields of Virginia
And Maryland's jasmine air
To the pilgrims' land, its features grand
Rock-carved, but passing fair.

Into the heart of the Berkshires
Where ghost-white birches nod;
Up curve on curve, till each earth-nerve
Feels the peace of its nearness to God!

Riding over the highways
Through fairyland day and night,
A wonderful way, but how we pray
That the brakes are working right.

—M. L. Lindle.

INSURANCE MUST NOW DEAL WITH AVIATION

Canadian Aviation calls attention to the inactive attitude of the life insurance companies as regards the risks involved by aviation. There is no general agreement about it, and those who contemplate making flights should consult their insurance company before taking any risk. In ordinary passenger service the danger has been shown to be less than in any other form of traffic, but unless the insurance companies accept and acknowledge their liability no insured person can be certain that his policy is valid should he take to the air.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

First Wife—"I told my husband about those gowns that are selling for a song."

Second Ditto—"What did he say?"

First Wife—"He said if I expected him to furnish the notes I'd better change my tune."

"Have you ever been up in an airship?"

"No," answered Senator Sorghum. "The publicity is no good. Things have gotten so that youre liable to get only half a column on an inside page, even if you fall out."

"Think of a number, and I'll tell you whether it is odd or even."

"All right. I just called my girl on the phone. Which number was it?"

"Did you get her?"

"Yes."

"Right away?"

"Yes."

"That's odd."

Hungry Harry: "Me and you was born before our time, matey."

Wandering Willie: "I've been readin' the papers, an' I see the experts agree that by the next century the wimmen will be doin' all the work in this world."

Booster: "See the large building on our right?"

Stranger: "Yes."

"Did you notice it was on our left when we come down town?"

"Well, that gives you some idea how quickly our city changes."

"So you refused Sidney?"

"Yes, I couldn't marry a man with a broken nose."

"How did his nose get broken?"

"I accidentally hit him with a mash he when he was teaching me golf!"

A young woman went to the manager of a touring theatrical company and asked for a job.

"What experience?" inquired the manager.

"I haven't had any experience," she replied, "I just had an awful quarrel with my husband and his family, so I decided to go on the stage and embarrass them."

"I never knew until I got a car," said the bishop, "that profanity was so prevalent."

"Do you hear much of it on the road?"

"Why," replied the bishop, "nearly everybody I bump into swears dreadfully."

OPPORTUNITIES
In the Mines
Many mining Stocks have now been depressed far below their intrinsic value, and in the investor with faith in the future of this country, some wonderful opportunities exist today.
From an investment standpoint some of them with an assured long and profitable future, show a splendid yield with excellent chances for appreciation in market value.
For those inclined to the more speculative variety, there are a great many mines that appear to be certainly headed towards success.
The wise investor who takes advantage of these opportunities, while the stocks are still depressed, will have reason to be proud of his good judgment later on.
With our string of offices throughout the mining areas we are in a position to give you the latest reliable news.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

B. S. IN COMMUNITY HALL.

Owing to the fact that the Bridge St. Sunday School Parlours are being newly decorated and repaired, Sunday School will be held for the next few weeks in the Bridge St. Community Hall, as the church in the morning. The work of redecorating the school rooms will be completed in three weeks.

BROUGHT CANOE BACK.

The big War Canoe which gave the boys at the Bell's Lake Camp so much pleasure this year was brought back to Belleville this morning by Ralph Morden and "Jimmie" Alexander. The canoe was loaned by the Belleville Y. M. C. A. to the Belleville Boy's Work Board, for use at the camp, and the Board appreciates the generosity shown by the local officials of the Y.

IMPROVING STORE FRONT.

McIntosh Brothers are improving the appearance of the front of their store by the use of a coat of paint. Many of the other buildings on Front Street require the same thing, and are also in a decidedly shabby condition. Visitors to Belleville will judge our stores and our city by its external appearance, and those who are keeping step with the times and have their places of business in the neatest possible shape.

GIVEN HIS FREEDOM.

J. Poole, of this city, was this morning allowed his freedom until next Wednesday, when he must stand his trial on a charge of drunkenness. Poole has been locked up in the County Jail for some time.

BETTER AGAIN.

The Intelligencer is pleased to learn that Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, prominent lawyer, of this city, whose life was so long despaired of, is out of bed again and able to take daily exercise. Mr. O'Flynn battled hard with sickness, and his many friends will be pleased to hear that he will likely be able to resume his office duties shortly.

SHAMROCK MEDICINE SHOW.

Many Bellevillians have already witnessed the Shamrock Medicine Show which is starting on its second week in this city. Situated at the corner of Coleman and Market Streets, each night a crowd of applause, and the acts are almost as good as many seen in first class theatres.

Tomorrow night, Saturday, will be Amateur Night, and a five dollar gold piece will be the prize for the best amateur. Monday is Old Fiddler's Night, and the prize will be the same as for Amateur Night. On Tuesday the Ladies Revue Hat Contest will be held, and a Parisian Hat will be given away free. All told it should be a lively week-end, with the Amateur Night being a sure-fire hit. The show comes here well recommended, and besides a bit clean jokes and good vaudeville will be used or heard.

NO CHANGE IN HEAT.

There was no change in the temperature between today and yesterday. Eighty-three degrees above zero was the highest point, which the mercury reached on both days, while sixty-four degrees was the minimum for yesterday and sixty-three for today.

MAGNETRAVE STILL AWAY.

Mr. Mikel is still away from the city There was no need for him in court this morning, however, as there was no urt. Not one solitary, single "drunk" was picked up in the last twenty-four hours.

CONDITION SATISFACTORY.

Miss Helen Symon's condition, it was announced today, was good, and she spend a quiet night. Miss Symons received severe cuts in an auto accident on the Stirling road Wednesday afternoon. Although it was at first thought the the young lady might be suffering from a slight fracture of the skull this has been disapproved. She is under the able care of Dr. G. S. Cronk.

NIGHT WATCHMAN COLLAPSED.

James Bird, Church Street, night watchman for the Schuster Company, last night suddenly collapsed while on duty. Mr. Bird was placed under the care of a local doctor today was reported as doing well.

DIRTY HUTCHES CAUSE DISEASE

Sanitation And Regular Feeding of Rabbits Is Important

The old saying, "An ounce of prevention is better than a pound of cure" applies particularly to the keeping of rabbits and nine-tenths of the prevention consists of proper feeding and care.

Proper care includes the regular and systematic supplying of good food and water, and most important, the keeping the hutches in a clean, sanitary condition. The hutches should be large enough to enable the rabbit to secure needed exercise, and can conveniently be cleaned. Dirty hutches can be held responsible for a large majority of the diseases to which rabbits are subject, and the fatal result of the remainder can generally be laid to the poor condition of the animal, due to the same cause. Keep the hay and root foods in racks, well above the floor of the hutch, and wash, frequently, the dishes used for grain foods and water. Clean the hutches out regularly at short intervals and do not be afraid to use a mild disinfectant spray often.

Dirty hutches can be held responsible for a large majority of the diseases to which rabbits are subject, and the fatal result of the remainder can generally be laid to the poor condition of the animal, due to the same cause. Clean the hutches out regularly at short intervals and do not be afraid to use a mild disinfectant spray often.

Complaints of excessive mortality among young rabbits are often heard, and the cause, upon investigation, is generally found to be dirty hutches, or improper feeding. The young rabbit, like other youngsters, has a digestive apparatus only partly developed, and the food which will keep a grown animal in good condition is unsuitable for the young rabbit, being hard to digest, will cause bloating, fits, paralysis and eventually death. Whole oats can be fed to grown rabbits, but rolled oats are much easier to digest. Rolled barley, and very occasionally bran can be fed. Once a day is sufficient in the cooler weather, and in the heat of summer.

GREEN MANURE USED LONG AGO

By The Ancient Romans It Has Been Discovered

Use of green manure to maintain or increase productivity of the soil is one of the oldest methods known to agriculture.

The ancient Romans used lupines, which were sown in September and turned under in May for the benefit of the following crop. By the middle of the nineteenth century Germany began to do the same thing.

In England both legumes and various crucifers are commonly used, and in China green plant material, although generally composted, is sometimes turned under. Farmers in India and Japan gathered green plants of many kinds, often cutting twigs from trees to fertilize their rice fields. In the United States green manure crops are more generally used than in the north. They are not used much in the semi-arid regions that practice dry-farming, but under irrigation green manures have an important place in orchard culture in some western states.

QUALITY OF HOGS STEADILY IMPROVES

The quality of Canadian hogs is steadily improving. The percoling of hogs marketed last year was the highest on record, surpassing even the high marketings of 1924.

An outstanding feature of the 1927 hog marketings, according to P. E. Light, the editor of a report on "The Origin and Quality of Commercial Livestock Marketed in Canada," issued by the department of agriculture at Ottawa, was the heavy increase in the proportion of hogs shipped direct to packing plants.

An important feature in helping the price of hogs during the year was the heavy movement of stock for export, the total showing more than 50,000 head, as against 40,000 during the previous year.

KNOCKING OF OTHERS REVEALS WEAKNESS

BY DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

To the business world there is a well established maxim that says it is unwise to knock a competitor.

The same truism may be applied to everyday and everyday affairs of life. Any time I hear other folks run any one down, I am suspicious of the knocker. When one should criticise another's work is the reason often evident? Does pride jealousy? When a man makes disparaging remarks over another's success, is not the jealousy motive frequently apparent?

And what is jealousy but a weakness? To be jealous invariably indicates inferiority. Has the one you are jealous of numerous qualities you feel convinced you cannot exhibit but which nevertheless you strongly crave.

When you knock somebody you are paying him the greatest compliment possible!

At the same time you are inevitably branding the stamp of inferiority upon your own brow!

All great men have been criticised, made fun of, maligned, lied about and even despised. None of them have wholly escaped knocking in its various phases.

And the ones who have knocked them the most have always been their weakest competitors!

It is not unusual for an individual to wish he might be in the shoes of the other fellow.

But the way to wear those shoes comfortably is not to depreciate and decry. The quickest way to do it is to buckle down and work!

If another's success manner of living or whatever it may be, pattern you—don't try to underestimate the achievements in your own mind nor underrate it. In discipline it will help others. Always look for good and accept you to the door when leaving you.

Sometimes we forget and don't always realize it. Sometimes we knock by withholding praise. Sometimes we knock through our silence.

However, knocking always reveals itself if you study it a little. Take the time to discover why you are jealous. There's always a personal weakness responsible. Find it! Fortify it! Build it up!

Remember that when you belittle somebody else you invariably disclose how little you are yourself.

Knock yourself as it means of finding your faults and handicaps only.

Stop there!

Then face about and correct them.

Advice to Girls
By Annis Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a young man a short time, with the permission of my parents.

They think he should come to the house for my instead of waiting in the machine until I come.

If he is to come in the house, how can I make it known without offending him?

Also they think he should accompany me to the door when we return from an evening out.

CURLY.

CURLY: Your parents are quite right in their attitude, my dear. The young man should call at your home and escort you to the door when leaving you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I know a girl two years my junior. I hold a very responsible position and I have learned to think very seriously of her since our friendship began. She does not seem to care for me when I'm around, yet I imagine she loves me. She goes out with other young men and doesn't give me a chance. What can I do to make her understand me?

WONDERING.

WONDERING: If you really want to find out how much the young lady cares for you, Wondering, why don't you ask her to marry you? That is the surest test I know of.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my latter teens and have been going for one year with a boy three years my senior. We have come to an understanding that we would become engaged in a few months. Recently I have noticed a gradual coolness in his manner towards me, accompanied by word that he has been going with another girl. How can I regain his affection?

APPRECIONATE.

APPRECIONATE: Probably H is only imagination on your part which makes you feel the present affections are changing. Are you sure that some part of the change isn't due to your own attitude, my dear? So, many times a girl adopts a proprietary air toward a man which rankles and hum flicks him. Search your own heart and see wherein you have failed. Then do all you can to correct your ways. If you find that it is not your own fault, just be as sweet and charming as you have ever been, perhaps a bit more so, and see if in this way you cannot win him again.

CHAPTER 13

FARTHER AND FARTHER APART

Summer wore into autumn and autumn found Marguerite and Hal Reynolds and Irma and Steve Brockton the best of friends. Almost every night Hal took Irma somewhere to dance, and Steve came down to the Reynolds apartment and sat with Marguerite while they awaited the return of their gay spouses.

Sometimes he read aloud to her from the embroidered and listened appreciatively.

"I think you need a vacation," he said suddenly one night. "You're not accustomed to being cooped up in a city flat."

She shook her head.

He looked at her sharply, but she was too intent on her work to notice it. He understood much more of the situation in that particular message than she imagined.

"I shall have to be going on a trip myself soon," he remarked.

She lifted her head quickly.

"There's Miss Converse?" he remarked dryly.

"Yes; there's Miss Converse," she admitted, in a low voice, that's been an awfully kind but we have so little in common."

"For which Heaven be thanked," he murmured.

She laughed at that. "I don't believe you like Lydia."

"I've seen her type too often. It's one that goes about seeking what it may devour. And, generally, it desires to devour another woman's husband."

She stared at him seriously. "Why—she ... she ... does ... Hal ... very much?"

He answered slowly and carefully: "I'm not fond of scandal. But I understand from my wife that Miss Converse had hopes of securing Mrs. Hal Reynolds before you appeared on the scene."

Very deliberately, Marguerite put an other stitch in her embroidery.

"I see," she said. "There have been much more suited to each other than Hal and I. I suppose you know that."

He glanced around the charming apartment.

"But he seems to need more than that," she protested. "He is gay and brilliant and fond of good times ... and I'm afraid I'm not at all interesting."

He didn't reply. He was thinking what a haven of peace and quiet and other was the Reynolds' apartment. Such a contrast to his own, where the servants had free rein in Irma's absence and took advantage of the fact. He was thinking of the helter-skelter existence that was the climax of his long, hard days work and the evening diversions that followed. He was thinking also of Irma's tantrums when he rebelled against her demands. She could be very charming when she chose ruffling her sleek coiffure with fine sled fingers and crying, over and over again, with a sob in the voice that was usually so brittle and gay: "Oh, why did I ever marry you? Why? Why?"

He knew why. It was because she best catch in her debutante year and he had been charmed by her vivacity and spirit. She had lifted him out of his serious self, and he had looked forward to a life where a bright spirit, in a ray of sunshine, permeated his inevitable moments of depression. Irma, he fancied, had seen in him an anchor against the tides of Fate. Materially, he represented all that a girl could for when it is her ambition to make a successful match.

Love had endured, but there were long moments now when its rosy wings drooped; when the tender bond loosened and they drifted far apart.

He said suddenly: "Have you ever noticed, Marguerite, that in so many instances people are so often unsuited to each other? When one is gay, the other is serious. When one is tender the other is indifferent. Not that they mean to be contrary. It's only Fate, or human nature, or—don't know quite what."

He, and marriages seems very simple, she answered. "It's just making your husband comfortable, isn't it? Doing the things that won't displease him."

He looked at her pityingly. "Poor child. How little you know of life!"

"Is there much to know—beside just doing your duty?"

He sighed.

"The longer you live, the less you know, and the more complicated life becomes. Only death overtakes you when you have reached the real knowledge."

"I hope that's the best answer. Don't think—just live and forget."

He rose and gathered up his books.

"I hope I haven't bored you, but my come down again tomorrow night, won't you? I understand that my wife and your husband are going to a ball. I suppose you don't care to go?"

He looked at her seriously.

"Marguerite, you are one woman in a million." He bowed over her hand and departed.

The next morning Irma drifted in with a peculiar expression in her eyes. "See here, I want to talk to you!"

HEIMACH HELD RED SOX DOWN

Cast-Off Athletic Pitcher Only Allowed Four Hits

Boston, Mass., Aug. 10.—People who are supposed to be expert in such matters, say you can't come back, but that doesn't alter the fact that Fred Heimach, who was once tossed on the scrap heap by the Athletics as being short of sharp-shooting junk, held the Red Sox to four hits yesterday in his blanking debut as a Yankee.

If Mr. Heimach, judging from his performance, is only second-rate stuff, then some of the other Yankee pitchers can be called things that would not look well in a family newspaper. For the classified and genteel class left-hander pitched one of the finest games of the current year as he held the Red Sox down, and the Yanks waltzed home to a 7-1 victory.

The Sox scored all of their one run in the first inning and the Yanks scored all of their seven in the sixth. This, everybody agreed, was fair enough. The Yanks will trade the Sox one run for seven any day in the week.

"Boy, he's fast," said Mr. Huggins, as he watched Brother Heimach doing his stuff on the mound. Wild in the first inning, he was nicked for a bit. Two passes and a run. But the next fifteen men went out in order, and to start the seventh Frederick had allowed only one hit. The first two men in the seventh were easy for the Heimach speed-ball, but Talbi pushed a fast, bunt to short and beat the throw. Gerber, in the eighth, got a cheap hit to short and Regan laced a double to right in the ninth.

While on the engrossing subject of Mr. Heimach, it may be noted that he retired eight of the Red Stockings by the strike-out route. In the early innings he pitched two curb to his fast curve, but later he effected a change of pace through a half-speed ball. He mixed them up with the fast curve, but later he effected a change of pace through a half-speed ball. He mixed them up each in the first inning and that was all.

The Athletics sustained their rapid pace in the pennant race yesterday when they defeated the Senators by 8-3 in the first Philadelphia home gave since the victorious sweep on the Mackmen though the west. The Athletics failed to gain as the Yankees defeated the Red Sox at Boston, 7 to 1.

Al. Simmons's twelfth home run hit off Garland Braxton, the star Washington southpaw, with the bases clear in the sixth, decided the issue in favor of Howard Ehmke. This drive put the Athletics into a lead which Washington never closed. Braxton was pounded for one more run in the seventh and three were added in the eighth off Burke.

Rhoads allowed the visitors just three hits and seldom was in any real danger, although the Senators had a lead of one when Simmons broke up the game.

CLOSEST RACE OF LATE YEARS

Athletics Showing In Last Month Is Big Feature

CARD'S CATCHERS

Yankees Are Crowded By Conny Mack's Team In American

New York, N. Y., Aug. 8.—Can it be possible that the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees may finish run their respective fields right along into the baseball pennants, greatly wondered by the fact that each has exactly one reliable pitcher? It not only can be, but is. The Yanks may be blowing their lids the moon whistle at the good old brass knuckle factory as they make haste like a delayed steal or so nothing in their journey through the West, but a 5-3 game lead with only 12 to go is neither to be laughted off nor at.

There are only a couple of differences between the situations confronting the Yankees and Cardinals, one of which is the fact that each only one club to beat and isn't making much of a play for it. The second is that the Cardinals can lose to any one of four clubs, and are steadfastly refusing to be a party to such a proceeding. A third is that the Yanks are going and the Athletics are coming while the Cards seem to have their field well in hand.

They have been in the lead since June 16, and that, with the recent Yankee debacle, and in spite of the nine straight just reeled off by the Athletics, have played the most consistent baseball of any outfit in either league. The fact that the Yankees are not winning only with their customary splomb is quite understandable in view of the fact that Pennock alone has been able to give them a nonbelming ball game from time to time during recent weeks, and that Gehrig, A 2 catching staff is such that it would make good pitchers look colicky.

Good Catcher.

The Cardinal's ability to stay at the pace is equally understandable, although for a different reason—they have no comedians behind the plate. Jimmy Wilson, in fact, is one of the best catchers in baseball, and the rest of the club, barring its pitchers, is almost foolproof. Bottomley is playing great ball at first base, and hitting .355. Frisch may not be with the pace he set last year, but the management has received almost no complaints about him to date. Maranville is living his life all over again at shortstop, and Hafey is making a registation lathe band's job of it at third base, just a good union worker putting in his day. High has proved excellent infield insurance at second and third, too.

There is nothing the matter with that outfield, either. Hafey may not be able to see them all the time, but when he does, which is often enough, they go somewhere with some force. Douthit has finally arrived after several years of promise without fulfillment. Blades and Harper are getting away with the other field nicely, Harper's right hitting having been especially acquired for those sinjecent stands in St. Louis. In this respect, the Cardinals are a team that is being repeated. John McGraw having been hornswoggled on both occasions.

Both the Cardinals and the Yanks will have to win their pennants on the road, if they do it at all. There should be nothing particularly trying about this situation, for, while the Card. have done none to well on their present trip, they won 11 out of 13 from the Eastern clubs the last time out. The Yankees likewise have been a sound road club for three seasons, up to, but not including, their existing form of the West.

The Cards, of course, are far from out of danger. There always is danger with a club that has to rely so consistently on an old-timer like Alexander to pitch in winning games. That gentleman can't go out there and pitch with the abandon of other, and better, years, but he is doing plenty as it is; in fact, much too much, if you take the word of other managers.

LATEST MODELS AT BUICK SHOW

Armouries Presents Colorful Scene For McLaughlin Exhibition

Celebrating their 21st Anniversary in the most approved style, the McLaughlin-Buick Motor Show opened last evening at the Armouries amid a beautiful setting. Specially decorated for the event with flags, crests and maple leaves, the Armouries was transformed from its usual rather austere appearance into a blaze of light and colour. All varieties of the McLaughlin-Buick cars were displayed, the beautiful surroundings showing off to perfection smooth lines and graceful beauty of this product of General Motors.

Music supplied by the Argyll Light Infantry Band who were out in full force made the evening even more enjoyable, and the McLaughlin-Buick men in Belleville who are responsible for this showing are to be congratulated on the fine showing which was made. Expert salesmen are on hand at all times who willingly and courteously explain in detail to those who are interested the mechanism of the cars and their main points of superiority. The Motor Show will continue tonight and tomorrow night, and Bellevillians, even though they may not be contemplating buying a car at the present time would do well to drop in and look these new 1929 models over.

News Of Belle Theatre

As Tom Wolff, champion rider, he enters the Triggertown sweepstakes at a date horse and performs some exciting feats of horsemanship. The tragic features of Dawn O'Day spur him to victory, knowing that a fatal mistake will ruin Dawn and "—" herald fate.

Others who have prominent parts in the production are Sally Blane the girl, Mickie Conklin as Mix's cowboy companion, Charles Byers and Lew Harvey. Benjamin Bloloff directed.

REGENT THEATRE

An extraordinarily fine mirage was one of the sights to which Warner Bros' "The Desired Woman" company was treated during the filming of desert scenes near Yuma, Arizona.

Irene Rich, star, and Michael Curtis, director, afterward learned, they were fortunate as the illusion seldom occur in this region and only under most favorable circumstances. The scene which they were to film and which persisted for several minutes was identified as the barrier harbor and waterfront of Port Diego, several hundred miles west, and on the coast of a mountain range.

GENERAL SMUTS PRAISED BRITISH

General Jan Smuts of South Africa eulogized the people of Great Britain collectively when unveiling the Canada Toon memorial to Field Marshal Haig. His successor, his civility, his sterling quality, appealed to the British people, and they stood by him.

That is one of the qualities which has always distinguished the British people in their greatest struggles. They have supported their great leaders. They do not hang a man because he has reached a certain altitude. They stand by their leaders.

"Many peoples make a point of killing their great men when they reach a certain eminence.

"Take Oressof, for example; a great outstanding character was either expelled or got rid of in one way or other. The result was that that people never brought the cooling breezes.

BELLEVILLE NATIONALS ORDERED TO PLAY IN PETERBORO SATURDAY

League Executive May Award Peters Games Played With Ponies

OSHAWA AT DELORO

Peterboro And Oshawa In Close Race For Second Place

Kingston's withdrawal from the Central Ontario League may eventually result in an upheaval of the standing according to some of the officials. There is a movement on foot which may have a decided bearing on Peterboro's chances to finish in second place. It is proposed in some quarters to throw out all of the games already played by the Kingston team and count them as wins for the other teams. In this case the Peterboro Club will be right on Oshawa's heels. A meeting of the League officers and executive will be held in the early part of next week. It would appear that this move is entirely out of order as usually in the case of a team dropping out the games played remain so and the balance of the scheduled games are counted as defaults for their opponents.

In order to hasten the play-offs the Belleville team has been ordered to play in Peterboro on Saturday of this week. This is a postponement from earlier in the season. The Belleviteas should win this game on their past performances and likely "Hec" Gilhen will be sent to the mound. Regardless of the decision of the league executive with respect to the games played by Kingston, the standing caused by withdrawal of Kingston is not concerned. In order to further facilitate things the Oshawa Club has been ordered to play in Deloro today in a double-header. They will play again in the Orangeville village on Saturday of this week. The Oshawa Club have yet to play in Deloro this year and should be loath to take all of these while Belleville wins from Peterboro the Peterites will lose practically any chance they have of getting into the play-offs. The Belleville team will be at home to all are on Wednesday of next week and they hope to take the remaining two games on the schedule. The boys would have been playing off reps ball and they should walk through the play-offs, although the Oshawa team is even Peterboro if they survive, may furnish plenty of opposition.

3RD CONSECUTIVE VICTORY OVER LOCAL ONTARIOS

Beavers Retain Early Lead And Trounce Gerow's Club

Belleville Beavers were again more than the masters of the Ontarios in last night's game at the Armouries, the blue-shirts capturing the verdict by a score of 10-7. The Beavers as in the games in the past had the edge most of the way and clung successfully to an early lead. Hilda Adams and Mollie Gray opposed each other on the mound and the honors in the hurling duel were about evenly divided each having street on two occasions. Gray was a trifle more effective in the pinches. Tetla Warham in centre-field featured with a stirring catch while Mollie Gray poled out a home-run to help her own cause. Audrey Wilkins in centre field for the Ontarios mussed up two grand balls which were double-plays, made-to-order and both of these contained wire costly.

The Beavers scored three in the first inning and three in the fourth and kept up an intermittent barrage until they had amassed 10 runs. The Ontarios tried valiantly to come back in the dying stages of the game but the best they could do was to push over a total of seven runs. Vern Weir umpired behind the plate and Ken Cowling handled the bases. The Napanee team is leading the Bay of Quinte League, the Beavers are in second place while the Ontarios are located in the cellar.

Will Now Meet Point Anne In Championship Series

Playing off for second place in the Bay of Quinte Industrial League and the right to meet Point Anne in a championship series the Ciaco Club of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company administered a 5-2 trimming to the Alemite team before a fair sized crowd at the Agricultural Park last night. The Ciacos will now meet Point Anne next week in the play-off with the first game on the Point Anne diamond on Monday night and the second game in Corbyville on Friday. Last night's game was a real pitching duel between "Bill" Frey of the Ciacos and Moore Darrell of the Alemite, with the former having the edge throughout. Heaney behind the bat for the Ciacos caught a splendid game. Peta who was on the receiving end for the Alemites was in equally good form. The Ciacos however managed to bag an early lead and scored three runs in the first inning and they held the Emel-enders pretty well in check for the balance of the encounter. Stan Hagerman got two nice hits for Ciacos. One of the Alemite's runs was a pure gift when Hagerman counted on a long overthrown. Ken and Cleg Colling umpired.

Over two hundred persons, supporters of both teams witnessed the game last night. Manager Don Hurst claims that his team can defeat the Point Anne crowd and a great battle is sure to result when they meet next week. The class of ball in this league is real fast and fans should look forward to these two games. If a third game is necessary the scene of the tilt will be decided by the flip of a coin. The Point Anne team have led the league and are favorites to win the championship crown but the Orangeville crowd have improved wonderfully within the last few weeks.

PLANTERS' TEAM TO BE THE WEEK END ATTRACTION

"Babe" Vincent To Pitch For Locals Against Toronto Club

The management of the Belleville Beavers announce at all times to provide local fans with the best soft-ball attractions which they can possibly book and this week-end will see another Toronto team in action on the local diamond. Manager Alan Meagher announced today that the Planters' team of the Toronto Industrial league will be on deck here for a double-header tomorrow, (Saturday.) The Planters while an Intermediate team play a splendid brand of ball and are well up in the running for the Industrial League title. They are under the same management as the Toronto Pennants who played here some weeks ago and the impression created a fine impression among followers of the game. This should be one of the best attractions of the season and games will be played at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon and again at 6.30.

Another feature will be the presence of "Babe" Vincent that renowned pitcher from Peterboro who will pitch at least one game for the Beavers. Miss Vincent's performance against the Oshawa team with little previous practice caught the eye of the fans and she has been working out this week in preparation for this game with the Planters. "Babe" is no stranger to Belleville fans and they always turn out well when she is billed to pitch. This double-header will be worth watching and fans who desire to witness real fast ball should attend.

By "The Observer"

The Belleville Yacht Club certainly demonstrated their superiority over the Ontarios by taking Walter Gerow's Club into camp on the Ontario lawns again last night. The Beavers struggle to sap can whip the Ontarios any day in the week but when it comes to taking a fall out of the Napanee Leafs it's a different story. On the other hand the Ontarios have trimmed the Napanee team every time out. Napanee are still on top of the League while the Ontarios are occupying the bottom rung. The race will likely result in a close finish, the scores separating the Kingston Ramblers in the Eastern Ontario finals.

The League officials handling the affairs of the C. O. H. A. have decided to rush things through and with Peterboro looming up as a contender for second place a somewhat sensational shake-up may take place in the standing within the next two weeks. The Petes have been in-and-outers all season but with a chance to get in the play-offs Peterboro's Cinch crew may take on a new lease of life.

Whether the games already having been played by Kingston will remain so is yet to be seen. Peterboro will have a considerable advantage should they be credited with all of the games already played with Joe Daley's crew.

The tennis courts at the Bay of Quinte Country Club are almost ready for use and while the following of the net game will not enjoy a long season nevertheless they will be assured of splendid amateur courts on which to get in some early practice next year.

Toronto may have another million-dollar racing plant if the pres ent plans of certain promoters are any criterion. At the present time the Queen City boasts of four tracks, Woodbine, Thorncliffe, Dufferin and Hunters of the season and games will be played at four o'clock tomorrow afternoon and again at 6.30.

SOFT-BALL TONIGHT

Tonight will see Bert Girling's Frontenac hassle hook up with Matt Morrison's Point Anne girls in a regular City League soft-ball game at the Fairgrounds at 8. The Frontenacs are out to hang a loss over the Point Anne Club tonight while the Cement Ladies demonstrated in a recent game with the Beavers that they can keep up with the best of them. Tonight's game will start promptly at 6.30.

Tony Rensch of Toronto is very doubtful if Harry Ryder will ever be allowed racing trip in a city of Toronto's size.

Elmer Ferguson sport Editor of the Montreal Herald has taken up the cudgels with Bill McGeechan sport writer of the New York Tunes an ellig argument promises to was warm. McGechan in a recent article made the assertion that in twenty-five years as a sport writer he had yet to witness an act of real sportsmanship a nthe field of play. Mr. McGechan maintains that the general attitude of athletes and coaches is "win at any cost" idea Mr. Ferguson came out with a frank statement based on a quarter of a century of study and cited at least four instances in which a feeling of sportsmanship had prevailed, and in each case the incident occurred in the National Hockey League in which paid professionals are given high salaries to entertain the public

Mr. McGeehan states that coach es instill the "win at any cost" idea while Mr. Ferguson on behalf of Canadian athletes states that the old idea of fair-mindedness still predominates. Mr. Ferguson is one of the popular sport writers of Eastern Canada and his gimmn contains interesting and timely comments on current sport which is published by all sport fans and most sport followers will be inclined to support his views.

Canada will turn it's eyes toward Amsterdam today when Joe Wright K.C. and Hon. Hugh Guest two gallant Argonaut oarsmen will attempt to wrest the laurels in the sculling contest from the United States pair. Probably by the time you read these lines the news will have been flashed around the world that the Canucks rowed to victory. Let's hope so anyway.

It was undoubtedly over-work that killed any chances Joe Wright had of winning the singles. After winning the Diamond Sculls it would no doubte have been a feasible plan to allow Gunn to represent Canada at the Olympics. Another case of the pitcher visiting the well once too many.

PIRATES MAKE EIGHT STRAIGHT

New York, Aug. 10.—The Pirates returned home from the east on defeat the Cardinals by 5-4 for the eighth straight Pittsburgh triumph, which shaved the lead of the Red Birds over the Giants to four games.

Frank Frisch hit a home run with one on in the seventh, bringing the score to its final status, but the Cardinals fought to the end. Taylor Douhit doubled with two out in the ninth, but Burleigh Grimes rushed to Holm to roll to Adams, who made a nice stop.

The Pirates greeted Jesse Haines with a shower of three runs in the first, and forced him to retire in favor of Arthur Reinhart with none out in the fourth after two more markers had been added or places on base. The victory gave the Pirates a record of twenty-four games won in their last thirty-one.

SEIBOLD ERRATIC AS KEYS LOSE 5-3

Reading, August 10.—After winning five straight games the Reading Keys dropped the fourth and final contest of the series with the Rochester Red Wings by score of 5 to 3. Seibold's wildness in touling 10 bases on balls was responsible for the defeat.

The Orioles won the opener game of the series from the Royals. Jack Dunn's men hitting the ball hard to triumph 13 to 3. The Birds assaulted two Montreal pitchers for 17 hits.

The Buffalo Bisons scored a double shutout against the Black Cats, Mills blanking the Jerseys, 3-0. In the first game and Earle Pruitt applying a 4-0 coat of whitewash in the abbreviated second contest. It was the third straight twin bill the teams have played in the last three days, the Bisons having now taken four of the six games played.

Pruitt was in rare form in this second game, allowing but two hits and giving but two passes. The Bisons got all their runs in the second and third innings, driving Schuister, starting pitcher, to cover with a three-run barrage in the second. Mills silenced his seven hits in the opener.

YOUTH'S WILD RIDE ENDS IN ARREST

PRIME MINISTER DEDICATES PARK

Fourteen Hundred Square Miles Constitute Vast Area

THE MOTORCADE

Prince Albert National Park Another Great Play-ground

Prince Albert National Park, Aug. 11.—Premier MacKenzie King opened another of Canada's Park playgrounds here Friday. Standing on the shore of Lake Waskesiu, where thousands of people had gathered in the summer sunshine, the Prime Minister dedicated 1,377 square miles of forest, land and river, which is Prince Albert National Park. From the city of Prince Albert, the trail to the park wound 72 miles northward. On it today moved a procession of motor cars carefully to the country, where once a canoe was a great vehicle of summer travel.

"In the building of a new nation, the wise and moulding of our national character it is of utmost importance that we should cultivate appreciation of all that is beautiful in our physical environment," said Premier King in his speech opening the park. "In a young country so richly endowed with material resources there is always danger that, we may turn God's gifts into a market place. To be aware of the danger is a long step toward the application of the remedy. It is indeed a cause for deep satisfaction that Canada in her youth has learned the wisdom of conservation."

Prince Albert National Park, Aug. 11—Premier MacKenzie King slept last night in the cottage in Prince Albert National Park which was presented to him yesterday, through the generosity of his friends and supporters in the province.

MINERS VOTED TO REJECT AGREEMENT

Drumheller, Alta., Aug. 11.—By an overwhelming vote last night the miners of Wayne district voted to reject the proposed agreement with the operators and decided on the suspension of work from Saturday night. The suspension will continue indefinitely or until an agreement is reached between the committee appointed by the men and operators.

MARKET PRICES ABOUT THE SAME

The city market square was the mecca for a large number of vendors and buyers today.

Vegetables were selling at the same level as last week, while berries were slightly cheaper. Red raspberries were offered for fifteen cents the box while the blue variety sold for ten cents the box. Huckleberries were offered at twenty-five cents the quart, and currants, three pounds for twenty-five cents. Eggs, about this time of year absolutely a luxury, are still selling for thirty-five cents the dozen, while butter was the same price as last week, averaging about forty-five cents the pound.

PROMINENT LAWYER DIES IN EDMONTON

Edmonton, Aug. 11.—C. C. McCall, K. C., one of Western Canada's foremost lawyers, died at his home here yesterday following an extended illness. Mr. McCall was 70 years of age.

TRAP-SHOOTING

On Thursday evening of this week the Bellville Trapshooting Club had another interesting meet at the Park Grounds. Several of the members made exceptionally good scores for one of a possible twenty-five points: W. Schwartz made twenty-four; B. Shaddock made another splendid record, garnering in twenty-two points to his credit. The scores were:

Out of possible 25.

W. Schwartz	24
B. Ainsworth	17
B. Shaddock	22
A. B. Newman	20
M. Sprague	20

"THE SASKA TOON LILY"

Olympic Record-Breaker

Miss Ethel Catherwood, who broke the world's high jump record at the Olympic games, Amsterdam, is related to the great Ned Hanlan, famous sculler, to whom a statue was erected in Canadian National Exhibition Park at Toronto. The high-jumping queen's father was a cousin of Ned's and himself a great athlete. Miss Catherwood's brother is also well-known in sport as 100-yard champion of San Francisco. When she returns home the Olympiad Miss Catherwood will visit her parents in Saskatoon for a short two weeks and will then return to Toronto to complete her business course. She will likely take a position in the office of Teddy Oke, mining broker. ABOVE is the most recent picture of the Canadian girl, taken at Amsterdam and Ned Hanlan's statue, Joe Wright, Olympic chairman, now overseas, posed for this memorial to Hanlan.

YOUNG LAD SUSTAINS INJURY IN FALL FROM BRANCH OF TREE

Harry Juby, 13 Green St., Fractured His Right Arm

Swinging on the limb of a tree late yesterday afternoon, young Harry Juby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil M. Juby, 13 Green Street, fell from his swing and sustained a compound fracture of the right arm and was removed to the Bellevile Hospital where the fracture was reduced and set.

Several boys were engaged in swinging on the limb when another lad thought fold of the end and pulled it down. This pull added to the weight of the lads above made the limb break, and although it did not fall completely off, Harry Juby lost his balance and fell on his arm. Dr. Blakslee was called and after an X-ray was taken and the arm set, the injured lad was able to return to his home.

MIRAGE REFLECTED DISTANCE NINE MILES

Brockville, August 11.—A good example of the mirage phenomenon, a rare one, is reported from Gananoque, where O. J. Shannan saw reflected in the sky a distinct representation of the town of Clayton, N.Y., nine miles across from the St. Lawrence, being able even to detect the dials on the face of the clock on the Masonic Temple in that place.

The picture lasted only for about five minutes when a passing cloud blotted out the mirage, one of the clearest that has ever been witnessed.

NEW RECORD IN ONE MILE RELAY

British And United States Teams Meet a Stamford Bridge

Stamford Bridge Field, London, Aug. 11.—England's capital city, buzzant with the British track victories at Amsterdam, poured her thousands into this big football bowl this afternoon to see the Olympics between the British Empire and the United States. The programme of fourteen events consisted of six field and eight track, all but one of the latter being relay events.

All the events were to be decided on a team basis.

Stamford Bridge, Aug. 11.—The five event, the 40 Quarter Mile, was won by the United States. Percy Williams, Vancouver and Johnny Fitzpatrick, Hamilton were on the British team. The United States also won the second event event, setting a world's record of three minutes, 17 2-5 seconds for the mile relay. Ball and Wilson of Canada were on the British team.

FIVE HUNDRED WHALES KILLED

Copenhagen, Denmark, Aug. 11—Five hundred whales were killed yesterday off Westmann Haven in the Faroe Islands of the North Sea. The monsters appeared in a big school and every available craft in the islands was hastily manned for the drive against them.

HOOVER OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Official Notification of Nomination Is Carried To Him

FARM RELIEF

Expected To Outline Views On Major Election Issues

Stanford University, California, Aug. 11.—The new pathway at the end of which may stand the White House, was opened today to Herbert Hoover. From the far corners of the nation, men and women of great and small degree came to bid him good speed upon the journey routed for him by the Republican party.

The setting for the official notification of his nomination was laid in the vast bowl erected long after he had completed his own school days at this picturesque University. The official message itself was brought by Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire, permanent chairman of the convention which nominated him at Kansas City two months ago and the chairman of the notification committee made up of representatives of every state in the union.

In his speech the nominee was expected to outline his views on what he regards as the major issues of the Campaign and interpret the chief planks of the party, those dealing with the prohibition enforcement and farm relief.

START ON LONG 500 MILE TRIP

Will Attempt To Row From Boston To St. John

DROWNED IN POND

Nelson Whiteside, 27, Lost Life Near Peterboro Yesterday

Peterboro, Ont., Aug. 11.—Nelson Whiteside, 27, was drowned in McKinnon's Mill Pond, Bethany, last night while bathing. The young man got beyond his depth and the efforts of his companions to save him proved futile, nearly costing their own lives. Coroner Dr. R. A. Turner of Millbrook viewed the body and gave permission for burial.

STRANGE TALE OF MISDEALINGS

Man Arrested At Montreal Is Facing Serious Charges

New York, August 11.—Cornelius Callahan, who is alleged to have stolen almost half a million dollars from the Banclity Corporation, of which he was assistant secretary, told a strange story upon his arrival today from Montreal, of the causes and methods of his speculations. Efforts to cover up a theft in which he had no part, and a sense of shame which made him confide from his parents and others the fact that his salary was only $2,700 a year; led to his downfall, he said.

Callahan, who is 28 years old and lives with his mother and father at 25-46 Sixty-Fifth Place, Woodside, Queens, was brought back from Montreal by Detective James McKenzie of District Attorney Banton's office. He had been arrested on Wednesday by Montreal police and, on the same day, was indicted here on the specific charge of the larceny of $21,000.

Arraigned before General Sessions Judge Cross, Callahan, Callahan pleaded not guilty to an indictment alleging first degree grand larceny. He was held without bail at the request of Assistant Dist ict Attorney Harold W. Hastings, who told his story to Mr. Hastings and said he was willing to help the authorities, and take the consequences in every possible way. He contended that he had not profited by irregularities, and had not actually worked for the best interests of the Banclity Corporation throughout.

NEW BUILDING IS BEING ERECTED

Canadian National Express Find Facilities Inadequate

A decided improvement in the appearance of the North Station will be noted, the new Canadian National Express building having been erected on the site of the old one, directly across the street. The necessity for this district has warranted a larger building for some time, and two years ago the Canadian National Express started to tear down the old place.

It is expected that the new building will be completed in a month, as it will be of frame construction, measuring 60 by 30 feet. While the work is being rushed to a conclusion the express is being handled in one of the express cars on the siding.

DOCTOR ARRESTED ON NARCOTIC CHARGE

Smiths Falls, August 11.—Investigation of an alleged traffic in opium and narcotic drugs, conducted by officers of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, has resulted in the arrest of Dr. Wilbur Pratt, well-known practitioner of this town, who was arraigned before Magistrate Hall of Sparham and was allowed out on $3,000 bail.

REPUBLICANS MARK NINTH ANNIVERSARY

Berlin, Aug. 11.—Germany's constitution day, the ninth anniversary of the signing of the Weimar Constitution by the first Republican government was celebrated today throughout Reich. The Republican Black, Red and gold banner waved from all large buildings and various demonstrations were carried out during the day.

SMITH TO URGE STATE CONTROL

Norman Hapgood Foresees Movement To Change Volstead Act

Williamstown, Mass., August 11.—Norman Hapgood, editor and writer, and one of the leading independent supporters of Governor Smith, told the Institute of Politics today that he expected Smith if elected President, to urge Congress to change the Volstead Act so as to permit each state to enforce prohibition in accordance with local public opinion. He also declared that Smith's first appointment to the United States Supreme Court would be that of Benjamin N. Cardozo now chief judge of the New York State of Appeals, and recognized by Democrats and Republicans alike as one of the outstanding jurists of the country. All Smith's appointments would be of the same order, he added, and would conform to the high standard he had set as Governor of New York.

The wets had all the best of it in the special prohibition debate arranged by the Drys, because of universal interest in the subject shown by the membership for the largest crowd turned out that has attended any general conference this season. It had been expected that dry to the audience would subject Mr. Hapgood and other wet speakers to a series of cross examination, but they remained silent for the most part under a barrage of questions that prohibited any governmental compulsion had failed, and that real temperance could be served only by the substitution of some moderate form of liquor control such as practised in the Canadian provinces, Sweden and Belgium, applied to American conditions, and backed by local public opinion.

FAMILIES FORCED TO LEAVE HOMES

Flood Gates May Be Opened To Divert Disaster

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 11—A storm which originated almost a week ago as a tropical hurricane in the Caribbean was sluggishly unceiling itself along the south Carolina coast today, while parts of Florida, the south and the gulf, are the capricious path of destruction still labored under the scourge of flood waters.

In the nineteen-mile stretch between the Florida Power Corporation's huge dam at Inglis, Florida and the gulf two hundred families were evacuating their homes under warning that one of the flood gates of the structure would be lowered late today to avert a disaster.

CONFESSES TO THEFT OF AUTO AND FACES CHARGE AT OSHAWA

Close Questioning By Belleville Police Breaks Down Story

NO ONE INJURED

William Ackley Swerved Car To Avoid Crash Early Today

The splendid work of the Bellevile police force was once again exemplified as an early hour this morning when a young man from Kingston, who had crashed into an automobile on the Kingston highway, was apprehended by Police Constable Jackson.

After a close cross examination it was discovered later that the man had stolen the automobile in Oshawa.

William Ackley, 32 Ella street, Kingston, stole an automobile in Oshawa last night and started for his home town. All would have been well with seventeen-year-old Mr. Ackley had he not crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Casey McIlwayhin, license No. 275-781, during the Ackley car into the ditch and damaging it considerably, while Mrs. McIlwayhin automobile was damaged to some extent, too. This occured at 5.45, this morning in front of the new Albert College.

Ackley claimed that he had swerved to avoid hitting a buggy, but it was found that the car had gone some twenty-five feet, without the driver applying the brakes, and when he did apply them the car skidded about 20 ft. Luckily, no one was hurt. Ackly gave his name to Constable Jackson, and Mr. Jackman, of Oshawa, and produced a driver's license and several other automobile accessories, prior to his abduction.

This morning, however, Sergeant of Detectives Jack Truslach, with assistance questioning, caused Ackley to trip up on his statements and forget-when he had first called Detective the boy said his name was Hackman. He was arrested by Sergeant Truslach. The accused then broke down and confessed the theft. The Oshawa police were notified and a man will arrive today to take the young thief back to the Motor City to stand his trial.

SIAMESE TWINS TO BE PARTED

Girls Joined At Spine Base Await Delicate Operation

New York, August 11.—Margaret and Rosetta Hoppe, Siamese Twins, said to be the only American "Siamese wins", are in a private hospital in Jersey City where they are under observation to separate them.

It is said the twins decided to submit to the surgeon's knife after Margaret, the prettier of the two, became enamored of a young man she will marry if the cartilagenous band which joins her to her sister can be severed.

The Twins, who are seventeen and the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Gibb, are in the Park West Hospital, 1670 West Seventy-Ninth street. The surgeon who will perform the operation is Dr. Francis P. Weston, 325 West Forty-Fifth street.

Dr. Weston was quoted today as admitting that the twins were being ready to submit to an operation, but beyond saying that such an operation would be very hazardous, he declined to comment further.

At the Park West Hospital, which is owned by Dr. Harold M. Hays, it was admitted that the twins were there but refused to undergo the operation but further information about them was withheld. The superintendent of the institution was not available and the office manager, a Miss Kelly, both declined to discuss the matter.

POLICE SEEKING TWO MURDER ACCOMPLICES

Mexico City, Aug. 11.—All persons were warned today by the police not to assist Jose Jimenes or Angel Teje, sought in connection with the assassination of General Alvaro Obregon, to escape. Jimenes and Teje are believed by the police to have induced Jose de Leon Toral to slay Obregon.

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

Love without envy; pow for talent and glorious years and form friendships with your equals.

EVERY-DAY RELIGION

Astonishment was expressed by one of our contemporaries that Mr. Ramsay MacDonald should have permitted his speech in Montreal to be pervaded by religious sentiment. It was not so much the sentiment; merely a finger indicating the manner of the man who spoke. But why should a man conceal his religion disposition if he possesses it, if it be a real thing, and not a fraud? For one thing, and a simple one, we are inclined to admit it, the mere making a profession of his religion has become, on this side of the Atlantic at any rate, a person to be aware of. To be designated as "one of those religious guys" is enough to scatter his business standing suspicious and his social pretensions negligible. But this has nothing to do with real religion. Because some men think they may find their interest in counting the real thing and are detected in their deceit, there is no reason why the real thing should suffer, or honest men be ashamed of it. What is need on it, for social life is not less but more real religion, and that does not consist in professions or proclamations of creed or codes of morals, but in character and conduct. Every man shall be rewarded according to his deeds, not the assumption of the Master, and my genuine disciple follows with the warning that whatever a man sows that is what he shall reap. Those who are convinced of the immortality of this law have no room for falsity, deceit or prudence. They are not reluctant to acknowledge the eternal principles that underlie all life, and the unchangeable laws on which all may rely. These confidence and the consistent practice of the golden rule in relation to others beget a strength of character and a nobility of nature that need no bandaging. Men soon recognize those who can be depended upon, whose word is their bond, whose heart is open to justice, and, whose minds are set on doing good. And doing good is no mere sentimental effort towards benevolence, but the constant daily transaction of the duties of life in the best way and the prompt manner with the least trouble to others. Most of this type of religion carry their testimonials in their faces and their words are welcome as the flowers

COLLEGE ATHLETICS

Repeated protests against the "commercialization" of American college sports have increased since the rivals time not long ago that players on certain collegiate teams are allowed "considerations" for their services on the gridiron. Demands are being made that football, particularly, be purged of this commercial element and that a readjustment of values be brought about.

There are many difficulties in the way. In the United States, and in some degree in Canada, the "college spirit" is largely fostered through press ups and fame, and, therefore, a larger student body. The result is that professional coaches and university football scouts with their coaches, and hired players, cost huge sums. In the case of large colleges like Harvard, whose gross football receipts last year amounted to over a million dollars, the thing becomes a vested interest. In the case of lesser seats of learning it grows into a millstone about the university's neck.

An interesting commentary on the situation has been made by Nathan K. Fraser, who explained Dartmouth's undefeated team in 1925... Mr. Fraser, who is now a Rhodes scholar at Oxford, has come out strongly in favor of the English rugby game in preference to American collegiate football. He says:

Here is a game played for the sport of it, while American football has developed into a serious proposition that might well be designated a business. It assumes far too great an importance in the minds of both public and participants for the good of either—particularly the latter.

Whether the English rugby game is better than the American may be a debatable point. But at least it is simple, and does not demand such elaborate training. However, what is more important is the attitude of English players students and spectators, to the game as contrasted to that of American players and onlookers. In British university football is still on a strictly amateur basis, and it is play ed for the fun of the game and the healthful exercise that is in it. College football on this side will resume its normal wholesome state when it is viewed in its proper perspective as a game and not a business, and not before.

PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 50 years ago)

The schooner Collier is unloading coal at the G. and D. Institute dock.

The village of Wellington is putting down granolithic pavements.

A party on Bleecker Ave. had windows broken by bad boys this week. The police are in possession of the names of the miscreants.

The apple crop in the Kingston section will be very light this season. Orchards which produced from 700 to 1000 barrels other season are not expected to yield more than 25 barrels.

Parties passing by the river on the west shore near the Upper Bridge frequently see logs (almost young men) disrobing. These youths go in bath bu things in a nude condition and the sight is far from edifying to young girls and women. This place and the harbor should have the eye of the police. Their attention has been called to it before.

The popular and commodious excursion steamer "Magnit" will leave this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock on one of her pleasant Saturday afternoon trips for Napanee.

All drinking men and all men who wish to see prohibition in Belleville will be made welcome at the Gospel song service to-morrow (Sunday) at 4 p.m. in the Royal Templars' Hall.

THE CANADIAN WOMAN

Her foot are set upon the upward way,
Following the Star! The Torch is in her hand
Lighting the nearer path. Around her stand
Mountains whose peaks reflect the eternal day!
A peal, whose glory time shall not decay—
The far-horizoned future at command—
A noble heritage of race and land
Are hers to treasure or to cast away!
Her hands have power to comfort and to bless.
Her thought must guide, her sacrifice make sure,
Steadfast amid confusion and distress
Her vision build the home that shall endure!
The Nation's life no fate can wrate or mar,
While she upholds the Torch and seeks the Star!

OSHAWA SPLIT WITH SMELTERS

Belleville Nationals Play Scheduled Game At Peterboro

The Belleville Nationals left to Peterboro this morning where they have a scheduled game this afternoon with the Petes at James-Stevenson Park. The locals expect to hang a defeat on the Northerners as Dolan is slated to do the pitching for the Nats with Percy Mills behind the bat.

Deloro split a double-header with Oshawa yesterday, the Deloro team taking the verdict in the first game by a score of 3-1 while the Motor Boys handed a shut-out on the Smelters in the second game by a score of 9-0. Tinky Woods who pitched against the Nationals on Wednesday came back yesterday and performed the ironman stunt by twirling two games against the Oshawa team. He won the first but blew up in the seventh inning of the night-cap affair. Pitching three games in two days is too much to expect of any pitcher. Dainty and Matthews starred for the Motors, the 'Duke' winning his start. Oshawa's defeat may help the Peterboro Club in their fight for second place.

HUGE SEIZURE AT LIQUOR DOCKS

Provincial Police Order Fifty Exporters To Appear

Windsor, Ont., August 11.—Seizing every liquor export dock from Belle River to Kingsville and placing their wet stocks aggregating several millions of dollars in value, under police guard, the Ontario Government today charged every exporter on the border with unlawful possession of liquor, and ordered them to appear in court next week to answer to the charges.

Firing a broadside of subpoenas along the entire liquor front, provincial police squads, under the command of Inspector F. E. Elliott of Toronto, served legal notice on 30 exporters of the attack on them by the Ontario Liquor Control Board, the body through which the Attorney-General's Department is moving.

DURHAM CASTLE IN A BAD WAY

Historical Structure Needs Fixing Says Bishop of Durham

London Eng. — (By the Canadian Press)—The serious condition of Durham Castle, one of the most important historical structures in all Britain was brought to the attention of the House of Lords recently by the Bishop of Durham, who urged the Government to assist towards meeting the large amount of money necessary to preserve the castle.

Durham, the Bishop said, was men aced with the ruin of one of the great est historical and picturesque monuments the nation possessed. Durham Castle, the speaker declared, was a royal monumenta was a matter of national concern, "it is literally true to the traveller that if it ceases to exist say that this great building which, as for eginity, is in imminent danger of falling down." The medie val builders, with a wonderful flair for choosing sites, had to command knowledge of sub-soils, and in many cases they rear ed their magnificent piles on founda tions which had been found adequate. That was the case with Durham Castle. It was not built on rock but on a bed of shale and broken soil about 70 feet deep between the founda tions of the castle and the rock below That was now moving, and the great building was in danger of being carried into the river below. It was not too late to save it, but prompt measures were indispensable. In some respects the case of Durham Castle was unique. Although of ecclesiastical origin it had always been devoted to secular uses, and he commended its safety to the consideration of the Government.

The Archbishop of York was among the supporters of the appeal, though he said there was a time when his predecessors would have regarded the demolition and destruction of Durham Castle with very great satisfaction. Indeed, if possible, he thought they would gladly have contributed their share in its destruction. Those days had now passed. The people of Durham could not be expected to do more than they had done.

JAP CLIMBERS TO COME TO JASPER

Jasper, Alta.—At least ten distinguished climber of Japan are preparing to come to Jasper National Park next year according to Dr. S. Kitada, of the Imperial University, Tokio, who left here this morning after several days at Jasper Park Lodge. Dr. Kitada, who is now on his way to climb Mount Baker in Oregon is very keen about the Canadian Rockies. He was out yesterday morning at three o'clock, with the Swiss guide Jean Weber, to climb Mount Edith Cavell, now storms on the heights kept them back and added to the difficulties of their enterprise.

They managed to find shelter, however, and as the worst was over started again and attained the summit in about eight hours, when the storm cleared away, they had a view which brought into their vision the Columbia ice field, sixty miles away.

Dr. Kitada is a prominent member of the Miyaji Association and has climbed Mount Fuji-Yama nine times.

HAND OF RED RUSSIA SEEN IN CROAT TROUBLE

Zagrab, Aug. 11.—Moscow was discovered to have had a hand in the troubled Jugoslav affairs, when police yesterday raided a house suspected of being a Communist 'cell.' KNOCKING OF OTHERS REVEALS WEAKNESS

By DR. LOUISE R. RUSCH

As the individual advances from the cradle through childhood and into adulthood he is subjected to influences and develops certain character traits that have an enduring effect upon his outlook on life.

Seeing others of his own age doing it, and yielding to an irresistible urge for independence that steadily grows, his every thought and act soon becomes colored by feelings of self-assertion.

Throughout the years from thirteen to eighteen, boys and girls often have a pretty hard time of it.

They long to be emancipated from the home and stand on their own feet.

If they are able to earn money they think they must be grown up.

When children have actually earned money of their very own, even though circumstances are such that duty compels them to pay over to their parents the greater part of the weekly pay envelope, the experience is exhilarating.

Girls will design economizes on proper luncheons to save up and buy presty things to wear.

Boys for the first time find themselves in a position to revel in-an orgy of shirts, socks and cravats.

In short, the hankering for self-preservation has asserted itself.

If parents oppose this spirit on the part of their children—refusing them at least sympathetic understanding—rebelliousness is sure to follow, and of a kind that may prove disastrous.

It is a great misfortune, however, if boys and girls must leave school early to take many job that prom-lees part to offer. They carry the family budget.

Selling newspapers, working in a shop as a helper, standing behind a counter as salesgirl, tickles their fancy and youth revels in it.

Parents must not be misled by such enthusiasm.

Most children want to earn money and quit school as early as possible. Unless it "is absolutely necessary, parents should somehow continue to satisfy the craving in a way that will interfere with the laying of a solid educational foundation for the future.

Pay them for odd jobs about the house, for instance.

But never discourage or stifle the money-making desire.

Look upon it as a good sign that should be fostered under proper regulations.

In this connection the little home pocket and dime bank, as well as the saving account, help a lot toward making youth respect money as well as themselves.

But be sure to take an interest in what is saved, the same as you take an interest in what is earned.

The fun of earning is enhanced tre mendously when the boy or girl realizes that you endorse it.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am fifteen years old and I go to high school. My parents do not approve of me going with fellows. Do you think I am too young and should wait until I am older?

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: If your parents disapprove of you going with boys, of course you must listen to them and do as they wish. You are very young in fact, you are so young that I am wondering this for your own welfare, good. Try to be patient, for all are sure when they feel you are sufficiently mature to entertain young men; they will allow you to do so. In the meantime, have a good time and don't sulk and pout over a situation which you cannot help. Be as happy as you can and you'll enjoy your good times all the more with you are allowed to have them.

CHAPTER 14.
WELL-SMART ADVICE.

Marguerite was busy with the household accounts when Irma came in. The latter had thrown a wrap over an elaborate package of satin and lace. She was slightly hollow-eyed. She collapsed into a chair with a sigh.

"Gad, I'm tired. We danced until four o'clock this morning. Hal tell you?"

Irma regarded her queerly.

"Look her, Marguerite, it's none of my business, but I'm your friend, first of all. Hal as far as I'm concerned, is only a pleasant dancing partner as I think you have guessed. But if were you, I'd adopt different tactics with him. He's a rot with women. They simply chase around his neck. That makes me sick. I don't have to worry about Steve. He stays put, if you know what I mean. But Hal is handsome and attractive. If you want to keep your man, you'd better play the game a bit. Pep up. Make yourself smart. Go to the places he likes."

Marguerite's blue eyes were troubled.

"But how can I, Irma? I don't know how to make all the things Hal does so well."

"Learn," was the reply. "You're clever. Much cleverer than I. Steve says so. Oh, I'm not jealous, Don't misunderstand me. I've got Steve exactly where I want him. We love each other, I suppose or we wouldn't stick together. But we're terribly unmated. However, we've a sort of tacit agreement that we have each other's own devices. My temperament demands excitement. Steve likes quiet ...and he's terribly busy. That suits me to a T. But you and Hal it's the other way round. You're both social birds. Now what are you going to do about it?"

Marguerite looked at her perplexedly

"I ask myself that often....But you must have guessed, Irma, even if Hal hasn't told you, that ours wasn't a love-match. Our parents arranged it. "For their own good, you mean," replied Irma, with a hard laugh. "You for the good of us both, they thought ...and they sacrificed you on the altar of Mammon....Oh, I don't say, it wasn't the best thing after Hal. He needed you; he was on the loose. But I'm very much afraid he's on the loose now, and it's your fault."

"Mine?" Marguerite was dismayed.

"Yes, yours. You're a darling, but your head is in the clouds. And I don't mind telling you that Hal wants more than a beautiful, high-brow and a wife who's always there to greet him."

"And you and Steve?"

"We get along. It isn't easy. I know I get on his nerves terribly, his quietness. But there is something and he drives me mad sometimes with a deeper between us that you and Hal haven't found. Believe me, Marguerite, it's dangerous to go on as you and Hal are doing."

"But what shall I do?"

"Pep up, I tell you.

"Irma, I'm not true to my style. I haven't an idea of my own."

Marguerite said pathetically: "Honestly, I want to make a success of my marriage."

Irma rose, came over to the desk, and pinched her cheek.

"I know you do. And you're such a straight little thing....If you weren't, I'd try to take Hal from you. He's worth having....And mind what I tell you ....look out for Lydia Courcure. She has her lines out for Hal, even yet. If were you, I'd make a friend of her. I fancy even she has scruples against playing with a friend's husband."

When Irma had gone, Marguerite sat for a long time, staring out of the window. She was desperately unhappy. She longed to spend the day in the country, with Hal, and then wander down a long road, with the cool air blowing her face.

And here she was, cooped up in a city apartment, with nothing to do all day, except manage her household and wait for Hal's return. Then, as like by as not, he would go out, leaving her to spend the evening alone, or with Stephen Brockton. She enjoyed Stephen's company, and had momentarily appalled her.

"Can I be in love with him?" she thought, startled, who knew nothing of love. And yet, with Brockton, she was at ease, not self-conscious, while with Hal....

She spent the entire day wrestling with Irma's advice. There was no use in going to her mother. Mrs. Clowes was busy with her own affairs and her daughter's marriage had opened to her Her father was deep in business with Stephen Brockton.

She never dreamed of talking things over with Hal. She was dreadfully afraid of him.

Irma had advised her to make a friend of Lydia. Hal liked her. She ate she telephoned Lydia and went to the atelio for tea.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Paint is stressing green as a favorite color both indoors and other colors outdoors.

Sign on trolley cars in New Haven, Conn., reads: Pedestrians Should be Seen, Not Hurt."

The important factor in the Paris silhouette is that whatever hip-fullness appeared in the summer has been confined for a flat hipline and this decision applies to both day and evening gowns.

After hearing that the promoter of the recent world series fight lost over $150,000, a Detroit editor says: "There's only one thing left for Tex Rickard to do if he wants to make the next gate a paying one fast have to put on a walking beauty contest as the preliminary."

In Worths new models for daytime wear, tailored and afternoon alike, the average length is two inches below the knees, while there are some afternoon frocks with skirts lengthened by an occasional panel at the side or front.

A New York editor says: "A man may be said to be old when he yawns and grunts 'Yeah' when his wife, looking at the August full moon, suggests a summer hotel porch sighs 'Isn't that moon the romantic for anything, dear?'"

One who knows her London declares that she would give the prize for the feminine owner of the nicest house to a woman who has a flat on the roof of a tal house and she has made herself the most fascinating little garden of window boxes, tubs and settings and has quite a grand conservatory entrance to her dressing room.

Chanel's printed shantung bags a scarf and belt to match are extreme ly smart in red, white and blue in large irregular designs. She is also making foulard bags to match blazer coats and scarves.

Pale pastels and light clear colors in preference to heavy shades in both sports and more formal attire domin ate Atlantic City modes just now.

Fifth Avenue declares that if you are really smart this season, you wear your white with colored accessories, following the fashion set by smart women at Ascot.

VALUE OF PRAIRIE SHELTERBELTS

The Tree Planting Division of the Forest Service, Department of the Interior, reports that there are now over 12,000 farmstead shelterbelts scattered over the Canadian prairies where the winters are severe and travel for miles without seeing a tree. Besides affording shelter for homesteads and crops and preventing soil-drifting, these plantations have made it possible to establish orchards, vegetable gardens, and plantings of bush fruits such as raspberries and currants, all of which were practically unknown on the prairies a few years ago.

Elmwood Unitted Church had its first wedding in 50 years, or since it was built.

SINCLAIR'S

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

A fine table mat for hot dishes can be made from the top of an old straw hat: the edge should be bound with tape.

A wooden box outside the kitchen door, with a tin on hinges, is a splendid receptacle for the milk bottle until ready to take it in.

A handy funnel for filling salt and pepper boxes etc., can be quickly made by using the corner of an envelope, cutting off a small part of the tip.

A handy twine holder is a small tin pail suspended from the kitchen wall in a convenient place by the small ring attached to it; place the ball of twine inside and run the end of the string out through the funnel end.

If a cork breaks and falls inside of a bottle, put enough ammonia in the bottle to float the cork and put it away for a few days. The ammonia will either eat or destroy the cork enough to permit its removal.

If you wish to leave a note for the milkman when placing the milk bottle outside, invert a tumbler over mouth of bottle to protect message from rain, snow or wind. For removing bottle tops, use a nut pick or steel knitting needle.

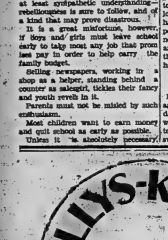

CARE OF CUT FLOWERS IN SUMMERTIME

Flowers feel the heat badly once they have been gathered, and if you do not treat them kindly their sad heads will droop, for they are very human.

The best time to gather during the hot weather is in the morning as soon as the dew has left, and before the sun gets hot. For choice select opening buds. They soon open out indoors. If you must gather later, when the flowers are warm from the sun, lay them flat in a bath of lukewarm water for a few hours, allowing the water to become cool before arranging the blooms.

Actual sunshine does not help them once they are cut, but most flowers like to feel the light on their stems. They will be best arranged in sparkling glass vases and placed in cool shady places away from draughts. A little cold tea added to their water makes them last twice as long. Remember not to mix the different varieties. Roses, for instance, will not flourish, if they have to share their water with any other kind of flowers, no matter how beautiful.

Flowers that have been out of water for a long time, or that have faded after a journey, can easily be revived. First split up the stems a little, then plunge them into a tall jar containing an inch or two of boiling water, remove them to a dark cupboard for a few hours. When the water is cold you will find the flowers are beautifully fresh again, and all you have to do is to cut off the dead piece ofstem.

IT is true that Willys-Knight has long held front rank with the world's most luxurious cars. That has long placed the seal of distinction upon its owners. That it has long been noticeably the car elect of the luxury class.

But today, by virtue of mounting sales and tremendous manufacturing facilities, it is possible to offer cars the world famous sleeve-valve motor in a low-priced line containing all Willys-Knight's quality supremacy.

No other car has such lightning pick-up—such silky smoothness—such an unfailing flow of silent power, effortlessly delivered mile after mile, year after year. The Willys-Knight sleeve-valve engine is always at its best. Powerful and smooth at the beginning, it increases in power and smoothness with each succeeding mile. Remarkable freedom from repairs and carbon troubles are but a few of the many advantages enjoyed by more than 325,000 enthusiastic drivers of Willys-Knights.

With the new Willys-Knight Standard Six you will enjoy the satisfaction of owning the same type of engine which powers the cars of royalty and half the peerage of Europe. You will admire the beautifully designed bodies and rich colors, and you will be amazed that so many quality features can be offered for so little money.

This Afternoon Frock Shows Newest Trends

THOROUGHLY captivating is the formal afternoon frock of beige flat crepe illustrated above, and it has many of the smart details of the new mode. The rounded V-neckline is cut very decorative. The flaring skirt and the bouffant hem-line are new notes for daytime wear—also give a lovely feeling of movement to the costume of everything that is graceful and feminine. BELLE THEATRE

Anders Randolph, who plays an important role in Pola Negri's latest Paramount picture, "Three Sinners," was once a champion swordsman and physical instructor with the U. S. Army. He was the first pugilistic instructor to make gymnastics compulsory in the army. The picture, "Three Sinners," will show at the Belle Theatre Monday to Wednesday inclusive.

Randolph has worked in two Paramount pictures—the first the company ever made and the latest.

Before Adolph Zukor and Jesse L. Lasky joined forces in what is now the Paramount Famous Lasky Corporation, Zukor made a number of pictures in the east under the firm name of Famous Players Company. The first was "The Prisoner of Zenda." In this picture, Randolph played four characters in support of James K. Hackett, who was featured.

In the fourteen years which intervened between his first appearance under the Paramount banner and his next, Randolph appeared on practically every other lot in Hollywood and on Broadway.

In "Three Sinners" he plays his role as the Baron Hohenmuth, falsely charged with Warner Baxter, Paul Lukas, Tullie Carminati and Olga Baclanova in the cast supporting the star.

REGENT THEATRE

Some of us remember Tillie. Most of us have left vague recollection she's not anything like she used to be. Her romance is punctured to an unbelievably different tune. Chumps and war play a great part in the little girl's life this time. She goes from roaring lions to roaring cannons and how she goes.

The treat of your young life with W. C. Fields and Chester Conklin with Louise Fazenda cooping the thin role. The rest of the cast is made up of old timers that know their comedy high and wide—Alice Joyce and Clive Brook directed "Behind the Front" and "We're in the Navy Now," wielded the megaphone.

The time of your life, you'll have when you see "Tillie's Punctured Romance," Monday at the Regent.

Church at Horton will be taken down and removed.

Parallel parking order in Galt is to be enforced.

TILLIE THE TOILER— A QUICK DECISION RUSS WESTOVER

ROYALS DROPPED TO THIRD PLACE

Fournier's Homer Beat Bisons; Another Win For Orioles

Reading, August 11.—Under a crushing defeat in the opening game of the series here yesterday afternoon by the score of 10 to 2, the Montreal Royals were ousted from second place by the Reading Keystone who put on a slugging exhibition against the pitching of Don Miller, totalling 16 hits for 21 bases. The second game of a schedule doubleheader was called off in the first inning on account of rain, with the Montreals one run to the good.

Rain came in the person of the Newark Bears and enabled them to score a 8-5 victory over the Buffalo Bisons in a contest that was featured by a home run by Jack Fournier with the bases full.

The Bears overcame a five-run lead, that tied the count in the fifth when Fournier hit one into the right-field bleachers. In the eighth, the Bears got over what proved to be the winning run on a pass to Marcus Fleming's single, and passes to Jenkins and Shinault, the latter batting in the deciding run.

The Buffalo's half of the ninth with Archdeacon and Thomas singled and Fisher tripled to score both runners and put Buffalo in front again, but simultaneously, with the pitch the run came down in sheets.

It was necessary to halt the game and the score reverted to the previous inning in Newark's favor. Buffalo slept into the game in the eighth with the bases full and filmed by Johnny Allen, pinch hitter, on three pitched balls.

The Buffalo's failed to make their third straight victory when they beat the Rochester Red Wings, 10-3, in the opening game of the series. The Birds continued their ferocious batting attack of the last three days and fell upon three Red Wing pitchers for 11 solid blows, five of them for extra bases. Charlie Gelbert hit his 18th home run of the season and also got a triple and two singles in four times up for a perfect day at bat.

BEAVERS MEET PLANTERS' TEAM

The Beavers are finishing a hard week-day when they take on the Planter's Intermediates of the Toronto Industrial League to make it six games in the week. Shake Thomas and Bessie Doolittle will likely get the pitching assignments. Miss Doolittle made a nice showing against the strong Oshawa Club and should do well today. Miss Vincent's ability is well known to local fans.

This week of strenuous playing for the Beavers will be followed by a layoff in games until next Thursday when they meet the Oshawa City Girls. On Friday Saturday the Team will play in either Peterboro or Oshawa. If in Peterboro, Oshawa will be in line for the following Saturday.

QUINTE DISTRICT

AIKINS W. M. S.

Aikins W. M. S. met at the home of Mrs. T. A. Hinchliffe on Thursday, Aug. 2, with twenty members and one visitor present. Meeting opened by singing 'Sweet Hour of Prayer,' followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. This scripture lesson was given by Mrs. W. Hamilton, taken from John 13 Chapter 1-19 verses. Three members led in prayer, Mrs. G. Webster, Mrs. A. Bunnett and Mrs. S. Shepherd.

The roll was then called and the minutes of last meeting were read and approved.

The devotional leaflet was given by Mrs. Pad entitled, 'Jesus' Standard of Greatness.' Jesus' life was a continued ministry. He was always doing for others and had so little time to himself. His ministry was to all classes alike. He was the servant to all. This was the Master's idea of greatness, not the possession of wealth nor power of authority but the delight of doing good was His measure of true greatness. Let us follow with reverend step the great example of Him whose Holy work was doing good.

Subject for study—Our Medical Mission in Canada.' Yellow was secretary of the life of the pioneer mothers who bravely struggle on. In so many cases kindness and a little treatment is all that is required to cheer and lift the over-burdened mothers who so bravely struggle on with their families in face their daily trials on the lonely frontiers. The hospitals are open to treat and receive patients of all classes. Here they are treated and lifted above them selves and given a glimpse of what's possibilities lie within their reach. In this net nation-building work of the highest character.' Mrs. H. Bush gave a reading, 'The Missionary Band.'

The programs committee for the next meeting are Mrs. G. Westover, Mrs. E. Hubbs, and Mrs. A. Bunnett. It was decided to let our Supply Secretary, Mrs. A. Page do the buying of the material for a quilt.

The Treasurer, Miss Jennie Moon, gave a report of the moneys raised thus far this year, which is one hundred and thirty dollars. Our allocation being three hundred and twenty dollars for the year which we hope to are spending their holidays with the meet. Mrs. S. Spafford gave a splendid reading, 'Holding the Ropes.'

The offering was received and a number of envelopes brought in, as this year we are endeavoring to meet our allocation by definite systematic giving.

'I need The precious Jesus' was sung and the meeting closed with the National Anthem.

Mrs. H. Kelly kindly offered her home for a special meeting to be held during the first part of August. The programme of this meeting, to be given by the associate helpers' The hostess served a dainty lunch and a social half hour was spent.

DOLAN THE DRUGGIST SELLS IT

What Will you do When your Children Cry for It

There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Castoria. At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable product; a baby remedy meant for young folks, Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Grief old - Castoria! Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may spare you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use: in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria will never injure peculiar skin, mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

TO FIND CAUSE OF RUGBY FAME

Headmaster Visits Famous Institution To Find How Character Built

London (By The Canadian Press).—That classic story of school life, "Tom Brown at Rugby," caused headmasters from all parts of the world who visit Rugby to enquire how character is trained there. This is what W. W. Vaughan, the present headmaster of Rugby, told an educational conference here.

They are all disappointed when I fail to tell them," he said. 'They have hopes that I shall be able to point to some schedule or pamphlet left by some wise predecessor which reveals the secret. Really I think character is trained in English schools by allowing people to make mistakes. That is about the only way in which you can train character."

Mr. Vaughan went on to 'confess' that, in addition to being headmaster of a school of 620 boys, he was also master of 86 boys, 'sometimes, I play truant as I am doing now," he said, "but I feel perfectly well that the discipline of that house will be quite as good on any day or night that I am away as when I am present. I depend solely on the wisdom, loyalty, the sternness of a dozen boys at the head of the house, who have been selected, not because they have strong arms, or because they are the biggest heads and stout hearts.'

During the morning session Sir Granville Ryrie, High Commissioner for Australia, said:

"Many of the text books dealing with Australia used in English schools are absolutely incorrect. Some of them are ridiculous in the extreme as they would have you believe that we have been written by people who know nothing about Australia.

"It is a great pity to think that the young people of the Old Country should begin life with false ideas of one of the great Dominions of the Empire. But this can be remedied by an interchange of teachers, for a teacher who has been in Australia would not dream of lecturing to the young idea such erroneous information as is contained in some of the text books.'

L. The Fairchild cabin monoplane "City of New York" with her wings folded at Currie Field, N.Y., prior to being towed on a cross-atlantic liner. 2. John H. Mears and Capt. C. B. Collyer, his pilot, with the dog present the start around the world. 3. Map of North America which carried Mears and Collyer across the Pacific with their plane "City of New York" aboard. She was used by Mears in 1913 when he made his first round the world flight.

"Twice now, John Henry Mears has circled the world in record time. On each occasion the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Russia" has enabled him to beat all former records. Twenty-three days before his plane "The City of New York" landed at Curtiss field, L.I., Mears and his pilot, Lt. D. Collyer, flew 700 miles out to sea and landed aboard the ship that conveyed him to France. Arrived in Europe, he flew from Cherbourg to Yokohama and boarded the "Empress of Russia" at Kobe, where the white liner waited ready to dash across the Pacific to Vancouver. From Vancouver to New York was covered by Mears' monoplane, which he carried with him on board. In his first article Mears prophesied success for himself and his companion because the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Russia" brought him back when I broke the record in 1913 and I look on it as a good omen that she is to help me break the record again."

His flight succeeded in breaking the record even better than expected, the "Empress of Russia" bringing him in a day ahead of schedule, enabling him to hop across the continent in his plane and arriving at Battery Park, New York, 22 days, 15 hours, 21 minutes, and 8 seconds after he had left on his journey eastward. He sent the following telegram to Mr. H. R. Beaumont, of the Canadian Pacific Steamships at Montreal:—"Collyer and I want to express our deep appreciation for the splendid cooperation we have received on our trip across the Pacific on the "Empress of Russia." Getting the ship in to Victoria Friday evening ahead of schedule saved us a day and we are deeply grate-

ILLUSTRATION STATIONS GROW

A separate division of the experimental farm branch, Dominion department of agriculture, has charge of the direction of the work on these stations.

The criticism has often been made that the farmer could not copy the experimental farm, as it would be impossible for the average farmer to provide himself with the more or less ideal methods pertaining on the government farm. These illustration stations have amply demonstrated that such criticism is wrong, and further that of the vast majority of our farmers are shown 'how' they can and will obtain results similar to those obtained on experimental farms.

The illustration stations are not experimental farms, but just ordinary farms chosen in districts where example will do good, preferably located on the highway. The owners of the farms chosen for the work continue to operate, but they do so under supervision. Each station becomes a centre for the growing and distribution of high grade seed of new and improved varieties, of pure bred live stock, and serves as a medium for conveying to the farmers in the vicinity of the stations in a practical way the results of the experimental and research work carried on at the experimental farms.

What the purpose is being achieved is apparent from the following figures showing the percentage increase in yields on illustration stations in Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario over the general average for the provinces: Potatoes, 46.7 per cent.; turnips, 113 per cent.; oats, 45.75 per cent.; hay and clover, 36.6 per cent.

The stations are located in British Columbia, which has 16; Alberta 14, Saskatchewan 26, Manitoba 13, Ontario 18, Quebec 59, New Brunswick 18, Nova Scotia 18 and Prince Edward Island 13.

The first clover seed ever produced in British Columbia was that harvested last year on the illustration stations at Prince George and Salmon Valley, where the yield ran 88 to 100 pounds to the acre.

Sales of seed and pure-bred stock from these stations amounted last year to 30,942 bushels of seed grain, 11,893 bushels of seed potatoes, 30,000 pounds of grass and clover seed, 366 pure bred bulls and heifers, 106 hogs, 165 sheep, 622 cockerels, 622 pullets and 1238 settings of eggs.

PINE CONES IN BRITISH EMPIRE

New Westminster, B.C.—Steamer, rail, motor truck and waggon are bringing in thousands of sacks of cones of Sitka spruce, western red cedar, western hemlock and other trees in a few weeks the extracted seeds will be shipped away to the markets of the world, chiefly within the British Empire.

The work of seed collecting from a small beginning in 1917, has grown to large proportions and today is assisting in building up forests in many parts of the Empire. New Zealand, in particular, is supplied each year with large quantities of Canadian tree seed and smaller quantities are shipped to Australia and elsewhere.

The crop of seed varies greatly for each species from year to year. During last season, taking all species as a whole, the crop was only medium. Of the three species most in demand—Sitka spruce, Douglas fir and western yellow pine—only the Sitka spruce produced a satisfactory supply. The coast variety of the Douglas fir, which for several years has not borne abundantly, during the last season produced practically no crop. Following a bum per crop in 1926, the western yellow pine also yielded but little seed. From the 1928 crop, however, more than 2,500 pounds of this seed was supplied to New Zealand alone.

MANY MOTHERS RECOMMEND THEM

Baby's Own Tablets Are Fine for Nervous Sleepless Children

From Canada the fame of Baby's Own Tablets is spreading over the world. Mothers recommend them to other mothers and wherever they are tried nothing but words of praise are heard for these pleasant tasting little tablets that promptly relieve the minor ailments of young children.

"Baby's Own Tablets are one of the best remedies for children's ailments I have ever used," says Mrs. Arthur T. Allen, of Auburn, Me. "My little girl was nervous and could not sleep. I tried the Tablets and she was relieved at once. She was also troubled with constipation and nothing seemed to help her. I had used the Tablets but a short time before her bowels were regular. All mothers should keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house for they are a valuable remedy."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all druggists or will be mailed on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

MUSKRATS SAFE FOR ONE YEAR

Fur Farmers Will Benefit By This New Regulation

The provincial government has passed a law that no muskrats are to be trapped for a period of at least one year in Ontario.

This step has been found necessary as a consequence of the tremendous drain upon wild fur-bearing animals due to the increasing popularity of furs for both winter and summer wear.

The uniform scarceness of wild fur-bearing animals is resulting in the development of a new industry, that of the fur farmer. The pioneer in this field was the breeder of silver-black foxes, but the large number of muskrats used by the peltry trade can be obtained for their skins, are making the high prices that today can bring this also a very desirable animal to raise in captivity.

An authority who has had a great deal of experience in fur farming and is one of the most successful breeders of silver-black foxes in Ontario, has recently added both muskrats and chinchilla rabbits, and is particularly enthusiastic about the future of the muskrat industry. He points out that this is not a laborious or even an expensive line to handle.

Swamp land cited by nature for little else, so long as it has an abundance of bulrushes and calcium, upon the roots of which the muskrats feed, is best suited to it.

WESTMINSTERS BOUND TOGETHER

London (By The Canadian Press).—The ties which bind Empire Westminster, London with New Westminster British Columbia, will be further strengthened in August when the 18-Year-old Scout John W. Turple, a student of Westminster City School and a member of the Scouts of the First Westminster Troop, conveys greetings to the First New Westminster Troop, British Columbia, which is affiliated to the troop here.

A year ago young Turple and a comrade met in the same troop by name of Jones, wrote in to Sir George Marshall Scout Empireon General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway stating that their vacation plans for that year be due and that they would much like to pay a visit to their comrades in New Westminster, B.C., and were grateful to work their passage across the Atlantic and across Canada if this could be arranged. Later they interviewed Sir George and he was struck by their enterprise. It was found possible this year to sign on Scout Turple as a steward's boy (Scout Jones had by this time a business appointment and was unable to go) on the S.S. Montcairn which left Southampton on July 24, returning in the same capacity on the Duchess of Bedford leaving Montreal 4 September 7 for Liverpool. Scout Turple will travel across Canada at the invitation of the Canadian Pacific Railway to New Westminster and his visit to that town will doubtless recall the fact that David Thompson, the Canadian explorer and author, was born in the parish of St. John the Evangelist, Westminster, England, and was educated at the Grey Coat School, Westminster, previous to his departure for Canada in May, 1784, in the Hudson's Bay Company's ship Prince Rupert.

WORLD TO WAR WITH SOVIET?

Leon Trotsky Says Not Only Probable But Is Inevitable

New York, N.Y. Leon Trotsky, exiled Russian Soviet opposition leader, believes that a world war against Russia is "not only probable, but inevitable." This belief and his reasons for the conclusion he gives in detail in his book, "The Real Situation in Russia", published by Harcourt, Brace & Company. The volume has been translated by Max Eastman.

Trotsky cites four reasons for his belief that a world war of "the imperialist powers against the Soviet Union" is inevitable. First, he says, "these years of struggle on the part of capitalism to strengthen itself and the partial success obtained in that struggle, have put to the question of markets a horrifying question for all the leading countries."

Trotsky's second reason is that "the imperialist bourgeoisie sees that the proletarian dictatorship will never give the capitalists a 'free' market in Russia."

Trotsky's third reason is that "the imperialist bourgeoisie is speculating on domestic difficulties in the Soviet Union." Lastly, he says, "the defeat of the revolution in China, following the defeat of the English general strike has filled the imperialists with the hope that they may succeed in crushing the Soviet Union."

"The rupture of diplomatic relations between England and the Soviet Union was preparing long ago," Trotsky asserts." It would be a great mistake to imagine that this matter received itself to a mere change in the form of trade between England and us. It is perfectly clear now that imperial England has a broader plan of activity. She is preparing a war against the Soviet Union having a "moral mandate from the bourgeoisie of several other countries and intending by one means or another to drag Russia and the Baltic States, and perhaps also Yugoslavia, Italy and Hungary.

"In France the English pressure towards a united front against the Soviet Union, (formed at the beginning crudely) neutral (in the manner of America in 1914). This, with a view to gain as much as possible from the war, and afterward openly sell its neutrality to the Western imperialists at a good price.

"The Japanese bourgeoisie is manoeuvring no less skilfully than the Germans in relation to the Soviet Union. But it is secretly holding the reins in China that may soon throw off mask in relation to us.

"In the Near East (Turkey and Persia) we have not, to say the least, achieved a situation which would guarantee a firm neutrality in case the imperialists attack us. It would be wiser to assume that in such a case the bourgeoisie of these countries will incline, under pressure, to do the bidding of the imperialists.

"In the case of attack on us," Trotsky concludes, "America, having preserved her friendly irreconcilable attitude to the Soviet Union, would play the role of the imperial 'rear'. The significance of this role would be the greater because she is just the one to guarantee the financing of a war against the Soviet Union."

"MARION" STARTS ON WAY TO NORTH

Boston.—With the Coast Guard Patrol boat Marion Shubrick the northern latitudes towards the waters between Labrador and Greenland amateur radio operators were given a new station to try for on their short wave receivers. The Marion's voyage to the north, is for scientific reasons. Through out the 4000 mile cruise, progress of the expedition will be sent by radio to Washington. The Marion also intends to communicate with amateur operators.

Call letters of the ship are MITH and ZXY. The latter call signal will be used in communicating with the amateurs. Wave lengths of about thirty metres will be used.

The expedition will visit several ports in Labrador and Greenland to obtain information regarding them and of the surrounding coasts. A study will be made of the ocean currents, weather, ice formation, water temperatures, depths and character of the ocean floor.

Lieutenant Commander E. H. Smith, who has long associated with the United States Hydrographic Office, has been placed in command of the expedition. Lieutenant N. G. Ricketts, who only a few days ago returned from a tour of duty with the International Ice Patrol, which kept him at sea ninety-nine successive days, is the executive officer. The other eighteen members of the crew are either volunteers or members of the coast guard who have been selected for their good seamanship or scientific inclinations.

GREATER MONEY FOR THE SWINE

Animals Will Receive Bigger Prize Awards This Year

A considerable increase in the prize money for the breeding swine classes and important changes in the breeding swine classification, are announced by the Royal Agricultural winter fair, to be effective for the 1928 fair.

An additional section has been added for both sows and boars, and the section for barrows has been dropped. This brings the total number of 'sections for each breed up to nineteen, as compared with eighteen formerly. The classification calls for Yorkshires, Berkshires, Tamworths and other pure breeds.

In Yorkshires nine prizes are being offered in the junior sow and boar sections and six in other sections, instead of five. The Yorkshire prize money now totals $983, as compared with $582 in the past.

In Berkshires seven prizes are offered in the junior sections, five in the others, as compared with five formerly. Berkshire prize money totals $846, against $665 before.

Six prizes are being offered in Tamworth junior classes, five in the others as compared with five throughout in the old prize list.

In the classes for the other breeds, six prizes are offered in all sections and groups, in which five prizes are available, comparing with three and two prizes under the old separate breed arrangement. The same prize money in this class totals $997.

Prizes range from $50 to $2. The total breeding swine money will be $3394, compared with $2868 in previous years.

The ages of animals will be computed on the basis of November 1. The new classification, which applies to all of the classes—Yorkshires, Berkshires, Tamworths and the "other breeds" groups—is as follows: (1) Boar, under six months; (2) boar, six months and under ten; (3), boar, ten months and under sixteen; (4) boar, sixteen months and under twelve; (5) boar, twenty-two months or over; (6) sow, under six months; (7), sow, six months and under ten; (8) sow, ten months and under sixteen; (9) sow, sixteen months and under twenty-two; (10) sow, twenty-two months or over; (11) four pigs, under ten months, got of one sire, bred and owned by exhibitor; (12) boar and two sows, under ten months; (13) boar and two sows, ten months or over; (14) junior champion boar, under ten months; (15) junior champion sow, under ten months; (16) senior champion sow, ten months or over; (17) senior champion sow, ten months or over; (18) grand champion boar; (19) grand champion sow.

AVIATION DAWNS FOR WOMEN NOW

Has Come To Stay Is Opinion of British Pilot

London (By The Canadian Press)—"I am firmly convinced that aviation has come to stay, so far as our women are concerned, as in Russia, China, Japan, Roumania, Sweden, Holland and all those other countries which boast of successful women pilots," says Lady Heath, noted British pilot in an interview in the Sporting Life.

"It is little realized the part women have played in the history of many conquests of the air. They are many and glorious. She has stood by man, not only in the actual flying, but in the general development and construction of aircraft, and when she has not done this she has helped in less direct but not less substantial ways by her courageous and support.

"Catherine Wright, who was a school-teacher, never married, so that she might earn money to enable her brothers to continue their experiments, which have made aviation possible to all. And she whose name also is so often forgotten when we speak of that famous family, is still taking a keen interest in the progress of the world's aviation from her home in America.

"As early as 1911 a number of women were their certificates as pilots—Mrs. DeBeaurolr Stocks, and Mrs. Maurice Hewlett, who afterwards ran her own aircraft factory; and who taught her own son to become one of the most brilliant pilots of the war, were two of our own countrywomen to do so.

"In America, Miss Harriet Quimby and Miss Moissant also did so, and Miss Quimby, who spent some time getting exhibitions in flying, holds the distinction of being the first woman to fly across the English Channel, which she did in 1912. There are many others.

"Then Catherine Stinson runs a school of aviation with her brothers and another sister at St. Antonio, and is herself a brilliant pilot.

"The question of expense has possibly deterred many others from taking to the sport, but anyone can learn to fly for under $150 and they can do so in some twenty lessons of one-thirty minutes each. As members of a club they are provided with a 'plane but they can purchase their own machines for about $75 a month, depreciation, hangarage, repairs and fuel expenses. And this will allow of flight of between 2,000 and 3,000 miles per month.

"There are three women in England holding commercial licenses—myself, Miss O'Brien, and Miss Spooner—and there is a real possibility of others in the country entering this new profession. They have done so much fully in America for many years past.

ANCIENT FAITH IN BAD SHAPE

Bhuddist Religion in Thibet Has Degenerated To Great Extent

New York, N.Y.—The Buddhist centre of New York has received a communication from Nicholas Roerich, head of the Roerich expedition on artistic and archaeological research in Tibet and other remote parts of Central Asia, declaring that Tibetan Buddhism had degenerated from dictatorship over the Buddhist world to an appalling depth of fraud, demonology and witchcraft.

The expedition recently escaped from five months' captivity in Tibet during which five of its Mongolian and Tibetan guides and ninety caravan camels perished.

The communication announced that the expedition had acquired rare second volumes of Buddhism and that they were being sent to the Buddhist centre.

The explorer reports that Buddhist monasteries and temples throughout Tibet are in ruins. The people, he said, were in a mood to revolt against the authority of the Dalai Lama, present head of the church.

He declared that he had found conscious reverence of Buddhism in Tibet held by a strikingly small number of people.

The first Roerich expedition into Tibet occurred in 1925. The communication recalls that conditions at that time, prior to the flight of the Third Lama and the accession to power of the Dalai Lama, were more satisfactory.

He believes there is no longer ground for the general belief throughout the western world that special spiritual qualities exist in Tibet.

"Therefore all persons seriously devoted to teaching Buddhism," he says, "should explain to the broad masses that the understanding of this high teaching has nothing in common with sorcery and superstition, which have been substituted cunningly to horrify weak minds."

He sees grave international complications resulting from the unwavering belief of Tibetans, despite the fact that they are on a low step of savagery, that they are heirs to Buddha. As a result, he says, the Tibetans hate the Chinese and all other Central Asiatic peoples, and are afraid of British and Russians.

The economic degeneration of the country has proceeded hand in hand with the crumbling of Buddhism.

"In big villages," he says, "there is not even one store. Butter, eggs, sugar, milk and ordinary vegetables are unheard of. In twilight people come begging you to sell them something; but to trade openly they dare not."

VARIETY OF GOODS FROM MFG. PLANTS

Toronto, Ont.—According to Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, the manufacturing plants maintained by the provincial secretary's department at Mimico, Guelph, Orillia and Toronto institutions have been turning out a large variety of goods during the past year.

Nearly $14,000 worth of boots were made at Orillia, and the sale of which made at Mimico realized $48,000. At The Guelph Reformatory all the signs used on the provincial highways and a large number of household articles were turned out by the inmates.

The women serving time in the Mercy reformatory in Toronto, occupy their time by making women's clothing.

GIRLS AND WOMEN NEED RICH BLOOD

This Lady Found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a Friend Indeed.

Just because she is a woman there are times when every woman needs help and strength in the form of a blood-building tonic.

To thousands of girls and women Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved a blessing because they enrich the blood, give strength and restore tone to the aching nerves. The anaemic girl who is languid and pale; the wife whose back feels like breaking; the matron whose health fails as she reaches middle age—for all such sufferers Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are invaluable because ill-health in girls and women is usually caused by poor blood or insufficient blood. These pills have proved a blessing to thousands of others, why not you? All various stages of life Mrs. C. R. Lake, Walton, N.S. has proved the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills she says:—"I first used these pills when a young girl, for it is during the teen age when nature calls upon every bit of the reserve strength we have, that we need their rejuvenating help. It was then I found Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a friend indeed. And again, now that the girlhood stage is past and I am a mother of four children, subject to all the cares and worries of the home, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is the only tonic I take to keep up my health and strength and they have never failed me. Should any ailing girl or weary mother, due to my advice try these pills, I know they will find them as equally good as I have done."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co. Brockville, Ont.

WOMAN THINKS IT GOOD SPORT

New York (C.P.—An editorial in the New York Times on the "Decline of Cycling" brought forth a letter from a woman cyclist "who dares." She writes from Greenwich, Conn.:

"What adult dares to ride a bicycle on the highways unless he is a mechanic going to work in overalls? I am a middle-aged women who not only dares, but takes the keenest delight in the clean, healthful exercise of riding my wheel. I earn my living in private homes, and when time off duty is accorded I go on my bicycle, against the wind at the start of my outing, so as to be aided by the wind on my return. I travel on the Albany Post Road, Post Roads, and sometimes on the beautiful Bronx River Parkway. Let me add a word in sincere appreciation of the motoring public for their courtesy and good humor in tolerating me on the crowded thoroughfares. Seldom am I scoffed at: even though I may be the subject of the laugh, it is all in the day's fun. I follow traffic lights and regulations. I have the greatest respect for law and order, but am firm in the belief that there is still room for all of us. If we are careful and unselfish, I return each time to my accustomed monotonous duties thoroughly relaxed, with a cleaner, broader outlook on life—tired sometimes, but never frightened, as you say, by trafic; filled with a renewed energy and a light-hearted cheerfulness which can not be found in any other form of amusement than bicycle riding."

HUGE GATHERING OF SCIENTISTS

Convention Will See Nearly 3000 Attending Next Month

London—(C.P.)—Nearly 3,000 members of the British Association for the Advancement of Science are expected at the annual convention, which will be held in Glasgow from Sept. 5 to 12. It is nearly 30 years since Glasgow last had the distinction of entertaining the British Association.

The president this year is Sir William Bragg, and in his inaugural address he will deal with the broad issues of the relations between science and industry. The address will be broadcast.

Of the 300 or so papers for discussion in the fifteen sections, twenty-six will be read by women. Fourteen of these twenty-six will be read in the botanical section, four in the psychological section three in the zoological section, two each in the anthropological and educational sections, and one in the geological section. Dame Helen Gwynne-Vaughan will be the President of the special section dealing with forestry.

Practically all the meetings will take place in the Glasgow University buildings. One exception to this rule will be an exhibition of scientific cinematograph films, lent by Imperial Chemical Industries and others, which will include a slow-motion picture of blasting operations, and pictures illustrating the extraction of steel from iron ore, and the assimilation of molecules.

Another interesting feature will be a discussion on broadcasting in education, in which Sir John Reith, Sir William Bragg, and Sir Oliver Lodge will take part. A model studio will be exhibited in order that visitors may see the extent to which it is possible for people to "project their personality" upon an unseen audience.

Sir William H. Ellis will speak on the influence of engineering on civilization, and Sir Richard Paget on the nature and origin of human speech.

WITH its sound basic design and its background of scientific development on General Motors Proving Ground—with its production advantages provided by the vast facilities of General Motors with its score of engineering advancements, including the famous G-M-R cylinder head—

—Pontiac Six offers a combination of smooth six-cylinder performance and high-speed endurance, the equal of which is found in no other car in the world selling for so low a price.

Its smooth, silent performance, combined with the beauty and luxury of its Fisher bodies, provides a measure of owner satisfaction unequalled in its field. And its tremendous endurance results in unparalleled length of life, which, in turn, is expressed in consistently high resale value.

More important reasons for the selection of any car have never been found. That's why ever-increasing thousands are choosing the Pontiac Six . . . why Pontiac sales for 1928 are far ahead of previous records.

EXTRA GLASSES HANDY TO HAVE DURING SUMMER

Broken or Lost Pair Might Spoil That Holiday Trip

We dislike to bring up the least suggestion of unpleasantness in connection with your vacation, but suppose you lose or break your glasses? Wouldn't that just about spoil your scenery in the mountains, at the lake or seashore, or out in the country? It certainly would if you didn't have an extra pair for just such an emergency.

Let us make you an extra pair of glasses now—before you start on your trip. Then you will be insured against the loss of time and pleasure and the inconvenience that will otherwise follow the loss or breakage of your glasses while away from home.

Consult Edwards now and be assured of a pleasant vacation as far as your eyes are concerned.

ANTIMONY IN CANADA

Although the production of antimony from Canadian mines was first recorded in 1886, shipments have been somewhat erratic and production has gradually fallen off largely on account of the decline in the market price of this metal. Ores of antimony are known to occur, however, in British Columbia, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia Ontario Quebec and Yukon, and there are indications of a renewal of interest which may result in antimony being regularly included in the statistics of Canada's mineral production.

$1,000,000 For More Color
HUDSON COMPLETES ULTRA-MODERN PLANT

The lacquer operator works with 18 colors always at his disposal.

With color playing an ever-growing part in motordom the Hudson Motor Car Co. has put into operation a special million dollar plant which permits the color-lacquering of such parts as fenders, hoods, etc., on a progressive and largely automatic system of manufacture.

The company announces that cars with new color schemes are now available. In the case of Hudson Superior Sixes the use of black enamel has disappeared—even splash aprons, gasoline tanks and chassis units being lacquered in harmony with the general color scheme. This new color plan particularly with a large car like Hudson brings about a unity and harmony of design which adds much to appearance.

The new buildings devoted to the lacquering of these units are 940 feet long, 80 feet wide and two stories high, and joined to them are two other buildings each 80 feet wide and 650 feetlong. There are approximately 8½ miles of pipes to carry the lacquer from the mixing room on the roof to the various spraying booths.

In these booths each operator has spray guns for the 16 different colors which are now in current production for the various Hudson models.

The conveyers themselves are among the largest installations ever known. There are three overhead systems each 3,000 feet long. It is on these conveyors that the parts are hung and carried in their route through three different spraying and baking operations. The chains are so timed that the proper drying effects are obtained while the units are in motion. Besides these conveyors 1,200 feet long and one conveyor, 2,000 feet long which carry the completed parts to the car assembly lines.

All parts to be lacquered are first thoroughly cleaned, then prepared with a metal primer and sanded. Then comes three coats of lacquer and three baking operations, producing a finish at once lustrous and durable. The final high polish is obtained by continued hand rubbing.

"This million dollars for colors is said to be an evidence of Hudson's determination to keep in advance of public demand. The use of lacquer color combinations on fenders and the related parts has hitherto been something seen only on special jobs. J. B. Boyce is local Hudson-Essex Dealer.

MODERN BAKERY DOES MOST OF COOKING TODAY
Genuine Homemade Pastry Is Made By Tarlington

How are you standing the warm weather? It is hot, but there's one way we can suggest by which you may avoid a lot of heat: it is by letting Tarlington do your summer baking of pies, cakes, cookies and all kinds of pastry.

Spending long hours of the summer weather in the kitchen isn't done any more by the wise ones; they have found that they are always fresh and alway wholesome, because made from pur est ingredients, and always obtainab at most reasonable prices.

A trial order will convince you tha you should let Tarlington be you baker in summer time.

NEW FREEZING EQUIPMENT NOW IN MOORES SHOP
Electric Refrigeration Now Assures Better Ice Cream

The task of providing a community with its candy, really pure high-grade homemade candies of all kinds—is no easy one. Candy firms—some of them producing a product of none too high a quality—are constantly working with the idea of ude-vulling competitors at any cost, and it's usually at the sacrifice of quality in their candies.

Belleville is fortunate in this regard; for a number of years past people of this city and district have been privileged to secure a class of homemade candies that is above the average. Moores Candy Store, in the Anglo-American Building, is the spot, and this well-known firm has gained an enviable reputation for selling a grade of homemade candies made on the premises by an expert candy maker—which is superior to any other obtainable here. This explains just why Moores have built up the largest candy business in the city, for such is the case. Expert knowledge of the candy business, the use of only the purest of ingredients at all times, and a constant aim to provide the greatest value for the least money is the reason.

Pure ice cream too, has been one of the products of this progressive firm, and in line with Moores' policy of always adopting the most up-to-date equipment, an electric automatic refrigerator has just been installed. With this up-to-date equipment people of Moores will always be assured of hard ice cream, free from any possibility of having sawdust or ice mixed with it.

The new refrigerator is of the newest type—and will assure Moores' patrons better ice cream and better service. Drop in to the Anglo-American Building and try a brick of Moores' own make ice cream—the best in the city—and electrically cooled.

ADVANTAGES OF GRAHAM'S PURE ICE APPRECIATED
Pure, Safe Ice Costs Less In Long Run

One of the very best ways is to provide yourself with the best ice service available, keeping in mind of course the expense of doing it—and to get the combination of these two you simply need to phone 374—Graham's Ice Service—and your name will be placed on their lists for immediate and regular delivery.

Graham's ice is recognized as the best—made as it is required from pure water and free from all possibility of having disease bearing germs; Graham's is harder than other ice, lasts longer, because it is harder, and so actually cheaper than other ice.

Furthermore, it is not packed in clean and may be used safely in your dirty, messy sawdust, but is absolutely drinking water without fear. Isn't this the kind of ice you want? If you are not satisfied with the ice and service you have been getting, just simply phone 374 and Graham's will do the rest.

NEW PAINT JOB AT ADAMS' SHOP
Bert Adams at the Footbridge Shoe Repairing Shop, Footridge Gangway, is improving the appearance of his place these days, providing it with an attractive paint job. The smart exterior will soon properly reflect the class of work done on the inside—for smart is the term that best describes the work and general service to be had at this shoe repairing plant.

With the summer slipping along, and school days looming up in the none too distant future, don't overlook the fact that Bert specializes in the repairing of children's shoes of all kinds; even though they may look pretty well 'gone' after the summer months there are yet a lot of good wear in them, and Bert can put them in proper shape, ready for that boy or girl to start off the coming school term properly shod.

A phone call to 1189 will give you prompt service; or if you're down street the shop is on the Footridge Gangway, just off Front Street and conveniently located for you.

APPOINT RECEIVER IN BOSTON COMPANY

Boston, Mass.—A 75-year-old legal case, that grew out of the French spoliation claims has resulted in the appointment of a receiver for the Boston Marine Insurance Company, which ceased to do business many years ago.

Supreme Court Judge Crosby appointed the receiver, the First National Bank of Boston, after counsel for descendants of the original stockholders of the insurance company said the case had been pending in the different Court for three-quarters of a century and all receivers previously appointed had died.

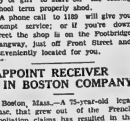

The spoliation claims resulted from the seizure of U. S. ships during the Napoleonic wars more than a century ago. After long controversy payment was made to the United States and compensation has been paid to many claimants. Descendants of the stockholders of the Boston Marine Insurance Company also laid claim to a share and shortly before his death the late Senator Lodge introduced a measure in Congress to provide for payment of $20,000 to these heirs.

The bank was appointed to receive any money which may be paid for Henry F. Baker of New York, one of the next of kin of Edward Dayles of Taunton, who died in 1876, and other heirs of the insurance company stockholders.

Mrs. O. J. Oficlly, Brockville, received painful burns when her clothes caught fire.

FLOWER SHOW TO OPEN THURSDAY

Belleville Horticultural Society "Plans" Biggest Affair In Years

THE OFFICERS

All Flower Gardeners Are Urged To Enter Their Exhibits

Belleville Horticultural Society will hold its annual exhibition this year in the Armouries on Thursday and Friday of this week, August the 16th and 17th. The Auditorium will be transformed from its usual rather austere appearance to one of beauty and colour for the occasion, as the bare walls will be decorated with all varieties of flowers and flags to make the Flower Show one that will long be remembered by the citizens of Belleville.

Entries will be accepted in the adult class up until tomorrow evening. In the case of children's entries, same will be accepted up till the first day as usual. Many amateur gardeners undertake the results of their efforts and the Society wishes to urge these gentlemen to exhibit, even though they do not think they will win a prize. And not only this, but by becoming a member of this society, one is entitled to full membership for a year, a subscription to the Canadian Horticulturist Magazine or an order for sixty cents worth of any kind of plant or bulb from any Belleville florist. The membership fee is one dollar a year, and even the assistance and advice of the other members of the Society would be worth that sum.

The Belleville Horticultural Society is doing a good work in this city and deserves the support of all flower gardeners. The admission charged at the Flower Show will be so low as to be practically nothing, and all are urged to journey to the Armouries either Thursday or Friday and view one of the loveliest exhibits of flowers ever to be seen in this city. Officers of the Society are as follows:

Hon. Presidents—A. R. Symons and J. B. Findlay.

President—C. J. Symons.

1st Vice-President—Dr. M. Farrell.

2nd Vice-President—C. A. Bolster.

AGED RECLUSE NEARLY STARVED

Thomas O'Connor Found By Friend In Unconscious Condition

Ottawa, Aug. 13.—Thomas O'Connor, aged 69, who lives alone a mile and half from any other dwelling near Manotick Station is in a badly weakened condition in the hospital here after spending four or five days relying about the floor of his house too ill to rise himself. He was discovered on the verge of unconsciousness when a friend went to visit him yesterday.

The aged man explained that he collapsed in the floor one morning sixty last week. He could not remember the exact day. He shouted as loudly as he could, but no one heard him. There was food in the hut, but he was too weak to reach it and he lay starving and helpless until arrival of his friend.

ROTARY LISTENS TO REV. R. HALL

President "Mac" Roberston Emphasizes Need of Better Attendance

Rotary luncheon in the Hotel Quinte today was not exceptionally well attended, although well over half the members were present. Those who were absent, missed a most interesting address by the Rev. Robert Hall, new minister of John Street United Church, and some few pungent remarks by the president.

President "Mac" Roberston emphasized the necessity of a good attendance and mentioned the case of Trenton Club, which had its charter suspended for not following out the rules of Rotary. "It might be a good thing if something like that would happen here," said "Mac."

Since Trenton Club had its charter temporarily suspended they have had a marvellous attendance. Last month the Club headed the list of all Ontario clubs, with 100 per cent attendance for July.

The Rev. Robert Hall gave a most intl resting talk on "Friendship", and "Service", the two mottos of the Rotary Club. Mr. Hall, it is hoped, will stay in Belleville, and the address was keenly appreciated by Rotarian members.

REMAINS OF COOK FOUND IN RIVER

St. Catharines, Aug. 13.—Mystery of the disappearance of Alex. Bellgard of, Toronto, cook for the Toronto sea cadets at Port Weller, on July 22, was partly cleared up Sunday when the upper portion of his body was washed ashore at Niagara-on-the-Lake. It is believed the body was cut in two by the propeller of a steamer.

Tornado Played Havoc With Small Pleasure Craft

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 13.—Six men are believed drowned and nearly one hundred other persons were rescued during the storm which abated early today after lashing the coast from the Virginia capes to Sandy Hook.

Frank Godfrey, Philadelphia, and an unidentified sailor were swept away when the tug Radiant sank in Delaware bay. John McBrain, 19, Philadelphia, Towbridge Cottell, 21, of Westerly, Joseph Sabo, 21, St. Louis and Lloyd Bateson, 21, Boston, were believed drowned last night when their 15 foot sail boat capsized near Watch Hill Rhode Island.

Philadelphia, Aug. 13.—A shortlived gale swept out along the Central Atlantic coast today leaving in its wake disabled craft, disrupted communication systems, flattened crops and storm battered seaside resorts.

The howling out of the north east the storm swept the coast and Bay, and Pinnacle over the week-end. Of Saturday night, especially, that caused traffic jams. Police stated that The Intelligencer today (Fri. only) where there are diagonal lines i diagonal parking allowed.

TRIED TO KILL DERBY WINNER

New York, Aug. 13.—A Sarasota special to the Herald Tribune says an attempt to destroy by fire the Kentucky Derby winner, Reigh Count and Futurity winner, Anita Peabody, was foiled yesterday by watchmen, aroused by watch dogs. Kerosene-soaked cotton was stuffed in the cracks of the windows and other vantage points of the stables housing the racing strings of Mrs John D. Hertz and John S. Madden. Roused by a dog the watchmen were in time to see two men running from the scene.

POLICE SUMMON TWENTY DRIVERS

The police are ever efficient in Belleville, and watch violations of the traffic laws of the city closely. This has been exemplified by the fact that twenty drivers will be summoned in parking their cars diagonally on Victoria Avenue, between Front street and Pinnacle over the week-end. On

LITTLE GIRL WAS STRUCK BY CAR

Miss Joan Buckingham, nine-year-old girl from Toronto, and visiting at 197 Front Street, narrowly escaped serious injury or death about nine o'clock on Saturday night when she was hit by the motor car driven by Morley Smith, 19 Geddes Street. Mr. Smith was driving north on Pivot Park, when the little girl ran out into the road and he struck her. Dr. Robertson was called and, after rendering medical attention announced that she was not seriously hurt.

The driver is not held by the police as eye-witnesses stated that the child darted directly in front of the car.

REV. HUNTER TO CONDUCT SERVICE

One Hundred And Fifty Graves Will Be Decorated

REV. GEEN ASSISTS

Plans Complete For Services In Local Cemeteries

Next Sunday afternoon will see the Annual Decoration Day services under the auspices of Canadian Legion Post No. 99. A drumhead service will be conducted on the Armouries lawn at 2.30 p.m. by Major the Rev. Hunter, assisted by the Rev. A. L. Geen, Chaplain of Post 99. A short service will also be held in front of the Mausoleum in the Belleville Cemetery.

Last year one hundred and fifty graves in the Belleville Cemetery and the St. Andrew's Church Cemetery, Thurlow, were decorated, but if any were overlooked, it is hoped that friends or relatives will get in touch with the Cemetery Sexton, and it will be rectified. Several veterans have died during the past year, and many more flowers will be required this year. Also those who wish to decorate the graves of comrades or members of families in the cemetery are requested to get in touch with the Canadian Legion on Front St.

Major the Rev. Bruce Hunter has conducted the Decoration Day services in Belleville on two other occasions, and will be welcomed back again. This year a firing party will fire three rounds in front of the Mausoleum after which the Last Post will be sounded. For the convenience of those who do not know whether the Legion has a complete list the following names are published. If any name is omitted, friends are advised to advise officials at the Canadian Legion Hall, Front St.

SOME IMPROVEMENT

Walter Phillips Injured In Crash Likely To Recover

Gravenhurst, Ont., Aug. 13.—Some improvement is reported in the condition of Walter Phillips, who was seriously injured in the aeroplane crash at Beaumaris Thursday when two were killed and five injured. Dr. E. W. Archibald, Montreal specialist who was rushed by motor car to the Calvary Hospital, performed a operation on the boy's head and he is reported to be slightly better.

DEL CHERRY IS CRITICALLY HURT

Well-Known Kingston Ball Player In Auto Accident

Kingston, Aug. 13.—Del Cherry, Captain and star outfielder of the Kingston team in the Central Ontario Baseball league, is in the hospital here in a critical condition as the result of an automobile accident when the car in which he and his two companions were driving crashed into a pool near the city.

Cherry is well known in Belleville especially by baseball fans, and the news of the accident was received here with regret. In a game here with the Kingston team only a short time ago when he pitched against the Nationals Cherry is regarded as the best all-round ball player in the Ontario League and had several opportunities to go with Toronto in the International League. Members of the local ball team hope for a speedy recovery.

ANOTHER DRIVER TO BE CHARGED

Fred Higgins Drove Car In Ditch And Injured Passenger

Another motorist will appear before Magistrate Mitet on the 20th of this month charged with drunken driving and will, in all probability stand his trial on the 23rd of August. Fred Higgins, Sidney Township, on the Belleville-Trenton road last week, it is alleged, drove his car into the ditch, and as a result a lady who was with him sustained a fractured arm.

The Provincial Police laid a charge of drunk in charge of a car and Higgins appeared on the case this week but was remanded until today. The accused is out on bail.

There are only two men charged with this offense to come before Magistrate Mitet this week, the other on Wednesday, of this week.

GEORGE W. YAGER DIED SUDDENLY

George W. Yager, one of the oldest residents of Sidney, suddenly collapsed at his late home, Cedar Street, today The late Mr. Yager had been in his usual good health and made no complaint of illness. He was lying on couch shortly after twelve o'clock when he expired. A physician was called but life was extinct on his arrival. Mr. Yager who was eighty years of age was a retired farmer but lived in this city for many years. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Peter Yager of Thurlow Township. He was a devoted member of Sidney Street United Church. A widow survives, One son, Roy, died two years ago.

NEW AMBULANCE IS PURCHASED

Riding Comfort of Studebaker Machine Cannot Be Equalled

At a meeting on Saturday evening it was decided by the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital to purchase a De Luxe ambulance built by the Studebaker Corporation of Canada. The ambulance, powered by the famous Studebaker Big Six motors delivers approximately one hundred brake horsepower. This machine is considered by experts to be the last word for ambulance work being especially designed and engineered by the Studebaker Corporation. The ambulance was purchased by the City of Belleville and the County of Hastings through the local Studebaker distributers the Green Motor Sales. Among the many new and illuminating features of the machine are electric fans, Bomgardner chair, medical cabinet, bed and cot, water containers, doors for the side or rear loading of patients and a long spring combined with a steel base or 158 inches giving a maximum riding comfort. In fact the equipment of this machine leaves nothing to be desired. The ola ambulance will be disposed of immediately and the new and up-to-date machine put into service.

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

The love of life, the last that lingers in the mind. —STATIUS.

HOOVER'S HARD FIGHT.

The report that Pierre Du Pont intends to support Governor Smith in the presidential elections and that he proposes resigning from the chairmanship of General Motors so as not to embarrass that corporation in the election, should give the public a clear idea on the strength of the Smith candidacy. It is not asserted that Governor is very popular as a candidate, even among those who support him in principle. He represents the Coolidge standard, an accidental graft on the ranks of the Republican party through the vice-presidency. The normal high financial interests are behind Coolidge and the tariff men. The rank and file are doubtful. The farmers are kicking over the traces. The vets of the party fly openly for Smith. This looks almost like a party line-up. The Democrats do not seem to have any serious defections. The Republican only fear is the farmers' revolt. Should there be anything more important than this the Republicans should win on their normal majority. But this cannot be said to all there is in the political situation in the United States. Such defections as that of John J. Raskob and Pierre S. Du Pont mean more than meets the eye. The reputation that Alfred Smith has gained as a man of affairs, practical and level-headed, a man who gets things done, and does them in a sensible way and with business-like methods, is counting with men all over the United States. Will Allen White made a silly attack upon him and has had no window dressings and spokesmen. Mr. White has done the Republican cause no good by this rash attack, and has helped Smith considerably. Another thing that cannot escape Mr. Hoover materially is the loyal support of Mayor Thompson. The Republican machine of Chicago is a decided offset to the Tammany machine of New York, and if anyone attempts to shout Tammany at Smith the retort of Thompson to Hoover will be rather more than enough to balance it. Thompson has issued an appeal as the New York Times puts it, to all his subordinates who are not under indictment or in jail to stand by Hoover. On this line honors are even. Dwight F. Davis tells Mr. Hoover that he is going to have a hard fight, and the secretary of war ought to know.

VOLCANIC ACTIVITY.

On the surface there may seem to be no relation between indifferent radio reception and the great eruption in the Dutch East Indies, but we are now going through the sunspot period and the electric storms, earthquakes and volcanoes that have been prevalent during part of two may not be uninfluenced by the sun. It was thought until recently that the explosions known as volcanoes were caused by the slight sinking of the earth's crust, which brought about fusion of some minerals and the vapor through weak places in the outer crust of the molten matter. But the discovery of radium and radio activity is leading scientists to abandon this theory. Whether sunspots have anything to do with it or not, we have certainly been going through a period of widespread disturbance of the earth's crust. In the last year or so earthquakes or earth tremors have been reported in many parts of the world, in Vancouver, Alaska, California, New York state, South America, South Africa, Palestine, Turkey and Japan. We have had volcanic activity at Malina and Vesuvius and now in the island of Pakowah. Which is not far distant from the scene of eruption which in 1883 blasted the island of Krakatoa out of existence with the loss of 30,000 lives. Last January Krakatoa showed signs of activity, and it is to be hoped that the disaster at Pakowah will not be followed by another at the former place. Canadians can congratulate themselves on living out of the sphere of major earth disturbances, and Hamiltonians have special reasons for satisfaction. Electric storms such as that which wrecked havoc in Toronto last week usually sweep past this city.

"ARS LONGA"?

Most readers will remember the sensation caused by the painting, by leading artists of France, of the famous "Pantheon de la Guerre," a stupendous work which took two years to complete, and represented all the important battles on the Western front. Twenty painters were employed on the panorama, and authentic, lifesize portraits of no fewer than 6,000 statesmen, generals and soldier heroes of the allied armies were included. The colossal canvas was exhibited in Paris and attracted millions of visitors. One reads with surprise, therefore, that it is "now rotting in a New York storage warehouse, after New York had refused to look at it." It seems that an American syndicate purchased the picture and had it transported to New York at very heavy cost. It is said that, on account of the length of the canvas when rolled up, houses had to be torn down and trees uprooted, to enable the train cars on which it was carried to make the curves. The actual expense of bringing it over from Paris to Madison Square Garden was nearly $300,000.

Its subsequent fate, after arrival in New York, has been most unfortunate. Though the show lasted for a month, it is reported that on no single day were there enough customers at a dollar a head to pay the rental of the garden. "Finally the promoters, in

THE ANATOMY OF MELANCHOLY

I read once in an ancient and proud book
How beauty fadeth,
How shale will Helen or Lucippe grow
When custom fadeth.
"When the black or hath trodden on her toe."
Beauty will alter.
And love that lives on beauty, so it said.
Will fade and falter.
Then while your mistress wrinkles and grows sour,
O sage sardonic,
What charm preserves your virile strength and show,
What potent tonic?
An elephant has trodden on your toe.
Your looks grow bleary,
Lucippe has quick eyes, the love of you
Is dull and weary.

I laid his book beside a Chinese rose-jar,
(Old Robert Burton),
Lifted the dragon-guarded lid and—lo!
Faint and uncertain
Frail rose-ghosts of rose-gardens all in blow
Haunted the room,
The sprangled dew, the shell-tints and the moonlight.
Lived in the fume.

And still shall linger in the leaves until
The jar shall perish.
So the true lovers in their memories slow
The things they cherish.
So the true lovers in their
And loose them in the tender after-glow
Of life's long day.
Till memory dies, and the world with all its passion
Fleets away.

—Duncan Campbell Scott.

Three Attractive Features

The annual riding and camping expedition of the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies has many attractive features, but at the top of the list were undoubtedly the three charming maidens photographed above who took part in a 250 mile ride, joining up with the main group that visited the Lake of the Hanging Glaciers. They are Kitty Maltby, Betty McCullough and Betty Hall, all of Philadelphia.

despair, packed up the panorama and put it in dead storage, where it still remains, and probably will some day be sold, as second-hand canvas, for storage chattels. This magnificent war memorial is worthy of a better fate, even though the scale on which it is executed undoubtedly presents serious difficulties.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

One of the best stories told about the Hon. Frank Oliver, former Minister of the Interior, and now a member of the Federal Railway Commission, relates to the time of the Riel Rebellion. Rumors of the impending Indian rising had caused great excitement in the West, and many in and about the little settlement that now is Edmonton became much frightened.

A friend of Mr. Oliver came to see him. "Frank, aren't you going to take your family to the fort?"

"Why?" queried Mr. Oliver.

'On account of the rebellion,' explained his friend.

'Rebellion? What rebellion?' Mr. Oliver still was in perplexity.

'Why the Indian rebellion. Don't you know that the Indians, are out in rebellion?' prvaised his visitor.

Mr. Oliver shook his head, slowly, gravely. 'I don't know of any rebellion,' he stated. 'Anyway if there is one, it is all the fault of those Tories at Ottawa, and I don't recognize it.'

"He—'Come on up to our house tonight.'

She—'I can't—I'm going to see 'Tristan and Isolde.'

"Well, bring 'em along!'

"How old is your son?' asked the visitor.

"Well,' replied the dad, 'he's reached that age when he thinks the most important thing to pass isn't his examination but the car ahead.'

"What's the matter, Brown? You don't seem to be contented now that your daughters are off your hands.'

'I would be, perhaps, if I didn't have to keep their husbands on their feet.'

The excitable man, rushing to get on a train, ran into an umbrella held by another passenger.

"You nearly stuck your umbrella in my eye,' he shouted as soon as he got on the car.

'Oh, no,' replied the otherer, 'I assure you that you're mistaken.'

"Mistaken! Don't you think I know when my own face is hurt!'.

'Doubtless you do, but you don't know my umbrella. I borrowed this one yesterday.'

LEAVENS BROS. BUY NEW PLANE

Waco Biplane Is Last Word In Modern Aircraft

Since buying their new Waco biplane two weeks ago, the Leavens Brothers have separated somewhat and while Harold remains at home flying at Presqu'ile Point and the Sandbanks, Walter Leavens and Michael Sinclair, "Big Air Engineer Maintenancing" through Western Ontario with the Curtiss biplane.

Walter left Belleville last Thursday and reports a very good week end around London. He expects to remain in Western Ontario for about three weeks or a month and then return to Belleville for the Fall Fairs.

On Thursday Arthur Leavens will take the new plane, which is painted a bright orange and black, to Ottawa, where he expects to spend about three weeks. This plane is the last word in modern planes of the lighter class, and all good fliers can take off and climb rapidly with a run of only one hundred feet. Although it is a smaller plane than the Curtiss "Oriole" which Walter is using, it is built to carry two passengers and the pilot, the passenger seat being wide enough for two persons.

RELIEF OF DERRY CELEBRATED AT FRANKFORD SAT.

Hundreds of Orangemen Gathered For Annual Affair

Members of the Royal Black Preceptory, a branch of the Orange Order gathered at the village of Frankford on Saturday for the annual celebration of the Anniversary of the Relief, of Derry. The village was a riot of color for the event and the streets were crowded with Knights from early morning until nearly sundown. Banners were flung across the thoroughfares and "arizone" signs adorned the principal buildings. It was one of the biggest days in Frankford's history. Royal Black Preceptory 631 of Frankford left nothing undone to provide a great day and they certainly succeeded in their efforts. Lodges were present from the following centres of Hastings and Northumberland Counties, Norwood, Peterboro, Campbellford, Crookston, Foxboro, Belleville and Trenton.

The best of drum and the sound of fife preceded the gathering of the Orangemen and shortly after noon the William of Orange. At two o'clock streets were thronged with followers of the parade headed by the Frankford band marched through the main streets to the Fair Ground where a program of sports and ball games proceeded. A ball game between the Frankford and Smithfield teams was a great attraction. Others were desired to hear the various speakers gathered in the grandstand where Chairman J. J. Adams, Frankford, first complimented the Frankford Lodge on their arrangements and announced the various speakers. The Ladies' Fife and Drum band of Campbellford together with the Frankford Municipal band rendered Orange airs during the course of the afternoon.

Mr. W. H. Thomson M.P.; Past Grand Master of Ontario East, was the first speaker and in the course of his remarks he outlined the splendid deeds of those who took part in the relief of Derry. Mr. Thomson urged that Orangemen maintain the traditions set by those who died that freedom might be preserved.

Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., who is always a favorite at Orange gatherings briefly sketched the work that has been attempted by the Provincial Govt. "Ontario has never been in a more prosperous state than she is today" said Mr. Ireland.

Mr. M. E. Maybee M.P. for North umberland spoke briefly as did the Rev. A. L. Geen, Grand Chaplain of British America. Major Ex-M.P.P. for Northumberland, Mr. J. C. Graves A. Reid, Past County Master gave short speches and concluded an interesting program. Sir J. M. Edwards Past Grand Master of British North America was scheduled to appear but unfortunately he found it impossible to be present.

UNIDENTIFIED BODY FOUND IN NIAGARA

Niagara Falls, N.Y., Aug. 13.—An unidentified body of a man approximately about 45 years old, was recovered from the upper Niagara River about a quarter of a mile above the upper rapids today. It is that of a man about five feet ten inches tall and weighing about 175 pounds. He had a manly mustache. Most of the upper teeth were missing.

CONSPIRACY TO MURDER SPOUSES

Planned To Rid Selves of Marriage Ties By Use of Poison

Charlotte, North Carolina, Aug. 13.—The police here have uncovered what they believe to be a murder plot whereby several husbands and wives planned to rid themselves of their marriage ties by poisoning their spouses. One death and the serious illness of three persons are attributed directly to the alleged conspiracy.

Six persons, arrested over the week end, were called to the Recorder's Court today to face charges of murder and conspiracy to murder. Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Frawley were accused of murdering L. M. Locksany, Mrs. Frawley's former husband. Locksany died on June 5, and three weeks later his widow and Frawley were married.

The others under accusation were Mrs L. M. Pridgen and Mrs. Tilly Townley, charged with conspiracy to murder their husbands; J. H. Moore, negro preacher, charged with conspiracy to murder his wife and S. W. Daniels, fortune teller, charged with murder, when the police accuse of supplying the poisons with which Locksany was murdered.

Burglars secured $300 worth of cigars, cigarettes, shoes and socks from Bloor of C. St. Webb, Grafton. Dahlia blossom, grown by J. H. Goforth, Mitchell, measured 8 inches across and 24 inches in circumference.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

T. E. GEORGE.

In the passing of the late Thomas Edward George, whose funeral was held Friday afternoon to the Belleville Cemetery, this city lost one of its oldest and most respected citizens. He was well known and his demise will be deeply mourned by many old and dear friends.

The late Mr. George was a Royal Navy Pension, travelling the world over several times, coming to this country thirty-six years ago and settling in Belleville with his family. His wife predeceased him by a few years, surviving are four daughters: Mrs. J. P. Tyrrell, Detroit, Mich; Mrs. L. G. Brown, Saskatoon; Mrs. E. A. Ray, Winnipeg, Man., and Mrs. F. Potter, and an only son, Thomas E. George, 177 Church Street this city. Among the many beautiful floral tributes which testified to the esteem in which he was held, were the following which were emailed in the list previously published:

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tyrrell, wreath; notices and nephews of Detroit, sheaf; Mr. and Mrs. I. E. George, sheaf; Mr. and Mrs. W. T. George, sheaf; Mr. and Mrs. John Blatherwick, sheaf.

RANSOM VANDERVOORT

The death occurred on Saturday afternoon of Ransom Vandervoort, aged 81 years, at his home on the Front of Sidney. Deceased was born in Murray Township but had lived in Sidney nearly all his life. He was a member of Holloway United Church and was well known in this district. He is survived by his widow, two daughters, Mrs. D. Brown, Trenton, and Mrs. J. Reid, Corbyville, as well as two sons, Walter of Sidney and John of Toronto. One brother, Henry Vandervoort, of Trenton, and two sisters, Mrs. H. Bowler, of Trenton, and Mrs. James Hagle of Sidney, also survive.

ONE UNFAILING FOUNT OF SYMPATHY TO ALL

Undoubtedly, the love relationship that exists between the child and its parents is the strongest tie that exists. The love between mother and son is even stronger than that between father and son, while the father-daughter love is more powerful than that between mother and daughter.

At first thought these statements may seem ill-founded. Truthfully may come to mind where this rule does not seem to apply.

Yet, although a cursory investigation might lead one to such a conclusion, deeper study and an emotional analysis of the individuals in question would undoubtedly bring to light the perpendicular influence of the parent of the opposite sex.

Mother, love, therefore, everything considered, may be considered the most powerful of all loves. Love for the other, by far and large, surpasses love for the father or love for wife or husband.

There is a quality of love about the mother concept that no other love possesses. It is enormously idealized. It is ingrained from earliest childhood. It is a dependable, soothing and comforting kind of love. It is a love that need not be won. Every boy or girl, man or woman, knows, that it is there without the asking.

Is it better, therefore, for the mother to supervise the teaching and training of the children whether they be male or female?

Or is it better for the mother to take charge of the son, and the father the daughter?

Or do the opposite sexes understand each other less thoroughly than do the same sexes

Questions such as these are certainly important in bringing up and the home.

As a matter of fact, the love relationships of children have comparatively little to do with the influences they derive from teachers, while in the home it does matter a great deal.

In the youngest years it is easy to fix the rest of age—mothers are undoubtedly the best caretakers in every way.

Women teachers are also best for children of both sexes up to adolescence. But fathers should take a hand in the home training both of their sons and daughters, and in active co-operation with the mother, up to the twelfth or thirteenth years anyway.

After that girls should continue to be taught by women in school as well as specially supervised by the mother in the home, while boys should be taught by men in school and specially supervised by the father at home.

However, the mother love influence is always to be relied upon when other factors fail.))

No man or woman ever can lose entirely the mother attachment.

Mother love is so deeply etched into the unconscious thinking that it amounts practically to an instinct.

TINY MOSQUITOES CARRY DISEASE

Viciously Attack Defenseless Sleepers At Night

Mosquitoes are ruthless in their attack on their helpless man prey. Under cover of darkness they cause constant annoyance and untold misery

So treacherous are these tiny insects that civilization has been retarded, where mosquitoes are found in large numbers.

Nothing can spoil a person's rest and disposition like the presence of even one solitary buzzing mosquito in the bedroom. Many a one has spent a frantic half hour in fruitless effort to find and swat one of these torturing pests.

Mosquitoes not only disturb rest but inject disease germs directly into the bloodstream. Scratching the itching bite often causes blood poisoning.

Try FLY-TOX and see how easily it does the work! You do not even have to see the pest. Just spray this fragrant and stainless liquid freely about the room, on screens and curtains.

FLY-TOX is a scientific insecticide for the home, developed at Mellon Institute of Industrial Research by Fox Research Fellowship. Sold in bottles through extensive growth of sore with the blue label.—

Wilful Wives

CHAPTER 15.

Lydia was, for once, aware in her studio. Since she expected only a feminine visitor, she was rather carelessly dressed. She swept a number of things from a divan to make place for Marguerite.

"So nice of you to come," she said abstractedly. "I've always urged Hal to bring you, but he's such a thoughtless boy, isn't he? I dare say you've found that out, living with him."

For the first time Marguerite felt at ease with Lydia. She seemed more natural, more approachable. Her tea was rather sloppily prepared in an ornate samovar. She offered it to Marguerite in a cup that didn't match its saucer.

"So different to keep things in a studio," she apologized. "Everything gets broken. After a party, I can never find a glass intact."

Marguerite plunged abruptly into the object of her visit.

"Miss Conveyse, I realize that I'm a misfit in the life here. I came to you, wondering if you would help me."

Lydia's brown went up.

"Help you? In what way?"

"To be one of you," Marguerite tried to explain painstakingly. "I rarely know what you and Hal and the friends to whom you've introduced me are talking about. And I'm sure I don't dress as I should. You see, my father made his money rather late in life. My tastes have always been simple. My mother, on the other hand, likes to be—to be—rather—"

When she floundered, Lydia nodded understandingly.

"I see. You want to live up to Hal's——Of course, you help you, my dear. I adore creating things. Leave it all to me."

She surveyed Marguerite with narrowed eyes and noted the simple gray gown and the pallah hat that framed the bright brown hair. Her eyes went to a mirror above the divan, and they were not so kindly when she saw her own reflection. There were shadows under her eyes and faint lines were beginning to show on either side of her rouged mouth. She noticed, to her intense disgust, a thread of white in her black hair. She hoped devoutly that it had not been there the previous evening, and made a mental resolution to pluck it out the moment her visitor left.

"You need different clothes," she told Marguerite. "Nothing changes a woma as much as clothes. One can achieve a totally different personality with a new gown.....Now I happen to know several little shops. I'll take you to them. You'll get a discount, if you go with me."

Marguerite murmured her thanks. "Suppose we do it now?" Lydia became quite brisk. "I happen to be free this afternoon."

Marguerite remained quietly in the studio while Lydia went to change into a street costume. The air was stuffy and stale with ancient tobacco smoke and the sunlight was partially shut out by heavy curtains that were faded with dust.

After a long time, Lydia appeared—a new Lydia! Perfumed and powdered and beautifully coifed, wearing one of her many black gowns, with much dangling jewelry at throat and wrist.

"Sorry to be so long, but, it's beastly, dressing without a maid. That's one of the things I had to give up when I cut my family and social position for the sake of my art. Ah, such a stern mistress!"

"A gem of a little shop, my dear. They'll turn you out so your husband won't recognize you."

Marguerite paid for the taxi as a matter of course. She noticed that Lydia carried no purse, and a vanity case. They were welcomed by the proprietor of the shop. Several salesmen in black hovered in the offing.

"Ah, Monsieur Balet, I have brought you a charming and very wealthy young customer. She wishes to be completely outfitted. I am sure I have told her that you are unique. You must be very, very clever with her."

Monsieur surveyed Marguerite with a calculating, eye, apparently she passed the inspection with flying colors, because he became increasingly deferential. With a lordly gesture he summoned the hovering sales women.

For the next few hours Marguerite underwent the trying experience of standing on a platform and having various fabrics draped and wrapped and pinned about her by an enthusiastic Parisian dressmaker. Sometimes the colors of the materials that were to be a part of her wardrobe spalled her. But she had made up her mind to go through with it, and she stuck to her resolution. She had a definite object in view. Because Hal had said that Lydia's taste was perfect.

Lydia sat at ease in a chair beside the stand and made lively suggestions that the Frenchman followed, some times irrevocably.

When the ordeal was over, Marguerite was limp with fatigue. She meekly donned her simple gray frock again, assisted by a saleswoman. Lydia was making appointments for the fittings, she held a long and low voiced conversation with Monsieur Balet. There was much fighting with a pad and pencil. Lydia had no intention of foregoing her commission.

"Hal will adore you when you're turned out the way Balet will do it," she told Marguerite, when they were again in the street.

Marguerite said hesitantly: "Don't you think some of the things were a little——extreme."

"You're like a little gray wren. It is time you were a bird of paradise."

"But, my dear child, you need that. I absolutely necessary for you to have flash and pep and color."

They hailed a taxi at the corner and Lydia said carelessly: "I'll drop you at your apartment, but I'm afraid I'll have to ask you to pay for the trip all the way to my flat. I forgot my purse. So stupid of me."

When Marguerite had bade her good-by and thanked her gratefully for her assistance, Lydia leaned back in the cab as it threaded its way through Park Avenue traffic, and laughed softly.

"Oh Hal, Hal!" she murmured to herself. "When you see the little simpleton you preferred to me in all the glory of her new raiment, then I shall be avenged!"

The Black Satin Dress
For Day-Time Wear

There is nothing more practical or smart than a dress of black satin for day-time wear. The one sketched above is in such unrelieved color that it would be appropriate for almost any hour of the day. A simple one-piece style that is quickly and easily made, it has a certain distinction because of the smart cape buttoned on the collar at an ideal position for the street. Interest centers also in the over-sleeves, a novelty, which ends in a decorative plait of satin georgette and falls in a graceful point. (Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.)

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LUARIE:

Some time ago I was engaged to a certain fellow and during that time a boy sent me a small, framed picture of himself. This boy was a school friend of mine and one whom I liked very much. My fiance was very angry because he sent me the picture and so I sent it back with a short explanation.

Since that time I have neither heard from my school-friend nor seen him.

About two months ago my engagement was broken. Should I write this boy and tell him I am free. Should I take back the picture?

BROKEN-HEARTED.

BROKEN-HEARTED:

write to the young man and tell him of your broken engagement, and then let him take the first step in re-establishing the friendship.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am nineteen years old. Eight months ago was persuaded into marriage. I did try to make the best of it. But as I could never love my husband, I left him. I am in love with a wonderful boy who loves me too, and what shall I do?

I am with my parents, who will not advise me. I will do what ever you say. Thanking you in advance.

LITTLE BIT.

LITTLE BIT: Perhaps it might do a lot of good. Little Bit, if you were, to talk over the situation with a lawyer. They are so very wise in handling cases of this kind, and could perhaps give you a permissive on the grounds which you do not see. An unbiased mind can see angles that never occur to either you or your husband, and I think that is the wisest thing for you to do. Or you might go to your spiritual advisor. They have such a vast experience in matters of just this kind and such an understanding of human nature and are always willing to help.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of eighteen. For the past two months I have been going with a boy of twenty-one. About eight months ago he went with a girl friend of mine, who also is a distant cousin. This girl friend of mine and I were great pals until I began going with this boy; now she barely speaks to me and recently she gave a party at her home and I was purposely left out. Should I give him up or not?

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Turn off the electric iron as soon as you hear a bell to be answered.

Keep poisonous medicines labeled and well out of the reach of children.

To prevent fat making the store dirty when frying, place a piece of paper over the frying pan. It will be found that this will catch all grease and will not be detrimental to the contents of the frying pan.

To prevent the cork of a vacuum flask becoming mouldy, a piece of silver paper should be tied round it with thin twine. Use a piece free from creases and see that the cork is quite dry before using.

CHRYSLER'S NEW DE SOTO CAR IS NOW ON DISPLAY

New Style, Beauty, Comfort In Low Price Field

The new DeSoto Six, generally regarded as Walter P. Chrysler's most important engineering offering to the motor public since the appearance of the original Chrysler car, is about to go on display throughout the country. The new car exhibits a degree of style, beauty and roominess hitherto unknown in its price field. It is built in seven body styles and bodies are priced well under $1,100 at the factory.

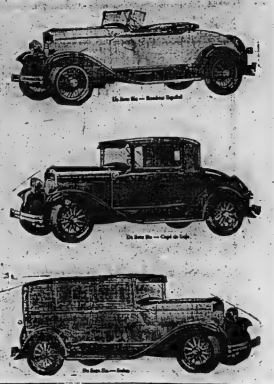

While preserving a distinctly individual appearance, the DeSoto Six instantly proclaims its Chrysler parentage and its Chrysler heritage of standardized quality. It will, DeSoto-Chrysler officials believe, cause a sensation in its price class equalled only by that which the original Chrysler car caused when four years ago it materially advanced the standards of the entire motor car industry. The DeSoto Six is, officials add, Mr. Chrysler's answer to the insistent demand for a bigger, more powerful and more luxurious car in the field of lower priced fines.

Flashing getaway, smoothness of operation, all speeds and instant stopping power, with all the power and performance characteristic for which Chrysler cars are known the world over, have been incorporated into the Chrysler-built DeSoto Six. The engine, of Chrysler design and manufacture, has an S. A. E. rating of 21.6 horse power and actually develops in excess of 65 horse power. The "Silver Dome" perfected high compression cylinder head, using any standard grade of gasoline and extracting the maximum in power, hill climbing ability, acceleration and speed, is standard equipment. The famous "Red Head" which obtains even greater speed and power from high test fuels is also available.

Remarkable Engine.

The remarkable power of the De Soto engine is accounted for by incorporating many high grade features, carefully engineered. The crankshaft is unusually heavy, rigid and short for the size of the engine. It is 30-32 inches long and its main bearings are 1 3-4 inches in diameter. Centrifugal forces have been neutralized by counterweights installed on the crankshaft, thus eliminating vibration and reduling bearing pressures. In addition careful static and dynamic balance of the crankshaft to limits as close as 1-10 of an ounce insures a smooth and constant flow of power at all engine speeds.

THE NEW CHRYSLER DE SOTO SIX

Chrysler designers have reached a new high point of excellence in planning and executing all seven of the De Soto Six body styles which present an appearance of smartness and beauty hitherto confined to much more expensive cars. The DeSoto Six has been conceived as a unit and all parts are in proportion to each other with the result that the car possesses a symmetrical balance evident, found in automobiles of any price class. Radiator lines are new and distinctively smart and so clevtry have symmetry and harmony in body lines been employed that the entire car presents a fleet, low-swung appearance which emphasizes immediately its fundamental power and grace.

PEAT PLANT WILL OPERATE

The peat plant at Alford, Ontario, constructed during the season of 1927 by the Department of Mines is being operated on a commercial basis during the 1928 season. It is anticipated that an output of at least 15,000 tons of air-dried peat fuel will be made available for the market.

STRENGTH OF FIRE - KILLED TIMBER

Recent tests at the Department of the Interior's Forest Products Laboratories, Vancouver branch, show that western cedar poles from fire-killed timber have practically the same strength as those obtained from green trees.

Wheat cutting is fairly well under way in Ingersoll district.

TO CONTROL THE NOXIOUS WEEDS

Department Tells How To To Work Land To Destroy Weeds

During the latter part of the summer and in the fact thorough working of cultivated land will destroy many weeds. As soon as the hay crop is removed the sod should be ploughed about 5 inches deep and disked lightly in order to pack it to hasten its decomposition. If the land contains couch grass it should be disked at weekly intervals for three or four week. Then, if the sod is well rotted, the cultivator should be started, to bring the underground stems, commonly called roots, to the surface. Weekly cultivations will be more effective in killing this weed than cultivations at longer intervals. If there are many roots and a chain harrow is available it should be used after each cultivation to bring the roots together for removal from the field. In the absence of a chain harrow a hay rake may be used. Couch grass roots which are brought entirely onto the surface of the ground will die in about ten days' time in ordinary summer weather. Late in the fall the land should be ploughed and left rough over whiter. Thorough cultivation as suggested above for the control of couch grass, will also eradicate most other perennial weeds. When the late summer and autumn weather is not too wet and thorough working of the soil is possible, fairly complete destruction of couch grass and other weeds of its clas will be accomplished.

Curves instead of straight lines—that's the latest in automobile fashions, illustrated by these 1929 McLaughlin-Buicks, just introduced. At the left, young Canada, represented by the youthful inhabitants of McLaughlin-Buick's home city of Oshawa, marvels at the massive new radiator. In the centre is the seven-passenger sedan, and above, the sport roadster.

Where the land contains only annual weeds a thorough disking about every ten days after the late summer ploughing will hasten the germination of weed seeds and cause the destruction of young weed seedings.

After harvest cultivation of grain stubble for weed control would be similar to that described for sod land except that it may not be necessary to plough the land if only annual weeds are present.

MOUSE TIES UP WHOLE CITY

Baltimore, Md.—Van Lear Black, Baltimore publisher, was a busy man becoming interested in aviation, but when he did he became a thorough convert.

The publisher of a newspaper which boasts that it had the first airplane owned and operated exclusively for the use of an editorial staff in gathering news, Mr. Black would neither ride in the newspaper plane nor go to the flying field to see it. But in March, 1927, he discovered that a journey from London to Holland would be more expeditious and comfortable by air and decided to travel that way. Within 13 months he had flown approximately 100,000 miles, attracting worldwide attention to his long distance wanderings through the clouds.

After the London-Holland flight Mr. Black decided to take a vacation. He is chairman of the board in the company which publishes the Baltimore Sun papers, and he had devoted his entire time for 13 years to these publications and to other financial and business interests, in addition to taking active part in Baltimore's civic affairs.

He was convinced that aviation could better be brought to public attention by demonstrating its value to the individual than by its exploits of professional fliers, so he took over a single motor plane of the K L M Royal Dutch Air Service, lured two pilots—Gerrit J. Geysendorffer and John B. Schalke—and started out. He made a round trip between London and Baltimore, Java, flew from London to Naples, Madrid and Seville, Copenhagen, Berlin, Dresden, Belgrade, Venice and Glasgow. The first flight over the Vesuvius crater by any but Italian government planes and establishment of record time between Naples and Paris were among the accomplishments of the publisher.

For his services in furthering world aviation, Black has been decorated by the king of Belgium and the queen of Holland and made an honorary member of the Aviators.

BELLE THEATRE

When the list of the best pictures of 1928 is made up, "Three Sinners" is the opening event at the Belle Theatre. Paramount, will be shown tonight for the first time at the Belle Theatre. "Three Sinners" has all the elements of popularity and, considered from every angle—plot, direction, acting, production and photograph,—is the embodiment of perfect-screen enterta-ment.

Directed by Rowland V. Lee, "Three Sinners" is the story of what happens to a beautiful young wife, when she makes one fatal mistake. Happy in her home, loving her husband, adoring her child, Pola Negri as the Countess Gerda Wallentin, in an unlucky moment, goes for an automobile ride with another man. Then comes the whirlwind and reaping is a life-time of remorse, with happiness won after suffering and hardship.

It is safe to say that the average film fan will say that Pola Negri, in the character of Gerda Wallentin, eclipses anything she has done before. It is a part to which the lends both beauty and skill and is the type of character which she interprets from a bit better than anything else we can think of.

The production of "Three Sinners" has been given a lavish scenic investiture, some of the interiors, especially those showing the reposing palace of Paris, being Hollywood's last word in elaborate backgrounds.

REGENT THEATRE

That classic movie studio trio of vaude, polite and portable organ which has assisted in causing gallons of tears or sides of happy smiles from film players may be all right for most productions, but not for "Tillie's Punctured Romance" which is playing at the Regent Theatre now. The all Comedy feature, made for Paramount under the direction of Edward Sutherland is a circus and was filled with all circus atmosphere filled the big tent next to the Queen's Hotel, under which W. C. Fields, Chester Conklin, Louise Fazenda and the big cast performed. Instead of being herded under the direction of a veteran circus leader we imagine they had to wade around keep performers and technicians alive in the circus mood.

FIVE MINERS KILLED

Johnstown, Pa., Aug. 13.—Five miners were killed late Thursday in an explosion in the Lorkhie Coal Company mine here. Their bodies were brought to the surface early the same night. Four other workers in the underground tunnels at the time of the blast escaped.

Considerable part of the fall wheat and flax crops about Mitchen, were flattened by rain and wind and will not get up again.

The Maritime Livestock Market was organized in March, 1928, to market Maritime livestock—chiefly beef, lambs and sheep, cattle—for 7,000 members of over eighty clubs in the three Maritime Provinces. The report of the first year shows 1151,127 received for 25,417 lambs, 19,315 hogs, 20 calves and 414 cattle.

An extension to the air express services maintained by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has been announced, and a new air line will be opened early in September between New York, via Albany, and Montreal. Lines are already operating between Rimouski, Montreal, Toronto, and Ottawa.

A name of unusual distinction will be added to the Canadian Pacific's Royal Family of ocean steamships when the fourth 20,000-ton vessel of the new "Duchess" class is launched in England. She will be called the "Duchess of York," and will be christened by Her Royal Highness the Duchess of York herself, the ship's name being recently changed from the "Duchess of Cornwall."

Despite the doubts of nervous tourists, the strictly beer is more attracted by the sight of a "Bockbierquelle" on a French café, of fish than the prospect of a noisy specimen of the "Bock," and the splendid array of knickerbockers now in British Columbia will probably contribute to a successful hunting season during the month of September and the early part of October.

Port William, Ontario.—Three train elevator arrangement at the large interests at the Head of the Lakes are handling the output of several powerful Canadian terminal and the elevator capacity, which is the complex being known as the Canadian Consolidated Grain Company. A total of 15,000,000 bushels of elevator capacity will be owned and operated by the new company.

Betty and Buster Bruin, two little black bear cubs, have arrived from Montreal for Italy where they will be presented to the Marquis de Pinedo, the famous Italian round-the-world flier. They are woolly babies, scarcely larger than a child's toy teddy bear, and of an adorable shape. They were obtained by Mr. E. Roncarelli of Montreal, branch of the General Tourist Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and are similar by the little bears sent over by him a few years ago to Mussolini.

The Dominion Government is going in for pigeon breeding with the object of training them birds for purposes of communication. The Department of National Defence is to have charge of the work. The Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for a pigeon-loft manager in connection with the Government air operations of the Department. The duties will be to organize and administer a pigeon communication service.

The Canada Goose makes remarkable migratory flights but it is not generally known that civilization has kept so far affected his habits that sometimes he travels by railway. A pair of wild geese occupying this modern luxury passed through the Windsor Station, Montreal, under the proverbial wing of the Canadian Pacific Express in a specially constructed crate. There are a number of bird sanctuaries throughout Canada and the United States where protected geese are kept to reassure their comrades that all is safe and secure when them to stop and rest on their flights north and south.

NATIONALS NOSED OUT BY PETES IN STIRRING GAME ON SATURDAY

Locals Failed To Connect In Pinches; Score 3-2

GIBSON PITCHED

Peterboro With Chance For Second Place Played Good Ball

(Special to The Intelligencer, By Fred D. Cary.)

Peterboro, Aug. 13.—Battling determinedly for a place in the league play-offs against Belleville, the rejuvenated Petes turned back the speeding Nationals Saturday, three to two, to wind of the best games of the season.

The game which was the fourth victory in a row for the locals, which incidently broke a winning streak of eleven straight games by the visitors, was a pitcher's battle between Bill Weidman and "Hoot" Gibson, with the veteran earning the decision over his youthful rival. He was on top of the Belleville hitters all the way, keeping their ten hits well scattered, and topping down in the pinches. Hagerman batting hit back three times on strikes, before he threw out with two runners whirling for a hit on each occasion.

The victory first run was scored in the sixth when W. Mills got two bases on a pop fly to centre which was misjudged by Hoipman.

Brother Harry Mills also hit to the same spot scoring on the play. Belleville's last run was a gift to Peterboro who muffed Scott's high fly, and by Mets whose useless throw to first sent the runner to second to score on Ash's single by Weir. Outside of these fielding lapses the locals played airtight steady with two double plays, one by Ash unassisted featuring. The big first baseman, Hoipman, was also the leading hitter with three safe blows while Tommy sent two runs across with a pair of clean singles.

Following is the box score:

No More Piles

Pile sufferers can only get quick, safe and lasting relief by removing the cause—bad blood circulation in the lower bowel. Cutting and salves can't do this an internal remedy must be used. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds because it relieves this blood congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has a wonderful record for quick and lasting relief in Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. J. S. McKeown and druggists anywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

CANADA STRONG IN BIG EVENT

Wrigley Marathon Has Many of Our Own People Entered

Toronto, Ont.—(By the Canadian Press)—Judging from the records of Canadians already entered Canada has an excellent chance of capturing the third Wrigley Marathon to be held on Sept. 8 at the Canadian National Exhibition.

Even if George Young, of Toronto, is in the form he showed when winning the Catalina channel swim he is going to find it difficult not merely to take first place in the mens race but to beat the Canadian competitors for there are many Canadian dark horses entered.

George, however, after the flurry which for a time seriously threatened his aquatic career is down to hard work and, though he has not yet officially entered the race, hopes to be at the starting point in an Exhibition conditions as has ever reached for an important race.

Of the other better known Canadian contenders Mendell Burditt, of Toronto is the last Canadian to the water in last year's race, and whom Ernst Vierkotter considers a strong contender, is the most prominent. John O'Sullivan of Barrie, is another of last year's unknown to be considered seriously this year. There are probably 25 Toronto swimmers with past records of varying importance all hard at work for the coming battle among them Joe Wilson one of the most brilliant swimmers the Dominion ever produced and the only Canadian to challenge for the Kings Cup, outstanding award in the suit of the Royal Life Saving Society. Wilson was almost world famous some years ago and was considered unbeatable in America at his best.

Donald Booth of Newmarket, Ont. winner of the Toronto Central Y.M.C.A.'s clarsed-time marathon which extended over more than a week, is turning professional for the Exhibition grind this year.

So far one of the most impressive swimmers among the remaining Canadians is Meyer Mendleman, of Montreal who was second in the Lake George Marathon, in 1927. Quebec in fact, is sending a strong contingent of aquatic experts to Toronto including a trio of French-Canadians entered so far include Romeo Curouard of Ottawa, Richard Aubin, Montreal, A. C. Beardin, New Liskeard, Robert Larochelle, Quebec and Albert Labrecque, Quebec Quebec City is also sending John Schulman.

The New Liskeard star is a dangerous contender for the honors. He has won several Northern Ontario marathons by long leads but will have stiff opposition from his own section of the Dominion with Jack Yohn, of Cache Bay, George F. Fielding of Copper Cliff and Fred O. Crowe of Fort William, who has yet to be beaten, is reported at the head of the lakes.

A large number of other Canadian swimmers and critics are also represented, though the only Western Canada swimmer entered is the moment is John Smythe, of Saskatoon, Sask.

THE BEEHIVE

CHAS. N. SULMAN

That Larry Gains is taking his battle with Godfrey on August 15 at the Maple Leaf stadium, Toronto, with no seriousness that the contest deserves, is shown by the above snaps which depict Gains jumbling heavy logs and wielding an axe with all the dexterity of an expert timber topper. All kinds of stunts are followed these days by athletes in conditioning themselves for important engagements, but the wood chopping idea is one from the "old world." Pesdina the Russian who was driven back to his native haunts by Godfrey, did most of his training in the wild woods. Road running is also a big item, and the middle panel shows Gains kicking up his dust part-

DEHYDRATION OF CANADIAN FRUIT

The process of dehydration as applied to fruit may be used to save from waste many of the orchard and garden crops. Canada imports more than five million dollars worth of dried fruits each year, including apples, apricots, currants and peaches besides the tropical fruits which we cannot grow. The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has conducted investigations covering a period of several years to find out among other things whether fruit dehydrated in Canada can take the place of imported goods of the same class. In the report of the Committee in charge of this work it is clearly brought out by the excellence of the fruit dehydrated at the stations in British Columbia and Ontario that when fruit of good quality is used a thoroughly fine marketable product results. It was discovered that dehydrated fruit when properly soaked refreshes almost to the original fresh weight. It was made equally clear that a good product cannot be made from fruit of inferior quality. Dehydration differs from what is generally known as evaporation in that the process is different and there is more moisture left in the stock. The report of the committee, available at the Publications Branch, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, contains information that fruit growers may well carefully consider.

Ottawa Rink Wins Bowling Honors - Northern Mystery Is Unfolded

BABY SHOW WILL BE A FEATURE

Miss Freeland, Pageant Directress, Urges More Interest

PRIZES DONATED

"Bigger And Better" Belleville Fair Is Promised - By Directors

One of the special attractions at the Belleville Agricultural Fair which will be held on the 28th, 29th, 30th, 31st of this month, will be a Baby Show, open to any baby in the County of Hastings under one year of age. The prizes will be awarded for the best developed and healthiest baby. Valuable prizes in the form of cash awards have been donated for the event, and much interest has already been shown.

The Baby Show will be held on the second day of the Fair, Wednesday, August 29th. Judging will take place at 4.45 p.m. at the Band St and those who wish to enter their babies in this show would do well to enter early. The First Prize is $5.00 in cash, donated by-F. G. Anderson, Coal Merchant, Belleville; Second Prize is $3.00 donated by A. Maldoff, Fruit Merchant, Belleville. Third prize is $2.50 in gold, donated by W. Embury, Printer, Belleville. These prizes are well worth winning besides the honour of having a prize winning baby, and mothers are requested to hand their child's name into the secretary, R. H. Ketcheson as soon as possible.

Plans for the Pageant have been completed, and Miss Freelands, lady directress who is in charge of the work here, reports that it is progressing favorably. Miss Freelands has had several years' experience in this class of work, and shows that her training has been of the best by the very capable manner in which she handles the scores of children at the rehearsals.

Several more adults are needed to complete the caste as Miss Freelandr wants it, to be, and any one who knows who care to come to the Armouries between seven and nine o'clock will be given every opportunity to take a part in this magnificent display. As many more children are needed as well, so who have the good of the city at heart should send them along and having a fine time while acting, the children will be assisted in oratorical work.

Many entries have been received from some owners from both east and west of Belleville and the races this year are sure to be hotly contested. Well over two thousand dollars in cash will be competed for in the four days of the Fair and the cream of the Eastern Ontario trotters and pacers will be seen at the Agricultural Park.

Race horses are not the only class in which there will be an increase this year, however, for it is understood that many owners of show horses in this have never before exhibited in Belleville are entering this year, after having had heard of the excellent arrangements and prize distributed last year. Local horse owners are not being discouraged, however, for they feel that their horses are able to hold their own with all but the most outstanding ones.

All in all it looks as though Belleville is to be favored this year with a "Bigger and Better Belleville Fair".

BADMINTON CLUB TO BUY BLAZERS

New Jerseys With Crests Will Be Ready For Autumn Season

The Belleville Garrison Badminton Club this year will have smart blazers, powder box, and adorned with a new crest, especially made for the Club by the J. A. Cash Company, Mr. H. Scott announced to the Intelligencer today. The blazers are being made in Belleville by the Deseron Shirt Company, while the crests are being sent to Montreal by the Cash Company, for their head factory, to be embroidered there.

The crest, which is of the same background as the jersey, has emblazoned upon it symbols representing the three branches of the Service, the Army, Navy and Airforce; as well as this there will be portrayed crossed racquets, and birds.

The Badminton season this year will open about the first of November, and it is expected that a splendid year will follow.

TAXI-DRIVER DIES

Was Hoping To Secure Revenge For a Beating Up

New York, Aug. 14.—Taxi-cab driver died early today of a broken neck received when he drove his cab, as a retaliatory measure, against the car of a man with whom he had just had a fight.

The dead driver, Frank M. Fear received a broken neck in the crash that Carbonetti and his wife, with the other cab was uninjured. The police a few minutes before stepped a fight between the two in which Fear was receiving a beating.

MOCK ATTACK ON BRITISH CAPITAL

Londoners Were Thrilled By Spectacular Air Combats

London, Aug. 14.—The vital sections of London would be smoking ruins today if the imaginary bombs dropped during a giant mock air attack by the "Eastland" forces throughout the night and early morning had been high explosive shells, the invaders contingent claims. If the attacking forces next same secrets during the remainder of the week as they declare they achieved in their first onset, London will be completely wiped out theoretically.

Londoners who were thrilled by the spectacular combats in mass formation were dismayed to learn today the extent of potential damage caused by the attackers. Aided by favorable conditions, 100 enemy planes penetrated to the outskirts of London and many got into the heart of the city.

M'DONALD PARTY GIVEN WELCOME

Kenora, Ont., Aug. 14.—The population of Kenora turned out enmass last night to welcome former Premier Macdonald and family and the big daughters, who are making a brief stop over here in the course of their Canadian jaunt.

The British Labor Leader was met at Dryden by Hon. Peter, Heenan, Canadian Minister of Labor, who for his arrival at Kenora introduced the visitors to the gathering of civic dignitaries and leading citizens.

In a brief address replying to the speech of welcome, Mr. Macdonald thanked the gathering for the cordiality of welcome, accorded himself and daughters.

Baggageman Was Shaken Up In Main-Line Spill

Pickering, Ont., Aug. 14.—Six passenger coaches and the baggage car of the Canadian Pacific Railways train number 20 which left Toronto at 9 a. m. for Montreal, were derailed at Audley Station, a few miles north of here, but none of the passengers were injured. H. W. Weaver, of Toronto, baggageman, was the only member of the crew to be hurt and he was only badly shaken up.

Railway officials at one o'clock had not announced the cause of the derailment. The work of clearing the line was started immediately and it was expected to have traffic moving through Audley by two pm.

Pickering Ont., Aug. 14.—The train was well loaded with passengers, including a number of vacationers and soldiers, who all escaped serious injury.

The accident occured at a curve near a switch with the train travelling at a good rate of speed. The passengers were considerably shaken shock, but according to a statement made by some of them, there was no serious panic.

Farmers working in the fields nearby rushed to the scene when they heard the crash but their assistance was not needed.

TWO YEAR OLD MYSTERY SOLVED

Remains of John Hornby And Two Companions Found

IN LONELY CABIN

Mounted Police Recover Bodies After Vigilant Search

Ottawa, Aug. 14.—The two year old mystery of the north has been solved by the finding of the bodies of John Hornby, eminent explorer, and his two nephews in a lonely cabin in in the north bank of the Thelon River in the barren land west of Hudson Bay. In a wireless message to headquarters here Supt. Sgt. M. A. Joyce Royal Canadian Mounted Police, stationed at Chesterfield Inlet, stated that they had perished of starvation.

The search for the Hornby party has been carried on since December, 1927. In June, 1928, the party left Fort Reliance at the eastern end of Great Slave Lake in a canoe in an attempt to reach Chesterfield Inlet on Hudson Bay. They were still missing last December and a general lookout was kept by the officers of the Mounted Police.

Hornby is described as an English man of middle age with considerable means and well educated. For many years he had journeyed through the barren lands west of Hudson Bay and was regarded as knowing more of that country than any one in the north. Some years ago he visited his home in England but the lure of the wilds caused him to return. With him came his two nephews named Hornby and "one other" learned. But for wireless no word would have been received of their fate for a month.

PREMIER OPENS NEW COLLEGIATE

Building To Be Last Word In Architectural Design

"I certainly think that the new Collegiate will be ready for the students in the early fall," stated Mr. John Derry, Minister of Public Works in connection to the Intelligencer today. "And that is left now is the building of the front steps and the placing of the furniture in the building."

The premier, Hon. Howard Ferguson, premier of Ontario, will officially open Belleville's fine, new institution, the Intelligencer learned today. "He has promised me that he will be here for the ceremonies." Mr. Derry stated this morning. To the few who have not seen the new building, it may safely be asserted that it will be the last school, in Eastern Ontario.

OLYMPIC ATHLETES TO SAIL AUGUST 25TH

London, Aug. 14. (C. P. Cable).—The majority of the Canadian athletes who will competed in the Olympic games will return to Canada by the steamer Doric, leaving Britain on August 25. Some of them left for Dublin today to take part in Tailteam games.

NEW SWIM RECORD

Chet Training For Toronto Derby Was Quite Exhausted

Ocean City, N. J., Aug. 14.—After only three weeks of distance swimming August Zerva, 23-year-old chef, swam from Atlantic City to this resort, 15 miles in five hours and six minutes, finishing late last night. Early today he left the hospital where he had received stimulants after his long session in the cold water. Zerva is training for the Wrigley marathon in Toronto.

The belt recorded swimming of the course was in 1913 when Charles Durieu swam it in five and half hours.

NO ONE INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

Struck An Open Switch And Piled Into Freight Cars

Brockville, Aug. 14.—The International Limited, the crack Canadian National train enroute from Montreal to Chicago, was derailed at noon at Auliville station when, as it is asserted in reports from that place, it struck an open cross-over switch and piled into the middle of a freight train standing on the eastbound track. The cars attached to the freight train were, in turn, thrown against a string of boarding cars which were stationed on a siding, the result being that both tracks of the main line were blocked. Details of the wreck available here are still fragmentary but all reports agree that no person on either train met with injury.

KIWANIS READY FOR BIG OUTING

Races, Sport And Acquatic Events To Feature Picnic

Local Kiwanians are all ready for their Annual Picnic tomorrow afternoon in Cobourg. The affair promises to be interesting every minute, for a capable committee has arranged a fine programme of races and sports that will rouse events which should appeal to all.

This year the picnic is to be a joint affair, with Picton, Peterboro and Lindsay Clubs taking part; a men's soft-ball tournament and greasy pig contest are two of the chief features of the picnic, and Belleville Kiwanians hope to bring back the silver cup representing the championship of the baseball championship.

The regular meeting of the Club in the Queen's hotel this afternoon. District Lieutenant Andy Oaul, of Hamilton, spoke interestingly on Kiwanis Organization and Activities; and Secretary Campbell of the Belleville Club members in reviewing some of their activities. Kiwanian

Each should so eat to live; not live to eat.
—CICERO.

SUICIDE AND REMEDY.

A suicide has broken out in Greenwich Village in New York among the artists and the class of literary young women and others, including feature critics and publicists. The trouble is that the life these people live is utterly devoid of any form of religion. Their souls are buried and they offer the sacrifice of their bodies to the vain and unsatisfying dreams of their youth. Parties are not enough. One can't drive herself into the river because a man who is forbidden to enjoy the orgies of magazines which accept his literary work, told her that his soul no talent and could never succeed in her art. The real artist has a much deeper in her than the mean or woman who longs for the approval of their outside authority. The whole of the trouble life tends to call the young to something out side themselves, when the secrets of life are but within. The suicide invariably has bought his treasure in some exterior triumph, whether of art or literature or music or passion. The highest things are not to be found in the world that passes away, but in the soul, in which the modern literary and psychological world does not believe. Perhaps they are not to be blamed who are skeptical about that which no one humbly expounds to them. But it is true that the great artists found within themselves that which gave them satisfaction, which provided a criterion, which inspired them to rise above failures to visions which no outer standard could equal, which lifted them above poverty and neglect and overcame all the difficulties that an adjacent world might offer. Suicide is the way of the egotist and the coward. Those who have the courage of the inner life are friendly to the world and do not need to know that the world is friendly to them. Modern criticism and literature has robbed its youth of the world of the great secret of the inner life, and until it is once more revealed to our youth we shall never have great creative power. Poetry and painting and music will be poetic of beauty and truth; and life, that should be lovely and inviting, will dwell in tones and hues. Our youth should find the critic and seek life more abundantly in nature and their own inner.

MINER HARVESTERS.

One thousand miner harvesters sailed from England yesterday for Canada to take part in operations in the west. An additional three thousand, it is reported, will depart in Liverpool during this week-end, and there will be many more thousands to follow if the scheme is carried to completion. The shipment of these workless miners is the evidence of their willingness to do work. The problem is what to do with them after the harvest is over. Several wirings have been issued in advance that they will not be published in western cities, and eastern cities will be no more more willing to assume the expense of their making Montreal. The British government will doubtless look after their subsequent welfare and see to their return to England in the event of it being found impossible to place them in suitable employment in the Dominion. But it is an expensive process, and there is undoubtedly substance in the criticism of Canadian Labor leaders that it would be more economical and convenient to arrange for the immigration of Canadian unemployed who are willing to assist in the harvest operations. However, the special rates provided for the latter enable the majority of them to gratify their ambition and reap a profit into the bargain. If the British government is willing to assume the responsibility for these miners, whose need is urgent, there can be no objection to their emigration. It is a challenge to the initiative of the Canadian authorities to inaugurate undertakings which will afford them and native workers employment when the immediate task is done.

FLIGHT FOOLHARDINESS

The narrow escapes of Courtney, Lindrowski, Franko and their fellow fliers, and other plans and projects for trans-Atlantic flights, give rise to questioning everywhere. It will not down.

Added emphasis is given by the death of Drolshi and another aviator in France by the Rainbow's crashing on the eve of an Atlantic hop off.

The questioning is founded on the fact that altogether too many lives have already been sacrificed in attempts at Atlantic crossing. It is time to call a halt to what has reached the proportion of a mania.

There is no longer a question of the personal bravery involved in this dangerous venture. More than bravery is needed. What is necessary is the evolution of a new principle in trans-ocean aircrafts; one that will allow the craft to ride the Atlantic storm. No present type of craft can cope with the down-beating coat of ice piled upon it through conversion of sleet, snow and fog. To blink that fact is to invite disaster in perhaps ten of the twelve months of the year.

There should be a trans-ocean aircraft holiday for the time being. It can be brought about by a strong expression of public opinion, which if unheeded would justify coercive action on the part of governments. The fact can be officially proclaimed—as it is terribly demonstrated—that the present types of heavier-than-air flying machines are not protected against the possible dangers of a trans-Atlantic flight.

The rejoicing over the recent rescues of Courtney, of the Poles and Portuguese should also carry a note of admonition; a recurrence should be banned. Especially as these dauntless men take advantage of gathering of fellowmen who rejoice over their miraculous escapes, to advertise "more loudly their future plans. They toast the intention of a further flitting with death in the identical manner as before. There is a point beyond which sense and reason refuses to go.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Fire caught in the roof of Brown's Foundry last night, but was extinguished in a few minutes by the brigade, little damage being done.

In the trophy competition of the Ontario Bowling Tourney at Niagara yesterday, both of the Belleville rinks were successful. Lavis' rink defeated Toronto Granites 22 to 19 while W. H. Biggs's rink scored 27 to 12 against the Canadas.

Mr. George Thompson, youngest son of Mrs. Hercules Thompson, Everett St., is on route to bear lying dangerously ill at Winnipeg. He was operated on for appendicitis and is very low. His many friends in this city will hope for a change for the better.

Another batch of citizens have been summonsed to appear on Friday for non-payment of the dog tax.

The thunder storm of this morning was a grand one. Heaven's artillery roared with more than usual power and fireballon, the lightning was vivid and frequent, and the rain fell in heavy showers.

Mr. Corby took out a large party on the Skylark yesterday afternoon. A pleasant run was made to the vicinity of Deerpond, and the pleasure of the occasion was largely enhanced by the singing of the Ottawa party from the scenic Emilie, headed by their Commodore, our esteemed former fellow townsman, John J. Harrison.

MOONLIGHT.

So long as there is moonlight
And all is witchery
To lend a vague enchantment
To every lake and sea;
So long as with the Summer
The reddening rose returns,
Still will that romance flower
For moonlight bears a message
Upon silver wings,
A tale of unguessed rapture,
Of far, ethereal things,
And life will move to music
Whose echoes never die.
So long as there is moonlight
To charm the sea and sky.

Under the Southern Cross

On a narrow strip of desert coast in far Peru, an epic of Canadian industrial enterprise is being enacted.

Below those desert sands, in the bed of a prehistoric ocean, nature has stored petroleum of such rich body and unusual purity that it has come to be recognized as the ideal crude for the manufacture of a better motor oil.

Imperial Oil Limited has discovered the precious lubricating properties of Peruvian crude. Imperial alone is responsible for the development of the Peruvian oil field. Imperial resources and enterprise today make Peruvian crude available for the manufacture of Canada's better motor oil.

From this superior crude, by advanced and exclusive refining methods, Marvelube is made. Because it is made from a better crude, Marvelube is an inherently better oil, and more fully meets all requirements of motor lubrication under all conditions of operation.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

EGGS STILL 35 CENTS

Eggs—thirty-five cents the dozen. Yes, the lowly hen fruit is still high in price, or was on the market square this morning. There were a few berries offered today, all selling at the same price as last Saturday, as did the very tables. Watermelons, fifteen cents the box, sold rapidly.

BOARD MEETING

There will be held the regular month ly meeting of the Board of Education in the council chambers on Friday evening. Members this summer, and the summer is the hardest time to raise a quorum, have maintained a splendid attendance record, and not one meeting has had to be dissolved for lack of trustees present.

SOFT-BALL TONIGHT.

The Official girls will clash with the Casco team in a scheduled City Industrial League game at the Armouries tonight. Both teams will be at full strength, for this game which will start promptly at 6.15.

A FINE PHOTOPLAY

Above the reverse is the verdict with regards to the picture "Tillie's Punctured Romance" which is showing at the Regent the first part of this week. For laughs this show is hard to beat, and with the new ventilating system which has been installed, the Regent is as comfortable a place to be on a hot night as can be found. Since being taken over by the owners of the Belleville theatre, better pictures have been shown at this theatre than ever before.

A POPULAR ORCHESTRA

"Tommy Mascus Rhythm Kings are having plenty of engagements to fill at the present time, as they are one of the regular orchestras at Riley's Pavilion as well as playing three nights a week at Crowe Lake. From all reports this orchestra which is a new local one, made an instant hit when they went to Crowe Lake, and were asked to play there all summer. The boys are all snappy musicians and know their instruments like veterans. Many from Belleville attend the Crowe Lake dances.

DECORATION DAY

Next Sunday is Decoration Day or the Canadian Legion. In this city and all veterans graves in Belleville Cemetery and St. James Cemetery will have flowers placed on them. The list of graves decorated last year appeared in yesterday's issue of the Intelligencer, and if any names were omitted, relatives or friends should get in touch with the Canadian Legion and the missing names will be added to the list. A service will be held on the Armouries Lawn at two-thirty p.m. and all parties who care to donate flowers or cars should get in touch with the parties in charge at the Canadian Legion Hall at once.

ARRIVE BACK TOMORROW

Mr. G.A.G. Weir, manager of the Bank of Montreal, who has been absent from his duties for the past six weeks, on sick leave, is expected back in the city tomorrow. Mr. Weir has spent the past two weeks in company with Mrs. Weir at Pandash Lake north of Bancroft.

SLIGHTLY WARMER

Old Sol treated us to one degree more heat today than yesterday, the mercury registering eighty-six degrees today. The minimum temperature for today was fifty-seven, while yesterday saw fifty-two degrees.

NOKE FOR HERE

None of the miners coming over from the Old Country to harvest in Canada will stay in Belleville. Mayor Green at the Government Employment Bureau stated to The Intelligencer today. "These hunky nuts of the pit-head are all going to the far West."

NO POLICE COURT

Another day this week has slipped by without the need of any police court Drunks, if there were any, kept out of the way of the vigilant police, and, for a wonder, there were no vagrants to appear before His Worship in court this morning.

ANNUAL KIWANIS PICNIC.

Tomorrow the district picnic of Kiwanis Clubs will be held at Cobourg and all that is needed now to make the day a success is fine weather. Clubs representing all the important cities and towns of Eastern Ontario will be present, and many outside are expected. The Belleville Kiwanis Club is sending a large delegation, and expect to win their share of the prizes.

PRINCE OF WALES OUTING

The Prince of Wales Community Club is taking up its midsummer activities again in the shape of their Annual Picnic tomorrow. This Club which is one of the livest in the city and operates for the good of all in the College Hill district has not been active during the hot spring, but from now on will combine their work with renewed effort. Their picnic will be held in Jones Grove, just across the river from Lasier's Paper Mills, and will start at one o'clock. Sports and music will feature the program, and a large crowd is expected.

EMMANUEL PICNIC

Emmanuel Sunday School Picnic will be held tomorrow afternoon at 12 O'Clock Point, and many of the families of the church are expected to attend. Cars will be at the Church at 1 p.m. and 1.30 to take all who have no other means of transportation to the Point, so many automobile and truck parents who would otherwise be unable to go will be given an enjoyable outing.

FIRST YEARS BEST IN TEACHING YOUTH

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH.
Eminent Psychologist.

We are accustomed to think that kindergarten and primary school teaching is not as important as grammar, high school, and college work.

The result has been that our best teachers have been attracted to the latter while the teaching years of teaching have been more or less open for less neglected.

We know now, however, that the most important formative years are the very earliest ones.

As a teaching problem the child at five or six, or eight or ten, deserves much more expert attention than the boy or girl of older years.

The things we teach an older child are more or less thought about, read about, and argued, but the things we teach the youngest pupils, are swallowed "hook, line and sinker," as one might say.

Whatever you tell young children is accepted as the best truth without question. They have implicit faith. They believe.

Their developing minds absorb all knowledge like a sponge. The critical sense is not yet present. They are compelled to accept what you tell them because they know no better.

"Well," you may say, "they will learn to correct false ideas as they grow older. Therefore, it cannot make much a huge difference whether you teach them 'property' or not."

This is exactly the idea that many parents still hold to. That is about what experts in pedagogics used to think.

It has been found, however, that children seldom correct to any appreciable degree false teachings in childhood. What they learn then sticks with bulldog tenacity.

One cannot state too positively that childhood impressions are never entirely eradicated and that, directly or indirectly, they affect the entire course of every individual's life.

The majority of our school teachers are women. Unfortunately, many of them take school appointments merely as a means of livelihood in lieu of marriage. Their tendencies and tastes are not specially directed to teaching. They possess no special aptitudes for a teaching career, nor do they really desire such a career.

They go into teaching as a substitute for something else. Naturally, their heart is not in the work.

This makes teaching perfunctory because it is a drudgery. And one sees more of this sort of careless teaching in kindergarten and the lowest school grades than higher up.

One gets the impression that the teachers long for the day to be over. And, of course, all the while it is the children who suffer.

They should have at least a rudimentary knowledge of psychology, especially as it refers to the earliest years of development.

The teaching that is best, is play. When the child loves what it is playing it does not tire so easily, and what it learns through play it never forgets.

The three Rs, must also be learned, to be sure, but self-control, generosity, fairness, freedom of emotional expression that does not interfere with the rights of others, and courtesy, are even more important.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

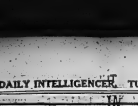

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a married woman, twenty-five years of age. I have been married eight years and I am very unhappy. I have two children whom I love dearly, but the trouble is I do not love my husband. Would you advise me to leave him or stay with him for the children's sake? — L. J. S.

J. S.: For your children's sake, you must stay with your husband. His illness has as much bearing on their future as has yours, and you would be doing a very wrong thing in depriving them of a father's care.

Rev. James G. Orr of Campbellford, was inducted into pastorate of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lindsay.

MILDRED BARBOUR

Chapter 16.
DISASTER.

With each fitting of new gowns, Marguerite grew more and more uneasy. Her simple taste rebelled at the creations that were slipped over her shoulders and pinned and manipulated by a corps of seamstresses in the Bale establishment. But Lydia Converse was always there, a brisk and efficient Lydia who had dropped her hangnous pose for the occasion. And Lydia was so brightly reassuring.

"Really remarkable, Marguerite," she would assure the bewildered girl, and expensive. I'll bet Lydia got a good fat commission."

"You really think they're pretty?" queried Marguerite anxiously.

"My dear, they're astounding, was Irma's evasive reply. "How I'd love to own that orange velvet with the gold lace!"

Marguerite made up her mind then and there to wear that particular gown to a party Lydia was giving that evening. She dressed carefully, thinking happily how surprised and pleased Lydia would be. At last, she was doing something of which he would approve. Lydia had also given Marguerite various new books and magazines to read.

"Those are the things people are talking about nowadays. Brush up on them, and you won't be tongue-tied at our parties."

The books were so much Greek to Marguerite, but she had a good memory. Again she thought how pleased Hal would be to hear her chatting with a dinner partner, instead of looking helpless while he looked bored. To her disappointment, Hal rang up to say that a conference at the office would make him very late.

"You'd better go on to Lydia's and explain that I'll have to come later. I'll meet you there as soon as I've had time to get up-town and change."

When she was dressed, she looked at herself in the mirror and a little of her elation left her. It seemed to her that the gown was scandalously low-cut. She felt somehow that, with the long train of gold lace draped from one side and sweeping behind her like the tail of a peacock, it would look better on the stage than in a drawing-room.

Lydia was giving the dinner at a hotel, and there was to be dancing afterward. Irma had said that morning, with a laugh and a shrug: "I wonder who is paying the bill. Poor Lydia Converse, I'll wager."

Marguerite was pleased at the sensation her entrance created. Hal himself only to make her more shy. Her dinner partner, a new man to whom Lydia introduced her guiltily, eyed her curiously.

"You're a newcomer to New York, Mrs. Reynolds?"

"Yes. This is really my first season here."

She felt that he was saying to himself: "Hmm. I thought so!"

Resolutely she plunged into the topics of conversation in which Lydia had coached her. She found him particularly unresponsive. Evidently, he preferred to give his attention to the really excellent dinner.

Hal came in late and found his place across the table from Marguerite. She envied the ease and grace with which he made his excuses. Her eyes sought his eagerly for the first glance that should register approval.

She saw the start he gave when he saw her, and flushed with pleasure. But, to her bewilderment, his eyes narrowed curiously. His low bow was gallant enough, but there was an ominous quality in his glance that disturbed her. She turned back to her dinner partner with a slightly less sure of her assurance. She was like a child reciting something she has learned by rote, but didn't understand. However, she talked on.

It was sometime before she noticed that the other guests were regarding her with raised brows. She caught Hal's frown and faltered into silence. Her dinner partner asked, dryly: "You don't by any chance write, Mrs. Reynolds?"

"Write?" she lifted puzzled eyes.

"Yes. Articles for the magazines and that sort of thing."

"Oh, no," she laughed. "I'm not clever enough."

"Really," he murmured politely. "My mistake, of course. . . . But I was under the impression that I had heard the opinions you have just expressed in the identical words in this month's Vanguard."

She flushed, realizing that she had been quoting, parrot-like, from an article she had read at Lydia's suggestion.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To clean dirty clothesline—Wrap it around the washboard and scrub it with a brush and soapsuds.

To bottom of dining room chair legs glue thin strips of felt to deaden noise and save the hardwood floors or linoleum.

To prevent new clothes pins from breaking put them in a basin with a little washing soda and cover with boiling water, letting them soak 30 minutes. Rinse in cold water and dry in the sun.

Use a grape basket for clothes pins with a wire hook fastened to the handle, or sew a wire hook on the clothes bag; this will save much time when hanging our clothes. It can be pushed along the line and is always handy for use.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. That it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved or colic pains—or other suffer ing. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.

IRISH FOOTBALLERS COMING

Belfast, Aug. 14 (C. P. Cable).—The Irish Football Association has accepted an invitation from the Dominion Football Association of Canada to send a team to tour the Dominion next summer.

REVIVE PROJECT OF N. S. CANAL

Cut Through Isthmus Would Make Province Island

Amherst, N. S., (C.P.)—Off and on for more than a century past engineers and commercial leaders in the Maritime Provinces have been preaching the necessity of cutting a canal through the narrow isthmus of Chignecto and thus at a single stroke severing Nova Scotia from the rest of the Dominion. It is pointed out that while such a canal would transform the province into an island in the terminology of physical geography, it would bring its production fields and ports into closer commercial communication with the markets of central and western Canada.

The century-old project was recently revived by the Amherst Board of Trade, which, after receiving an ex-Logan, K. C., passed a resolution urging the Dominion Government to undertake the construction of the canal at the earliest possible date.

A canal across the isthmus would shorten the sea run from the port of the maritimes to the St. Lawrence River ports by two days, cutting off Scotia coast; would greatly facilitate the dangerous circuit of the Nova trade between the Atlantic Provinces and the West Indies and bring Prince Edward Island into closer touch with Saint John, the commercial capital of New Brunswick.

While the Maritime Provinces and particularly Prince Edward Island, stand to gain by the consummation of the project, its promoters state the whole Dominion would benefit. Millions of tons of coal from the Cumberland Basin, gypsum from Albert County, N. B., apples from the Annapolis Valley, could be shipped through the new artery of trade to the Gulf of St. Lawrence and so to the port of Montreal for distribution throughout the Dominion transportation and marine insurance costs would drop.

Fifty years ago the project seemed well on its way to actual consummation when the Dominion Government granted $1,000,000 to commence construction, it having been approved by the Canal Commission of 1871, together with the Welland, Lachine, Sault Ste. Marie and Rideau canal plans. Then a more novel scheme for removing the trade barrier bloomed into brief splendor, detracting attention from canalization. In 1882 the Ship Railway project was launched and quickly gained strong support. The idea was to construct a railway on which ships with their cargoes undisturbed in their holds, would be hauled by locomotives across Chignecto But after some preliminary work the project was abandoned.

The first survey for a canal site was carried out in 1822 at the instigation of the British Government, more interested in finding a safe route for its small ships of war from Saint John and the Bay of Fundy to Quebec than in stimulating commercial development of the infant provinces of the sea. Other surveys followed in 1825 and 1843.

THERE is nothing that has ever taken Aspirin's place as an antidote for pain. It is safe, or physicians wouldn't use it, and endorse its use by others. Sure, or several million users would have turned to something else. But get the real Aspirin (at any druggists) with Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red:

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. We will soon tell users that Aspirin means Bayer—that unless the box bears the Bayer Cross it cannot contain Bayer Aspirin.

X-RAY MUMMY IN M'GILL COLLEGE

Montreal, Que., (C.P.)—After reclining many years in peace, Havara-ei-Maktaa, Egyptian mummy at the McGill Strathcona museum has been the subject of an x-ray photograph taken by E. Lionel Judah, curator of the McGill museums. The embalmed body of the ancient lady arrived at McGill in 1897 clad comfortably in mummy wrappings, having been presented to the university by Sir Thomas Fredrick. It came from Papyum, Egypt, and is one of three mummies at present at home in the Strathcona Museum.

One mummy is that of a princess elaborately bound in the choicest of linen and other is that of a commoner roughly bound and embalmed with bituminous pitch instead of spices. The lady's mummy which was partly unwrapped in order that the x-ray photographs could be taken more readily, shows a medium condition of rank between the two, it is stated at the museum. The wrappings of linen are not nearly as fine as that used for the princess and the specimen shows more of a bituminous pitch than of a spice embalming.

There is no gold directly placed on the face as there is on the princess mummy, but there is a gold-leaf mask covering the entire upper part of the mummy with a face painted on it, for which materials dyes have been used.

The ex-ray photographs revealed a normal human skeleton. Unquestionably the specimen is that of a woman ranging in age between 25 and 40 years the arms are folded across the chest. Whereas in the other two specimens at McGill, the arms are bound close to the sides. Hawara-ei-Maktaa has an excellent set of teeth, her bones are well-knit, and there is no evidence of a fracture often seen in such x-ray photographs. The plate of the skull showed a peculiar shaped window, through which the brain was probably removed for the embalming.

The x-ray has been found useful in the study of mummies because of the material information that can be obtained without injury to the object. Until wrappings are removed, the body rapidly decomposes, but the use of the x-ray has made it unnecessary to remove these coverings, and the risk of decomposition is obviated.

Warning was given to Peterboro citizens that all faulty chimneys must be remedied.

Is that US?

"Can't be! Must be the car ahead."

"I tell you, it's US! Your engine's all hot. What oil do you use?"

"Don't ask me!"

"Well say, Mister, if you want nice cool driving in this hot weather, you should use Castrol."

"Is it o.k. for this car?"

"Why certainly! There is a grade of Castrol for EVERY car. It saves money, too, because you get double, treble, four times the mileage."

. . . . . .

IMPORTANT—Castrol is sold only by garages and independent service stations. Watch for the Castrol sign.

BELLE THEATRE

Inconceivably powering herself once again the greatest tragic actress on screen today, Pola Negri showed at the Belle theatre last night in her latest starring picture for Paramount, "Three Sinners."

Suffering her personality and artistry to perfection, "Three Sinners" is a screen creation by this gifted actress which will live long in the memory of those who see this remarkable classic, directed by Rowland V. Lee.

Pola Negri is at her best in the portrayal of such characters as the Countess Gerda Wallentin, a woman who passes from respected society leader to painted adventuress in a swift moving story which grips from start to finish.

REGENT THEATRE

The reason for such good humor around town this week is the arrival of "Tillie" with her funny bag of tricks. "Tillie" of course being the 1928 model of "Tillie's Punctured Romance" the big Christie wit and circus picture which is playing at Regent Theatre.

Tillie is of course a rejuvenation of an old movie favorite, history in the films. And what a rejuvenation! It is probably having a lot to do with rejuvenating the perhaps jaded movie appetite of many fans who are crowding the theatre at every performance.

The picture is Al Christie's first big comedy epic for a year-and-a-half. Christie Comedies have of course been entertaining millions of people all over the world for many years in their short form and while Christie has also turned out many pictures of feature length this is his biggest to date. He is responsible for such long names as "So Long Letty," "Hold Your Breath," "Charley's Aunt," "Up in Mabel's Room" and many others, but his first super-comedy for Paramount is probably the most unique piece of entertainment ever concocted in this historic Hollywood studio.

The principal entertainers in the "Tillie" production are W. C. Fields, Chester Conklin, Eddie Fazenda, Mack Swain, Tom Kennedy, Doris Hill, Grant Withers, Babe Landon and others of Tilzer's circus who succeed to war in the most spectacular manner imaginable.

POOR HUSBANDS OF THE WINDY CITY!

Chicago, Ill.—Poor ex-husbands of Chicago, who have not enough money to keep a checking account, pay alimony totaling $200,000 annually by the postal money order route.

The figures were revealed by James A. Kearns, clerk of the municipal court, where remittance records are handled.

"It isn't only the rich who pay alimony," he said.

Most of the money orders, the records show, are sent to the office on Mondays, indicating that the working man dependent on his Saturday pay check waits until pay day to send his ex-wife her legal allowance.

Charlie Bonanni, aged 16, of Troop No. 1 Australian Boy Scouts, Wallaroo, rescued Willi Ellarlow, 16, from drowning near that town.

Charles Greer, contractor, Fort Arthur, shipped fifty men to English River and Bonheur one day recently for river driving operations.

POINT ANNE WIN EASY VICTORY IN FIRST GAME OF PLAY-OFFS

Ciacos Played Erratic Ball And Lost Exhibition 13-5

WEIR'S CLOUTING

Second Game Played At Point Anne On Thursday

Point Anne's smart baseball team to one lap to the good in their quest for the championship in the Bay of Quinte Industrial League by virtue of their win over the Ciacos in a loosely-played game at Corbyville's new diamond, yesterday afternoon. The score was 13-5 and at no time during eight frames did the Ciacos look like winners. Their playing was erratic and in order to tie up the round they will have to show a complete reversal of form on Thursday night. Point Anne's terrific hitting was the potent factor in the former boys' win and especially their ability to hit for extra bases was the big point in their favor. Pitchett, who has been one of the leading pitchers on the Ciacos corps was no mystery to the Pointers yesterday who wafted his offerings fore and aft. He certified a benchland attitude at times and the fingers behind them became discouraged with the score mounting steadily and in order, so spoke a further slaughter the game was curtailed to eight frames. Strachan was unsteady at times but the boys behind him pulled him out of several bad holes whenever the Ciacos managed to populate the runways. One of the features was a double play by Art Weir unassisted, the Nationals utility man taking Jack Boyle's line drive to sing on second and double Barrigh, who had been occupying the base. Corbyville had threatened to break into the score column and Weir's timely play spoiled any chance they had. The Ciacos were crowded for this play-off game, chiefly with Corbyville supporters but they seldom had a chance to exercise their vocal powers.

Strachan caused five men to fan the breeze while his rival acted the same number of men back to the bench by the strike-out route. The former had a decided advantage in one matter of hits and let the Ciacos down with eight, three while his team-mates collected thirteen. Alex Weir besides having a great day in the field was the big noise with the willow punching out three hits, two doubles and a triple in five times at bat. They was the only member of the Ciaco team to hit safely as Index base, his clout being a double.

Toward the end of the pastime with the game clinched the Point Anne team slipped their utility men into the group, Murney Green in centre field for the visitors made two sparkling catches and undoubtedly saved Strachan's kids as both of the clouts were labelled for doubles. A nice running catch of Jack Boyle's hoist over second in the first inning was a great piece of work. They contributed a play for when he went to the foul line to take Caulin's bash fly.

Weir's Hitting Featured.

The game which was a long drawn-out affair was started at 3:15 and it was after 7:30 when the umps finally called the decision of. Point Anne went into the lead in the second inning when Frank Geyer started the fire works with well-placed single. Bennett, Green, Caulin and Strachan hit safely in quick succession and before the brakes were applied four runs had crossed the plate. They added two more in the third with Geyer again being the man responsible. Geyer, Bennett and Caulin were the men to touch this time and the first two scored.

Ciacos made a feeble effort in the third frame when Pitchett, Green, Williams and Dey came through with their bats but the best the Ciacos could do was to score two runs. Murney Green took Keesey's low drive in the inning.

Two errors coupled with a rousing double by Weir resulted in three more runs for the Point in the sixth while in the eighth they had heavy on the hickory and three more men scampered over. Ciacos managed to get men on base but they could not get them off and dumb base-running cost them several runs. They got a very bad game out of their systems and may come back with the needed punch on Thursday night and surprise the cement boys in their own bailiwick.

Timmy Dey and Don Garrett, the Board of Strategy of the Ciaco Club will likely pick Ralph Dey on Thursday, while the Corbyville boys will probably be faced with Frank Bennett's shoots.

SMELTERS PLAY LAST GAME HERE

Nationals Will Be At Home To Deloro Tomorrow Afternoon

The Deloro Smelters will furnish the regular half-holiday attraction at the ball park tomorrow afternoon. The Central League is over as far as Deloro is concerned, they have a firm hold on the cellar position and cannot get out, but at the same time Manager Elliott can be depended upon to bring his best team down for the fray tomorrow. Toby Woods has regained his old time form and he is apt to hand the Nationals a beating. Gerow will probably start Vinny Uzonki on the hill and he and Woods should provide the cash customers with plenty of action. Some of the substitute outfielders may get a chance to go into action and Walter Gerow has at least five good fly-chasers on his Club. The Deloro Club has played good ball but they have been favored with few breaks and given some of these they will put a good argument. Cobalt will be hosts to the Peterboro Club at the same time and the Peters must win or be eliminated. The League executive will meet after the game to discuss important matters.

ONTARIOS DEFEAT NAPANEE EASILY

Hilda Matthews Pitched Splendid Game—Beavers Thursday Night

Belleville Ontarios had little difficulty in disposing of the Napanee team last night on the latter's discomf by a score of 15-9. It was Ontarios all the way, the blue-shirts piling up a lead in the opening innings. The score going into the ninth was 15-3 but partial darkness prevailed and Napanee ran the score to 15-9. It was claimed that the Ontarios could not see the ball with dusk setting away.

Hilda Matthews pitched wonderful ball and she was given splendid support by her team-mates, Allen, Wilately in quick succession and before the brakes were applied four runs had crossed the plate. They added two more in the third with Geyer again being the man responsible. Geyer, Bennett and Caulin were the men to touch this time and the first two scored.

Ciacos made a feeble effort in the third frame when Pitchett, Green, Williams and Dey came through with their bats but the best the Ciacos could do was to score two runs. Murney Green took Keesey's low drive in the inning.

Two errors coupled with a rousing double by Weir resulted in three more runs for the Point in the sixth while in the eighth they had heavy on the hickory and three more men scampered over. Ciacos managed to get men on base but they could not get them off and dumb base-running cost them several runs. They got a very bad game out of their systems and may come back with the needed punch on Thursday night and surprise the cement boys in their own bailiwick.

Timmy Dey and Don Garrett, the Board of Strategy of the Ciaco Club will likely pick Ralph Dey on Thursday, while the Corbyville boys will probably be faced with Frank Bennett's shoots.

By "The Observer"

Fans should not pass up tomorrow's game at the ball park just because there is little importance attached to the fixture. The Deloro Club always hit the ball hard here and Manager Elliott hopes to win as many games as possible in order to make a better showing. "Toby" Woods the Smelter's ace will likely oppose Vinny Uzonki on the mound. Both are young and will make it an interesting ball game.

The Nationals are in the throes of a hitting slump just now and they hope to emerge from it tomorrow. It is not exactly a hitting slump as they got ten safe hikes in Petorboro but they cannot advance the plays when they get them on the runways.

The Ontarios took another game from the Napanee Leafs last night at Napanee. It is an easy matter for Walter Derow's team to defeat Napanee for it is another matter for them to win from the Beavers.

The Ciaco Point Anne game last night was somewhat of a fiasco but the Corbyville boys promise to make things interesting in the return game Thursday night. The two Umpires Harold Woodley and Alan Meagher handled a good game last night, both being on top of every play.

Saturday's win gave the Petes the season's series with Belleville by 9 to 2 games. They thereby win twice as many from the leaders as the rest of the teams together.

The Seniors again had only nine available, Batten being in uniform, but was unable to get into the game.

Hap Harrison was an Ameuse and the big fellow's hitting, which has featured the locals' attack all season, was missed.

Stan Hagerman had his usual complaint that the Peter' pitchers threw him nothing but curves. He certainly is the Paul Rastering of this league when facing Peterborough hurlers.

Ash made two nice plays on bad throws by Mein, saving the recruit shortstop errors both times.—Peterboro Examiner.

Al Heckman was in form Saturday and Belleville took the short end for a change. "Hoot" Gibson was forced to grab leather after winning eleven starts.

The "Petes" will be here Wednesday for their final appearance of the season, and after the game the league will hold a meeting to decide about the play-offs. The Kingston issue will come in for some discussion.—Oshawa Times.

Kingston never did bring us any luck any time, and if they never reappear in the Central loop that will be quite soon enough so far as the Petes is concerned. Them Petes got a bad habit of quitting when the going is none too good, and I time after time wonder the league championship they left the Central with out a representative in the Civil play-offs by dropping out the final serious. So next time the Punies want to get into this league the Central moguls oughta do a lotta think ing before they send a feeble emissmit to the Easterners.—Peterboro Examiner.

BOATS TO COMPETE FOR CHAMP PRIZES

Newport Harbor, Cal.)-Upwards of a score of star-boats, blue ribbon craft of the small sailers, will compete here in a series of races, August 30 to September 5, for the international championship of that class.

Star fleets of France, Cuba, Hawaii, Canada and various sections of the United States have challenged the Newport harbor yacht club, holder of the international trophy, and each will send one of the small-hulled but plentifully sailed craft.

This series will mark the first time the international championship has been contested on the Pacific Coast.

The Trupe III, owned by Walter Hubbard, Jr., of the Newport Harbor Club, will not sail in defense of the honors she won on the east coast last year. The Trupe was beaten in all elimination series held to select a defender.

Ervandus Regardus of the Pearl Harbor Yacht Club, Honolulu, who has sailed in the last three international series will bring the Texas from the islands.

The Flota de Habana and Bahia Cienfuegos fleets of Cuba, the Flotte de Paris of France and the English Bay fleet of British Columbia will sail as other international challengers.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating.

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has been prescribed for many years by physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggist.

BODY OF PICTON MAN IS RECOVERED

Kingston School Teacher Beats His Wife To Death With Hammer

KINGSTON MAN CRUELLY SLAYS WIFE WITH BLUNT INSTRUMENT

Beat Her To Death And Calmly Informed Police of His Act

MENTALLY DERANGED

Richard Williams Was Former School Teacher At Picton

Kingston, Aug. 15.—Running in the home of Wilbert Richard Williams, aged 46, retired school teacher, in answer to a telephone call from Williams in which he said he thought he had killed his wife, the police this morning found the body of a woman. Williams was placed under arrest on a charge of murder. The police found Mrs. Williams dead in bed. Apparently she had been killed with a hammer. Gashes on the side of her head bore the male testimony to the manner by which she came to her death.

Williams showed little agitation as the police were conducting their investigation. He rolled a couple of cigarettes and seemed to enjoy the smoke as the police were making their gruesome discovery.

A retired school teacher, he played tennis with his wife yesterday and neighbors stated this morning that there had never been any indications of trouble between the couple. They moved to Kingston about a year ago from Picton, where Williams had been a school teacher. They had been married only a few years.

Those who were acquainted with Williams state that he had a most peculiar disposition, generally keeping to himself. When he did enter into conversation, Williams invariably kept asking the same questions over and over.

Slain In Sleep

Kingston, Aug. 15.—After telling the police his wife had been nagging him and that this morning had told him he should not go to the chesterfield but his slippers, Williams showed more interest in the time he would get his dinner than in his wife's slaying. Superficial examination made by physicians indicate that Williams is mentally deranged. It is understood that only a short time ago relatives consulted placing him in the institution.

The inquest into the woman's death will be opened tonight. The police found everything in Williams home in perfect order, leading them to believe the woman was slain in her sleep.

Kingston, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Williams, who was married this afternoon, was Maud Runnings, of Owen Sound. She was a graduate of Queen University and taught school in Picton for two or three years.

OSHAWA ROTARIANS HOLD FINE PICNIC

Oshawa, Aug. 15.—One of the most enjoyable and successful picnics to be held at Lakeview Park this season was that conducted yesterday by the Oshawa Rotary Club, who had Bowmanville Rotarians present as their guests. Softball, tug-of-war and all kinds of races were held, and the affair was flanked by a lavishly arranged supper catered by Welch.

Almost 200 people were present, the record being made the occasion of that where the Rotarians' wives and families were invited to be present to take part in the festivities and gayety.

MIKEL WILL JAIL DRUNK DRIVERS

Samuel Kirkey Freed, At Instigation of Crown Attorney

Samuel Kirkey, of Shirley, this morning was given a suspended sentence by Magistrate Mikel on a charge of driving a car while drunk on the night of August 1st. Kirkey was allowed to go upon suspension of sentence mainly at the instigation of Crown Attorney D. C. Donnan, who held, and most reasonably, that the man's case had happened in the Sayers case in that it was only fair that this accused should receive the same treatment. The Crown asked, however, and the Magistrate agreed with him, that in future all drunken drivers who caused personal or property damage should receive at least the minimum sentence of seven days in jail."

Kirkey, when he mounted the box promptly stated that he was guilty of the offense. "Your Worship", began the accused Kirkey, "in this matter you are probably familiar with a recent case where the accused escaped when property and personal damage was released on suspended sentence."

The accused who stands before you this morning is a married man with two children. He owns a home and is in the midst of the harvest. You are familiar with my attitude with regard to suspended sentences, but in order Equor and driving permits be cancelled. I would suggest that in future cases we start off on the right foot and that in no case where personal or property damage is done, should the accused be allowed to go on suspended sentence," said Magistrate Mikel.

Kirkey will continue to be sole local agent for the well known D. L. and W. Coal, as was the Downey Coal Co. The plant of the latter firm, of Downey the present proprietor are indefinite.

Mrs. (Dr.) Marshall Returns After Delightful European Trip

Mrs. (Dr.) Marshall, well-known society matron of this city, her brother, Mr. J. H. Forde, of Picton, and Mr. Percy Dwight, daughter Mrs. Dwight, of Toronto, returned yesterday from a six weeks' trip abroad. Mrs. Marshall stated today that she had had a perfectly wonderful trip in Europe and did not meet with one accident until she arrived back in this country, when the party had the misfortune to be involved in the International Limited which was wrecked near Brockville yesterday. We had a terrible shock", declared Mrs. Marshall this morning, "but luckily no one was hurt."

The party had a splendid motor trip of the British Isles and wonderful weather with the exception of rain. Later they crossed over to the continent to the waterways through Belgium, Holland and Germany, spending a day or two a week in Paris. They did not motor on the continent. The party sailed for this country from Cherbourg.

FILSUDSKI GOING TO RUMANIA

Warsaw, Aug. 15.—Marshal Pilsudski, who returned today from Rumania, will leave shortly for Rumania to take the cure. He will go to Turgovisle for a stay of several weeks.

MAKES MARK IN REALM OF RING

PETERBORO RESIDENT VICTIM OF CHOKING

Peterboro, Aug. 15.—James Bowyer, aged 51 years, a resident of Peterboro all his life, died suddenly this morning from the last twenty-five years dropped dead yesterday morning about 11 o'clock at the home of Charles Quinlan, 219 Rubidge street, where he was working.

MAKES MARK IN REALM OF RING

An old Belleville boy, well-known in this city for some time, and at present in Toronto, has made a name for himself in the boxing game in New York. Ed. "Irish" Lee gets credit for the welter-weight division in the United States that class which is headed by the redoubtable "Mickey" Walker. The Newsteaks Wilder. Lee has to his credit sixty-seven fights, in which he has knocked thirty-three of his opponents out. "Irish" has been fighting for three and a half years, and expects to return to the game.

Patrick Lee, who will be well remembered in Belleville, was Ed's father, and was once local manager of the McLaughlin Motor company.

VIERKOETTER CONFIDENT OF VICTORY

Will He Repeat This Year?

Ernst Vierkoetter, the world's champion marathon swimmer, signing on the dotted line for the third Wrigley $50,000 marathon, to be held September 8 at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto. The German aquatic marvel is shown with his trainer, Erich Barschoeck. Ernst won the $25,000 prize in last year's swim. The women will race on August 29. It will be the biggest sporting event in history, to say nothing of being the swim de luxe of all time. Over 220,000, said to be the largest number of people to ever witness a sporting classic, saw last year's race, one of 21 miles for women and men both. This year it is 15 miles for the men and 10 for the ladies. Vierkoetter says he fears only one man, George Young, the Canadian. In an exhibition race a few days ago George beat Ernst handily but the German said he wasn't trying. Vierkoetter was 27 years old on August 14. Famous swimmers from all parts of the world have entered the race. The most famous of the women is Gertrude Ederle, first woman to swim th English channel.

MANAGER EXONERATED

Robert Dorval, Held As Material Witness, Is Released

Hull, Que., Aug. 15.—Robert Dorval, Manager of the Gatineau Mills, Que., branch of the Royal Bank, was exonerated by the police of any connection or knowledge of a pod to rob that bank. Yesterday he was held for a few hours in the cells as a material witness along with Maurice Apotie but Mr. Dorval was soon released. Apotie is still held.

LIQUOR VESSEL AND CARGO SUNK

Coast Guard Capture Four Rum-Runners At Dunkirk

Dunkirk, N.Y., Aug. 15.—Attempting to evade the coast guard blockade along the Niagara river, two rum running boats last night took to the open water of Lake Erie only to be run down before they reached the United States shore. One of the boats was sunk by coast guard fire when it failed to stop as ordered near Greenhurst, five miles west of here. The second boat surrendered. The crew of the sunken craft who described themselves as Clifford Davis and Frans Ziller, of Buffalo, were held in Dunkirk today awaiting the action of the Federal authorities. Their cargo of Canadian ale went down with their boat which took five before it sank. Davis and the coast guard shot landed "in his lap" but he was uninjured.

The crew of the captured boat who said they were Edward and William Muck, of Niagara Falls, were taken to Buffalo.

FIRE DESTROYED REFINING PLANT

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 14.—Roaring thunderously and ejecting dense black clouds of smoke and a solid sheet of flame that could be seen miles away, fire last night partly destroyed the refining plant of the North Star Oil Company in St. Boniface, Man.

Nine storage tanks containing crude oil and gasoline exploded, adding to difficulty of fire fighters to subdue the blaze.

BODY OF FREDERICK SLAVEN IS RECOVERED IN PICTON HARBOR

Had Been Missing From Home For Past Two Days

WELL-KNOWN

Was Brother-In-Law of R. A. Norman, Police Magistrate

After having been missing for the past two days the body of Frederick Slaven a 72-year-old resident of the town of Picton was found floating in the waters of Picton harbor shortly after 7.30 this morning. Several men working about the docks noted the remains floating face upwards twenty feet from shore and after an investigation it was found to be that of Mr. Slaven. It is believed that while walking along the dock on Monday night he lost his footing and slipped into the water. He was last in the vicinity at dusk on that evening.

The late Mr. Slaven was well-known in Picton and Prince Edward County where he had resided all his life. Of late years he had lived a retired life but for many years acted as Division Court Clerk. Formerly he had been a well-known figure in Rural schools. His wife predeceased him some years ago and since that time he had had somewhat of a broken home life. His death did not occasion any alarm as he frequently spent periods with friends in the country. The late Mr. Slaven was a brother-in-law of R. A. Norman, Police Magistrate for the town of Picton. He was a member of St. Gregory's Roman Catholic Church and was a regular attendant. The body was slightly decomposed when found. Coroner Dr. Wallbridge was called and after viewing the remains he deemed an inquest unnecessary. No children survive. Burial will be made from St. Gregory's Church on Friday morning and interment will take place in Picton cemetery.

CRITICALLY HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Mrs. Frances Oliver, Deseronto, Lying In Local Hospital

One is lying in the Belleville General Hospital today, critically injured, with a fractured skull, one is at home with two broken ribs and a double fracture of the collar-bone and two more suffer slight minor injuries as the result of a crash on Highway No. 2 between Shannonville and Marysville about 9 p.m. last night.

Lawrence Oliver, R. R. No. 1 Deseronto, was driving west on the Highway late night when he crashed into another car driven by Morris Bornstein, 102 Bellevue Avenue, Toronto. The Oliver car turned completely over, pinning Mrs. Frances Oliver, the driver's wife, underneath. She was badly cut about the face and suffered a fractured skull. Today her condition was reported as serious. Mr. Oliver suffered two broken ribs and a bruised arm.

Mrs. Frances McCambridge, a third member of the party sustained a double fractured collar-bone, two broken ribs and was badly shaken up. Bernard Oliver, the fourth victim was only cut about the face.

The exact cause of the accident was not known today as Traffic Officer Prink was out of the city. It appears that Bornstein stopped following the accident, but later sped on to Napanee, where he was arrested by Traffic Officer Styles, and held.

Cars Badly Damaged

Both cars were badly damaged. The Oliver automobile, especially, is practically smashed beyond repair. Bornstein, fortunately, was not hurt at all, although his car is a wreck. The ambulance was called from Belleville and rushed to the scene of the accident, bringing the victims back to the General Hospital, where they were put under the care of Dr. Sargent of this city. The Traffic officers are making a thorough investigation of the affair and although Bornstein is not under arrest he is still in this vicinity.

SAILOR DROWNS IN ST. LAWRENCE

FIVE HUNDRED LOSE LIVES BY DROWNING

Shanghai, Aug. 14.—British naval circles announced today that 500 lives had been lost in the sinking and of the Chinese steamer Hainhsuting in the Yangtze River. Those drowned are believed to include a British missionary.

MARITIMES VITAL STATISTICS

Ottawa, August 13.—Living births in Nova Scotia in 1929 increased 1,000 against 10,960 in 1920. In New Brunswick 10,440.,

FOOTBALL STADIUM READY FOR INVASION

Kingston, Aug. 15.—After men have been busy working for several weeks the George Richardson Stadium is even now ready for occupation. The field has been re-sodded and looks better than ever, while the stands have been re-painted, and much work done in the dressing rooms.

STAGE SET FOR FLOWER EXHIBIT

Show Will Open At Local Armouries Tomorrow Evening

Practically all arrangements have been completed for the annual Flower Show which is held each year at the Armouries by the Belleville Horticultural Society and which will be opened officially tomorrow.

All officers and members of the Horticultural Society have worked hard to make this one of the biggest and best Flower Shows ever to have been put on in this city, as it behooves all Bellevillans to turn out to see the results of their work. Without any doubt, the display of flowers and horticultural exhibits this year will be above the average, and those who miss the show will regret it.

The Horticultural Society are doing a fine work in this city which many citizens do not seem to realize. The members assist in caring for many of the small plots of flowers which dot several of the streets in Belleville. Along with the Parks Board, the Horticultural Society keeps up all the flower beds which front the Agricultural Grounds as well as the beds on West Bridge Street.

Bellevillans should support the organization as much as possible for the main work of the Society is to beautify our city and to make our citizens realize that a beautiful city and beautiful home is an asset which we cannot well do without. The good work which has been done already and which is still being done is shown by practically all tourists who voice their appreciation of the trees and the flowers in Belleville. Rochester, N.Y. has a nation wide reputation of being the "Flower City" of the United States. Why cannot Belleville be the Flower City of Canada?

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

This is my home of love.
—SHAKESPEARE.

A TIMELY ORDER.

Attorney-General Price signalized his return from his vacation by immediately ordering that the marathon dance contest in progress at Crystal Beach, near Fort Colborne, be stopped at once. In addition, he made it very clear that steps would be taken to guard re-occurrence of events of this kind impossible in Ontario.

There will be general approval for this action. No persons, except those benefiting financially from these demoralizing events, will have any desire to have them repeated in other Ontario communities. The manner in which young men and women have succumbed against weariness and fatigue, both mental and physical, under the lure of the prizes offered by the promoters of the dancing marathons, has filled decent people with disgust. The pitiful part of the whole episode is that there are enough people willing to witness these events to make them profitable for the promoters. They amount to nothing more or less than a shameless exploitation of human flesh and blood, of mental and physical agony, for the financial profit of a few soulless individuals. Surely Ontario can provide sufficient means of entertainment and recreation for its people without falling to the depths of degradation shown in the marathon dancing craze. Attorney-General Price has done well to put a stop to this kind of thing, and his action will meet with general support.

RUBBISH GETS THE LAUGH

A British court has been trying a theory whether a musical comedy part consisting of 27 lines constitutes a "leading role." An American actor, engaged to play a leading role, found that he had but 27 lines to speak and thereupon sued the producers for breach of contract.

George Grossmith, known in this country as well as in Great Britain as a top comedian, in his testimony for the defence told the court that the lines didn't make much difference in musical comedy. "I have had parts in which I have used not a single word of the play," he said. "The lines given to all musical comedy comedians are rubbish. It is a strange thing, but it is the rubbish that always gets the laugh. On one occasion I was even instructed to go into a corner and arrange a scene without any dialogue at all."

Whereupon the plaintiff's lawyer said: "I well remember one scene in which Mr. Payne spat a bun at you. That was a great scene."

Can it be that the difficulties in which the speaking stage finds itself are due to the fact that Shakespeare, Ibsen, and other playwrights rated great and best-great by the critics never thought of having Hamlet, Othello, Cæsar and other characters spit buns?

WELL-MEANING MAYOR.

Wallasey, a Mersey town, near Liverpool, has a "matrimonial mayor." There are more than two thousand surplus ladies there—using the term in the biological sense—and in the interest of civic progress the mayor seeks to use this surpluswage invested in safe bonds of the marriage type. "Come to Wallasey," is his slogan, and he adds "famed for its climate and its pretty women." The mayor is casting eyes at Canada and the United States, and causes it to be known that as a city rather his preference runs in the direction of Nordic bachelors with flexible-life predilections.

One result of his campaign is that lone males—whether married or not—who betake themselves to Wallasey find themselves taken in hand and requested to give an account of themselves on embarrassing detail. It is not surprising that a counter-movement has been started by men who do not marry because they do not want to. The "fortnightaddicts," who scowl on the "hit-or-miss institution of marriage," as they regard it, are reported to be considering the advisability of wearing tags which would convey their reaction to the mayor's pleadings on behalf of the ladies in the terse phrase "Nothing doing."

Bashful men and women-haters are beginning to boycott Wallasey. Modest maidens of the place, too, are astir. They think the chief magistrate has taken too much for granted. His Worship of Wallasey is distressed to find that some of his female confidantes—who, he declares, put the idea into his head—now declaim all knowledge of "such a thing."

It would have been wiser and less bothersome for His Worship if he had proclaimed officially the old simple doctrine that marriages are made in heaven, and let it go at that.

SOCCER IN THE SOUTH

Soccer football made no headlines in the reports of our Canadian newspapers, but the teams from the Argentine and Uruguay beat those from Italy, France, Spain, Mexico, Holland, Germany, the United States, Belgium, Luxemburg, Egypt, Portugal, Turkey, Yugoslavia, and Chile. Had a Canadian team done this it is difficult to say what would have been the result. The players might have been granted free farms or seats in the senate or given perpetual passes to the C.N.E. In South America the victory is taken to establish the supremacy of the Latin races of the new world a sign of their coming preponderance over the effete races of Europe and the north. Uruguay is the home of victorious soccer, and anybody who wishes to challenge the winner is welcome to try his art in organizing a team.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Lightning demolished a fine large maple tree on Metra Street this morning.

At the Prentice Boys demonstration held at Deseronto on the 12th inst, Maiden City Lodge, No. 13, Belleville, won the prize awarded to the best dressed and best marching lodge in the procession.

'Among the arrivals at the St. Lawrence Hall today is Mr. J. W. Johnson, Mayor of the City of Belleville, and principal of the Ontario Business College. Mr. Johnson is accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and is returning from a trip to Tadousac and Caconna.

His Worship the Mayor of Belleville is in town on his way home after having spent a vacation with his family at Cacouna. Mr. Johnson is a Fellow of the Chartered Accountants of Ontario, but is best known, the country over, as a member of the firm of Robinson and Johnson, of the Ontario Business College.

THE VAGRANT.

If I could close my ears
To the sound of the wind in the trees,
To the coaxing siren voices
In the wake of southwest breezes;
And so no more the moonlight
Flooding the old grey hills,
Or the distant tang of the sea,
That the mist-dark shadow fills,
Nor smell the breath of the pine woods
Or the plumbless depths of the cornfields
I might find content in your arms, my dear,
And peace between you and me.

The sentence she got was as follows: 'Even a cat hands over defence defend goes over in front of default.'

'Poet—Did you like my last poem on The Tatler?'

Editor—No, there was something wrong with the meter.'

Pipe (to friend who has got into financial difficulties)—I see you still travel first class.

Other—Yes, old man, if I travel second class I meet all my creditors.

'Is that play you were working on finished yet?'

'It is.'

'Has it been produced yet?'

'Yes. That's what finished it.'

Lord Dewar tells this story:

A conductor on a train noticed an elderly Scotsman and a young Australian lad.

The old man was holding his watch in his hand and was studying it with intense interest.

Suddenly he seemed satisfied and looked up. Seeing the conductor, he beckoned to him.

'What is it?' asked the conductor.

'I want to pay the rest of my grandson's fare,' replied the Highlander. 'He has just become twelve years old.'

LABOR CONTRACT.

Quinte Electricians, local electrical wiring contractors are extending their business area beyond the limits of the district at the present time. The latest contract to be secured by them is one for the wiring and fixtures of the fine new residence in Prescott of Mr. H. L. Phillips, manager of Wiser's Distillery there.

Quinte Electricians are also wiring one of the new truck houses of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company at Oxbyville another, fine contract secured by this energetic wiring firm.

CIACOS WON.

Oxbyville girls managed to win a narrow victory from the Optical basket on the Armouries lawn last night in a scheduled City League game by a score of 13-11. It was a most exciting finish and spectators were kept on their toes. Miss White of the Opticals had on her batting togs and scored two home runs Miss Page pulled for the Optical and she also given good support by Miss Thrasher behind the bat. Misses Saylor and Miss Brown did the batting for the Ciacos with Miss Lloyd on the receiving end. Bill Keech and Don Hurst umpired. Ciacos: Carmichael, T; Lawrence, C; Lawrence, O; Miller, S; Fahn, L; Lloyd, A; Lacey, L; Rushworth, M; Brown, N; Sayler, Opticals: O'Brien, C; Gilchrist, Thrasher, White, O'Neill, Doolittle, Hicks, Page.

PLAY AT POINT ANNE.

Derbyville and Point Anne will play their second game for the Bay of Quinte Industrial League championship at Point Anne diamond tomorrow evening. The Point Anne team are favorites to take the series in two straight following their victory over the Ciacos on Monday night by a score of 13-3. Ralph Hey and Ralph Pitch for the Ciacos with Mooney catching while Bennett will do the flinging for the Point with Sunny Owen behind him. The game will start at five o'clock sharp and Ciacos fans enthusiastic if they lose and a great battle is sure to result.

BEAVERS MEET ONTARIOS.

Belleville Beavers and the Ontarios will meet again on the Armouries lawn on Thursday night in a Bay of Quinte League game. The Ontarios have defeated the Ontarios every game this year but the Ontarios recently took a game from the Napanee Leafs and are hoping to hang the first defeat on the Beavers on Thursday night. The Beavers will rely on their ace Mollie Gray while Hilda Matthews will do the hurling for the Ontarios.

LITTLE DAMAGE DONE

An accident occurred last night about 10.45 when the Reverend Joseph Dorinelle of Oxford Mills, driving east on Bridge Street and turning north on Pinnacle, met another car driven by Dougal Mills, 63 Queen St., which was proceeding west on Bridge street. The left rear hub cap of Rde's car was broken, while the front axle took left fender of Castrelle's autoco bile was damaged. The matter was fixed up between the parties.

GIVEN A WARNING

Five youngsters, climbing on to the top of boat houses in the harbour received the right of their lives last night when a policeman suddenly appeared and ordered them to get. The boys made a practice of coming up by the top of the buildings and from there would dive into the water. They were warned to stay away in future.

FACES TRIAL AUG. 21ST

Thomas Mathews, who faces a most serious charge against a young girl, appeared once again in police court before Magistrate Mabel this morning and was remanded until Tuesday, Aug. 21st, on which date his trial has been summarily set.

NOT RECOVERED YET

Sheriff J. H. Clare's automobile which was stolen from a garage at the rear of his house the night before last has not as yet been recovered. The police, however, are sending every effort towards the solution of the outrage.

GIVEN HIS FREEDOM

William Poole, who for some time has been facing a charge of drunkenness in police court appeared this morning and the case was enlarged for two months. Poole had formerly to pay his wife $15 a week. When he was arrested last time he was abusing his wife and the police stated to Mrs. Poole in police court today that if any more trouble were experienced with her spouse they were to be informed. The accused will come up next on the 15th of October.

"VERN" WEIR, MANAGER

Owing to the fact that Manager Walt Cerow is in Ottawa today attending the meeting of the Centra League Executive, Vernon Weir took over the reins of the Belleville club and will be acting manager today. Along with him will be the board of strategy consisting of Messrs. Mills and "Wicky" Ross. This game is only a guess as to what the lineup will be but it will be no surprise if the Smelters step in and clean up on the Nationalists as they have already done local boys a hard fight every time they have met this year.

MANY ATTEND PICNIC

Well over half the members of the Belleville Kiwanis Club journeyed to Cobourg today for the Kiwanis Picnic to be held in that town. Baseball will be one of the features and the Belleville Club hope to bring home the Championship of Eastern Ontario Kiwanis Clubs with them.

EIGHT HUNDRED IN ATTENDANCE AT EXCURSION

Eight hundred young people of the Bay of Quinte Conference gathered at Cobourg on the morning of Wednesday, August 8th, for their annual excursion going this year to Port Dalhousie by the S.S. Northumberland, of the C.N.R. lines.

The heavy rain of the night previous thinned until five o'clock but did not seem to affect the "excursion" for auto coaches, loaded to capacity, came from Belleville, Trenton, Napanee, Peterboro, Port Hope and from the districts west, east and north to join with Cobourg friends and these who had come from Toronto, for the day's outing. Before the boat left the wharf the fog horn had ceased to blow long dismal screeches for the fog had lifted and bright sunshine assured good weather. Everyone was happy.

The first hour on board was "getting acquainted" time. The officers of the Young People's Societies under the direction of Mr. G. H. Holton, members of the Y. P. Conference and Rev. Mr. Tanton of Cobourg, and members of the Excursion Committee, with Mr. J. R. Empringham, assistant manager of the Canadian National Electric Railways and Steamships, made an effective reception committee.

The excursion included an extensive trip to Niagara Falls and fully eighty per cent of the company boarded the C.N.R. electric cars which were awaiting the arrival of the boat.

Those who remained in the park at Port Dalhousie had the opportunity of attending an entertainment given by Cobourg talent. Miss Mills and Wesley Mills and Miss Mills' son sang in and clean up on the National- ists that's all. They played the local boys a hard fight every time they have met this year.

An unconscious tribute was paid to the committee of management by the remark of one of the Toronto officials, "This is really a splendid Sunday school excursion, not a hilch anywhere."

As the young people marvelled at the City of Dalhousie for the honeyed trip all agreed that the day had been perfect. The refreshments on the boat, the meetings, the good things of the picnic basket, the singing by the choir with the missionaries, the whole evening sang led by the Rev. John Orrill, the hours spent at the Falls and to cap all, the home trip by moonlight made the Bay of Quinte Conference Young People's excursion of 1928 one long to be remembered.

RESUME TRAFFIC OVER MAIN LINE

Belleville And Brockville Wrecking Crews Cleared Debris

Brockville, Aug. 15.—Through traffic over the main line of the Canadian National Railways was resumed last night, after wrecking crews had built a detour about the scene of the wreck at Butterville at noon yesterday, when the west bound International Limited sideswiped an eastbound fast freight train which was standing on a crossover switch. According to reports in railway circles here, the accident was due originally to the failure of the motorist in driving across the path of the freight train, necessitating the application of the emergency brake by the engineer and thus stalling the freight train with which the passenger train collided. Both tracks of the main line were cleared today by wrecking crews belonging to Montreal and Belleville and traffic is being operated normally.

SIR HENRY DRAYTON LEAVES FOR OTTAWA

Toronto, Aug. 14.—Sir Henry D. Drayton, Chairman of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, will leave tomorrow night for Ottawa, for a conference with Hon. W. D. Euler, Minister of Customs, concerning the export of liquor at the Windsor border.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

RANSOM VANDERVOORT.

The funeral of the late Ransom Vandervoort took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Trent Road, the Rev. R. Hall of John St. United Church officiating at the home and the grave. Mrs. M. Denton rendered a solo during the service, and many friends of the deceased were in attendance. The bearers were sons and grandsons of the deceased: Harry, Everett and Ross Brown, Clarence Reid, Morris Roblin and Harold Mott. Interment was made in Belleville Cemetery.

WESLEY SALISBURY

Wesley Salisbury a life-long resident of Edward County died at his late home Creston last evening. Following the occupation of a farmer he was born at Croton 75 years ago and was well and favorably known through out the entire community. He was a member of the United Church. His wife predeceased him twelve years ago. He leaves to mourn the loss two daughters, Annie Mae Sidnbury at home, and Mrs. Chas. Haight, of Belleville. Two sons also survive, Wilmot at home and Wilbert of Rochester, N.Y. Pictou papers please copy.

RANSOM M. VANDERVOORT

One of the largest funerals that has been held for some time took place this Monday afternoon of the late Ransom M. Vandervoort from his home on the front of Sidney.

The funeral service was conducted by the Rev. R. Hall. During the service, Mrs. M. Denton sang a solo, "The Haven of Rest." The mass of floral tributes and the long cortage which followed the remains to his last resting place testified to the love and esteem of the deceased. Interment was made in the family plot, Belleville Cemetery. The bearers were his six grandsons, Ross, Harry and Everett Brown, Clarence Reid, Harold Mott and Morris Roblin. The beautiful floral tributes were as follows:

Pillows—Wife; Mr. and Mrs. D. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. M. Vandervoort and and Mrs. F. Reed; N. J. Vandervoort and family.

Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Roblin, Toronto; Mallins, Charles and Fred Bell.

Floral Basket—Mr. and Mrs. Percy Mott and Harold.

Sheafs—Mr. and Mrs. H. Bowler and family, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Bell.

WORLD, ON UP-GRADE, HAS MUTCH TO OFFER

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH,
Medical Psychologist.

This surely seems a muddled world. People often despair of other people's doings, of the fact that civilization seems to be heading toward destruction.

But let us consider the facts for a moment.

Mark, for instance, the tremendous strides made in scientific research and especially those advances which are of direct help to the human being as such. Witness the conquest of disease! Typhoid, diphtheria and smallpox are preventable if people will take the proper precautions.

Tuberculosis has been markedly decreased and its ravages ameliorated.

Pneumonia, that terrific destroyer of old, is fairly able to be conquered soon. Even cancer researches present hopeful signs for the future.

Then the knowledge of what insanity and nervous diseases really are is spreading, and people are beginning to realize that a mental or nervous breakdown can be controlled and prevented.

And then the children—upon whom our permanent and future progress thus rests depends!

Certainly the average mother of today knows more about the rearing and training of children, knows better how to prepare them for the trials and tribulations that are sure to beset their path, than did her own mother and grandmother before her.

And what does all this advance mean to you and me?

It means that we are particularly interested whether suppression and superstition will be the rule a few centuries hence, but we all must feel distinctly in the very definite benefits that such and everyone of us receive while the race is slowly and gradually developing toward such a millennium.

You can prolong your life, you can avoid most of the pitfalls that cause avoid disease, you can make yourself more efficient, content and happy. If you will but trouble to learn all these wonderful things that are already at hand and will apply them in your own case.

Ignorance of what has been done for you and is available is no excuse! Newspapers, magazines and books can be had for the asking.

If you want enlightenment upon a problem it is the easiest thing in the world to find out.

The world, therefore, although muddled, has much to give. It is on the upgrade, not down.

There is no need to care for the future.

Civilization is advancing day by day!

Get in stride with progress.

Once you are in step the going is not so difficult after all. But you must make a serious and earnest effort to start.

You must exert yourself a little.

The forward march of progress won't wait for you.

If you are not careful it will pass you by.

Be up and doing, and on your toes and be one of them!

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
How can a fellow prove to his girl that he loves her?
How can a girl prove to her fellow that she loves him?

BETH.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
Since working in the place that I am now, I have become acquainted with a young man who seems to be a very nice fellow. Being engaged to someone else I have not gone out with this boy, although he has asked me several times. Upon telling him that I went with someone else he has stopped asking me out, but he still says good morning to me and talks to me occasionally. Now this boy is going to the hospital in a few days to be there for one month. During that time he will be in bed and I thought it would be nice to send him one of my many books for him to read. It would pass the time away for him. What do you say? Is it right to do that, or should I send him just a small note telling him I hope he will get well soon. I feel like I should send him something as he is alone here, his parents being in another city.
Please advise. BETH.

BETH: I think it would be very thoughtful of you to send him the books while he is in the hospital, Beth. And it would do no harm to drop him a note such as you suggest.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I know a girl whose mother is a first cousin to my father's mother. What relation is this girl to me. Would you call this close blood-relationship? PAT. 2

PAT: The girl would be your third cousin, Pat, and this is not considered a very close relationship.

Bar of iron falling from awing over store in Galt, struck Irene Garfield, aged 8, on the head, but the child was not seriously injured.

PAT.

PAT: The man can best find out by asking the young lady to marry him. And he will surely know by her answer as to just where he stands in her affections.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
The moment dinner was over, her partner drifted hastily away. She heard his murmur to another man. "Let's go out in the lobby for a smoke. I hope Lydia never fastens that on me again."

She found herself alone. All the other guests formed animated little groups for discussion over the coffee. Hal came to her rescue.

"Let's go home," he said flatly. "I don't care to wait for the dance."

"But I want to dance," she protested, determined to go through with the evening.

"I don't think it would interest you much. . . And you must be tired, after your——r——conversational efforts."

She asked timidly: "Did I say the right thing, Hal?"

He replied: "You were a riot. They won't be finished talking about you for many a day."

The words were pleasant enough, but his tone bewildered her.

"Lydia told me that those were the subjects she discussed nowadays at dinner-parties," she murmured.

"A word of advice, Marguerite. It's always well to understand a subject before one attempts to discuss it.

Like a hurt child, she followed him when they went to make their adieus to Lydia.

Hal said nothing during the drive home. When they had reached the apartment, she said timidly: "You haven't said you liked my new gown, Hal."

He looked her coldly up and down. "If you ever wear that atrocity again I'll——I'll leave you parents or no parents."

Wilful Wives By Mildred Barbour

Chapter 11.
DANGEROUS PROXIMITY.

Irma drifted in the following morning and found Marguerite, wan and pale, working at household accounts.

"Well, how went the party?" she demanded breezily.

Marguerite shuddered. "It was awful. I made the most horrible mess of the whole affair. I think Hal was furious with me . . . And I tried so hard."

Irma put an arm around the girl's drooping shoulders and hugged her affectionately. "Don't you bother. All men are brutes—especially husbands."

"Oh, to be free again and have men about who are complimentary. My fiends told me I dress and act like a hooligan. It's only husbands, Marguerite, who are to be rude."

"I shan't be again," murmured Marguerite. "I see now, beyond all doubt, that I simply don't belong in Hal's world."

"Nonsense. Take another lack with him. I rather thought the Converse girl would steer you badly. She's a cat . . . By the way, how was the orange velvet?"

"I'll never wear it again . . . Would you like to have it?"

"Would I? Just give me the chance," Irma laughed. "I can see Steve's face now when I wear that gown for the first time. But he'll get used to it. He'll have to," she added carelessly, "incidentally, if you're not going out tonight, may I send Steve down to read to you. I want to go to a party myself, and I'm afraid the poor old dear will get fractious, if he has to stay home again. . . . arms will turn, you know," she hit a cigarette gaily.

Marguerite regarded her solemnly. "I'll be very glad to see Steve . . . I'm quite sure that Hal will never ask me to go out with him again."

However, Hal did. He said impatiently, "We've got to go out together occasionally or people will talk. And Dad gets on the war-path. If he hears that I'm going out too much alone . . . But, for Heaven sake, Marguerite, wear something more suitable."

She chose a mauve tea-gown, remembering how much Hal admired Lydia in her mauve draperies. There was no one to tell her that the color rendered her hair of luster and drained her face, now becoming pinched and pale, of its fresh youthfulness.

Hal tried to be polite about it, but he thought despairingly: "Why is it that she never looks just right? How do other women manage it?"

The evening proved another failure Marguerite was rarely asked to dance, while all the other feminine guests were out in the time and again. Hal danced with her dutifully, every time he saw her sitting alone while the music played, but there was such an expression of do-or-die on his handsome face that Marguerite at last faltered:

"If you don't mind, Hal, I'd like to go home. I'm fearfully tired. You don't have to come with me. Stay on and have a good time."

He put her in a taxi with alacrity. "I'll come home with you, you'd rather" he offered courteously.

"No, please don't. I'm going straight to bed."

But, after all, she didn't. She met Steve Bentley in the elevator, looking pathetically lonesome.

"It's early. Would you mind if I came in and chatted for a bit he asked. "Irma's out again tonight, and she forgot her key, so I have to stay up to let her in, and I rather guess that your husband is out, too."

"You bet!" she urged. "I was at a party, but I was a misfit, as always, so I left. Hal there . . . Are you hungry? I can prepare some sandwiches and coffee."

He looked pathetically eager. "That would be wonderful. Dinner was terrible tonight. I can't persuade Irma to fire our cook. She says it's too difficult to get another."

Marguerite slipped an apron over her frock and went happily to work in the kitchen. Steve stood in the doorway and watched her.

"There's no sight in all the world so charming as a pretty woman in a pretty apron," he remarked soddenly.

She laughed happily.

"I love to play about in a kitchen. You see, I was raised to do things about a house. But my cook is very strict; she frowns horribly if I go to make a cake or something. The first time I tried she threatened to leave, and Hal says she's too good to lose and that, besides, it isn't dignified for me to do things when we have such a good staff of servants."

He sighed. "How my Irma and your Hal suit each other . . . Isn't it queer, Marguerite, how people with the wrong temperaments get together in this world? The chap who said that marriage was a lottery certainly uttered a mouthful."

'A Charming Version of the Feminine Mode

SUPREMELY feminine, yet utterly svelte and sophisticated, is the evening frock sketched above. It is of eggshell white satin, made according to the latest fashion trends. The two flared tiers make the skirt ripple all around the figure, instead of only in front, which is in accordance with the new tendency of elaborated backs. Uneven hemlines are always smart now, but this one is especially so because it dips at the right. The wide V, too, is the leader of the chic decolletages. WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Paille is to be much in vogue for delintante frocks in Paris.

Paris has a great vogue for dress frocks of flesh pink crepe de chine bordered with crystal or diamante embridery.

Rodier is showing a clever wool jersey which gives the effect of fine pleating and new Paris sports models have plain skirts with wide striped jumpers.

Lace frocks of black or midnight blue over skimpy under slips of silver lame are now much favored for dance frocks in Paris.

Jacquard moire is the very latest fabric in dress wraps, especially in coats for formal afternoon and evening.

Transparent velvet and metal cloth, with brown tones, blues, gold and silver effects combined, are being featured by a leading Fifth Avenue shop for its autumn blouses.

London notes that Britain's women M.P.'s have departed from the convention that black is the only sensible wear; and have bloomed out in dresses which would not look out of place on the river or at a garden party.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To clean and freshen black silk, sponge it well with black tea, cold and strong; then iron carefully on the wrong side.

To clean a white felt hat, mix a rather stiff paste of powdered magnesia and water; brush it well in, leave it to till dry then brush off.

To clean a bejhorn hat, first brush off all dust, then wipe it with a damp cloth; then sponge with lemon juice, leaving it to dry in the sun.

To clean a lady's or a gent's white straw hat, mix lemon juice and powdered sulphur to a cream paste and apply to hat with an old toothbrush, scrubbing well; dry in the sun.

Pieces of linoleum to match the floor covering, or in a black and white check, nailed or glued to the tops of kitchen dresser, tables and window ledges save much labor in the kitchen. Another piece can be kept to do duty when a pastry board is not available.

Save time when sprinkling the clothes by dipping every third or fourth napkin or small towel in water and laying it between dry ones. If you do this and roll the groups separately you will get them all an even dampness in a third of the labor otherwise required.

WEEKLY MEETING PRINCE EDWARD CHEESEMAKERS

The weekly meeting of the Prince Edward Cheesemakers' Association was held at Northport Cheese Factory on Wednesday, August 8th with an attendance of about fifty.

Mr. H. S. Channel, president, occupied the chair and opened the meeting with a short address. The minutes of the previous meeting at Maple Leaf Cheese Factory were read by Mr. L. Hicks who continued to act as secretary for the evening. It was moved by Mr. John Hall, seconded by Mr. J. Henderson that the minutes be adopted.

Mr. W. S. Hicks expressed pleasure that he was able to attend again. He said he was in the business to do all in his power to bring success to the dairy industry and only from first class milk could first grade cheese be made. He explained that his method of helping a cheesemaker in difficulties was not to visit the factory and give orders, but to take off his coat and go to work with them and solve the problem. He advocated the present system of paying for milk by the test, and invited the farmers to watch the operation of testing anytime. Milk properly cared for tests higher than poor milk so the farmer has little control over his test. He recently attended a meeting held at Bronk factory and found that many patrons had a low test of 2.6. This led Prince Edward would arouse suspicions that something was wrong with the testing. He strongly advocated cooling the milk and, if good cooling places or wells were not available, it was no hardship to put up some ice for this purpose. The dairy herd was accountable for a good share of the farmers' income and the "old cow" would stand the showers and frost very well as it was well worth caring for her product,—milk.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion of the cheesemakers' difficulties.

Mr. J. Henderson, cheesemaker of Black Creek, urged that each factory should have a cool curing room. With a poor room the maker has to make the cheese hard and dry to withstand the heat. To do this it is necessary to cook much higher. This causes a loss of one pound to each hundred pounds of cheese with each 2 degrees higher cook. It is almost an impossibility to make a special grade cheese with an ordinary curing room. In such a room the shrinkage has been known to amount to 4 pounds per cheese, while in a cool room it amounts only from 2 ½ to 1 pound till date of shipping. Therefore the total of loss per cheese in an ordinary room from cook and shrinkage is 4½ pounds and at present prices this amounts to about 50c per cheese or 50c per 1000 pounds of milk which means 5c per hundred pounds of milk. He also discusse future grading of milk.

Mr. L. Hicks read a letter from Mr. Grifen, secretary of Ontario Milk and Cream Producers' Association, thanking them for a report of a out the advantages of being a subscriber to the "Ontario Milk Producer." It is an up-to-date dairy journal for every home, giving the latest reports of all branches of the dairy industry and its progress. It keeps all sections of the province in touch with one another in regards to market, standing, etc. The dairyman may bring his problems in the form of questions before the paper and these will be answered. It gives helpful hints about maintaining the standard of a good herd, caring for milk, etc. The cheesemaker himself is benefitted in many ways and the low cost of the publication, 50c per year, makes it available to very farmer and cheesemaker. Each patron and cheesemaker should be subscribers as it is the cheesemakers' official paper.

Short addresses were given by Mr. Fee, president of Northport factory, Mr. Spencer, Mr. Coulters, Mr. Kilbride and Mr. Anderson, Mr. Adams, director of Quinte, and Mr. Hall, cheesemaker at Quinte. Mr. Hall pointed out that the cheesemakers as well as cheese were graded, receiving certificates each year, according to the amount of first grade cheese manufactured. Therefore, it behooves the maker to exercise care in accepting milk.

It was moved by J. Hall, seconded by J. Henderson that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Anderson for their delicious refreshments.

Moved by Mr. L. Hicks, seconded by J. Hall that the meeting adjourn to meet at Mr. W. I. Hicks', Dairy Instructor, on August 15th.

Ramsay Macdonald and his Daughters.

JUST before the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of France" reached Quebec the Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay Macdonald and his three daughters posed for a photograph. They are making a six weeks' tour of Canada. Next to right is Sheila, the schoolgirl daughter; the Right Honorable J. Ramsay Macdonald, Great Britain's first labour prime minister; Joan, who is a second year medical student at Edinburgh University; and Isabel, youngest member of the London County Council, who acted as hostess on the Empress. Somewhere has Sheila was Prime Minister in 1924.

BELLE THEATRE

There is a subtle lure about this fascinating picture, which will hold you tense through suspicions of darting daggers, thrilling escapes and unexpected twists, all the glamor and the pageants of the Near East, the fiery passions of natives fanned into flames by desert sands and love scenes on exotic moonlight nights under the waving palms are laid before you. Plenty of action—massive sets and a strong cast to entertain you. One of the most exciting photoplays you have seen.

The Desert Bride, tomorrow at the Belle.

REGENT THEATRE

"Second to None" has been produced with the approval of the British Admiralty.

Naval scenes afloat were taken aboard H.M.S. Tiger, battle-cruiser; H.M.S. Champion, cruiser; H.M.S. Tara and H.M.S. Thapen, destroyers; shore scenes were photographed in Portsmouth Dockyard and the R.N. Barracks, and in the R.N. Training Establishment at Shotley.

It is noteworthy that all scenes required by the story to be played on warships, whether above or below decks, were actually played in the correct parts of the ships indicated, and the naval atmosphere, with its incidents of routine, is authentic. Tomorrow at the Regent.

CROP REPORT

Crops in the three Prairie Provinces continue to make satisfactory progress under ideal weather conditions. Damage from pests continues negligible and, as further important issues from hail are reported, in few previous years has the outlook been as promising as at this date. In Quebec crops are progressing well but dry weather is needed. In Ontario the weather has been unfavourable during the week; frequent rains hindering the completion of the harvest. Cutting of fall wheat and causing some sprouting in grain already in stook. In the Maritime Provinces growing conditions in general continues to be most favourable. In British Columbia conditions continue favourable and heavy shipments of early fruits are going forward. Details follow:—

Prairie Provinces

Alberta Western and Northeastern Areas—The situation is very favourable; crops in excellent condition. Light rains have been beneficial.

Alberta Southeastern Area—Conditions continue very favourable. Prospects are satisfactory and a good crop is assured.

Saskatchewan Northern Area—Crops are progressing satisfactory and filling well. Prospects continue favourable and wheat cutting should be under way in mid districts in ten to fifteen days.

Saskatchewan Southern Area — Crops are filling under favourable conditions. Wheat cutting in general is expected to commence in ten days.

Manitoba—Crops are in excellent favourable for cutting grains. The cutting of rye and barley will be in full swing and cutting should be general in ten days. Prospects are satisfactory.

Province of Quebec

Haymaking in most districts has been interrupted by frequent heavy rainfalls. The crop is a good average. Oats are making good progress; other grains are in satisfactory condition. Potatoes and root crops continue to show good progress. Pastures are in good condition. Small fruits are plentiful; orchard conditions are moderately good. Vegetables has been retarded by wet weather and in some sections has suffered damage.

Province of Ontario

Barley and oats are heavy crops, but hail and strong winds have resulted in some lodging. A large amount of barley has been cut and oats will be ready next week. Owing to rains a substantial portion of late hay has spoiled and will be left in the fields. Corn is doing well, but requires dry weather. Root crops are making good growth. Apples, peaches and pears are a good average crop, while small fruits, especially raspberries, are below average. Tobacco growth is pronounced and beans are doing well. Pastures in excellent condition. Warm dry weather is urgently needed.

Maritime Provinces

A good to above average hay crop of good quality is being cut. Potato plants continue to show strong growth with no sign of rust. Grain is generally well. A heavy crop of apples is reported bringing the prospect yield down to 650,000 barrels, 97% of the five year average. It is, however, still expected that the fruit will be of high quality. Pasturage is excellent.

British Columbia

Threshing of grains has commenced and shows average yields are reported. Roots look well but rain would be beneficial. Apples are estimated at 113% of average; are now sizing rapidly, and are comparatively free from blemish. Peaches are estimated to yield 115% of average; are now sizing rapidly and are comparatively free from blemish. Peaches are estimated to yield 107% of average; pears 95%; plums and prunes 90%; hops 90%. Heavy shipments of peaches and plums of excellent quality are going forward; pasturage is ample; but rains are required.

LONG-TAILED FOWL ARRIVED

Leaving Yokohama on board the "Empress of Asia" under the care of Canadian Pacific Express officials three magnificent specimens of the "long-tailed cock fowl" of Japan arrived this morning on C. P. R. train No. 4 and were received from the Express Company by Mr. A. McCarnan F. M. Johnston on behalf of the Canadian National; Exhibition Poultry Expert. This is the first occasion in the history of the world that these sacred silver tinted domestic fowls with tails of eighteen feet in length have been allowed to leave Japan and their exhibit will overshadow anything seen before at this or any other poultry show. Due to the care and attention given by the C. P. Express officials during the long voyage the birds were in splendid condition when the Empress of Asia docked at Vancouver on August 5. On their arrival this morning they were met by a large crowd of interested officials of the C.N.E., Canadian Pacific Company and the Militel Company.

AVIATION REPLACES GOLD IN ALASKA

will take the place of gold in focusing the attention of the world on Dawson City, in the opinion of Dr. Alfred Thompson, former member of the House of Commons for the Yukon.

"Dawson City will be one of the great centres of the world and will be the centre for flights from Europe to Asia when the trail's blazed across Northern Canada and the Yukon and on over the Bering Sea to Asia," said Dr. Thompson.

TILLIE THE TOILER—

ROYALS SUFFER DEFEAT, 11-6

At The Hands of The Skeeters—Toronto Goes Down

Jersey City, August 15.—Municipal duties for the International League pennant was given an unexpected setback yesterday when the Royals dropped the first game of the series here to the Jersey City Skeeters, who occupy the league cellar. The score was 11 to 6.

The Skeeters did not win because of any great improvement in their playing. Rather, they won because the Royals got more bad baseball out of their system yesterday than they had in any other single game this season.

Paul Hopkins wasn't any too effective in the first three innings, and instead of helping him out of his difficulties with their usual brilliant fielding, the Royals gave a miserable defensive exhibition. They had only two errors charged against them, both of them occurring in the first three nightmares, but there were at least four or five base-hits that were on the border line of errors and on two occasions, Baker's choices by Montreal infielders failed to nip Jersey City base runners, one of whom scored and another of whom reached third base.

The Keystones had a merry time yesterday. They reaped a total of 16 hits off two Toronto pitchers, Walter Lever and Don Songer, by name, and garnered their second straight victory over the haughty Leafs, 10-7.

Reading lost no time in getting started, gathering three runs in the first inning. They added one in the fourth, five in the fifth and another in the sixth, all before Toronto got going. The Leafs found Fowler for five runs in the seventh and managed to collect another pair in the ninth, but their efforts were rather useless after the Keys' early and sustained splurge.

Dale Alexander, the hefty Toronto first-baseman, and leading home-run hitter of the International, smacked out his twenty-third circuit clout of the season. George Quellich, Reading outfielder, hit his seventeenth homer.

DELMAR CHERRY IS SOMEWHAT IMPROVED

Kingston, Aug. 15—Delmar Cherry who was injured in an auto accident Saturday evening is reported to be holding his own and if anything, shows some improvement. Leeman, who was also injured, is reported doing fine.

NEW TRUCK IN CHEVROLET LINE

Added Car Has Four Speed Forward Transmissions Say Builders

NEW TRUCKS

The Chevrolet Motor Company of Canada announces this week the addition to its line of a new utility truck. The new truck, which embodies several improvements, chief of them a four speeds forward transmission, four-wheel brakes and channel steel bumper went into production in the various Chevrolet plants recently. It will be on view this week in dealers showrooms throughout the country.

The four-speed transmission will insure a more efficient application of engine power. The extra low speed gear provides maximum pulling power on heavy roads and steep grades while normal driving requirements are met as usual with second, third and fourth speeds. Starting strain on the motor is reduced to a minimum. A power take-off port, to which various power devices can be applied, is a further feature of the transmission.

The four-wheel brakes are non-locking and supply a total of 217 square inches of braking, aside from an entirely separate and independently operated set of emergency brakes on the rear wheels. The front wheel brakes are of the internal expanding type, the rear wheel service brake of the external contracting type, insuring quick and positive stops regardless of grade or speed.

A new low loading height, 41 inches from the ground, is made possible by a special 'kick-up' feature of the long chassis. An unusually long frame support, extending behind the centre of the rear axle, assures proper load distribution.

Rigorous and exacting tests, covering thousands of miles over all types of roads under winter and summer climatic conditions, were applied to a new truck at General Motors Proving Ground before the Chevrolet engineering division approved of it for production.

REEVE OF TWEED IS POPULAR MAN

Warden of Hastings County Twenty Years In Municipal Life

Tweed, Aug. 15.—The most popular man in this village is Sam B. Rollins, reeve of the town council, and warden of Hastings. He has been in municipal life for twenty-one years and during that period of time he has never shaken the faith of friends and following. His line of office, as a councillor, trustee of the school board and reeve, has been marked by a steady growth and continued prosperity for the residents and it is small wonder that Mr. Rollins has the whole-hearted confidence and esteem of the people as a whole.

The Reeve can be found in his shop on the main street almost any time during the day, and he is always willing to listen to suggestions or criticisms in connection with the municipal administration.

Gives of Time Freely

Mr. Rollins knows that business is bound to suffer when he is forced to spend so much time with council matters and his extra worries and troubles since he has been elected as warden of Hastings county, but he gives of his time, often of his money, and never grumbles or bemoans his fate.

He looks back at the war days as the hardest he ever went through in connection with his civic duties. In fact following the war he retired from the municipal ring for about three years but the people wouldn't give him any rest or peace till he came out again.

Perhaps the best thing that happened in Tweed during Mr. Rollin's regime was the building of the splendid high school at that time the best there was, and still ranking as one of the best in Ontario. Mr. Rollins played a large part in securing the school, and also in the question of an electric light system for Tweed. At present he is tending his efforts toward securing a water works system for the village.—Whig-Standard.

Culling demonstrations held at farm of Henry Cook in North Elzinge was well attended.

DROWNING TRAGEDY TAKES FIVE LIVES

Local Police Seized Liquor In Abandoned Car Near Shannonville

FIVE DROWN IN NORTHERN LAKE

Gasoline Spilled On Launch Floor—Explosion Follows

SWAM TO SHORE

Meagre News of Terrible Tragedy Relayed From North Bay.

North Bay, Ont., Aug. 16.—In one of the worst drowning tragedies of the year in northern Ontario five persons lost their lives in Lake Nipissing near Verner last night when their gasoline launch caught fire and an explosion forced them to leap into the water. The sixth occupant of the boat succeeded in escaping.

The dead are, Rev. Father August Verner, 31, Mrs. Albert Lafrenier 28, and her two boys Claude, 4, and Mark 1 month, and Miss Lenni Sylvestre, 20, all of Sturgeon Falls.

Albert Lafrenier husband of Mrs. Lafrenier, managed to reach shore safely.

North Bay, Ont.—The bodies of Father Verner, except Miss Sylvestre have been recovered. From the meagre details available it appears the party had accepted the invitation to a trip on the private launch and when about a mile out on the lake gasoline on the bottom of the boat ignited. Watchers on the shore saw a sheet of flame followed by much smoke and a moment later boats occupants were struggling in the water.

Lafrenier, clutching his two children started to swim to the shore but found the burden too great and was forced to relinquish his hold barely managing to reach shore himself. Where he collapsed. The boat burned quickly launched but no trace was found of any of the victims immediately.

MISS MABEL TRACEY WINS PARISIAN HAT

Miss Mabel Tracey was the winner of the Parisian Hat at the Free Medicine show last night. Mrs. William Lane running her a close second. The hat was awarded to the one who received the most coupons. In the bingo audience, which must have numbered in the neighbourhood of a thousand, Pitfield contestants took part, and finally all were eliminated except the two mentioned above. Each one was given a hat to wear for a few minutes, and the crowd finally decided that Miss Tracey should be given the award.

HYDRO LINEMAN DIES INSTANTLY

Edward Shannett Killed While Trimming Trees

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 16.—Coroner E. J. Williams has ordered an inquest to open this evening in the case of Edward Shannett, aged 18, of Morrisburg, lineman temporarily in the employ of the public utilities commission who met death yesterday afternoon, when he came into contact with a high tension hydro line carrying 44,000 volts when trimming trees and fell feet to the ground. Besides burns received from contact with the wire he suffered a broken hip and broken ribs which punctured one lung, causing an internal hemorrhage. He is believed to have been dead when picked up although efforts at resuscitation continued for an hour and a half by means of a pulmotor.

WILLIAMS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 16.—Wilbert Richard Williams, 46, appeared in police court here today, charged with the murder of his wife, whose body was found in their home yesterday with skull battered in by a hammer. Williams through his counsel waived the preliminary hearing and consented to be committed for trial without any evidence being taken.

The prisoner was unperturbed, entering the court room smoking a cigarette, [illegible]

ENORMOUS INCREASE IN TOURIST TRAFFIC IS NOTED THIS SEASON

Scores of Parties Stop At Chamber of Commerce For Information

A review of the Tourist traffic records which are kept by the Chamber of Commerce and the Camp register on Dundas St., shows that for one day this week over one hundred tourist parties have stopped in this city to get information or to remain for a meal or overnight. This only includes that percentage of tourists who wish to make use of the Camp or who feel they need information regarding motels. Many parties do not need this stop here with no record being made of it.

Usually only one from each party is asked to register, so on a basis of four passengers to an automobile, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce and the city Tourist Camp is giving service to between four and five hundred people a day. Repeatedly during the day there are as many as four and five parties in the Chamber of Commerce seeking information at the same time, and the staff is kept busy answering questions and satisfying tourists.

The benefits of this increase in the tourist traffic, and of having the tour ists make a brief stay in Belleville, if only for a few hours is apparent, and it just one of the results of the efficient functioning of the Chamber of Commerce. It is conceded that those calling in at the Chamber of Commerce only a small percentage, so that the quota of tourists visiting this city must be much larger than the one say re cord of.

Remarks about the courteous treatment and satisfactory service are frequently heard, thus indicating that not only does the tourist, calling at the Belleville Chamber of Commerce office receive full satisfaction, but they are sold on the city itself, and if they receive the same kind of courteous treatment lunch contact they make while in the city they will depart and become boosters for the Quinte City. If they ever expect to come back again then they will make it a point to reach this city and perhaps stay longer than their last trip. All of which merely displays the work of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, which does its work without making much of a ripple on the surface, but which accomplishes surprising results in the long run.

POSTPONE OPERATION

New York Press Accused of Unfavorable Publicity

New York, Aug. 16.—The proposed operation to separate Mary and Margaret Gibb, 17-year-old Siamese twins, has been definitely postponed due to unfavorable publicity in New York newspapers, their surgeon, Dr. Frances Weisse, said today.

BOY'S BODY IS FOUND IN CANAL

Youngster Drowned While Running Along Water's Edge

Brockville, Aug. 16.—After Elwood Hamilton, ten-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hamilton, had been missing for several hours from the home of his grand-father J. C. Hamilton, Lyn, his body was recovered last evening from the canal leading to the flour mill at Ct. C. Cumming at that place. The family had motored to Lyn for the purpose of holidaying with J. C. Hamilton and intended to return today to their home. Yesterday afternoon the boy accompanied his father in the village and started back to his grandfathers home carrying a chocolate bar for his little sister. No more was seen of the child until he was raked out of the canal last evening by his father. It is believed that the boy made use of the concrete wall of the canal as a short cut home, fell in and was drowned.

HOPPED OFF ON TRIP TO SWEDEN

Fliers Expect To Reach Cochrane, Ont., Late This Afternoon

FOOD SUPPLIES

Rockford, Ill., Pair Start Off On First Leg of Journey

Flash—Plane Arrived Cochrane safely.

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 16.—Bert Hassell an aviator Cruser took off at, 6.40 a.m. Central Standard Time, today, on the first leg of the proposed flight to Stockholm, Sweden.

The pilots made a perfect hop off from Rockford airport, circling over the field until the big plane had made an altitude of about 1,000 feet when it was seen headed in a northerly course, Ontario, where Hassell planned to make his first stop and spend the night.

The pilots were scheduled to reach Cochrane in about eight hours, stopping over there to refuel and tune up the plane for the second hop to Greenland basecamp.

Both Hassell and Crasser expressed confidence as they climbed into the "Greater Rockford" and waived goodbye.

Good Weather

Rockford, Aug. 16.—A large crowd had gathered when the big plane was rolled down from its hangar. Weather conditions for the flight across Canada were considered ideal and the rest was certain it would make Cochrane on schedule time which would be about four o'clock Eastern Standard Time today.

The hop from Cochrane to Greenland is about 1,800 miles, much of it over water. From Greenland the flyers plan another hop to Iretan and then the final jump to Stockholm, their goal. The big plane was stocked with ample food supplies and other provisions for the protract flight. Besides the food the plane carried a collapsible rubber boat, an axe, rifle, hiking outfit, and first aid kits.

The plane fully loaded weighs about 6,000 pounds. It can carry three persons. A radio was included among the plane's equipment and the pilots planned to keep in communication with radio stations throughout their flight.

IN SERIOUS CONDITION

Nelson Richmond, Farmer, Slashes Throat With Jack-Knife

Kingston, Aug. 16.—Nelson Richmond, 65, Richmond township farmer, was found late yesterday in his barn with his throat badly gashed. He was brought to the hospital here where his condition is serious. Richmond apparently used a jack knife to cut himself.

COLLEGIATE COST BELOW ESTIMATE

Will Present Statement Showing Cost of Construction

Friday night's Board of Education meeting will have one important feature brought to the attention of those that will be the presentation of a statement showing the exact cost of the construction of the new Collegiate Bellevillians will be more than pleased to hear that the actual cost of the building will be less than the estimates. Despite many assertion that the new structure would run many thousands over the price first mentioned, Mr. John Elliot stated in the Intelligencer today that the building operations would be even less than the estimates.

"The council will not be asked to pay out any extra money" triumphantly stated Mr. Elliot this morning. And well might Mr. Elliot be pleased, for Belleville will possess the finest Collegiate Institute between Toronto and Montreal. To those who have not as yet had the pleasure of visiting Belleville's new school, there is a treat in store for them.

And now, after fighting so hard to build a much needed new Collegiate and Vocational School, the Board members are at last seeing their dreams realized as the finishing touches are applied to the building. All the members of the School Board have been invited to the Armouries in order that this new school might be modern in every way, and it would seem that their labours were not in vain.

DELEGATES IN SESSION HERE

Delegates from Brockville, Ottawa, Montreal, Stratford, Smiths Falls and other London, Capreol, North Bay, Toronto, Smiths Falls and Belleville, assembled at the Moose Auditorium for the Fourth Ontario Union Meeting of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.

The convention was of one day's duration, opening at 10 o'clock this morning. A great deal of ground was covered. The local lodge is Quinte No. 411, and Mrs. Anna Boyd is president. The Grand Lodge officers include Agent J. Strong, G. P. Siena Ward, G. V. P.—Sadie E. Scott, G. P. P. and Mary E. DuBois, G.S. and P.

This morning the reception of Grand Lodge officers took place, and the address of welcome, delivered by Mrs. Boyd. At noon luncheon was served at the Tabernacle Church and this afternoon the exemplification of secret work was held. The balloting of candidates by Charity's Helpmate Lodge, St. Thomas, Initiation of candidates by Quinte Lodge, Belleville, and Communicating the New Pass by Alma's Pride Lodge of Brockville, will be part of the routine of the afternoon. An important part of the work was the installation of officers by Canadian Beauty Lodge, Ottawa.

At 6.30 this evening a banquet was held in the Tabernacle, the convocation point, to be followed by dancing and cards.

About one hundred delegates had assembled from the different lodges.

ITALIAN AVIATOR GOES UNDER KNIFE

Rio De Janeiro, Aug. 16.—Major Carlo P. Del Prete, Italian aviator, who recently made a brilliant flight between Italy and Brazil, died this morning from injuries which he suffered in a plane crash on August 7. Yesterday he underwent operation for the amputation of his right leg.

POLICE SEIZE 27 CASES OF WINE BUT FUGITIVES ESCAPE IN DARK

VISCOUNT PEEL IS APPOINTED CHAIRMAN

London, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press Cable)—It was announced today that in view of the appointment of Lord Hailsham, Lord Chancellor, as acting Prime Minister in the absence of Premier Baldwin, Viscount Peel has been appointed chairman of the United Kingdoms delegation to the meetings of the Empire Parliamentary Association in Canada.

WINNIPEG GREETS EX-PREMIER McDONALD

Winnipeg, Aug. 16.— Tumultuous cheers greeted Ramsay MacDonald and his three daughters on their arrival in Winnipeg late last night for a two day halt on their trip west. Although their train was two hours late hundreds of citizens waited patiently to welcome them.

KIWANIS HELD ANNUAL OUTING

Belleville Won Soft-Ball Trophy From Peterboro Team

Comparatively few of the local Kiwanis Club participated in the annual outing yesterday afternoon at Coboung, but those who were there thoughtly enjoyed the event. Altogether about seventy-five members, representing the Belleville and Peterboro Clubs, their families and friends, made the trip yesterday afternoon by motor to this popular resort and took part in the various events on an interesting programme of races and sporting events.

President Harry Greenlaed had an extremely amusing programme arranged and many valuable prizes for the winners, and with Charlie Ramsay in charge of the events, everyone present joined in wholeheartedly, and in spite of the heavy heat had the time of their lives. Contests determining the fans with the longest foot, with the largest head and other unique events of a similar nature were entertaining and different; one of the most popular was a rolling pin throwing contest in which Mrs. Hyde, Mrs. Reddick and Mrs. Geo. Cole were the winners in that Order.

The soft-ball match between Belleville and Peterboro called for the silver cup representative of the District Championship, went to the locals who defeated the Peterboro team in a good game. A welcome swim for the players followed the contests.

An enjoyable basket lunch was served after the events, and many of the picnickers remained to dance in the evening at the spacious Coboung pavilion.

WALKER HARDIE COURT ABSENTEE

Family Business Called Liquor Exporter To New York

Windsor, Aug. 16.—Outspoken suspicion as to the reason behind the disappearance of Walker Hardie, Secretary Treasurer of the Erie Transit Co, was voiced in the customs court here today by Gordon Shaver, K.C., special prosecuting counsel, when the first of a long series of charges against 38 border liquor exporters came up for hearing. Hardie is reported in New York on what Stanley Springsteen, Erie Transit Counsel, stated was a family business, was typical of the liquor interests attitude, declared Mr. Shaver. After an argument Mr. Springsteen's request for adjournment Magistrate David Bredin adjourned the hearing of some of the cases until Monday, and others to Tuesday. Mr. Springsteen assured the court that Hardie would be in court when the charges were proceeded with.

The charges read today were of having possession of liquor not obtained under permit.

Constable Jackson Acquitted Himself Well In Chase

SHOTS FIRED

Trio Abandoned Car Near Shannonville And Fled

Twenty-seven cases of wine were seized by the local police last night after a wild chase down the highway in which guns barked and a large United States' touring car was captured. The credit of the seizure is due in the greater part to Constable Jackson, a new arrival on the force, but who has proved himself as capable of holding down this responsible position.

About ten minutes after nine last night Constable Jackson noticed an automobile bearing N.Y. license No. TD-53-63 at the corner of Front and Bridge streets which was behaving under suspicious circumstances. The constable's suspicions were aroused, but when he tried to stop the car, it sped off, starting in an easterly direction. Running to the police station Jackson jumped into the police car, and, with Sergeant Arthur Booth accompanying him, drove down the highway in the direction of Shannonville.

The police car drew up behind the large touring automobile which it was chasing, but failed to succeed in stop the other merely put on speed and tore away with the police car in pursuit, Sergeant Booth fired one shot in the air, but this did not seem to have any effect, so he fired another shot at one of the rear tires.

Upon the police drawing close to the car, it turned to the roadside car travelling at least twenty-five miles an hour, three men jumped out and disappeared into the darkness. The car, with no driver at the wheel, started for the ditch and ended up with the front wheels in the ditch and the rear wheels on the pavement.

The three occupants, however, could not be caught as they swiftly disappeared into the darkness. It is not known yet whether the fugitive car was stolen or not, but a sharp look-out is being kept for the occupants.

Upon checking over the number of cases of wine seized it was found there were 14 cases and five bottles bearing the Liquor Control Board stamp, and 13 cases and 3 bottles not marked by the Board.

PLAN ERECTION LAUNDRY HERE

Oswald A. Porritt Will Be Supervisor of New Plant

Montreal, Aug. 16.—Formed several months ago, with a strong executive body at its head, of act as both an operating and holding company, Consolidated Laundries Corporation of Canada, Limited, is now reported to be well on its way to the completion of its preliminary plans. As the first step in its nation-wide merger program, negotiations were consummated for two weeks ago for the taking over of the Dominion Laundry Company, Limited, and the erection of a modern laundry plant in Belleville, Ont., the latter to be under the supervision of Oswald A. Porritt, well-known business man in and around that city.

It is understood the merger will also include important laundry properties in St. John, N.B.; Halifax, N.S., St. Johns, Que., and Quebec City, as well as other plants in Montreal.

The capitalization of Consolidated Laundries Corporation of Canada, consists of 100,000 shares no par value common stock, of which 30,000 shares have been issued to take care of immediate requirements. There are no bonds, preferred stock or other securities senior to the Corporation's capital stock.

PLAY TODAY AT POINT

The Point Anne and Corbyville Clubs of the Bay of Quinte Industrial League will play the second game of the series at the cement village this afternoon. The Point Anne boys have a decided advantage in the series, having taken the first game which was played on the grounds of the Casco Club last Monday. The Point Anne boys have a "main" team and they will take some beating. The Pointers will likely use Frank Bernard on the mound while the Casco will rely on Ralph Iler to pull them through. This afternoon's game will start at 3 o'clock.

PLENTY OF HEAT

Yesterday and today were two of the hottest days of the year the temperatures being 91 degrees yesterday and 88 today. The low was about the mean, being 57 yesterday and 62 today. Last year at this time the heat was only a little above normal, temperatures of 73 being recorded. While we are welcoming the warm weather, how ever as it is just what is needed after the recent heavy rains. And along in January and February we no doubt will wish we had a few more days like this one.

LEFT FOR EASTERN ONTARIO

Arthur Leavens left early this morning for Kingston and Ottawa with his new Waco' plane where he will stay for the best week or ten days. Arthur intends to barnstorm his way through Eastern Ontario and Quebec, arriving back in time for the Belleville Fair. The outlook his summer will be good during the days of the Fair as his landing field is directly west of the Agricultural Grounds, and as the rains have recently been reduced, many will likely take advantage o the opportunity to get up in the air in the new plane. Walt. Leavens and Miss Sinclair, the other members of the Leavens Aros firm are barnstorming through Western Ontario, but will return about the same time as Arthur.

KITCHEN SHOWER

A kitchen shower was given last evening in honor of Miss Kathleen Trump bride-elect by her many friends at the home of Mrs. Ann Barnum, 178 Lower Street. Miss Trump was the recipient of many useful gifts. After spending a pleasant evening a dainty bunch was served.

FAMILY REUNION

A pleasant family gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Elliott, 297 Front Street, Belleville. About twenty-five relatives were present. Among those from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Close, Lonsdale, Ont.; Mrs. F. Lowrie, Winnipeg; Miss P. Close Shpaner; Mr. and Mrs. John Wilson Shannonville; Mr. Thos. and Mr. William Wilson, Shannonville, Mr. and Mrs. N. M. Wilson, Redmonville; all appreciated the opportunity afforded them of a visit with relatives as Mr. A. Close London, had been absent for nearly thirty-five years.

FOOTBALL LEAGUE FORMED

A Football League is being formed in the city. Any team wishing to enter in the League will kindly notify the Secretary, Mr. C. Birtwistle, 19 Ridley Avenue, Telephone No. 1676 on- or before the 22nd of August, kindly stating their colours, etc. The following match will take place at Pine Street School Grounds on Friday night. Kick off at 6 p.m., sharp: Belleville United vs. Canadian Legion.

LONDON BIRTHRATE FALLS OFF STEADILY

London—(C.P.)—London's birthrate has fallen continuously since 1921, says the London Advertiser's annual health report.

The population has remained at about four and a half million, but the child population has decreased considerably, the proportion of children under 15 years of age having fallen from 30 per cent. in 1901 to 24 per cent. at the last census.

If the decrease of births and the present rate of infantile mortality continue until the next census children under 15 will then form less than twenty per cent. of the total population.

CAN ENTER CHURCH WITH NO HAT ON

Women are allowed now to visit Exeter Cathedral without hats when no service is being held.

This is believed to be the first church authority to depart from the rule that women's heads must be covered when visiting cathedrals.

A Word to the Wise

If, a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded it as the opportunity of a lifetime.

Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25c to 50c; or more under levels established last year.

The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have increased the equities behind the shares.

Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

Why not consult with us in the matter and let us make some suggestions?

FIRST GAME OF PLAY-OFFS HERE NEXT WEDNESDAY

Remainder of Scheduled Games Are Called Off

The first game of the play-offs for the Central League championship will be played in Belleville next Wednesday afternoon. Oshawa having won from Peterboro yesterday the Peles were eliminated and the League Management at a meeting last night decided that no further games would be played as the standing cannot be effected by the result. Oshawa will provide some great opposition for the locals as from all reports they played grand ball to defeat Peterboro yesterday 8-3.

The date for the second game of the play-offs was tentatively set for the following Saturday at Oshawa, August 25th. However the Oshawa Senior Lacrosse team is schedueed to play on that day and if the Ball Club can make arrangements the Lacrosse game will be called off. If not the game will not be played until Saturday September 1st. Walter Gerow will drive his players at top speed in preparation for the play-off. There was an apparent lethargic feeling among some of the local players in yesterday's game and while the result mattered not, the team did not put the "pep" into the game which has characterized their play during the season. "Hoot" Gibson and "Vimy" Rutland will fling the play-off games for the Nationals. Should a third game be necessary the scene of the conflict will be decided by the flip of a coin.

"Jeff" Heckman started on the mound for Peterboro yesterday and the Oshawa team made no runs in the beginning four in the second and one in the third. Heckman was then sent in and limited the Oshawa team to a run during the balance of the game. Peterboro scored two runs in the sixth and two in the ninth. Elliott Oshawa's third baseman knocked a triple with the bases full which scored Peterboro's boro outfielders were practically rendered outfielder maligned the ball. Peter sponsible for the loss. Dainty pitched a remarkable game for Oshawa.

Manager Walter Gerow represented the local club at the Executive meeting and Newton Thompson, League Secretary of Belleville was also present. Mr. McNally represented Deboro, Messrs. McFadden and Craig, Peterboro, while Messrs Lake, Chesley and Dobson were present on behalf of the Oshawa Club. The matter of umpires for the play-offs was left in abeyance but it was the general consensus of opinion that Central League arbiters should be employed. Lebarr of Peterboro, and Dell, of Oshawa, handled the game yesterday.

PRINCE YOKIMURA BRINGS TWO WIVES

Vancouver, B. C.—(C.P. —Prince Yokimura of Japan arrived in Vancouver recently, accompanied by two wives bound for Toronto.

The prince, an exclusive individual occupied a special compartment or suite of his own, and his better halves were allotted a "compartment together on the lower decks of a trans-Pacific liner.

It is not unusual to hear of queens parading in full dress, with page boys carrying a gorgeous train, but it is something out of the ordinary for kings or princes to be so attended. And yet every day of the voyage across the Pacific Prince Yokimura took his constitutional, attired in silver and grey, with a twelve-foot train carefully carried by Chinese boys.

The prince happens to be a rooster, insured to a value of $700. His wives are just grey and silver-laced hens of the same rare Far Eastern breed. The prince, with spurs an inch long, is the proud possessor of a twelve-foot tail. When the prince is resting his lengthy tail feathers are carefully curled round and round and held in a sack.

RADIO DID GOOD TURN IN BUDAPEST

Budapest, —(C.P.) — Hearing his crimes reported as a news item via the broadcasting station a man was so surprised that he gave himself up to the police.

The man had appropriated sums of money collected for his employers and was living in a small hotel. The landlord was so pleased with his well-playing guest that he secretly installed a wireless set in the dining room and during dinner switched on the loud speaker.

REGENT THEATRE

"Second To None" is an exceptionally fine naval film and is being shown today at the Regent Theatre. The English Press is very generous in its praise of "Second To None."

The night battle as an surpasses all that has hitherto been attempted.

—Daily Telegraph.

—Daily Mail.

—The Star.

BELLE THEATRE

'A simeon, the terrific sandstorm, which is one of the dreaded foes of dwellers of the Arabian desert, was artificially produced by Columbia Pictures for scenes in "The Desert Bride, which will be the attraction at the Belle Theatre today to Saturday. The company of players, under the direction of Walter Lang and headed by Betty Compson, went to the Mojave desert in California to film the action. This is her second picture in "The Sheik" and other famous desert pictures.

Under the direction of Walter Lang powerful airplane fans were set in motion, driving the sands across the slate with great force.

According to the action of the picture, Betty Compson and Allan Forrest were required to ride across the desert and be overtaken by a simeon. They were forced under a blanket until the storm abated.

The artificial sandstorm was a success, and left no ill effects as experienced on the Sahara. The wind blew and whirled the particles of sand, with sufficient force to cover the bodies of the players. It came in such quantities and with such violence that one moment of fighting the blast would have filled the lungs of the players.

In true Arabian style Miss Compson, Adn Forrest spread out the emergency blanket, which every desert traveler carries, and making a tent for themselves got under cover before the airplane fans were started. When the scene was finished they were completely buried in sand.

Ray June, cameraman, secure some powerful shots of the simoon in action. Those have been included in the film for atmosphere.

BANFF TOO HA
ITS FESTIVAL

Indian Days Are a M Interesting Spectacle To All

Banff, Alta.,—(C.P.)—Winnipeg Quebec may have their folk-festivals but Banff has it, "Indian Days," only those who have witnessed ceremonies connected therewith appreciate the great quality of entertainment offered to beholders.

Indian days are to the Indian great holiday of the year. With youthful Canadian it is "only so many days now till Christmas, or the next holidays," but with the Indian children it is "only so many days till we go to Banff." Monday of the Stoney's great holiday the squaws for the last busy preparing up did costumes for their dances, many-hued gowns for themselves and children that grow gaudier as progress but also to dazzle, and make envious the palefaces.

To see the Medley — the race track is a sight long to remembered says an observer, to the hill they come hi-yi-ing and hi-ing, braves, squaws, young bucks, children, papooses with blankets, horses and seemingly innumerable.

Suddenly it seems, a village of hundred tepees has sprung up with a few minutes ago was nothing. Rail cars served out by the Indian Committee for on them comes the household of feeding the Stoney while Banff. Each tribe has its own mission fee is charged visitors to Banff and this helps to pay the expenses of bringing the Stoney to Banff and providing prizes for the competitions.

Indian days is not a commercial fair. Here Stoney, Banff and competing in the sports of the white men the latter's sport day grows the Indian adds one day for Indian sports, with only Indians as eligible entrants.

This year the "There Days" will July 28 to 27. A dramatization of incident in Stoney history was given A band of those Indians unfriendly the Stoneys were about to burn prisoners at the stake when an Indian bearing a peace belt rose up and her his life and pleading set 'em free, one of these being her lover.

REPORT IS NOT SO ENCOURAGING

Haying Unfinished; Harvesting Interfered With; Crops Flattened Out

Haying is still unfinished, harvesting seriously interfered with, crops flattened out, wheat in the stook beginning to sprout, potatoes showing signs of rot, apples beginning to scabe.

These are the features of the weekly report of the local Representatives of the Department of Agriculture on the effect of weather conditions of the past week on he crops of the province. Unfortunately these conditions have been quite general. There has scarcely been any section where there has been more than two days without rain and in many sections the rains have been quite heavy as well as frequent. In some counties over half the haying is still to be done; while at the same time the wheat and barley are ready to be cut and ceta ripening up rapidly. In many cases the use of the binder will not be possible owing to the flattened condition of the crops. An effort will be made to save them by using the mower.

An interesting harvest item comes from Essex County where the first combine machine was used on the wheat crop last week. In one afternoon six men harvested and threshed 150 bushels of wheat. Wheat is running 40 to 45 bushels per acre. In that County the barley is all in stook and about 60 per cent of the oats also in stook.

Weather conditions have been some what favorable more for corn and roots and these crops are making rapid progress. Tobacco is also coming along in splendid shape. The progress in corn raises the question of the corn borer. There have been isolated reports that the corn borer is quite bad in some fields but in other fields it is very hard to find in any large numbers. At the same time it is too early to state definitely what damage the borer is going to do this year.

Pastures are, of course, excellent and live stock is thriving. Dairy production is being well maintained. Cheese is selling at twenty-five per pound. Hogs are bringing as high as $15 per cwt. and fetching $11 per pair. Well finished butcher cattle have gone to market at $10 to $11 per cwt. and sling at $15 to $17 per cwt.

New Ontario has apparently suffered from too much rain even more than Old Ontario, while hay crops are reported as being excellent. The continued excessive moisture has prevented any reasonable growing of spring grains and the crops of spring grains will, in consequence, be much below the average.

AGED RECLUSE IS HONORED IN QUEBEC

Quebec, Que., (C. P.)—Celebrative participation in clerical life, the Rev. Mother Ste. Thomas d'Aquin, of the Bon Pasteur orphanage, was recently honored by her companions in the clergy and by the several generations of students which she has taught during her splendid career in the service of the church.

The Rev. Mother Ste. Thomas d'Aquin, nee Virginie Jones, is ninety-five years of age, sixty-seven of which she has been in the service of the Oath she was principal of the Bon Pasteur Academy where she played a prominent role in the advancement and better merit of the school.

The venerable mother received a special benediction from the Holy Father through the medium of Cardinal Capparl, who telegraphed the blessing to his Eminence Cardinal Roulleau.

The fete in her honor opened with Mass at the Bon Pasteur convent, celebrated by the Rev. Father Lorge, assisted by the Rev. Abbes G. N. Gagnon and Edward Lemay, as deacon and sub-deacon. Mgr. J. E. Laberge, P.D., delivered a sermon at the close of the mass in which he complimented the Rev. Mother on her untiring efforts in the orphanage.

The venerable mother greatly touched by the demonstration in her honor, replied briefly to the students and her co-workers, thanking them for the honor bestowed upon her. At the close of the ceremonies each guest was given a small portrait of the Rev. Mother d'Aquin, upon the back of which was a poem composed by her in her nineteith year. The Rev. Mother announced that she had no intention of retiring from her religious activities.

GRILLS RE-UNION HELD YESTERDAY

The Grills second annual reunion took place on Wednesday, Aug. 8, in the form of a picnic at Twelve O'clock Point.

About one hundred were present, all of whom pronounced the day a decided success. Among those present were several from Toronto, Oshawa, Campbellford and Warkworth, besides those from Belleville, Trenton and Tweed districts. The first event of the day was the dinner, which looked very tempting, spread on tables under the trees. After everyone had done justice to the repast, a short time was spent in making the acquaintances of distant relatives and renewing the acquaintance of other whom they do not often see.

During the dinner hour a vote of thanks was tendered to Mrs. Murney Grills for her efficient work. Also great credit is due those on the committee who helped to make the picnic the success that it was.

The sports for the afternoon took the form of races of different kinds, in which almost all took part.

Many took advantage of the bathing beach and had an enjoyable time in the water. After the sports, a basket show was held in which all the ladies competed and made a very fine showing.

Since the last reunion there has been one death and three births in the family

FOXBORO CHURCH AT 12 O'CLOCK POINT.

WOODS ALLOWED BUT THREE HITS AND NATIONALS LOST TO DELORO

Little Interest Was Shown In Yesterday's Game Here

SCORE 5-1

Collins of Deloro Has Great Day At Bat With 3 Safeties

Twirling ball of the invincible kind which would be good enough to win almost any ball game, Inky Woods of Deloro fame turned back the Nationals right in their own back yard yesterday afternoon. He allowed only three hits in the full nine innings, and this time was able to register a win. Last Wednesday he let the Nationals down with two hits, but errors by his team mates lost him the game, which was the worst kind of tough luck.

Woods has pitched four games in the last seven days, winning two and losing two, and has pitched real ball all the way. Letting the slugging Nationals down with five hits in eighteen innings is some feat in itself, but to step right into the Oshawa cloisters and beat them two days after pitching a two hit game is something better. Woods and Gilbert are two of the best pitchers and prospects in the league, with Gilbert having the shade because of his early season form.

Vinny Utronki appeared to be taking things too easy, which may be all right for the ball team but which makes those few loyal fans who pay their money to see a game and not an exhibition rather sore. For that matter, some of the players seemed to have a great deal of interest in the game, with the possible exception of Harry Blakely on short. He turned in one of his best exhibitions this year, making a lovely double play with Harry Mills in the 4th, when he grabbed Quinn's hard drive near second, stepped on the bag for a forceout on Jack, and threw to Mills at first to get Quinn.

Again in the 8th, he made a long run back of short onto the grass and made a lovely stop of Brown's bid for a hit and threw him out by inches at first. These two plays were about the only bright spots in an otherwise uninteresting game, and more than one of the handful of fans who were on deck left before the pastime was over.

Some excitement was had in the 8th, after Abe Weir had got on on Boyd's error. Utronki then singled for the second hit of the day so far as Bellevilla was concerned, and while Woods was pitching to R. Scott he made a balk. Weir had started for third, and when touched out was called out by Kerr at third. Golling, umpiring at the plate called him safe and allowed Weir third and Utronki second, maintaining that Woods had made a balk, which he had. No one scored, however, as Scott and Vern Weir went out one after the other.

Belleville's three hits were made by Harry Mills, and Vinny Utronki, Harry getting two of them, one a double to deep left field. Belleville's lone run came in the 4th, after Vern Weir got on by a fielder's choice. Starting to steal second, Collins, catching for Deloro threw away wide and Weir went to third. In fielding the ball Jack, in centre field, bobbled, and Weir raced home. This was after Deloro had pushed four counters over, one in the first and three in the second.

Rivers, by Scott and Blakely respectively in the first inning, plus two hits paved the way for the first run for Deloro. At that it would have been more if Penny Mills had not caught Regan stepping off third base. Collins and George Scott, brother of Bob Scott, were the men to hit in this inning. In the second, eight men batted, of which three singled, three scored runs, one got on through an error and one was given a base on balls. Incidentally, one struck out.

In the fifth, Collins of Deloro came through with the longest hit of the day, when he slammed a three bagger to right field. George Scott singled again to score him with the sax run. On the whole it was a poor exhibition of baseball, and we hope that the Nats have a poor game out of their systems before the play-offs commence. With Walter Gerow in Oshawa at the League executive meeting, Vernon Weir managed the team.

Left field seemed to have more than its share of the hitting yesterday, Hagerman making three put outs in as many innings, and Alex Weir, who went in in the fifth, making two. Almost all were difficult catches, at that. Play-offs are in the offing now, and no doubt the crowd will swarm to the Ball Park to see these most exciting games. More than likely it will be Oshawa and they will be worthy competitors.

WILMOT LEADING DINGHY SAILORS

Yesterday's Races Sailed In Light Breeze Off Country Club

The Wednesday afternoon dinghy race was sailed in a light and somewhat fluky breeze which came away from due South. The course was from the Country Club starting line across to the Prince Edward shore buoy, back to the Sidney buoy and home, once around.

Five boats were on hand for the start, G. Graham, Martin, Wilmot, B. Graham and Medd. As usual, they went over the line in a heap, then after the close brusher which always occur just after the start, settled down to work their way into the very tricky wind, each striving to catch some puff or fluke which would give him an advantage over his competitors. Two of the boats elected to stand up the bay on the port tack, hoping thereby to hold onto their wind and veer and so get a clear reach for the buoy. As it turned out, however, those who held on the starboard tack heading as close to as possible for the shark had the better of the argument and were favoured by the shifts of wind. About half way across the bay Wilmot's "Flame", sailing in weather which suited her perfectly, began to draw out in the lead. At the same time G. Graham and his son, young Bob, were having a battle royal for second position. First one then the other would gain a few feet until finally Bob, by a smart bit of sidewalk slipped away from "Bluebird" and rounded he buoy in "Flame's" wake. With the wind shift ing as it did, the second leg turned out to be everything from a free run to a beat, with "Flame" coming along prettily clung to her lead. G. Graham came up on Bob and got some of his wind, but by sailing through his wind and away from him, Martin drew up slightly but was not able to get close enough to threaten the leaders, while Medd, sailing a boat which required more handling than is up as a bad job and headed for home.

The second leg and the finish show ed no change in position, so that the points gained are as follows. Wilmot 5, G. Graham 4, B. Graham 3, Martin 2, Medd 1 (for starting).

The standing for the Club Champion ship is now, Wilmot 30, Martin 24, George Graham 18, Bob Graham 8, Proctor 7, Walker 7, Medd 2.

PLANNING TO MERGE THREE BIG BREWERIES

BAY OF QUINTE GAME TONIGHT

Ontarios Smarting Under Past Defeats Will Attempt Come-back

Tonight will see another of the famous battles, Beavers vs Ontarios on the armouries lawn. The Beavers have won all three starts against the Clan Gerow, and they are out to make it four in'a row. The Ontarios feel that they have been humbled quite sufficiently and Hilda Matthews is out after the scalp of the Meagher-coached crew tonight. The Blue-shirts will rely on their sterling little twirler Mollie Gray to turn the Ontarios back tonight and on her form of the past two weeks she is trick. Alan Meagher will have his full line-up in the fray as will the Ontarios and it is certain to develop into a warm argument. The Bay of Quinte League is running a tight race with all three Clubs still very much in the running. The Ontarios recently handed the Napanee team a trimming and they are hoping to repeat the dose on the Beavers. The game will start promptly at 6.30.

DO CHILDREN MAKE WOMEM FADE?

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH.
Emineut Psychologist.

Again and again happy women turn depressed and melancholy when their sons and daughters go off to school or leave home to marry.

Often, indeed, women under such circumstances will allow themselves to go to seed. They become careless about personal appearance, lose interest in friends and amusements, neglect their household and husband.

Does the very nature of woman account for such striking change and doubles?

Ask any mother and she will admit the joys of cuddling a baby. She will tell you she enjoys the dependence of the little ones upon her and that she is sorry when the abject, helpless stage passes.

When the children are young the mother's importance is enhanced. She amounts to something, you see. She is really omnipotent in the home.

The child cannot possibly do without the mother. But then as the child grows up it becomes less and less dependent.

By guarding in this way against the decay of middle life your children won't be neglected. In fact, the fresher, more varied and modern your outlook and attitude, the finer, nobler and better mother will you be.

It is not the children who make women fade. It is the mothers who, unwittingly, allow themselves to fade.

You can, and should, prevent this from happening. It is a duty you owe to your family as well as to yourself.

See to it that motherhood remains a joy throughout your life.

Five coal miners lost their lives in an explosion at the Lochrie Coal Co. at Johnstown, Pa. Four others who were underground at the time made their escape.

the rascal, but sooner or later the latest acrylyl has become indigestible. And with independence he tries to break away from parental influence.

Then the mother finds herself done, heart-hungry, morose! With the outlet for her mother instinct cut off she feels shut in, pent up, useless. She imagines her course as run, her duty ended. Life for her, now appears an empty, aching void.

Yes, the very nature of woman tends to let her down badly when the children reach adulthood.

But this need not be so! Realize what may happen and prepare early to counteract it.

Take the time, even when the children are young, to busy yourself with affairs to which your mother's viewpoint can be made helpful and uplifting.

With woman suffrage and the newer freedom for expression in all walks of life your opportunities for usefulness and happiness away from the immediate family circle are legion.

By guarding in this way against the decay of middle life your children won't be neglected. In fact, the fresher, more varied and modern your outlook and activities, the finer, nobler and better mother will you be.

It is not the children who make women fade. It is the mothers who, unwittingly, allow themselves to fade.

You can, and should, prevent this from happening. It is a duty you owe to your family as well as to yourself.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of twenty and I have been going with a man about thirty for about four months, and that he is married. I love him very much and hate to give him up. What shall I do?

CECILIA.

CECILIA: By all means give the man immediately, Cecilia. You are not being fair to yourself or to the man's wife if you continue going about with him. Then, too, you are paving the way for very unpleasant thoughts about you in the eyes of the world. There are enough single men, my dear, so why worry about a man who can be nothing to you and bring you nothing but unhappiness?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

When you are seeing a girl home is it proper to bid her goodbye at the gate or accompany her to the door?

WAITING.

WAITING: I'm surprised, Waiting! Accompany the lady to the door on every occasion.

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

"The sandwiches are ready," was her only reply.

He carried them into the drawing-room.

"I've made some excellent new business connections," he told her in parting. "They're going to take me on a long journey—to South Africa, finally."

Her pretty face clouded.

"Oh, I'll surely be lose you and Irma. You are my only real friends."

He made a slight grimace. "I haven't dared tell Irma yet. She hates to travel—says it makes her too uncomfortable."

"But for a voyage like that!" Marguerite sighed. "How I envy her. I love the sea. I'm always stifled here in New York."

He looked at her closely.

"It would do you good. You're a trifled peaked."

"Dad and Mother and Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are going to Europe in the spring. I had hoped they'd ask me, too, but Mother says that I should not leave Hal."

"The firm of Glover and Reynolds is going strong," he remarked dryly. "I'm not surprised that your families feel they can afford a holiday. . . . It's in the spring that I'll be going, Marguerite, why don't you come with Irma and me? You need a change."

She shook her head wistfully.

He rose abruptly. "I must be going now. Irma will be here any moment."

He shook hands formally and went away.

She went to bed with the disturbing impression that she and Steve Brockton were seeing too much of each other. This, to were Irma and Hal.

Chapter 15.

THE STOP SIGNAL.

The winter passed slowly. It was an unusually severe winter, with sleet and snow and high winds. Marguerite's father and mother closed their Long Island place and came into town. Mrs. Glover was radiant over the acquisition of a fashionable and expensive hotel suite; Glover made the best of it, determined to live up to the new social status that his money and Marguerite's marriage had given him. Mrs. Reynolds had mellowed, with the arrival of such unexpected and long-desired affluence. She had definitely taken up her son's "in-laws," and Mrs. Glover found herself caught up in a whirl of pleasure that left her little time for her daughter.

Marguerite had taken a bad cold and was in bed for weeks. Hal was very considerate. He sent for the best specialist and a nurse, ordered flowers, and was nicer than he had ever been. But she felt that he would have done the same thing for any one of his acquaintances.

They had drifted so far apart before she was taken ill, further apart even than in the first days of their marriage. She had definitely given up going about with him and stayed alone in the evenings, or with Steve Brockton, while Irma and Hal danced.

When she found that, during her illness, Hal was remaining home, she begged:

"Please go out, Hal. It really makes me feel badly to know that you're being bored, evening after evening."

"I really should stay home when there is illness in the house, Marguerite," he told her.

She lay staring at the ceiling for a long time. She wished he might have said that he couldn't enjoy himself when he knew that she was ill.

Irma dropped in daily with offerings of fruits and jellies. Brockton sent flowers. Marguerite said to Irma: "Make Hal go out and dance, as usual. I don't want to spoil everybody's winter with this wretched illness of mine."

Irma said: "I don't mind confessing that I do miss Hal as an escort. And my poor Steve! He's like a stray cat, without you to listen to him when he's riding his hobby. We're getting frightful on each others' nerves lately. I simply don't get his reading aloud to me. When I went around asleep in the midst of it the other evening, he was really angry—positively angry. Swore he'd never ask me to listen again . . . Well, thank Heaven for that!" she added flippantly.

But Hal flatly refused to go out while Marguerite was ill in bed, with the result that, she got up sooner than she should.

Once more, Hal and Irma resumed their pilgrimages to the theaters and the night clubs, and once again, Steve and Brockton, in his loneliness, began to come down to the Reynolds' apartment in the evenings.

The first night he gave Marguerite an account of all that had happened in his business during her illness. He talked long and eagerly. It was only when he saw her fairly collapse in her chair, white and drawn, that he said contritely:

"I say, I'm a beast to have kept you up like this. You're still a sick girl. Why didn't you turn me out long ago?"

She smiled up at him with an effort. "It was nice to have some one to talk to. I've enjoyed it."

"You're not going to faint, are you?" he demanded anxiously.

"Oh, no. I've never fainted in my life."

"That's so," he laughed. "I forgot that the era of fainting women has passed. Irma has never fainted either—not actually. But she pretends, when we have a quarrel and I won't give her what she wants. She can give a pretty good imitation of the real stuff, and I'm never quite sure it's acting, so I come round. And then she laughs at me for being a fool," he added ruefully. "I have a first-class comedienne for a wife, Marguerite."

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

In making pot pourri, gather all the heavy scented flowers, lose flowers and lemon verbena, cabbage rose petals, moss picks, rose geranium and mock pinks. Dry them all in the sun, roll them through the palms and put them in salt. After a week or two shake out the salt and add cinnamon and cloves. The leaves are now ready to go into chiffon bags or the dining room rose jars.

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

Fireside happiness to burn of own Blest with that charm, the certainty to please.
—ROGERS.

NEEDS A GUARDIAN

There is some sort of a law in the country that makes it possible to appoint a guardian for those who are not capable ob taking care of themselves or their property, and it is rather a wise idea.

It should have a shed built on to it that would house those who patronize fortune tellers, and who let gipsy women mail their wallets.

Last week a man with $1,400 in his pocket went into one of those places in Toronto where fortunes are told. He had the bumps on his head felt, and his hand lines charted; then the lady in question suggested she should "bless his wallet" for him, and the simpleton forked over his cash for the ceremony.

When he got outside he thought it well to count over his earthly possessions, as represented by the contents of his wallet, and it was then that the calculations showed him that he had been lightened to the extent of $260. His bumps of profit and loss were startling to operate.

That man needs either a guardian or a wife; if he has the latter he should always see that she accompanies him on his rounds and that the coin of the family is handed over to her keeping, with the exception of street car fare for the husband and enough to buy a ban sandwich in case he misses the train.

LIQUOR EXPORT

One of the advantages of not being located on the international border line is exemplified by the case of Windsor, which has been getting some undesirable publicity the last year or two. The trouble the liquor control board has been having with the exporters doubtless finds origin in the desire of moneyed Americans to quench their thirst without having to go to unwind red tape from round the hot ties and their readiness to pay high prices for the privilege, prices which experience in the United States has taught them to accept without demur. It must be a great temptation to the exporters to make a little extra change by supplying this imported home demand; and the authorities allege that some have not been able to resist it. The storage of liquor in warehouses along the water front or on the docks is resulted, states Sir Henry Drayton, in some of it being shipped to another dock, where it finds it way back into Ontario. It may be that the exporting firms are themselves not to blame, but that the trouble lies with their employees.

Bootlegging and its attendant evils is diminishing in this province, and the public will stand behind the liquor control board in its efforts to stamp it out utterly. It has been the practice of the exporters to store beer in warehouses until such time as it is sold or the opportunity arises for its disposal. It is desirable from their stand point that the products of the brewery should be readily available for prompt shipment, but such a practice aids 'short-circuiting.' Doe warnings were given the exporters that the liquor must not be kept lying in the warehouses, but the warning passed unheeded, or, perhaps, the instruction could not be carried out. Then the board swooped down upon the wharves, seized $2,000,000 worth of liquor, which has now been released by a bond of $700,000 being deposited. In a later raid the authorities contented themselves with taking samples; huge stocks of liquor 'embarrassed' them, as Sir Henry Drayton expresses it. In making the seizure the exporters claim the board acted illegally. Perhaps it did; it is a point to be settled in the courts; but we certainly think the firms concerned would be well advised to co-operate. The government has wide powers. It was not so long ago that a Toronto brewery lost its license, and the province can prohibit the export of liquor altogether.

NO ADVANTAGE.

When Prince George started away from Southampton a few days ago to come to Canada the man at the gate refused to let him through until he showed his passport. The same thing was repeated at the gang plank, and the son of royalty had to produce all his documents to demonstrate that he had a right to embark.

That's not in keeping with the ordinary conception of what it means to be a prince; we've always imagined that people would stand with gaitpost rigidity at attention, or bow low and swing wide the gate.

What's the use of being a prince if one has to fumble through pockets for tickets? That's no better than riding in the day coach on a train and making a grand shuffle when the conductor calls for tickets.

A Message To Ford Owners

1 - MODEL "T"
2 - MODEL "A" THE NEW CAR

For years Veedol Forzol has been acknowledged by Model "T" owners th e world over as the best oil to meet the lubrication requirements of this car.

Now, owners of the new Model "A" are experiencing with Veedol the same unparalleled economy and super heat-resisting qualities.

Your Ford, whether old or new, deserves the best lubrication you can give it. With Veedol you can be sure that your investment is being protected to the fullest extent and that your Ford of either model will deliver in the highest degree the trouble-free, service and economy which you have the right to expect.

Veedol Forzol, well known to hundreds of thousands of Ford owners, is famous for the correct oil for the Model "T". For the new Models use Veedol "Heavy" in summer and Veedol "Medium" in cold weather. The truck Model "AA" also uses the same summer and winter grades.

Veedol dealers are everywhere. You will know them by the orange and black signs. Drain and fill up with the correct grade of Veedol. Thus you'll get the utmost of pleasure and satisfaction in the operation of your Ford.

TOURIST FOUND UNCONSCIOUS IN DITCH

Girl Drowned in North Hastings---Flower Show Closes Tonight

MAN WHO WENT TO GALLOWS MAY HAVE BEEN A FORMER RESIDENT

George Appell Electrocuted Last Week At Sing Sing

SAME MAN?

Said To Have Been Engaged In Bootlegging Activities

Following a news despatch which reached Belleville from Ossining, New York, stating that George Appell had been electrocuted for having been implicated in the murder of a Coast Guard officer, local people are of the opinion that was the same man who was suspected as Chief Chemist at the Corbyville plant of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company during the years of 1923-25-26.

While no definite news has been received to verify the report it is the strong conviction that it is the same George Appell who was well known in Belleville. It is understood that after leaving the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, Appell became engaged in wholesale bootlegging activities along the Atlantic seaboard and around New York City. He was reputed to be worth considerably over $100,000 and controlled a fleet of rum-running vessels operating around Manhattan Island. It is also understood that Appell was aboard one of the boats when the shooting occurred and although he was exonerated of the actual shooting he did not forsake his pals and shielded went to the chair without a murmur.

CHARGED WITH DRUNKEN DRIVING

Edward Kerr Will Likely Be Given a Jail Term

Tomorrow morning Edward Kerr, of Trenton, will appear before Magistrate Mikel in police court to answer to a charge of being drunk in charge of a motor vehicle, last night. Kerr, who appeared this morning and had his case remanded until tomorrow, crashed into a car in the city, although he did not do a great deal of damage. According to the new policy of the Magistrate, however, all drunken drivers convicted who do personal or property damage will have to go to jail for at least the minimum term of seven days.

S. J. FISHER AND SON ACQUIRE FURTHER INSURANCE INTERESTS

Chancey Ashley, Established Here For 40 Years, To Retire

Announcement is made today of the fact that the old established general insurance business of Mr. Chancey Ashley has been purchased by Messrs. S. J. Fisher & Son. Mr. Fisher's office has been in the insurance business for over twenty-five years, having conducted an extensive insurance business in this city for the past nine years. Previous to this he was located in Campbellford. Since moving to Belleville, Mr. Fisher has purchased a number of insurance businesses, including the W. H. Hudson business and those of Mr. Richard Thompson and Mr. John Hick of the city. He also purchased the Smith business and the business of the late Mr. H. M. Mayhew in Madoc.

Mr. Fisher has associated with him in the firm his son Stuart, who has always been noted for its careful attention to its clients' interests and its prompt settlements at the time of losses. They do business over the entire counties of Hastings and Prince Edward and with the acquisition of Mr. Ashley's business and Companies will be able to truly live up to their slogan, "We insure everything insurable."

Long Established

Mr. Chancey Ashley has been in business for over forty years. He came to Belleville from a farm at Foxboro and for thirteen years worked as a clerk of Harford Ashley, Division Court Clerk. During this time he did some insurance business, but after went into the "game" entirely, taking an office in the Clapp block. Later he moved in the store now occupied by Carl Read's radio shop and for three or four years has been located in the office where he is at present.

"I decided to sell out my business on account of the loss of my son Harry about a year and a half ago," stated Mr. Ashley to the Intelligencer this morning. "There was plenty of work connected with me in the work. Of course it will be some time before I get all my affairs straightened out, and I will still look after my real estate business."

Mr. Ashley has every intention of living in Belleville, although retired. He has a splendid and thriving business in this city equalled by few

SOCIAL EVENING SPENT AT HALL

A splendid dance and cards completed the evening's entertainment of the Ladies' Society of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen held at the Mone auditorium yesterday. A supper was served at the tabernacle church during after the o'clock, the guests immediately after cards repairing to the lodge rooms.

No officers were elected yesterday.

Mrs. Annie Boyd, president of the local lodge, stated to the Intelligencer today, but a great deal of territory was covered. About a hundred delegates were present for the convention.

Woman In Serious Condition Following a Domestic Quarrel

Mrs. Halford Deline, Foundry street, who yesterday got in a little trouble with her husband, climaxed into his automobile dressed only the lightest of attire and is alleged to have fallen out through the door while her spouse was driving, is lying in the Belleville General Hospital today with a fractured skull.

Sergeant Arthur Harman and Provincial Officer David Sylvester noticed was the woman on the road and brought her to the police station. The first it is alleged, raising a bump on her signs of some injury were apparent worthy spouse's crashing.

HANDWRITING BEARS LITTLE RESEMBLANCE

Oslo, Aug. 17.—The nephew of Raold Amundsen, who had acted as secretary to his famous uncle, says that handwriting of the letter found August 11th by a Dutch fisherman off the coast of Cronigen, Holland, bears no resemblance to that of the missing explorer. The message said Amundsen had been sighted several hundred miles east of Franz Joseph land.

VESSEL RAISED AFTER 9 YEARS

Crew of British Submarine May Be Buried With Honors

Leningrad, Aug. 17.—Nine years after having been sunk in the Baltic the British submarine L55 has been raised and the Soviet Government desires to bury the crew with appropriate honors.

"They were our enemies," said R. A. Muklevitch, Commander of the Soviet fleet, "but the Red seamen bear them no malice. These British sailors died while doing their duty."

The battle in which L55 was sunk took place on June 4, 1919, he said. The submarine attacked two Russian destroyers but its torpedoes missed and it was sunk when it rose to the surface.

The raising of the vessel from the bottom of Kronsk Bay was attended by great difficulty as it was not until last spring that the the bay was entirely cleared of the mines planted there during the war.

Mexico City, Aug. 17.—Despatches from Querataro say that three insurgents were killed during a combat and 14 taken prisoners and hanged to telegraph poles at Leon de La Cruz.

LOST HER LIFE BY DROWNING

15-Year-Old Girl Sank To Death In Lake Papineau

BODY RECOVERED

Coroner Dr. Lumb Decided Inquest Was Unnecessary

Lena Hoss, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Hoss, of Rochester, N.Y., was drowned last Sunday about 1.45 p.m. in Lake Papineau north of Bancroft. News of the drowning did not reach the outside world for two days as Lake Papineau is some thirty miles from Bancroft and communication is poor.

Apparently the unfortunate girl had been bathing with several other girls who were camping at the lake, and got beyond her depth. Although her body was recovered inside of ten minutes and two local doctors were present were also camping at the lake employed resuscitation methods for nearly two hours, life was found to be extinct. Dr. Lumb, of Bancroft was called in his capacity as coroner, but decided that an inquest was unnecessary as it was clear that death had resulted from accidental drowning. Provincial Constable Hammer of the Provincial Police at Belleville made the investigation.

Lake Papineau will be remembered as the lake in which Walter Minaker lost his life last Autumn, his remains having been frozen in the lake all winter and were found this spring after the ice were gone. Papineau Lake is noted for its fishing and deer abound in the country immediately adjacent but the water takes sheer drops of many feet, usually 30 many for bathers. Many United States citizens boil day in the district, but a pall of gloom has been formed over the little colony by the recent tragedy.

ARMOURIES IN GAYEST ATTIRE

Annual Flower Show Will Officially Close Tonight

Many took advantage of the chance to linger over the results of the work of the members of the Belleville Horticultural Society last night at the Armouries when the Annual Flower Show opened. The usual appearance of the Armouries was transformed from a bare, barn-like structure to one of beauty and colour by the hundreds of exhibits and the thousands of flowers which were on display.

Each table was laden with the product of some member, and showed hours of care and good handling both in the manner in which the exhibits were arranged and in their opulent beauty. One exhibit which took the eye and is quite a novelty was the exhibition of decorated doll carriages, each carriage being garlanded with flowers, only five entries were made in this class, but they also showed great care had been taken to blend the colours into a pleasing whole.

Mrs. S. C. Balls had on exhibition well over one hundred water colour paintings of wild flowers, and all were true to life as it is possible to make them. Many favourable comments were heard on this exhibit. Roses were plentifully exhibited, as well as those of the perennial varieties, some of flowers and some which are less often seen.

Judging was going on all evening and the results of their expert training in this line of work was soon apparent as they culled those exhibits which were just a little below th standards of the others.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH VERDICT RENDEREE

Brockville, Aug. 17.—A verdict o accidental death was returned last night by the coroner's jury investigating the case of Edward Shannette aged 19, of Morrisburg, lineman employed by the Public Utilities Commission, who was electrocuted here on Wednesday when trimming trees in proximity to a line carrying 44,000 volts.

Prisoner Was Still Drunk After A Night in The Police Cells

A member of that fast-vanishing fraternity, the itinerant printer, got drunk on Canned Heat at the tourist camp last night and was still well under the influence when he clambered into the prisoner's box at the police court this morning. John Dunn, not stated address, will spend the next ten days in jail as he was unable to pay the fine of $15 plus $7 costs.

When the officers arrived to arrest Dunn some Sterno canned heat was found beside him. This canned heat is the concentrated poison as this morning he accused peered at the Magistrate with wavering eyes and promptly asked to be allowed to go. This was refused, however, and Dunn unsiedcily looking at His Worships sish ed and said "I was pretty drunk last night, and think hopefully by jove, I think I'm still tight." Needless to say, all agreed with him.

SOME LIFE GUARDS!

Fifteen Guards At New York

Beaches Could Not Swim

New York, Aug. 17.—The popular notion of a life guard, broad-shouldered and amphibious, received a rude shock when after an inquiry, it was announced that fifteen guards at the city beaches could not even swim a stroke.

POLICE ARREST ALLEGED OWNER

Notified Authorities That Car Was Stolen Here

Local authorities have discovered the owner of the automobile which led the police car a mild chase down the highway Wednesday night and when overhauled disgorged twenty-seven cases of wine as well as eight separate bottles. Hyman Rosen, of Picton, appeared in police court this morning before Magistrate Mikel charged with illegally "having". The case was laid over for one week.

Rosen telephoned the police last night that his car had been stolen the night before last. He virtuously denied, however, that the wine belong ed to him, but stated that there might have been one or two bottles of beer in the rear of the car. Rosen claimed that his automobile was stolen from the Market Square on Wednesday evening Sergt. Harman, of the local police visited Picton yesterday and as a result of their investigations Rosen was arrested. He was accompanied by Provincial Officer Sylvester.

POPE RECEIVES 72 CANADIAN PILGRIMS

Rome, Aug. 17.—Pope Pius today received seventy-two Canadian pilgrims who were introduced, to him by Monsignor Conrolle. The Pontiff blessed them, visited them well on their journey to shrines as Lourdes and Lisieux, in France and said he was delighted to meet the faithful churchmen who had come so far to greet him.

ANNUAL PICNIC WAS SUCCESSFUL

Prince of Wales Community Club Sponsors of Splendid Outing

The Prince of Wales Community Club picnic held Wednesday afternoon at the dam was a huge success and enjoyed by both old and young. The events consisted of all kind of running races for the school children, three money prizes being given in each event. The most fun of all was the biscuit race when the runner had to apart the cards, eat their biscuit and whistle. Needless to say some lost their whistle. The sports closed in the afternoon by wimming races. The next order of business was luncheon. After this a scramble for candies and es. then each child was given an ice cream cone to finish off.

A booth on the grounds furnished refreshments. The use of the grounds was donated by Mr. H. Ellis, ... Park Street.

Mr. A. Howe, President of the Club assisted by other members of the Club arranged the outing with the success that this club is noted for. Every one went home tired but well pleased.

Dr. U. G. Rosewater, Cleveland, Now In Kingston Hospital

SKULL FRACTURED

Fell Asleep At Wheel And Car Crashed Into Ditch

A man believed to be Dr. U. G. Rosewater of Cuyrtland, Ohio, was found seriously injured lying in the ditch on the highway one mile west of Napanee at four o'clock this morning. His wrecked car was found a short distance along the highway, where it had crashed.

Rosewater was rushed to the Kingston General Hospital where an X-ray examination revealed that the man was suffering from a fractured skull and internal injuries. He has not yet regained consciousness and the manner in which the accident occurred appears to be a complete mystery.

Speaking with Chief Barrett of Napanee this morning, The Intelligencer learned that Blake Huyck, a taxidriver, found the man lying in the ditch and immediately informed the authorities at Napanee who removed him. It is presumed that he fell asleep while driving and the car careened into the ditch. After the crash he crawled out and sought to signal to passing motorists when he became so weak that he was forced to remain in the ditch. He was unconscious when picked up and advised from Kingston today state that the man's condition is critical. Upon his person is being investigating and has already wired relatives in Cleveland. Papers in his pockets definitely established his identity.

HUNDREDS DIE OF INFLUENZA

Nearly Three Hundred Natives In North Succumb To Disease

Edmonton, Aug. 17.—Scourging the population along the banks of the Mackenzie river, influenza epidemic which has been raging in the north for some time has taken toll of 275 lives among the natives within the past year, according to a report received in Edmonton. At Aklavik, a settlement only one white man had succumbed to the disease. Fifty-three are reported dead at Fort Simpson and 50 at Fort Norman but other deaths may not be known for months.

Police also have been notified and are reported to have been badly hit at Fort Resolution, 50 dead; Fort Simpson 53; Fort Liard, 27; Fort Norman 32; Fort Goodoipe 26 and Fort McPherson 31.

Indian men say that the natives are apathetic when attacked by the disease sitting moaning and wailing in their camps and cabins, instead of making an effort to fight the sickness. They throw away drugs given them by medical men and missionaries because they don't have immediate cure and wait patiently, either to die or to recover.

BANCROFT MAN FOUND GUILTY

Yesterday in Bancroft before Magistrate Armstrong, James Cleary, was found guilty of an attempted serious offence against a young girl, and was fined fifty dollars and costs and given 2 years suspended sentence. Provincial Police laid the charge.

Minnie Baumhauer aged 19, was at Cornwall in the same court and sentenced to two years less onday in the Ontario Mercer Reformatory for perjury. Under oath, Minnie swore certain statements were true which, were later absolutely refuted. Added to this her past record has been none too good, hence the two year sentence.

TODAY'S THOUGHTS

Keep love love life, then do not remember time, for that is the stuff life is made of.

—FRANKLIN.

LORD HAMILTON

Lord Frederick Hamilton's death will come as a personal loss to an Empire-wide circle of his readers. This gracious London editor, Britian gourmand and good author enjoys a characteristic touch of human fellowship no matter where he discovered himself. Notable among his adventures was his active service in London during the war, as well as in the states. A companion piece was his service as a sailor in the same city earlier in life as a "lark."

He combined a virile personality with a vivid literary style, and one recollects of a unique wit and humor. These carried his books, "Here, There and Everywhere"—to name the title of one of them—through good taste, a broad humanity and a small capacity for keen observation were well served.

He was especially in contact with officials in the days of the Marquis of Lansdowne whose wife was Hamilton's sister, both off-spring of the notable Temple Duke of Abercorn. Lord Frederick belonged to the category of "Empire builders," who wrote their experiences in a fashion that has been invaluable, because imperial soldiering are ever present, touched up to acceptance by the picturesque, the fascinating and the romantic.

The death of Lord Frederick comes at the end of a full life. He was along in the early seventies. His passing just escapes the season which he has described with rare philosophy in "My Yesterdays." There is not note of sadness.

"In the mellow golden smoking of the still October days, it is sometimes difficult to realize that the glory of the year has passed beyond recall. Though sunshine has no longer the genial warmth of July, and the more delicate flowers are already dead, under the first furtive touches of winter's finger tips, experience has taught us that the misty-hued glory of autumn is short lived; the raining breeze brings the snows fluttering to the ground in golden showers.

"Soon the few that remain will pass gently down to earth, their mother, "Winter comes."

FUNNEY'S ROMANCE

As retired undefeated heavyweight champion pugilist of the world, Gene Tunney remains a public personage to whose public congratulations upon his engagement to be married may properly go. The public congratulations are his undoubtedly and, what is more, we suspect that the story of Gene's romance—the story of his intellectual and culture and his struggle to make a mission in order to offer himself to a girl born to culture and wealth—has a large place in the minds of millions, the broader genealogic especially, who follow current events.

Aspects there may be which in certain quarters of our many-sided society may be regarded as not in tune with an accurate sense of the fitness of things.

Tunney's endeavors to rise as genius rose and achieve whilst battling with his fists to make the millions, deserve the greater stress and take on a very wholesome look indeed. If he has the education and culture the acquisition suggests to much more than his acquisition of the millions dollars by prize fighting. His engagement seems proof of his rise, but whether it is dependable on the general character of his finances. It is an ancient teaching in the literature and practice of culture that vital to the case that puts the test in life is a good marriage. Not all the men or women who would climb the ladder of attainment successfully hurdle this rock. So Mr. Tunney's case may arouse at least a passing realization by many who otherwise would have given the matter scant thought of the exceeding importance of quality in mates and mating.

In addition to congratulations, Mr. Tunney is entitled to the fervent wish that his marriage turn out to be as good as it looks.

ONTARIO TO FOLLOW

Manitoba has inaugurated its old-age pension scheme, and has already received about 2,000 applications for benefit. The West has shown an progressive spirit in promoting this form of legislation, and it is inevitable that some criticism should be heard of the more dilatory tactics of the East. But it is unfair to doubt the promise of the premier of this province that Ontario will follow suit as soon as it has settled the details of a plan which, it is hoped, will be an improvement over those already in existence. It can, at any rate, be taken for granted that the present administration is committed to the policy of enacting such legislation, and that no undue delay will be permitted in introducing the measure. Though the provincial government remains of the opinion that the proper method of dealing with the problem would have been for the Dominion to have assumed the responsibility of initiating suitable legislation and making it applicable uniformly to the whole country, the present arrangement will be accepted, and a bill introducing most probably in the next session of the legislature which will provide the necessary relief for the supernumerated. Ontario is in line; patience on the part of the old and dependent of this province is about to receive its reward.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 50 years ago)

Another batch of citizens have been summoned to appear on Friday for non-payment of dog tax.

Miss Eva Burrows and her guest Miss Edna Bilton of Oronto, went to Kingston yesterday.

THE LEGEND OF THE GLOW-WORM

One summer evening as I lay
On flower-decked turf to rest,
A little glow-worm passed my way,
And in I thus addressed:

"I wonder how you come to shine
With soft and gentle light!
Why thus busy you combine
Such incandescence bright."

Methough I heard a voice reply,
In accents low but clear,
The legend I'll repeat, which I
Know well you'll love to hear.

"When Christ in Bethlehem was born,
And in the manger laid,
Then do the Maiden so forlorn
We creatures offerings made.

The ass brings straw, the ox some hay,
To make the babe a bed,
And soft warm hay the camels lay.
"And what brought you?" I said.

"I nibbled off a little leaf,
And placed it on His cheek.
For I no more, to my sore grief,
Could do, I was so weak.

And with that leaf the Baby played,
And, playing, touched me: lo!
Just where His hand He laid,
For evermore I glow.

For evermore that glow remains
To yield its gentle light,
For all He touches thus obtains
A radiance true and bright."

Said I: "Touch me, Lord, make me shine,
And all the world shall know
They hand, so human, so divine,
Has made my life an glow."

"Oh, why did I have those nose mother?", she sobbed after their first quarrel.

"Chiefly because your family were too stingy to take us in," he answered bitterly.

The Accused—"I was not going forty miles an hour—not twenty—not even ten—in fact, when the officer came up I was almost at a standstill."

The Judge—"I must stop this or you will be backing into something. Forty shillings."

First Tramp (having shared newspaper with a friend)—"Yer can't believe half the things yer see in the papers nowadays."

The doctor found that the delivery boy's ear, which had been paining, was full of water.

"How did this happen?" he asked. "Have you been swimming?"

"No," replied the boy; "been eatin' water melon."

Dealer: "It's a genuine antique, sir."

Customer: "But you are asking a fearful price for it!"

Dealer: "Well, sir, look how wages and the cost of materials have gone up!"

Husband: "My dear, a man was shot at by a burglar, and his life was saved by a button which the bullet struck."

Wife: "Well, what of it?"

Husband: "Nothing, only the button must have been on!"

INJURED DOG IS TREATED

A little black and white fox - terrier was found by Dr. Ackrill on Front street this morning, suffering with an injured leg. The doctor took the dog home to care for it, but as there was no tag on the canine the owner cannot be found. The dog may be claimed at the doctor's residence.

MADE SHELTER WARDS

Two children at Bancroft were yesterday made wards of the Children Shelter here. Inspector Hinton announced to the Intelligencer today. Their mother, Mrs. Minnie Bannister was recently sentenced to two years less a day in the Reformatory on charges of perjury.

TORONTO UMPS CHOSEN

Newton Thompson, Secretary of the Central Ontario Baseball League, was notified by President McFadden, yesterday, this morning, that two Toronto umpires had been engaged for the Senior series between Oshawa and Belleville which starts next Wednesday afternoon here. The names of the arbiters were not announced in the brief wire but two competent officials will likely be employed. In view of the extreme rivalry that exists between the two teams and in order to avoid any possible run-ins the Toronto umps were chosen.

WORK NEARLY FINISHED

Gymsons and Hall have been rushing the work to completion on their new quarters and although the work will not be finished however, they will be open for business and will finish the rest of the repairing next week. Much new equipment has been installed and the Billiard Parlor will be the last word as far as modern equipment is concerned.

"SON "SEA FLEA" BACK

Frank Harris, of Wellington, was the winner of the "Sea Flea" Boat race at the regatta held at Trent Bridge on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Harris was the only entrant in the five mile race for "A" Class boats. This novel boat which is ten foot long is the latest type of Sea Flea and was built by Messrs. Marshall Palmer and the late John Frank Harris both of Welling ton.

WELL BABY CLINIC

The weekly Well-Baby Clinic held in the Canadian Legion Rooms every Friday afternoon from 2.30 to 5 o'clock was as usual well attended. No figures could be had today on this week's number of babies examined but last Friday 36 babies were examined by the Y.O.W.

PLAY IN OSHAWA

The Belleville Beavers will leave tomorrow for Oshawa where they will hook up with the Oshawa Motors team in a return fixture. The Motors played here some weeks ago and the Beavers defeated them. They hope to add another victory to their long list tomorrow. The Oshawa Musllaside girls softball Club will play the Whitby team in the other half of the double-header. Mollie Gray will pitch for the Beavers tomorrow with Miss Thrasby on the receiving end.

PLAY AT OAK LAKE

11 secms to be the unanimous opinion of Duke who kicked the dance at Oak Lake, that the Bon Ton Orchestra is numbered among the best in the district, as it is one with this Belleville Orchestra which has been pleasing the public for the past several years. All the members are accomplished musicians. The Bon Ton will play again at Oak Lake tonight.

CIACOS PLAY TONIGHT

Frontenacs will meet Ciacos in a scheduled City League game on the armouries lawn tonight. The Frontenacs hope to win this game from the Cobrville girls and a good game should result. Hostilities will be open ed at 8.30 sharp.

TODAY'S READINGS

Although there were only three degrees difference between yesterday's and today's temperatures, the fact that it is cloudy today probably accounts for the coolness of the weather. Yesterday's highest was 84, while today it is 81. The lowest temperature recorded yesterday was 62, while today it is 57. These official records were taken from the Government heated thermometers at the Pump House.

NEW OFFICER HERE

Mr. Clemens, of Kitchener, who has been stationed at Windsor in the Preventive Service has been moved from that city to Belleville to take the place of T. J. Bishop whose death occurred recently here. Mr. Clemens has been a Special Enforcement Officer in the Preventive Service for well over a year, and comes here highly recommended.

DISPLAY OF PHLOX

Among the interesting exhibits which are going down for the last time tonight at the Flower show is one which is not being exhibited for prizes but merely to interest Bellevillians in the growth of a hardy perennial plant, namely, the exhibit of Phlox by the W. C. Reid Nurseries. Although there have always been varieties of perennials the phlox is the only one at the present time which is in bloom, and it makes a fine exhibit, especially since the phlox blooms in a variety of colours. Visitors to the Flower Show this evening should make a point to look over this display.

JUNIOR TEAMS TO PLAY HERE

Kingston And Peterboro Clash On Local Ball Yard Tomorrow.

Kingston Juniors, after losing the first game on their own ball diamond to Peterboro' last Saturday, stepped back into Peterboro yesterday and handed the Petes a trimming by a score of 12. The two teams are tied on the round with a victory each and it was decided to play the third and deciding game at Belleville on Monday afternoon. The fift will start at 3.15 at the Agricultural Park. The Kingston Juniors won their district and were pitted against the Petes and the Limestoners lost the first game but came back strong at James Stevenson Park yesterday to tie things up. The Junior teams play right smart ball and local fans would do well to take this game in. Both aggregations are on top of their form and with a chance to advance into the Junior O.B.A.A. play-offs they will be fighting hard. Both teams have some well-known Junior Players among their ranks.

WOMEN LIVE FULL LIVES IN EMOTIONS

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH.

Eminent Psychologist.

We get that way in childhood. Father and mother are placed on pedestals. We look up to them, we respect them, we surround them with all sorts of charming and admirable qualities. Especially is this true regarding the hero-worship existing between the little girl and her father. Likewise, no deeper nor more genuine love than between a boy and his mother is possible.

Add, to this fact that a child's entire life is largely a world of imagination—its toys, contacts with other children, and routine play being distinctly colored by fancy and make-believe—and we get a result which is the emotional makeup of the average human being, a character into which the yearning for beauty, adventure, idealization—in short, romantic love—is deep-rooted and genuinely built.

The search for romance is so inevitable and insistent in everybody that it might be classed as an instinct.

Man and woman is but the uninterrupted outgrowth of the boy and girl. What were we children we still are now. We may be less truthful, more suspicious, more repressed—experience makes us so—nevertheless whether consciously and deliberately, or unconsciously and without realizing it, we continue to dream and build air-castles all our lives.

No wonder then that romantic love has always held first place in the hearts of men.

Everybody knows, of course, that women are more romantic than men. Men depend largely upon cold, hard reasoning, women upon emotions, especially upon that wonderful faculty of guessing that they possess, intuition.

That is why women, who depend so much upon emotional ideals, like best to marry only when they are in love.

The man who thinks with his head is the one whom he thinks will come closest to fulfilling her romantic ideal.

Men believe they do the choosing and women very cleverly let them believe it so. Women excite and entice. They lead the men on. First they get thoroughly acquainted so as to try them out. Sometimes they fall in love with the very first male they meet. Usually they let themselves fall in love with them before they finally choose. Then they saturate a time and place with as much romance, and make them seem so adorable and fascinating, that the man simply cannot help himself. He pops the question!

There can be no doubt but that women loss the love show. They will have romance at any cost.

In every case of romantic love, whether it be mild or severe, the predominating symptom is the obsession. The one in love cannot rid his mind of thinking about the beloved object. "What is he doing? With a? now him tonight? Will he telephone?) is he thinking of me Did he mean what he said? (I can't live without him. If anything should happen to him I'd die!"— that's about the way the thoughts whirl around, and always about the one loved.

He finds he can't work; he wants to be with his girl all the time; his zeal and ambition in life becomes a secondary issue; he lets his business go to pot; he becomes reckless and extravagant; his reasoning, upon which he has always depended, becomes blurred; he has a sort of weak and helpless; he doesn't care a rap what happens so long as she doesn't turn him down.

That is the way romance can work! Romance is fascinating but at the same time romance is terrible when it gets you!

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I went with a boy fourteen months, but one day a falsehood he told me in an indirect way, and a slight misunderstanding, we discontinued going together when I asked him not to call again. I regret I was so hasty. He has told his friends that he would like to call again, but he says he will not be the first to give in or apologize to me. Do you think I owe him an apology?

My parents object to me having more than one boy friend. They think I should go steady with one boy and have dates with no other at the same time. Do you think I should limit my dates to just one boy

I read your advice every night. I hope you will continue your good work. Thank you.

THEDA.

THEDA: Two wrongs never make a right. If you desire the young man's friendship ask him to call, or all means. One fall from grace should never condemn anyone, especially such a weak as you mention. Mind, I'm not countenancing falsehoods, but there may be as you say, a misunderstanding on both sides. Just ask him to call and then see what happens.

I don't approve of a girl, or a boy, either, tying themselves down to one friend until they are engaged. However, you should do whatever your parents desire, in this they are much wiser than I and if they do not approve of many friends, then, my dear, you must do as they ask.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Don't you think it very improper for a girl to spend several days at her boy friend's home out of the city, when they are not engaged?

ADALINE.

ADALINE: If the girl is spending the time at her friend's home at the invitation of his parents, and they are entertaining her, there is nothing improper at all, my dear. However, if such is not the case, then I am afraid she is putting herself in a position where she may be very severely criticized.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Can a girl be popular and not dance?

DOUBTFUL.

DOUBTFUL: She certainly can, Doubtful. Some of the most popular girls and women I know do not dance and they don't seem ever to be wall flowers. I am not trying to say that dancing isn't an asset, for it is. To begin with it gives face and self-possession to one, and if you are going with a dancing crowd, it may be much better to learn. But it is NOT essential to popularity.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and would like to know the following:

1.—Is it correct for a girl to take a boy's arm when out walking?

2.—Who should alight from a street car first?

3.—What time is it proper for a boy to leave when calling on a girl?

A. H.: No, A. H., it is never correct to take a young man's arm when walking. He should take your arm to escort you across the street or through a crowd. But it is distinctly bad form to walk arm in arm.

2.—The young man, in order to assist the lady.

3.—That depends on her parents. However, I should think eleven or twelve would be about right

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

Jane said wistfully: "It must be more interesting than how-to-a nonentity as Hal has."

He shook his head. "When you reach my age, child, you want peace. If Hal will give you that, you don't ask for much more."

"But I've always thought that," she said eagerly. "That's why I was so happy in my girlhood. There never seemed to be anything to distress us as there is now. I've always hated friction. Mother and Dad were wonderful. They never quarreled."

"The ideal marriage—" He made a fateful grimace. "Pardon me, Marguerite, if I seem to doubt you, but it doesn't exist. The only perfect companionship is in friendship."

"And one can't be friends with one's husband?"

"Well, it's pretty hard."

"I would like to be friends with Hal, but I can't somehow. Our natures are so different."

And I'd give my soul to be pals with Irma."

They regarded each other gravely for a moment, and then he said:

"And the beauty part of it is, Marguerite, that you always use the same language. We could be the best of friends and comrades."

"Then we are."

He turned away.

"What an innocent child you are. Don't you know that this is the most dangerous thing in the wo—

She looked startled. "No, I—I] seemed so natural, somehow, because we have the same tastes in everything."

"Marguerite," he turned around and stood looking down at her,

Chapter IX

"WE WERE MADE FOR EACH OTHER."

After a minute, while Marguerite still stared at him, Brockton went on:

"Yes, it's a dangerous game we're playing; this friendship of ours. Even if we're sure of ourselves, confident that we're playing squarely, other people probably won't believe it. You're young and innocent, Marguerite. You don't know the world."

"But what shall we do?" she cried, whispered. "Give up our friendship."

"Hanged if I know. I'd hate not having those quiet evenings with you more than I can say. Just to think of spending my evenings alone, waiting for Irma to come in from some party, makes me desperately unhappy. And I'm like you, Marguerite—I honestly tried to play Irma's game, but it was a misfit. It spoiled her fun to see me bored, and ill at ease with her friends. And yet I love her, and I think—I'm sure—she loves me."

"Then where's the harm in our friendship? Irma understands and Hal doesn't care."

"I can't understand why Hal doesn't care," he muttered, "He must be blind."

"Blind?"

"Not to see the happiness that is waiting for him under his very nose. Not to realize that he has the ideal wife."

She laughed dearly.

"I'm afraid Irma is much more Hal's type of an ideal wife. She is gay and charming and so pretty."

Steve was pacing the floor, his hands thrust deep in his pockets. He stopped suddenly and stood looking down at her soberly.

"Do you think you're not pretty, Marguerite?"

"I don't know," she answered simply. "Very few people have ever told me so, except my family, and I dare say that love makes everybody seem beautiful. Mothers always think the ugliest children are handsome, don't they?"

He laughed and resumed his pacing. "You're a little innocent you are—. But how refreshing, in this day and age, Marguerite, what do you suppose would happen if you and I were to fall in love with each other?"

She looked up at him startled.

"But we couldn't. You're Irma's husband. I'm Hal's wife."

He smiled, in spite of himself.

"You think that is an insuperable barrier—a sort of protection?"

She answered slowly: "I don't love Hal, nor does Hal love me, as you know. But, as long as we're married, I would never let myself think for a moment of another man."

It was a long time before he made any comment. Then he said:

"Perhaps if you did, it might make a vast difference."

"You're not suggesting that I go out and flirt with some one," she asked with a laugh, "for—she had been about to say "like Irma," but changed it quickly to "like Lydia Converse."

"I'm not suggesting anything. For be it from me to give advice in the matter of marriage. If I had that wisdom, I'd be making a better go of my own."

She protested: "Don't talk like that, Steve. I'm sure you and Irma will be happy. You haven't been married so very long, and she's young and likes a good time. You'll get adjusted, after awhile. That's what Mother always tells me."

"But, when you see two people drifting further apart, what then? In the first year of our marriage, we were a thousand times closer, nearer to a real understanding, than we are now. Irma seems not to mind. I believe she has given up trying. I dare say it's my fault, somehow. I try still, but it's difficult to do it all alone."

"Perhaps this trip of yours to South Africa will work wonders—a sort of second honeymoon," she suggested hopefully.

"If Irma will consent to go. . . But I have my doubts."

"You can't mean that she would let you go alone?"

He laughed shortly. "I see that, after all these months, you still don't know my wife. Marguerite, Irma does what she wants to do—no more, no less."

She was silent for a time. Then she said, in a low voice: "If I loved a man, I would want to be by his side always."

"I know it, Marguerite. That's what makes you such a trump. And I think you're just as true in your friendship."

"I haven't your friends," she sighed.

"You've one. One who is humble and grateful for the companionship you've given him and for the confidences you've shared with him."

He held out his hand to her, and she took it uncertainly. She looked up into his steady, kindly eyes and thought how different they were from Hal's. Hal's were handsome and restless. When he was talking to a woman whom he wished to flatter, they were tender, caressing. When he was with Irma, they were full of laughter and fun.

He said, with her hand still in his: "There's no use denying the fact, Marguerite, that temperamentally we are suited to each other."

"I beg your pardon. I trust I'm not intruding," and a mocking voice behind them.

Hal was standing in the doorway.

"Very pretty little scene," he commented sniffingly. "I suppose I should play the role of offended husband, but I'm afraid it wouldn't suit me very well . . . Your wife's upstairs, Brockton. I just brought her home. Good night, old man, I'm going to turn in. I'm tired."

The One-Piece Frock For Runabout Wear

This simple runabout model illustrates one of widely blue silk crepe in a happy contrast of the popular one piece style of Smart diagonal lines, defined by tiny buttons, mark the bodice closing and the insertion of the plaits. A narrow border belt makes the waistline normal or not, as the wearer fancies. The smartest touch, however, is the essentially feminine one of the pinked handkerchief jabot, in contrasting outline. It is of sheer beige georgette, edged with widely blue georgette, and falls in a soft cascade. Beige hose and blue kid shoes complete the costume. (Copyright, 1928, by Reliteski.)

Sidney Council met at Wallbridge on the 12th inst. with all the members in attendance. Cl. Vandervaeker, Reeve; A. L. Burke, Dep. Reeve; W. H. Rogers, Geo. W. Bush and Edgar D. Morrow, Councillors.

The minutes of the May meeting were read and carried on motion of A. L. Burke, seconded by W. H. Rodgers.

A complaint was lodged with the Council against parking of cars in the roadway in the vicinity of Oak Lake Dancing Pavilion thereby locking the traffic.

The Clerk was instructed to forward a request for a proper parking place to be provided for the cars of guests who attend the pavilion.

The Reeve and Deputy Reeve were appointed a committee to investigate and report to the Council re funeral expenses of Miss Ada Denille.—

Rodgers and Bush, that the following accounts be paid.

J. A. Jeffries $5.85; Municipal World 3&c; W. H. Nobes $3.35; Benj. Drecker $17.82.—Carried.

Bush and Burke, that for the convenience of Township officials the Township account be transferred from the Montreal Bank, Frankford, to the Standard Bank, Belleville.—Carried.

Rodgers and Burke, that the Collectors report be adopted. Carried.

The Collector stated he did not feel that he could spare the time to continue the duties of his office longer and tendered his resignation to the Council, the members of which express their appreciation of his services and their regret at losing so efficient an official.

Burke and Bush, that Bleecker Ketcheson be appointed to sign checks for the payment of Road Accounts and H. A. Hunt be authorized to sign checks as the Treasurer's account. Carried.

Burke and Rodgers, that the 1933 Road estimates be adopted. carried.

Rodgers and Morrow, that Mr. Seymour Hamilton be appointed tax collector. Carried.

Burke and Morrow—That as per agreement of July 9th, 1928, we pay...base a bin from the Dominion Road Machinery Co., Goderich, forthe sum of $425.00, this to include extra links o drive-chain, sales tax, repairs to elevator of crusher and toggle-plates, said sum to be payable Dec. 31st, 1933. —Carried.

By laws for borrowing money for appointing a collector of taxes and for levying the various rates were duly executed.

Burke and Bush, that the Council adjourn to meet Dec. 15th, 1933 at 10 o'clock a.m. Carried.

SHANNONVILLE

Miss Eleanor Doreen is visiting friends in Oshawa.

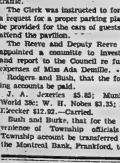

Mrs. W. H. Pavell and little daughter of Toronto, are spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fuller.

Congratulations are extended to Mr Jack Reid and bride nee Miss A. Cot of Point Anne, who were quietly married at Trinity Church Rectory, Wednesday, August 15th, at 11 a.m. by Rev. W. M. Gregory.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mark and Miss Margaret Sexsmith, motored to Mount Pleasant on Sunday and spent a pleasant day with their cousins, Mr. J. Driver and sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Morrison of Wellington and Mr. Wilson of Belleville, called on Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doxtator on Sunday.

Rev. J. Cantrell and son Arthur, of Orford Mills, are renewing old acquaintances in the village. Rev. Cantrell is a former clergyman of Trinity Church and the surrounding appointments. He assisted Rev. Gregory Sunday evening and preached a very impressive sermon to a large congregation. WELLINGTON

The W. M. S. held a Birthday Tea on the Wellington Park Thursday, Aug 10th.

Cecil Boyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Boyle had his tonsils removed on Friday of last week at Picton General Hospital.

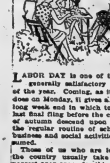

Miss Beatrice McCullcon who has been spending the holidays at Toronto and Kitchener has returned home.

The United Church Sunday School held their picnic at the Sandbanks on Friday of last week.

Those of us who are lovers of the country usually take to the nearest open space for this holiday. Some trek to the shore or the mountains or to a nearby lake, but the regular resorts of others who are compelled by circumstances to remain at home. For these a picnic is a happy solution.

In spite of the discouraging reports I heard a man make yesterday, that there is only one kind of picnic—a "paint picnic" I still maintain that there are as many different sorts of picnics as picnickers, and that the kind of picnic should be selected with as much discrimination as any other form of entertainment.

For a group of older people who do not enjoy tramping about or sitting on the ground, I would suggest a motor drive to a pretty spot; the lunch to be carried all ready to serve in the proper containers. On arriving, folding chairs may be produced or the seats from the cars can be pressed into service, but

A PERFECT PICNIC for Labor Day

LABOR DAY is one of the most generally satisfactory holidays of the year. Coming, as it always does on Monday, it gives a glorious long week end in which to have a last final fling before the cool days of autumn descend upon us, and the regular routine of school and business and social activities is resumed.

Mrs. Platt, Mrs. Lyons, Mr. and Mrs. Craigg Platt, Mrs. Ida McPaul, Miss Helen Pettit and Mrs. Geo. Moore went to Millbrook to attend the wedding of Mr. Clair Platt to Miss Kathleen Fowler, Mr. and Mrs. Platt will reside in Belleville where Mr. Platt has a position in Smith's Hardware Store. Wellington friends wish them a happy and prosperous married life.

Miss Florence Stoneburg has gone to Ottawa where she has accepted a position.

Dr. and Mrs. Gerald Benson and daughter have returned to Toronto after spending the holidays with his mother.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowley of Belleville, recently visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Thomas.

whatever the method, the guests must be made comfortable. Folding chairs if they can be carried without too much inconvenience, will prove useful at lunch time, and may be in demand for a round of bridge if the inevitable bridge fan is present.

The luncheon for this sort of picnic may be as elaborate as desired. There is nothing more or more easily served than a big tray or two slices of Swiss cheese and assorted cold meats neatly bordered with small ripe tomatoes stuffed with cabbage salad. With coffee, pickles and rolls or bread and butter sandwiches the meal is almost complete. Add a variety of tarts, raspberry, cheese and perhaps lemon and you have the finishing touch. The hot coffee may be brought in thermos bottles or prepared over a small fire on the spot. It is much more picnicky, of course, to make it while you wait and it tastes very much better when you have been initiated by the gentle fragrance during cooking.

Recipes for the three delightful tarts mentioned in the menu are given below. These are all new and different and above all mistakes from the point of view of packing and carrying. They have not been known to anything nor any top crust to be mashed.

Lemon Cake Tarts
1 lemon—grated rind and juice
2 tablespoons flour mixed with a little milk
1 egg yolks
1 cup sugar
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons melted Crisco
¼ teaspoon salt
Beat egg yolk with sugar. Stir in milk, lemon, flour mixture, salt and melted Crisco. Fold in beaten whites last. Fill unbaked shells (individual) ¾ full and bake in a moderately hot oven.

Raisin Tarts
1½ cups smooth cottage cheese
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 tablespoons cream
½ lemon
If cheese is not fine and smooth press thru a strainer. Mix lemon or cheese, sugar, cream, and lemon rind; then add eggs which have been well beaten. Line small tins with pie paste and nearly fill them with cheese-cake mixture. Place in a hot oven to brown the crust. After which reduce the heat and finish baking in a slow oven 325° F. about ¼ hour will be required

Raspberry Tarts
Line shallow patty or muffin tins with plain pastry rolled to about one-eighth inch in thickness. Prick the bottoms several times with a fork. Fill about ¾ full with preserved raspberries. Bake in a hot oven.

Preserved strawberries may be used in place of raspberries if desired.

Plain Pastry
2 cups flour
2 teaspoons salt
⅔ cup Crisco
water
Sift flour and salt. Work in Crisco with finger tips until finely mixed. Add water, gradually, just enough water to bind the dry ingredients together. Divide dough into two parts. Place on a lightly floured board and roll lightly with a floured rolling pin to a thin sheet large enough to fit a pie tin.

A cook book will be sent free to readers of this newspaper, upon receipt of a two-cent stamp to cover postage. Address the National Homefood Service, 235 Fifth Ave., New York City.

BELLE THEATRE

On the occasion of Miss Compson's final visit to the stall, presided over by "Lady Antrobus," the Arabian woman requested a photograph of the star in the costume of her native land. Miss Compson complied with the request, autographing the picture. The following day an Arabian boy, in native costume, called at the studio and inquired for the star. He exlained as he enter ed the Oriental set and presented Betty with a box of choicest Arabian sweetmeats. Emended 'it the center of the confections was a miniature flag, decorated in desert-stones and bearing a card—"To the little blonde 'Desert Rose'."

Walter Lang, who directed the production now at the Belle Theatre was assisted in securing native atmosphere by a staff of Arabian technicians. The cast includes Allan Forrest, in the role opposite Miss Compson; Edward Martindel, Gertrude Kains and Frank Austin. The story was written by Ewart Adamson, an authority on life in he Near East.

If You Wish Perfect Cup of Tea, Follow This Recipe

HENDERSON, MD.—Can you make a cup of tea correctly?

Probably not. But no one American housewife in a hundred can. Fifty million people in the United States drink tea and, though it is as easy to make good tea as bad tea, somehow or other nearly few know what perfectly made tea tastes like.

Here is the recipe for brewing the perfect cup of tea as given in a bulletin issued by the Tea Club of the United States, an organization of authentic connoisseurship and comprising the leading tea merchants of the nation.

1. Allow one teaspoonful of tea to each cup.

2. Use fresh boiling water.

3. Place the tea leaves in an earthenware strainer in an earthenware pot.

4. Pour freshly boiled water over the tea leaves immediately.

5. Let the tea steep from three to five minutes according to strength desired.

6. Sweeten with sugar, lump preferred, and the tea is ready to serve.

"One teaspoonful to a cup is standard," says the bulletin. "Do not reduce the quantity. If you wish to decrease the strength of the tea, pour the urns of infusion to other unfilled cups.

"Many housewives make the mistake of using water from the hot water faucet. Water that has come from the hot water tap only length of time is fatal to good tea. An established rule is scientific. Local types set up a chemical change in the tea, which reduces to the taste.

"Shaking tea," the bulletin adds, "is a matter of detail. Follow the recipe and you will brew as delicious tea as ever sipped an epicure. Change is a single detail and you will miss the flavor of perfection.

SCOT BALLADS IN NEW PORTION

Operas Will Be Presented In New Wings On Banff Hotel

The two Scottish ballad operas to be produced at the Banff Highland Gathering will be staged in the stately new Mount Stephen Hall of the Banff Springs Hotel. Arthur Limer of Toronto, who has designed much of the scenery for the Hart House Theatre, will arrive in Banff next Sunday to supervise the erection of the scenery.

The costumes for the opera, "At the Court of King James IV," will be historically accurate, and a striking representation will be made of this romantic period of Scottish millinery.

Prof. R. S. Rait, historigapher, Royal Scotland, who has supplied the scenario, and historical notes for this opera, will be in Banff next week to confer with Mr. Limer and with Harold Eustance Key, musical director of the festival. J. Campbell McInnes who will play the part of Harry Baggers and Mrs. Mill herself is also coming from New York for Highland Gathering.

The entries for the piping and dancing events are considerably larger than last year.

TILLIE THE TOILER—

CIACOS TURN TABLES ON POINT ANNE IN THRILLING ENCOUNTER

Ralph Ibey Twirled Smart Ball Against Cement-Makers

ONE RUN UP

Third Game For Industrial Honors Played At Fair Grounds

More excitement was packed in nine innings of baseball at Point Anne yesterday than has been witnessed around these parts this season. The Ciaco Club representing the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company were considered to have a slight chance in wresting laurels from the Cement makers in the second game for the Bay of Quinte Industrial championship. The Corbyville boys were ignominously beaten last Monday night in their own playground by Goyer-Greer and Company and it was thought the tie was merely a case of going through the motions. The Pointers saved that up, piling up nine of the Ciacos so he was far from invincible and went down before a pointed attack by the Ciacos. Up until the eighth inning the boys from the banks of the Moira were trailing and their chances were waning fast. But they staged a grand rally and came home to win by a 154 score. It was thrilling from start to finish with plenty of hitting injected to make the pastime real interesting. Corbyville thus tied the play-offs and each team has one game to their credit and the third and deciding tilt will be played at the Belleville Agricultural Park at a date to be arranged.

The Hunt-Boyle factions chose Ralph Ibey to do the pitching and while he did not create any new records he twirled average ball, striking out six and yielding 12 hits. His opponent was erratic and four men went to first base through walks. Frank Benneit is all fairness in saying that the game than his opponent, eleven men going back to the bench via the strike-out route while he fanned but one free ticket and allowed thirteen hits. The Ciacos, however, bunched their safeties with fine results. The game which was completed ff semi-darkness was wound up in a blaze of glory. Point Anne scored their ninth run and with two men down, and second and third bases were occupied. However, Ibey struck Murray Green out and although Heeney dropped the ball he recovered it in ample time to tag the runner before he was away on the beaten path to first base. It will likely be a repetition of the game when the teams meet again.

Given The Gate.

The spectators were not without an added feature when Sunny Green, neither for the Point Anne Club was thrown out of the game when some untimely remarks meant for Ken Goling, who was officiating behind the bat did not meet with that official's approval. Green kept up a stream of chatter until finally Culling ordered Green's removal. The latter threw a fuss, "To jail him say" and presently the game was held up until his brother donned the catching paraphernalia. Green's removal did not help the Point Anne cause any as he is regarded as a smart receiver.

Jack Boyle, Corbyville short-stop, had in the matter of base-hits by having poled out four and stolen six fine bases up. One of them was a double, when aimed the ball Clyde "Mickey" McDonald of the same team supplied the fielding feature when he took Reuben Hoch under, Culling and Pitchett also made fine catches.

McDonald's catch included in the play the day for the Ciacos as the bases were populated at the time. Jack Williams injected three nice blows into the game, got one base every time up twice on errors by the opposition. Alex Weir was the big noise for Point Anne, poling out three bingles and duplicated his performance of Monday night.

Ciacos counted two in the first when Williams and Boyle both drove out doubles and Creiney singled. Point Anne, however, not to be out done came back stronger than ever in their half. Weir and Palmer doubled while Murray Green and Maracle injected sharp singles. The Ciacos went into the lead in the second frame. Heeney doubled, Vanmorran fanned and Pitchett got a one-baser but Latchford finished the brew.

Heeney counted on a wild pitch while Pitchett crossed the plate when Palmer heaved the sphere past Jack Williams and Boyle dropped neat singles over the infield but Creiney helped a long fly which Palmer managed.

Caulin waited to start Point Anne's second but Dies went out on a roller. Hutchings got a life when Boyle erred and Caulin scored, but Murray Green was safe when Pitchett fumbled another long hit. Alex Weir singled filling the bases and Palmer walked, forcing Hutchings home. Frank Goyer popped to Boyle and Bennett lined to McDonald.

Point Anne Get Lead.

The Point went into the lead in the fifth. Goyer singling, but went out on a force play when Bennett hit to McDonald. Maracle and Caulin both doubled and Hutchings was safe on McDonald's misue with the result that two runs went over. In the seventh the Ciacos evened up, Vanmorran getting to first on Murray Green's fumble and scored on Jack Boyle's one base hit. In the eighth the Ciacos went dizzy when their pole sent over five runs. Heeney started it with a single and Barrage was safe when Goyer dropped a third strike. Pitchett singled and Heeney scored. Leichford sent a weak infield grounder to Caulin but he missed it up and two more came in. Williams and Creiney singled and the balloon ascended rapidly.

Jim Corbyville driving over two more. Point Anne threatened in the eighth with Hutchings doubling while Weir singled to deep left. They made their last stand in the ninth. Bennett got a one-baser and scored on Day's single. Hutchings walked but the best Murray Green could do was to strike out and the pastime ended.

It was a fine game and was well handled by the Culling brothers, Ken being behind the bat with Clyde on bases. A tornado blew up and for a time it appeared as though hostilities might cease but the heavens finally subsided.

ONTARIOS LEAD BAY OF QUINTE SOFT-BALL LOOP

Walter Gerow's Clan Won From Beavers By 10-5 Score

Ontarios turned the tables on their ancient foes, the Beavers, last night at the Armouries, and took their second Bay of Quinte League game by the score of 10 to 5. Molly Gray pitched nice ball for the Beavers but the Ontarios found his delivery safe and hit the ball hard and often and and again got three in the ninth inning which kind of ruins being scared.

Two home runs were hit over the fence, one by O'Neil of the Beaver and the other by Mary Adams of the Ontarios, Adams getting two on the bases, while O'Neil's was with one on base. Hilda Matthews came through nicely in the pinches now lead in with one of her good games, with the league. In the third inning the Ontarios ran in five runs after getting one in both the first and the second.

Philadelphia pass through Laurel, Del., inon

This was one of the best games to be seen at the Armouries this year and made it popular with the crowd. As usual there was a good representation of fans on hand.

Stop signs mean just what they say whether on City streets or on country roads leading into main thoroughfares.

Drivers of vehicles must come to a dead stop immediately before entering a "Through" street or highway and they should always proceed with caution.

At the same time, a driver who has done this has obeyed the law and is entitled to every consideration by drivers on the "Through" street or highway. Cross traffic must not be held up unnecessarily. Courtesy must be shown to those seeking to cross or enter main thoroughfares.

The "Stop" signs contribute to safety, but the intelligence and carefulness of drivers is needed also if accidents at intersections are to be avoided.

7 Rules for Safety

1. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape —particularly Brakes, Steering Gear and Head lights.
2. Give your undivided attention to your driving. In passing traffic, be sure there is a place for you in the traffic line ahead.
3. When other motor vehicles try to pass you —let them pass.
4. In entering main streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a full view of the track is obstructed, stop and look.
5. Don't "rush" where traffic is heavy.
6. Always signal before you slow down, stop or change your course.
7. Never back up before ascertaining that the road is clear in close.

The Ciaco rooters were certainly out in force at the ball game yester day at Point Anne They supported their team even when three runs down. They certainly gave them a tumultuous reception when they strode from the field bearing the spoils of victory.

The third game will be a humdinger and fans should not pass it up. Bill Strachan who has had a penchant against the Ciacos now has with one of her good games, with the league. In the third inning the Ontarios ran in five runs after getting one in both the first and the second.

It would not be surprising to see "Duke" Dalnip pitch two games against Belleville in the play-offs. Matthews is no mystery to Walter Gerow's Clan while the venerable "Duke" was only beaten in his last game here by a turn of luck. Gibson and Urowski will likely divide the duties for Bellevile.

President Ernie Rowsome of the Belleville Baseball Clu and General Manager of the Alemite Plant has announced that the factory will be closed next Wednesday to allow the employees to witness the first game of the play-offs series. It is to be hoped that other employers will do likewise and give the hands a chance to witness the Nats in action.

Two of the best amateur teams in Ontario will meet when the Motors hook up with the Nationals. The locals should take the series on the before the game are expectations.

Hardill passed Herbie Wolfe the other day purposely in game at Oshawa filling the bases. With two down Mr. Hardill hoped to fan Jones, Oshawa's youthful catcher, but the youngster however got the signals crossed and smashed out a three bagger and Mr. Hardill's exit was promptly announced.

Belleville, a city half the size of Oshawa, Kingston or Peterboro can produce a ball team that is the equal or better than any teams field ed by any of these. The boys have been in the baseball limelight since they won the championship in 1919 and with the team in the finals it is only fair that they should be season's play but undoubtedly they will run into some stiff opposition given the whole-hearted support of the sporting public. At least twenty-five hundred should file through the turnstiles next Wednesday.

Taree thousand witnessed a recent play-off game at Guelph when the Leafs battled the St. Thomas team for twelve innings before they finally clinched the affair. Petty Goyed who humbled the same team some weeks ago sought the showers after a berrage of hits in first inning. However Irish Rasson took up the urden and won his game. We may yet see the Leafs battling with Belleville in the O. B. A. A. play-downs. Guelph have now appeared the laurels in the Inter County loop.

1st and 2nd teams play three-game series for title, beginning August 22 in Belleville.

AUSTRALIA IS STILL TO IMPORT LUMBER

Sydney, New South Wales.—(C.P.)—Australia must be content to remain a heavy importer of timber from Canada and other countries, according to V. S. Leigh, Australian forestry expert, who recommends a vigorous policy of reforestration for the Commonwealth.

"A country cannot be self-supporting in timber unless 24 per cent. of its area can grow timber," said Mr. Leigh, forests; Australia, 38 per cent; United States, 24 per cent.

"The worst of the situation is that the world is eating up timber faster than it is replenishing its stock," he said. "Forty-seven million acres of timber were consumed last year and eighteen million acres were re-ar than she renews them. Ten years ago there were 2000 recognized uses for forest products. Now there are more than 4500."

May Issue Statement On Merger of Canadian Banks

Quebec, Aug. 18.—Newspapers rumors are economically, but I will give sufficient notice before leaving office," said Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, when asked in an interview on arrival from Britain as to the rumors that he might retire from the Provincial Conservative Leadership.

The Ontario Premier stated that during the three months' trip he had discussed migration with ministers and other interested parties in various countries and while immigration was a matter for action by the Dominion government, he felt he had played some part in increasing the interest shown there countries in Canada and its prospects for settlers.

Mr. Ferguson said he was sure that the tours through this country by such representative groups as the "young ambassadors of the Empire" and trade delegations were but two-runners of a great settlement development.

Hon J. A. Robb, Dominion Minister of Finance who returned at the same time, said the most important part of his trip to Great Britain was the agreement entered into in regard to claims and counter-claims arising out of the war.

BOY NARROWLY ESCAPES INJURY

Walter Watson Struck Young Lad On Coleman Street

When little William Donovan, small son of William Donovan Sr., 272 Coleman street, went out into the street yesterday afternoon about five-thirty, he narrowly escaped a horrible death when a car passed over his body twice. A car driven by Walter Watson of this city struck the little lad and appeared to pass over his legs. The driver, according to bystanders, apparently became excited and instead of stopping his car, reversed it, passing over the boy for the second time.

J. Fournia, driver of the Picton bus, rushed the boy to Dr. Crook's office where he was found that he had miraculously escaped. No bones were broken and he was only badly bruised said shaken up. This morning Dr. Crook stated to The Intelligencer that the lad had passed a good night and would soon be out of bed.

Spectators who were excited, took down the wrong number of the car which struck the boy, but the driver reported the occurrence to the police shortly afterwards. He was not held.

HEAT WAVE WAS CAUSE OF DEATH

Harold Ruttan, Residing Near Napanee, Died Suddenly

Relief is in sight from the heat wave which has gripped Eastern Canada for the past week according to the forecaster and cooler weather will be welcomed in every quarter. The thermometer has hovered around the ninety degree mark and apparently much higher by the excessive humidity. Where cities have experienced the greatest spell in years. While fatalities are rare in the Bay of Quinte District, Harold Ruttan, a farmer residing at Adolphustown about twenty miles from Napanee was overcome by the heat yesterday and died last night. Mr. Ruttan had been working in the field and was exhausted when he reached his home early in the evening. The deceased was fifty years of age and a well-known farmer in the district. He leaves a wife and four children.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Brockville, August 18.—James H. Clark, of Mountain township, aged 72 and unmarried, was found dead in bed this morning by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Hezekiah Clark.

Desire to Justify His Wife's Belief, Lands Husband in Jail

New York, Aug. 18.—A fond husband's desire to justify his wife's belief in his financial success is help responsible for his cache for the time of between $50,000 to $75,000 from his employers during the past six years.

Walter R. Whiteford, rather quiet mannered man of 44, was employed as a cashier for a publishing company where he started work as at office boy. He told the police all the money was spent on his family.

Whiteford said his speculation started in 1923 the day after his wife asked him how much money he was drawing.

"Nonsense!" chided Mrs. White ford. "You've worked there fourteen years and everyone knows how capable you are. You don't know you're just fooling. You must be drawing more than that."

The next day Whiteford said he raised a cheque and took the money home to his wife. Since then by doctoring cheques and juggling his accounts he is alleged to have taken between $50,000 and $75,000.

Mrs. Whiteford said her husband had denied his family nothing. The couple have well furnished home in a month apartment, had good clothes and their 14-year-old daughter attended private school.

BROCKVILLE FAMILY HAD SERIES MISHAPS

Brockville, Aug. 18.—In 1923 a son of Mr. and Mrs. John Cooper, North Burgess Township, was killed when a fence fell upon him. In 1925 another son was accidentally shot in the head by a brother, and a daughter had her foot almost severed in the knives of a mowing machine. The run of family ill-luck continued this week when Mildred, another daughter, was kicked on the chin by a horse and seriously injured. She will, however, recover.

C. A. M'LACHLAN TO LEAVE CITY

Departs For Old Home In Scotland In September

Belleville will lose one of her valuable citizens shortly, with the departure of Captain Cameron A. McLachlan, 15 Albion Street, who will leave early in September for his old home in Scotland for an indefinite stay. Captain McLachlan has been a resident of Belleville for the past five years and during that time has made many friends here. He can here direct from Kingston where he was a member of the Provincial Police Force and for some time he was in charge of the local headquarters staff until he resigned in 1927. Ill-health has caused him to cease active business and from Belleville he will go direct to Edinburgh where he will undergo a serious operation. Captain McLachlan has a well established military career and was the British army and served in ser member of three different branches o real points during the world war. On coming to Canada at the close of the war he joined a ship's crew at Vancouver and later came East. He was awarded seven medals during the war while serving in different branches and was Captain in the Mercantile Marine. Interested in the Royal Navy Reserves and a Lieutenant in the Australian Army. He was aboard a vessel which was torpedoed and tells many interesting yarns of his hectic experiences. Mrs. McLachlan was a nurse in France and hot come from the Highlands of Scot land. Captain McLachlan receive serious wounds during his fighte days which necessitated the opera tion. The family will sail on th Athenia from Montreal, September 10th. He has great considerable tim on the high seas and was thro around the world before reachin the age of twenty years.

Both graves in the Belleville and St. James Cemeteries will be decorated. A drum head service by Major the Rev. Bruce Hunter will be held on the Armouries Lawn at 2 o'clock and another short service will be observed at the Belleville Cemetery in front of the Mausoleum. Rev. A. L. Geen, chaplain of the Canadian Legion will assist in both services.

OWEN SOUND FARMER IS KILLED IN GUN-BATTLE WITH BANDITS

Posse Surround Train-Robbers And Arrest Is Expected

ONE IN JAIL

Thugs Rip Mail Bags Open And Escape With Loot

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 18.—Thos. Jackson, Waubaushi City farmer, was killed and two brothers named Laird were wounded early this morning in a battle on the road side with bandits, who a short time before had held up a mail car on the Canadian Pacific Railway Train conjunctial train No. 4 near Sanford. One of the bandits was captured together with $1,725 in currency and is now in Parry Sound jail, while his confederates escaped into the bush and at last reports were surrounded by the police who expected to make the arrest in a short time.

No definite estimate of the amount obtained by the robbers has been announced.

Barked Against Wall

Toronto, Aug. 18—"Our three mail clerks were held up with their backs to the wall of the car while the three bandits looted the mails" said A. M., Gibson, District Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service after he had received a report of the robbery on the Canadian Pacific Railway Train. He said the distance between the point where the robbers entered the car and where they made their exit was only 30 miles. He was unable state the amount taken.

The department is conducting a thorough investigation. It is understood seven in charge of the mail car were armed.

Innocent Farmer Killed

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 17.—Following the robbery of the mail car in which three clerks were held at the point of guns, between Romford and Sanford, the bandits made their escape at Parry Sound in a motor car belonging to Mr. Justice Teetzel-Stalin toutists. At Waubaushi City the police facilities and their car crashed into a ditch. Thomas Jackson, died in a nocent victim of his own consideration for what he thought were stranded tourists. Aroused from his early morning he hitched up his team and hauled out the road just as the bandits were making the pursuit car occupied by the owner of the stolen machine and the two Laird brothers, Walter and Hoagland, drew alongside.

A mound in which Jackson was shot through the neck and killed, instantly killed Laird were wounded. Laird, who is still alive, as far has not been identified, was captured shortly after in Parry Sound jail while the others made their escape in the bush.

The corpse led by Provincial constables in scouring the district while word has been received from Toronto that two further bandits are believed to have been sent up.

Walter Laird was shot in the chest and lies in St. Joseph's Hospital where his injuries are not considered dangerous. His brother Houghton was shot in the hand.

PICTON RESIDENT PLEADS GUILTY

Hyman Rosen Who Denied Ownership of Liquor Changed His Mind

Hyman Rosen of Picton, appeared this morning in police court and pleaded guilty to two charges before Magistrate Mikel. Charged with illegally "having" liquor, the accused promptly pleaded guilty of the offence and was just as promptly fined $100 and costs. The second charge was that of obtaining a liquor permit by false pretences for which infraction he was assessed $10 and costs.

CONTRACT GIVEN TO E. D. FINKLE

Saving of $6000 Is Made In Building of New Collegiate

Last night's Board of Education meeting was brief to say the least, the members being completely engaged in the eight-thirty and finishing within the hour. It was stated by last night's session that approximately $6000 had been saved in the building of the new Collegiate Institute.

The contract for the lighting of the new building was awarded to the Finkle Electric Company. The Holmes Company will handle the plumbing of the excavation caused by the tearing down of the old high school.

It was mentioned that Mr. John Rikely write a letter to Colonel W. N. Ponton expressing the sympathy of the Board for his accident.

Despite any erroneous impressions to the contrary, High School fall term will open the first week in September and the new building will be ready for occupancy about that time. Structurally has been entirely torn down and the Mr. R. J. Conner and company will immediately get busy at the building. Two sets of steps on the new school, which operations have been held up until the wreckers finished their work.

The new layout of Education members, too, will be all possibility be held in the Board room that has been set aside for that purpose in the High School.

Last night the members were more than pleased to learn that the new building had been erected at less than the estimate price. This does not include the fixtures, of course, but the Board, A. R. Holmes and Company, and especially Mr. J. Arnold Thompson architect, deserve great credit for keeping the expenses so low and yet maintaining the high average of construction.

CRESSY MAN IS SWIM ENTRANT

Picton, Aug. 18.—Mr. Thomas Dollman, a young man residing at Cressy, a short time ago entered the bay swim from Glenora to Picton. He had been in training for some time in the waters of the Bay of Quinte and showed remarkable promise. Arrangements had been completed for a boat and care while he made the trip. It is quite possible that Gene will be cancelled. Mr. Dollman was bitten on the arm the early week by a pig and the wound has been giving him much trouble, friends are sorry to learn.

ENGINE AND TENDER DERAILED

FEWER STRIKES

Miners at the Wayne collieries in Alberta have gone on strike. The reason given is that there was a difference of opinion as to what constituted a day's work. The men refused to work more than eight hours, and also objected to the recognition of a check-weighman. The operators claim that the check-weighman system has been in force at the mines for a number of years, and that the men have no cause for complaint. The check-weighman system is a method of ascertaining the exact amount of coal mined by each miner. Under the system a check is given for each ton of coal mined, and the check-weighman is appointed by the miners to check the weighing of coal, which is usually done by the operators. The check-weighman system is in force at most of the mines in the district, and has been for a number of years. The miners claim that the check-weighman system is not working satisfactorily, and that the operators are not giving them a fair deal. The operators claim that the check-weighman system is working satisfactorily, and that the miners are not giving them a fair deal. The operators claim that the check-weighman system is working satisfactorily, and that the miners are not giving them a fair deal.

There was a time, some years ago, when the headquarters of the miners' union, at Nanaimo, B.C., covering all the western district, always had some sort of a dispute on their hands. That was particularly so in the time when the miners were fighting for recognition, and for the right to have such things as a check-weighman system. For a long time the companies did all the weighing of the coal as it came from the mine, and all the deducting for dirt in the coal.

The late Frank Sherman, at one time president of the miners' union, was deputed to be the first check-weighman, and the first morning he showed up on the tipple, announcing that he had been sent there by the miners' union to check the weighing of coal, he was tossed over the side for a drop of some twenty or more feet. However, Sherman was not of the sort that is easily turned aside, and it was not long before he was back on the job, and, according to his own recital of the story, he was accompanied by a good sized gun. This time he was not thrown off the job.

Conditions are better in the mining fields today, and the miners' union can claim credit for making them better. There is more regard for safety devices, there is more provision for those who are injured. There are probably other strikes because there is not the same reason for striking that there used to be.

DRUNKEN DRIVING

The attorney-general has taken ground on the question of dealing with drunken drivers of motor cars that will give much satisfaction and relief to traveling people all over the province. It is not one's own carelessness that is so much to be dreaded by the average careful person as the stupidity, the recklessness and the senseless whim of others. Under this sad head come those who first drink and then drive. The ruling of the attorney-general in such cases under the head of reckless driving, but the charge shall be driving while intoxicated. This offence is punished by imprisonment without the option of a fine. The majority of the accidents and deaths on the highway among motorists are occasioned by drunken drivers and the punishment is not too severe if it diminishes the death rate, or car speeds. The proper place for a man who wishes to intoxicate himself is in privacy, not in public, and least of all when he can demonstrate his intoxication by endangering the lives of others.

AVIATION ISSUE

Ever since Tennyson wrote of aerial navies and brigades dropping their merchandise from the blue it has been a dream of the world of youth to fly. How much Tennyson stimulated his generation to realize that dream cannot be known, for it had his dream, and for many a generation, but the youth of the sixties and seventies had it in their minds and wondered when they would make the magic flight. And now the navies of the air are in being, the bales of merchandise are being delivered out of the heavens, the letters of the world are carried over sea and land by the flying heroes of the night, and a whole new world of speed and space has been opened up for those who would adventure themselves into the realms of flight. It is appropriate that The Hamilton Herald should devote special attention to this new and important interest, and the Flying Supplement which forms part of today's issue will undoubtedly attract the interest of our readers. Hamilton has taken a vivid and corporate satisfaction in the development of aviation, and we are glad to tender this testimony to the fact.

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

"America is a united nation," says President Coolidge. That is to say, almost united. There still seems to be some slight difference of opinion on the question of how much yeast to use per gallon.—Windsor (Ont.) Border Cities Star.

An Englishman claims that our speech is frequently ambiguous. No doubt he refers to such terms as "easy payments."—Wall Street Journal.

A seven-months-old baby in Alabama says, "When do we eat?" In another year or so, she'll forget such minor matters and begin to worry about the price of gasoline.—Detroit News.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"What's that big iron thing?" asked Laura. "Locomotive Boiler," said Herbert. Laura looked thoughtful. After a moment's silence she asked, "Why do they boil locomotives?" "To make 'em tender," he said.

"Father," said a young man, "I have made up my mind to paddle my own canoe hereafter." "I'm certainly delighted to hear it, my son!" said the old man. "And father," went on the young man, "I want to begin at once, so kindly let me have ten pounds to buy a canoe to paddle with!"

An old gentleman who was always declaring that boys were not what they used to be, stopped in front of a smart child. "Well, kiddy," said the old gentleman, "how are you today?" "Very well, sir," responded the smart child shyly. "And do you ever think what you are going to do when you are a great big man?" "No ma'am, sir." "Ah, I knew it! Children are so shiftless these times. And why don't you give it any thought?" "B-Because I am a little girl, sir!"

A HOLIDAY LYRIC

There's a strip of sky in our cell block,
At times of a beckoning blue;
That makes me long for the downs of domain,
With the dome of heaven in view.

There's noise of traffic throughout th day
Where commerce reigns supreme;
And the splash of waves on th foam-flecked bay
I hear as in a dream.

There's a breath of air upon my face
When I leave through the offic doors;
But tis nought like the wind in th open space
Of the purple-colored moors.

A boon for the workers, now as free!
For I ne'er could hold the thought
That the surcease of toil is alone for me,
And not to my fellows brought.

PASSING YEARS

(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Don Hurst umpired. Umose: Clear. A reward of $500.00 is now offered for the arrest of the pug-ex tramp who shot Constable Twohey at London.

The steamer Corsecon passed up the bay last night with over one hundred passengers on board. Every stateroom was filled and cabin cots were called into requisition.

Stuart Heyburn of the Steamer Corsecon recently took four little Esquimaux puppies aboard the steamer and sold them to American passengers for $10 each. When the steamer touched at Alexandria Bay, an American, who wanted one of the dogs, offered $50 for it but the passengers said they would not part with their new found pets for double this amount.

The auxiliary yacht Loma, owned by Mr. Forsythe of Rochester, well-known here, is in port. The peculiar construction of the Loma has attracted considerable attention among yachtsmen. She is fitted out with sails and in all respects resembles a sailing craft, but under her stern deck is a gas engine which is called into requisition during a calm. Mr. Forsythe who is camping at Nigger Island, is very proud of his handsome and unique craft.

The directors of the West Hastings Agricultural Society met here on Saturday and decided that in view of the little encouragement they had received from the City Council and other parties

CHEVROLET

Take a Ride and you will know

ONE of the most spectacular achievements in automotive history is the manner in which today's "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet is increasing its margin of leadership as the world's largest builder of automobiles. Since January 1st more Chevrolets have been delivered than in any previous eight months' period.

Come, take a ride! Learn the reasons why people prefer Chevrolet. Experience the effortless handling, the supreme comfort and high speed endurance that have been such important factors in the sensational popularity it is enjoying in every section of the land! Learn by sitting at the wheel of this great new car what amazing performance is now available in a low-priced automobile!

Know Chevrolet performance! Wherever hills are steepest, the fame of the Chevrolet motor is greatest—because it is built on the valve-in-head principle which provides all the power advantages of overhead direct firing.

Chevrolet's delightful smoothness is achieved by the use of invar-strut alloy pistons, and by the accurate balancing of reciprocating parts.

Chevrolet flashes out and away when you open the throttle because it offers the advantages of light invar-strut pistons, large valves, and carburetor equipped with an acceleration well. Come, take a ride—today!

The G.M.A.C. . . . General Motors' own deferred payment plan affords the most convenient and economical way of buying your Chevrolet car now. C-25-9-28

SLIGHT ACCIDENT

A slight accident occurred on Front Street last night when a car owned and driven by F. Rynapt, travelling south on Front Street struck the rear end of another car driven by C. Mitchell, 18 Isabelle Street. The matter was fixed up between the parties. The accident occurred about 10.15 last night.

PLAY ON MONDAY

It was announced today that the Ciscos and the Point Anne team will play a sudden-death game at the Belleville Agricultural Park on Monday afternoon at 4.30 for the championship of the Bay of Quinte Industrial League. Each team has won one game to date the Ciscos having won from Point Anne last night.

WILL MOVE SEPT. 1ST

Stephen Lloyce, owner of the Quinte Bicycle Store who for the past several years has conducted a successful sporting goods business at 323 Front Street, has felt the need of new and larger quarters, and hence will move about the first of September to the store formerly operated by James Finn at 330 Front St. The new quarters will be sufficiently large to give the firm room to branch out.

TODAY'S MARKET.

There was a higher and still more advanced level in the market this morning touching the steep peak of thirty-eight cents a dozen, as against thirty-five cents last week. Butter, too, has gone up. Fifty cents a pound was asked. Chickens, retailed at 70 cents to $1.50, although these prices are not out of the ordinary. Vegetables were selling at about the same prices they have maintained all summer, the same applying to fruit.

LANDED 61 POUNDER.

Messrs. Theo. Wilson of Chicago, C. A. Mills, of Toronto, and Harry Monroe of Picton, landed a 61 pound maskinonge in Hay Bay on Friday. This is the largest "muscy" to be taken caught in the bay waters this year and quite big enough to provide a real thrill. The fishermen played the big fellow over an hour before landing him and he put up a real struggle.

FAIR DATE CHANGED

At a meeting of the directors of the Prince Edward County Agricultural Society on Tuesday evening it was decided to change the date of the Picton Fair from the first week in September to the first week in October.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

THE CLOCK IS FAST

"Belleville's "Big Ben," the clock in the tower of the City Hall, is exactly two minutes fast by the radio according to Eastern Standard Time. This no doubt, will be a surprise to those Belleville workers who are accustomed to counting the town clock as at least five minutes slow. Big Ben has been quite faithful for the past several months and Caretaker Jack Noble has not been forced to enlist the services of a clock specialist.

BAND TO ATTEND

The Salvation Army Band will be in attendance tomorrow at the annual Decoration Day of the Canadian Legion Post 99. The drum head service at the Armories at 3 o'clock will be greatly improved through the acquiring of this band, of whose efforts are few better musicians in the city.

CIACOS DEFEATED BY FRONTENACS

Optical Girls Won From Point Anne In Close Game

Frontenacs administered a 11-1 trimming to the Ciaco girls last night in a scheduled City League game on the armouries lawn. Lead by that improved little pitcher Alice Thompkins the Frontenacs had the Ciacos down until the last inning when the Cobyville lassies shoved over one run. Miss Thompkins will next year be one of the finest softball pitchers in Belleville according to leading followers of the game. Audrey Wilbur had a home run the only one of the game. It was smart baseball all the way for the Frontenacs were on top of their form. Miss Thompkins was given great support by her team-mates especially Gladys Knott behind the plate. Bert Girling's legs were tested by their opposition on in one-two-three order last night. Miss Nevills Saylor pitched for the Ciacos with Miss Lloyd doing the catching. Jack Allin and Phil Knott umpired.

At Point Anne the Optical girls hung up a 15-10 victory over the Point Anne ladies' team. The game was featured by two home-runs by Audrey Kelleher. The pitching and fielding was exceptionally good. On Monday night the Frontenacs will meet the Opticals in a game which should see some smart baseball.

COUNTRY CLUB TENNIS COURTS READY FOR USE

District Tournament Will Be Held Here Labor Day

The Bay of Quinte Tennis Club (Belleville Tennis Club) will have the finest courts in this district and the second to none in Canada when the finishing touches are administered to the four Asphalte Courts now being laid at the Bay of Quinte Country Club. The Asphalte Surface is all that can be desired. The bounce is fast (the correct) true and the right height (the perfect clay courts). There is absolutely no glare like you find from a concrete court, and above all theycan be easy on the feet. Altogether they are just about ideal in every respect.

The late opening has been regrettable but unavoidable and President Bob Graham of the Country Club to be congratulated on the fine courts They are certainly worth the trouble and worry he has had.

This delay has hurt the Tennis membership; those who want tennis can get it under ideal circumstances now. Particulars can be secure from Miss H. M. Ross, Sec.-Treas. of the Tennis Club or any member o the Country Club.

The Belleville Tennis Team has not had half a chance as far as making a showing in the Central Ontario Tennis League is concerned as it is impossible to build up a strong team without courts as it is to say a good hockey team without ice or a winning ball team without a diamond to practise on. Consequently the team is in the cellar position without a chance of finishing any better than fourth place. Campbellford cannot be defeated but have received keen opposition from Peterboro, Bowmanville and Cobourg who will likely finish in this order. The League Leaders play at Belleville on August 24th.

Bowmanville, touted to be the second best team in the league, plays here today and this match should be worth seeing as Belleville encouraged by their new courts will try hard to win the opening match. Here as Cooke the No. 1 and 2 players of Bowmanville will try conclusions with Armstrong and Ridley, c (c). Add that standing in the Belleville Club and both these matches should be close. Miss Hogg and Miss Graham (Capt.) should be able to pull out a win in the mixed doubles event with Miss S. Ross has a good chance in the Ladies' Singles. Mrs. Fossard and Miss McCauley make a strong team in the Ladies' Doubles but will have their hands full to win from the Bowmanville pair who have not been defeated this year. Phone Black as Cap. Rooney have an even chance in the first men's doubles while Graham and Dick Ponton should win the second Men's Doubles event. The match starts at 2.00 p.m. today.

Super-Six Performance and finest car quality

--and you can save enough to pay a years tuition--

Car value is pictured with vivid newness and stirring force in the words of this woman who writes:—

"We considered several much more expensive cars, but imagine my surprise and delight in finding every quality matched or bettered by Essex and enough saved to pay a year's tuition for my daughter."

Nor does Essex saving end with the purchase price. In operation economy, repair free reliability and long-lasting service, it continues to store up extra margins that account for its brilliant reputation and record as the world's greatest value and largest selling "Six."

Here is value that stands at the very pinnacle of the world's most efficient industry. Here are performance, beauty, comfort and quality workmanship. As you regard its handsome ensemble or go over it detail by detail, you get the same compelling conviction of completeness and finish, of costly car quality and construction.

To see, to examine, to ride in the New Essex Super-Six can bring only one conclusion—it is the World's Greatest Value—altogether or part by part.

NO ONE CAN LIVE FOR HIMSELF ALONE

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH.
Eminent Psychologist.

Lord Beaconsfield called Friendship "the Gift of the Gods," and the most precious boon that man could have.

Cicero said that friendship "lightens adversity by sharing in its griefs and anxieties."

Hundreds of others have expressed similar sentiments. Everybody accepts the truism that friendship is valuable, that we all crave it and that all should cultivate it.

But we don't—that is, not often enough.

We are careless about our friendships.

Few of us cultivate real, lasting, dependable friendships.

Don't beguile yourself into believing that you live without friends.

You may succeed for a time—for years perhaps—but sooner or later in the life of every individual comes the need of a friend.

If you are by nature shy and retiring, at least try to make a friend of one someone you respect and admire and to whom you have personal access.

Your doctor, for one, can and should be your friend.

Your lawyer is another.

Your minister is a third.

With such professional men you can at least be frank and free.

Discuss your troubles with them.

They will aid you in getting a new slant on life.

Rest of all select a person of your own set and age and make a chum of him or her as the case may be.

Don't be afraid to try.

Don't be hesitant about making approaches.

Try hard for friendship!

And when you get a good friend be careful you do not forfeit that friendship, that you do not, through carelessness, lose it.

The best and truest friends have often been needlessly and heedlessly injured.

The man or woman who is without friends is like a person without a country.

If you don't attract people and therefore do not make friends easily you need not give up trying.

You can cultivate a personality that attracts and wins.

But whatever you do, don't try to do without one of the finest, benefits imaginable—friendship—or, on the other hand, don't try to test your friendships to see whether they will hold.

Many fine friendships of long standing have been broken up because one of the persons concerned wanted to prove to himself or herself that the friendship was dependable under any circumstances.

Friendship must not be tested.

It must be accepted on faith.

Friendship is too fine and delicate a thing to be trifled with an experimented, with.

Friendship means much more than favors and sacrifices.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
We are two girls in our teens. We have been thinking of having a picnic at a Summer resort some distance away. Two couples about four years our senior have volunteered to go with us. We would like to take two boys whom we know, but have had no dates with. What way would you suggest that we ask them. JO-ANN.

JO-ANN: Write the young men a friendly note of invitation to accompany you on your picnic.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:
I am a girl in my teens. Some time ago I had been keeping company with a young gentleman a few years my senior, for a little while, but we broke up. Of course, I was going with him. I know that he cared for me, but I didn't care for him. I didn't see him for a long time after we broke up, then a few months ago I started to see him again and he spoke to me about it one or three times, but he didn't ask me for a date and thinks that he knows I'd give him a date by the way I acted. Do you think he cares for me at all, yet?

I now realize how highly I should have valued his friendship and would like to have it once more. Won't you please be so kind as to help me with some advice?
CHERRY.

CHERRY: Just put your pride in your pocket, Cherry, and next time when you are talking to the young man tell him frankly that you realize that were the one at fault, and ask him to forgive you. Then, if he still cares for you he'll come back. If in the meantime, he has found someone else well, that's another thing, and you'll have to be content with things as they are.

Exploding firecracker set fire to one tent at Paynter's Bay, Owen Sound, and endangered a whole row of canvas houses. No one was injured.

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

Chapter 38.
ANGRY SPOUSES.

Hal stood before Marguerite's chair, after Brockton's departure. She was a little frightened by his expression.

"So that's the little game, is it?" he said thickly. "Brockton comes here to make love to you while I'm out dancing with his wife ..... I thought better of you than that, Marguerite."

She said breathlessly: "Steve has never made love to me."

He laughed shortly. "You don't call that love .... Well, it looked pretty much like it from the room."

She answered: "It's just that Steve and I are congenial, as you and Trudie are. We like the same things."

"Well, I'd prefer to have him and you like Trudie, personally, but that's subject to yourselves." You and I are married, Marguerite, though we had no choice in the matter. I'm playing straight with you. Understand ..." And I repeated the name of you."

He turned away and lit a cigarette. She made a little, despairing gesture.

"If you object to my friendship with Steve, I'll end it, Hal . . . But I'll be lonely. Trudie and Steve are my only friends."

"That's because you won't make others," he replied. "Oh, I don't mean recently—you've been ill. But, before that, I introduced you to lots of nice people and you simply let the acquaintanceship drop. You won't even play around with Lydia Carverse. All you seem to want to do is to stay at home and look after this apartment and listen to Steve Brockton's endless monologues. I can understand why Irma has to go out in the evenings. Steve would drive me crazy, too, if I had to have him around the house."

Marguerite was silent. She felt too utterly weary to protest. After a moment she swayed to the front of her chair, swayed, and would have fallen, if Hal had not caught her.

"I'm sorry," she faltered, her head against his breast. "I guess I tried to do too much today. I'm not very strong yet."

He looked down at her as he held her in his arms for the first time in his life, and he knew a swift feeling of pity.

"I'm sorry, Marguerite. I was very discourteous. Of course, I don't really think that you and Brockton are having a flirtation. It was only— well, I was very unreasonable."

Her eyes closed.

"If you only knew how kind he is," she murmured. "And how ground less your suspicions are."

His only reply was: "Shall I carry you to your room?"

A trace of color crept into her white cheeks. She shook her head. "I can walk quite well. It was only a moment of giddiness. I'd been sitting quietly for so long."

He gave her his arm to the door of her room. Since their marriage, he had entered that charming little bower of pale blue and silver only during her illness.

"Thank you." She smiled at him wavering. "Good night."

"Good night." He closed the door softly and went to the library, where he lit a cigarette and, throwing himself into a chair, stared hard at the ceiling.

What a mess the whole thing is," he thought.

The next morning, when he met Brockton in the elevator, his mood of the night had passed. He said:

"I say, Steve, forget about last night when I acted like the irate husband in the third act." I didn't really mean a thing."

Brockton was also apologetic. "It was all my fault. I can understand perfectly. But I'm a sort of lonely beggar, and your wife is a charming companion."

Hal was politely surprised.

"You don't know your wife very well, do you, Reynolds?"

For some reason, the remark irked Hal, that the two men went on downtown together.

Marguerite was having breakfast in bed, according to the doctor's orders. Her mother dropped in, very stylishly dressed, thanks to the modiste Mrs. Reynolds had recommended.

"You look very well quickly darling, because your father and I and Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are going to sail for Europe the second of June. Our passage is engaged, and everything. It will be quite wonderful. The Reynolds-se have crossed many times, and Mrs. Reynolds knows all the shops and the smartest resorts and dives of titled people. I'm frightfully excited, really."

Marguerite told her how glad she was. But her heart said: Little by little, she was losing every one but Hal. And she had never had, would never have, Hal.

At eleven o'clock Irma came in. Her face was red, and she looked angry and determined.

"I'm so mad I could bite," she announced, throwing herself into a chair. "Listen to this latest idiocy of Steve's."

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Every animal from the camel to the rabbit has contributed at one time or other to the world's demand for something new, and now it is the turn of the hen to give her white feathers to fashion, for new Paris woolen materials have tiny flecks of white feathers woven into them, but they appear, however, to have been sprayed over with cloth, this material being expensive but distinctly smart for fall.

Loubouloanger is featuring a bright navy that is the last word for evening.

New York prophesies a "suit" autumn and a favorite will be a three-piece wool-jersey suit for semi-sports occasions; informal luncheons or delightful weekends in the country.

A Kansas police chief has forbidden women to wear trousers or even overalls within the limits of his town.

Gloves remain very simple and the light neutral glove without buttons really slipped on and draped across the wrist, will be smart for wear under next autumn's coat.

At the recent Berkely Square wedding in London the social amateur ding of Miss Moira Brassey to Mr. Ridley, the pair left the church to the sound of hunting horns, accompanied by the cracking of whips and loud notes usually associated with the hunting field.

Paisley is featuring a purplish blue in his autumn models.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

An empty perfume bottle with patent top is a fine for sprinkling clothes. A very satisfactory sprinkler may be made by punching holes in the metal top of a vanilla bottle or any bottle having a screw top.

To sprinkle clothes quickly turn boards of the garden hose to a fine spray and sprinkle them while on the line. Plain pieces can then be rolled up and laid in the basket as taken down. Starched pieces may require further sprinkling.

To make smelling salts—buy ounces of ammonia, or rock salt break it into small pieces, put it in a bottle and cover with perfume; let stand a few days and is ready for use.

If your alarm clock rings too loud slip an elastic band around it to diminish noise. The wider band used, the greater will be suppression.

News Of Movies

BELLE THEATRE

The acts of Norma Talmadge's movies, playing tonight and tomorrow at the Belle Theatre Monday, were designed by William Cameron Menzies, Art Director for United Artists. For this picture, Menzies has created an impressionistic background of the mythical country of Costa Rejo. Menzies has a great feeling for romantic surroundings and in "The DOVE, he has been able to give his imagination free rein—for this mythical country is innocent in atmosphere and is bounded on the north by Love, on the south by Romance, on the east by Conflict and on the west by Marriage.

This small country with its narrow streets its brightly colored flowers that fall from the bands of Broncos perched on high balconies, its gay flags, has given Menzies the chance he has been searching for. It is a small country where the streets throughout which the characters wander in and out, fulfilling the plot of the story.

One of the most interesting exteriors is a semi-tropical garden occupying an acre of space. This is filled with rare specimens of trees and tropical flowers shipped to the studio from their native lands.

Norma Talmadge's last picture, "Camille," was laid in France. Her new film, "The Dove", is placed in Costa Rejo. It will have to remain for "The Dove" to put Costa Rejo on the map, because it isn't there now. It is a mythical land, "the red coast," and its population is polyglot. Norma plays Dolores, "the Dove," a beautiful and celebrated dancer.

Noah Beery, the mean thing, tries to love Dolores' fiance' (in love with her) shot in Norma Talmadge's film, "The Dove," at the Belle Theatre. But therein lies a tale, which isn't ever to be told now. It is dramatically unfolded in the United Artists picture at the Belle theatre.

REGENT THEATRE

You'll like "So, This Is Love," which is the attraction at the Regent Theatre on Monday. This Columbia production is full of interesting highlights and novel situations. It presents Shirley Mason and William Collier, Jr., as their leads. The former, delineates a Scandinavian adolescent more girl, while the latter portrays a male counterpart in an exclusive Greenwich Village modiste establishment. Both of these players win new honors in their roles.

The story has a charm about it fresh comedy, drama, suspense and spectacular scenes with the skill of an artist.

COAL INDUSTRY IN AUSTRALIA BAD WAY

Adelaide, South Australia.—(C.P.)—The coal situation, in Australia is causing grave alarm. The industry is Butler, of South Australia, who recently visited along the eastern coast. Now the price level has reached such a point that the public refuses to buy, and overseas trade has been practically wiped out.

"South Australia has been unmercifully fleeced by the coal operators of New South Wales," he declared. "The government is not continue to pay high prices, even though it is desirous of supporting home industries. Unless prices decline materially we will feel obliged to import coal from Great Britain or the United States."

SUGAR WORKERS ARE CHEAP IN RHODESIA

Sydney, New South Wales.—(C.P.)—Owing to the demands of the sugar growers in Queensland and the almost unlimited cheap labor available in Rhodesia, experiments are proving in the northern state contemplate moving to South Africa.

Mr. McMillan, executive of one of the largest Queensland sugar concerns, has returned from a tour of investigation in Rhodesia, and favours such a move. As a result of his tour, 40,000 acres of suitable land on the Limpopo River were offered at a nominal figure—growing and milling were started and promise was made that if ed on an extensive scale, protection would be given by the Rhodesian authorities against the introduction of sugar from the Union of South Africa. Ample Native labour was offering at five dollars a month and a ration of

WEDDING BELLS

COX—ROSS

St. Michael's Church was the scene of a very pretty event on Wednesday morning at 9 a.m. when Marguerite eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Ross of Cedden Street, became the bride of Mr. Clement W. Cox, son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Cox of Madoc. The Rev. Father Killeen officiated and Mrs. Jas. Grant rendered the Wedding March.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, looked charming in a gown of white charmeuse, trimmed with orange blossom trimmings; her veil of silk tulle was arranged in pretty effect and was caught with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of sweetheart roses, lily-of-the-valley and maiden hair fern.

Miss Anna Ross, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and was attired in a gown of pale green georgette, hand trimming and mohair and lace hat to match.

The bridesmaids were Miss Grace Morse, cousin of the bride, of Toronto who wore a beautiful period dress of peach georgette and taffeta, and Mrs Jack Cairn, who wore a beautiful period gown of deep pink georgette with gold lace trimming and mohair and lace hat to match; Miss Alice Taylor of Port Hope, who wore a dress green georgette with silver trimmings, and mohair hat to match. The attendants of the bride were dressed in gladioli and baby's breath anshed with tulle.

Little Miss Audrey June Burd of Cleveland, cousin of the bride, made a charming flower girl in pale blue and carrying a basket of sweet peas and baby breath.

The groom was supported by Mr. Alfred Desjarden of Oshawa.

During the offertory Miss K. Bawden sang very sweetly.

Immediately after the ceremony the guests repaired to St. Agnes' Manor where the wedding breakfast was served to about ninety. The bride's mother received in a dress of mauve georgette and hat to match, assisted by Mrs. Cox, mother of the groom who wore a smart frock of black crepe roma.

Later the bride and groom left for Toronto and Cleveland, the bride travelling in a baku blue crepe frock made in Dolman style with veil and pleated collar; her hat was of Silvan, grey fur, and she wore a red fox fur the gift of the groom. On their return the young couple will reside in Oshawa.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. T. Haddon, Mr. and Mrs. P. Clayton, Mrs. A. Moore, Mrs. W. Burd, Mrs. W. Burd, Jr., Miss M. Burd, Mr. A. Hoover, Mrs. J. Ash down, Miss I. Taylor, Miss G. Morse Miss A. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. M. Harnett, of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cox and Madeline; Mr. and Mrs. Pat Garvey, Mr. and Mrs. Don Barry of Madoc, Mr. and Mrs. Tredeau, Stoco, Mrs. John Burd, Cleveland.

ST. VITUS DANCE

A Trouble That Usually Attacks Young Children.

St. Vitus dance is the name generally given to a disease described by medical men as chorea. This trouble usually attacks young children, though older people may be afflicted with it. The most common symptoms are a twitching of the face and limbs. As the disease progresses the twitching takes the form of spasms, in the latter stages which may be confined to the face or all the limbs may be affected. Frequently the patient is unable to hold anything in the hands or walk steadily. In severe cases the speech is often affected. The disease is due to debility of the nerves and relief comes through an enriched blood supply Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been most successful in reaching this trouble through their specific action on the blood, which it enriches and purifies. The following instance proves the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills on this trouble. Mrs. Thomas Howes, Bath, Ont., says:—"Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have been in use in my family for years and always with good results. I believe they saved the life of my only son. At ten years of age he grew very nervous and the trouble developed into St. Vitus dance. His legs and arms would jerk and twitch, then his speech was affected, and his condition was pitiable. Just then there came to me a little book telling of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to give them to him. By the time two boxes were used there was an improvement in his condition and by the time six boxes more were taken all traces of the trouble had disappeared, and he was well and strong I have also given the pills to my growing girls, and I know of no better strengthening medicine. I may add that the same applies to grown-ups as well."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SINICAL SADIE SEES

A chorus girl, deliciously pretty but decidedly low-brow, somehow found herself at a very select party given by a famous society woman.

The girl, ignoly and uncomfortable as a fish out of water, was leaning against the wall, framed against the dark oak, when the hostess took pity on her.

"My dear," she said, kindly, "you look just like an old Rembrandt."

"Wall," retorted the damsel, sharply, "you don't look too darned snappy yourself."

THE YEAR IS AT JULY

The rose is glowing pinkly,
The year is at July;
The poppy uncurls crinkly,
The rose is glowing pinkly,
The fountain's cool and tinkly,
Slow wings the butterfly,
The rose is glowing pinkly,
The year is at July.

Yes, the rose is glowing pinkly,
For the year is at July,
And the bees are batting blinkly,
All things busy as any bee,
Fast asleep would soon be I;
For the stagnant pool so stinkly
Puts the damper on my blinkly
Mood, and though sweet sleep was night,
She had held her nose and slinky
Scooted; Yes, it is July.

Appropriate—An eminent religious minister who was spending the summer in the Scottish Highlands was invited to baptize the infant son of a local minister. When the time for the ceremony arrived the ghost gave out for congregational singing a paraphrase much favoured on such occasions. "Let us," said he, "sing from the fifth paraphrase, beginning at the second verse, 'As sparks in close succession rise.'" To his consternation, the congregation gigged. Afterwards, asking the clerk what he had done wrong, he was told, "You must know, sir, the ministers name is Sparks, and yonder is his tenth bairn!"

Poems Old And New

"THE WANDERER"

By Clinton Scollard

O I have journeyed fain and far
Beyond the cliffs that ward the sea
Have dipped and filled the water-jar
In springs remote as Araby;
I who a wander-man have been
Would be a wanderer again.
And tread a winding footway in
The leafy depths of Kirkland Glen!

I know that ripened raspberries cling
In crimson globes along its rim;
I know that hermit-thrushes sing
In beechen copses dusk and dim;
I know the stealthy walking-fern
Tiptoes across the mosses there,
And that the bee-balm soon will burn
Its torch above the maiden-hair.

In loamy hollows I would find
The lucious mushroom grilled with pink;
There would be horse along the wind
Delicious fragrances to drink;
So if you think of me as all
Be it not in the haunts of men,
But, to the rover lure a thrall,
A wanderer in Kirkland Glen!

DIRGE WITHOUT MUSIC

By Edna St. Vincent Millay

I am not resigned to the shutting away of loving hearts in the hard ground.
So it is, and so it will be, for so it has been time out of mind;
Into the darkness they go, the wise and the lovely; crowned

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do —what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of pain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have saved your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it is safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the cruder pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

STUFFED PEEPERS

Green peppers, allowing two to each person, are to be prepared by removing the seeds and white veins, and by a few minutes' boiling. Fill them then with a mixture of chopped veal or pork and cold, cooked potato and parsley, cooked together in butter only long enough to blend. When the peppers are filled, put one tablespoonful of cream over each and bake gently for one hour.

STUFFED VEAL CUTLET EN CAS.

Pound 1 thin slice of veal to 1.8 in. thickness. Cut in pieces 2 x 6 inches. Scrape the pulp from the tomatoes and 1-2 lb. cheaper cut of veal, add 1 slice of bacon finely chopped and 1-2 c. bread crumbs soaked in water, then wrung dry, 1 tsp. onion juice, salt, pepper and f. g. to taste. Mix well and spread over pieces of veal. Roll and fasten with a small skewer through pick. Saute a delicate brown in salt pork fat, turning often to roll even. Arrange veal in casserole, pour sauce around hot stock or chicken broth to nearly cover. Cook slowly in the oven 1 hr., then add 1 c. new peas, potato balls previously parboiled 8 mins., carrot balls delicately browned in hot butter and 1-3 lb. fresh mushrooms browned in 2 tbsp. hot butter The liquor in casserole may be thickened with dilued flour before adding vegetables. Cover and continue cooking until vegetables are tender. Serve in the casserole.

BULB CARE IN SUMMER
Work of Rioting After Blossom-time Is Past

If you are to get the best out of your daffodils—which term included all the narcissi—it is necessary to lift and replant them at least every other year, for the time to undertake the first of these operations is now.

The best of course, they are in the dormant state, but the process of ripening must be completed. The bulbs of course, should be put into a paper bag, with the mouth left open, and placed on a shelf in some dry place. There they will remain until the latter part of August or early September, when they must be replanted in a well-prepared bed.

Immature bulbs which obviously will not flower next year should be separated from the others and kept for planting later on in a nursery bed.

Tulip bulbs, which may not be ready to lift quite as soon as the daffodils, require the same treatment, but never not be replanted till the end of Septem ber or early in the following month.

Daffodils and tulips do best in a sunny soil, into which some old manure or leaf-mould, or both, has been dug. A sunny position is best for daffodils, but tulips, because they are the blooms from being "burnt" in very bright weather, are often better in a partially shaded border.

Deep planting is necessary, as the bed is being prepared a liberal sprinkling of bone meal should be given on the surface and hoed or raked in.

Other bulbs, the hardy lilies in particular, also pay for planting. They will continue to blossom for many years in the same place, but sooner or later some will die outright, while others will gradually deteriorate.

If not replanted at once lilies must be stored in sand until the border is ready.

Let Me Tell You

That when the teeth are inclined to loosen, tincture of myrrh is a good thing to use.

That delicate china should be washed in warm water to which a little fuller's earth has been added.

That water is much lighter if the whites of eggs are whipped separately and added just before using.

That white paint will wash better if a little whitening (a teaspoonful to a pint of water) is added to the water.

That knives not to be used for some time should have their blades rubbed with a little salad oil, be wrapped up in paper, one by one, then rolled up in flannel.

To keep patent leather shoes from cracking rub them all over occasion ally with a little vaseline put on with soft flannel. Leave over night, then polish. Glycerine, olive oil or sweet oil is also fine for this.

Here is breakfast fruit more appetizing than cantaloupe. Take a thick slice of Canada out of the ice-box, pour hot bouf grease over it, put the thin slice of bacon on top and serve. I wouldn't believe how good it was until I tried it.

That one of this year's prettiest court debutantes was Miss Nancy Heaton, kin of the Lady Mary, Queen of Scots, and her cousin Miss Lee, whose white tulle and each flounce was powdered with tiny silver stars, and the skirt was attached to a tight-fitting sleeveless corsage of silver, while her train was of flounced tulle powdered also with silver stars.

That judging from the advance collections of evening dresses presented to date in New York, formal frocks have definitely taken to irregular hemlines, and they are offered in variety, with dipping length manifested at the sides and back, the latter often sponsoring a length that is just below the knee.

To keep cheese, from drying or moldy, wrap it in waxed paper, or muslin or cheesecloth dampened with vinegar; keep it covered in a cool, dry place. To keep a large piece of cheese for any length of time, pour melted parafin over the cut surface; spread covering as cheese is used. A lump of sugar placed on cheese in the cheese dish will prevent mildew and keep it fresh. To cut rich cheese without crumbling, first dip the knife in boiling water.

ANNUAL REGATTA A BIG SUCCESS

A LONDON HIT

There is a revue running in London England, called "Many Happy Returns". The hit of the show is a song about the Prince of Wales. As we all know, the Prince is fond of dancing and is catholic in his choice of partners. When he patronizes a dance, whether it be a patrician or plebeian affair he does not just "look in". He goes to dance and he does. He has patronized many dances in the cause of charity, and has made glad the heart of many a girl belonging to the humble classes by selecting her as his partner.

The chorus of the song just mentioned runs:—

"I've danced with a man who's danced with a girl
Who's danced with the Prince of Wales
I'm crazy with excitement—completely off the rails;
When he told me what she told him,
The Prince remarked to her,
It was simply grand!
He said, "Topping band."
And she said, "Delightful, sir."
Glory, glory, Hallelujah.
I've danced with the Prince of Wales."

LICENSES FOR FAMILY CATS?

Toronto, Ont.—(C.P.)—The utmost care should be taken at the first sign of any bite, or even scratch, from a dog or cat, is the warning of the Ontario department of health and other Toronto physicians following the death of a five-year-old Windsor girl last week.

"If possible the animal that inflicts the injury should be kept under observation for at least ten days. If the dog or cat appears to be suffering from rabies the Pasteur treatment should be taken at once. If bitten anywhere except around the face this treatment will kill the disease and prevent death.

"The dog is to blame in most cases for the dissemination of rabies," says Dr. Hastings, "but the cat is also likely to transmit it. The cat does it only by biting but also by scratching. Everybody has seen a cat washing its face with its paws. In this way it contaminates its claws with the virus of rabies, which is found in the mouth, and so spreads the disease.

"The licensing of these cats would enable the police to keep in touch with them," he went on. "There are more stray cats around at this time of year, when the people are away on their holidays, of course. The people lock up their homes and leave their cats to take care of themselves and find a livelihood where they can. It would be much better for people to leave their cats at the pound, under the care of the Royal Humane Society during their absence. If it were necessary to have a license, with a fine for omission to obtain one, the people would not be so reckless in allowing the backyard brand around.

WILL FIGHT FIRE MENACE IN WEST

Vancouver, B. C.—(C.P.)—The Canadian Forestry Association is planning its most aggressive campaign so far undertaken to stamp out the forest fire menace in British Columbia. The campaign will be carried on mainly through channels of publicity and an attempt will be made to reach even the more remote sections of the province with a view to spreading the doctrine of timber conservation.

Charles Wilkinson, manager of the association in British Columbia, is leaving soon on a nine-thousand-mile tour of the province and will travel in a specially equipped automobile carrying motion picture projection machines and camer...

At every community where there is a hall or suitable enclosure for the projection of motion pictures the car will be stopped and an illustrated lecture on the subject of saving the forests given. The executive of the association concede that this campaign which has been carried on in past years in a more moderate way, has been the cause of building up a strong public sentiment in favor of timber protection, and that as a cumulative result hundreds of thousands dollars worth of timber will be saved annually.

LOVE WILL CAUSE ALL TO RETIRE!

Atlanta, Ga.—Cupid and the stork have combined to raise four auto racing drivers, well known on the dirt tracks of the United States and Canada, to announce their retirement from the game.

Sir Haughdahl, shortly after the arrival of a son at his home at Daytona Beach, Fla., said 1928 would be his last year behind the wheel.

Fred Story, after his recent victory at the Atlantic races, likewise averred that 1928, his seventeenth season of competition, would be his last. Three Rita Hornes who arrived in rapid succession in the Horny homestead, form the chief reason for the veteran's decision.

John De Palma, who also raced here, was married recently in Tampa, Fla. He says he is through with the roaring road and will confine his activities to the domestic sphere. Bobby Oriett, of Orlando, Fla., is another who recently acknowledged his racing days were over after wedding bells had chimed.

Haughdahl has previously announced his retirement several times, but he declares he is in earnest about quitting after this year's crusade on skate fair tracks.

BRITISHERS TO TRY FOR PRIZES

Department Store Party Will Take Back Ideas To England

Montreal—During their first stop in Montreal on an unusual tour of Canadian and United States cities, for the purpose of combining business enjoyments with the study of retail merchandising on this side of the Atlantic, A party of more than 100 employees of Selfridgers Department Stores in London, together with others from the William Whiteley store and branches of the Selfridger establishment are spending two days here, after which they will proceed to Toronto by Canadian National Railways. Arriving in Montreal Wednesday morning the party reached Quebec on the S. S. Alsunia, spending Monday and Tuesday here, the tour is unusual in as much as the persons taking part in it are for the most part clerks and apprentices from behind the counter, practically all of them are small salaried girls, who, through the extension of their holiday period and through assistance given by the management of Selfridge the tour of one month's duration has been made possible. While in the cities of Montreal, Toronto, Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia and New York all of which are being visited in turn, the members of the party are encouraged to study merchandising methods with a view to seeing what part of the Canadian and United States system could be applied to British departmental stores. Beauty parlors and hair dressing rooms will come in for particular attention, it is understood, and on their return the members of the party are to be awarded prizes for the ideas they bring home with them after spending two days each in Montreal and Toronto.

ONE ARMED DRIVERS NOT POPULAR THERE

Christchurch, New Zealand—(C.P.)—One-armed driving is to be banned in New Zealand. Under the new regulations recently approved by Christchurch city council if constables see motorists with only one hand, or less, wheel they have their orders to make arrests, and motorists who possess only one arm will have their licenses cancelled.

There are several motorists in Christchurch who have had their arms amputated as a result of accident or war injury, but the city council considers that the regulations prohibiting a driver from removing one hand from the wheel while a vehicle is moving makes the case of the one-armed driver impossible.

A Word to the Wise

If, a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded it as the opportunity of a lifetime.

Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25% to 50% or more under levels established last year.

The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have increased the equities behind the shares.

Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

Why not consult with us in the matter and let us make some suggestions?

FIRST RAILWAY FOR BERMUDAS

Hamilton, Bermuda.—The insular government of Bermuda, caught in the rush of progress, has authorized the construction of a 22-mile railroad, the first on the islands.

The cost will exceed $1,000,000 and all of the capital is British. The directors of the British Traction Company are the Marquis of Winchester, Lord Darrington, Arthur F. Hadley, Ernest T. Thornton Smith Sir George Levenson Gower and G. C. Hans Tamilton.

All are officials of British railroad companies. The road will be completed this year and the system will be electrified from the start.

The question of better transportation in Bermuda has been a topic of partisan discussion for many years. The proposal to establish motor bus lines instead of a railroad was finally rejected because of the old pastic sentiment against the presence of automobiles on the islands.

It is expected that the interest on the investment will be taxed cars of choice by tourists from the United States and Canada.

The Traffic Officer

If every car owner used Champion Spark Plugs there would be fewer traffic jams due to cars stalling.

Champion is the better spark plug because it has an exclusive silli-manite insulator specially treated to withstand the much higher temperatures of the modern high-compression engine. Also a new patented solid corner gasket-shell construction absolutely gas-tight under high compression. Special analysis electrodes which conserve a fixed spacing gap under all driving conditions.

SUPER RACE IS A POSSIBILITY

So Says Charles Taylor, Supt. of Public Instruction, Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb.—Enough is known of psychology and mental processes today to make possible production of a superrace of men and women if proper means of controlling the environment and instruction of children were available, in the opinion of Charles W. Taylor, superintendent of public instruction in Nebraska.

Principals of psychology and psychiatry applied to human problems of child growth is the key to the situation, he says.

In the schools of the future, the problem-child, whether subnormal or super-normal, will be carefully studied, advises and controlled according to principles of psychological analysis, Taylor predicts.

The terrific systems of the present generation probably are not developing in harmony with the new times fast enough to meet present day needs.

"One result of this is a continually increasing number of mentally unbalanced youths. Numbers of them fly out on tangents of human conduct and commit all sorts of emotional or brain-storm crimes.

"Society is going to be compelled to adopt some means of protecting itself from this peculiar nervous product of modern times—from the large numbers of emotional cripple and moral delinquencies on the part of youthful criminals now so prevalent.

"It is easy to imagine a time when numbers of young people will go out into adult life with definite restrictions on their personal liberties, under a sort of parole or guardianship rather than to some individual in the community. The danger of interfering with individual liberties produces one serious objection to any scheme of this kind, but individual liberties always have been curtailed in the last analysis, when the need of the larger social group seemed to demand it.

"The schools of the future will provide adequate psychiatric and psychological staffs for the observation and advice of all children as individuals. Vocational guidance, and perhaps some measure of vocational control, will be part of the educational system. As much attention will be paid to mental health and balance as to mere learning processes."

BABIES WILL NORM "FINE HONOR GUARD

London.—(C.P.)—A fine detachment of "infantry" will form a guard of honor for Princess Mary when she opens the new Babies' Welcome Centre at Armley, near Leeds, on August 6th.

As Her Royal Highness crosses to the new building she will walk between a double file of babies in their perambulators—400 of them in all—the "ranks" decorated with ribbons, and the mothers standing by. What may be called the Veterans Corps will be provided by Girl Guides and Boy Scouts who will also line the way.

Over thirty per cent of children born in Leeds now come under the cognizance of the Babies' Welcome organization. The building which Princess Mary will open is filled with sun-ray equipment and with many other up-to-date methods for the better care of infant life.

RECORDS KEPT OF ALL CATTLE

Only Way To Determine Unprofitable Cows Is The Herd

It is recognized that the keeping of Milk Records on the Dairy Farm is the only true way to discover the unprofitable cows in the herd.

Further, it is considered good business to weigh the milk of each cow in the herd periodically and test for butter fat. No manufacturer would use an unprofitable machine, so why should a dairy man keep an unprofitable cow.

Milk Recording is being adopted in every country where dairying is prominent. his was one of the live subjects at the recent Worlds Dairy Congress, held in London, England, and delegates from a dozen countries testified to its value in increasing the milk flow of the world.

At the Congress Prof. Harold Jackson, (Chairman of the Central Council of Milk Recording Societies, England) read a paper on this subject, from which we take the following excerpts:

"The scheme in England and Wales is carried on by 49 Societies under the rules and auspices of the Ministry of Agriculture. Each Society generally controls a county area, and has its own elected Management Committee, who appoint the Recorders and organize the work. Each member weighs daily or once a week. A Recorder visits each member not less frequently than once in six weeks, checking the weighing and supervising the entire records, made by the member of the morning and evening milk, taking samples for butter-fat when desired, checking the Registers, and numbering the bulls and calves. Many members also keep records of the feed cost per gallon of milk, and all Societies arrange for scientific advice on rationing, to be available for the Members. The Recorders may not spend the night on the farm.

The Ministry of Agriculture makes a grant to the Societies of £3 for each herd, and the cost to the Members varies between 2s. 1d. and 9s. 6d. per cow, but the higher figures are being considerably reduced.

During the 12 to 14 years that the movement has been in progress in this country there has been a steady increase in the yield per cow—the average for the whole country being 350 lbs per cow higher than 14 years ago, the average yield for England and Wales now being about 7,100 lbs. per cow.

Milk Recording started here, officially, in 1916, with sixteen Societies—360 members and 7,230 cows. It is now represented by 49 Societies 5,174 members and 153,000 cows. The Ministry of Agriculture also publishes an annual Register of Dairy Cattle which gives details of the milk yields of 7,500 of some of the best dairy cattle in this country.

In 1920 the various Societies decided to form a Central Council, each Society electing one or two delegates. The Council meets four to five times a year and assists in synchronizing the work of the Societies.

It is also organizing an important Dairy Herd Competition for England and Wales each year, in which about half the total marks are awarded for quality and quantity of milk. The winning herd in 1927 gave an average yield of 10,849 lbs. per cow. A challenge trophy is also offered each year which endeavours to select the most profitic dairy cow in the country. It is awarded to the cow giving the highest average yield in three successive years; she must not be more than 8 years old at the end of the test, and have produced one calf each year; the winner of the trophy in 1927 having given an average yield of 22,160 lbs. for each of the three years.

He further states, "the Milk Recording Movement includes the most advanced and up-to-date milk producers in every country—men who are ready and willing to embrace and act upon all that science can discover; who are now making a great endeavour to supply the best and purest milk and to eradicate the possibility of disease, and if any great advance is to be made in the betterment of our milk supply, it is in the Recording Movement that we must look."

One of the Pennsylvania, trains was wrecked at Alliance, Ohio, last night. The yardmaster says reports indicate that a number were injured.

"MYSTERY MAN" IS NOW KNOWN

But Dutch Entrant For Big Swim Still Romantic Figure

Toronto, Ont.—(C.P.)—The "mystery man" entered for the Wrigley swimming marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition on Sept. 5, who has kept clinking camps of a score of marathoners agog for some weeks, has at last revealed his identity.

A smiling Dutchman from the East Indies, he is Jan Van Der Ven and he states, in excellent English, that this secret training preparations were not part of a scheme to cloak himself in mystery but merely because he likes privacy.

But if Van Der Ven has cast off his cloak of mystery he still remains a romantic figure. Born in Minado, Dutch East Indies, he received his early coaching in swimming from Malayans. His father was a merchant on the islands and the boy was brought up among natives who make their living as pearl divers, fishermen and sailors. He swam almost as soon as he could walk and was soon perfectly at home in the shark infested tropical waters.

At the age of 18 he was sent to Holland to be educated and was graduated from a Dutch college. He speaks seven languages, including Chinese, which he learned while serving as a wireless operator in the orient.

Van Der Ven also served as an officer in the Royal Dutch Flying Corps, specializing in aerial photography. He was working in Cobourg as an interpreter when the Canadian National Exhibition swim was raced last year but he did not enter it. His decision to enter this year's race came about this spring when he was in Holland and won several long stitch clips.

It is reported Van Der Ven has a shark proof grease which he will use in the marathon to keep off the hungry eels which bothered a number of swimmers last year.

ONLY WAY TO BE AN HONEST THIEF

Leeds (By C.P.)—Judge Woodcock, K.C., gave some advice in the Leeds County Court on stealing without; control within the grip of the law.

"Every day," said the judge, "you see bank clerks and others, in order to find the necessities at life for themselves and families, put their hands on the materials of the bank, and they find themselves in prison. That is not clever.

"If you want to steal without coming within the grip of the law, you should form yourselves into a limited company, draw so much money from time to time regardless of whether you are meeting your obligations or not, and incur fresh debt without divulging the state of affairs.

"That is the way to obtain a good living without reaping criminal consequences."

MOST people know this classic antidote for pain, but are you careful to say Bayer when you buy it? And do you always give a glance to see Bayer on the box and the word genuine printed in red? It isn't the genuine Aspirin without it! Anywhere, always has Bayer, with the proven directions tucked in every box.

Tablets Aspirin Genuine

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer-Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that physicians have prescribed Bayer Tablets of Aspirin for the public's benefit for many years, the name Aspirin identifies only the product of The Bayer Company.

FINE INCREASE IN DODGE BROS. JULY BUSINESS

About 186 Per Cent. Increase Over July In 1927

"The prediction made a month ago that shipments for the second half of 1928 would show an even greater ratio of increase over 1927 than the phenomenal increase shown for the first six months is amply justified by the figures available at the close of July," states Mr. R. E. Clarkson, Managing Director, Dodge Brothers (Canada) Limited.

"Shipments of passenger cars and trucks from the Toronto Plant during July show an increase over July, 1927, of 186 per cent. and shipments for the seven months ending July 31st show an increase of 52 per cent. over the same period of last year.

"This is due largely to the fact that during the first six months of this year the Standard, Victory and Senior lines of passenger cars were not in full production, and the Graham Brothers truck lines from the 1-2 ton to 2 1-2 ton were being revamped," states Mr. Clarkson. "Now, with the transition period passed, and all lines in full production, we fully anticipate the largest Fall business in the history of the Canadian Company."

NOTED AVIATORS BUY STUDEBAKER EIGHT SEDANS

Motor Experts Choose New Studebaker Product

Kingsford Smith and Charles Ulm, co-pilots of the Southern Cross which recently made one of the longest airplane flights in history, have each purchased a new Studebaker President Eight State Sedan. The two cars were delivered to these intrepid airmen in Sydney, Australia, on July 13.

"Smith and Ulm, were grounded their monoplane for the long flight to Australia, are 'naturally motor experts,' said W. J. Green, local Studebaker-Erskine dealer. "They demand unfaltering reliability of automobiles as well as airplanes, and their selection of The President is looked upon as a distinct tribute to Studebaker."

The flight f the Southern Cross, a tri-motored monoplane, from San Francisco to Australia is the outstanding aviation feat of the year, according to aviation authorities. Never has an airplane sought such tiny "targets" as did the Southern Cross when it set out to find Honolulu, and later, that tiny island city, Vill.' in the South Pacific.

Almost at the same time the Southern Cross was plying the Pacific airlanes, a Studebaker Commander was shattering all previous records for cross-country travel in Australia. The Commander, driven by Norman Smith, motor editor of the Sydney Sunday Times, left Freemantle, West Australia, under the observation of the West Australia Royal Automobile Club and started for Sydney. The distance, 2,711 miles over all types of roads—was covered in 147 hours and 32 minutes. This remarkable trip lowered the previous mark by 12 hours and 22 minutes.

Fenders and hood were curved out to harmonize with the body lines. The front fenders are of one-piece construction, extra heavy. They taper gradually toward the rear, setting off the horizontal hood. Rear fenders are extra long, wide and deep, and the running board is short. Viewed as a unit, the front and rear fenders and the running board, posses unlimited snap and dash.

An important point about the lines of the new car is that they extend very greatly the possibilities of color treatment. Along the bottom of each window, for instance, just above the new rounded portion of the body, is a narrow panel of almost limitless value to the style engineer. Supplanting the moulding which formerly encircled the car, it combines with body and superstructure to offer any number of different color handlings. Again the design upsets precedent.

McLaughlin-Buick has not reduced its road clearance or head room in 1929 cars. The interior is roomier than before, due partly to the widened bodies and partly to added length, and the clearance remains as before. Nevertheless, the car appears lower, for the wheels are smaller, and larger-section tires are used. New hub caps, very large, prefectly round, and slightly convex across their faces, lend themselves well to the general ensemble. Another innovation affecting appearance is the large steel shield or hub cover which slips over the hub proper, and is held in place by the hub cap. This shield is also susceptible of color treatment.

Taken all in all, there is little about the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick, superficially, to the way of recognizance either by person or automobile. Buicks or to other cars.

GOOD VISION IS ESSENTIAL TO BUSINESS MEN

Good vision is of vital importance to the welfare and success of every business man in these strenuous days of keen competition. No eye defect is "too slight to trouble about," because it is a strain in the delicate muscles of the eye and a constant tax upon the entire nervous system.

If you will stop and consider that the muscles of the eyes are constantly at work from the moment the eyes are opened in the morning until they are closed in sleep at night, you will realize the necessity and importance of having your eyes examined at regular intervals, as experience may show to be correct—as soon as it manifests itself. An expert examination by W. G. Leybourne will determine the exact trouble in your own particular case, and the correction advised.

NEW BUICK SETS IMPROVED STYLE

Engineers Cut Loose From All Previous Ideas

The impression created by the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick cars of the style engineers responsible for it have cut loose from all precedent in working out the line and treatment for the new car which they introduced last week.

Lack of anything, among motor cars ci today, to which the new McLaughlin-Buick bodies can be compared completes the task of describing them adequately. They abound in deep, full curves, which produce a graceful effect and at the same time one of abundant roominess which is not belied by a glance at the interior.

Where conventional body design permits an almost straight drop from roof to running board, McLaughlin-Buick has departed boldly from precedent. The body bulges or swells just beneath the window, and the curve thus produced is carried down to the apron. The fullness beneath the win down runs completely around the sides and rear of the body, and its combination with other curved line applications, impart an unusual effect.

The sharp-roof-edge is unknown except at the front, which terminates abruptly above the new cowl ventilator. The steel of the sides and rear is carried around the top and over, merging into the top, and is Ducoed, a new treatment.

REAL ADVANCES IN VULCANIZING

Keeping pace with the improvement in the automobile tire of the past few years is the remarkable improvement in the efficiency of the modern tire vulcanizing plant.

Al. Hitchon at 361 Coleman Street, states that thousands of miles may often be added to the life of a tire which in the eyes of the inexperienced, may have all the appearance of being ready for the junk heap. Al has installed up-to-date modern vulcanizing equipment in his plant and can handle any tire up to a seven inch truck tire size. The present day vulcanizing expert can thus save the motorist many dollars a year by re-soling many of them and adding this extra mileage. And like every other up-to-date line

LOVEJOY TYPE SHOCK ABSORBER GROWS IN FAVOR

Many Light Car Owners Choose This Make

No wonder owners of light cars from all sections of the country are having the Lovejoy shock absorbers installed!

Yes!—This is the "Baby Grand" type developed by Delco-Remy engineers for small, light cars. Of course, the same hydraulic principle found in the larger model now standard equipment on Buick, Marmon, Cadillac, Reo "Flying Cloud", LaSalle, Reo "Wolverine", Chandler, Auburn, Stutz, Kissel and Oakland, has been retained.

Imagine how much longer your car will last with a set of Delco-Remy Lovejoy Hydraulic shock absorbers. The Lovejoy principle in checking spring rebound eliminates the terrific pounding of chassis and body under all road conditions.

It will pay you handsomely to let one of our representatives show you the greater riding comfort to be enjoyed from these shock absorbers. Why not drive in today?

At the Chris Lewis at Quinte Battery Service, Dundas Street, for full information. This firm is local Lovejoy Agents.

WILL TATTOOED ON BACK OF A MAN

London.—A 300-word will bequeathing large sums of money to several people has been tattooed on the back of a man who walked into a building establishment in Waterloo road.

He had the will written out on a piece of paper and asked that it should be transferred to his back. He sat for five hours while the work was done, and the will was duly witnessed.

He was a Colonial, and about 26 years of age." George Burchett, the tattooist, said afterwards.

This is the first will I have ever tattooed during a long experience, and it was difficult, tricky work.'

At is prepared to give prompt service at prices that are within reason in every case.

This firm also handles a complete line of the famous Goodrich Silvertown Cord Tires.

NO TRACE OF TWO MAIL CAR ROBBERS

Epidemic of Accidents Here, None of Victims Seriously Injured

POLICE SCOURING WOODED AREAS FOR MAIL THUGS

Report Finding of Bonds Near Parry Sound Yesterday

LATEST THEORY

Posse Armed To The Teeth Conduct Intensive Search

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 20.—Reinforced by additional men and armed to the teeth, provincial police continue to search for the bandit or bandits at large in the rough country near Waubamik, who took part in the mail robbery on the C.P.R. trans-continental train near here early Saturday morning. John Bunowski, a pole, is held by the police in connection with the robbery and the murder of Thomas Jackson, who was shot when the robbers were cornered after the stolen car in which they fled from city went into the ditch.

Several theories are held by the police who now think that the robbery was engineered by only two men.It is thought possible that the men parted when the car went into the ditch after the dispute as to which route should be taken.

Claude and Allen Jackson, sons of the slain man are among the most anxious searchers.

Report Finding Bonds

Toronto, Aug. 20.—A special despatch to the Toronto Daily Star from Parry Sound this afternoon says that the bonds stolen by the bandits who robbed mails on the Canadian Pacific transcontinental train early Saturday morning have been found near Parry Sound. It is understood the bonds were found yesterday but no statement has been made by officials in charge of the search for the bandits.

The rim came off one of the rear wheels of the auto Mrs. Dunn is suffering greatly from shock and many minor cuts and bruises. Miss Nokes is severely cut about the knee and elbows. Mrs. Nokes is suffering severly from shock and A H. Wise, who was driving and W. Cross also of Peterboro, escaped injuries." The car was badly smashed.

ROTARIANS HEAR ALD. A. B. COLLINS

Quotes Interesting Figures Outlining Canada's Immigration Problem

Alderman A. B. Collins gave the Rotarians some interesting statistics on Canada today and while the figures were not new, the manner appreciation was calculated to infreme the pride of Canadians in their own country. He particularly stressed the need to Canada of our native born population and urged the necessity of proving good opportunities for our young people at home.

Dealing with the problem of immigration Mr. Collins stressed the fact that it was quality not quantity we were after, and stated that the bulk of our population be confined to the Anglo Saxon nations who fitted naturally with our ideals of citizenship.

Two new members were introduced to the Club, Mr. Geo. H. Sinden, Superintendent of the C.N.R., and Mr. "Mac." MacMillan, of the Canadian Dept. Stores. In welcoming these new members to the Club President Mac-Robertson said that he felt that these new citizens would be strong additions to the Club roster.

He has travelled extensively in Canada, and his passing will be much regretted by friend throughout the Dominion.

K. VIVIAN HAS HIS CAR STOLEN

When Ken Vivian, proprietor of Shannonville Garage left his car at the ferry docks in Kingston last Saturday, and went on the boat trip through the Thousand Islands, he little thought that thieves were about but which proved to be case. Returning on Sunday from a very enjoyable trip, he discovered that his automobile had disappeared during the night.

The Kingston police were notified, and asked Belleville and other western towns to be on the lookout for the car which bears license numbers, 366,917 and is a 1922 Chevrolet Coupe, painted black, and carrying two spare tires. The lights on th cartaclisme ory The lights on the car at the time were very di mmed anyone seeing a car answering this description should get in touch with the police immediately.

CATHOLIC PRIEST MAY HAVE MET DEATH

London, Aug. 20—Belief that Monsignor Provin, Prefect Apostolic of the Catholic mission at Sin Yang in Chow, in southeast Honan Province, was tortured to death by Brigands is expressed in a despatch to the daily mail from Hankow, China. Monsignor Provin, Martian, was captured by brigands two weeks ago.

BUSH FIRES RAGE IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 20—Fires of brush areas in widely separated parts of the West were aflame again today, two large fire being practically out of control and others were threatening to burn valuable timber. Fire-guards throng winds and dry weather en aanered the menace.

California's largest fire, at Cajon Pass in San Barnardino Mountains imperiled the transcontinental Highways, stopping traffic and today was burning before a brisk wind.

Police Checking Up Closely On Violators of Traffic By-Laws

Frank Hutchison, a Belleville man ran against the red light yesterday and when stopped by Police Constable Jackson had no operator's license with him and had only one headlight lit. With all these counts against him it is likely that he will come prepared to pay a fine into the coffers of the City to-morrow. Five others who at the present moment are blissfully unaware of the fact that their cars have been seen out will be summoned to-day, for the same offense, going against the red light.

John Shannon, Front St. Merchant failed to stop at the Bay St. gate from Pinnacle to Bridge, and will receive his summons in the near future. Residents of the city and any others who use the the city streets must bear in mind that these traffic laws are made for the protection of the public and those who do not obey them are not only taking the chance of a fine, but are probably endangering the lives and property of other people a well.

SHOT PATROLMAN

Four Men Kill Policeman In Cold Blood on N. Y. Street

New York, Aug. 20.—Gangsters of Manhattan's lower east side today were believed to have used a pistol with a silencer to shoot a policeman because of his activities against them.

Witnesses said they heard a sharp "plop" when four men drove up in an automobile beside the policeman George M. Egan and he fell dead.

THREE CHILDREN STRUCK BY CARS OVER WEEK-END

In Every Case Driver Was Proceeding, At Moderate Rate

NONE SERIOUSLY

Parents Urged To Keep Children Off Heavily-Travelled Roads

Three children were the victims of automobile accidents in Belleville and vicinity yesterday but fortunately none were seriously injured. Due to the heavy traffic which is passing over practically every highway at the present time, great precaution has to be used to keep the children as much as possible off the streets, and parents are the ones who should shoulder most of the responsibility in this respect. In all three of yesterday's accidents the driver of the car was proceeding at a fairly slow rate of speed, and in only one case were the brakes at all faulty.

L. M. Parks, of Trenton, well known insurance man, struck a son of Albert Brown, about one mile east of Trenton yesterday afternoon and cut two cords in the child's leg. Mr. Parks was travelling at the time, at an exceptionally low rate of speed, according to eye-witnesses, and after the Provincial Police had investigated he was allowed to go as it was plainly seen he was not at fault.

At four o'clock another child about eight years of age was struck by a lady in a light coupe at the Ontario Schoal for the Deaf. This was at the time when cars were streaming from the services at the Cemetery back to the city and traffic was heavily congested. No car to the line was going faster than 15 miles an hour, when the little lad darted out in front of the coupe. Although his mouth and face were cut, none of the bones were broken his condition is not serious; Dr. Blakie attended the boy, who was brought to the city by Mr. William Healey, of Picton.

Russell Glass, of Latta, P. O., struck a child on the Canniton Road, south of Canniton yesterday afternoon, but the little girl was not seriously hurt. Glass swerved to avoid the child, but was not successful in missing her entirely, but hit her a glancing blow. The brakes were tested and found to be faulty.

FELL FROM TRAIN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 20.—Anthony Pickolos of Frita, a member of a local fishing club which had chartered a special car last week for fishing trip in Ontario was killed Saturday night as the train was returning to Pittsburgh, it is believed. The body was found early on Sunday at Twonia, Pick. who was missed but no alarm was felt until railroad officials reported that the body of a man had been found along the right of way on the side of Perth. A check-up to determine the man's exact identity has not been completed.

BUFFALO ORDERLY BRUTALLY ATTACKED

Buffalo, Aug. 20—Louis Fiscaglia, 24 employed in the United States marine hospital here as an orderly and reported to be the scion of a wealthy Pittsburgh family, was badly wounded early Sunday when returning by boat from Crystal Beach, Ont. He was attacked by a young man with a knife and seriously slashed about the neck and temple.

SHOT BY BANDITS

Provincial Police Hot On Trail of Slayers of Thomas Jackson

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Provincial police are hot on the trail of the bandits who murdered Thomas Jackson, C.P.R. mail clerk, and escaped with $30,000 in bonds from the mail car of the transcontinental train which was held up near Parry Sound early Saturday morning, it was announced by Provincial Police headquarters here this afternoon.

Police are confident that the bandits will be captured within a few hours, it was stated.

CHASE ENDS IN COURT SUMMONS

Percy Ray Failed In Attempt To Evade Police

Percy Ray, of Holloway' yesterday afternoon tried to evade and when another motorist on the Trenl Highway cutting in very playfully and almost sent the other car into the ditch. When Percy found that he had been cutting in on an officer of the law, however, in the person of Provincial Officer David Sylvester, he was not nearly as playful.

Twice the Provincial Police caught up to Ray, who was driving a Chevrolet Coach, but when the officer stopped him Ray stepped on the gas and sped away. At last as the two cars turned Queen St. at the Devil's Elbow Percy decided it was time to give this persistent playmate the slip, so turned suddenly up a side street. It was unfortunate for him as this side street happened to be a blind street, and when he got to the end he had to give up the chase. Hewas arrested and will be charged with reckless driving.

WAS BROTHER OF LOCAL MEMBER

Mr. P. Tummon Informed Police of Parry Sound Robbery

Mr. M. P. Tummon who was a mail Clerk on Canadian Pacific train No. 1, which was held up by robbers early Saturday morning near Parry Sound, is a brother of Mr. W. E. Tummon M.P. representing Hastings Prince in Ottawa.

Mr. M. P. Tummon was not in the car when the bandits ransacked it but he was entering the car as the thugs beat a hasty retreat out of the door. Mr. Tummon reports that something was wrong and immediately informed the police of the occurrence. Mr. Tummon is a regular clerk on this train and runs from Toronto to Parry Sound. He boards the train at Parry Sound but does not run as far as Romford where the bandits made their entry. Speaking with Mr. W. E. Tummon today the Intelligencer was told that in conversation with his brother he knows that no one was uninjured and no shots were fired in his direction by the fleeing thugs.

COURT CASE MAY FOLLOW CRASH NEAR STIRLING

Woman Suffers From Shock In Highway Accident Yesterday

RESTING EASIER

Injured Parties Were Removed To Kingston General Hospital

Provincial Police from this city last night investigated an accident about four miles north of Stirling on the Campbellford Road, where a car driven by Clarke Haig of Campbellford had crashed into another car driven by a man named McKones also of Campbellford. McKeown had his collar bone broken, but his injury is resting much easier. Some arrests may follow. Both cars were damaged.

About 8.30 on Friday morning, a Dodge sedan driven by John Casey of Napanee, and having as passengers his mother and sister, also of Toronto, swerved into the ditch when about two and a half miles from Napanee. The car which was travelling about thirty-five miles an hour, is a complete wreck, and Mr. Casey who was hurt the worst, is now in the Kingston General Hospital, having received a deep gash on the head as well as bruises.

Miss A. E. Casey, the sister, received only a few bruises and slight cuts and is able to be out and around, but the mother, who was in a street car accident in Toronto about a month ago and is just recovering is extremely nervous and suffered greatly from shock. H. T. O. Byles of Napanee investigated the accident and was instrumental in having the injured people look after by farmers until they could be removed to the Hospital.

British Harvesters Surprised With Canada's Development

Winnipeg, Aug. 20—Overwhelmed by the development and development of the country a party of British harvesters left here last night for their respective trades as soon as they harvest is over expressed by members of the group. The number intimated, however, that they would like to "try their hand at this farming game."

Spouse Successfully Pleads Case On Behalf of Her Hubby

James and Margaret Wilson From, St. have not enjoyed the happiest of married life but were always apparent in police court this morning charged with failing to provide the necessities of life for his wife and family she pleaded with the Court to give him one more chance, as he had promised that he would do better.

When asked by the Court why he failed to supply these necessities, Mrs Wilson, who had laid the charge, declared that he didn't drink, didn't spend it on other women, and his only vice was that he gambled. Some argument ensued as to whether or not he had ever struck her. It was alleged that he had, and more than once, but Mrs. Wilson denied she had ever told any one this. There are seven children all under sixteen, and as the wife, who was also the prosecutrix, asked for the case to be dropped, Magistrate Mitel declared that he would do so this time, but if Wilson ever appeared before him again on that charge he would give him a long term as well as lashes.

MARATHON WINNER

El Ouafi

el French Morocco, a dispatch bearer in the French army during the war, was the winner of the Olympic marathon at Amsterdam from the largest field and perhaps the best field of runners that ever took part in the Olympic Games. Although the Moor finished in the first ten in the Olympic marathon at Paris in 1924 he was not considered dangerous in this year's event. His victory, therefore, was a huge surprise.

HOLLYWOOD FILM ACTORS IN BRAWL

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 20.—A war crack about Tom Mix's future in the talking movies was credited by Will Morrisey, a less famous film actor, as the cause of a fist fight at the home of George Behan, film actor, on Saturday night after which Morrisey and his wife had to be attended by doctors.

Morrisey admitted he had "told Tom his horse Tony had a great future in talkies. I said Tom Mix could at least snort, but what could Tom do." Then the fight began. Mrs. Morrisey alleges Behan struck her as well as her husband.

RECORD BROKEN BY JACK ABBE

Peterboro, Aug. 20—Jack Abbie, owned by J. Akey of Peterboro and driven by Eddie Jones, recently broke the track record at Pembroke, which he won in three straight heats; his time was 2.12, 2.11 1-2, and 2.10 1-4. The time of the last race marking a new record. At the meet Eddie Jones was presented with a floral horseshoe by the racing committee for being the finest-dressed and best-behaved driver during the meet.

Armondale, owned by Arthur Johnson, Peterborough, took third money in the same race.

HIS THEORY OF ROAD RULES MAY COST HIM FINE

Oscar Parks, Napanee, Will Be Summoned To Local Court

H. T. O. INVESTIGATES

Two Cars Involved In Accident Near Point Anne Lane

Oscar Parks, R.R. No. 4, Napanee, thinks that when he makes a hand signal cars coming in both directions should stop till he turns around. Yesterday, while coming from Napanee of Point Anne, in upholding this belief, he had the misfortune to have an accident which might otherwise have been avoided.

Although intending to enter the Point Anne road, Mr. Parks missed the turn and drove some one hundred yards before realizing his mistake. Immediately he put out his hand, as there was a car coming from the west, and he expected it to stop. Swerving over to the left, Mr. Parks thought no more of the car from the west, which was being driven by Andrew Wilson of Shannonburn, but Mr. Wilson did not know the rules of the road by which Mr. Parks made his way, so did not stop.

The Parks car backed up just as Mr. Wilson's car passed behind him with the result that a crash was imminent, the Andrew's car going in the ditch, and the rear end of the Parks car being badly damaged. Mr. Parks was summoned and will be required to see Mr. Wilson because he had failed to stop. H. T. O. Pyrist, however, who investigated the accident, declared that he intended to lay a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public against Mr. Parks.

VETERANS HONOR FALLEN MEMBERS

Hundreds Attend Annual Decoration Day Services At Cemetery

Headed by the Salvation Army Band and accompanied by well over one hundred and fifty veterans as well as hundreds of other citizens and sympathetic spectators, the keeping of in faith with those who fell and sleep the long sleep was observed in the usual manner on the occasion of the Annual Decoration Day.

Forming up at the Canadian Legion Hall on Front St., the procession moved up to the Cemetery entrance, where a drum head service was conducted by the Rev. Bruce Hunter. Many hundreds of people were in attendance at this point, all desirous of showing their respect to the memory of the fallen heroes. Rev. Hunter was assisted by the Rev. A. L. Geen, chaplain of the Canadian Legion Post 56, in this city.

The sermon was brief in accordation, but all the same one was extremely touching. Rev. Hunter at the conclusion of the Consecration Day, how it was a day set aside to keep the memory of those who had fallen, and given their all that the world might be saved.

"It is not necessary, perhaps to treat on the minds of men what has been through it all," stated the minister, but we forget, these services are held."

Rev. Bruce Hunter explained that it had been his privilege to be stationed at some of the base hospitals in France, and how he had helped to cheer up the many wounded soldiers when they were brought in from the front with all of them terribly wrecked in body and body.

Perhaps the most impressive part of the whole ceremony was in front of the Mausoleum where another short service was held, being conducted by the Rev. A. L. Geen. A firing party made up

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Life is a mere flame. And we live by an invisible sun within us.

SIR THOS. BROWNE.

UP AND ONWARD

Simultaneously with the announcement from Washington that Canada is now the best customer of the United States (replacing Great Britain from his premier position), comes the prediction of New York Herald Tribune of Canada's financial independence. Looking back over the last seven years we cannot think of these statements and the allied statements of the last year, or so, without a thrill. Surely precautionary measures are taken to conserve our timber resources, that enormous new manufactures, from building furniture, find all that is needed so. During the first six months of the year Canada purchased from United States $439,000,000 worth of merchandise. In the same period the United Kingdom bought $384,500,000 from America. On the other hand, Canada sold the United States in the above period only $233,000,000 worth, or an increase in our exports of only $7,000,000 as compared with an increase in our imports of $36,000,000. Although the United States buys more from us than from any other country in the world, we should make an effort to reduce this adverse trade balance.

The New York Herald Tribune informs us that in a recent study of the Dominion's progress Mr. Hay Hall of the finance and investment division of the United States department of commerce compared the present position of Canada with the position occupied by the United States before the war, and the New York newspaper, recalling the announcement of Hon. J. A. Robb that Canada would not repay $50,000,000 worth of loans maturing this fall, but would pay them off out of surpluses, has following comment: 'Canada, as was the case with the United States of 1914, while not just a borrowing nation, is in the position of a debtor nation that is reducing its old debts to foreign investors or is making new investments of its own in a volume exceeding its new borrowings. Such a course is the direct indication could be asked than this of the Dominion's approaching financial independence." The next few years should witness a great expansion of Canadian export trade, with a corresponding advance towards the financial independence that the Herald Tribune speaks of. With a greater measure of truth than ever before, Canada is the land of opportunity.

STILL MOVE SOUTH

Canadian cattle are still being insistently demanded by stock raisers in the United States and the high prices offered continue to divert the former overseas movement across the border. The first shipment of cattle to a British port since March of last year left Montreal recently, comprising about a hundred head. This, however, was on an old consignment and cannot be accepted as indicative of an early resumption of regular business relations. To present appearances, the drift of cattle southward will continue indefinitely so long as the prices are sufficiently tempting. Nor at least it will be satisfactory to Canadian stock raisers to know that when the United States capacity is exhausted, other outlets can be found in Britain and elsewhere.

Western Canada is now sufficiently engaged in the cattle industry to make general market conditions a matter of keen interest to the agricultural community. Herds are reported to be constantly expanding, with quality also improving. That too, not only in the older sections but in districts that not so long ago would have been regarded as impossible. Further reports say the Peace River country, for example, is particularly in favor of developing into a wealth steer cattle raising centre. Peace River cattle recently topped the market in Edmonton, notwithstanding the handicap of undergoing a 125-mile trail on the hoof before reaching a railway station. This furnishes another valuable argument for the governing of freer railway communication with the main transportation systems.

THE AIR MAIL.

A five cent air mail is a modern development which is nothing short of the amazing. Probably the younger generation think no more of these things than we have done of steam engines and locomotives for the last 80 years. But the fact of our letters flying across continents and probably soon to fly over oceans, is something to give us a new sensation of wonder. Francis Grierson saw in the loss of the sense of wonder a serious calamity to the race. There is always enough in our lives to keep wonder alive when we do not let the elements of science and invention in the last quarter of a century should stimulate our wonder and imagination to the limit. A few days ago, an airplane was captured from a steamer at sea 400 miles from New York and brought to the mails fifteen hours ahead of schedule. This is but the herald of what is to be. It will not be long till the ordinary mail, sorely dazed now, will begin to think of the arts of peace on the same magnificent scale with which they have contemplated arts of war. It will be easy for them to co-operate to construct islands or floating platforms, artificial islands which would be stationed at definite intervals in the oceans to serve as landing-places for hydro-planes which could speed over their land or seas on their burden to other planes ready to take up the journey. The strapped war vessels of the nations could be utilized as the foundation of such platforms or floating islands without much cost to the nations concerned, and their support would cost less than the present cost of steamer transport. Perhaps this is a dream, but an argument against this plan in our utilitarian policies. But it could not hold for long when the advantages of air-mail were weighed. We shall before many years be seeing letters in the air regularly established and our children may supplant it with something more up to date in their day. Nothing endures.

PASSING YEARS

(From the Intelligencer of this day 50 years ago)

While some men were engaged in removing the old cattle sheds at Corby ville on Saturday, a large stone toppled over upon them. Five of the men were injured, one seriously.

LIFE'S HIGHWAY

There's a long and rugged highway
That has travelers by the score,
And they journey all unconscious
Of what life may have in store.
Some pick roses by the wayside
And see the beauty every day;
Some the thorns are left to gather,
While no flowers strew their way.

Strange it seems if one but ponders,
All are travelling the same road,
Though their home be in a palace
Or but be their abode.
There's no turning back of foot-step
Once you've started in the race,
So go straight along the highway,
Leave no footprints you'd erase.

Fortune does not smile on all,
Some are born with burdens bent,
Just lend a hand to help along,
And with small deeds be content.
Someone needs the dark clouds lifted,
So scatter sunshine while its day;
Days and years are swiftly passing
And just once you'll walk life's way.

Up the hill the road leads onward,
Then sometimes it's in the vale,
But you'll reach the glorious summit
If your courage does not fail.
Time will come when you have vanished
From the road just round the bend,
And your deeds of love and kindness
Count most at the journey's end.

Just Stories

First time Calvin Coolidge saw his present wife—then Miss Grace Anna Goodhue—whom he married in 1905, it was in Northampton, Mass. He, according to Cameron Rosa, a friend, was shaving before a window, Coolidge was passing upon the street below, a girl. She was a pretty girl and she walked gracefully and with determination. Calvin stretched his neck and craned. He had checked the downward sweep of his razor and remained visaged hair a fomsy white half pink. Another student with whom Coolidge shared a Northampton room, observed him with surprise. Calvin craned again but the girl was gone. He then said soberly, "Likely girl going up the street," and added, as an after-thought, "Guess I'll have to marry her." "What's her name?" asked the friend. "Don't know her—yet," replied Calvin blankly and resumed his shaving. The friend managed the introduction. But Coolidge made poor progress. Finally he followed Miss Grace to Burlington where he met her father. The latter asked, without hedging, "What are you doing here?" Calvin said firmly, "I'm here to marry Grace." Mr. Goodhue recovered himself to say in a tone full of interest: "Does she know it?" "No" said the younger man, "she doesn't, but she will." And so she did.

Are a Great Number of Fortunes In The United Kingdom

London.—When Lord Inchcape gave to the British nation the $2,500,000 fortune he inherited after his daughter, Elsie Mackay, was lost in her attempt to fly the Atlantic Ocean, it developed that some of the greatest fortunes in the United Kingdom are owned and administered by women.

Miss Gladys Yule, 24-year-old daughter of the late Sir David Yule, prominent Indian merchant of Calcutta and London, has just come into an inheritance of $15,000,000.

Lady Houston, sometimes described as "the richest millions widow" was brought into the limelight when she fell heir to $35,000,000 upon the death of her husband, Sir Robert Houston. Accused by relatives of being incompetent to handle the fortune, she was upheld by the courts and took possession of her estate. She is reportedly gave $7,500,000 to the British Government in death duties taxes, although her husband died in Jersey, where there are no death duties.

Lady Houston is an ardent suffragist. Before her marriage she was Dame Fanny Lucy Bryon, one of the first five Dame Commanders of the British Empire to be created.

Viscountess Rhondda, who succeeded to her father's title as well as to his fortune, is one of the busiest of Britain's wealthy women. She is shared in business, as a director of many companies, and personally manages her mother's extensive and vast business holdings. A person in her own right, she has exported much of her time and money to the championing women's rights and is foremost among the peeresses demand ing that titled women be allowed to enter the House of Lords.

Baroness Ravensdale, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Keddleston, whose smother was Miss Mary Leiter of Washington and Chicago, is among the six richest young women in the country. Tall, dark and handsome, she is a capable political speaker and a champion of women's rights. She is an heiress to the millions.

One of the most beautiful of Britain's heiresses is Lady Louis Mountbatten, formerly Miss Edwina Ashley, who married the son of the late Marquis of Milford Haven. She controlled a fortune of $10,000,000 from her grandfather, the late Sir Ernest Cassel.

Lady Ludlow, who inherited $5,000,000 and a magnificent mansion from her first husband, Sir Julian Wernher, is famed for her jewels.

Mr. Harry B. Wallace, of Oshawa, and Fred B. Wallace, of Port Hope, have returned to their homes after spending the past few days with their mother, Mrs. A. Wallace, Coleman St.

Mr. A. B. Collins and son, Mrs. J. F. Dulin, Miss Rena Dulan and Miss Sexton, of New York left today for the Canadian Martyr's Shrine at Midland.

Miss Beth Wilder, of Willowvale, Toronto, and Miss William McLaen, of Oshawa, are all her brother Alfred, of Winnipeg visited their friend, Miss Marion Wallace, 280 Coleman St., yesterday.

Misses Florence and Helen Henry, who have been spending the past two weeks at the home of their uncle, Mr. D. W. Ketcheson, 6th of Sidney, left for their home in Ohio this morning.

MASON—LESTER

A very quiet wedding took place this morning at the Bridge St. Church Parsonage when Thelma Alemeda Lester, of Kingsbury, Quebec, was united in marriage to William Henry Mason, of Oshawa. The young couple were unattended and after a short honeymoon will take up their residence at Oshawa.

FAILED TO ABIDE BY AGREEMENT

Viola Robertson's Case Enlarged Until Next Friday

Viola Robertson appeared in Police Court Saturday carrying her three months old baby, to be sentenced by the court for failing to carry out the agreement that she made when she was allowed to go on suspended sentence some three months ago. At that time it was proved that she had been living with another man, and was making a general nuisance of herself to the residents of the College Hill, but was allowed out on suspended sentence owing to the condition of her promise that she would not go near the man's home again.

Crown Attorney Donnan asked for a full sentence, and recommended a husband, saying that the woman had dehealth, and her promise that she and everyone linked with the court, as she had been staying ever since her trial at the man's home.

Magistrate Ponton then took pity and son from the Crown and from the evidence that Mr. Porter, the Magistrate failing what the accused had said to him. All their stories were somewhat different, but Mr. Donnan asked for an adjournment of six days, until next Friday, when he declared that he would have plenty of witnesses on hand to prove that the woman had failed to keep the terms of the agreement in every way. In court, and on which terms sentence was suspended.

WEEK'S LAY-OFF

Oshawa-Belleville Game Put Over For One Week

Oshawa, Aug. 20.—The second game of the Oshawa-Belleville Central League play-off won't take place until the 1st of September, the council Saturday also available for this city. That means a lay-off from the 22nd of this month when the first game will be played in Belleville. Wait Schedule doesn't run it at all, and no one else is in favor of it. The only other possible drawing date would be a Wednesday and noted fans won't turn out then although Belleville supporters generally take the afternoon off for the game.

TIPPING NUISANCE HURTS BOTH PARTIES

By DR. LOUIS E. REICH.

The practice of tipping always was a nuisance, but it seems to be spreading so rapidly that it is already beginning to assume the proportions of a menace.

A man buys a hat for three or five dollars and by the time the season is over, and he has paid a nickel here and a dime there to check it at various and sundry cloak rooms, that particular hat has stood him several times its original cost.

There was a time when a shoe shine cost five cents and you might even expect a "thank you" when you paid. Nowadays that same shine carries a trip with it of from 50 to 75 per cent. And if you neglect to come across you are likely to have a torrent of foreign epithets hurled after you as you exit.

The idea of tipping is degrading from every angle. It's about the most un-American custom imaginable. It intimidates the giver. It stresses servility on the part of the receiver.

I know of college men who, because they had to work their way through, accepted jobs as waiters in order to earn laurels.

They didn't mind the long hours or the hard work. But what they shied at was the tipping. They felt it lowered their own self-respect.

I never met a person yet who liked to tip.

Nor do I know of any employes either who would not rather receive a higher straight wage than be placed on the American public in a recognized, but humiliating position.

Imagine a business man in the highly easy going and tolerant public mind that is probably why the tipping habit has somehow managed to take hold.

If people in general would only stop to realize its pernicious mind effects all-around conscious action would soon be taken to wipe tipping off the American map.

Manhood and womanhood cannot prosper as it should if it is to take fees for legitimate services rendered, or bribes for special favors.

In Europe, of course, tipping seems to have been an accepted fact for centuries. Even since the war, however, the sin of the tips are much smaller than here.

The amounts spent by the average individual in gratuities, is not the important point to be stressed. The personality effect is the chief banal influence, added to which the unmoral character of the habit is scarcely of lesser importance.

No American employes, no matter what his job, can possibly be considere' servile, either in his own eyes or in the eyes of a customer. And surely he does not want to be classed as something like a refined bandit.

Yet that seems to be about what we are coming to in the tipping game.

We run dangerous chances of being insulted in ode way or another unless we "come across" handsomely.

Whether the tipping reform should start from the inside or the outside, or from both angles, is open to guess-work.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

Dear Annie Laurie:

I have been going with a boy and my chum says that if I go with him any longer she will not go with me.

I do not want to give up this boy, but I want to keep the friendship of my chum.

I have talked to her, but it has been of no use. BECKY.

BECKY: When two girls have been special chums, there is quite apt to be some jealousy when one acquires a beau, and perhaps this is what happened in your case my child. It will probably take a great deal of tact to handle the situation, but I am sure that you do like and hold the friendship of both. If the young man treats you with respect and you enjoy his friendship, there is no reason why you should not go out with him, if your parents permit.

Dear ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens and I am writing to a boy friend to whom I am not engaged. I wonder if you could advise me as to what would be proper and what not too forward or formal to put at the end of my letters before I sign my name. TOOTS.

TOOTS: Perhaps "Cordially" and then your name. Or you may use "Sincerely yours" or merely "Sincerely." These are proper when signing real sort of letter.

Dear ANNIE LAURIE:

Two years ago a girl friend of mine insisted on not talking to me any more. The reason why I will learned later, was because I said something which any boy would tell a girl, but she didn't like it. So please advise me how to gain this girl's friendship back. I thank you. "SHOKY."

SHOKY: Evidently you displeased the young lady with your remark, and I think the best thing for you to do is to apologize and then show her your sincerity in your future actions.

Dear ANNIE LAURIE:

I have a boy friend two years my senior. I care a lot for him and he also seems to care a lot for me.

But he goes with other girls against my objection. I ask you likewise me whether I should keep company with him. HEARTBROKEN MABEL.

HEART-BROKEN MABEL: You have no right in attempting to limit the young man's friendships, Mabel. You are not engaged to him, therefore he, as well as yourself, is privileged to have as many friends as you both may choose and go out with whom ever you may.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE.

I have been going with a young man one year my senior and am in my early twenties. We went together for some time, until I told him one night I didn't want to see him again, as we didn't get along." Now I am sorry for what I have said and done and would like to have you advise me what to do, as I see him every day now and then. We both belong to each other as though nothing ever happened. He is the nicest young man I have ever gone with and I would like to have you tell me how to regain his friendship. We always had good times together and had a few friendly quarrels and got over all but this last one.

LONESOME.

LONESOME: The only thing I see for you to do is to tell the young man how foolish you were and that you really didn't mean what you said. Then, if he realizes your sincerity, the rest is up to him.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Although the baby is warm and thirsty after his sun bath, cold water is apt to cause a shock. Sponge him in lukewarm water and give him a drink of moderately warm water when he is brought into the house to make him comfortable.

Frau Lina Radke of Germany, outran eight rivals, including the Canadian representatives, Jean Thompson, of Penetang, to win the women's 800 metre race at the Olympic games in the world's records time of 2.16 4-5, that marriage is going to be all honey and roses and moonlight."

Irma got to her feet.

"I guess I'm a beast to trouble you with all this, when you're really still ill." She paused in the doorway. "You need a change. Why don't you and Steve take the trip to South Africa together. I'll stay on in New York and keep flat out at studies."

She laughed at Marguerite's look of horror.

"Don't take it to heart, child. I was only joking.....So long. I'm off to a much-needed beauty session."

When Hal came home he found Marguerite, paler than ever, sitting before a window in the drawing-room. The heat had already begun, and the noises of the city drifted into the room.

"Feeling better?" he asked careless-ly.

"Not very much better," she admitted.

"Too bad. I'd hoped you were up to a theatre tonight. There's a premiere on, and Lydia's got a box. She's in-vited—"

"You go!" Marguerite urged. "Don't stay at home on my account."

"But it wouldn't take much effort, just to sit in a comfortable chair and be amused—"

"I haven't the strength to dress:.... really."

She frowned. "Mind if I ask Irma. Otherwise, we'll be an uneven number for supper afterward."

"Oh do. I think she'd love it."

"And, in that case, Brockton can come down and entertain you," he remarked.

She made no reply. Her heart seemed quite numb. Nothing really mattered any more, she thought.

She wondered how much more of this sort of life she could stand. Something told her that a crisis was near at hand.

Forkera

As the days passed, Marguerite became thinner and more and more listless. Her mother was honestly concerned when the girl came to the pier to say good-bye to the globe-trotters. But her excitement over the impending voyage made her eager to accept Marguerite's assurance that she would be all right as soon as summer came and she could be out of doors most of the day.

Mrs. Reynolds was not quite so sanguine. She drew her daughter-in-law aside.

"I've an idea that my son's not behaving himself," she said crisply. "Is he making you unhappy?"

"He's very considerate,.... under the circumstances," said Marguerite, in a voice that would have made an im-patient gesture.

"I never did approve of this marriage. I think my husband and your father are fools. The idea of sixteen-year-olds to play Destiny for two children in this day and age!"

Marguerite sighed. "It's all worked out for the best, perhaps."

"For us.....yes. And for Hal, too I believe. But what about you, Marguerite. I blame myself a lot tax-through the grounds, but it seemed ing a hand in the affair, but I always-too absurd a request for the daughter-in-lusted to meddle. of the house to make, so, after a

SINCLAIR'S

Wilful Wives
By MILDRED BARBOUR

CHAPTER 21

A Flippant Suggestion

Marguerite laughed at Irma's air of tragedy, but she was genuinely concerned.

"What has Steve done?"

Irma pushed her hair from her forehead with a frantic gesture.

"Be thankful that you have a husband with some sense. Steve, if you please, has announced that he means to go to South Africa—South Africa, mind you, where summer is just coming on—and he expects me to accompany him."

"It sounds like a wonderful trip," remarked Marguerite mildly."

Irma collapsed in her chair. "Oh, my!.....My child, you don't know me. I'm simply a wreck on the sea. My permanent comes out a minute in a salt breeze strikes it, and I suffer terribly from mal de mer."

"They say that doesn't last long," Marguerite comforted her. "You'd be splendid, after it passed. And think of the romance of going to Africa. I wish," she sighed wistfully, "that I had your chance."

"Take it," snapped Irma. "I wish to Heaven you would.....No, I simply can't and won't do it. And that's that.

"But think of the interesting people you'd meet."

"People I'd meet.....with Steve. A fine chance I'd have to know any one worth while. Steve takes all the life out of every party. To simply be a nonentity, tied to a husband who sits nose buried in a book. People: Richard don't bother with dull cuss."

Marguerite sighed. "It's a pity, Irma. It's funny, isn't it? The people who can have the things that other people would give their souls for so rarely want them!"

"Well, anybody can have my chance and welcome,.... No, I shan't sit a step. I like my New York too well."

"But, Irma, you're Steve's wife."

"I didn't marry Steve to make a slave of myself."

Marguerite smiled.

"You can't let him go off alone."

"Oh, can't I" mocked Irma. "Just watch me. We had a row about it last night. He wouldn't accept my refusal as final. I told him to choose between his business and me. We aren't speaking this morning."

"Oh, I'm sorry,.... But you'll forgive him, Irma. He loves you very much."

"If he really loved me, he'd try to do the things I like. He wouldn't always be a wet blanket."

"But it's difficult to change one's taste," protested Marguerite. "Look at me, for example. I used to know what a bash I made of the whole affair."

"It's different with you. You and Hal don't really give a rap for each other. Oh, I know it very well. But Steve and I really love each other. Perfect to find happiness in marriage and we've found only.....infinite boredom."

"Only boredom?"

Irma made an impatient gesture.

"Oh I don't know. It's all so complicated. Sometimes, I think I want to have Steve. Sometimes, I think he wants to save me. At other times, I'm actually jealous when he seems interested in another woman. At still other times, I'd give my soul, if he really would be, and leave me to my own devices."

Marguerite reached over and patted Irma's hand.

"You've tired and overwrought this morning. You and Hal danced last night, and, if you had a scene with Steve, you can't have slept much. Try to rest a little, and things will seem different."

"Do things seem different to you, just because you've slept a little?" demanded Irma irritably.

Marguerite had to admit that they didn't.

"Well, then, don't give advice about something you know nothing of. You have a simple nature, Marguerite. You're not complex, like me. I don't believe you have the capacity for real feeling, as I have."

Marguerite stared up at the ceiling.

"I can be very sad."

"Who can't, when they're married?" was the flippant retort.

"What fools we women are to think that we can make a success of life!"

Mrs. Glover was tearful as the last moment.

"I never realized what it would mean to have my baby and my country," she faltered, dabbing at her eyes.

"How, Mother, there, there," Glover consoled her. "You'll be all right, once we're out to sea. And you mustn't worry about Marguerite. She'll be a good girl, and she doesn't needs us, now she has Hal."

Marguerite turned her head sharply, lest they should see her trembling lips. She had never felt so utterly alone. She wanted to crawl off in a dark corner somewhere and cry her eyes out.

She watched it out of sight; watched it until the workmen about the dock began to stare at her curiously. She lingered on, partly because it seemed to her that the last link that bound her to her happy childhood was being slowly severed, partly because she had nothing else to do. Hal didn't need her. Irma Brockton was at a smart luncheon-party at a Westchester club. Lydia Converse would be just tiring and would be in no mood to receive callers.....That constituted her world.

She drifted across the west side through the district of the docks, pausing for way over the dusky cobbles. Finally she took a taxi home, where she lunched alone.

"She don't seem enough to keep a bird alive," was the cook's comment, and the dishes were returned barely touched.

"And him, he likes his food all right," remarked the maid.

"Well, I'll bet he don't never say so. And it's her that orders it for him."

I'd let him have a taste of the stuff that Brockton woman hands her husband," sniffed Jane. "And I talked to her cook many a time, and she says the madam never thinks about nothing but her appearance and bridge."

In the afternoon, restless and lonely and unhappy, Marguerite took a train to Long Island, descended at the once-familiar station, and walked the short distance to the Glover estate. It was leased for the season, the secret of Glover's success being never to overlook an opportunity to turn a penny.

Marguerite looked wistfully through the gateway. She wished that she had the courage to ask the new occupants to permit her to wander through the grounds, but it seemed

"A Ranabout Dress for Idly Days"

One simple ranabout model of navy jersey is washable crepe in smart and practical version of the everpopular one-piece style. The fulness that is always desired in a dress of this type is cleverly concentrated at the left of the skirt in inverted plaits. These are put in about the belt-line, but for the sake of slenderness are stitched in a point below. The new left-sided line is further carried out in an interesting notched collar, ending in an embroidered tie. Made in the manner illustrated above, this frock is extremely smart for informal morning wear. Fashioned of linen, crepe or flannel, without sleeves, it is an excellent costume for inside or outside service sports.

Pattern No. 2 (Misses' and Small Women's) requires 3 yards of 36-inch material. Price 15 cents.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Lydia Converse, cool and immaculate, was seated in a chair. She was looking up at Hal, who stood beside her.

"Sent you want to kiss me?" Lydia was saying softly. "You know you've been dying to ever since your marriage with that little simpleton."

Hinds turbans fashioned of thin furs are being shown in Paris.

Newest sleeves concentrate fulness between the wrist and the elbow.

The newest hat shape employs a brim shaded in a long low line at one side of the face, while at the other it resolves into a shallow shortened effect, while this treatment is combined with a round, fitted crown.

Angora sweaters, especially in soft tones of yellow are being much seen in Paris, where one hand-make sweater has a number of polka dots in gold metal thread as its only trimming, and it all worn with a plain yellow crepe de chine skirt in broad plaits.

Ribbons, emblems offack, are the newest head-ornaments. At Deauville, Le'Touquet and Biarritz, where they are now the latest to the "beach" evas of folded white crepe either of diamonds, pearls of ivory.

WHAT'S NEW

For colors, Paris holds fairly faithfully just now to the standard lingeric shades, all the pinks, white, lisle grege, oatmeal and a new shade, turquoise blue.

Every shade of purple will be in demand for autumn beginning with royal purple and running through the violets, mauve, orchid and lavender coats.

ROMANTIC TRIP OF THE MARION

Boston, Mass.—Lonely islands and mysterious uncharted seas have called a little 125-foot craft and a score of men away on a mission of adventure in Greenland and Labrador waters.

The Marion Expedition, named for the U. S. S. Marion," is now farther northward in that little vessel, seeking knowledge in the interest of science and humanity. It is sent by the United States Coast Guard.

The adventurers expect to see a 32-foot tide racing at seven knots between the forbidding headlands of Hudson Strait. They will cruise over and spend out ocean depths where 50,000 square miles of ice-bottom is uncharted, where the trough drops down three miles, where ships have mysteriously disappeared, possibly on jagged, unknown reefs.

They hope to see icebergs falling with thunderous roar from Greenland glaciers. They may sail through seeming field ice. They hope to solve the mystery of the open water of Baffin Bay and to learn about the warm current that makes habitable the west coast of Greenland. They may happen upon new fishing banks of Salmsarah and family of Hamilton are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Lane.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jaby and family spent last week-end in Waterloo, N. Y., where they were visiting relatives. They made the trip by motor, going by way of Cleveland.

Mr. and Mrs. Laurie Bradshaw and family have gone to Rochester, N. Y., where they are visiting with friends.

Mrs. W. J. Armstrong add son are visiting in Rochester, N. Y.

Gerard, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Gilhuly, died in the Belleville General Hospital last night He was operated on for appendicitis on August 12th but never rallied after the operation. We wish to express our sympathy to the bereaved parents.

CANNIFTON

Mrs. Mather and daughter, Mary, have returned home from Brighton, where they were visiting.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Gilbert, of Carrying Place spent Sunday at Mr. A. Black's Miss Doris Williams is visiting Miss Cowain at Moira Lake.

Mr. James Reid hurt his hand badly on a rusty nail.

Mr. Arthur Demille is in Belleville hospital for treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. R. R Way, are on the sick list.

Superintendent Gibson: (2) the crew unloading the mail; (3) the mail car; (4) the mail car crew leaving the station.

of broad economic importance.

Their prutiky object, however, will be study of the icebergs. The expedition, headed by Lieut. Commander Edward H. Smith, hopes to reveal for the first time the uncharted and shrouded paths these white monsters follow from the time they break away from Greenland glaciers until they appear in the fogs of the Grand Banks.

Every 25 miles thermometers available of sustaining ten ton of pressure will be lowered on cables to various depths. Simultaneously special bottles will capture samples of water for analysis. Samples of mud and ooze will be taken from the bottom thousands of feet under water, which may reveal geologic secrets hidden for ages.

Two simple but all-important factors, temperature and salinity of the water at various depths, studied during the 4,000-mile cruise between Labrador and Greenland, will form the basis of current maps of the entire region. These will tell the whole story of the drift of icebergs toward the shipping lanes. Lieut. N. C. Ricketts, second in command, and the Lieut. Commander Smith an oceanographer will co-operate in this work.

Among the incidental results of the expedition may be a solution of an ages-old mystery. Even in coldest winters air area in Baffin Bay has remained free of ice and thus gained the name of North Water." Common belief attributes this condition to a branch of the Gulf Stream which, thousands of miles away, is supposed to dive beneath the surface of the North Atlantic to emerge in Baffin Bay. Temperature readings may definitely reveal whether or not such a current creeps along the Labrador West coast of Cumberland toward Baffin Bay.

The fishermen, a new invention, may reveal new fishing banks. And should such conditions be reported as favorable and worthy of commercial enterprise, distant regions may be attered by the opening of summer ports on the southern shores of Hudson Strait.

Lieut. Commander Smith expects to be back in Boston early in September.

FRASER RIVER IS AGAIN PROSPECTED

Vancouver, B. C.—(C.P.) — After more than half a century of neglect, the old gold-bearing bars of the Fraser River are being extensively prospected again and mining men predict a new era of industrial development on this famous mineral-rich stream.

Not since the early 'sixties has the Fraser been prospected so thoroughly as now. Although it has been much more accessible to the prospector than many of the places that have been searched more actively for gold and platinum, other more recent sections have grown more popular on account of their being less known and, therefore, regarded as mostly likely to reveal spectacular values. Now, however, the gold-mining horde is returning to the Fraser, not in a stampede, as in former days, but in a steady, assembly.

The old-timers believed that the gold originated in the head-waters of the Fraser and it was this belief that lured them northward into the Cariboo country. It is now generally conceded that the source of most of the gold in the waters of the lower Fraser is the slates of the Anderson River.

Imagine another winner from Joseph M. Schenck, the man whose fingers are over on the public's entertainment pulse!

Imagine Noah Beery as the meanest and Gilbert Roland as the romantic lead, each supreme in his own field.

Imagine the David Belasco-Wallace Black drama, the play that made records wherever it was shocked, on your screen!

If you can imagine all these—you have "The Devil"—Miss Talmadge's first for United Artists! At the Belle today.

GREAT GAME IS PROMISED FANS HERE WEDNESDAY

Gibson And Dainty Opposing Pitchers For Play-Offs.

Belleville Baseball Club is preparing for the largest attendance of the present season on Wednesday when the Nationals hook up with the Oshawa team here in the first game of the play offs. Belleville have lead the League for the past six weeks and they should win the series. The Oshawa Club boys been right on their heels and will provide plenty of opposition. The Vets lead by Walter Gerow have been the class of the League and, while pressed in the early stages by the end of July they had the group cinched. Their record this season is one to be marvelled at and they are regarded as the best balanced Club to represent the city in the O. B. L. since its inception.

Fans will see no faster brand of ball anywhere than is played in this league and with Oshawa and Belleville, two evenly-matched teams, a good series is sure to result. Dainty will likely twirl for Oshawa with Gibson doing the flinging for the Nats. Any time these two have met, this year, a pitchers' battle has been the result.

Walter Gerow will have his full lineup for Wednesday and the Motors will bring their best players here in an attempt to take the first game in Belleville. The two teams will play here on Oshawa on Saturday providing the baseball officials can persuade the Motor team to make the trip. Manager Bobo Sheppard and Burridge of Toronto will probably be the officials. Belleville has firmly established the lead up through to the Ontario finals and they should lend their moral support to the boys. The diamond is in perfect shape and with Neal weather it will be the big classic of the current season. The game will start at three o'clock instead of three-fifteen.

BEAVERS LOST TO OSHAWA TEAM

Locals Beaten In Game Played In Motor City Saturday

Belleville Beavers lost a slug-fest to the Oshawa Chevrolet aates on Saturday evening at Oshawa when they went down before a 15-3-24 score. Vehicle clouting on the part of both teams featured the game and loan pitchers were pounded unmercifully. The lefty was scored free in their ball of the captain to the things up but the home crowd pushed over a lone run to clinch the verdict. Mollie Gray pitched for five innings and Doolittle was relieved by Doolittle but the latter was ineffective and Mike Gray went back to the hillock again. Gray had one strike-out and six walks while Doolittle had one strike-out and issued but one pass. Cringle hurled for Oshawa, and the Beavers collected eighteen hits off her delivery but the Chevs banged out twenty-three safeties. Beavers had six errors chalked up against them all of which were costly. Gray was not in her usual form while errors by Olsbo Tuttle and Mollie Gray helped the way for several runs. Miss Blair was the best with the hickory for Oshawa she having poled out three doubles in seven times to bat. M. Elliott, Oshawa's second baseman made a great one-handed catch on a hard hit by Gray. Miss Walker made a nice running catch of Gladys Knott's clout. It was ball baseball all the way and although they had six errors the Beavers should have won the game. Strange to say the crowd was with the Belleville team.

Score by innings.

Oshawa	1	0	0	3	2	8	0	1	— 25

Beavers — Cook, O'Gill, Kelleher, Gray, Thrasher, Knott, Melchior, Tuttle, Gibbs, Doolittle.

Oshawa—Gould, A. Cringle, Holmes, M. Elliott, E. Elliott, V. Fulton, B. Blair, A. Wilbur, M. Corbiere.

BAY OF QUINTE BASEBALL FINALS

Ciacos Ready For Hard-Hitting Point Anne Crew

At 4.30 to-day at the local Fair Grounds the Ciacos hard-ball team will meet their ancient foes, the Point Anne Cement boys in the third and deciding game for the Bay of Quinte championship in the Industrial League. The Point Anne team won the first game at Corbyville's new diamond while the Ciacos were not to be downed so easily and captured the next game played at the Point Anne ball yard. The two are even Stephen on the series and to-day's game will be a battle for blood. The last meeting between the two was marked by exciting plays and plenty of hitting and fans who desire to witness real ball ball should not pass up this encounter. The Ciacos will use either Ralph Daly who recently defeated his rivals or Art Pitchell. Either of these boys can twirl a good game of ball.

Bill Strachan has had rare steed success against the Ciacos and may be given the assignment by Manager Bob Radzer. On the other hand Frank Fennell is not the worst pitcher in the league by a long way and he may be given the task of subduing the Henry-Boyle coached team. It is bound to be a great game and with the interest running high fans should go out in full force. Ken and Cleo Colling will likely officiate.

PETERBORO JUNIORS EKE OUT WIN OVER KINGSTON VICTORIAS HERE

Clout To Left Field In 10th Frame Clinched Game

In one of the fastest games played on the local ball diamond this season the Peterboro Royals eliminated the Kingston Victorias in the first round of the play-downs for the Junior O.B.A.A. title on Saturday afternoon by a score of 4-3. The teams were tied on the round and Saturday's game was a battle every inch of the way. The Royals have Gordon, hard-hitting first-baseman, to thank for the victory, he having broken the ice which had existed up until the tenth inning by slashing out a long drive to deep left field to score Hartley from second base who had been a walk. It was a smart game and developed into somewhat of a pitchers' battle between Holmes, elongated right hander for the Peats, and Donnelly wiry little southpaw of the Kingston team. There was little to choose between the two pitchers both of them having a decided advantage in the matter of strike-outs, he having chalked nine batters to whiff the breeze while Donnelly sent but two men back to the bench via the strike-out route. Donnelly allowed but nine hits while his opponent gave ten safe blows. Donnelly walked three while Holmes issued one free pass. The game was featured by air-tight work on the part of both Clubs and the pitchers were given fine support. It remained for L. Hollingsworth to provide the best play of the day when he went back to make a leaping catch of Gibson's long hoist which was labelled for three bases in the tenth frame. Quinn at second-base accepted six chances without making a mistake and he handled some difficult drives well. Conley, third baseman for the Kingston team, was the big slugger of the afternoon and he tied the game up for his team in the eighth inning when he drove out a three-base hit to score Gibson and Pennock who had scored ahead of him. The battle was marked by extra base hitting the Royals having no less than five doubles.

SPORTOGRAMS

It won't be long now! No Sir on Wednesday afternoon, the Belleville ball park will be the scene of the opening of the series games for the Central league championship. The Oshawa team have visions of a C. O. D. L. flag but the Nationals should take them in two straight games.

While the umpires have not been announced it is learned that Babe Sheppard, Ozzie Hett and Burridge of Toronto, are the trio on whom the League officials have their eye. Hett is tied up in Western Ontario and Sheppard and Burridge may get the call.

Wednesday's game will start at three o'clock, fifteen minutes earlier than usual. The reserved seats will not be good for this game and fans are advised to get theirs at Charlie Symons.

Walter Gerow has not announced his pitching selection but ten to one it will be "Hoot" Gibson. Dainty will probably be Manager Walter Schultz' choice.

Saturday's Junior game here between Kingston and Peterboro was a battle royal and few better games have been witnessed on the local lot this year. It is a shame that Belleville has no Junior Baseball.

There were at least five players who took part in this game who will be ready for Senior Company next year. "Tommy" Davis as coach of the Victorias fielded a right smart team.

President McFadden, of Peterboro was among those present on Saturday. Mr. McFadden is a great baseball fan and misses few games. He will be here on Wednesday for the play-offs. As well as being a rabid fan he is a capable Executive and the Central League has enjoyed one of its most successful season under his guidance.

"Bob" E. Elliott local O. B. A. representative of Deloro was here for Saturday's Junior game. It is doubtful if Deloro will be a starter in Senior Company next year.

The winner of the Central Ontario league will clash with the champions of Toronto Industrial League. These Industrial teams have been playing grand ball.

Lionel Harper who cavorted around short-stop last year for the Nationals is a member of the St. George's team and recently was picked for an all-star team. Harper is rated as one of the leadin' first-basemen in Toronto.

He did not have a chance to show his real ability here as he was fa short-stop.

The Nationals certainly were no hitting in the Deloro game and unless they get down to business in the practice rustges they may carry their slump into the play offs.

Woods

We still contend that "Inky" Woods is one of the best pitchers in the Central Ontario League and when he can limit the Belleville team to three hits he completed a real afternoon's work.

Woods —Oshawa Times.

Worked on the section gang near Peterboro last Spring to prepare himself for the summer's campaign. He has certainly improved since last year.

The first game will be next Wednesday, the 22nd, in Belleville at 3.15. The return date has not been set. It was proposed to play here the following Saturday but Mr. Simons senior lacrosse team will be here on that date.

The Central League meeting after the game was the last chance for Peterboro, "Josh" Craig, acting for his club proposed that all the Kingston games be thrown out and not be recognized since the beginning of the season. He would think of that! The vote was against him however and Kingston's remaining games counted as wins for the opposition.

The other games scheduled for the league have been cancelled, Oshawa will not make a trip to Peterboro and Deloro and Peterboro will not go to Deloro. This agreement was reached after various arguments went the gates that would not materialize but everything was satisfactorily arranged after dinner and cigars and con.

The league officials were not only peeved at Kingston for dropping out but even peeved for the trouble not giving any reason officially. Their retirement from the league was officially recognized last night. —Oshawa Times.

AEROPLANES TO BE THE WEAPON

Against The Forces of Nature In a Great Exploration

New York, N. Y., Aug.—Down to the dead land that towers above the bottom of the world three bands of explorers sail in the next few months to pit the aeroplane against the defences of nature's most formidable stronghold—Antarctica.

Whether aircraft that can carry men across the oceans, across the Arctic wastes, even to the Northi Pole, will surmount the barriers of gale and storm, ice and mountain, that have kept the south polar continent a land of mystery will soon be determined by Commander Richard E. Byrd, Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Commander Douglas George Jeffery, Royal Navy, retired, and their respective parties. Aviators have great faith in the modern plane, but they know that this task is the hardest ever assigned to it. Antarctic weather is the worst in the world.

The Byrd expedition starts on its $500,000 venture about the middle of August. Most of the 83 men and virtually all of the elaborate equipment will travel to Dunedin, New Zealand, aboard the barkentine Samson, although the commander himself plans to leave about a month later. From New Zealand the explorers will steam across the southern ocean to the Bay of Whales, a threshold to Antarctica on the Ross Sea ice barrier, there to establish the base of operations. They hope to reach this point by January 1, summertime in the Antarctic.

The Wilkins expedition, smaller than Byrd's, plans to leave a California port in October, proceeding first to Panama, where it will board a whaler for the long voyage to the Ross Sea, where it, too, will start work. A whaling vessel will bring the little party north when its work is over.

Jeffery, a veteran of the last Shackleton expedition to Antarctica, sails south from New York in September, expecting to return in May. He is chartering a ship.

Something more than a spirit of adventure, more than a dirc to give the aeroplane another strenous workout, is sending these pioneers into the most inhospitable region on the globe. The vast south polar continent, nearly as large as the United States and the mainland of Canada together, is the last great geographical challenger to science. Buried under a colossal ice cap, it has given only fragmentary interviews to the geologist, meteorologist oceanographer, palecntologist, biologist and the other biographers of the planet Earth.

Now, however, science is taking to the air, and given a good look at its representatives with the forthcoming expeditions should see and learn more about the Antarctic in a few days than the men of sledging days saw and learned in months.

The persistent efforts of explorers since the time of the famous Captain Cook have piled up a great information about this frozen land that even today consists of its outline must be drawn by guess. Parts of the coast and their immediate hinterlands have been explored from the sea only and have yielded valuable data, but the narrow accounts of the fair interior seen by Amundsen, Scott and Shackleton are the old recorded glimpses of the continent's heart.

There Antarctic lies, surrounded and covered by vast huge White dome with the South Pole near its center, perched on a plateau nearly two miles high, and the remainder is "a 5,000,000 square miles tapering to the Atlantic, the Pacific and Indian oceans."

The ice-cap is believed to extend down to the sea at nearly all points. It terminates generally in towering, unscalable ice cliffs from which break huge bergs, covering the ocean with white mountains and closely packed ice that hold ships at bay.

Parts of the coast are more accessible than others, and it is from two such points that the three expeditions purpose to operate. A glance at the may shows two great indentations, or gulfs—one, Ross Sea, opposite New Zealand; the other, Weddell Sea, across from South America.

The Byrd and Wilkins parties plan to launch their aerial assaults on the interior from Ross Sea or rather from the ice barrier that chokes more than half of that ocean area. It was from this barrier that Amundsen and Scott started on their trips to the pole. Jeffery expects to attack from the shore of Weddell Sea, and will therefore be across the continent from the other two leaders.

The three zones of flight, as mapped in advance, will hardly overlap, if at all. Byrd plans to fly eastward over what is called King Edward VII Land; in addition, of course, he will attempt a flight to the South Pole, which Amundsen and Scott reached after laborious sledge journeys.

Sir Hubert proposes an eastward flight across the unmapped, unseen coast between Ross Sea and Graham's Land, the western boundary of Weddell Sea. He does not contemplate a hop to the pole.

Jeffery's effort will start from a base on the west coast of Graham's Land. He plans to do his exploring eastward to Coat's Land, which lies on the other side of Weddell Sea. He may also try a trip to the Pole and across the continent to Ross Sea.

NO TRACE OF TWO MAIL CAR ROBBERS

Epidemic of Accidents Here, None of Victims Seriously Injured

POLICE SCOURING WOODED AREAS FOR MAIL THUGS

Report Finding of Bonds Near Parry Sound Yesterday

LATEST THEORY

Posse Armed To The Teeth Conduct Intensive Search

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 20.—Reinforced by additional men and armed to the teeth, provincial police continue to search for the bandit or bandits at large in the rough country near Waubamick, who took part in the mail robbery on the C.P.R. transcontinental train near here early Saturday morning. John Burwash, a pole, is held by the police in connection with the robbery and the murder of Thomas Jackson, who was shot when the robbers were cornered after the stolen car in which they fled from city went into the ditch.

Several theories are held by the police who now think that the robbery was engineered by only two men. It is thought possible that the men parted when the car went into the ditch after the dispute as to which route should be taken.

Claude and Allen Jackson, sons of the slain man are among the most assiduous searchers.

Report Finding Bonds

Toronto, Aug. 20.—A special despatch to the Toronto Star from Parry Sound this afternoon says that the bonds stolen by the bandits who robbed mails on the Canadian Pacific transcontinental train early Saturday morning have been found near Parry Sound. It is understood the bonds were found yesterday but no statement has been made by officials in charge of the search for the bandits.

Port Hope, Ont. Aug. 20 — Mrs. S Dunn and Miss Jean Nicholl of Peterboro are in the hospital here suffering from injuries received when their car turned turtle on the provincial high way two miles west of Welcome at six o'clock Sunday morning. The tire came off one of the rear wheels of the auto Mrs. Dunn is suffering grave from shock and many minor cuts and bruises. Miss Nokes is severely cut about the knee and elbows. Mrs. Nokes is suffering severly from shock and A. M. Nokes, who was driving and W. Cross also of Peterboro, escaped injuries. The car was badly smashed.

ROTARIANS HEAR ALD. A. B. COLLINS

Quotes Interesting Figures Outlining Canada's Immigration Problem

Alderman A. B. Collins gave the Rotarians some interesting statistics on Canada today and while the figures were not new, the manner of presentation was designed to increase the pride of Canadians in their own country. He particularly stressed the value to Canada of our native born population and urged the necessity of providing opportunities for our young people at home.

Dealing with the problem of immigration Mr. Collins stressed the fact that it was quality, not quantity we were after, and urged that the bulk of our population be confined to the Anglo Saxon nations who fitted naturally with our ideals of citizenship.

Two new members were introduced to the Club, Mr. Geo. N. Stokes, Superintendent of the C.N.R., and Mr. "Mac." MacMillan of the Canadian Dept. Stores. In welcoming these new members to the Club President Mac. Robertson said that he hoped that these new citizens would be strong additions to the Club roster.

POLITICIAN PASSES.

Mr. Justice Roy

One of Canada's outstanding jurist and prominent figure in the political field, Mr. Justice Ernest Roy Judge of the superior court, died on Aug. 18, St. Michael's Hospital where he was spending his vacation in his 67th year. He has travelled extensively in Canada, and his passing will be much regretted by friend throughout the Dominion.

K. VIVIAN HAS HIS CAR STOLEN

When Ken Vivian, proprietor of the Shannonville Garage left his car at the ferry docks in Kingston last Saturday, and went on the boat trip through the Thousand Islands, he little thought that thieves were about, but such proved to the case. Returning on Sunday from a very enjoyable trip, he discovered that his automobile had disappeared during the night.

The Kingston police were notified, and asked Belleville and other western towns to be on the lookout for the car which bears license numbers, 356,917 and is a 1923 Chevrolet Coupe, painted black, and carrying two spare tires. The lights on the car at the time were very d mand anyone seeing a car answering this description should get in touch with the police immediately.

BUSH FIRES RAGE IN CALIFORNIA

San Francisco, Calif., Aug. 20.—Forest and brush areas in widely separated parts of the West were ablaze again today, two large fire being practically out of control and others were threatening to jump hastily made fire-guards. Strong winds and dry weather en cancel the menace.

California's largest fire, at Cajon Pass in San Barnardino Mountains leaped the National Old Trails Highways, stopping traffic and today was burning before a brisk wind.

THREE CHILDREN STRUCK BY CARS OVER WEEK-END

In Every Case Driver Was Proceeding At Moderate Rate

NONE SERIOUSLY

Parents Urged To Keep Children Off Heavily-Travelled Roads

Three children were the victims of automobile accidents in Belleville and vicinity yesterday but fortunately none were seriously injured. Due to the heavy traffic which is passing over practically every highway at this period, great precaution has to be used to keep the children as much as possible off the streets and parents are the ones who should shoulder most of the responsibility in this respect. In each of yesterday's accidents the driver of the car was proceeding at a fairly slow rate of speed, and in only one case were the brakes at all fault.

L. M. Parks, of Trenton, well known insurance man, struck a son of Albert Brown, about one mile east of Trenton yesterday afternoon and cut two cords in his shin, reg. Mr. Parks was travelling at the time, at an exceptionally low rate of speed, according to eye-witnesses, and after the Provincial Police had investig..ed he was allowed to go as it was plainly seen that was not at fault.

At four o'clock another child about eight years of age was struck by a lady in a light coupe at the Ontario School for the Deaf. This was at the time when cars were streaming from the services at the Cemetery back to the city and traffic was heavily congested. No car in the line was going faster than 15 miles an hour, when the little lad darted out in front of the coupe. Although his mouth and face were cut, none of these were deep, and his condition is not serious. The driver also attended the boy, who was brought to the city by Mr. William Henley, of Picton.

Russell Glass, of Latta, P. O., struck a child on the Canadian Road, south of Canniton yesterday afternoon, but the little girl was not seriously injured. Glass reported to assist the police, who was not successful in missing her entirely, but hit her a glancing blow. The brakes were tested and found to be faulty.

FELL FROM TRAIN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 20.—Anthony Pickolas of Pella, a member of a local fishing club which had chartered a special car last week for a fishing trip to Ontario was killed Saturday night when the car was returning to Pittsburgh, it is believed. The party left Perth and on arriving at Toronto, Pickolas was missed but no alarm was felt until railroad officials reported that the body of a man had been found along the right of way outside of Perth. A check-up to determine the man's exact identity was not made known.

BUFFALO ORDERLY BRUTALLY ATTACKED

Buffalo, Aug. 20—Louis Ehrlagh, 24, employed at the United States Arsenal in Pittsburgh here is in a critical condition as the result of a beating he received at the hands of a wealthy Fort Worth, Texas, family, was badly wounded early today while returning by boat from Crystal Beach, Ont. He was attacked by a young man with a knife and seriously slashed about the neck and temple.

SHOT PATROLMAN

Four Men Kill Policeman In Cold Blood on N. Y. Street

New York, Aug. 20.—Gangsters of Manhattan's lower east side today were believed to have used a pistol with a silencer to shoot a policeman because of his activities against them.

Witnesses said they heard a sharp "ping" when four men drove up in an automobile beside the patrolman George M. Egan and he fell dead.

CHASE ENDS IN COURT SUMMONS

Percy Ray Failed In Attempt To Evade Police

Percy Ray, of Holloway yesterday tried to play hide and seek with another motorist on the Trent Highway cutting in very playfully and almost sent the other car into the ditch. Percy found that he had gone a little cutting in on an officer of the law, however, in the person of Provincial Officer David Sylvester, he was not nearly as playful.

Twice the Provincial Police caught up to Ray, who was driving a Chevrolet Coach, but when the officer stepped him he stepped on the gas and sped away. At last as the two cars were in full career at the Devil's Elbow, Percy decided it was time to give this persistent playmate the slip, so turned suddenly up a side street. It was unfortunate for him as this side street happened to be a blind street, and when he got to the end he had to give up the chase. Hewas arrested and will be charged with reckless driving.

WAS BROTHER OF LOCAL MEMBER

M. P. Tummon Informed Police of Parry Sound Robbery

Mr. M. P. Tummon who was a mail Clerk on Canadian Pacific train No. 6, which was looted by robbers early Saturday morning near Parry Sound, is brother of Mr. W. E. Tummon M.P., representing the constituency of Ottawa. Mr. M.-P. Tammon was not in the car when the bandits ransacked it but he was entering the car as the thugs beat a hasty retreat out of the door. Mr. Tummon sensed that something was wrong and immediately informed the police of the occurrence. Mr. Tummon is a popular clerk on this train and runs from Toronto to Parry Sound. He boards the train at Parry Sound but does not run as far as Romford where the bandits made their entry. Speaking with Mr. W. E. Tummon today the Intelligencer was told that in conversation with his brother the latter stated he was uninjured and no shots were fired in his direction by the fleeing thugs.

COURT CASE MAY FOLLOW CRASH NEAR STIRLING

Woman Suffers From Shock In Highway Accident Yesterday

RESTING EASIER

Injured Parties Were Removed To Kingston General Hospital

Provincial Police from this city last night investigated an accident about four miles north of Stirling on the Campbellford Road, where a car driven by Charles Hale of Campbellford had crashed into another car driven by a man named McKeown, also of Campbellford. McKeown had his head rather badly cut, but today is resting much easier. Some arrests may follow. Both cars were damaged.

About 8.30 on Friday morning, a Dodge sedan driven by John Cleary of Toronto, and having as passengers his mother and sister, also of Toronto, swerved into the ditch when about two and a half miles from Napanee. The car which was travelling about thirty miles an hour is a complete wreck, and Mr. Cleary who was hurt the worst, is now in the Napanee General Hospital, having received a deep gash on the head as well as minor cuts.

Miss A. E. Cleary, the sister, received only a few bruises and slight cuts and is able to be out and around, but the mother, who was in a street car accident in Toronto about a month ago and is just recovering is extremely nervous and suffered greatly from shock. K. T. O. Ryles of Napanee investigated the accident and was instrumental in having the injured people look after by farmers until they could be removed to the Hospital.

PREMIER 28 VICTORIOUS

Athens, Greece, Aug. 20.—Followers of Premier Venizelos were victorious in yesterday's parliamentary elections. It is probable that they will occupy 170 of the 250 seats in the Chamber of Deputies. Both Venizelos and his son were elected.

PARTY ANXIOUS TO GO TO WORK

British Harvesters Surprised With Canada's Development

Winnipeg, Aug 20—Overwhelmed by the tremendous extent and development of Canada's west, one of their number expressed it, a party of 226 Pioneers will take place from the thousands now on their way to Canada arrived in Winnipeg last night. Following a short rest, they were paid $10 in accordance with agreement under which they volunteered for work in the harvest fields. They were paid $10 in accordance with agreement under which they volunteered for work in the harvest fields. They were then sent on the outgoing trains to the various points in the prairie provinces where they will shortly receive their initiation into the Canadian farm life.

The general willingness to accept any kind of work that is offered during the first year and almost the equally general intention to seek work in their respective trades as soon as the harvest is over was expressed by members of the party. The number intimated, however, that they would like to "try their hand at this farming game."

Spouse Successfully Pleads Case On Behalf of Her Hubby

James and Margaret Wilson Frink, St. have not enjoyed the happiest of married life, but when James appeared in police court this morning he pleaded with failing to provide the necessities of life for his wife and family she pleaded with the Court to give him one more chance, as he had promised that he would do better.

When asked by the Court why he failed to supply these necessities, Mrs. Wilson, who had laid the charge declared that he didn't drink, didn't spend it on other women, but his only vice was that he gambled. Some argument ensued as to whether or not he had ever struck her. It was alleged that he had, and more than once, but Mrs. Wilson denied she had ever told anyone this. There are seven children all under sixteen, and as the wife, who was also the prosecutrix, asked for the case to be dropped, Magistrate Mikel declared that he would do so this time, but if Wilson ever appeared before him again on that charge he would give him a long term as well as lashes.

MARATHON WINNER

El Ouafi

El Ouafi of French Morocco, a dispatch bearer in the French army during the war, was the winner of the Olympic marathon at Amsterdam from the largest and perhaps the best field of runners that ever took part in the Olympic classic. Although the Moor finished in the first ten in the Olympic marathon at Paris in 1924 he was not considered dangerous in this year's event. His victory, therefore, was a huge surprise.

HOLLYWOOD FILM ACTORS IN BRAWL

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 20.—A wise crack about Tom Mix's future in the talking movies was credited by Will Morrisey, a less famous film actor, as the cause of a fist fight at the home of George Bellan, film actor, Saturday night after which Morrisey and his wife had to be attended by doctors. Morrisey admitted he had told Tom his horse Tony had a great future in talkies. I said the horse could at least emote, that's what could, Tom do.' Then the fight began, Mrs. Morrisey alleges Tom struck her as well as her husband.

RECORD BROKEN BY JACK ABBE

Peterboro, Aug. 20—Jack Abbie, owned by J. Akey of Peterboro and driven by Eddie Jones, recently broke the track record at Pembroke, Ont., when in three straight heats his time was 2:12; 2:11 1-2, and 2:10 1-2, the time of the last race making a new record. At the meet Eddie Jones was presented with a floral horseshoe by the racing committee for being the finest-dressed and best-be-haved driver during the meet.

Armondale, owned by Arthur Johnson of Peterboro, took third money in the same race.

HIS THEORY OF ROAD RULES MAY COST HIM FINE

Oscar Parks, Napanee, Will Be Summoned To Local Court

H. T. O. INVESTIGATES

Two Cars Involved In Accident Near Point Anne Lane

Oscar Parks, R.R. No. 4, Napanee, thinks that when he makes a hand signal cars coming in both directions should stop till he turns around. Yesterday, while motoring from Napanee of Point Anne, in upholding this belief, he had the misfortune to have an accident which might otherwise have been avoided.

Although intending to enter the Point Anne road, Mr. Parks missed the turn and drove about two hundred yards before realizing his mistake. Immediately he put out his hand, as there was a car coming from the west, and he expected it to stop. Swerving over to the left, Mr. Parks thought no more of the car from the west, which was being driven by Andrew Wilson of Bannockburn, but Mr. Wilson did not know the rules of the road by which Mr. Parks made his way, so did not stop.

The Parks car backed up just as Mr. Wilson was passing behind him with the result that a crash was inevitable, the Andrew's car going in the ditch, and the front end of the Parks car being badly damaged. Mr. Parks was all seemed that he was summoned to use Mr. Wilson because he had failed to stop. H. T. O. Prins, however, who investigated the accident, declared that he intended to lay a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public against Mr. Parks.

VETERANS HONOR FALLEN MEMBERS

Hundreds Attend Annual Decoration Day Services At Cemetery

Headed by the Salvation Army Band and accompanied by well over one hundred and fifty veterans as well as numerous friends and sympathizing spectators, the keeping of it faith with those who fell and sleep the long sleep was accomplished again yesterday on the occasion of the Annual Decoration Day.

Forming up at the Canadian Legion Hall on Front St. the procession moved to the Cemetery Chapel, where a drum head service was conducted by the Rev. Bruce Hunter. Many floral tributes of people in Belleville and at this point, all desirous of showing their respects to the memory of the fallen heroes. Rev. Hunter was assisted by the Rev. A. L. Geen, chaplain of the Canadian Legion Post 56, in this city.

The sermon was brief in as he condition, but as the same time was extremely touching. Rev. Hunter explained the meaning of Decoration Day, how it was a day set aside to keep the memory of those who had fallen, and given their all that the world might be saved.

"It is not necessary, perhaps to freshen the minds of you men who have been through it all," stated the minister, "but, lest we forget, these services are held."

Rev. Bruce Hunter explained that if had been his privilege to be stationed at some of the base hospitals in France, and how he had helped to cheer up the brave scarred soldiers when they were brought in from the front with all of war's fiell wreaked on their bodies.

Perhaps the most impressive part of the whole ceremony was in front of the Mausoleum where another short service was held, being conducted by the Rev. A. L. Geen. A firing party made up

Police Checking Up Closely On Violators of Traffic By-Laws

Frank Hutchison, a Belleville man ran against the red light yesterday and when stopped by Police Constable Jackson had no operator's license with him and had only one headlight lit. With all three counts against him it is likely that he will come prepared to pay a fine into the coffers of the city to-morrow. Five Silvers who at the present moment are blissfully unaware of the fact that their sins have found them out will be summoned to-day, for the same offense, going against the red light.

John Shannon, Front St. Mcchant failed to stop at the Stop St. sign from Pinnacle to Bridge, and will receive his summons in the near future. Residents of the city and any other who use the the city streets must be made to realize that these traffic law are made for the protection of the public and those who do not obey them are not only taking the chance of a fine, but are probably endangering the lives and property of other people a well.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Life is a pure flame, and we live by an invisible sun within us.
SIR THOS. BROWNE.

UP AND ONWARD

Simultaneously with the announcement from Washington that Canada is now the best customer of the United States displacing Great Britain from the premier position, comes the prediction of New York Herald Tribune that the day of Canadian independence, Looking back over the last seven years we cannot think of these statements and the fillet statements of the last year, or so, without a thrill. Steady progress measures are taking to conserve our timber resources, and encourage our manufactures. The existing situation is not all that it should be. During the first six months of the year Canada purchased from the United States, $620,000,000 worth of merchandise. In the same period the United Kingdom bought $394,500,000 from America. On the other hand Canada sold the United States in the same period only $323,000,000 worth, an increase in our exports of only $7,000,000 as compared with an increase in our imports of $36,000,000. Although the United States buys more from us than from any other country in the world, we should make an effort to reduce this adverse trade balance.

The New York Herald Tribune informs us that in a recent study of the Dominion's progress Mr. Ray Hall of the finance and investment division of the United States department of commerce compared the present position of Canada with the position occupied by the United States prior to the war, and the New York newspaper, recalling the statement of Hon. A. Robb that Canada would not require $50,000,000 worth of loans maturing this fall, but would pay them off out of surpluses following upon increased exports, as was the case with the United States of 1914, while not yet a creditor nation, is in the position of a debtor nation that is redeeming its old debts by foreign investment, is making new investments of its own in a volume exceeding its new borrowings from abroad. No clearer indication could be asked than this of the Dominion's approaching financial independence." The next few years should witness a great expansion of Canadian export trade, with a corresponding advance towards the financial independence that the Herald Tribune speaks of. With a greater measure of truth than ever before, Canada is the land of opportunity.

STILL MOVE SOUTH

Canadian cattle are still being indirectly demanded by stock raisers in the United States and the high prices offered continue to divert the further overseas movement across the border. The first shipment of cattle to a British port since August of last year left Montreal recently, comprising about a hundred head. The, however, was more of an odd consignment and cannot be accepted as indicative of an early resumption of regular business relations. To present appearance, the drift of cattle southward will continue indefinitely so long as the prices are sufficiently tempting. But at least it will be satisfactory to Canadian stock raisers to know that when the United States capacity is exhausted, other outlets can be found in Britain and elsewhere.

Western Canada is now sufficiently cleared in the cattle industry to make general market conditions a matter of keen interest to the agricultural community. Herds are reported to be consistently expanding, with quality also improving. This is, no doubt, in the older sections but the districts that not so long ago would have been regarded as impossible. Western reports say the Peace River country, for example, is particularly in favor of developing into a really great cattle raising centre. Peace River cattle recently topped the market in Edmonton, notwithstanding the handicap of undergoing a 136-mile trail on the hoof before reaching a railway station. This furnishes another valuable argument for the provision of direct railway connection with the main transportation systems.

THE AIR MAIL

A five cent air mail is a modern development which is nothing short of the amazing. Probably the younger generation think no more of these things than we have done of steam engines and locomotives for the last 60 years, but the fact of our letters flying across continents and probably soon to fly over oceans, is something to give us a new sensation of wonder. Francis Grierson saw in the loss of the moon a wonder and serious calamity to the race. There is always enough in our lives to keep wonder alive within us, and the developments of science and invention in the last quarter of a century alone should keep our wonder and imagination to the limit. A few days ago, an airplane was capsuled from a steamer at sea 450 miles from New York and reached there in a few hours hours ahead of schedule. This is but the herald of what is to be. It will not be long till the nations, now desiring peace, will begin to think of the air as a means of bringing magnificent scale with which they have contemplated acts of war. It will be easy for them to co-operate to construct positions of floating platforms, artificial islands which would be stationed at definite intervals in the oceans to serve as landing-places for hydro-planes where they could renew their fuel, or pass their burden to other places ready to take up the journey. The scrapped war vessels of the nations could be utilized as the foundation of such platforms or floating islands without much cost to the nations concerned, and their support would cost less than the present cost of steamer transport. Perhaps that would be an argument against the plan in our utilitarian policies, but it would be well for us when the advantages of air-mail were weighed. We shall before many years see ocean traffic in the air regularly established and our children may perhaps live to see the moon more up to date in their day. Nothing endures.

PASSING YEARS

LIFE'S HIGHWAY

There's a long and rugged highway
That has travelers by the score,
And many pretty sights, all unconscious
Of what life may have in store.
Some pick roses by the wayside,
And see the beauty every day;
Some the thorns are left to gather,
While no flowers strew their way.

Strange it seems if one but ponders,
All are travelling the same road,
Through their home be in a palace
Or hut be their abode,
There's no turning back of foot-steps
Once you've started in the race,
So go straight along the highway,
Leave no footprints you'd erase.

Fortune does not smile on all,
There are those with burdens bent,
Just lend a hand to help along,
And with small deeds be content.
Someone needs the dark clouds lifted,
So scatter sunshine while its day;
Days and years are swiftly passing
And just once you'll walk life's way.

Up the hill the road leads onward,
Then sometimes it's in the vale,
But you'll reach the glorious summit
If your courage does not fail.
Time will come when you have vanished
From the road just round the bend;
And your deeds of love and kindness
Count most at the journey's end.

In the centre of the above group is Lord Lovat, Under-Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs, who is now touring Canada in connection with the activities of the Overseas Settlement Committee of which he is Chairman. This Committee operates under the provisions of the Empire Settlement Act dealing with the placement of Britishers in the Dominions. Third and fourth from the left are two other important British Settlement officers, F. Shevington, Treasury Representative, and G. F. Plant, Secretary of the Committee. This picture was taken at the occasion of a visit of inspection made by Lord Lovat to a British boys' hostel at Montreal accompanied by officials of Canada Club and Department of Colonization and Development, Canadian Pacific Railway.

ADMINISTER E D BY THE LADIES

Are a Great Number of Fortunes In The United Kingdom

London.—When Lord Inchcape gave to the British nation the $2,000,000 fortune he inherited after his daughter, Elsie Mackay, was lost in her attempt to fly the Atlantic Ocean, it developed that some of the greatest fortunes in the United Kingdom are owned and administered by women.

Miss Gladys Yule, 24-year-old daughter of the late Sir David Yule, prominent Indian merchant of Calcutta and London, has just come into an inheritance of $5,000,000.

Lady Houston, sometimes described as "the richest unlucky widow" was brought into the limelight when she fell heir to $35,000,000 upon the death of her husband, Sir Robert Houston. Accused by relatives of being incompetent to handle the fortune, she was upheld by the courts and took possession of the estate. She is financially gave $7,500,000 to the British Government in death duties taxes, although her husband died in Jersey, where there are no death duties. Lady Houston is an ardent suffragist. Before her marriage she was Dame Fanny Lucy Hyron, one of the first Dame Commanders of the British Empire to be created.

Viscountess Rhondda, who succeeded to her father's title as well as to his fortune, is one of the busiest of Britain's wealthy women. She is interested in business, a director of many companies, and personally manager her father's extensive coal and business holdings. A peeress in her own right, she has expended much of her time and money in championing women's rights and is foremost among the peeresses demand a seat in the House. She will be elected to enter the House of Lords.

Baroness Ravensdale, daughter of the late Marquis Curzon of Kedleston, whose mother was Miss Mary Leiter of Washington and Chicago, is among the six richest young women in the country. Tall, dark and handsome, she is a capable political speaker and a champion of women's rights. She is an heiress to the Leiter millions.

One of the most beautiful of Britain's heiresses is Lady Loula Mountbatten, formerly Miss Edwina Ashley, who married the son of the late Marquis of Milford Haven. A direct heir to fortune of $10,000,000 from her grandfather, the late Sir Ernest Lady Lodlow, who inherited $5,000,000 and a magnificent mansion from her first husband, Baron Julius Wernher is famed for her jewels.

Just Stories

First time Calvin Coolidge saw his present wife—then Miss Grace Anna Goodhue—whom he married in 1905, it was in Northampton, Mass. He, according to Cameron Ross, a friend, was shaving before a window. Coolidge saw passing upon the street below, a girl. She was a pretty girl and she walked gracefully and with determination. Calvin stretched his neck and craned. He had checked the downward sweep of his razor and remained visaged half a foamy white, half pink. Another student with whom Coolidge shared a Northampton room, observed him with surprise. Calvin craned again but the girl was gone. He then said soberly, "Likely girl going up the street," and added, as an after-thought, "Guess I'll have to marry her." "What's her name?" asked the friend. "Don't know her—yet," replied Calvin blandly and resumed his shaving. The friend managed the introduction. But Coolidge made poor progress. Finally he followed Miss Grace to Burlington where he met her father. The latter asked, without hedging, "What are you doing here?" Calvin said firmly, "I'm here to marry Grace." Mr. Goodhue recovered himself to say in a long full of interest; "Does she know it?" "No" said the younger man, "she doesn't, but she will." And so she did.

On one occasion Washington reporters sought to draw President Coolidge out on the subject of a blackguard sheet's scandalous item. It was highly critical of Mr. Coolidge's predecessor in office. Asked a recital of the Washington scandalies, he went to a window and pulled down the curtain. The reporters beheld the uplifted finger of Washington's monument. "I see it's still there," murmured Mr. Coolidge.

Tourist traffic to Saint John this season is the largest in its history, and so far is equal if not greater than during the whole of last season. Tourists started coming earlier this spring, and have continued in much larger numbers than in other seasons.

Colonel Scott, who is successfully producing tulip bulbs at Saltspring Arm, British Columbia, believes that they will make a feature. He has one acre under this production with drying, cleaning and storage sheds. He grows fifty-two varieties of bulbs and has purchased a quarter of a million bulbs on hand growing.

The Alberta Amateur Championships will take place shortly at Banff, Alberta, where the annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Musical Festival is being held from August 31 to September 3. An elaborate programme has been arranged of a Scottish character, many of the athletic contests being peculiar to that race, such as tossing the caber and putting the shot.

Plans are reported to be on foot among sheep raisers to establish in Vancouver a wool grading centre similar to that functioning in Toronto, Ontario, where at present most of the wool business of Canada is conducted. An authority states this would probably have the result of increasing the returns to the producer from 15 to 50 per cent.

Although the automobile is sometimes said to be a rival to the railroad, it gives the latter a great deal of traffic. The number of freight cars used by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the transport of automobiles has doubled during the past five years, and the latest order of 200 more cars for the company has just been completely filled.

Trans-Atlantic records have been made by two new vessels, the "Duchess of Bedford" and the "Duchess of Atholl," the first two of the new cabin class quartette to be built by the Canadian Pacific Steamships. The former has just accomplished an eastbound voyage from Liverpool to Montreal, in six days, fourteen and a half hours, while her sister ship, enroute at the same time made a westbound crossing from Montreal to Liverpool in six days, 13 hours.

The second school car operated jointly by the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Ontario Department of Education has been issued from the Angus Shops, Montreal, for service in the district west of Port William. The car is a remodelled first class coach equipped like an up-to-date "little red school-house" with bright classroom, with blackboard, desks, school books, reproduction charts, and so forth; a library for the use of students and adult visitors as well; and comfortable living quarters for the teacher. The school car is able to reach remote areas where permanent school facilities are not available.

FAILED TO ABIDE BY AGREEMENT

Viola Robertson's Case Enlarged Until Next Friday

Viola Robertson, appeared in Police Court Saturday carrying her three months old baby, to be sentenced by the court for failing to carry out the agreement that she made when she was allowed to go on suspended sentence three times previously. At that time it was agreed that she had been living with another man, and was making a general nuisance of herself to the residents of the College Hill, but she allowed out on suspended sentence owing to the condition of her promise that she would not go near the man's home again.

Crown Attorney Dohnan asked for a full sentence, and recommended a long jail sentence, saying that the woman had defaulted, and her promise that she would not associate with the court, as she had been staying ever since her trial at the man's home.

Mitch Ferguson, who was bail bondsman for the Crown and from the defence counsel, Mr. Payne, with the Magistrate, stating that the accused had said to him. All their stories were somewhat different, so Mr. Dennan asked for an adjournment of six days, until next Friday, when he declared that he would have plenty of witnesses on hand to prove that the accused had failed to keep the terms of her suspended sentence by 11 court, and on which terms sentence was suspended.

TIPPING NUISANCE HURTS BOTH PARTIES

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

The practice of tipping always was a nuisance, but it seems to be spreading so rapidly that it is already beginning to assume the proportions of a menace.

A man buys a hat for three or five dollars and by the time the season is over, and he has paid a nickel here and a dime there to check it at various and sundry cloak rooms, that hat-timber has been stood him several times its original cost.

There was a time when a shoe shine cost five cents and you never dreamed of expect a "Thank you" when you paid. Nowadays that same shine carries a "tip with it of from 50 2?1?2?per cent, and if you neglect to come across you are likely to have a torrent of foreign expletives hurled after you as you exit.

The idea of tipping is degrading from every angle. It's about the most un-American custom imaginable. It intimidates the giver. It stresses servility on the part of the receiver.

I know of college men who, because they had to wear their way through, accepted jobs as waiters in public restaurants.

They didn't mind the long hours or the hard work. But what they abhorred was the tipping. They felt it lowered their own self-respect.

I never met a person yet who liked to tip.

Nor do I know of any employes either, who would not rather receive a higher straight wage than be paid tips. The American public is an exceedingly easy going and tolerant public and that is probably why the tipping habit has somehow managed to take hold.

If people in general would only stop to realize its pernicious mind effects all-around concerted action could soon be taken to wipe tipping off the American map.

Manhood and womanhood cannot prosper as it should if it is to take fees for legitimate services rendered or bribes for special favors.

In Europe, of course, tipping seems to have been an accepted fact for centuries. Even since the war, however, the size of the tips are much smaller than here.

The amounts spent by the average individual in gratuities is not the important point to be stressed. The personality effect is the chief bane. Influenced. Added to which, the undemocratic character of the habit is beyond of lesser importance.

No American employe, no matter what his job, can possibly be considered servile, either in his own eyes or in the eyes of a customer. And surely he does not want to be chained as something like a refined bandit.

Yet that seems to be about what we are coming to in the tipping game.

We run dangerous chances of being insulted in one way or another unless we tip.

Whether the tipping reform should start from the inside or the outside, or from both angles, is open to question.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR Annie Laurie:

I have been going with a boy and my chum says that if I go with him any longer she will not go with me.

I do not want to give up this boy, but I want to keep the friendship of my chum.

I have talked to her, but it has been of no use.

SECRET: When two girls have been great chums, there is quite apt to be some jealousy when one acquires a beau, and perhaps this is what happened in your case my dear. It will probably take a great deal of tact to handle the situation, but I am sure you can do this and hold the friendship of both. If the young man treats you with respect and you enjoy his friendship, there is no reason why you should not go out with him, if your parents permit.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens and I am writing to a boy friend to whom I am very much engaged. I wonder if you could advise me as to what would be proper and to just the form of formal to put at the end of my letters to him.

I sign my name. TOOTS.

TOOTS: Perhaps "Cordially" and then your name. Or you may use "Sincerely yours" or merely "Sincerely". These are proper when signing that sort of letter.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Two years ago a girl friend of mine insisted on my kissing her and any more. The motive which I learned later, was because I said something which my boy would tell a girl, but she didn't like it. So since she made me bow to girls this girl's friendship back. I thank you.

SHOUT: Evidently you disgusted the young lady with your remark, Shout, and I think the best thing for you to do is to apologize and then show by your sincerity in your future actions.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have a boy friend two years my senior. I care a lot for him and he also seems to care a lot for me.

But he goes with other girls against my objections. Please advise me whether I should keep company with him.

HEARTBROKEN MABEL.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Although the baby is warm and thirsty after his nap bath, cold water is apt to cause a shock. Sponge him in lukewarm water and give him a drink of moderately warm water when he is brought into the house to make him comfortable.

Frau Lina Radke of Germany, outran eight rivals, including the Canadian representative, Jean Thompson, in winning by "an inch" the women's 800 metre race at the Olympic games in the world's records time of 2.16 4-5. that marriage is going to be all honey and roses and moonlight."

Irma got to her feet.

"I guess I'm not to trouble you with all this, when you've really still it." She paused in the doorway. "You are a change. Why don't you and Steve take the trip to South Africa together. I'll stay on in New York and keep Hal out of mischief."

She laughed at Marguerite's look of horror.

"Don't take it to heart, child, I was only joking.....So long. I'm off to a much-needed beauty seance."

When Hal came home, he found Marguerite, paler than ever, sitting before a window in the one drawing-room. The heat had already begun, and the folkes of the city drifted into the room.

"Feeling better?" he asked careless ly.

"Not very much better," she admitted.

"Too bad. I'd hoped you were up to a theatre tonight. There's a premiere on, and Lydia's got a box. She's invited us."

"You go!" Marguerite urged. "Don't stay at home on my account."

But if wouldn't take much effort, just to sit in a comfortable chair and be amused."

"I haven't the strength to dress..... really."

He frowned. "Mind if I ask Irma, Katherine, we'll be an uneven number for supper afterward."

"Oh do. I think she'd love it."

"And in that case, Brockton can come down and entertain you," he remarked.

She made no reply. Her heart seemed quite numb. Nothing really mattered any more, she thought.

She wondered how much more of this sort of life she could stand. Sometimes told her that a crisis was so far off.

Forlorn

As the days passed, Marguerite became thinner and thinner, more and more listless. Her mother was honestly concerned when the girl came to the pier to say good-bye to the globe-trotters. But her excitement over the impending voyage made her eager to watch Marguerite's expression to see she would be all right as soon as sum mer came and she could be out of doors most of the day.

Mrs. Reynolds was not quite so sanguine. She drew her daughter-in-law aside.

"I've an idea that my son is not behaving himself as he should," she said crisply. "Is he making you unhappy?"

"He's very considerate.....under the circumstances," said Marguerite.

Her mother-in-law made an impatient gesture.

"I never did approve of this marriage. I think my husband and your self are fools. The idea of pledging us to play Destiny for two children, in this day and age!"

"For us.....yes. And for Hal, too I believe. But what about you, Marcuerite. I blame myself for not tak-through the grounds, but it seemed ing a hand in the affair, but I always to be the request for the daughter of the house to make, so, after a

CHAPTER 21

A Flippant Suggestion

Marguerite laughed at Irma's air of tragedy, but she was genuinely concerned.

"What has Steve done?" Irma pushed her hair from her forehead with a dramatic gesture.

"He thankful that you have a husband with some sense.....Steve, if you please, has announced that he has to go to South African Mounds Africa, of all places, when summer is just coming on—and he expects me to accompany him."

"But it sounds like a wonderful trip," remarked Marguerite mildly.

Irma collapsed in her chair. "For me?.....My child, you don't know me. I'm simply a wreck on the sea. My 'permanent' comes out a minute a sail breeze strikes it, and I suffer terribly from mal de mer."

"They say that doesn't last long," Marguerite comforted her. "You'll be splendid after the passed. And think of the romance of going to Africa. I wish," she sighed wistfully, "that I had your chance."

"Take it," snapped Irma. "I wish to heaven you would.....No, I simply can't and won't do it. And that's that.

"But think of the interesting people you'd meet."

"People I'd meet,.....with Steve A fine chance I'd have to know any one worth while. Steve takes all the life out of every party. I'm simply be a nonentity, tied to a husband who has none buried in a book. People pigboard don't bother with dreadful ones."

Marguerite sighed. "It's a pity Life is funny, isn't it? The people who can have the things that other people would give their eyes to, are usually want them!"

"Well, anybody can have my chance and welcome,.....No, I shan't stir a step. I like my New York too well."

"But, Irma, you're Steve's wife."

"I didn't marry Steve to make a slave of myself."

Marguerite smiled.

"You can't let him go off alone."

"Oh, can't I?" Irma tossed that watch me. We had an awful scene last night. He wouldn't accept my refusal, as final. I told him to choose between his business and me. We aren't speaking this morning."

"Oh, I'm sorry,.....But you'll forgive him, Irma. He loves you very much."

"If he really loved me, he'd try to do the things I like. He wouldn't always be a sex-thinker."

"But, it's difficult to change one's taste," persisted Marguerite. "Steve, at me, for example, I tried, and you know what a hash I made of the whole affair."

It's different with you. You and Hal don't really give a rap for each other. Oh, I know it isn't my fault. Steve and I married for love. We et pected to find happiness in marriage and we've found only.....infinite boredom."

"Only boredom?"

Irma made an impatient gesture.

"Oh I don't know. It's all so complicated. Sometimes, I think I want to have Steve. Sometimes, I think he wants to leave me At other times, I'm actually jealous when he seems interested in another woman. At still other times, I'd give my soul, if he really would be, and leave me to my own devices."

Marguerite reached over and patted Irma's hand.

"You're tired and overwrought this morning. You and Hal danced late last night, and, if you had a scene with Steve, you don't have sleep much. Try to rest a little, and things will seem different."

"Do things seem different: to you, just because you've slept a little?" demanded Irma bitterly.

Marguerite had to admit that they didn't.

"Well, then, don't give advice about something you know nothing of. You have a simple nature, Marguerite. You're not complex, like me. I don't believe you have the capacity for real feeling, as I have."

Marguerite stared up at the ceiling.

"I can be very sad."

"Who can't, when they're married?" was the flippant retort.

"What fools we women are to think

SINCLAIR'S

Mrs. Glover was tearful at the last moment.

"I never realized what it would mean to leave my baby and my country," she faltered, dabbing at her eyes.

"Now, Mother, there, there," Glover consoled her. "You'll be all right, once we're out to sea. And you mustn't worry about Marguerite. She'll be a good girl, and she doesn't needs us, now that she's married."

Marguerite turned her head sharply, lest they should see her trembling lips. She had never felt so utterly alone. She wanted to crawl off in a dark corner somewhere and cry her eyes out.

But, after a moment, she forced herself to smile bravely and she stood waving a handkerchief as the ship backed away from the dock.

She watched it out of sight; watched it until the workmen about the dock began to stare at her curiously. She lingered on, partly because it seemed to her that the last link that bound her to her happy childhood was being slowly severed, partly because she had nothing else to do. Hal didn't need her. Irma Brockton was at a smart luncheon-party at a Westchester club. Lydia Converse, would be just rising and would be in no mood to receive callers.....That constituted her world.

She drifted across the west side through the district of the docks, picking her way over the dusty cobbles. Finally she took a taxi home, where she lunched alone.

"She don't eat enough to keep a bird alive," was the cook's comment, the dishes were returned barely tasted.

"And him, he likes his food all right," remarked the cook.

"Well, I'll bet he don't never say So. And it's her that orders it for him.

I'd let him have a taste of the stuff that Brockton's woman hands her husband," sniffed the cook. I've talked to her cook many a time, and she knows what she's talking about, knows anything except dancing and bridge."

In the afternoon, restless and lonely and unhappy, Marguerite took a train to Long Island, descended at the once-familiar station, and walked the short distance to the Glover estate. It was leased for the season, the secret of Glover's success being never to overlook an opportunity to turn a penny.

Marguerite looked wistfully through the gateway. She wished that she had the courage to ask the new occupants if she might go through the grounds, but it seemed to be the request for the daughter of the house to make, so, after a time, she turned away and trudged through the heat and dust back to the station.

It was twilight when she reached her apartment. She wondered if Hal were home yet, and, mindful of the time when he had expressed his open disapproval of her aimlessness, she let herself in with her latch-key, very quietly.

Voices in the drawing room made her pause quietly. Had she invited someone for tea and forgotten it. She put a hand to her forehead. How hard it was to think these days.

She endeavored to smooth her frock for she would have to pass the open drawing-room door to reach her own room. Hesitantly she reached the threshold.

Lydia Converse, cool and immaculate, was seated in a chair. She was looking up at Hal, who stood beside her.

"Dont you want to kiss me?" Lydia was saying softly. "You know you've been dying to ever since your marriage with that little simpleton."

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Hinds turbans fashioned of thin furs are being shown in Paris.

Newest sleeves concentrate fulness between the wrist and the elbow.

The newest hat shape employs a brim slanted i a long low line at one side of the face, while at the other it resolves into a shallow aboriented effect, while this treatment is combined with a round, fitted crown.

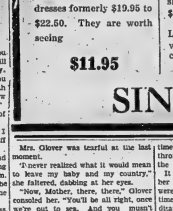

Angora sweaters, especially in soft tones of yellow are being much seen in Paris, where one hand-make sweater has a number of polka dots ir gold metal thread as its only trimming, and it is worn with a plain yellow crepe de chine skirt in broad plaids.

Returning overseas travellers declare that sport clothesare worn practically all day aboard ship, and rather light, fluffy gowns are favored for evening wear, whilechiffons are advocated because of the delightful way they shake off wrinkles and unused lines.

With-bones, emblems ofluck, are the newest hat-ornaments. At Deauville, LeTouquet and Biarritz, where they are now the latest to the "bandeaux of folded white crepa either of diamonds, jewels of leave.

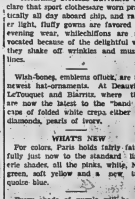

WHAT'S NEW
For colors, Paris holds fairly faithfully just now to the standard lingerie shades, all the pinks, white, Nile green, soft yellow and a new turquoise blue.

Every shade of purple will be in demand for autumn beginning with royal purple and running through the violets, mauve, orchid and lavender coats.

A Ranabout Dress for July Days

The simple runabout model of navy peach washable crepe is a smart and practical version of the ever-popular one-piece style. The fulness that is always desired in a dress of this type is cleverly concentrated at the left of the skirt in inverted plaits. These are put in about the hemline, but for the sake of slenderness are stitched to a point below it. The new belt-piled line is further carried out in the interesting notched collar, which is an embroidered in the manner illustrated above, this touch is extremely smart for informal outdoor wear. Fashioned of linen, crash or even of bunch, without sleeves, it is an excellent costume for tennis or golf. (Copyright, 1928, by Bell Syndicate).

FRASER RIVER IS AGAIN PROSPECTED

VANCOUVER, B. C.—(C.P.) — After more than half a century of neglect the old gold-bearing bars of the Fraser River are being extensively prospected again and mining men predict a new era of intensive development on this famous mineral-rich stream.

Not since the early visitors has the Fraser been prospected so thoroughly as, now. Although it has been much more accessible to the prospector than many of the places that have been searched more actively for gold and platinum, other more remot sections have proven more popular on account of their being less known and, therefore, regarded as merely likely to reveal spectacular values. Now, however, the gold-mining horde is returning to the Fraser, not in a stampede, as in former days, but in a steady assembly.

The old-timers believed that the gold originated in the head-waters of the Fraser and it was this belief that lured many northward into the Dominion country. It is now generally conceded that the source of most of the gold in the waters of the lower Fraser is the slates of the Anderson River.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why aches and aching fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid brings quick, safe and lasting relief to thousand of Pile Sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. At McMullen and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee.

ROMANTIC TRIP OF THE MARION

Boston, Mass.—Lonely islands and mysterious uncharted seas have called a little 125-foot craft and a score of men away on a mission of adventure in Greenland and Labrador waters.

The Marion Expedition, named for the U. S. S. Marion, is now farther northward in that little vessel, seeking knowledge in the interest of science and humanity. It is sent by the United States Coast Guard.

The adventurers expect to see a 23-foot tide racing at seven knots between the forbidding headlands of Hudson Strait. They will cruise over and sound out ocean depths where 50,000 square miles of sea-bottom is uncharted, where the trough dips down three miles, where ships have mysteriously disappeared, possibly on jagged, unknown reefs.

They hope to see icebergs falling with thunderous roar from Greenland glaciers. They may sail through menacing field, too. They hope to solve the mystery of the open water of Baffin Bay and to learn about the warm current that makes habitable the west coast of Greenland. They may happen upon new fishing banks.

The fathometer, a new invention, may reveal new fishing banks, also, should such conditions be reported as favorable and worthy of commercial enterprise. distant regions may be explored by the opening of summer ports in the southwest shores of Hudson Strait.

Lieut. Commander Smith expects to be back in Boston early in September.

GREAT GAME IS PROMISED FANS HERE WEDNESDAY

Gibson And Dainty Opposing Pitchers For Play-Offs

Belleville Baseball Club is preparing for the largest attendance of the current season on Wednesday when the Nationals hook up with the Oshawa team here in the first game of the play offs. Belleville have lead the League for the past six weeks and they always win the first series. The Oshawa Club have been right on their heels and will provide plenty of opposition. The Motors lead by Walter Gerow have been the class of the League and while pressed in the early stages by the end of July they had the group cinched. Their record this season is one to be marvelled at and they are regarded as the best baseball Club to represent the city in the O. B. E. since its inception.

Fans will see no faster brand of ball anywhere than is played in this league and with Oshawa and Belleville two evenly-matched teams a great series is sure to result. Dainty will likely twirl for Oshawa with Gibson doing the flinging for the Nats. Any time they two have met this year a pitchers battle has been the result.

Walter Gerow will have his full line-up for Wednesday and the Motors will bring their best players here in an attempt to take the first game in Belleville. The next game will take place in Oshawa on Saturday pending the baseball officials can persuade the Bartram team to make a postponement. Babe Shepard and Burridge of Peterboro who will probably be the officials, Belleville fans firmly believe the team will go forward to the Ontario finals and they should lend their utmost support to the boys. The league is in perfect shape and with ideal weather it will be by the big classic of the current season. The game will start at 3 o'clock o'clock instead of three-fifteen.

BEAVERS LOST TO OSHAWA TEAM

Locals Beaten In Game Played In Motor City Saturday.

Belleville Beavers lost a slug-fest to the Civic Club Oshawa ladies on Saturday evening at Oshawa when they went down before a 12-10 score. Trent the shooting of the part of both teams featured the game and both pitchers were pounded unmercifully. The Parks scored five in their half of the eighth to tie things up but the home crowd pushed over a home run to clinch the verdict. Mollie Gray pitched for five innings and she was relieved by Doolittle but the latter was ineffective and Miss Gray went back to the hill-lock again. Gray had one strike-out and six walks while Doolittle had one strike-out and issued but one pass. Griggs hurled for Oshawa and the Beavers collected eighteen hits off her delivery but the Chevs banged out twenty-three safeties. Beavers had six errors chalked up against them all of which were costly. Gray was also in her usual form while errors by Gibbs Tuttle and Malcolmr paved the way for several runs. Miss Blair was the best with the hickory for Oshawa she having poled out three doubles in seven times to bat. M. Elliott, Oshawa's second baseman made a great one-handed catch on a hard hit by Gray. Miss Walker made a nice running catch of Gibbs Knott's clout. It was best baseball all the way and although they had six errors the Beaver's should have won the game. Strange to say the crowd was with the Belleville team.

Score by-innings.

Beavers	6 1 0 0 6 1 1 5 8—28
Oshawa	1 0 0 0 3 2 8 0 1—25

Beavers — Cook, O'Neil, Kelleher, Gray, Thrasher, Knott, McGehee, Tobin, Gibbs, Doolittle.

Oshawa—Gould, A. Cringle, Holmes, M. Elliott, E. Elliott, V. Fulton, B. Blair, A. Wilbur, M. Corbiere.

BAY OF QUINTE BASEBALL FINALS

At 4.30 to-day at the local Fair Grounds the Ciacs hard-ball team will meet their ancient foes, the Point Anne Cement boys in the third and deciding game for the Bay of Quinte championship in the Industrial League. The Point Anne team won the first game at Corbyville's new diamond while the Ciacos were not to be downed so easily and captured the next game played at the Point Anne ball park. The two are even stephen on the series and to-day's game will be a battle for blood. The last meeting between the, two was marked by exciting plays and plenty of hitting and fans who desire to, witness real fast ball should not pass up this encounter. The Ciacos will use either Ralph Bley who recently defeated his rivals or Art Pitchell. Either of these boys car. twirl a good game of ball.

Bill Strachan has had remarked success against the Ciacos and may be given the assignment by Manager Bob Redrer. On the other hand Frank Emmett is not the week pitcher in the league by a long way and he may be given the task of subduing the Hurst-Boyle coached team it is bound to be a great game and with the interest running high fans should no pass it up. Kea and Cleo Colling will likely officiate.

SECURES LARGER PREMISES

Brockville, Aug. 13 —In order to obtain more central and commodious quarters the Royal bank of Canada has purchased the Kerfoot business block in Brockville Falls to which it will transfer its offices.

Prince George, youngest son of the king, has called for Canada en route to join H.M.S. Durban in the West Indies station, to which he was recently appointed an interpreter in French. PETERBORO' JUNIORS EKE OUT WIN OVER KINGSTON VICTORIAS HERE

In one of the fastest games played on the local ball diamond this season the Peterboro Royals eliminated the Kingston Victorias in the first round of the play-downs for the Junior O.B.A.A. title on Saturday afternoon by a score of 4-3. The teams were tied on the round and Saturday's game was a battle every inch of the way. The Royals have Gordon, hard-hitting first-baseman, to thank for the victory, he having broken the tie which had existed up until the tenth inning by slashing out a long drive to deep left field to score Hartley from second base who had been a walk. It was a smart game and developed into somewhat of a pitchers battle between Holmes, elongated right hander for the Petes, and Donnelly wiry little southpaw of the Kingston team. There was little to choose between the two pitchers with Holmes having a decided advantage in the matter of strike-outs, he having caught nine batters to whiff the breeze while Donnelly got but two men back to the bench via the strike-out route. Donnelly allowed but nine hits while his opponent gave ten safe blows. Donnelly walked three while Holmes issued one free pass. The game was featured by air-tight work on the part of both clubs and the pitchers were given fine support. It remained for L. Hollingsworth to provide the best play of the day when he went back to make a leaping catch of Gibson's long hoist which was labelled for three bases in the tenth frame. Quinn at second-base accepted six chances without making a mistake and he handled some difficult drives well. Conley, third baseman for the Kingston team, was the hit boy for the Victoria club, he having collected a single, double and triple in four times at bat. Conley also had the misfortune to be the goat of the game, he having allowed the game-winning run to score when he dropped Gordon's fly to left field. SPORTOGRAMS

It won't be long now! No Sir on Wednesday afternoon, the Belleville ball park will be the scene of the opening of the series games for the Central league championship. The Oshawa team have visions of a C. O. B. L. flag but the Nationals should take them in two straight games.

While the umpires have not been announced it is learned that Babe Shepard, Oscar Heit and Burridge of Toronto, are the trio on whom the League officials have their eye. Heit is tied up in Western Ontario and Shepard and Burridge may get the call.

Wednesday's game will start at three o'clock, fifteen minutes earlier than usual. The reserved seats will not be good for this game and fans are advised to get theirs at Charlie Symons.

Walter Gerow has not announced his pitching selection but ten to one it will be "Hoot" Gibson. Dainty will probably be Manager Walter Schultz' choice.

Saturday's Junior game here between Kingston and Peterboro was a battle royal and few better games have been witnessed on the local lots this year. It is a shame that Belleville has no Junior Baseball.

There were at least five players who took part in this game who will be ready for Senior Company next year. "Lonny" Purvis as coach of the Victorias fielded a right smart team.

President McFadden, of Peterboro was among those present on Saturday. Mr. McFadden is a great baseball fan and misses few games. He will be here on Wednesday for the play-offs as well as being a rabid fan he is a capable Executive and the Central League has enjoyed one of its most successful season under his guidance.

"Bob" G Elliott local O. B. A. A. representative of Deloro was here for Saturday's Junior game. It if doubtful if Deloro will be a starter in Senior Company next year.

The winner of the Central Ontario league will clash with the champions of Toronto Industrial League. These Industrial teams have been playing grand ball.

Lionel Harper who cavorted around short-stop last year for the Nationals is a member of the St. George's team and recently was picked for an all-star team. Harper is rated as one of the leading first-baseman in Toronto.

He did not have a chance to show his real ability here as he was in short-stop.

The Nationals certainly were no hitting in the Deloro game and unless they get down to business in the practice sessions they may carry their slump into the play offs.

We still contend that "Inky" Woods is one of the best pitchers in the Central Ontario League and when he can limit the Belleville team to three hits he nonpareil of several afternoon's work. Woods worked on the section gang near Peterboro last Spring to prepare himself for the summer's campaign. He has certainly improved since last year.

The first game will be next Wednesday, the 22nd, in Belleville at 3.15. The return date has not been set. It was proposed to play here the following Saturday but St. Simons senior lacrosse team will be here on that date.

The Central League meeting after the game was the last chance for Peterboro, "Josh" Craig, acting for his club proposed that all the Kingston games be thrown out and not be recognized since the beginning of the season. He would think of that! The vote was against him however and Kingston's remaining games counted as wins for the opposition.

The other games scheduled for the league have been cancelled, Oshawa will not make a trip to Peterboro and Deloro and Peterboro will not go to Deloro. This agreement was reached after various arguments anent the gates that would not manifested but everything was satisfactorily arranged after discussions pro and con.

The league officials were not only peeved at Kingston for dropping out but even peevier for the Senior not giving any reason officially. Their retirement from the league has practically recognized last night. —Oshawa Times.

AEROPLANES TO BE THE WEAPON

Against The Forces of Nature In a Great Exploration

New York, N. Y., Aug.—Down to the dead land that towers above the bottom of the world three bands of explorers sail in the next few months to pit the aeroplane against the defences of nature's most formidable stronghold—Antarctica.

Whether aircraft that can carry men across the oceans, across the Arctic wastes, even to the North Pole, will surmount the barriers of gale and storm, ice and mountain, that have kept the south polar continent a land of mystery will soon be determined by Commander Richard E. Byrd, Capt. Sir Hubert Wilkins, Commander Douglas George Jeffery, Royal Navy, retired, and their respective parties. Aviators, have great faith in the modern plane, they know that this task is the hardest ever assigned to it. Antarctic weather is the worst in the world.

The Byrd expedition starts on its $500,000 venture about the middle of August. Most of the 55 men and virtually all of the elaborate equipment will travel to Dunedin, New Zealand, aboard the barkentine Samoa, although the commander himself plans to leave about a month later. From New Zealand the explorers will steam across the southern ocean to the Bay of Whales, a threshold to Antarctica on the Ross Sea ice barrier, there to establish the base of operations. They hope to reach this point by January 1, summertime in the Antarctic.

The Wilkins expedition, smaller than Byrd's, plans to leave a California port in October, proceeding first to Panama, where it will board a whaler for the long voyage to the Ross Sea, where it, too, will start work. A whaling vessel will bring the little party north when its work is over.

Jeffery, a veteran of the last Shackleton expedition to Antarctica, sails south from New York in September, expecting to return in May. He is chartering a ship.

Something more than a spirit of adventure, more than a desire to give the aeroplane another strenuous workout, is sending these pioneers into the most inhospitable region on the globe. The vast south polar continent, nearly as large as the United States and the mainland of Europe together, is the last great geographical challenger to science. Started under a colossal heritage, it has given only fragmentary intervievs to the geologist, meteorologist oceanographer, paleontologist, biologist and the other biographers of the planet Earth.

Now, however, science is taking to the air, and given good luck its representatives with the forthcoming expeditions should see and learn more about the Antarctic in a few days than the men of sledging days saw and learned in years.

The greatest efforts of explorers since the time of the famous Captain Cook have gleaned only scant information about this frozen land that even today reclines of its outline most as drawn by Cook. Parts of the coast and their immediate hinterlands have been explored rather thoroughly and have yielded valuable data, but the narrow stretches of the fair interior seen by Amundsen, Scott and Shackleton are the old recorded glimpses of the continent's heart.

There Antarctic lies, surrounded and covered by ice—a huge White dome with the South Pole at its center, perched on a plateau nearly two miles high, and the two rimlets—the Ross, 500 square miles tapering to the Atlantic, Pacific and Indian oceans.

The ice-cap is believed to extend down to the sea at nearly all points. It terminates generally in towering, unscalable ice cliffs from which break huge bergs, covering the ocean with white mountains and closely packed ice that hold ships at bay.

Parts of the coast are more accessible than others, and it is from two such points that the three expeditions purpose to operate. A glance at the map shows two great indentations, or gulfs—one, the Ross Sea, opposite New Zealand; the other, Weddell Sea, across from South America.

The Byrd and Wilkins parties plan to launch their aerial assaults on the interior from Ross Sea or rather "from the ice barrier that chokes more than half of that ocean arm. It was from this barrier that Amundsen and Scott started on their trips to the pole. Jeffery expects to attack from the shore of Weddell Sea, and will therefore be across the continent from the other two parties.

The three zones of flight, as mapped in advance, will hardly overlap. If all goes well, Byrd will fly eastward over what is called King Edward VII Land; in so doing, of course, he will attempt a flight to the South Pole, which Amundsen and Scott reached after laborious sledge journeys.

Sir Hubert proposes an eastward flight across the unmapped, unseen coast between Ross Sea and Graham's Land, the western boundary of Weddell Sea. He does not contemplate a hop to the pole.

Jeffery's effort will start from a base on the west coast of Graham's Land. He plans to do his exploring eastward to Coat's Land, which lies on the other side of Weddell Sea. He may also try a trip to the pole and across the continent to Ross Sea.

SECOND BANDIT SUSPECT IS ARRESTED

British Harvesters Are Delighted With Conditions In Dominion

PLEASED WITH PROSPECTS HERE

Young English Couples Will Settle In Western Canada

ANXIOUS TO WORK

Young Women From British Isles Seek Domestic Positions

Cochrane, Ont., Aug. 21.—(Abroad first C. N. R. British Harvesters' Special) — Somewhere on the first British Harvesters' Special train which reached here today from Quebec over the line of the Canadian National Railways, young Dan Cupid, with a quiver full of arrows is in hiding. The authority for this statement is conductress Binning, who has under her charge a party of young women bound for Winnipeg, Calgary and other western points. These young ladies landed yesterday at Quebec from the White Star Liner Regina, and a special car for them was placed on the first C.N.R. harvester special which carries some 800 harvesters west, on the boat friendships were struck up between the young ladies, most of whom are coming out for domestic service, and members of the harvesters party, and these friendships have grown as the parties came together abroad the special train. And by this time several of the young ladies have confided in Conductress Binning who is the guide, counsellor and friend of all the women aboard that as soon as Jack, or Percy or Harry as the case may be, has worked through the harvest and has got himself located in a job which will provide the wherewithal for bread and cheese for the two then she and Harry or Percy or Jack are considering being married and living in Canada. One of the striking things about travelling with this party of British harvesters is the unanimity with which they are agreed they will not go back to England, that land or Wales unless they have to do so. In passing through the train from time to time and asking always one question, "Do you intend going back after harvesting?" One gets only one answer, "I am not going back if I can find a job here." The answer has been warned that hard work lies ahead of them. They have been told that their success depends entirely upon their own efforts. But their answer remains the same. "I am not going back if I can find a job in Canada."

IMPRESSED WITH POWER PLANTS

British Chemists Guests of Shawinigan Power Companies

Shawinigan Falls, August 21.—British chemical engineers, leaders of affairs in their own land, had an opportunity of seeing what has come about in the province of Quebec in a little place unknown 25 years ago, but where today they had an opportunity of visiting some plants which they found to be of the first order. The visitors were the members of the British Institution of Chemical Engineers, headed by Sir Alexander Gibb, president, and their other British associates.

At Shawinigan Falls the visitors were joined by some Canadian experts in the same line of endeavor, while there were also representatives of the American Institute, headed by E. R. Weidlein, president, and Dr. H. C. Parmelee, the secretary.

CHINESE WOMEN MUST BOB HAIR

Perth, Aug. 31.—The Municipal Bureau of Public Safety has decreed that Pekin women under 30 years of age must bob their hair or pay a "degeneracy tax."

The order is meant to encourage the old Manchu style of hair dressing and contradicts ruling of General Chu Yu Pu, military governor of Chihli under the former regime who threatened to punish even his own converts for disobeying the edict.

The wearing of queues by men and binding of women's feet are also subject to tax under the new rulings.

WILL ATTEMPT A COME-BACK

In The Pink of Condition

Any doubt as to George Young, the present condition was dispelled by his victory on Sunday in the long distance ride from Montreal to Kingston. In covering the distance of the course, some 20 odd miles of moving water, in 2 hours and 58 minutes, Young established a new record for the event, bettering time of 4 hours and 8 minutes set by Myer Mendelson of Montreal last year, and, despite the fact that at one stage of the race he strayed off the course into shallow water while his opponents were taking advantage of the fast water in the ship canal. There was a swift current in the course which accounted for the fast time. The second man to finish was a former Torontonian Roger Findlay, who was 22 minutes behind Young. Eleven other men finished and the only woman entry, Dorothy Kingshaw of Shawinigan Falls, finished in sixth place.

FAIR BOARD OFFICIALS LOOKING FORWARD TO SUCCESSFUL WEEK

Historic Pageant Will Be An Illuminating Feature

Belleville Fair Board Executive is growing more optimistic as each day passes regarding the success of the Exhibition which will be held next week commencing on Tuesday. With the entries pouring in at a rapid rate every mail, it is almost certain that the exhibitors will occupy every inch of available space in the spacious buildings. It was announced today that the ladies of Holloway Street Church will be in charge of the dining room during Fair Week and the meals served there will be home-cooked meals on the grounds. "I didn't know there were so many babies in this part of the country," said R. H. Ketchejon, Secretary of the Board, who states that dozens of entries have been received for the Baby Show.

Miss Freeland is spending hours in training the children in the pageant but a few more adults are needed in order to complete the full cast. Rehearsals are held every evening at the Armouries and are progressing spendidly.

Some of the fastest horses in East ern Ontario will be here for the meet and with purses of over $3000 the racing will be exceptionally keen.

HARROWING DETAILS RECALLED IN LOC

Panama, Aug. 31.—The story of a fierce battle with the sea and the wind, in which fourteen live were lost, is recalled in the log of the Mystic Line Steamship 'W S. McKinney' which docked here last night, long overdue from Seattle.

The log shows that on August 8 the ship while fighting a strong gale, lost its steering control. A heavy sea struck the vessel and a whole deck load of lumber went overboard. All hands were trying to cover the hatches the covers of which had been washed off, when a wave three fourteen sailors into the sea. None were rescued.

BANDIT SUSPECT UNDER ARREST

Held At Burwash Until Arrival of Provincial Officers

OFFER REWARD

Gov't Will Recognize Act By Young Men In Effecting Capture

Parry Sound, Ont., Aug. 21.—Inspector Miller of the Provincial Police today received word from Burwash that Burwash prison guards have arrested a man from a train passing through that district and that he answered the description of the bandit sought following the robbery of the trans-continental C.P.R. train and the killing of Thomas Jackson, an Aubamick farmer, Saturday.

The suspect will be held at Burwal until a Provincial Policeman arrive from Sudbury to take him into custody.

Toronto, Ont. Aug. 21.—Hon. W. H Price, attorney-general of Ontario today stated that while it has not been finally decided, it is likely that the government will offer a reward for information leading to the arrest of the fugitive mail-car bandit now in the bush following the Parry Sound robbery.

Mr. Price feels that the three young men who capture the bandit now under arrest are worthy of recognition.

"They were very plucky in tackling the man who was armed when their only weapon was a wrench and a piece of iron" he said.

SKIPPER CLAIMS ABANDONED BOAT

Had Derelict In Tow When Coastguard Took His Prize

Atlantic City, August 21.—Deserted its mile-an-hour gale-swept cloud of charts, nautical papers and compass set, the three masted schooner "John L. Martino." Baltimore, was found drifting about 9 miles off the coast of Cape May today by Captain Frank Widerstrom of the fishing schooner Victoria of Lunenburg.

Discovering the abandoned schooner Captain Widerstrom took possession of it and ordered a crew of his Anglesea. He was overtaken by coastguard patrol boat who stopped the schooner. The coastguards found that the instruments and maps had been purposely taken clear from the vessel. The hatches of the ship were jammed down with lumber in such a way that it was impossible to raise them in order to see what the cargo consisted of.

Captain Widerstrom claimed to me with a request of the revenue men is somewhere in the vicinity and that is his under the Cape May coastguard station until the men her is chopped away from the hatches

LAY CHARGE

Formal Charge Will Be Laid Against Toronto Officer

Toronto, Aug. 21.—Officials of the Provincial Attorney Generals' Department stated today that a formal charge of either murder or manslaughter would be laid against Plainclassman William Dinnes, of the Toronto Police Force, as a result of the death of Albert Sinerez, struck by a bullet from the policeman's revolver as he attempted to escape from him. The Department repeated out that the laying of the charge was the only way to dispose of the case.

DEVELOPMENT OF OUR INDUSTRIES

Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative Leader, Is Honored

Woodstock, N.B., Aug. 21.—(C.P.)—Pointing out that the function of government was to govern in the interests of those governed, and showing that in the United States imposts had been raised to protect their own industries to the exclusion of Canadian products through the forces of the Fordney Tariff Act, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, addressed a large audience at Inland Park, here. The answer to the Fordney Tariff that the Canadian Government could make, he said, was not necessarily the institution of high tariffs. The Government should see to it that the people of Canada have the opportunity of developing their own country for themselves.

The town band and many people in automobiles met Hon. Mr. Bennett, Miss Bennett and party which included R. B. Hanson, M.P., Fredericton, and Thomas Bell, M.P., Saint John and escorted them to their hotel where lun cheon was served.

After luncheon, the party proceeded to Inland Park where Hon. R. B. Bennett was chairman. His Worship C. J. Jones, Mayor of Woodstock, extended the welcome of the town to the guests. Replies were made by Thomas Bell, M.P., and R. B. Hanson, M.P.

RESIGNATION OF HERBERT HOOVER

F. Whiting of Massachusettes Is Administered Oath of Office

Superior, Wis., Aug. 21.—President Coolidge today accepted the resignation of Herbert Hoover from the cabinet and appointed William Whiting of Holyoke, Mass., to succeed him.

Mr. Whiting is a personal friend and political supporter of President Coolidge for many years arrived in Superior today and was administered the oath of office in chief executives private home.

He has never previously held political office, but has been very active in state politics.

POOR PARKING CAUSES CRASH

Diagonal parking was the cause of another accident yesterday afternoon when a Chevrolet Coupe owned by Jack Bush, of Chantrion was backed in to by one of Sloan's new trucks. Bush had parked his car on Bridge St., between the white lines, and the truck was parked next to him. When the driver backed out, the driver found it necessary to turn quickly to avoid backing into the line of cars across the street, with the result that it struck the rear of Bush's car, breaking the window, the top, the top, and, damaging the body at the rear. The truck was undamaged, and satisfactory settlement was made between the two parties.

former Canadian champion speed skater, is the mother of a bright and bouncing baby boy. The new acquisition to the skating colony arrived recently in Toronto.

CARS PLOUGHED INTO BIG TRUCK

Foreigner Charged With Parking Vehicle On Highway

Aldric Plouffe, of Montreal, and the driver of one of a fleet of motor transport trucks operating from that city ran foul of the law yesterday while about a mile and a half east of Trenton.

The trouble caused Aldruc to stop his truck directly on a culvert but over to the side o f the road he pulled. This was somewhere about dusk, and the driver curled up on the seat to spend the night, unfortunately forgetting to put his lights on.

(Some two hours later, two cars, each laden with passengers from the western points, happened along, and as the truck was without lights, no notice was taken of it until they were almost on it. The second car had just turned out to pass the first when the driver of the car in front saw the truck and pulled out, with the result that the two cars struck either a glancing blow and then hurtled into the ditch.

The truck itself was uninjured, but Plouffe was awakened by the sound of the crash, and immediately turned his lights on. Sergeant Roy Clarke, of the Provincial Police investigated the accident, but the occupants of the car had returned to Trenton, so Plouffe was allowed to stay with his truck to the end of the night morning when he brought back to Belleville by H. T. O. Frink.

This morning in Police Court, Plouffe, who understands little English, pleaded guilty to parking on the public highway without the necessary lights being shown, but explained that he only had ten dollars. As costs in the case amounted to seven dollars, he was fined two, leaving him one dollar to take him on his way to Montreal.

THE WEATHER

Fresh to strong southwest shifting to northwest winds with showers and local thunderstorms, somewhat cooler tonight.

Wednesday—Fresh westerly winds, fair.

SCORES AT REPORTS OF HUSBAND'S DEATH

Beaulieu, France, Aug. 21.—Her confidence in what she terms her telepathic knowledge that her husband still is alive is so great that Mrs. P. H. Fawcett, wife of the lost British explorer, scoffs at the report of his death. "For years I have followed his wanderings in South America by mental telepathy," she says, "and I am sure that I would know immediately of his death."

OWEN HERITY IS KIWANIS SPEAKER

Kiwanian Owen Herity, of the local Service Club, entertained the members at their luncheon today with an interesting talk on Evolution, Invention and International Amity. The speaker pointed out that Darwin in his "Origin of Species" had brought forth no theory necessarily non christian, in the belief that man along with other animals and plants had evolved gradually from lower to higher forms. Man, said he may easily thus have sprung from a common ancestry, and somewhere in the process of evolution, and development man assumed his present state. Such theory need not upset the teachings of Christianity.

Mr. Herity also dwelt on the value of the contribution the internal combustion engine had been since 1880, on land, in the air and the water, and with the now rapid transportation post life has come a better international feeling because of the greater knowledge we have of our neighbors.

President Greeleaf occupied the chair today. Two excellent vocal solos were rendered by Mr. Russel Cole, Mrs. Palmer accompanying.

TORNADO TOOK 6 LIVES

St. Paul, Minn., Aug 21.—Two tornadoes took six lives, injured more than three score persons and caused property damage estimated in excess of one million dollars in southern Minnesota and northern Iowa yesterday.

AWARD CONTRACT FOR GAS STATION

New Building Will Be of Old English Style Architecture

START DIRECTLY

Walter Patterson Will Erect Building For McColl Bros.

Announcement was made to the Press today that the confirmation of the awarding of the contract for the erection of the McColl Bros.' Service Station to the Patterson Construction Company had been received this morning. Some delay had been occasioned because of the great number of other companies who had put in tenders, but the McColl people evidently felt the Patterson Co. was better equipped to handle such a job, and so accepted accordingly.

The station itself will be a model of beauty in service stations, as it will be patterned after the Old English style, and will be finished in stucco. The side which faces Front street will be about thirty feet long, with the Bridge street side almost twice that. The corner will be rounded so as conform to the shape of the curb, and on this whole the corner will be much improved on the old buildings which formerly stood on the corner was an eye-sore to the community, and although only a service station will look nearly as the main corners, it could not look worse than the old building.

Needless to say, the McColl Bros. will keep the place as clean and sanitary as a pin, and both after the fashion of the new station on the corner of College and Bridge streets, operated by the Shell Co. This station is one of the finest in Ontario and is always kept in the best of shape. Work will commence on the new McColl building almost immediately, as plans have already arrived at the Patterson office. This will keep many Belleville men working for another month and a half on this job.

BIGGER INFLUX SHOULD RESULT

Increase In Number of Settlers Expected From Lovat Tour

Ottawa, August 21.—Lord Lovat left Montreal on the Empress today on a five days' stay in the capital. Lord Lovat, assisted by Mr. G. F. Plant, secretary of the Overseas Settlement Committee and Mr. F. Stevington, representing the British Treasury, has been in conference with the Hon. Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration and Colonization; Mr. W. J. Egan, deputy minister, and other officials of the department. The conference has discussed various matters arising out of British migration to and settlement in Canada, and measures to be adopted both in Canada and in Great Britain to give effect to the recommendations and other proposals made by Lord Lovat, have been fully and frankly discussed with a thorough appreciation of the difficulties and problems. In every case a satisfactory understanding has been arrived at. It is announced. It is confidently expected that the results of these negotiations will be a steady increase in the flow of suitable British migrants to Canada, according to an official statement from Mr. Egan.

PREMIER URGES CONSOLIDATION

Toronto, Ont. Aug. 21.—Intimation that the consolidation of the various public services operating in Ontario would be a good thing for the province was given by Premier Howard Ferguson speaking to the convention of Chief Constables' Association of Canada here today. After saying that he preferred the term "law observance" to "law enforcement" the Premier said procurable by tact and good judgments on the part of policemen, the Premier said, he would favor consolidation of organizations and I am not sure it is a good thing."

SCRIBE MARooNED ON LONELY ISLE

Oslo, Norway, Aug. 21.—The Norwegian Steamer 'Michael Sars,' which has been searching passages for the scientific Norwegian Expedition Island for traces of the lost explorer, Harald Amundsen and his party, reports it has found no sign of the missing men.

On Expedition Island the search ers found a letter dated August 1923 written by the Dutch Journalist, Van Hogenhoek, who said he had been disembarked on the island by mistake instead of at Spitsbergen. He was without arm. or provisions, he wrote.

A thorough search of the island failed to reveal his whereabouts and it is presumed he was picked up by a passing ship.

"TODAY'S THOUGHT

"Let reinforcement we may gain
Through hope;
If not, what resolution from despair."
MILTON.

"AS A RAY"

Stanford University accepting the Republican nomination righted the half-hearted equivocation of the Kansas City convention, and frankly revealed himself as a "tone-dry" candidate.

If, as he declares, prohibition is a moral issue rather than the tariff, his stand will win him much Democratic support, for there has been a widespread feeling in the latter party that Democratic Smith "betrayed" the Houston convention. Smith proposes to nullify the prohibition amendment partially by modifying the Volstead Act while maintaining the basic definition. Enforcement Hoover. He also proposes to permit individual states to determine their particular degree of laxity they desire in prohibition enforcement.

Hoover's stand hits up in one word, "protection." It is apt. Time has not only revealed that Hoover is a states-man, but it has already shown that Smith is a politician.

Smith is not a national figure, but is the hero of the urban mob. Except for the link of the name, he is far removed from the Democrat of the South and West as if he were the Emir of Afghanistan. However, 52 per cent. of the population of the United States now lives in urban centres of 2,500 or more. That Smith is a "popular" leader cannot be denied.

PRINCE GEORGE

H. R. H. Prince George, the King's fourth son, passes through Canada en route to Montreal, where he will join H.M.S. Durban as French interpreter. He is following in his father's footsteps, His Majesty having served as midshipman and sub-lieutenant in British Canada, before being given command of the gunboat Thrush. Prince George has always been known to his friends as "the sailor", and known affectionately, because the British people have always looked to the sea and have found great glory in it and have drawn great strength from it, both in peace and in war. Prince George has been already a dozen years at sea, in the naval college, having entered Osborne as a cadet in 1916, and he has served in His Majesty's ships on the Atlantic, Mediterranean and China stations. He qualified as an interpreter something over a year ago, and was appointed in October to be the new flagship Nelsonian interpreter and staff officer. He goes now to the Durban, which leaves British Columbia early next month on her way to the West Indies station, visiting San Diego, California, for some days en route and passing through the Panama Canal. Prince George is a very welcome visitor to the Dominion of Canada, to which he is not a stranger.

PITIFUL PEOPLE

There is a class of persons who are always excusing themselves and at the same time taking practical people with endless pleads and formulas of "never having had a chance"; or if a chance did appear, it was always blocked by some other chance which prevented success along any given line of endeavor. As a rule such indigents are fly divided into two classes, to wit: those who conspicuously accept their status of mental or personal inferiority, and those who spend potential productive hours, days and years in complaining about conditions which they themselves neglect to improve.

It will be found, on association, that such people are not tenacious, and that this respect each of these classes is sub-divided into two other classes—the first failing to grasp or record or retain useful suggestions as to progress or improvement and the second those who resent wise admonitions as to some sense a criticism of their personal deficiency. So that the whole tribe of pitiful people, for such they are, proceed upon their unhappy and complaining way, consciously or unconsciously mistaking the meaning of things, blaming fate, fortune and oddof people for such misconceptions, and so claiming the aid and comfort of the stronger natures whom they envy or find fault with.

The genius of the fruits thereof is very large. They include in every clime, land, social or family division. Their function seems to be to get in the way or drag back. They are always the "abused" and "injured" part of the human scheme. They get on their own nerves and on the nerves of every body else. They halt the procession they impede the advance, and they are the first to berate the general if and when through their own performance the battle is lost.

Richard I, he who was called Coeur de Lion, had bitter experience of this fact among his own relatives and official entourage. Once his color came to him and knelt with a wishing request for some special and unreasonable favor, he angrily rebuked her after this fashion, "I am sick and tired of pitiful people. Rise, sister, be I pity you!" That was more than 700 years ago, but the tribe of them has not yet noticeably decreased.

OTHERS OVERPAID

It is said by sport writers that the Tunney-Heeney fight marked the end of the million dollar gates. Never again, they say, will a pugilist get half a million for an evening's work. The boom has collapsed.

That is, after all, a good thing. The tremendous prizes drawn down by boxers represented a sense of values that was out of all proportion. But the situation was never quite as bad as some people used to think.

It's hardly right for a fighter to earn more than the Premier of Canada, perhaps. But, after all, there are sheet-haired movie actors and sotty-curved movie actresses who make even more money; and, in the long run, it is probably true that they contribute no more to the advancement of the nation than the prize fighters.

RED WAR

Say not a German drove his cruel sword
Into the body of your best beloved.

Say not a Prussian burned some boy's youthful farmer on his soft white throat.

Say not that England callous sent
Her host of fire as punishment.

All the wild things that are
Are War—red war—

Look at the millions slaughtered in war's thirst,
Hate long had hungered—she has done her worst.

Let us unite today red war to slay,
Not by fire and sword, but by love of God.

BROTHERHOOD IN THRIVING SHAPE

Frank W. Logan, Brockville, Returns From Convention

Brockville, Aug. 21.—F. W. Logan has just returned from Cleveland where he spent the past month in making an examination of the financial and investment interests of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers.

At the convention held in 1927 a committee of eight members was elected, two from Canada and six from the United States, to make a periodical check of the organization's finances and expense accounts of all Grand Lodge officers.

The value of the B. of L. E. to each individual member is set up in the following and is a summary of the distribution of the moneys in the organization during the past year, July 1, 1927, to July 1, 1928:

Paid members $3,059,150.00
" men's pension 1,189,454.18
" widows' pension 485,780.27
" indigent members 116,942.13
" loyalty members 10,900.00
" strike benefits 305,423.07
" charity 5,190.00
" Highland Park home 21,768.85

$5,195,042.18

Also an increase in wages and better working conditions were granted to all locomotive engineers.

The "miles and conditions" received through the efforts of the B. of L. E. with the employers also improve the same condition for all engineers on the property, thus advancing the welfare of non-members.

The Highland Park Home takes care of aged members who have no home in their old age.

The value of any organization is measured mainly by its productivity, and the splendid dividends shown above should not only be of interest to the members of the B. of L. E. but to the general public, who in many cases look at labor unions as something only engaged in some pie against the welfare of the country.

The B. of L. E. has a membership of 84,000 and has always tried to advance not only the interests of its members, but has upheld law and order in all cases, and has the respect of the railway officials and general public because of its attitude to fair dealing and living strictly up to its contracts.

FARMER BREAKS NECK IN FALL

James Robinson In Paralyzed Condition In Lindsay Hospital

Lindsay, Aug. 21.—James Robinson suffered a severe accident at his farm this morning when he fell from a load of grain on which he was riding with such force that he broke his neck. He was immediately rushed to the home, where medical help were called. They at once took him to Ross Memorial Hospital in Lindsay, where he now lies in a paralyzed state.

Mr. Robinson whose farm is a mile and a quarter south of Linsay on the Peterborough-Lindsay highway, was drawing in grain and his little grandson was driving the horses. The young lad started the horses and Robinson was thrown from the load on to the sufface.

He is a well known resident of this district and was prominent man in the political life of the community for several terms.

St. Thomas will make bid for Canadian Legion and Kiwanis conventions next year.

A Word to the Wise
If, a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded it as the opportunity of a lifetime.
Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25% to 80% or more under levels established last year.
The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have increased the equities behind the shares.
Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

TO PLEAD INSANITY

Insanity will be the defense in the charge of murder against Wilbert Richard Williams, retired school teacher, of Kingston, who announced to the police on the Wednesday morning last that he had killed his wife with a hammer because she had been unfaithful to him. It is learned that Williams stood time ago was examined by a doctor as to his mental condition at his own request. Since his arrest, Williams had shown no concern over his deed. He talks about quarrels he and his wife had since their marriage. Their domestic life appears to have been very unhappy. Williams' father died some time ago leaving a large estate to his family and two sons by another wife, one residing at Clandeboye, near London, Ont., in 25 years of age. It has been discovered that the charge against Williams stated that his wife's name, Gertrude, was an error. Mrs. Williams' Christian name was Maude and Crown Attorney Higbey has given orders to have the mistake rectified.

CAPITOL THEATRE

One of the very best screen features shown at the Capitol Theatre this year is "William Haines in "Telling the World" which opened a three day run last evening. Haines has never been better than in this fine comedy as an anbitious newspaper reporter who runs into plenty of excitement and action finding news. It's a tense gripping picture, giving an insight, too, into revolutionary China at the present time. Don't miss seeing this latest and best Haines picture.

The Imperial Players continuing their extraordinarily successful run at the Capitol, over the last two days of this week another good comedy "An Irish Cinderella", and is one of the best performances of these popular players this season.

Altogether the programme is an outstanding one from start to finish and should not be missed by anyone who likes really good screen features and clean, wholesome entertainment.

"THE DOVE" AT THE BELLE

Theatre-goers who have seen "The Dove" at the Belle say it is one of the most interesting pictures shown this year. Laid in the mythical land of Costa Rica, the setting is one of Spanish splendour, and the swift moving story brings to every-respect with the splendid scenery. Norma Denmark as the Opera Comedy plays appropriate music as only he can play it, and as a result, a pleasant evening is spent.

A FALSE ALARM

Campers at Sunset Creek and along the Bay Shore last night about ten o'clock noticed a burst of flames come from some point of the shore, and immediately thoughts of a burning car were viewed. Quickly each hand they rushed up the road to see what was the matter, only to discover that some one had made a bon-fire along the road and had thrown coal oil or gasoline on it to quicken the fire.

WON 25 PRIZE

Miss Margery Sherman won the 25 prize at Oak Lake pavilion last night for having guessed nearest the correct number of tickets sold during the evening. The Bon Ton Orchestra supplied the music. This dance rendezvous is becoming more popular each week.

CASE AGAIN ENLARGED

Thomas McPherson who was to have had his trial on a charge of a serious offence, against a young girl, this morning, was remanded for one week on the request of the prosecution, as one of the chief Crown witnesses whose evidence is necessary, was out of the city. Mathews was released on his own recognizance and will appear again one week from today.

PATIENT DROWNED

The body of Mrs. Winnifred Wilson, aged 38, a patient of the Ontario Hospital for the Insane, Brockville, since Thursday last, was found floating yesterday in the St. Lawrence off Pickering's Point, in the vicinity of the hospital.

Mrs. Joe H. Lane who was in the city attending the funeral of her brother, Mrs. W. Cahill, returned to her home in Kilcheer this morning.

Mrs. G. O. Macken has returned home after spending the past two weeks with relatives in Niagara Falls, N.Y., and Buffalo. Mr. Macken has returned from Muskoka Lake.

Dr. W. J. Gillies of Saskatoon with his wife and daughters and Mr. McPherson of Milton, spent the week end at the home of Mrs. Cronin, W. D. Reid, Front of Thurlow.

Miss Margaret McGrath, of Belleville and Misses Mary and Ethel McWilliams, of Read, also Mr. W. A. Williams spent Sunday with friends at Marlbank.

Messrs. Joseph and William McWilliams, of Detroit, have returned to their home after spending the past two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry McWilliams, of Read.

Dr. U. G. Rosewarne, Cleveland, Ohio, is visiting relatives in the Kingston General Hospital today and at though he is still semi-conscious, shows considerable improvement.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

HARRIET LAMBERT

The death occurred last night at the family residence, 110 South John St., of Harriet Lambert, widow of the late Walter Lambert in her 92nd year. Deceased was born in Belleville in 1837, and had lived here all her life being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McBride. She was a member of St. Andrew's Church, and is survived by one daughter, Iva, at home, two sisters, Mrs. F. B. Johns, Gravelville and Mrs. J. W. Storms, Belleville. One brother, John C. McBrath, of this city also survives.

DIED

LAMBERT—Died in Belleville on Aug. the 20th, 1928, Harriet McBrath, relict of the late Walter Lambert, in her 92nd year.

Funeral will be held from the late residence, 119 South John St., on Wednesday, August 22nd, at 2.30 p.m. service at the home at two o'clock. Interment in Belleville Cemetery.

MAN'S MIND LEAPS TO NEW HIGH PLANE

By Dr. LOUIS E. BISCH

From the anatomical viewpoint there seems to be abundant evidence that the brain of man has not yet reached its finest and highest development by a long way.

In other words, considering man's mind progress from the types of the dark man, the Piltdown, the Rhodesian, and the Neanderthal up to modern man, one must conclude that this marked evolutionary progress cannot possibly have stopped at this generation.

Mayhaps as here, been the advances in art and science during the past few centuries the possibility is that the next thousand years will see the achievements of the present day to shame.

Already we are used to the radio and radio transmission and it won't be long before television will have arrived and been accepted as commonplace.

Should such an hypothesis, however, discourage us? Should we feel, perhaps that if we are in an' intermediary stage of development, nothing we may do, no matter how unusual, can really matter?

The pride of the man of today might dictate such a conclusion were it not for the fact that the human brain cannot help developing itself no matter how hard it tries.

We cannot deliberately prevent brain cells from becoming more capable and perfect.

We can do nothing to make intelligence stand still.

We, as individuals, keep on going, reaching toward higher and higher planes of intellectual ability. And as nations or races this zone to-tal progress often means a tremendous step forward in civilization.

At any rate, we feel happiest when we feel that we have accomplished something.

A conviction of mental stagnation makes for depression. The individual feels useless and worn out. He senses that he is not marching along with the times. Perhaps unconsciously he realizes that he is not keeping growth of mankind as a whole.

Let us, therefore, do what we can to bring about the advent of the superman and superwoman of the future as soon as possible.

Let us develop ourselves to the utmost.

We won't live long enough to know these supermen. Hercules, like what does that matter when we can be happiest only when we are functioning at our best?

Bear in mind that nobody, no matter how gifted and capable he or she may be, ever develops all his brain cells to the utmost.

There is room for improvement in each and every one of us.

Dormant brain cells can be made to awaken through deliberate effort.

And what is more, not only your efficiency but your mental and emotional well-being besides is enhanced in direct proportion to the healthy functioning of your nervous system.

Keep developing always!

Don't get stale!

Be up and doing on your mental level!

Contribute what you can to the advance of civilization.

Your personal compensations will well repay you.!

WHAT'S NEW

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Good draperies are again good.

Chanel is showing short fur jackets of red, etc., with satin frocks.

The latest skirt on a Ford is: "Don't high hat me, girls. You wouldn't look good either, without a coat of paint."

The famous Paris tailor, O'Connell is of the opinion that 15½ inches from the ground is the correct skirt length.

The uneven hemline has become a classic. If is here to stay at least for the coming season, and its inequality is greater than ever.

New York notes that after several years' devotion to the coarse Italian lines, the trend back to fine Irish linen and damask now is conspicuous.

New scarf ends may reach almost to the hem of the skirt. Bernard of Che have a one-piece dress of pale green crepe satin with a scarf collar which may be worn draped, to hang in back, or open, with a rever and very long scarf end in front, while pressed pleats form pleats at the side front of the gown.

Wilful Wives

CHAPTER 23

The End of the Reign

Marguerite crept silently away from the drawing-room door. She didn't wait to see if Hal yielded to Lydia's request to kiss her. She supposed that he did. Lydia was, she knew, very alluring and everybody had hinted that she and Hal had been in love with each other.

In her own room, sitting before her mirror, she tried to tell herself that she didn't care. It was not her fault, if she had separated them. But she knew that she did care.....not because she loved Irene Hal, but because she bore his name and there was pride in her heart. To have Hal go about with Irma Brockton, dance with her, evening after evening, was quite another story. She trusted Irma; she knew that Irma was square. Irma was not in love with Hal. All she wanted was a good time, and her husband didn't know how to be the ball-follow-will-not. Irma had always liked for a companion.

But Lydia was different. Lydia, so pretty and gay, was on the watch for attractive men. And Hal had been her objective for a long time, so the gossip ran.

Marguerite cried a little, there in the privacy of her pretty room. But there was no one to tell her what to do. No one to advise her to don her tip-tiest frock and stroll into the drawing-room and annihilate Lydia with her youth and freshness.

So, she waited until the dinner-gong sounded, and then emerged, the traces of tears still visible. And she hadn't changed her frock.

What was the use of trying to fight Lydia? Lydia had every art and grace at her finger-tips.

Hal had changed and was looking fresh and immaculate. He eyed her curiously.

"Fagged, aren't you? It's been beastly hot today."

She nodded wearily. "I went to see our families off for Europe."

He shrugged: "Sorry I couldn't make it, but Dad has certainly left me enough to do to keep me in the office all summer." He made a grimace. "No golf or good times this summer, I'm afraid."

After a while he asked: "I say, whne did you come in? Lydia Converse was here, hoping you'd give her tea."

"Yes, I know," she nodded, avoiding his eyes, "but.....I wasn't up to Lydia this afternoon."

He looked at her sharply. "Do you mind telling me, Marguerite, when you are up to anything?"

She sighed. "I donk know. I seem to be very tired this spring. I guess it's the after-effects of flu."

"You need a change. Why not go away for a while, Atlantic City, or.....f.....well, any place that's healthful."

She didn't fail to note the eagerness in his tone. He wanted to be rid of her, she thought. Now that their respective parents were out of the way, he dared say what he really thought.

"I ought to stay here," she answered, "and see that the house is run properly."

"Oh, that! Marguerite, when will you ever learn I don't give a rap for this perfect house business. A place to eat and sleep and change my clothes is enough for me. I can get that at my club."

She made no reply. She was thinking that that was what he really wanted. That cherished freedom. Freedom and.....Lydia, perhaps. It meant not having to come home in the evening and play the dutiful husband, and he did.....now and then.

She felt then that their only ties had snapped. She wasn't even needed to keep his home in order. Nobody needed her. Nobody wanted her. Her parents were bound for Europe. Hal was thinking of the pleasures of bachelor freedom.....and Lydia.

She was quite alone.

After a while she asked quietly: "Would you like that, Hal.....to go back to your club to live?"

He answered impatiently: "Don't talk nonsense. I can't do it, so that's that."

"But you'd like to?" she persisted.

"Marguerite, sometimes you are positively infuriating."

After a few minutes he said curtly, "Care to go to a dance tonight?"

She shook her head.

"Mind if I ask Irma? I think she'd like to go, because she and Steve have been having it hot and heavy lately. I think it's because he wants her to go on those 'old trips' and she wants to stay in New York"

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

When the stove polishing brush wears out, tack a piece of old velvet over the worn-out bristles; it will polish as well as ever. Replace the velvet when worn out.

When blacking stoves, wet the polish with vinegar, strong tea, or turpentine; or, put in a small piece of alum; it last longer and shines brighter.

Green Pepper Jam! The Certo way

Mint Jelly!

THERE is a treat in store for you If you have not already made Green Pepper Jam. Nothing is quite so delightful with cold meats, and it is so quickly and easily made the Certo way.

Do you serve Mint Jelly instead of Mint Sauce? It is not only more delicious, but has the added advantage of being already prepared for use when you need it.

The time of boiling is reduced to one or two minutes by the Certo method and the amount of jam or jelly increased one-half over that made by old-fashioned recipes. That is why Certo-made jams and jellies cost less. Not only less in cost, but far superior in flavor and color.

A winter's supply of delightful jams and jellies can be prepared in a few hours—the Certo way.

FREE—New booklet, beautifully illustrated in color! 24 pages of new ideas about the making of jams and jellies —new and interesting ways to serve them. Mail this coupon.

FIRST ANNUAL CAVERLEY REUNION HELD AT TWELVE O'CLOCK POINT

G. W. Tucker of Belleville Is Made 1929 President

(Contributed)

On Wednesday, August 15th, one of the finest and warmest days we have had this summer, there gathered on the Twelve O'Clock Point Picnic grounds, a jolly crowd, it being a Caverley family re-union. This was the first time the Caverleys had the pleasure of meeting together and each by the crowd commenced to gather and cars were coming from all directions. After introductions and hearty handshakes the ladies prepared the tables and everybody made the good things suffer. After dinner the men had a game of ball. Then the girls had a game. Some went to the beach for a swim.

Then came a tug of war between those by the name of Caverley and others of different names. The Caverley's being heavy weights, they won the pull.

The crowd was called to order and Jesse Marvin was chosen Chairman. A vote was taken and carried in favor of a gathering next year on the third Wednesday of August, on the same grounds.

G. W. Tucker was appointed President and Wesley Caverley, Oshawa, Secretary-Treasurer for next year. The Chairman and President made a few remarks, thanking the crowd for turning out so well. Then Wm. Caverley, of Bowmanville, was called on and gave a little history in a book called "The Caverley's" dating back to 830 AD and promised to try and have a better history for next year.

A register was passed around by C. H. Coverley for everybody to sign. The register showed 140 ones but should have shown more as some were missed.

Supper was served and the crowd wended their way home all satisfied with their day's outing.

The names as shown by the register were:

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Caverley and family, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Caverley, Marmora; Robt. Blakely, Bannockburn; Mr. and Mrs. P. Burkholman, Pennington; Mrs. Jefferson Caverley, Bowman River; Mrs. Pauline Caverley, Bowman River, Man.; Irene Caverley, Bowman River, Man.; Rena Caverley, Downsville; Amy L. CONGRATULATED ON POLITICAL EQUITY

Montreal, Que. (By C. P.)—In congratulating his sister organization in England on the achievement of complete political equity for women, the Canadian Alliance for Women's Vote, of Quebec, sent a letter to the St. Joan's Social and Political Alliance, which is the Catholic suffrage organization of Britain. The message is as follows:

"The members of the Canadian Alliance for Women's Vote, of Quebec, rejoice in your success. You have at last received the reward of your marvelous efforts. Sixty years or striving have brought you to the realization of that which you were pursuing. I thank you for your good wishes concerning the women of Quebec. May the women of the Province of Quebec, who are actually the only women of the Dominion and the only white women of the British Empire deprived of their provincial rights, enjoy same victory in the very near future. May our legislators understand that justice and civilization go hand in hand, and glad by the conquest of selfishness and the recognition of everyone's rights. humanity gradually progresses. With our best congratulation." — (Signed) Idola Saint-Jean, president.

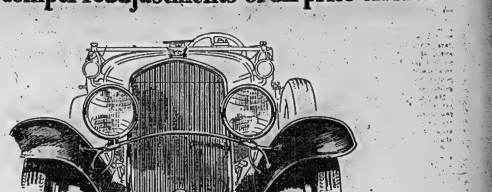

Among the letters received by the St. Jean Alliance, one of the most prized, was that of the Bishop of Pella, who said:

"What not long ago was looked upon as an absurd and impossible demand is now a commonplace of national life. Let women use their vote, so hardly won, and use it widely in all questions affecting the well-being of the common ity, especially women and children, and to defend the rights of the Catholic Church and Catholic education."

What Will you do

When your Children Cry for It

There is rarely a household that hasn't heard of Castoria! At least five million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family, there's almost daily need of its comfort. And any night may find you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Just a few drops, and that colic or constipation is relieved; or diarrhea checked. A vegetable preparation; a baby remedy meant for young folks; Castoria is about the only thing you have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger medicines are dangerous to a tiny baby, however harmless they may be to grown-ups. Good old Castoria. Remember the name, and remember to buy it. It may save you a sleepless, anxious night. It is always ready, always safe to use; in emergencies, or for everyday ailments. Any hour of the day or night that Baby becomes fretful, or restless, Castoria was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

ISHBEL'S GREAT CHILD INTEREST

Miss MacDonald's Main Hobby Is Child Work In London

Toronto.—Interviewed while in this city, Miss Ishbel Macdonald showed most animation when she talked about children. In her work in the east end of London, she daily comes in contact with hundreds of working-class mothers and their children. The children know that I understand them," she said. Speaking of her work in the County Council she stated that elementary education, clinics and the health of the school children were her special province.

To the women of Canada, Miss Macdonald had a message to give. "Women are coming out into public life," she said, "not to work against men, but to co-operate with them in improving public affairs." Continuing she said: "I do not believe in equality. Men and women can not be compared. Women are just as important as men but they are not equal. any more than A and B are in algebraic."

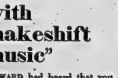

Education is Miss Macdonald's chief interest. She was elected to the London County Council before she had a vote. She has supplied new for registration for the franchise.

"I am not going to stand for election to Parliament," she laughed, but would not say that she would never enter the political arena for this purpose. Such was not her intention though, she thought.

The views of the Labor party take a great interest in politics in England she stated. The working class members are there to put their heart and soul into politics.

She is a very charming girl. Miss Ishbel, and quite pretty with her kindly brown eyes, unbobbed brown tres ses smooth brow and rosy cheeks. In person of connection.

Her younger sister, Joan, is a second year medical student at the University of Edinburgh. She wears her hair in the "Eton" bob style. Sheila, the youngest, is the talking of the trio. She is still at high school, being but 17 years of age.

We'll never be satisfied with makeshift music"

EDWARD had heard that you could do certain things to the old-type machine and make it "like an Orthophonic." However, his experiments didn't turn out. So we finally bought our Orthophonic Victrola.

It certainly made a difference around our house. We play it practically all the time. And we feel, also, that it offers a splendid musical education for Edward, Jr.

Are you missing the enjoyment that an Orthophonic Victrola would bring to your home? There's no need to—with our easy-payment plan! Our stock of models offers a choice for every pocketbook. Let's talk things over—soon!

STAGE SET FOR OPENING GAME OF CENTRAL LEAGUE PLAY-OFFS

"Duke" Daniels Will Hook Up With "Hoot" Gibson In Finals

NATS. FAVORITES

Biggest Crowd of Season Expected At Tomorrow's Big Game

From all indications one of the largest crowds to ever attend a ball game in Bellevilla in recent years will be in the stands when the local Nationals and the Cahaws Motors renew the off on the first leg of the final contest for the Central Ontario championship tomorrow. It's almost a safe thing in the eyes of Belleville fans, and if the Motors win the series, it will be one of the biggest surprises of late years. However, stranger things have happened and any dyed-in-the-wool fan who passes up tomorrow's game for a fishing trip or whatever-you needs a physician's attention, pronto.

The Nationals, cock-of-the-walk in the Central League have shown a plain pair of heels to the other teams in the league beginning July 1st, and with the Grenwoods it was just a 6-5 derby round of wins. There simply was no stopping them and although the Pelee had a certain amount of success in trimming the Nats, with Cahaws, the shoe was on the other foot and the locals had but to use their gloves in the ring and the game was as good as in the bag. The veteran, "Duke" Daisby, the last of the old brigade of Central League pitchers will be a certain choice tomorrow to do the gunning. The "Duke" is a veteran in the point of service, and it would appear that the weather-beaten flinger is long past his hey-day. The way in his time one of the leading clubmen east of Toronto but this has taken its toll and Daisby is but a shell of his former self. But here's a tip, he's still fair, and the Nats will have their hands full to take two straight games from the Motors. Daisby had a tough game some weeks ago here when after hurling a well-nigh perfect game, the ballook ascended, and his good work went for naught when some of his erratic base-mates threw the game away.

In "Hoot" Gibson we believe we have one of the smartest pitchers in the Central League and his record this season is one to be proud of. Three years ago the boy had little more than a ball and a glove, and an inclination to pitch, but Walter George immediately saw possibilities in the gangling youth and gave him all the chance in the world. He was placed in the hands of the master mind, "Peeny" Mills, and the big catcher has moulded this kid into a real find. While not in the Goyer-Williams class, nevertheless he is a fine moundsman and Cahaws, for they have not already found that out, will see for themselves tomorrow.

On paper the Nats have it over the Motors like the proverbial tent. Two of the visiting players are to be seriously reckoned with and they are Herbie Wolfe, the ex-Peterboro flash and Reg. Fair, veteran outfielder. The remainder of the team is just mediocre and they will have to show a decided improvement over their last appearance here if they expect to bring home the bacon. Mills has a over Quinn in the catching department a hundred ways for Quinn while in practically every other position the local players are superior. Tomorrow's game will start at three o'clock, fifteen minutes earlier than usual but considering the stakes will be well packed before game time.

TORONTO LOST 10TH STRAIGHT

Toronto, August 21.—The Toronto Maple Leafs lost their tenth consecutive game yesterday when Jersey City beat them out by 4 to 1. Horne and Collins both pitched good ball. The former allowed only four hit after the second inning, while Collins weakened in the last two innings. The visitors, aided by passes and timely hits, pulled out a decisive victory. A one-hand running catch by Sheehy on Smith in the fourth innings featured the game.

Buffalo, August 21.—The Bisons took the first game of the series here yesterday afternoon from the visiting Newark Bears, 9-5, and increased their advantage in the battle for sixth place in the standings. Goldsmith, of the visitors, and Wyrtz, of the Herd, starting pitchers, both failed to go the route, as each team pounded out 13 hits during the fray. The Bisons bunched their blows in timely fashion to win.

Rochester, August 21.—Rochester's Red Wings opened their home stand here yesterday afternoon by beating the Reading Keys, 6 to 3. The Wings tabbed three runs in the eighth inning with the score tied at 3-all. Letty Irvin pitched good ball throughout for Rochester.

CIACOS CAPTURE CHAMPIONSHIP IN INDUSTRIAL L.G.

Dispose of Point Anne In Easy Fashion In Finals

In a game that scintillated with sparkling fielding and terrific hitting the Ciacos of the Canadian Industrial Alcohol Company, captured the Rowsome Cup emblematic of the Bay of Quinte Industrial league championship by administering a trimming to the Point Anne team at the Agricultural Park last night by a score of 13-2. After dropping the first game to the Pointers the Ciacos came back and won from the Cement Makers and then to cap it off they cappled the verdict last night. The Ciaco staggers who played before two hundred of their own rooters showed little mercy to the Point Anne pitchers. The Ciacos were considered as tail-enders at the start of the season but the results of constant practice were never more readily shown than they were last night.

Their play all evening was studded with brilliant work and they played behind Ralph Dey like the proverbial well-oiled machine. It was a great and glorious victory and the Point Anne bunch who had gone through the regular schedule without a defeat were virtually snowed under a barrage of hits by the Allison Dollar outfit. Ciaco rooters were there in force and as a result of the win it is rumored that the Company will build a fine Club-house where athletics of all kinds will be staged. The Point Anne team have dominated the league since the first day of May but they were simply crowded out of the picture yesterday. The mighty Goyer, Green and Bennett landed like cavalry horses alongside the brilliant Ciaco crew.

Ralph they who has maintained a clear and clean record since joining the Ciaco Club steamed along in easy fashion all afternoon and had the Pointers eating out of his hand. The south-paw twisted the Cement makers balls last Thursday and the Ciaco management relied on him to bring home the bacon yesterday. He did it up in apple-pie order and in doing so caused five Point Anne hitters to whirl the breezes and allowed but seven well-scattered hits. Strachan was given the assignment by Manager Bob Redner but the right-hander after pitching nice ball for four innings lost his stuff in the fifth and was finally driven to the showers. "Shorty" Green, that versatile ball player, vacated the catcher's box for the pitching mound and he was given no better treatment than his predecessor and gave way to Alex Weir who completed the pastime.

Boyle Again to the Front

Jo Jack Boyle and "Mickey" McDonald the Ciacos have two of the smoothest-looking ball players in the city around the keystone sack. McDonald made the best catch of the day to retire the side in the eighth inning when he ran back under Alex Weir's Texas Leaguer in centre field. Boyle while he had two unfortunate errors made a pretty stab in the sixth when he leaped up to spear Palmer's sharp drive with his glove-lips. Barrage came in for applause for a clever catch later when he took Weir's clout.

Boyle who has been hoping at a tremendous clip, was the busy artist yesterday when with bases full in the fourth inning he poled out a timely double to clear the sacks. Ciacos had no less than five two-base hits to their credit. Boyle was the leading hitter with three clean singles in five times at the bat.

The game opened up with all indications of being a close struggle and for four innings Point Anne played errorless ball but after that it was a massacre.

Fitchett started the works in the fourth by banging out a double. Heeney got a single and Barrage was safe on Strath's error. McDonald hit to Weir but Alex fooled it and Pitchett counted. Latchford hit to M. Green who forced Heeney at the plate. Williams walked with the bases full and a run was forced in. Boyle then got his double with the cushions populated and came in himself on Creiney's double. They went out to Hutchings but Fitchett got a life on "Sunny" Green's error and Creiney scored. Heeney went out to end the night-mare. Ralph Dey successfully clinched his own game in the fifth when he drove out a single to score two more runs. Aside from the fifth and sixth the ball game was fairly even but it was quite sufficient and the Ciacos came under the wire winners by the proverial mile. Alan Meagher and Walter Gerow umpired.

GIANTS RETAIN NATIONAL LEAD

Breaks Give Victory To McGrawmen — Cards Downed Brooklyn

New York, August 21.—The Giants retained their lead in the National League pennant race yesterday by pounding out a 5 to 3 victory over the Reds at Cincinnati.

The breaks as well as the hitting helped the Giants' win. The second run came in when Dressen, trying to catch Welsh at the plate, hit him with the ball.

New York's scoring was confined to the third, fifth and sixth innings after the Reds had sent two runs over in the first.

Cohen's triple to right in the sixth with Terry on first practically settled the game by putting New York two runs ahead. Andy scored the Giants' fifth run in the same inning.

An orgy of hitting seldom seen on Wrigley field, Philadelphia crushed the Cubs, 11 to 6, in the opening game of their series. It was the first victory in nine starts for this season for the Phillies, but their fifth straight over the Cubs, who dropped a four game series to the other second division entry at Philadelphia.

Jimmy Wilson's single with the bases full in the ninth inning gave the Cardinals a 2 to 1 victory over the Brooklyn Robins here yesterday and kept St. Louis only two points behind the Giants in the National League pennant race.

Boston took the first of the series from Pittsburgh Pirates, 14-11, in a battle which lasted for two hours and fifty-eight minutes. Although it was settled in the regulation nine innings.

PLAY NAPANEE LEAFS TONIGHT

Beavers Must Win Tonight Or Be Eliminated

The Belleville Beavers play Napanee Leafs tonight in Napanee. If they lose they face elimination from the League race. It will be a fighting crew who will tackle the Napanee Leafs and the fine Glad laxies hope to bring home the bacon.

Unfortunately the Beavers are in a slump at present, after playing nice ball all season and appear to be at their worst just now. Too many games for the girls, looks to be the cause as in the last few games, the pep and dash that has marked their work has been sadly missing.

Local fans will be pulling for a win as many would like to see the two local teams battle it out in the play off.

LONSDALE FARMER IS SERIOUSLY HURT

Kingston, Aug. 21.—Ray McAvoy, a young farmer at Lonsdale, was injured while working in the fields on Friday afternoon. The young man was engaged in binding and in the course of his work, one of the points of the kicker, which draws the grain out of the binder, caught him under the right eye inflicting a more or less serious wound.

The unfortunate young man was brought to the Hotel Dieu Hospital by Dr. S. McAvoy, of Lonsdale, who attended him, and it was reported that the patient would recover very shortly providing no complications set in.

KINGSTON SAILOR IS IN CRITICAL SHAPE

Kingston, Aug. 20.—Ernest Jeffrey, 380 Barrie Street, Kingston, who was admitted to the Hotel Dieu Hospital on Friday afternoon suffering from severe scalds caused by an explosion of the tug Donnelly while off Simcoe Island in the St. Lawrence River, was reported on Friday night as in a very serious condition; Dr. O. W. Myles, who is in attendance, stating that it will be two or three days before it is possible to give any assurance of ultimate recovery.

AMAZING OPERATION ON INJURED TOURIST

Kingston, Aug. 20.— What was probably one of the most amazing operations ever seen in the city was performed at the Kingston General Hospital on Friday afternoon, by Dr. L. J. Austin and Dr. Eugene Ruscwaier, of Cleveland, Ohio. The operation was a trephining operation, removing part of a bone from the skull and thereby giving the patient a greatly improved chance for recovery. On Saturday Dr. Ruscwater was reported as improving slightly, and verging on semi-consciousness, and Dr. Austin had hopes this morning for his r covery.

LORD BALFOUR'S 80TH BIRTHDAY

The celebration of the Earl of Balfour's 80th birthday has created widespread interest in Great Britain.

The British Academy, a learned society of which Lord Balfour has been President for many years, has recently been given a permanent home at Burlington House. The funds for panelling and decorating these rooms were donated by an anonymous donor. The London Times, however, recently announced that Sir Carles Cheers Wakefield, Bart., on the specific request of the committee, admitted that the cost of reconstructing and adapting the premises was done at his expense.

DISCUSS MEANS OF LAW ENFORCEMENT

Woodstock Youth Survives Suicide Pact-Couple Travel For 8 Years

BETTER TO WEAR OUT THAN RUST

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Langlois Have Travelled For Eight Years

IN A FORD

Aged Couple Find Delight In Roaming The Continent

"It's better to wear out than rust," was the rather quaint way in which Mrs. R. A. Langlois described her reason for travelling all over the country in a Ford car with a house on a trailer behind. This was the caravan which caused so much interest on Front Street this morning when it stopped here.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Langlois are each 78 years of age, having been born within a month of each other, and they have been married for exactly sixty years of the seventyeight. For the last eight years they have done nothing but travel the North American continent, moving wherever they willed, and stopping wherever they saw a pleasant place. Thirty-five years ago Mr. Langlois lost his left arm in a planing mill accident, and from then on made his living with his tongue, according to his wife. "He would have been there yet if it had not been for that," she declared. "To all this Mr. Langlois smilingly agreed.

They have been all over the South-ern States and have Canada, which is their home, as soon as the cold weather starts. They have a married daughter in Toronto, who supervises their property, she being just one of thirteen children. Their house on wheels contains a comfortable bed and makes an ideal sleeping quarter. Brighton was the next stop to be made, so the little car pulling the trailer, departed merrily on its way.

WILL COOPERATE IN IMMIGRATION

Premier Ferguson Says Matter Is Essentially British

Toronto, Aug. 22.—While Ontario is willing to co-operate in every way possible in bringing the immigration scheme suggested by Lord Lovat to fruition, Premier-Howard Ferguson expressed the opinion today that the matter was essentially British rather than Ontario problem.

Discussing the conference held with Lord Lovat in his office yesterday the Premier stated that he looked forward with great optimism to the final result although he admitted that the proposed question of finance had not been definitely settled.

"It is Britain that wants to send their men overseas and they will have to do great deal in financing the under-taking" stated Premier. "You cannot bring the men to this country and dump them on our shores."

FIGHT TO SAVE WATER SUPPLY

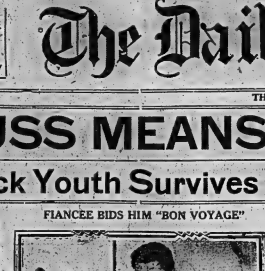

San Bernardino, Calif., Aug. 22.—Fighting fire with fire, 500 men centered on the brink of Devil Canyon today, had a fifty-fifty chance to save this city's vitally important water shed from flames which for four days have swept San Bernardino Mountains.

Resorting to back-firing almost on the edge of the canyon, the men had set the counter blaze which was rapidly burning toward the advancing forest fire, but a mile from the water-shed district today. Two hundred nearby fronts flames were under control.

POLICE TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN AGAINST ALL CARELESS DRIVERS

Motorists Must Obey Traffic Signals And Stop-Signs

Belleville motorists will become perhaps painfully aware during the next week or ten days that the traffic laws in the city must be enforced, and commencing to-day there will be no warnings. Twelve summonses left the Police station today for various traffic offences, mostly for proceeding against the red light and failing to stop at designated streets. But the city will not be the only place where traffic violators will be checked up sharply. The Highway Traffic Officers will be on the job for their reckless drivers who "cut in" on cars ahead as well as the speeders.

According to the Blue Book "cutting in", means the act of passing another car without first being entirely safety. Section 23, subsection 10 of the Highway Traffic Act says, "No person in charge of a vehicle shall pass or attempt to pass another vehicle going in the same direction on the Highway unless and until the travelled portion of the Highway in front of and to the left of the vehicle to be passed is entirely free from approaching traffic! A fine and cancellation of the drivers license will be the penalty for infractions of the Act in this respect.

The police in this city have received instructions to allow motorists to make a right hand turn against the red light, but only when the road is clear of pedestrians. Also, any accident resulting from such a turn being made will be considered the fault of the motorist who makes the right hand turn. In other words, it is permissible to make a right hand turn, but the man who does assumes all the risk.

The parking by-law will be strictly enforced and it would be well for those motorists who need to park on Front

Wed Girls for Their Money and Had Marriages Annulled

Warsaw, Aug. 22—A marriage was stopped in a sensational manner at Grodno, Northern Poland today. When the clergyman was about to perform the ceremony, a woman appeared and told an astonishing story, the substance of which was that the groom, Ignace Voronicz, was really not a man but a woman. An investigation was started immediately by the curate and disclosed that Woronicz got a male name when serving in disguise in the Polish-Bolshevist war. After the war she continued to wear male attire and used the masculine name. Her object in so many wealthy women, and get their money and then have the marriage annulled. The latest victim elected by the swindler, but saved at the last moment, was also rich.

FATHER DENIES ANY OBJECTIONS

Ingersoll Girl Met Death In Suicide Pact With Fiancee

HOCKEY STAR

Robert Childs Will Appear At Inquest Into Girl's Death

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 22.—Georgina Yelland, father of Gertrude Yelland, Ingersoll girl, who was found dead yesterday from the effects of chloroform administered in a suicide pact with Robert J. Childs, 20, because of parental objection to their marriage, stated today that as far as he was concerned there was no opposition to the union. He had known Childs was keeping company with his daughter for some time, he said, and had never heard of any objection to their marriage.

Childs, who is in care of his father, suffering from the effects of chloroform which failed to kill him as it did the girl, has volunteered to appear at the inquest tomorrow evening and give a full account of the manner in which the girl came to her death.

Woodstock, Aug. 22.—Victim of an alleged suicide pact, Gertrude Yelland, 20-year-old Ingersoll girl, met her death by drowning near Woodstock during the hours of last night, and her companion in the alleged pact, Robert Childs, son of Ald. Fred Childs of Woodstock, is seriously ill from the effects of the drug.

According to the police, Childs and the girl had been keeping company, and went out motoring last night. This forenoon, after it o'clock, Childs staggered into his home in this city in a dazed condition. His father went outside to the car, and found the girl's dead body crumpled up in the back seat. Childs is a well-known hockey star.

PLEASED WITH CITY'S BEAUTY

George King of Pontiac, Mich., Says Belleville Is Ideal

Passing through Belleville today, George King, of Pontiac, Mich., was a caller at The Intelligencer Office and in a few minutes' chat he expressed himself as exceedingly pleased with this city, its business section as well as its residential districts. "You have one of the prettiest towns that I have had the pleasure of visiting," he remarked. Mr. King stated that judging from the activity it was one of the busiest along the line. "We have our American town rooms of publicity but when the visitor arrives there is often little more than a few stores and possibly one or two factories. The country surrounding is unsurpassed anywhere and the view on entering from the west end is most picturesque." Mr. King who is banker in Pontiac, is travelling to the East Coast and was anxious to visit Belleville in Vermont where the floods ravaged the country last year His mentioned the fact that Trenton is one of the busiest of the small towns along the Lake Shore district.

FELL OVER WIRE OF HIGH VOLTAGE

Phoenix, Arizona, Aug. 22.—Five persons were electrocuted here last night when they stumbled across a 2300 volt high power line blown to the ground during a wind storm. Three of the victims, Richard Miller, his wife and son, were instantly killed. Two others, Miller's son, Wesley and a neighbor, Carl Meeks, died attempting to rescue the three.

WILL ANNOUNCE PLATFORM TODAY

Democrats Marshall Forces To Combat Republican Army

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 22—Hailed four years ago from rising to greater politic al heights, Alfred E. Smith, found his way clear today to assume the national leadership of the forces which will battle to win the Presidency for him in November.

On the steps of the state capitol he will be notified this evening on his nomination as Democratic Standard Bearer and in the acceptance speech inform the nation where he stands on the issues of the day.

The addresses n which teh Governor had promised to discuss all subjects, including his attitude toward prohibition in a "clear, unmistable language" will formally form the democratic platform for a change in administration at Washington.

Washington, Aug. 22.—A statement by governor W. L. Harding, of Iowa, distributed by the Democratic National Committee declares the election of governor Smith would be fatal to the projected Great Lakes St. Lawrence Waterway. The statement says the election of Herbert Hoover is vital to the success of the project.

INJURED MAN DIES IN KINGSTON HOSPITAL

GRILLED WITNESS FOR TWO DAYS

Windsor, Aug. 22—Delving deep into the alien activities of the Erie Transit Company, Gordon W. Shaver, K. C., counsel for Commissioner Duff insisted today that he had proven the company guilty of illegal sale of Erie Transit Company securities and in other parts of Ontario. It was expected the crux of his case against the company on a charge of keeping liquor illegally and the first of forty-six cases to be tried.

During todays session in Windsor police court before magistrate D. M. Brodie, Mr. Shaver continued his grilling of Walter Hardie, secretary of the Erie Company. Before Mr. Hardie is completed two full days in witness box. During that time, information has been drawn from him from which Mr. Shaver tried to prove that the Erie Transit Company the firm of Lowe, Lord and Burns and the Seagram and Sons were interlocking con ordered by the Department of Mar-Caring agencies were interlocking con cerns. ine and Fisheries.

KELLOGG PACT UNDER ATTACK

International Law Expert Says Original Interest Destroyed

Williamstown, Mass., Aug. 22—Prof. E. M. Bochard, of Yale, an expert on international law, speaking before the general conference of the Institute of Politics today, delivered the first comprehensive attack upon the Kellogg multilateral treaty that has yet been made. He asserted that the British and French reservations had destroyed the original intent of Secretary Kellogg to outlaw war, and had entangled this country in European politics in such an extent that we might some day find ourselves involved in a war which we declared under the League of Nations, the Locarno treaties, or other treaties in which we are not concerned. Prof. Bochard indicated his belief that the Senate would take this view, and might refuse to ratify the Kellogg pact for the same reason that it rejected the Versailles treaty and the Convenant of the League of Nations.

GOV'T WILL ASSIST

Advised To Follow System Used By London Police

Toronto, Aug. 22.—The Police Departments all over the world are using radio in hunting criminals and this latest adjunct to police efficiency has proven of inestimable value, said Chief A. G. Stuttz, of Edmonton, Alberta, who today addressed the convention of Chief Constables Association. Chief Stuttz said he would not speak too highly of the results obtained in Edmonton in tracing the lost children, stolen automobiles and missing persons.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—That the Metropolitan Police Force System of London, England, might with advantage be followed out in the case of Toronto heavilla outlying districts, was the suggestion made in address by Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General of Ontario to the convention of Chief Constables Association here today. Mr. Price also observed that police services were greatly underging evolutionary process and he said that the Ontario Government was practically ready to go to the counties and say, "Lets get together for better organization of the police."

Mr. Price said that the outskirts of Toronto were a lair of criminals and that the Metropolitan Force would materially assist to eliminate this.

OPPOSITION TO CHANGE OF CODE

Britain May Assist Canada At Great Brussels

Ottawa, Aug. 22—Of vital importance to Canadian business interests is the International Telegraph Conference to be held at Brussels, Belgium, early in September. One of the principalmatrtes to be considered is the so-called Cortina report, drawn up by a committee appointed by the last conference in Paris in 1925, the committee having met the following year in Cortina, Italy.

One of the proposals of the Cortina report is a radical change in the method of counting code words for transmission by cable or wireless. Up until now there has been a charge to the number of letters in the code word. Under the European plan it is the number of letters in a word to a maximum of five letters. Such a change would be very advantageous to the cable and wireless folk paid, by business concerns, particularly.

RAPID RESPONSE SAVED DAMAGE

Making a record run to the scene the Belleville Fire Department saved the Dickens and Son ice cream plant on South Front street from damage about ten o'clock this morning. Although the cause is at present unknown, as there were no wires or pipes of any description in that part of the building which caught fire, it is thought that perhaps some of the youngsters who had been playing about the building may have caused the mischief.

The roof of a small shed which adjoins the main building at the rear was chopped away as the fire was discovered early in the morning by Jack and without much trouble the blaze was discovered and extinguished. The damage was slight.

Prince Assists Urchin To Dig Angle Worms For Day's Fishing

London, August 22.—The story of how the Prince of Wales helped him to get worms for angling, was told here yesterday by a 15-year-old boy, Ralph Ralph was found in the seaside between Worthing and Little Hampton, where the Prince is a frequent visitor, digging for worms with his fishing rod, when a man suddenly appeared beside him.

"What are you doing?" said the man.

"Digging for worms," the boy replied.

"Can I help you ?" asked the man.

"Yes," the boy answered, "when I dig up a worm you put it in the bucket."

They then proceeded to unearth the worms which the man picked up, making such remarks as, "This is a fine, fat one," "this ought to catch a big fish,"—and so on.

When the boy took a close look at his helper and said: "You look just like the Prince of Wales."

The man replied: "It so happens that I am."

The boy became embarrassed and wanted to apologize, but the Prince smiled at his discomfiture. The boy wanted to take a memento of the occasion home to show his parents, and he asked for the Prince's autograph, but neither had a piece of paper. However, the boy produced a dirty white drive store card, and on it the Prince wrote, to his companion's delight, "Edward P."

FASHION CENSORS

Whether are these women the latter lodges of modesty? The question is raised by the censure by men in authority of the present prevailing fashions. There is nothing new in such censure.

It has been canonized in almost every case of change of fashion in the last two generations. There is something rather amusing about a fresh fledgling that he knows more about women than they do themselves. He may be natural of course, for it is human to think that he knows more about them than they do themselves, but one can also imagine the fair sex with their native reserve or cunning and subtlety superiority which has always felt to realize and try to deliberately pass under cute, quietly surveying the censors and pityingly wondering what the men think they have to do with it. In Sir Harry Johnston's remarkable book, "The Veneerings," in which he presents a chronicle of the British part of the Victorian era, he follows most attractively the development of social customs, fashions and modes of thought from the early stirrings down to the Georgian reign. We range from crinolines to the era of airplane and motor-cars. One remembers the fury of censorship over the sight of women riding a bicycle. The impossibility of this act was appalling to some minds—stupid old women of the Malvolio cast. Yet it was the bicycle that hastened the introduction of the new fashion in better costumes. In Spain it was, and perhaps still is, to some kind of flagrant immorality, most improper to allude in the most innocent or any other way to those useful members on which a lady walks. In Boston they are still known as limbs, and of course those who possess them never go to bed. They retire. Sir Harry dates the Twentieth Century from 1895 when the bicycle began to give way to the motor car. The motor car decided the fashions for women to an extent that can never be limited again, while the fear, with the necessity for cheap and convenient industrial uniforms or costumes, brought about a further change which simply raises a barrier against all the old vagaries and exaggerations. These changes have nothing to do with modesty. They are dictated by decidedly and by common sense, in which the women are much less backing than some of their critics.

A STORY BOOK FIGURES

We believe in the midst of figures and of storybooks.

There is Lindbergh, a youth of heroism and to fame unknown, and lately rising to the pinnacle of a world's admiration and adoration. To-day he is on Olympia as serenely unspoiled as any hero of romance. His only fitting book is his capture to fall in love with the Most Beautiful Lady in the Universe.

There is Gene Tunney, the handsome, gentlemanly prize fighter. Champion heavyweight, well mannered, believing to a Shakespeare class at Yale—why, authors have been imagining his accidents for years. Even Bernard Shaw invented one.

There was "Jedediah Tingle," the rich old man whose pleasure it was to play Society the role of Lord Bountiful to the individual poor. Brave boys and women at the end of their resources or supremely desiring some which lay suddenly found this need gratified by money from the late William K. Harmon, who took the odd name quoted above as a clerk to his benefactions. Now, what have we pictured in our mind's eye but such an idyllic heaven before it died.

Then we have had Alfred Loewenstein, mystery man of international finance. With palaces, airplanes, steam yachts, secretaries all over Europe, with markets crashing at his slightest move, he seeks at last to assume the dividend nations, and then mysteriously drops to his death from his own plane 4,000 feet to the sea. Cheerfulness seems to have written volumes about this very man.

And now we have the actual case of Cesar Sinaer, freed from prison by the efforts of Sherlock Holmes (by the alias of Sir Arthur, Conan Doyle) after serving eighteen years, on a false charge, of murder. Watson might call it "The Case of the Civilized Photograph." It was by convincing the court that Sinaer was not properly identified that Holmes won his client's release, he proved that the twelve witnesses who identified Sinaer as the man bearing the rope of the crime did so only because they were victims of an auto-suggestion caused by the wide circulation of his photograph through the newspapers.

What do you think better than that in any book of fiction. Indeed why go to fiction at all with such storybooks opening before you daily in real life? —New York Evening Post.

HAD TO REINSTATE, HIM

A celebrated occultist, Dr. Bonnefon, of Bordeaux, who restored the sight of a number of blinded soldiers, was expelled from the Association of Occultists because the newspapers gave him publicity for his skill. That is a deadly crime in the eyes of the professional humbugs of the world. The same fate met above his fellows in the profession. Not even a funeral director. The 44 veterans who received their sight were not to be considered. They had to be fired for drumming and was final ly killed when he fell off a city watering cart.—Ottawa Journal

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

A man was fool by his doctor that if he laughed 15 minutes every day before meals his condition would improve.

One day in a restaurant, while having his laugh, a man at the opposite table walked over and said, angrily, "What are you laughing at "

"Why, I'm laughing for my liver," he replied.

"Well, then," said the other, "I guess I'd better start laughing also. I ordered mine half an hour ago.

The hotel was on fire. On the stairs story ledge stood a popular film actress, flames crackling about her. Below, the firemen were holding a net, while the crowd waited in agonized suspense. Finally, a strained voice screamed: "JUMP—for Heaven's sake!"

The film actress folded her arms in calm disdain.

"I'll do nothing of the sort," she answered, "Tell the director to send my double here this instant."

The other day annoyed by his brother's refusal to save his private office to see him, the cloak-and-suiter insisted upon speaking to him on the telephone.

"Is that you, Sidney?" asked the cloak-and-suiter.

"Yes," said Mr. So and So, came the reply, "Who are you? I'm very busy."

SUMMER

When the molten ball of a sunset sun
Crawls up through a blue hot sky,
And shrivels the lawn, till the grass is gone
And the ground lies bare and dry,

When silence rears in your ears like noise,
As the insects cease their whir-r-r
When the ghost of a breeze moves not the tops of the trees
And you hear the branches stir,

When dust curls up through lifeless leaves,
When heat shimmers up from the hill,
Man, beast and all but barely crawl,
Even flies in the air mind still,

When the blistering ball of a copper sun
Seems to melt the very sky
And you pray in vain for a drop of rain,
That's a day in the month of July.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

THE "UNITED CHURCH OF CANADA" NOT PRESBYTERIAN

To the Editor of The Intelligencer.

Sir:—

In the May issue of the "Quarterly Register", the organ of the world's Presbyterian Alliance, Dr. J. H. Flemming of Edinburgh criticizes a book entitled "Dr. Moffat on Presbyterianism"—for his—"faults of omission"—and cites as example as follows:—

"The United Church of Canada, which is just referred to in passing might have been quoted as an example of Presbyterianism expanding into something bigger than itself and yet not departing from its essential principles."

Dr. Flemming's statement, published world-wide, is so contrary to fact, so unfair to the Presbyterians in Canada and so unjust to the "essential principles" of Presbyterianism in all lands, that I trust you will kindly give space for correction.

The "United Church of Canada, has not been true to its principles, but they are not Presbyterian. She has four Presbyterian names, "Elder", "Session," "Presbytery," "Call" all of them stripped of their Presbyterian meaning, but has not a distinctive Presbyterian Principle.

One "essential principle" of Presbyterianism is democracy. The people are the Church. No man has any place or voice in the management of the church, in any of her higher Courts, in Presbytery, Synod or General Assembly until he has been first chosen to office by the people; called as a minister or elected as an elder.

In the "United Church of Canada" this principle has no place. Not a member of the Courts of that Church, "Presbytery," "Conference" or "General Council" need be of those first chosen to office by the people. All are officially appointed irrespective of any choice, at any time, by the people. It is clerical and official autocracy, unlimited, complete; to which Presbyterians have never refused to submit.

A second "essential principle" of Presbyterianism is the "parity of presbyters", the equality, in all the higher courts of the Church, of elders and ministers. One half the membership of Presbytery, Synod and General Assembly, must be ruling elders, chosen by the people.

In the "United Church of Canada" this principle has no place. The minister has rights in all the three Courts of that Church, which their membership must be ministers; but their "elder", so called, has no right beyond his own congregation. The "non ministerial" half of these Courts, all officially appointed, need not include a single "elder", or any other first chosen to office by the people.

A third "essential principle" of Presbyterianism is that all in office, elders and ministers, entrusted with the care of the church, are pledged to that Church and its principles, to maintain and defend them.

In the "United Church of Canada" this principle has no place. Those in office are pledged to nothing in the Church, but have power over it, to do with it what they will; "power to alter, change—to unite with any other religious denomination," of any kind, on any terms they may choose.

A fourth Presbyterian principle is that the people keep the door of the Church through which must enter its ministry. No man is ordained to the ministry of that Church, unless for some special work, as, for example, a missionary until he receives a Call from a congregation of the people. In the "United Church of Canada" this principle has no place. Men are ordained to the ministry without any reference to a call from the people.

A fifth "essential principle" of Presbyterianism is that the people of a congregation have the right to choose their own minister. No power in the Presbyterian Church can intrude upon a congregation a minister whom they have not called and do not wish to call.

In the "United Church of Canada" this principle has no place. The people "may extend a call" or invitation" but the right of appointment shall rest with the Settlement Committee—which shall report 'to the Conference for information only." Autocracy again. The rights of the people go more!

A sixth principle of Presbyterianism is its pledged acceptance of the great truths of Scripture as these are summed up for the English-speaking world in the Westminster Confession and Catechisms.

The "United Church of Canada" has cast aside these Westminster Standards and subscribes to no system of truth, not even to the "Doctrinal Statement" in its own "Basis of Union." It is thus an open door to every error which men may choose to teach; among them that error which takes from Christ His Crown of Deity, from Saviors a Saviour, and from the world its hope, making Him only a man.

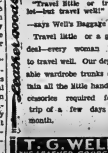

But Presbyterian principles still live, here as in all other lands. In 1925, three years ago, when attempt was made to blot out their church by Act of Parliament, the loyal Presbyterians would not surrender their principles and rights at the ultra vires dictation of usurping ecclesiastical or civil powers, but maintained their principles unchanged, and today that Presbyterian Church in Canada has a communicant membership of nearly one hundred and eighty thousand, grouped in some thirteen hundred congregations, forty-four Presbyteries, eight Synods and one General Assembly, and extends from Atlantic to Pacific, with an open door of welcome to Presbyterians from other lands who make Canada their home.

Dr. Fleming can choose either horn of the dilemma; either make good his statement by naming the "essential principles' of Presbyterianism in the "United Church of Canada"—or, by failure to do so, acknowledge that statement in error.

—Ephriam Scott.

OUR ABORIGINES ARE DOING WELL

Good Progress In Health And Educational Work Here

Victoria, B.C.—Good progress in education and health work is being made among the aborigines of Canada, according to Dr. Duncan Campbell Scott, Deputy Superintendent General Department of Indian Affairs, who is here on a periodical visit.

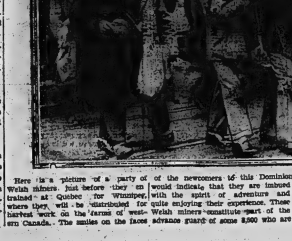

The department has spent a considerable amount of money in rebuilding old schools and placing them in more suitable locations. One of the reasons for this visit is to prepare for the new school to be erected by the department at Alert Bay, in connection with the Anglican Mission.

In health work, particularly in the study of tuberculosis, the department is doing a large amount of work for its wards and he points out that the Indians in Western Canada are producing an increasing amount of grain the aborigines on the prairies in wheat, oats and rye being expected to provide a substantial increase in the quantity harvested in 1927.

Here is a picture of a party of the newcomers of this Dominion Welsh miners just before they en trained at Quebec for Winnipeg where they will be distributed for harvest work on the farms of western Canada. The smiles on the faces would indicate that they are imbued with the spirit of adventure and quite enjoying their experience. These being brought to Canada to help with the harvesting of Canada's crop, which, it is estimated, will be approximately 700,000,000 bushels.

ALUMITE PICNIC

The Alumite Products Company will hold their annual picnic to the Sandbanks on Monday of next week. A program of sports has been outlined including softball games and foot races. An orchestra has been engaged to furnish music for dancing in the pavilion in the evening.

REFUSED TO SETTLE

At the corner of Bridge and Front streets last night, Ustas Lumnis, of Catherine Street, had the bumper torn from his car by another driven by Miss Marguerite Doonan of New York City. Although Miss Doonan wished to make a settlement at once, Mr. Lumnis refused, and the matter is still held in abeyance. In the meantime, the tourist party has left on its way.

ROOS KILLED CHICKENS

At 12.30 a.m. the police received a call from Mr. Berridge, residing at 203 Pinnacle Street, and Sergeant Booth and Constable Young responded. On their arrival they found that 17 chickens had been killed, all the property of Mr. Berridge. Two girls who live nearby said that they had noticed a small black dog and a large police dog in the yard chasing the chickens. Owners of dogs are warned that they are responsible for any damage done by the canines to the property of others, and should therefore keep them locked up at night.

IN MEMORIAM

YOUNG—To the memory of a loving husband and father, John Young, who passed away, Aug. 22nd, 1927.

Yes to the grave, but the crown is won.

A father's gone, but in Heaven to dwell.

Sorrow's night is ended,

Jesus' cause defended—

Come the Heavenly choir to swell.

Victory, Victory,

Through the blood of the Lamb that was slain!

Victory, victory—

We shall meet in the morning to reign

Safely missed by wife and daughter.

A VICIOUS DOG

On Monday, a German police dog, owned by Mrs. W. C. Jordan, of 134 Chatham Street, which was being taken care of by Mrs. Schelcher, of the same street, while Mrs. Jordan is on her holidays, bit Alice McVeigh on the left cheek and behind the right ear. Yesterday he bit the son of Mrs. Schelcher, Arthur, and then the police were called to look into the case. It was decided that the dog should be chained up until Saturday when its owners will be home.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MENNIE GRAHAM

Word was received in this City of the death yesterday of Mrs. Mennie Graham wife of Mr. Wm. Graham of Halland, Gloucester. Mrs. Graham was a sister-in-law of Mrs. Chaney Ashley and formerly lived in the second concession this City. Besides her husband, she leaves one brother Mr. Lisle O'Neill and two children, Willie and Josephine.

PAMELIA PAYNE

The funeral of the late Mrs. Pamelia Payne took place yesterday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company's Parlours to Zion United, the Rev. A. L. Geen officiating at both services. Many beautiful floral tributes were in evidence. The pall bearers were S. J. Waddell, E. Greatrix, J. O'Brien, D. McGlenn, W. W. Mattis, R. Embury. Interment took place in Belleville Cemetery.

LAURA JACKSON

Mrs. Laura Jackson, widow of the late William Jackson, died yesterday at the residence of her son, George Jackson, Mimico, in her 84 year. She is survived by one daughter, Mrs Norman Dales of Sidney Township and two sons, George Jackson of Mimico, and James of Belleville. The remains will arrive in this city at noon on Thursday for interment in the Belleville cemetery.

PHYLLIS IRENE COPELAND

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland of North Tonawanda, N.Y., arrived at noon today with the body of their infant daughter, Phyllis Irene. The funeral will leave in the late home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. A. Loucks, Carrollton. Interment will be made at Foxboro.

NEW CHOIR LEADER

At a meeting of the Music Committee of Holloway St. United Church held Monday, Aug. 20th, this committee appointed Mr. Moynes as Choir Leader, services to date Sept. 2nd, 1928. Mr. Moynes is well known to most members of the church and more especially to the boys of the choir and therefore needs no introduction. Mr. Moynes having had considerable experience in choir work, will no doubt make a real success of the very important part of the church work.

BIG FOUR ARE IN CONFERENCE

Four Warlords of China Offer Noticeable Contrasts

Pekin—Four men are riding on the crest of the Nationalist Triumph, thrown by the tide of the revolution to become by common assent the "big four" of Chinese Nationalism.

When in conference, as they were recently at the tomb of Dr. Sun Yat-Sen near Pekin and are now supposed to be in Nanking, they form the greatest concentration of power in the country. The sword is still a great magician in China than the pen or any other symbol of civilian authority.

Chiang Kai-Shek is recognized as the commander-in-chief but his control over his fellow-generals commanders is much less than that of Foch over Clemenceau or Haig or any appearance. This generalissimo resembles a civilian like Allen in France in 1918.

Chiang Kai-Shek is of middle height, slender, handsome, rigid and formal in his carriage, dressed in a well-tailored uniform of olive drab, a sam browne belt setting off his trim figure. There is pride in his bearing and self consciousness even a little of the theatrical, for Chiang seems never to forget that he is playing a leading role in a big drama. His face never changes his emotions. He has more sensitive and impulsive than he seems. His fellows, too much, perhaps, ever to become his strong man in China. Better cast for the role is Feng Yu-Hsiang, the one-time Christian General. His supposed potter, his cloth shoes, the ensemble topped by a straw hat covered against the threatening weather with the old cloth cover that is a part of the uniform of the second group. For all his modesty, interior Feng was the dominating figure of the group. Feng is six feet tall and weighs 220 pounds. His other features, even in rare moments of smiling, tell of intensity and seriousness. His proved capacity for manual or mental work, his powers of concentration and unanimous effect set him apart among Chinese leaders.

Mild, self-effacing, apparently timid, Yen Hsi-Shan of Shansi is anything but the typical warlord. He is under middle height, rather dumpy and stooped, usually dressed in a loose baggy type of uniform now known in China as the Sun Yat-Sen Uniform, with long tunic reaching almost to the knee and full slack trousers. His manner in the presence of his fellow generals is retiring, depreciating. Here is a man patiently following certain ambitions, one in whom confidence naturally is reposed.

The fourth member is a newcomer to this lofty plane, Li Tsung-Jen, reputed Kwantsi and leader of the powerful military clique that bears the name of that province, home of fighting men. Small, slight, alert, native of Kwansi and leader of the armed detachment and confidence in his own destiny. He disputes with Chiang Kai-Shek the sartorial leadership of the quartette. A youthful exaggerating aspect that his experience and known capacity for leadership.

ASHAMED OF YOUR PARENTS? NOW LISTEN!

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

The spectacle of a son or daughter feeling ashamed of his or her father or mother cannot be said to be uncommon.

Every now and again one meets with a case where one feels it to be true and sometimes, indeed, young men and women actually talk about it.

In this democracy of ours, where opportunity for development is open to everybody and where parents are eager to give their children the benefits of schooling that may have been denied themselves, it is but natural that thousands of our youth climb to heights of success, wealth and cultural standards that their parents often fall short of.

Unfortunately, such achievements, instead of making some young people grateful for the help and encouragement received from fathers and mothers, actually make them conceited, doubtful and snobbish.

Often they get so that they hesitate introducing the old folks to their friends.

There may be truth in what the children say. By comparison with themselves the parents may not toe the mark.

But disgraceful and shameful is such criticism nevertheless.

And any man or woman who overtly indulges in it deserves to be drummed out of town.

To be sure, parents often are careless about keeping up.

Often they seem to think that, once their sons and daughters are grown and established they have done all that is practically ended. They don't profit by the forward march of their own children as they might. They fail to enjoy seeing their offspring happy and let it go at that.

But there, too, the children are frequently to blame. They should realize and appreciate from whence their own benefits sprung.

They should keep their fathers and mothers interested in the way the world is wagging.

They should interest themselves in their welfare, taking them out to theatres and the movies introducing them to their friends, taking a kindly interest in their clothes and general activities.

Particularly does one find neglect of parents after marriage. If the girl does well, so to speak, she is likely to make her visits to the parental roof mighty scarce as the months and years roll by.

Mostly in a new circle she quickly forgets the beloved ones at home. Enjoying the advantages of an automobile, she neglects to come the old people out for a ride often enough.

Nor are the married sons any better. Often their behavior is even more reprehensible. They don't seem to remember that it wasn't so long ago that everything they could boast of emanated more or less directly from father and mother.

Whatever you do, remember your parents.

Don't wait until Mother's Day or Father's Day and feel that you have squared your conscience with a box of candy or a necktie.

And consider your own children when they reach maturity.

Would you want them to feel ashamed of you?

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Do you think that different nationality should be a bar between marriage for love? By that I mean but one objects to marriage because two people love each other deeply, of different nationality. Do you believe that is a good idea? I always think that "all people are created equal," as I have studied at school. We are of matured age and well understand, and love each other dearly.

BROKENHEARTED.

BROKEN-HEARTED: Really, I think if you truly loved each other, the difference of nationality wouldn't make much difference. However, that is more a matter of personal opinion.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I am going with a boy five years older than myself. My parents like him but do you think he is too old for me.

WONDERING.

WONDERING: No, my dear, I do not think this too great a difference in your ages. Provided, of course, that you are congenial.

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

One fashion authority terms the new silhouette associated with 1830 the "Laura Jean Libby", with elaboration brought to the back of the skirt, while the hips are kept flat and plain, while the smartest silhouette of 1914 is represented as appearing in modern adaptations.

Wilful Wives
By MILDRED BARBOUR

"Please ask her," urged Marguerite, ed. "What ever would people say?"

"Need we care?" he answered impatiently. "Even and I haven't too many friends to talk. And besides, there's my sister."

She started at him for a while, silently. Then she said: "Hal said this evening that he thought I should go away for awhile."

"And be all alone? Do you think you'd get any benefit from that? You'd simply mope and be all the worse for it. Come with us. Laura's a tonic all by herself and you and I could talk and read to our heart's contents. Besides, there's nothing like a sea voyage to set you up. But, as sea voyage understaken all alone is the finest thing for health in the world, I know because I tried it before I married Irma."

She asked hesitantly. "Are you suggesting this merely to pique Irma?"

He laughed drearily. "My dear girl, I honestly believe now that nothing I could say would pique Irma in the slightest, provided she had enough et companionship and a host of chaps to take her about.....in the world shouldn't have either. Love tricks you into it and puts a finger to his nose afterwards."

CHAPTER 24

Marguerite had a brief vision of the scene she had witnessed in the drawing room that afternoon. Of Lydia's face; of Lydia's voice saying: "Don't you want to kiss me? You know you've wanted to, ever since you've been married to that little simpleton."

She said gravely: "I don't believe Hal would miss me."

He glanced briefly around the drawing-room.

"But the idea is so.....so horribly unconventional," Marguerite went on, almost under her breath. "Hal and I....you're going with. I don't figure.....except that I'll be aboard the ship, too. You and Laura will share a stateroom."

"Perhaps your sister won't like me," she suggested wistfully.

"She'll love you," he assured.

"May I think it over?.....It almost seems so—so mad."

"Of course. But don't let your conventional little soul, or your idea of duty get the better of you. You'll nothing but a slave to Margaret.....is slave to your household and your notion that you owe Hal a great deal, when he doesn't pay his side of the debt. You're a pretty little caged bird who longs to stretch her wing in a bit of innocent diversion.....Forgive me, I seem to be speaking lightly and not too pleasantly of you.

The Jumper Frock For Morning Wear

THE Jumper frock is still in the fashion picture and bids fair to be for some time to come. Women like the style for morning wear in town and country for it has the casual informality always appeals.

The youthful model sketched above is of English lisle superior. It is simply made with a slip-over blouse and a straight skirt, plaited only in front and attached to a bodice top. The rolled collar and tie is a becoming feature and the tie may be on the back if you prefer inside, the belt and the pockets make it more finished in appearance. Interest centers also in the two little slit pockets and the novel sleeves. (Copyright, 1928, by Butterick.)

SAFETY FIRST DEMONSTRATION BIKE CONTESTS FRIDAY MORNING

Public Invited To Attend Novel Affair At Victoria Park

Fred St. Onge, internationally known bicycle rider, made a brief tour of the city yesterday to secure information as to which particular unsafe practices some of Belleville's bicycle riders are indulging in. He finds there is a deplorable lack of the use of proper hand signals.

St. Onge says there is no excuse for failure to use proper signals when making left or right hand turns, or when about to stop, in the same manner which automobile drivers are expected to use. Courtesy and safety on the street should prompt every bicycle rider to see that vehicles following him are fully warned as to just what his intentions are.

St. Onge rides a wheel that he has ridden in practically every city in the Dominion which is a "shining" example of the properly adjusted wheel, made up in the correct position, handle bars at proper height, proper sized sprockets and with pedals within easy reach when riding. Attention is also called to proper warning signals such as a bell or a horn and a light for night riding. He emphasizes the value of riding a bicycle which is properly adjusted, such as his own, as it affords complete control over the bicycle at all times. The pedals being easily accessible, prevent wabbling up and down, which often times result in youthful bicycle riders losing their balance and getting a severe fall, or being run over by a closely following vehicle, and similar accidents.

Through the courtesy of The Parks Board of Belleville, Victoria Park has been secured for a big Safety First demonstration on Friday morning at seven-thirty o'clock. All bicycle riders and scooter chasers are invited to participate in the event. A close-up exhibition of proper riding methods will be given and several contests will be staged. To make the affair more interesting and abundance of prizes will be given to riders for the best decorated wheels, and winners in a fifty yard scooter race.

A contest that will excite great interest and one quite new will be the pinch riding event, when the rider will attempt to ride a narrow board five inch as wide half inch thick and 150 feet long; the plank lies flat on the ground. The contest is open to all bicycle riders, no entry fee; and no registration formalities. The program at Victoria Park will start promptly at 19.30 sharp. Everything is absolutely free.

Lord Daberron, British ambassador to Berlin during the critical post-war period, whose appointment as head of the control board which is to supervise the installation of the fangous total hatter on all British rans tracks has been forecast by the British home secretary. The selection of a distinguished Briton for the post of "fertility king" testifies to the supreme importance of betting and racing in British life.

HIT BABY CARRIAGE

Toronto, Ont.—(C.P.)—"It was no credit to her that her death did not result," said Magistrate Patterson when fining a woman $50 and costs or 10 days and forbidding her to drive a car for one year, as a penalty for reckless driving. Accused's car mounted the sidewalk and knocked a baby carriage out of the hands of another woman. The baby was injured. The defendant had a "learner's" permit only, and should have been accompanied by a licensed driver.

ENGLISH BREACHES OF ROYAL ETIQUETTE

London (By The Canadian Press)—"Lady Diana Doublequeasier regrets that she was unavoidably prevented from obeying Their Majesties' command to attend the garden party at Buckingham Palace."

Announcements like this in the social columns of the London Press, published for a fee of three guineas per insertion—were of frequent occurrence directly after the interesting function at the Palace last month. They have caused amusement rather than resentful interest, among those who have real knowledge of proceedure in high social matters.

In the first place an invitation to a Garden Party at Buckingham Palace is not in the nature of a "command." The invitations are issued on the joint behalf of the King and Queen and it is the Sovereign of the Realm alone who possesses the prerogative of issuing "commands." In point of fact the Lord Chamberlain is "commanded" to issue the invitations (and indicates so on the card of invitation). And if is not deemed necessary for anyone to offer a public apology to the King or Queen.

Paris reports that very low necklines are in evident on all the latest dinner gowns, except where square necks are chosen and even then sometimes show a deep cut-out V between the fashionable twisted shoulder straps, which by the way, must be as narrow as possible and placed away on ten the shoulders.

UNIQUE INCIDENT IN PROFESSIONAL'S PLAY

Melbourne, Australia, (By The Canadian Press)—A unique incident in golf took place recently on the Wentworth Falls' golf course on the mountain links.

Doctor Ahern and E. A. Avory of the Leura Club were playing with the professional, E. Barnes. The tee shots hole finished in opposite sides of the green. Unknown to each other both hit their second (chip shots) at the same time. They met in the air and then dropped into the hole.

The only other known instance of two balls being played at the same hole and meeting in mid-air occurred at St. Andrew's, Scotland, in May, 1926, when Colonel Howard and Lieut.-Colonel Buchanan Dunlop played to the 16th green. The balls, going towards the same hole, met twenty yards from the pin. The Australian case is unparalleled.

ENGLISHMAN IS NOT TOO NATTY

In His Dress Says R. M. Collins; Just Casually Correct.

New York, N. Y.—The casually correct dress of the Englishman is made the subject of an article by Robert M. Collins, a special correspondent of The Associated Press in London.

Mr. Collins begins by commenting on the erroneous idea that the Prince of Wales is "by choice a natty dresser" and goes on to explain that His Royal Highness, like any Englishmen, "dresses up only as far as public opinion expects it of him." Describing the dress of the Prince on the occasion of his first appearance as a speaker at a luncheon just before his departure on his memorable tour of India, Mr. Collins says:

The black cut-away and gray trousers the young man wore on that occasion had seen such service that the majority of New Yorkers would have sent them to the dust can. His jewelry consisted of a large gold seal ring, probably an heirloom, and a worn silver watch, which might have been borrowed from one of the under gardeners in the Palace grounds and might have cost nearly five dollars.

Mr. Collins then writes: The war shot to pieces most of the hide-bound conventions of men's dressing in England, as it did many other things and they never came back. Gone are the days when all professional men and most business men wore silk hats and frock coats on every day in the year except holidays and when no well-dressing clerk could appear in a lawyer's or a broker's office without this shabby livery of the white collar class Englishmen generally do not buy as many new clothes as Americans. They keep them longer and need more variety. Every kind of sport requires a different kind of wardrobe—even riding after the fox hounds, another for trapping after the otter hounds, one for shooting pheasants and others for killing other game, and of course different ones for fishing.

To display a new suit is considered bad form by conservative men. The dresser is not kept nearly so busy as in America. An eminent London tailor says: "Englishmen are better dressed but Americans are better pressed."

While many statesmen cling to the old formal dress and a few beginners in office imitate them the weakness for comfortable clothes is strong among the important men. The late Lord Bryce was one who clung to suits that only a man of unquestioned position could display. Viscount Grey, the War Minister of Foreign Affairs, is another. Of Lord Robert Cecil, the pacifist, a member of Parliament remarked: "Bob Cecil's clothes always look as though he kept them buried in the garden."

Individuality is a strong trait with Englishmen in dress and they shun being standardized. King George, like his father King Edward, often wears an old fashioned scarf ring around his necktie instead of a pin. The Duke of Marlborough prefers a cut-away coat doubleBreasted with two rows of buttons while Lord Charles Beresford always reversed that effect with a frock coat having a single row of buttons, while the Prime Minister, Stanley Baldwin, who drove to Buckingham Palace for his first official interview with the King in a taxicab, wears to an ordinary short tailed bullhess suit as much as he can. The Englishman's habits become fixed as he gets on in life and he thinks he knows what he wants. His tailor does no ignorance to talk about new styles. He merely says:

"I suppose it will be cut the same as usual, sir."

TAKES CARE OF SPUDS AT EIGHTY-NINE

Marmora, Aug. 21.—Mrs. John Hughes, now in her eighty-ninth year and the oldest resident of Sharbot Lake, has always had a fondness for the potato patch. Since living in this village for the past three years with her niece, Mrs. Robert Bruce, she has in each season, dug potatoes in the latter's garden and also done a share of the peeling. Seeing that a potato stalk was shooting up outside the back kitchen door, Mrs. Hughes decided to apply the discard of the daily peeling to the roots with the result that the stalk has reached the height of sixty-six inches and is still growing. Mrs. Hughes also declares that this potato water induces growth of pot plants.

BOY BABES ARE MORE NUMEROUS

But Higher Death Rate Than Among The Opposite Sex

Winnipeg Man.—Writing in the Manitoba Medical Bulletin, C. C. Pemberton states that boy babies are decidedly more numerous than girl babies; but that the death rate for males is decidedly higher than for females, especially during infancy and middle life. As the second of these factors is more potent than the first the result is that the world contains more women than men.

In Canada a proportion of boy babies to girl babies is given as 1,061 to 1,000. This rate is higher than in the United States and in most European countries. In Great Britain it is in the proportion of 1,047 to 1,000. The Province of Manitoba, it appears, is especially strong on boys; and as the infant mortality rate for male babies is proportionately lower than in most other places, it is suggested that Manitoba is a good place for men to reside in, especially for those who, like the late Czar of Russia, wish to have male deeds of former Alleynians.

PRESENTS BINNACLE OF SHIP TO SCHOOL

London (By The Canadian Press)—Rear-Admiral Gordon Campbell, who was awarded the Victoria Cross for his work with the "mystery boats" in the war, has made an interesting presentation to the famous Dulwich College of which he is an "old boy."

Now that his former ship is being broken up Rear-Admiral Campbell has secured the binnacle and presented it to the school. Along with Shackleton's boat it will have its place at the school as a reminder to present and future scholars of the noble deeds of the past.

IMPORTANCE OF EARLY PLOWING

In a new country such as Northern Ontario, it is imperative that seeding be done early in the spring to ensure good maturity, and unless a part of the necessary work in the preparation of a good seed-bed is started early in the fall, there is always danger of some of the work being left for the next spring.

The first step necessary is, naturally, that of ploughing and this operation should, whenever possible, be done in late summer as soon as possible after the hay is cut.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Kapuskasing, it has been found that land which has been ploughed early in the fall and given one or two diskings works much better in the spring, with a finer and more friable seed-bed, and gives earlier yields than land ploughed late in the fall or in the spring, particularly the latter. Weather conditions, such as wetting and drying, freezing and thawing, etc., appear to have a very beneficial effect on the physical condition of heavy clay soil. It was found that land ploughed early and receiving one or two diskings in the fall gives 19 per cent. more yield. Considering the advantages of fall ploughing, it is imperative that the farmers take advantage of every opportunity during the late summer and autumn in order to complete this important feature of the work before the ground freezes and winter sets in.

BEAVERS DEFEAT NAPANEE TEAM

Ontarios Will Be At Home To Leafs Tomorrow Night

Beavers pulled the unexpected and defeated the Napanee Leafs on the latter's diamond last night by a score of 11-9. The locals by winning last night missed annexed themselves of a chance in the play-offs. Napanee play here tomorrow evening against the Ontarios and if the Leafs win all three teams will be tied while if the Ontarios capture the verdict the Beavers and Ontarios will start the play-offs next week.

Mollie Cray did the pitching for the Beavers and her slow ball was working nicely last night and she was given fine support by her team mates. Madeline Kelleher got a home-run with two on bases and assisted materially in winning the game. Miss Stinson, of Napanee, also slugged out a homer with second and third bases populated. The rain of the late afternoon made the grass slippery and the outfielders found the footing rather difficult at times. Miss Knott worked behind the bat for the Beavers and Miss Stinson did the catching for the Leafs. The batting of present is as follows:

	Won	Lost
Ontarios	3	2
Beavers	4	4
Napanee	3	4
Woodley of Belleville, and Jimmy Whitton, of Deseronto, handled the game.

PERCY WILLIAMS A THOUGHTFUL SON

Vancouver, B. C.—Amid all the stress and bustle of his preliminary preparations and training here just prior to leaving for the qualifying trials at Hamilton, Percy Williams, hero of the Olympiad, thought of his mother—and how best to surprise her on her birthday with a birthday present.

On the last mail before the Dominion Day holiday, Mrs. Williams got a letter from Percy. After expressing his regret that he could not be there in person to wish her many happy returns, he requested her to go up to her bedroom and in a certain designated corner, he requested her to go up to her place she would find a sum of money which he had hidden there for that purpose.

"I want you to take it and buy yourself a birthday present, mother; use it all. I only wish it were more." In the place designated she found $20.

YANKEES HANDED BROWNS LICKING

Athletics Slug Quartette of Pitchers And Win From Indians

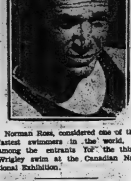

New York, Aug. 22.—The Yankees continued their slemon and stately tread toward another pennant by licking the Browns yesterday, 3-1, while the Athletics were applying the sting to the Indians. The leaves the champions five and a half games ahead and nothing could be sweeter.

The Athletics slugged a quartette of pitchers for sixteen hits and trounced the Cleveland Indians, 13 to 4, at Philadelphia.

The Mackmen batted the length of the line-up on Billy Burns in the first inning, gathering six runs that proved enough to give Jack Quinn, the ancient spitball pitcher, his sixteenth victory of the season.

Marty McManus' home run off Slim Harris in the third inning was the deciding factor in a four to three victory which the Detroit Tigers scored over the Red Sox to open a three-game series at Boston. The Red Sox threatened in the eighth and ninth, but Stoner, who relieved Van Gilder, held the Carrigan team in check.

Adkins held Washington to seven hits and the White Sox took the first game of the series at Washington 3-1.

Norman Ross, considered one of th fastest swimmers in the world, i among the entrants in the Australian Wrigley swim at the Canadian National Exhibition.

BOTH CARDINALS AND GIANTS LOSE

Robins Rush To Aid of McGrawmen And Defeat St. Louis

New York, August 22.—The Robins rushed to the aid of the Giants handsomely yesterday defeating the Cardinals by, 6-1 in the second game of the series at St. Louis.

The Brooklyn victory saved first place for the Giants who lost to Cincinnati by 3-2. Doug. McWeeney pitched a steady game for Smallys, earning a shade against Flint Rhem. Sylvester Johnson was touched for four runs in the ninth, after Sam Jonnard laid aside for a pinch batter.

Cincinnati stopped New York when the visitors were shaded by 3 to 2 in a hard-fought game. The Reds bunched four singles and a sacrifice on Fred Fitzsimmons in the second for all of their runs, and the Giants never could fight their way quite up to even terms. Singles by Fred Lindstrom and Travis Jackson, followed by a double steal for one marker in the fourth, and Bill Terry's twelfth home run in the ninth, represented all of the scoring the visitors managed at the expense of Red Lucas, who gave up only five hits.

Lucas was struck in the face and painfully injured by a drive from Russell Wrightstone's bat with two on and two out in the seventh.

The right-hand shoots of Claude Willoughby pounded the crippled Cubs and Philadelphia took its sixth straight victory over Chicago, 3-1.

BRITISHERS ARE AFTER LAURELS

More From Empire To Compete In Big Swim This Year

Toronto, Ont.—(By the Canadian Press)—An unprecedented array of British athletes will strive to capture world's long distance swimmin a championship in the third Wrigley Marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition on Sept. 5.

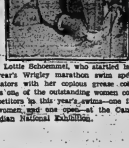

Empire entrants have been slipping quietly into Toronto within the past few weeks aolt settling down to hard training. Most of those from the British Isles have joined the lots within the past few days. Now they form a formidable squad, without taking into account the native Canadian contingent which numbers nearly 50 and before the list closes will include a score of dangerous contenders.

First of the Britishers to arrive on the scene was Edgar Finlay of Sydney, New South Wales, holder of many titles. A second Australian, Tommy Adrian, of Manley, is chiefly known as the coach who discovered and trained "Tilly" Charlton, Australia's wonder swimmer. Rumors that Charlton himself might enter the marathon were started when it was learned that Adrian was in Australia with his protege for the Olympic games and will race in Canada on his way back to Australia with Charlton.

An entry from Little Buckoo, among the most brilliant of Britain's female stars and a veteran marathone came next, then the Bailey Herr vs Papenfuss of South Africa arrived in person. Von Eppenfuss pounded along for more than 24 hours last year but lacked speed. Last winter however he trained in California and changed his stroke to a six-beat crawl which furnishes more up-ed with less effort.

Then Norman Leslie Dereham, of Britain bobbed up suddenly in Toronto. Dereham holds the British Empire record for swimming the English channel, having crossed in 12 hours, 55 minutes to lower Gertrude Ederle's time.

George Close and David Billington are other entrant's from Britain who promise to be real contenders. There are more than a dozen additional Empire entries from scattered sections of the Globe, including two from the West Indies.

Lottie Schoenmat, who started last year's Wrigley marathon swim spectators with her copious grease coat, is one of the outstanding women competitors in this year's swims—one for women, and one open—at the Canadian National Exhibition.

During past week August tourist traffic has been in full swing in Essex County.

Conflicting Evidence In Liquor Case--Smith Outlines Platform

MYSTERIOUS MAN GAVE HIM DRINK

Frederick Higgins, Trenton, Appears On Drunk Driving Charge

CONFLICTING EVIDENCE

Witnesses Declare Accused Was Sober Or Day of Accident

Once again has the red-headed lad, who travels the road dispensing free drinks of liquor, made his appearances in Belleville and vicinity, but this is the first time since the Liquor Control Act came into force.

Frederick Higgins, a Trenton young man was charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, before Magistrate Mikel today. Chas. Byron appeared on his behalf. Higgins was arrested on the night of August the 5th on the Provincial Highway, a mile west of Belleville near Riley's Park, by Provincial Constable Hare and Provincial Officer D. Sylvester.

Higgins had become blinded by the headlights of another car (it was raining extremely hard at the time) and the car left the road. Mrs. R. McMurter of Trenton, who with her daughter was being driven into Belleville by Higgins, fractured her arm in the smash. In the witness box today he declared that from the time on Sunday morning until after the accident Sunday night, he had not had a drink. Numerous witnesses were called by the defence counsel to substantiate his statement, swearing that they had not smelled any liquor on him during the time in question. The Provincial officers had declared a call from a resident near the scene of the accident and proceeded directly to the place on receipt of the information. They arrived after the car had been righted to its normal position and a car was seen to be pulling it out of the ditch, with Higgins at the wheel. He was questioned and his officers swore to the wizened nose that his breath smelled very strongly of some kind of liquor, and he was arrested and brought to Belleville Police Station.

Dr. Samuel Cronk was called to the Police Station at eleven o'clock, examined Higgins and today swore in the witness box that in his opinion the man was intoxicated at that time. He could not differentiate between the degrees of intoxication and the degree of nervousness which would naturally small in a man after a smash-up such as he had passed through, but declared that he was intoxicated or had had a drink. He was unsteady on his feet. Mr. Payne was trying to adduce the fact that the accused man was of a nervous and neurotic condition, and wanted the doctor to confirm his belief that his trying experience could have accounted for the unsteadiness of the man. It was impossible for him to tell how long it was since he had had a drink. This concluded Dr. Cronk's evidence.

Bottle Found

Provincial Officer Hammer was the next witness, and recounted briefly the story of finding the car being pulled out of the ditch. At that time Higgins had admitted being the driver of the car, but declared that he had had only one big drink before leaving Trenton. The next morning, however, the two Provincial men found a party-filled bottle of alcohol in a field adjacent to the scene of the accident. There was none in the car. Provincial Constable Sylvester corroborated this statements.

J. McMurter of Trenton declared that he had seen the accused in Trenton at seven-thirty on Sunday evening and he was intoxicated at that time. The accused went away to procure gas, and the man who sold him gas, Reginald Rupert, swore that the witness stated that Higgins was not drunk and that he could not even smell liquor on his breath.

After getting the gas, Higgins went back, picked up Mrs. McMurter and her daughter, and started for Belleville, when the accident occurred.

Frederick Higgins, the accused, swore that he had had no drinks from ten in the morning until after the accident, when some man who knew him came along and offered him a drink, which he took. He had never seen the man before, but believe

Mrs. Charles Chaplin Did Not Appear To Secure Decree

Los Angeles, Calif., Aug. 23.—Mrs. Lita Gray Chaplin failed to appear in court here yesterday to seek the final divorce decree from Charles Chaplin and neither she nor her Attorneys offered any explanation for the absence from the announced plans.

Mrs. Chaplin was granted an interlocutory decree from the screen comedian year ago.

COAST CUTTER FIRED ON YACHT

Cleveland Millionaire Will Enter Protest On Methods Employed

Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 23.—A protest against raiding methods of the federal rum fighting fleet on Lake Erie was promised today by M. F. Morley, Cleveland millionaire, who reported that his yacht, "Buddy", had been fired on without warning and then rammed by a coast guard cutter.

Bramley said the cutter CG231 suddenly sailed out of the darkness while the Buddy was cruising last the night about two miles off Edgewater Beach, a Cleveland resort, flashed a blinding searchlight and then fired a shot before any one on the Buddy realized what had happened. The cutter next rammed the Buddy's bow a glancing blow while a man standing on the bridge waived a revolver and shouted at the Buddy's passengers, Bramley asserted.

The cutter followed the Buddy into the harbor and federal men made a search. Coast guard officials said they had received no report of the incident and declined to comment.

The two Provincial officers had declared a call from a resident near the scene of the accident and proceeded directly to the place on receipt of the information. They arrived after the car had been righted to its normal position and a car was seen to be pulling it out of the ditch, with Higgins at the wheel. He was questioned and his officers swore to the wizened nose that his breath smelled very strongly of some kind of liquor, and he was arrested and brought to Belleville Police Station.

CHIEF FEATURES OF TORONTO EX

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The Canadian National Exhibition was formally opened at eight o'clock and will be officially declared open some time later in the day by Viscount Willingdon, the governor General. This year the exhibition will run for 14 days instead of 13 which have been the rule for some years.

The feature of the opening day will be the arrival of the air mail plane from Windsor which will make a landing near the grand Plaza on the water front. Tomorrow evening the exhibition chorus of 2,000 voices will give its opening concert under Dr. H. A. Pricker.

FIND NO TRACE

Proprietor of Gas Station Was Confronted With Revolver

Brockville, Aug. 23—His stern refusal to obey a summons of "hands up" accompanied by the levelling of a revolver at him, late last night saved T. T. Shaw, proprietor of a grocery and gasoline filling station on the outskirts of the town, the days receipts that he had just counted, as well as other property. When Shaw turned to serve a customer who entered the shop after 11 o'clock last night, he found himself looking down the barrel of a revolver and ordered to hold up his hands. Instead of doing so, he quickly placed the money in his pocket, and made for a stout club that he uses in the shop. This action, accompanied by shouting on the part of Shaw's son, Arthur took the intruder so much off his guard that the man ran out the door and disappeared. Neither Shaw nor the police were able to find trace of him.

CONTINENT - WIDE RING UNCOVERED

Federal Authorities Stage Raids On Chicago Office Building

Chicago, Aug. 23.—Prohibition officials said today that their dry raid of Tuesday when a mad was shot by federal agent, uncovered a liquor syndicate whose activities reach into Miami, Fla., to Toronto, Ontario, and from New York to Chicago.

The syndicate was revealed they said when the offices of the Paul Morton construction company in the loop office building were raided.

Federal squads continue their raids in attempt to capture the leaders of the syndicate which they are convinced is part of a widespread liquor ring. Last night they found two of the organizations leaders, they said, but they refused to reveal their names.

Has Demonstrated Safety Rules For Bicyclists Across Dominion

In an interview yesterday with an Intelligencer representative, Mr. Fred St. Onge, internationally famous bicycle rider, declared that although he had been riding bicycles for the last forty years, he had never yet been able to ride more than seventy feet on the five-inch plank. When one considers that a youngster from Hamilton rode for about four years twenty-three times and fell off after about fifty feet on the twenty-fourth try, it can be seen that almost anyone may win the prize which will be competed for on Friday morning at Victoria Park.

Mr. St. Onge has been on the vaudeville stage for twenty-two years, and is a member of the Keith Memorial Troupe. He has been demonstrating the safety of bicycles when ridden properly in every city of any importance in Canada for the past seven years, and was the man who arranges for the huge bicycle plank riding contests in Toronto and Sunnyside resorts. He has pictures taken of the crowd which turned out to witness his demonstration and the plank riding contest in almost every city he has been in, and they alone make an interesting exhibit. Mr. St. Onge wishes all parents who feel any qualms about the safety of their children while riding a bike, to be at Victoria Park on Friday morning and ask for themselves that if the rules of safety are followed, riding a bicycle is safer than walking.

RECORD WHEAT CROP EXPECTED

Spirit of Optimism Prevails In All Western Provinces

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Throughout Western Canada an unprecedented spirit of optimism prevails, with business generally reflecting an improvement in anticipation of a record grain crop, the harvesting of which is now in full swing in the prairie provinces. With wheat alone estimated in excess of 21,000,000 acres and early indications pointing to good yields, the experts who have made periodical inspection tours of the western fields are talking of the 1928 crops as ranging anywhere from 300,000,000 to 600,000,000 bushels. The crop even closely approaching these figures would constitute a record for wheat production in Canada.

MAN IS BURIED BENEATH CHAIRS

John Hutchison, 13 Murray St., suffered severe injuries in his right hip and elbow yesterday afternoon about three-forty-five when a number of heavy collapsible chairs fell from Pa Palm's truck, practically burying the unfortunate man beneath them after they had knocked him down.

Hutchison was riding on the back of LaPalm's truck when the chairs toppled heavily with chairs, when, as they passed on through the Exhibition Grounds gate, the top chairs struck the arch of the raiway, sending part of the load backwards off the truck. Hutchinson was thrown heavily to the ground, with the chairs on top of him, and suffered injuries. Constable Jack on took the injured man to his home. Today he is resting much easier.

SMITH FAVORS LIQUOR CONTROL

Proposes Modification of Present Volstead Act

AID FOR VETERANS

Democratic Party Does Not Contemplate Tariff Changes

Albany, Aug. 23.—With all the force at his command, Governor Smith last night told an expectant nation, what he would do if elected President. In aggressive fashion, he accepted the Democratic nomination with a speech which not only set forth his stand on prohibition, agriculture, foreign relations and other public questions, but outlined the Republican administration of a failure to keep faith with the people.

Millions Listen In

As millions listened in by radio, the new leader of the Democrats advocated and the Eighteenth Amendment; relief modification of both the Volstead law and that he would give the problem of controlling crop surpluses his immediate attention, if elected; assailed the Administration's Nicaraguan and Mexican policy, and pledged himself to a "real" endeavor to outlaw war.

He also called for a reorganization of Federal Government activities on a business basis; declared that neither he nor the Democratic party contem plated "sudden or drastic" changes in tariff schedules; reaffirmed his stand for public ownership and control of water power; promised a square deal for war veterans; stressed the need for inland waterway development; reforestation and conservation of natural resources, and advocated "progressive legislation for the protection and care of working men and women."

970 PAID ADMISSIONS AT YESTERDAY'S GAME

Yesterday's game between Oshawa and Belleville, the final of the play-offs for the Central League Championship drew a crowd of 970 paid admissions. The grounds, due to the excellent care of Robert - Colling and his staff, were in the best shape of the year, and the cutting of the long grass in the outfield made it as fast as any in the league. The game will be played in Oshawa on the 1st day of September, at three o'clock Daylight Saving Time, or two o'clock Belleville time. No doubt many from this city will attend.

TOTED A WEAPON SENT TO JAIL

Wanted On Charge of Theft At Barrie—Vagrants Remanded

Charles Faulkner, address unknown, appeared in Court this morning charged with unlawfully having in his possession a loaded revolver without a permit. He had been convicted of having stolen a bike at Barrie, he admitted, and was now wanted on a charge in Toronto, according to Crown Attorney Donnan, so he was sentenced to one month in jail with the probability that a judge's order would be received in a few days ordering his removal to Toronto.

James McPee and Jack Collyer also came up before the Cadi on a vagrancy charge, but both were remanded for a week until their records could be looked into. An expert from Toronto looked the boys over and he may have likened them to some who may wanted for various crimes in Toronto.

Message States All Assistance To Rescue Lost Aviators

Copenhagen, Aug. 23.—The Greenland administration has received a message from the Sheriff of South Greenland stating that an aeroplane, believed to be the Crusader Rockford manned by Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer was sighted Sunday morning along the southwest coast of Greenland.

The message received by the Greenland administration was as follows, the machine reported absolutely without doubt from Rockford, at 10.30 in the place, as well as Liechtenola, observed the machine flying morning at 10.30 coming high from the north northwest and descending over Fiskenlesset.

"The crew were clearly seen looking over the area through binoculars. Afterwards the machine turned eastward. The Greenlanders statement are absolutely trustworthy and they described the sound of engine and gave the national marks of the machine."

The message from the sheriff added that two motor boats would be sent out immediately to resume a search for he missing airmen in view of new information available.

HON. J. S. MARTIN SLIGHTLY HURT

Port Dover, Aug. 23.—Hon. John S. Martin, Minister of Agriculture in the Ferguson Government, sustained two fractured ribs as a result of a motorcycle mishap near Hagersville last evening. A tire blowout on a sharp curve on the road caused the car in which he was driving home from Toronto to overturn on a ditch. Mr. Martin will likely be confined to his home for several days, and his engagement to speak at the picnic of the Brant County Tuckered Farmers at Mohawk Park, Brantford, this afternoon, has had to be cancelled. The driver of the car escaped without injury.

Tonight Mr. Martin is resting quietly at his home in Port Dover.

WILMOT'S FLAME WINNER DINGHY RACE YESTERDAY

A light to moderate breeze was wafting out on the bay for the dinghy sailing yesterday morning, coming straight away from the East it had enough weight to keep the little boats skipping along in good style, but not enough to raise any thing of a sea.

The first leg of the course was a free run up the Bailey shore, finishing off by a boat to the Prince Edward buoy and a broad reach home. The start was one of the greatest which has been seen at the County Club this summer. Proctor, Martin, G. Graham, Walker and Wills, with Scott out and going fast, crossed the line almost abreast, Wilmot was slightly astern and being by himself had the advantage of clear wind and smoother water. All were under full board tack. The three Rose boats stood straight for the Prince Edward buoy, was forced off shore to avoid being blanketed by Walker and Graham who were hard on his heels. These three boats had in consequence a longer course to sail to the mark.

Wilmot in "Flame" had steadily worked up from his position astern until, when the fleet converged on the buoy, he was found to be in the lead with Martin right in his quarters. As the wind, in fact, were remarkably closely bunched and as they rounded into the wind there could not have been more than ten seconds between the leader and the last one.

Immediately after rounding Martin and Wilmot were home in a tight little struggle. Martin came up on "Flame's" counter and to windward. For a moment it looked as though he were going to pass her but he was too close and the backraft from her sail held him in the hopeless position. Finding the swan no good he put up helm and tried to get through her. The wind, however, was not strong enough for this, and, still full of tight, he suddenly swung her in stays and attempted to split tacks. But no sooner was he under way than "Flame" was again round on the starboard tack also and still held the commanding position. Fort tack "Bluebird" held. Martin watching like a hawk for the slightest hint of an opportunity to overcome his disadvantage. Wilmot keeping an eye peeled just as keenly to hold him where he was, these two pretty fought their way almost three-quarters of the distance to the second mark.

In the meantime Proctor, the wily, had gone down the bay on the starboard tack, then making a long board to the northward in clear wind and water crossed the others' bows with at least fifty yards to the good. "Flame" immediately let go her hold on Martin and went full out after "Little Phoebe" and another fight was on, with the odds looking favourable for the latter. It might have been any way but a shirt slip caused Proctor's boat to flinch for a moment. In a second, "Flame" was across his bows and around the buoy with "Little Phoebe" on her counter. Martin threatened to cut the spit of the fleet close up.

It must not be supposed that Martin, Proctor and Wilmot were the only ones who were doing any sailing. Not by a long shot, indeed. The fact is that the remainder of the fleet seemed to be having some good scrapping. Furthermore, they were so close up on the leaders that one single bit of extra luck or one single mistake in judging of shifts and tides would have been sufficient to put almost any one of them in the lead. Unfortunately however, the writer be ing otherwise engaged was not able to observe their movements in detail.

As they rounded the second mark, so they finished, "Flame" broad reaching in her own pet breeze, increased her lead but at that she was only a second ahead of Proctor. The remainder slithered over the line in close formation, Martin, G. Graham, Walker, Wills.

Wind and weather permitting, next Wednesday will see the last race in the 1928 Club Championship. The standing at present is as follows:

Wilmot	40
Martin	37
G. Graham	31
Proctor	31
Walker	31
G. Graham	3
Medd	3
Wills	3

BOY AND GIRL CYCLISTS INVITED TO ATTEND BIG DEMONSTRATION

Belleville boys and girls will be in their glory tomorrow morning, at least those who are interested in bicycles and scooters will, for it is the day of the safety demonstration parade and cycling events to be held at Victoria Park. City officials have taken an interest in the affair and promise to have everything arranged for the comfort of the spectators and participants, and "some" of the riders of other days may be seen in action.

This bicycle carnival will bring back fond recollections to many, for it was not so long ago that it seemed the thing everyone was aware. There are more bicycles in use today however, than the average reader probably realizes. Every boy and girl seems to think the bicycle is his or her birthright, and while the youth of today do not require the teaching of cycling as many did years ago when cycling was considered a great art, yet officials declare they should be instructed in road rules and proper manner in which to handle their bikes in streets and on the highways.

Fred St. Onge of the Canada Cycle & Motor Co. Ltd., a cyclist known all over the world, will direct the events at the park tomorrow morning and will also give a close-up exhibition in the correct and dangerous methods of riding a bike. Many of the riders present at tomorrow morning's carnival will have their wheels all dolled up to compete for the prizes to be awarded. Many prizes will be given out, Mr. St. Onge said yesterday. Scooter racing for the kids will furnish a lot of amusement and the plank riding contest, which is said to be scientific yet safe for the young-est rider, will no doubt furnish some thrills. It is an unique program that has been arranged by the local bicycle dealer, Stephen Licence, in connection with the Canada Cycle & Motor Co., Ltd. This jaunty cyclist is the starting time and it is at the park.

SUPREMES WIN FROM BEAVERS

The Beavers played a return game in Ringside last evening with the Supremes City Champions and were defeated 13-12. The winning run being scored from third with two out Molly Gray pitched her second game in two days and turned in a nice performance.

Features for Belleville were catches by Campbell and Meichoir. The Beavers' "Kiddie" pitcher did a little of everything near redroff and made a double play unassisted. Cook in left field also made a nice catch and helped her team materially with her hitting. Money also did well at the bat-pitcher.

Supremes team did some mighty nice fielding to stop the Beavers and their classy work had the huge crowd on a big uproar. Thrasar at short for the Beavers also went great guns.

The umpiring was not the best and several decisions tended to spoil an otherwise good game.

Beavers line up.

Mainly About People You Know

CUT HER HAND

Mrs. Leo St. Dennis, Pinnacle Street, had the misfortune to cut her right hand badly, yesterday when she fell and thrust it through a window. Apparently Mrs. St. Dennis had been washing a window and slipped off the ladder, when in trying to save herself she pushed her hand through the window. Dr. Forester dressed the wound which is less painful today.

CUT-IN MOTORIST FINED

Percy Day appeared in Police Court this morning charged with driving recklessly and in a manner dangerous to the public and promptly pleade d guilty. Magistrate Mikel assessed him the minimum fine of ten dollars and costs amounting to $18.25 altogether. Mr. Fay will be remembered as the motorist who cut in sharply on Provincial Constable D. Sylvester on the Trent Highway and after an exciting chase was stopped. The minimum fine was imposed on this case but from now on reckless drivers will not be allowed to get off so easily.

DELORO PLAY HERE

The Maple Leafs, a soft-ball team composed of boys in the St. Paul Street district, will meet a team from Deloro on the old cricket field tonight at 6.15. The Maple Leafs were runners-up for the Kiwi soft-ball Juvenile title having been beaten out by the Ravens in a close game in the finals. The Leafs defeated the Deloro team on their own diamond last week and should repeat the victory tonight. The youngsters put up a splendid brand of ball and fans who have seen them in action are impressed at their accuracy. Charlie Garriage pitches for the Leafs while Bill Henn does the catching. The Leafs have beaten Point Anne several times as well as having disposed of city teams.

News Of Movies

BELLE THEATRE

A picture that is bound to cause a lot of discussion among patrons of the Belle Theatre is "Honor Bound," which opened there today for an engagement of three days which may have to be extended.

Not since "The Honor System," which was also a Fox films production, has there been any film to compare with this present offering in its daring expose of conditions that are said to exist among the convicts who have lived out to virtual slavery in the coal mines of the South.

George O'Brien in the leading role of John Oglethpe proves that he is one of the best dramatic actors on the screen. Estelle Taylor, cast as the woman who lived and lost through her own folly, would be welcome for her striking beauty aside from the excellent performance which she gives.

REGENT THEATRE

Buzz Barton in "The Punch Kid" Only thirteen, but he's without an equal among young or old. He has given us a new type of Western hero, fearless, brave, more thrilling than before. And now the boy wonder outdoes even himself—See "The Punch Kid" for the greatest Western thrill show of the year. Today at the Regent.

ATHLETICS WON IN 17 INNINGS

Young Ed Walsh Pitched Good Ball But Sox Lost

New York, August 23. — George Haas, first Athletic batsman in the seventeenth inning, finished the longest game of the American League season by driving an offering from Johnny Miljus over the right-field fence and into an adjoining street for a home run. The smash enabled the Athletics to win by 6 to 5 from Cleveland and so reduce to five games the lead of the Yankees who remained idle because of rain.

Gorge Uhle and George Earnshaw engaged in a pitchers' battle with the score tied at 1 to 1 until the eighth when both wilted.

The Indians combed Earnshaw for four runs, but the Mackmen came back in their own half to knock Uhle from the box with a three run rally. Milan permitted the home team to tie the score in the 9th, but Eddie Rommel won three successive one-run victories to hold the Indians scoreless until Haas' home run won for him. The Macks got 20 hits against only 14 for Cleveland.

Detroit took both games of a double header from Boston yesterday by 7 to 6 and 4 to 2. The visitors now have from the Red Sox.

Young Ed. Walsh pitched good ball for the White Sox, but he was opposed to Hadley, Washington right hander, who held Chicago to five hits, the Senators winning the second game of the series 2 to 0.

GREAT PICTURE TO COME TO TORONTO

Toronto, Ont.—(By The Canadian Press).—"The Elevation of the Cross," by the great artist Peter Paul Rubens, which was purchased recently at auction in London, England, for $30,000 for the Toronto Art Gallery, is on its way here and shortly will be on exhibition of the artist's work. Prior to coming here England, the painting was cleaned, renovated and re-framed.

Rubens rendering of sacred subjects is among his best known works. His "Descent from the Cross" being one of the world's greatest masterpieces.

NAPANEE LEAFS WILL PLAY HERE

Ontarios May Eliminate Leafs In Tonight's Game

Belleville Ontarios will be at home to the Napanee team on the armouries lawn tonight in a game which will have a considerable bearing on the standing in the Bay of Quinte League. The Ontarios are at present leading the parade with four wins and no losses, the Beavers are in second position having won four and lost four while the Napanee team are in the cellar with three wins and four losses. Should the Ontarios win tonight the Napanee team will be eliminated while on the other hand should the Leafs grab the verdict all three will be tied. If Walter Gerow's crew come out on the long end tonight the play-offs will start next week here with the Beavers. The Ontarios will pitch Hilda Adams tonight while the Napanee team will use Douglas or Johnston on the mound. The Ontarios have marked success in their game against the Leafs and all the rats they are playing now they should have little trouble in winning tonight. The game will commence promptly at six o'clock.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

JANE ANN SARGENT

The death occurred at an early hour this morning of Jane Ann Sargent, beloved wife of Frank Sargent, at Plainfield. Deceased was born in Tyrconnel, seventy-five years ago, and had lived in Plainfield for the past forty years. She was a member of the Church of England, and had been ill for some months. Surviving is her husband and one brother, Rev. Richard Irvine, of Kingston, Ont.

MARGARET McTAVISH

Margaret MacTavish, wife of the Rev. W. S. MacTavish passed away at her late home, Moira Street, early today.

The deceased was a daughter of the late Rev. Dr. W. J. MacKay, of Woodstock. A daughter of the Manse, an attractive personality, and a devout Christian, she was well qualified, to become a mistress of the Manse. Nearly 43 years ago she was married to Rev. W. S. MacTavish, who was then pastor of the Presbyterian Church, St. George, Ont. Here, saved as in the other three charges, Deseronto, Kingston and Madoc, to which her husband ministered, she was a most efficient helper. In St. George she was instrumental in organizing the first auxiliary of the W.F.M.S. and the first mission band in that congregation. She was also a charter member of the first W.C.T.U. in the town.

Since coming to Belleville six years ago she has lived in camparative retirement, but was still actively interested in the W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church and the W.C.T.U. She was a woman of fine literary taste and often used her pen in furthering reforms which lay near her heart. Many of her poems have had a wide circulation. Her latest production was "A Prayer for Missionaries". This has been issued in leaflet form and is being sung at missionary meetings.

Besides her husband she is survived by seven children, Campbell and Jessie, Chicago; Gordon, Saskatoon; Mrs. Carl A. McCoy, Madoc; Mrs. M. C. Ward, Toronto; Margaret at home and W. L. Editor of The Tribune, Winnipeg. Eight grand-children also survive. The eldest son, Major, the Reverend, R. M. MacTavish, B.A., B.D., M.C., died in France soon after the close of the Great War, and is buried in St. Omer. Her funeral which will be private, will be marked, according to her expressed desire, by simplicity.

LOIS BARLOW

The friends and neighbours of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Barlow, 2nd Concession of Tyendinaga, were shocked to hear of the death of their little daughter, Lois Madeina, which occurred in Belleville General Hospital on Monday, Aug. 13. The deceased had undergone an operation for appendicitis and in spite of medical skill and careful nursing, the shock was too much for the tender body.

The funeral service was held at the home on Wednesday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. Farnsworth, and was one of the largest held in that community for some years. The many floral tributes show the deep love in which she was held by all. These tributes were borne by her schoolmates who followed their dear little friend to the grave-side. Lois was only eight years old; she was as a bud that unfold ed on Earth to blossom in Heaven.

Besides her parents and grandfather, she leaves to mourn her loss five sisters and three brothers.

The floral tributes were as follows: Pillow—family.
Wreath—Mr. Chas. McCarty, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Irwin and Ruth, Deseronto; McIntosh Bros.
Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barlow and Bessie; Mrs. Susan Naylor; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hagan.
Sprays—Spencer's Sunday School; Melrose Women's Institute; Miss Eagle ton; Miss Nettie Brown; Mrs. Myrtle Francis; Rita McDonnell; Miss Evelyn Wilson; Clarence Wilson and Floyd Sheffield, Ops, and Vera Wilson; Gladys and Florence Cooke and Kay Imay; Mrs. Porter Wilson; Miss George Pitman; Esther, Ena and Ruth Jones; Mr. and Mrs. McCarty, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Barlow and Betty; Mr and Mrs. Clinton Barlow, Maurice and Robert, Delora, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Barlow and Mrs. Jack Clarke; Mrs. Shaddo; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Barlow, Edna, Ken and Dora; Mr. and Mrs. Coc. Diment; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Blatchwick; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stafford, Napanee; Mr and Mrs. J. Bunnett and Edward; Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Virtue; Mr. Wallie Bullard and Miss Elda Gopher; Mr. and Mrs. Vern Dabinett; Misses Grace Moorman and Elizabeth Thickens; Mr. and Mrs. Malm Young and Miss Bell; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Greatrix; The Boyle Family; Mrs. J. Milligan; Mr. and Mrs. Lazarink and family; Mr. and Mrs. Claude Mitchell; The McIntosh Staff; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Muir and family; Mr. and Mrs. Lew Ines and Margaret; Marie, Bernice and Beade Sherman; Mr. D. Flager; Marion Murphy and Bill Dick; Doris, Reid; Mrs. Rob. Bell; Evelyn Wyman; Mary Murphy and Edith Donaldson; Ralph Greatrix; Roberta Melbourne.

MRS. MICHAEL J. FAHEY JR.

There passed away on Monday evening, August 20th, Mrs. Michael J. Fahey Jr., at her home in Marysville, after a lingering illness of three years.

The late Mrs. Fahey's maiden name was Stella O'Sullivan, daughter of the late Wm. O'Sullivan and Mrs. O'Sullivan, of Lonsdale, Ont. Besides her mother she leaves a sorrowing husband one son Harold, and a daughter Joan, aged six and three respectively; six sisters, Mrs. J. Ford, Marysville; Mrs. H. Gabourie, Duhamel, Alberta; Mrs. F. Corrigan, Belleville; Miss S. O'Sullivan and Mrs. A. A. Wilson, Rochester, N. Y.; Mrs. F. Meagher; also three brothers J. H. O'Sullivan, Cobourg; J. F. O'Sullivan J. O'Sullivan, both of Marysville.

Mrs. Fahey will long be remembered by her many friends as a woman of inestimable character, a true mother, wife, as well as a devoted member of St. Mary's Church.

The funeral took place from her late residence Wednesday morning at nine o'clock to St. Mary's Church where Requiem High Mass was celebrated by Rev. Fr. O'Gorman. The bearers were J. McAlpine, M. McAlpine, B. McGuinness, J. Meagher, J. Drummey and A. Drummey.

Spiritual and floral tributes testified to the esteem in which the late Mrs. Fahey was held.

WALTER MILLER

Walter Miller, 36, of Akron, Ohio, was killed when he fell over 110-foot

SARAH DETLOR

The remains of the late Miss Sarah Detlor were laid to rest last Saturday afternoon, the funeral taking place from the residence of her sister, Mrs. Frederick Pope, 37 Johnson St., at two o'clock. Both the service at the home and that at the grave was conducted by the Rev. A. L. Dean and many floral tributes were in evidence. The bearers were all nephews, James and William Detlor, Clifford Wannamaker, Arthur Booth, Wesley Evans and Clarence Osborne. Interment took place in Stirling Cemetery.

THREE OSHAWA PITCHERS FAILED TO HALT SLUGGING NATIONALS IN FIRST GAME FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

Belleville Won Hollow Victory Over Oshawa Motors Team

DAINTY CRACKED

Bats of Local Players Spoke Lustily In 7th Inning

Once again did the slugging bats of the Belleville Nationals ring out with a loud noise, and the Oshawa Motors departed for the shore mentioned city with crest-fallen spirits. For seven innings the Motors put up a gallant fight, but in that inning he National sluggers connected for five solid safeties, which coupled with an error and four walks netted them eight runs. There whose hangs the tale of the defeat of the Oshawa team, with the exception of the third inning when the Packards hung up four other counters which looked mighty good to the home fans.

At that time the Nationals were trailing by two runs to nothing and Harold Dainty was breezing along in fine style. Bob Scott's single, followed by another from the bat of Hoot Gibson, however, looked good, and when Vern Weir, sacrificed them to second and third respectively it looked much better. Ross singled, scoring both Scott and Gibson, but was out on Harry Mills-Sellers choice. Mr. Mills then connected for a long double, scoring brother Harry, and scored himself when McCallum missed up Green's hit.

Oshawa Scores First.

Oshawa had scored their two in the second, when with one out, Williams tripled to right. He was caught off third on a lovely play from Percy Mills to Bob Scott after Young had reached first on a fielder's choice. Sutton singled, and Quinn then sizzled to centre field, Ross running out the ball and both Young and Sutton scoring. This ended the scoring in that frame, but they came right back in the first half of the fourth with another run which looked big at the time. Williams got on on Blakely's error, and was out when Young got on on a fielders choice. Quinn got his second hit in twice at bat, scoring Young for the last counter that Oshawa got in the whole game.

In the Oshawa half of the seventh, they threatened, but the rally was cut short by a nice play which Sailor Gibson cut of a bad hole.

Quinn doubled and Kellar received a walk, after Sutton had filed out to Bob Scott. McCallum then struck out for the last out, and Big Percy immediately whipped the ball to Harry Mills on first and caught Kellar flat-footed off that bag. This ended any rallies which the Oshawa team had staged.

Belleville had two big innings, the third and the seventh, and the seventh was by far the biggest of the two things off. Ross singled, H. Mills went out to Young on third, w. Mills was walked, Green singled, scoring Ross, H. Mills went out to Young on third, w. Mills was walked, Green singled, scoring Ross, when he cleared the bases with a long triple, which might have been made a homer if he had wanted to the him bad out. Morrison then walked. Vern Weir and when Ross tripled, he was pulled in favour of a newcomer by the name of Shaw.

Champions Slant

This was Shaw's first appearance against Belleville the whole season, but Harry Mills, who is the recipient of persons greeted him with a slashing slings to score Ross. W. Mills then made the third out by hitting to the pitcher. Twelve Belleville batsmen had paraded to the plate in that memorable seventh, and eight runs had been tallied. Many of the people in the stands departed after that inning.

In the eighth, Belleville scored one more, Green singling, followed by Blakely going out to the pitcher on a play that is seldom seen in baseball. Blakely hit along the first base line, and when the pitcher tried to field the ball Blakely interfered with him and almost knocked him over. Sheppard, jump on base, called Blakely out and ordered Green back to first as the fielder has the right of way over the base runner. Hagerman then singled and Bob Scott was safe, Green scored when Gibson hit to first, and got on on a fielder's choice, the put out being made at second on Bob Scott.

Every player on the Belleville team scored at least one run, which is another rather peculiar thing. At that it was a hard game for the scorers, there being so much heavy hitting and plenty of base running. If Belleville keeps up the clip they started at yesterday in the next game of the play offs, there will be no third game necessary, and the boys will continue on their way to Toronto and the Ontario Championship.

CLOSE RACE IN NATIONAL LEAGUE

Giants Retain First Place By Margin of One Point

New York, August 22.—Jess Petty and William Watson Clark held the Cardinals to five hits in the rubber game of the series at St. Louis, and Brooklyn won by 3-2. T his turn of fortune prevented the 3rd Bird s a second successive day, from regaining first place from the Giants, who retained the lead by a single percentage point after being defeated by Cincinnati, 5-4.

Petty held the Cardinals without a safety and permitted only two of the home players to reach base in the first five innings while his mates were piling up a three-run lead for him off the slants of the venerable Clarence Mitchell.

It took 12 innings, an error, and some excellent pitching by Artie Nehf and Al Mamaux to do it, but the Cubs finally beat Philadelphia, 4 to 3. Philadelphia had previously beaten Chicago 8 straight games.

The hitting of Paul Waner and Pie Traynor was the high spots of the final game of the Pittsburgh-Boston series. The Pirates making it two out of three by winning 10 to 3.

One month after his wife was killed by automobile, B. Hale of Two Rivers, Wis., met similar death.

GRAND-STAND GOSSIP

With one in the bag the Nationals should have little trouble in taking two straight from the Motors. Yesterday's game was ragged but the fans forgot the misdeeds when the home team won the opener.

The boys all emphatically state that it's only the first one in the march to the Ontario finish. The Motors do not appear to have the punch, and if "Duke" Dainty is in no better form in the return fixture the locals will go through fly-bag.

"Ernie" Rowsome, President of the Belleville Nationals was seen tickled man after the game. "Ernie" has been a live-wire President, has attended practically every game and is a general favorite with the boys as well as the members of the executive.

Dainty was a sorry-looking and dejected boy when he left the box. It certainly was not his day but his team-mates put him in some bad holes. At that he might rather have remained in as his successors had little more than the glove and a prayer.

His came up smiling and while he lost was none the [illegible] and promised a better game next time. The old wing which has seen many years of service is not what it used to be and while he can last about six innings the pace is too killing after that.

Gibson pitched a smart game yesterday and helped to win his own game when he drove out a triple in the seventh with the bases full.

Matthews certainly made a great catch in the eighth when he came in lightning fast to grab Weir's short drive at his shoe-tops. Belleville fans were not slow to recognize the play and he was given a real hand by the cash customers.

Williams broke the ice in the matter of hits when he banged out a triple but he was out at the plate when Bob Scott took a grounder.

Jimmy Quinn's hit in the second was a timely blow and it scored two runs.

Hagerman was caught napping off second base on a very close decision. The "Duke" was too fast for the stocky left fielder on that play.

Weir's sacrifice to advance two runners in the second was a neat play and Scott and Hagerman had ample time to advance.

Wicky Ross bingle in the second to score Scott and Gibson was real timely and the audience gave him a rousing reception when he put up.

But pandemonium broke loose when "Big" Peeney Mills got his long double. The cash customers love to see the big catcher do his stuff.

Fans haven't forgotten the left-right-stuff and every time Harold Dainty walked from the dug-out he kept pace with the fans' gait.

Herbie Wolfe was an absentee in centre field yesterday and he is regarded as one of the most dangerous hitters in the league.

Gibson's cremshire was working nicely and he had the Oshawa batters baffled at times.

Dainty ran out a nice hit to Blakely in the ninth. The Duke has a fast pair of legs and could no doubt show a clean pair of heels to plenty of fast base-runners in the league.

Fans from the surrounding district were numerous yesterday and the tornado out Tweed way did not prevent the dyed-in-the-wool fans in that area from attending.

"Pop" Morrison pitched one-third of an inning and five runs were scored off his delivery.

Hagerman got two long drivers but "Slipper" Jones was camped under both of them. Had they been ten feet farther Stan could easily have made extra-bases.

The two umpires Oscar Hett and Hale Sheppard made a hit with the fans. There is little hesitation on the part of any of them in calling the plays and Hett's decision in calling Blakely out for interference and the fans smiled for a few minutes. They are a capable pair and it is to be hoped that they will handle the return game in Oshawa.

Dainty fields his position well and had no less than seven assists during the course of the afternoon.

Among the dignitaries present were President McFadden of Peterborough, R. A. Elliott, representative of the O.B.A.A. and Harold Lunn, Secretary of the Oshawa Club.

Young took Harry Mills short attempted sacrifice bit in the seventh but he was camped ten feet from the plate looking [illegible].

"Peeny" Mills was [illegible] by Dainty in the seventh but it proved his undoing and started a rally which resulted in his exit.

Sutton's error in dropping a ball in the seventh filled the bases and put Dainty in a bad hole.

Gibson's drive to centre in the seventh scored three runs. Williams came in fast for the ball which was low and, it went to the long grass.

LITTLE PRIGS GROW, BECOMING BIG PRIGS

By Dr. LOUIS E. BISCH

Snobbishness is not confined merely to a few adults. Snobbishness is rather a common trait in children.

Children love to herd it over others in play. They like to behave in an exalted way. They are boastful and show conceit.

A rich child does not hesitate to inform a poorer one of his many toys, his father's automobile, children sometimes even laugh at physical defects, early.

All these are signs of snobbishness and the danger of snobbishness in all children is greater than one might suppose.

One reason may be found in the fact that all children are apt to be snobbish as home. The other is that altogether too frequently children hear their own parents make derogatory and snobbish remarks about friends and neighbors and they promptly convey similar sentiments to their playmates.

Children are very outspoken and straightforward by nature and they say things without the least considerations for the feelings of others. Sometimes the truthfulness of children amounts to cruelty.

The matter of dress, especially among girls, is another that lends itself readily to snobbish manners.

We like to see our children well dressed, of course. But we must be careful about praising them too much if they look attractive, for in this way we may build conceit in a child.

Even an otherwise lovable child becomes offensive when it shows conceit.

Parents must remember that the possibilities of snobbishness are ever present in childhood and must carefully watch children for this handicapping trait they will be shunned and despised when they grow up.

If the child continues to be snobbish it is the fault of the parents.

Children are largely what we make them.

It is the influence of the parents on their young, immature and developing minds that is the most telling and lasting.

Snobbishness is a natural growth in the garden of childhood, but try by every means in your power to see that it is not.

Children are charming when they show sweet simplicity. Preserve and develop that to the utmost if you would have your children turn out to be superior adults with strong fine characters.

Do not hesitate to point out snobbishness in your child when it appears. Explain what snobbishness means. Take the child into your confidence.

Don't scold. Simply tell him or her.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

I am a girl 16 years of age and have been going with a boy 4 years my senior, for two years had recently become engaged to him.

I have been troubled for some time, as I have since told that he is suffering from an incurable disease, consumption. I feel that it would be wrong to marry him and yet I can't hurt him, as he has already made many plans. He has never admitted that he has the disease, but would never deny it, but it is very apparent.

How can I best handle the situation? I am sure my parents would help with me. I will appreciate your advice very much.

UNDECIDED.

UNDECIDED: Were I in your place, the first thing I should do would be to talk to the young people. Have a frank discussion with them and see what they say. You can tell them your fears and ask them for a candid expression of their knowledge. Remember, my dear, that while love is a very beautiful thing, one can never be thoroughly happy if there is fear in the combination, particularly with the disease you mention. And too, remember also that you have not only yourself, and the man to consider, you must think of the future kiddies family that will probably be yours. Would you want to feel that you would be the cause of bringing children into the world with this taint upon them? Of course not. And no matter how much it would hurt you to break your engagement, if you find out definitely that the young man is consumptive, it would be your wisest course. But first make very sure. Some States have laws which call for physical examination before marriage and a doctor's certificate of perfect health. While I do not know if such a law exists in your state you might do well to find out.

After a minute, Marguerite said; "Besides, I'm not going alone. I'm going with the Brocktons!"

He looked up in surprise. "But only "Rot! I can look after myself all right. I'll close the apartment and live at the club."

"But isn't it true."

last night Irma told me positively that she had refused to go."

"She isn't going."

He laid down his fork and regarded her with a frown. "You are a little ambiguous, Marguerite. What do you mean by saying that you're going with the Brocktons, and then telling me that Irma isn't going?"

"But Steve is....." she was beginning eagerly, "and....."

He flung down his napkin and pushed back his chair.

She nodded. "And his sister, Laura. That makes it all right, doesn't it?"

"I doesn't make it all right, as you so naively put it," he said wrathfully. "How many people do you think would swallow that yarn?"

"But it's true."

"True or not, I refuse to permit you to do such a thing. Steve Brockton must be mad, even to suggest such a thing. Besides, there's talk already, because he's here so much when I'm out."

"But wherever he comes down, it's because you're out with Irma," she protested, with an unusual show of spirit. "We talk or read while we wait for you to return."

"Don't you suppose I know that? .....But what outsider does?"

"And you go out frequently with Lydia" she persisted, wondering at her courage. It was as though Laura Brockton's visit had put new life into her.

"Never alone.....since our marriage," he answered shortly. "When we're out together, it's always with a party of other people."

"I'm afraid I can't see any difference. Steve's your being with Lydia and a party, and my being with Steve and his sister. It rather amounts to the same thing."

"It does nothing of the sort," he declared angrily. "I'm not taking a long voyage in Lydia's company."

She was silent.

"Besides," he began, after a moment, "what do you suppose Irma would say to the arrangement you and Steve seem to have cooked up between you, with the aid of Sister Laura.....if there is such a person?"

She answered mildly: "Irma suggested it, in the first place. She said afterward that she was only joking. But, at the time, she seemed serious enough. She said she'd stay on in New York and have you take her dancing on your free evenings."

"Oh, forsooth," he groaned, "is there a woman with sense or discretion left in all the world?"

"I didn't think you liked or admired women with sense or discretion" she remarked.

"I didn't need to think so Now I'm not so sure. Marriage teaches one a lot," he added savagely.

She flushed at that. "Have I been a terrible pest, Hal?"

His response was gallant, once he'd got hold of his temper again: "You're an admirable wife for the right sort of chap."

(From a Woman's Standpoint)

A national exposition of women's work in the home is in Berne, Switzerland, to show the range of women's labor and its economic value, and the attempt to be divided into fourteen groups, which are located in the various halls of the "Viererfeld," while one section is devoted to labor saving devices for the home.

Paris notes that sleeves are the subject of much more thought than they were when mannish mode prevailed, for they revel in draperies in trimming on the cuffs in cut and bemuddled designs, and whenever possible the treatment on the sleeve is a repitition of the trimming at the neckline.

New York reports that the exclusive few now favor plain doll crepes for informal day wear.

"The girls at Radcliffe College are taught the theory and fundamentals of aviation in physics lectures, but are forced to let their investigations of this science end there. The reason for this is to "keep out of the air" warning contained in the college catalogue for 1928-29. It reads as follows: "Resident students are forbidden to go up in an airplane except when written instructions for so doing from parents or guardians are filed at the office."

"Golden mole" is the fur now in Berlin this season; while the Russian Indian squirrel a slight is very fine is also an unusual offering.

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

Laura laughed. "That's rather stretching a point. I will be your companion, not my brother. He simply happens to be going along. I can assure you that his wife won't raise the slightest objection. She had her invitation and refused it. She's too sure of herself.....and of you.....to be jealous. I can tell you that. For your husband, I may speak, of course."

Marguerite's gaze was lowered as she said: "I am confident that Hal would have no objections either."

Her tone, the expression of her face, told Laura all that she needed to know. She was extraordinarily clever at gauging situations.

"All right then. Lets call it a go. Steve must know at once, because of reservations."

She ran and held out her hand. "I've an idea we'll come to be good friends, you and I. It's a risky thing to take a long chance slip with any one you don't know awfully well. But I think we'll get along."

"Won't you have some tea?" begged Marguerite, feeling quarrly forlorn at the prospect of her caller's leaving so soon. She was always relieved to see Lydia Conversa depart. Lately, since the visit of her friend, she was not sorry to be rid of Irma's breezy presence. But with Laura Brockton she felt the same ease and peace that she had known with Steve.

Laura stood her head. "I'll run down-town and acquaint Steve with the glad tidings. But I'll come again tomorrow afternoon, if I may, and we will discuss arrangements. I'm rather an old traveler, you know," she laughed "I get the wanderlust every spring, and wild horses couldn't hold me."

When Hal came home to dinner, Marguerite was prepared to tell him the news of her impending journey. She found herself unaccountably nervous.

Impassed!

"Hal," began Marguerite suddenly during dinner, "would you mind very much if I.....I went away for the summer?"

"Not in the least," he responded. "Harvard said often enough that you needed a vacation, after staying cooped up in this apartment."

She looked at her plate. "I was thinking of a sea voyage."

His answered: "Splendid.....only, if you wanted an ocean trip, why didn't you go with your family and Mother and Dad? You know, you don't make friends very easily."

"Mother said I ought to stay here with you and see that you were comfortable this summer."

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Success is no comfort to one not sociable.

SHAKESPEARE.

WORKING VS. LOAFING

Writing in a current magazine a contributor who has made a study of life, finds that the suicide rate is higher among the wealthy than those of moderate means and the reason given for it is boredom.

The pub rather an interesting light upon the ambitions of men and women of the world today. Every one of them is struggling to attain "the good living—for which Moneky is made—except that they won't have to work. They imagine that would be perfectly happy if they could say "Boss take thine ease," when according to this magazine writer, they would merely be joining the great army of the unemployed rich who got so tired of doing nothing that they wish to join the slaughter.

Apparently the greater interest in life is found in the task of making money—not in spending it on a life of coolness and ease.

Millionaires who take regular jaunts abroad, hunting big game, visiting places of historical interest, and living on the fat of the land, have always been envied by their humble worker who could never go "out abroad" enough to enjoy a real holiday but the latter, if his only knew it is really happier pursuing his labors not him a comfortable living, for we are told the idle rich go abroad in most instances merely to keep from being bored to death.

It is here another of instances the most who finds it no longer necessary to work, has formed such habits of working, that he doesn't know how to live with nothing to do. He tries loafing, but in the end he goes back to work for the misery he doesn't need, and the fact that he doesn't need it, robs the work of its interest.

There is a lesson in this. It is a mistake to worship money to the extent of shutting out all ideas of enjoyment and pleasure as we go along. People should learn to live, as well as to make money, when they are young. It is a mistake to regard the man who is rolling in wealth as the one who is rolling in happiness. It doesn't always work out that way. The man who has the greatest chance of happiness in this world is the one who is engaged in useful occupation, and to whom that work means a livelihood for himself and his family. He is the one who appreciates the pleasure when they come along—by no means the least of which is the real pleasure he receives in knowing that he is doing something of real service to the world.

GERMAN'S LINERS

With the launching of the Europa and the Bremen Germany takes the lead in the construction of the largest Atlantic passenger liners. These great vessels will be put into service between Berlin and New York. They are longer than any liner owned by Great Britain or the United States, and the claim is made for them that they are more modern in equipment, decoration and furnishing. Like the Ile de France, they are to use airplanes as auxiliaries to land mail and passengers. Germany seems determined to recover the standing in Atlantic Transportation which was forfeited by defeat in the great war. The Leviathan and the Majestic, the one formerly the Vaterland and the other the Bismark, were both products of the same Hamburg shipyard—that is turning out the new giants. Timely and appropriate was Ambassador Schurman's testimony of regard for Germany at the luncheon on Wednesday.

I now gips this ship the name Europa. I add the reverent wish that good fortune may always attend her and that she may for years to come aid in uniting our two people more closely together by the bonds of mutually profitable commerce, good understanding and friendship.

Another of the big ships on the Atlantic passage today, the Berengaria, was formerly German, the Imperator. In length and tonnage she ranks third. The original Vaterland and Bismark were to be of the same size, but a change in design made the Bismark eight feet longer than the Vaterland, or 956 feet. The Europa and Bremen will have a length of 938 feet.

The Olympic and Aquitanic come next, then the new French boats Ile de France and Paris. By comparison with the Leviathan and Majestic, the swift Mauretania is no longer entitled to be classed with the greatest liners; her registered tonnage is 32,500 and her length 790 feet. The progress in building Atlantic steamships since 1901, when the Servia, the first steel ship, was added to the Cunard fleet, has been impressive for improvement in design, capacity and speed. But in some respects its opinion is that expansion is no longer desirable, because the big ship is very expensive to run. The four-day ship as projected will not be another Leviathan.

THE OLD TOWN

There's a little town in Canada
On rippling Quinte Bay
That holds a corner in my heart
And there 'twill always stay.

'Twas there I heard the sweetest song
The happy blue-bird sings,
And caught as round the town I roamed
The flash of his blue wings.

I know it is a favored spot,
For I've been up and down,
And never found as blue a sky
As smiles on my home town.

I'll sing my home town.
Belleville my home town
Till through the maple leaves
The songs are lifted
Caught and broadcasted
On every wave and breeze.

TOUGH LUCK ON OCEAN BATHERS

Vancouver Water Lovers Can't Wear Bathing Suits On Street Car

Vancouver, B.C., The B. C. Electric Company having made formal announcement that on future persons clad only in bathing suits would not be allowed to ride in the street car, F. W. Lees in the Province has commented on the statement:

"The grievance may have arisen because the bathing suit was small, was, or it may have been because the sight made the other passengers envious on a hot day. Now that the question has been raised it is as well to lay down some sort of law in the matter. At present there is no definite note for the wearing of bathing suits. In any respectable neighborhood the practice is common for a male or so from the beach and I have yet to see an irate shopper glaring at an offender through her pincenez. Legs don't mean a thing to us.

"At English Bay, however, there may be greater need of propriety. There are strangers thereabouts who might be easily shocked and for their sake our good name sartorial revolutionist should be preserved. In walking up to the neck, or deeper, bathing suit only. One-piece or two-piece, depending on the shape of the bather.

"Walking three blocks, wear short coat. Five blocks, morning coat, forty blocks, dinner jacket. Beyond that, scoop and dash. Twelve blocks, raincoat. Beyond twelve blocks, fur overcoats, felt hat and celluloid cheaters.

"It must be fully understood that no one is to leave the beach until he has finished dripping, that no sand is to be taken away, and that all seaweed is to be carefully removed from ankles elbows and knees, nd thrown back into the ocean in or near the spot where it was picked up."

FORD MOTOR CO. ENJOYS GREAT PRODUCTION ERA

Ford, Ont., Aug. 30—Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, is enjoying the greatest period of production activity in the history of the company having equaled and exceeded peak production with a total of more than 500 motors a day. W. H. Campbell, Vice-President and Treasurer, made public this announcement and all the same time disclosed the fact that more than 10,000 are on the payroll of the Company in Canada.

"The public demand for the new car is such that it will be necessary for us to maintain the greatest production schedule in the history of the company," said Mr. Campbell. "More than 5,000 men are engaged in the manufacturing units of the plant at Ford City and another 1500 men are developing cars in assembly plants at Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg."

"In spite of the fact that about 400 cars a day are being delivered to purchasers in Canada, there is always a list of orders on file." It was established that for every car delivered there is a new order received, which keeps the order list at a sustained level.

Continuing the interview, it was stated that the market for the new car in Canada and the British Overseas Dominions was better than at any months in Canada the demand for motor cars is somewhat retarded, but in overseas territories this demand in creases. This Zealand and sustained demand will make it necessary for the Ford Motor Company of Canada to maintain its present production schedule throughout the year.

Production on the new standard coupe is announced, and in this model there is incorporated all the refinements of the new Fordor with the dash and fleetness of the roadster. It will be on display at the Canadian National Exhibition, and it is expected to create its own place in the market for the individual car. It is expected to serve as the ideal model to round out the motoring freedom of the family requiring the second car.

LONDON FAMILIAR TO BRITISH HEIR

Would Be Able To Find Way About City Fairly Well

London, (By C.P.)—"There is hardly a part of London in which I could not find my way about fairly well," declared the Prince of Wales, when the other day he attended a meeting of the London County Council. The Prince attended as a mere spectator but mentioned that as head of the Duchy of Cornwall he possessed property within the area of the London County Council. "I cannot help remembering with pride a letter wherein the writer said that our estate in Kennington possessed one of the best housing schemes of its kind. I was grateful for this pat on the back," the Prince said.

It was an historic day for the London County Council. The Council assembled itself to the latest and greatest schema for dealing with Waterloo and Charing Cross bridges. Waterloo Bridge, one of the finest bridges from the architectural viewpoint in all Europe, is to be retained. Charing Cross railway bridge, one of the biggest eyesores in all Europe, is to go, and the railway and all connected therewith is to be moved to the south side of the river.

An imposing new road bridge approach will take the place of the old railway station, but it will extend to a point beyond the National Gallery. Finally, the south side of the river, now stridden with unsightly warehouses, with mean streets running answer them, is to be improved by the building of an embankment.

In this way the magnificent central curve of the river is expected to get the bridges it deserves at the right places. The overhead crossing of the Strand will be an untold boon to traffic present and future. The embankment of the south side will add a new business quarter to London, very central and capable of carying some of London's finest buildings. Even the Southern Railway will profit much in the exchange, with a big roomier station, close to Waterloo and the Waterloo Underground at one end, and allowing for a splendidly-placed hotel on the new embankment on the other.

The cost is estimated at $84,000,000, of which the Government will find three-quarters and the L.C.C. a quarter. This huge expenditure will be spread over a number of years.

MINISTER ENTERS POLITICAL RING

London (By The Canadian Press). —Dr. F. W. Norwood, Minister of the famous City Temple, who recently refused an attractive offer of a pulpit in Montreal, is expected to fight a constituency in North London at the General Election in the Liberal interest. At the age of 11, Dr. Norwood was working in an carpenter's shop in Melbourne. He was brought up a Wesleyan, but was trained as a Presbyterian minister, and made his name at the City Temple who he went there as a substitute for another noted preacher. Dr. Norwood recently toured the country on behalf of the practical peace politics. Dr. Norwood will fight on the new Liberal programme, and he will doubtless give much prominence in his speeches to the advocacy of peace.

A Word to the Wise

If a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded it as the opportunity of a lifetime.

Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25% to 50% or more under levels established last year.

The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have increased the equities behind the shares.

Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

Why not consult with us in the matter and let us make some suggestions?

Vita-Weat is concentrated wheat, since it is produced by the extraction from the wheat grain of the flour which, making and baking, has been rendered quite unsuitable. The STARCH and BRAN PARTICLES of the wheat are re-united with the whole wheat nutrition cells obtained from the whole wheat grain. Vita-Weat BALKS the digestive organs of nothing that is of any real nourishment, and is much richer than that of WHITE BREAD OR WHOLE WHEAT BREAD. Vita-Weat is a perfect food for children, as it contains an amount of body-building and health-giving properties, not present in Vita-Weat, added to which the all important Vitamin A and D are retained almost in their entirety. Vita-Weat is a food of GREAT DIGESTIBILITY and any one of the family can eat this appetizing and delicious food—VITA-WEAT. Ex-tract from "The Lancet," London, England.

"It will be noted that the calorie value is high. The carbohydrate is in the form of starch, which is well tolerated, a valuable foodstuff, most particularly in respect of its content of Vitamin B, the deficiency of which is the chief factor in causing cancers in animal stocks."

Premier King Talks Over Important Problems With Secy. Kellogg

KING STRIKES AT BETTER TARIFF RATES ON FISH FROM MARITIMES

Kellogg Discusses St. Lawrence Waterways With Premier

OLD PROBLEMS

Agreed That United States Should Deepen Channels

New York, Aug. 24.—A special wireless dispatch to the New York Times from Ile de France describes the meeting between Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg of the United States and Premier Mackenzie King of Canada. The dispatch says they "paid important conference discussing the various problems affecting the two countries" and continues "it is understood that the two statesmen went over old problems long bothering both countries, the St. Lawrence waterway and the Chicago drainage canal. Mr. Kellogg agreed that Canada ought to have the right to all water power developed on the St. Lawrence where the river runs through wholly Canadian territory and that two countries should share the power equally where the river runs between them.

Mr. Kellogg also agreed that the United States alone should deepen the Great Lakes channels to provide for a passage of ocean vessels to and pay the appropriate cost of all International Construction.

Mr. King believes that a large part of Canada is not ready for the St. Lawrence development, having no immediate use for power and fearing also that it would be detrimental to Montreal and Quebec. He thinks that should the United States right himself, does the Canadian shipping in lowering the lakes level by the Chicago drainage canal. He would greatly appease Canada's opinion, part of which is fearful lest the United States scheme of taking Canada in any International power and waterway scheme. Also he felt that the Canadian opinion would be won over were the United States to grant better tariff rates on fish imports from the Maritime Provinces and also dairy products."

AIR MAIL PLANES ARRIVE SAFELY

Service From East And West Inaugurated Today

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The amphibian plane from Quebec which inaugurated the first air mail for Toronto arrived here early this afternoon making a landing in the bay at the foot of York street, some distance from the Canadian National Exhibition grounds where it had been expected to alight on the water front. The plane came by way of Kingston and Ottawa.

Toronto, Aug. 24.— Coincidental with the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition, the first air mail from Western Ontario arrived here to day, the airplane carrying the bag landing on the waterfront at 1.30 p.m.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—The six passenger amphibian aeroplane which is taking part in thespecial mail flights between Quebec and Toronto and Windsor and Toronto today in connection with the opening of the Canadian National Exhibition arrived from Quebec at 8.30 this morning and took on 4,000 letters before continuing its journey. Some of the letters will be delivered to the directors of the exhibition at luncheon today.

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 24.—Hopping off for Toronto from the Walker Aerport early this morning with six packs containing 150 pounds of first-class mail the Buhl air sedan started the Border Cities first air mail flight. The stop is scheduled for London, where additional mail will be taken on. The plane will land at the Canadian National Exhibition.

KILLED IN FALL

QUEBEC DRIVER ARRESTED HERE

W. Powell of Montreal Struck Woman And Did Not Stop

Receiving a call from Traffic Officer Byles of Napanee to stop a car with a Quebec license, late yesterday afternoon, the Belleville police within a half an hour had located the car and had placed W. Powell, of Montreal, under arrest. He was taken back to Napanee where he was fined $25 and costs, for leaving the scene of an accident.

Powell had been the cause of an accident about four miles east of Napanee earlier in the afternoon, in which an unknown woman had the misfortune to receive a broken arm and had driven on without stopping to see whether anyone was hurt or not. The number of his car had been taken, however, and his dash for liberty was checked.

VESSELS COLLIDED IN LAKE SUPERIOR

Superior, Wis., Aug. 24.—Radio Corporation of America announced to-day receipts of messages stating that the American freighter J. O. Cranmer and the Canadian freighter Westmount collided in Lake Superior east of Whitefish Bay, Michigan, last evening.

Two other ships were standing by but no S.O.S. signals were sent out.

KINGSTON BASEBALL PLAYER IS BURNED

Kingston, Aug. 24.—James Arniel catcher of the Kingston Central Ontario League baseball team, and employed by the Millard and Lumb Welding firm, is in the Hotel Dieu Hospital suffering from burns about the face arms and neck, received in an accident while at work Wednesday afternoon.

He was handling an acetylene torch on a job at Abramsky's building on Sydenham street, where boring operations were under way on some steel girders. There was evidently a slight leak from one of the tanks and the gases from the acetylene torch ignited the material from the tank and caused a blaze, resulting in Arniel being burned.

REMANDED TO JAIL

Robert Childs Arraigned In Court On Murder Charge

Woodstock, Aug. 24.—Robert Childs, 28, accused of the murder of the murder of Gertrude Tyrland, his fiancee, who died of chloroform fumes in Childs's motor car in an alleged suicide pact, appeared this afternoon and was formally arraigned on a charge of murder. He was remanded to jail until Monday next when a preliminary hearing will take place.

RECOVERED CAR TRIO ARRESTED

Detectives Arrive From Toronto To Escort Men There

When a call came in from Stirling Tuesday that three suspicious looking characters had been seen on the Rawdon Road, Sergeant Clarke and Provincial Officer Hammer of the Provincial Police investigated and found the trio on the Madoc Road, who gave the names of Charles Faulkner, Jack Collier and James McFee. They failed to give any good account of themselves, they were placed in the car and searched. Charles Faulkner had a loaded revolver on his person, and had no permit.

On the way back to Belleville, one of the officers noticed a McLaughlin Six coupe cn a side road, leading to a farmer's home. It bore a Hamilton license, and the officers immediately suspected that it was a stolen car. It was taken back to Stirling and placed in a garage there for safe keeping, while the men were brought back to Belleville. "After questioning them last night, each one admitted that they had stolen the car in Toronto the day before. Their finger prints were taken and sent to Ottawa, while the Toronto Police were notified, and Detective Sergeant Johns and Detective Miller were dispatched to this city to get the men.

It was found that the car had been stolen from Dr. Douglas H. Bruce, of Toronto; and contained an X-ray outfit and valuable surgical instruments. The total value of the car and the contents being well over 3500 dollars. In the meantime the men had nominal charges of vagrancy laid against them and Chibles Faulkner was sentenced to a month in jail for carrying weapons without a permit. Today the officers took the three young men back to Toronto, where they will stand their trial for the theft of the car. Faulkner and Collier have previous records. Much credit is due the work of the two Provincial officers who made the arrests and recovered the stolen car, as they had only the slightest of clues to connect the jobs with the stolen car.

Strange Disappearance of Rector Solved By Steamship Co.

London—(Canadian Press Cable)—Aug. 24.—The Canadian Pacific steamship officials revealed today that there was a "Franklyn, Hutchinson" signed on the Empress of Scotland on August 4th from Cherbourg for Canada. The disappearance of Rev. Franklin Hutchinson, Rector of Doddinghurst, Essex, the end of July created a sensation throughout England. The police also received word today that he was in Ireland. It is supposed that affairs pending his resignation to his Bishop he sailed for Canada for his voyage and then came back to Ireland.

GEO. PEPPER WON BICYCLE CONTEST

Fred St. Onge Gave Demonstration of Safety Rules

35 TOOK PART

Valuable Prizes Given to Successful Winners of Competition

Promptly at ten o'clock this morning the first bicycle safety demonstration to be held in Belleville commenced under the capable eye of Mr. Fred St. Onge, who has been in the city for the past few days making arrangements for the affair. These demonstrations have been staged in every city of importance in Canada under the auspices of the local C.C.M. Bicycle dealer, with the C.C.M. company assuming each one.

Some thirty-five or forty boys were on hand with their wheels, all anxious to take the chance to ride the instructor, Fred St. Onge then, which stretched on the ground for a distance, of one hundred and fifty feet. Several pictures were taken of the boys on parade and the crowd of interested spectators, which included many parents who came to see and hear for themselves how a bicycle can be ridden with safety. Mr. St. Onge then demonstrated the correct manner of riding a bike, and the wrong way. He also showed the boys how their seats should be adjusted and how the handlebars should be placed to give the maximum of safety and comfort.

George Pepper was successful in winning the first prize for the plank parade, riding the plank six full times, and week-off after 119 feet of the seventh, for a total of 1,019 feet. He lives in the Chatham Street, and attends the Collegiate. First prize consisted of a Panther Bicycle Lamp.

Second prize went to William Lynch, 77 Front Street, who goes to St. Michael's Academy. He rode the plank three times and fell off after 20 feet of the fourth for a total of 47 feet. He won a focusing Flash Light Kodak Reversed, at 39 North Front Street, won third prize, a large Bull Horn, although he failed to complete the full length of the board once. Of the thirty-five who entered, only the first and second placers were successful in negotiating the one hundred and fifty foot long and five inch yid safety plank. Considering the fact that safety demonstrations are a fine thing for the city, and if the children who ride bicycles, and for that matter the grown ups, too, will observe the safety rules explained by Mr. St. Onge, there will be very few bike accidents in this city.

Spiritualist Attempts To Open Coffin of Late Lord Haldane

Glenesgles, Scotland, Aug. 24.—The grave of Viscount Haldane, British statesman, who was buried here yesterday was found opened this morning with indications that an attempt had been made to pry open the coffin.

Lying asleep beside the opened grave was the man who slopped the funeral procession of a former cabinet minister in High Street yesterday at Auchterarder. Awakened by the cemetery attendant the man was quoted as declaring that he had spirit ualist leanings and had an appointment with the Viscount. He found Lord Haldane is not dey'l. The police said the man had admitted opening graves.

MADE ESCAPE IN MOTOR LAUNCH

Sergt. J. Trualsch Made Search of Bay of Quinte Waters

Belleville police received a report from Gananoque Monday late yesterday afternoon to the effect that some one had stolen a motor boat from a United States tourist at that point, and was headed up the Bay of Quinte, according to their information. Apparently the young man who stole the boat had cashed several worthless cheques in Gananoque, and stole the large motor boat, "Chic Cher" to make a getaway, all other ways being guarded.

Sergeant of Detectives Jack Trualsch immediately organized a search of Ralph Boulter's speed boats and patrolled the bay until after dark as far as Napanee, but no trace was found of the stolen launch. It is thought that the thief turned up the Napanee River and that as he probably was unfamiliar with the channel, that he became stranded somewhere along this river.

DRIZZLE DRIVES VISITORS AWAY

Toronto, Aug. 23.—The Canadian National Exhibition today opened its gates for the 50th year of its existence with Lieut.-Governor Clarkson officially declared the fair open from the main bandstand in the afternoon.

The Exhibition authorities expect that the paid attendance will go well over 2,000,000 mark this year.

Poor weather conditions prevailed to day when the Canadian National Exhibition opened its gates for the 50th year of its existence. The early morning dullness gave way to a drizzling rain later in the day.

TODAY'S THOUGHT
The truth of things is lovely.—DANTE.

LIQUOR EXPORT

There can be no doubt of the good faith of the Ontario government in connection with the export business of liquor to the United States. The large business has been carried on in a way that is not unlike any other form of industrial or commercial activity. It is out for big money all the time, and it is not particular what character of association it has in the distribution of its goods. These things in themselves give the trade a character which does not commend it to the better class of people. Besides the Ontario Liquor Act has closed the channels of domestic trade. It was natural for the liquor men to turn as far as possible though actually illegitimate ones with the United States. It was done under false pretences, and a business that cannot carry on without resorting to practices which it cannot justify in the courts is not of the highest class. The United States has passed a prohibition measure, and as good neighbors we have no right to interfere with the domestic arrangements of our neighbor's house. It is on that principle that the Ontario government appears to have acted. Government counsel says the law has run at last.

BETTER RADIO

It is certainly to be hoped that the United States radio authorities will give Canada a fair show in the matter of wavelength in order to make trip to the present they have adopted a sort of laissez faire doctrine in their air policy, and reception annoying other countries on this continent have decided actual years to pay think Canada and Mexico should have, and given the great majority to their own stations. In 1922 the United States department gave licenses for wave lengths which Canada was already using, with resulting confusion. The fact is, radio got out of the control of both the United States and the Canadian government. It went ahead too fast for the official mind, and now that both countries are waking up, perhaps we shall have more of the spirit of sweet reasonableness. We need broadcasting locations in Canada as the new head, and the argument that save song"... shoals on allocated according to population is not convincing because the population is widely scattered. It has been stated that Secretary Kellogg and the department of state are inclined to favor Canada's request for more stations near large centres, and if the United States wishes to be neighborly, which we think she does, we will get them.

THE PRINCE

A delicious story is going the rounds concerning his Royal Highness the Prince of Wales and characteristic of that spirit of camaraderie which enables him to get into friendly touch with any company into which it may be . is not to enter. In this instance a youngster was on the shore of Worth-ing casting for bait. Hardly had he secured a stranger was inquiring what the gamin was doing, got the reply, "digging for worms." Whereupon the visitor, after asking whether he could be of any help, set to work with the lad and together the two chums presently filled the tin with good fat specimens of the wrigglers whose habitat Charles Darwin is said to have studied for more than forty years. The youngster knew nothing about the value of earthworms in respect of the scientific use to which these crawly things can put their talents amongst vegetable world. But this lad did know that worms are good for fishing bait, a truth which many anglers have yet to learn or at least reflect to ignore. At any rate the bait can was duly stocked with supplies, and the youngster, pleased with his luck, was ready to resume fishing operations. Happening to take a steady glance at his "chum," this juvenile remarked how much his assistant looked like the Prince of Wales. Then he got the stock of his life, for His Royal Highness smilingly confessed himself there and then. Now you can maybe embarrass a youngster just for a moment. But for the knack of converting coincidence up a situation and keeping instantly out of misery into a frenzy of delight, where can you meet his match!

This last pounced on the golden opportunity. Which means that he asked the Prince some memento of the occasion, probably just to assure his parents that he had not gone home with one of the fishing stories which incite admiration for mendacity or a scoff as to their truthfulness. He asked for an autograph. And he got it. Now there are some little peculiarities in life that at odd moments become of unwonted significance, as when, for example, a bishop forgets his railroad ticket or a prime minister misplaces his spectacles. And in this episode, just to show how nearly alike are most human folk, His Royal Highness discovered that he had no notebook. Neither of them had a piece of paper. It was at this embarrassing impasse in affairs that the youngster came to the rescue. "Stung by the splendor of a sudden thought" he fumbled in his pocket and produced of all things a much-besmudged "whist-drive score card," which sufficed for the purpose. And on it His Royal Highness wrote the monogram "Edward P."

All of which is very interesting, and an incident in life which it does the heart good to contemplate. Regard for the feelings of others, and the ever-ready mind to give a helping hand, are the qualities which in the Heir-Apparent to the British throne have won the hearts of all British subjects.

PASSING YEARS

THE DREAMERS

Twilight hour and a strong side flowing
Out to sea.
Leave all the troubles you've been knowing
And come with me!
We will launch our barque with its sails a-quiver,

On Country Highways Walk on the Left Side

CARE COURTESY COMMON SENSE

Do not walk with the traffic—but AGAINST it

Pedestrians on country highways are less likely to be struck by motor vehicles when they walk on the left side. Then they FACE the on-coming traffic.

Motor vehicles run quietly. When a horn sounds from behind, a person may become startled and step the wrong way.

A pedestrian on the left side of the road can see as well as hear, the approaching vehicle. Where several are walking together, they should walk in single file.

Drivers of motor vehicles must slow down and sound horn when approaching persons walking. They must not force pedestrians off the road. They should should not try to pass a vehicle and a pedestrian at the same time. Where children are

On City Streets

Where there is a traffic officer or traffic signal, cross with the wheeled traffic. Don't try to dodge through a traffic line. e The drivers have secured the right of way from the officer or signal.

Cross busy streets at intersections. Then you will save yourself needless risks. Pedestrians who are considerate of motor drivers will better protect themselves.

7 Rules for Safety

1 Have your car in perfect mechanical shape —particularly Brakes, Steering Gear and Head Lights.
2 Give your undivided attention to your driving. In passing traffic, be sure there is a place for you in the traffic line ahead.
3 When other motor vehicles try to pass you —let them pass.
4 In entering narrow streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a full view of the track is obscured, stop and look.
5 Don't "feel" where traffic is heavy.
6 Always signal before you slow down, stop or change your course.
7 Never back up before ascertaining that the road behind is clear.

EDITOR'S VIEWS OF OLD ENGLAND

Paris, (By The Canadian Press)—Despite lipstick and jazz, bottle and pajama parties and midnight mixed bathing, England is still Victorian. At least that is the verdict of M. Louis Ienzier, the French journalist who is now Chief Editor of the "Figaro." He has visited many lands and now wants to see England and Scotland again. Not that he has not already made his mind about that island and its inhabitants. He has already done so and perhaps only to what his appetite for his next visit he gives to his readers:

"You have to go to Great Britain,—not London"—he says, "in order to get away from British snobbery and that American snobbery which has permeated the world. In Great Britlewship, genuineness and old, provincial spirit which, the British have always showered on the visitor with such exquisite courtesy.

"Nowhere in the world do the old customs of Europe survive as in old England and honest Scotland.

"Great Britain still has her lessons to give but who heeds them? Her struggles but on the whole she is still overpowering spirit of the past per, t the Victorian era. A kind of heavy vades the atmosphere—the imagination and breath of the new world are missing.

For those who roam:
We will leave the dross of the world to others,
Who hear no call.
Let us sail to the misty isles, O brothers,
Ere night shall fall.

KATHE COLQUHOUN

"Though Jeremiahs talk and overpopulation, trade aries, crushing taxtain you will still find that good fellation, high cost of living, I do not believe their prophecies of the decline of Great Britain. Even in the subs urbs you will find that family sprightliness and solidity. Sense of national duty, respect for all that accrue or represents the general interest are "England, the head of the greatest visible everywhere.

Empire that has ever existed is patiently and painfully seeking a fresh balance between her needs and her strength. In her search she does genuine friendship her people feel not seem to be able to shed the very towards France."

WEEKLY TEA AT BOWLING CLUB

Mrs. Bumpstead's Rink Successful In Carrying Off Prize

Yesterday afternoon at the Belleville Bowling Green, on William St., Mrs. Aylesworth and Mrs. Caverly were hostesses at the weekly tea held in the tea rooms. Mrs. Fraser Aylesworth, of Madoc, an out of town guest poured tea, while the tea rooms were decorned with a profusion of sweet peas and dahlias.

Never before have the tea rooms looked any better than they did yesterday, and many complimentary remarks were heard with regard to the manner in which the room had been decorated. Beautiful flowers graced their fragrance to the affairs and the Club-house presented a regular panorama of beauty and colour.

The rink skipped by Mrs. Reg. Bumpstead was successful in winning the weekly prize, the members being Mrs. H. McGuiness and Mrs. Forrester. Mrs. Forrester kindly offered to make up the rink to four. As usual the refreshments were a feature and the many out of town guests expressed themselves as very pleased with the weekly tea of the Ladies Belleville Bowling Club.

MODERN SCHOOL LIKE OLD TIMES

Pioneers of Old Went West Same As Tourists of Today

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—"Life seems to travel pretty much in cycles after all," says Miriam Green Ellis in the Canadian Motorist. "Forty odd years ago, a few of the adventurous ones, heeding the advice to go West, headed out of Winnipeg with a pair of oxen and a creaky, whining, gridiron Red River cart. In it were all their worldly goods, some blankets, some grub, a frying pan, and a pot or two. Along the road were scattered camping places, where there were good water and some wood. There th travellers met at night, and around the camp fires, swapped yarns, exchanged tips for a little tobacco or salt, discussed the days adventures or misadventures."

She tells then of conditions today and of meeting one of "the old-timers on the trail, trying to set up new fangled" beds. They had a six cylinder car, but no model. In 184 hours these two had driven from Winnipeg to Edmonton, a three months trip.

"We had the ormiest team of oxen a man ever drove, our chariot had wood on axles. The first three days were not exactly the same brand as they are today either.

"That was our honeymoon. We've not what one would expect in view of never been away since without being the fact that eight or nine million dollars worth of ice cream is sold annually in Canada. Discriminating consumers of ice cream, of whom the Minister of Agriculture is one, agree that the proportion of honest-to-goodness water, powder and other ingredients being mixed together and frozen. The fact, that it is frozen, is perhaps one of the few safeguards about it.

DEATH NOTICE

MEEHAN—Died in Belleville, on Thursday, August the 24th, 1928, Edward Meehan.

WHY NOT PUT CREAM INTO OUR ICE CREAM

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.)—The unique idea of putting a little cream into ice cream is engaging attention of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. Cream producers claim the demand is

CROWD REACTIONS RARELY ELEVATING

By DR. LOUIS E. REICH.

When one considers the reactions of thepeople at large to three such strikingly different occurrences as the death of Valentino, the Snyder-Gray murder, and Lindbergh's trans-Atlantic flight, one would be led to believe that there is neither rhyme nor reason in what will rouse the multitude. The death of an inoffensive movie idol seemed to stir them about as much as a heinous murder, while the interest in the murder suddenly took an unexpected turn when a young boy did the Atlantic alone.

The French had been deeply stirred when Mme. Caillaux killed Calmette. Then the war broke and she was forgotten. After the armistice was declared, Landrau was arrested for killing some thirty-six women. He immediately became a headliner and war news was printed in smaller type under his dokgan.

Apparently crowd imagination can be stimulated quite as easily one way as another. Apparently, too, it can be —and as the French people themselves hinted when the Landrau case was played up—deliberately shunted from one interest to another.

The sirtuse indications would tend to show contradictions in crowd response. Fundamentally, however, there are no contradictions. We note an inherent consistency in crowd reactions when we study their underneath, motivating psychology.

First of all, people do not enthuse at all unless it be something startling and out of the ordinary. Secondly, they do not enthuse over the fact but over the human personality behind it.

When Bleriot crossed the English Channel in an aeroplane for the first time, it is not the feat of the aeroplane they acclaimed, but Bleriot himself.

Lindbergh did something unusual, and he was the first and he did it alone—a personality points. The people did not idolize the inventor of the motor who really made that flight and those that followed possible. There was a perceptable drop in interest over Byrd's flight and Chamberlain's

Both Elder again was able to stupefy the interest to a degree because she was a woman. All other factors being equal, a woman always stirs the mob more than a man because the mob does not expect a woman to be a leader.

All this is linked with hero-worship. The crowd is always looking for a hero and a new one.

Still there are many heroes who do not excite the crowd. The war presented many such cases. The physicians who permitted themselves to be bitten by mosquitoes in the Canal Zone and contracted yellow fever and died—Reed, Carrol and Lazar—all for science and humanity—were never acclaimed by the crowd. Nor was Nogochi hailed as a hero, the man who died recently for the cause of African yellow fever.

The crowd never considers whether an event that stirs it will be beneficial or destructive. In fact, a destructive element always rouses.

This is because all crowds are sadistic. Earthquakes, fires, tornadoes, at once create interest. This explains the Snyder-Gray case, electrocutions, the interest in dangerous entertaining. During the war the French watched eagerly from day to day the bulletin-boards for any German defeats. Rector Guynemer had bagged, while the Germans on their side, responded the same way to Immelman.

Sympathy is another fundamental crowd emotion. Witness the feeling Mme. Nungesser—also for the explorer trapped in a Kentucky cave.

Justice is also a sure-fire incmer at interest. The Sacco-Vanzetti case proves this, likewise the Dreyfus affair.

And besides the unusual and dramatic, the human side, hero worship, sadism, sympathy and justice, there is a strong element of suggestion and imitation in all crowd reactions. The medium through which this largely spreads from one to the other is via the newspapers.

All crowd responses are very simple, direct and primitive.

Crowds are not concerned with ethical values, aesthetics, cultural standards, etc. There is something very savage and at the same time naive about mob reactions.

We are roused by mob psychology in a way we would not be roused as individuals. When one thinks and feels in terms of the crowd we step down, never up.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a boy one year my senior. I have been going with him for over a year until a few months ago. Whenever he sees me he speaks, but somehow, he is different. I love him very much and would like to regain his love. MILLY.

MILLY: When one is young, one is apt to have strong likes and dislikes, Milly. And this is probably what has happened to your friend. For a time he probably thought a great deal of you, but someone has probably interested him to a greater extent than you, so he has gone off on another path. But, my dear, don't brood over it. You are young and have a lifetime before you. Keep on friendly terms with the young man, if he is so disposed, but don't for one minute wear your heart on your sleeve when he's around. Do your best to forget and go about with other friends. You know what one is sure of one seldom gains. So perhaps when he sees your popularity with other friends, he may want to return to your side. Good luck to you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE

I am holding a steady correspondence with a boy friend. How many days after I have received his letter should I answer it.

PEGGY.

PEGGY: It shouldn't be a question of days, Peggy. You should answer your friend's letter immediately, or as soon as you conveniently can after receiving it.

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

"Am I to understand that you propose to accompany me?"

The discussion ended there, because Irma breezed in, radiant in evening attire, and kissed Jerry Carter affectionately.

"You darling! I've just heard the news. You're going to take Steve and my disapproving sister-in-law off my hands for the summer. I could hug you."

Hal stared at her in amazement. "You don't mind?"

"Mind? I could dance for joy..... In fact, that's just what I'm going to do."

"I liked your sister-in-law immensely," put in Marguerite.

Irma made a grimace.

"Oh, she'll all right. But she looks at me as if she could see right through me. I dare say she can at that. But co worn,s likes to feel that another woman understands her perfectly and is secretly laughing at her for her foibles."

"I think she's much too kind to do anything like that."

"Listen to the admirer. The longer you know her, the less you'll be able to tell about her."

Irma kissed her fingers airily to Hal.

"I'm off to a party with the Underwoods. Steve wouldn't go, but, fortunately, they've an extra man. Probably are you there later, old dear, but never dance with you tonight. Not after last night. I rather think I hate you."

Her gay laughter deniled her words, and she dashed out.

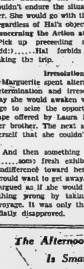

Hal stood staring after her with an expression in his eyes that made Marguerite wonder. Was it Lydia, after all? Or was he falling in love with Irma? Suddenly she felt that she couldn't endure the situation any longer. She would go with the Baockion's, regardless of Hal's objections.

Conceived by Artists and Characters

Irresolution

Marguerite spent alternate weeks of determination and irresolution. One day she would awaken with the courage to seize the opportunity for escape offered by Aunt Brockton and her brother. The next she would tell herself that she couldn't go through it.

And then something would occur .....some fresh evidence of Hal's indifference toward her.....and she would want to get away. It wasn't, she argued as she sat alone during the thing wrong by taking this ocean voyage. It was only that Hal had so flatly disapproved.

In Paris, fancy accents bows and in New York women are wearing them, undoubtedly because they are such a decided mark of femininity. The smart afternoon frock of period gives a shorter sleeve in smart because of two—one at the crushed line. It is smart, also because the slightly lowered bodice is broken will a round yoke-like outline and be given a further reduction drapery line. Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

To prevent mold on jelly, put a few cloves on top of it; also keep a bowl of lime in the jelly closet. A paper soaked in vinegar placed over newly made jam before putting on cover prevents fermenting. Let jelly stand in sun to cool.

To remove all smoos from a room in a few minutes, dip a towel in vinegar and hot water (equal parts, wring out and fling it gently over the head about the room.

Before opening a can of paint turn it upside down for a few days. In that way it will mix thoroughly. Paint brushes that have become hard and dry, may be softened by soaking them in the length of the bristles in hot vinegar.

To prevent eggs from bursting while boiling, prick one end of each egg with a needle before placing them in the water. This makes an outlet for air and keeps the shells from cracking.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

The little ribbon cap which Parisians are adopting for 1-eatre wear is usually made of shaded ribbons applied to a net foundation, and these caps pack up into a tiny spake when travelling. While as smart as the floor-fitting felt beret they are of feather-weight and are so small that I don't have to worry about where I so one could have the slightest objection to their being worn throughout the play.

CANADIAN CHEESE RANKS HIGH WITH ALL EUROPEAN NATIONS

Association Hear Splendid Addresses At Home of W. L. Hicks

The Cheesemakers' Association held their meeting at the home of Mr. W. L. Hicks, Dairy Instructor of Prince Edward, with a very large attendance including cheesemakers and their wives and a number of noted speakers, owing to the official car (Star Line) carrying Mr. McLaughlin, Mr. Irwin and their staff the meeting was a little late. The meeting opened by the president Mr. Chamberlain.

The minutes and report of the previous meeting held at Northport were read and adopted.

Mr. Barr Director of Dairying, was then called, upon to give an address. He described many scenes that he had visited in his trip to the Old Country and also the standing that our Canadian products had with Great Britain and European countries. He said he was very well pleased to hear some of the head men speak so well of our Canadian cheese. The only thing we haven't enough of it. He arrived in Montreal on Aug. 3rd and the first thing he did was to go to the head office of the senior graders and find out just how and where Ontario was standing. From January 19th to June 30th was 65.71 first grade and special grade cheese. He said he couldn't express himself as to the good feeling he had "I believe all we are doing better and this improvement I believe, is financially starting from these Associations of the cheesemakers and their supporters and the fact that the cheesemakers' Association forming all over the provinces is bringing us to the highest step with our export trade to Great Britain. And if the milk producers don't get together and co-operate with our cheese factories manufacturers in his sanitary conditions we will soon be on the rocks". He said he was invited to a banquet, while away, and had the occasion to pass by the Duke of Welling ton's estate, that was, and became deep in conversation with a man from a little country in Europe after finding out where he came from he said "why you issue certificates to your cheesemakers over there". This seems to appeal to them very much. As to our Canadian butter the cry is—when are you going to send us more of your butter. We are not even getting as much cheese this year as we did last. Mr. Barr said that there was one thing he was very much ashamed of and that was the cheese boxes. There is quite a difference in the quality with that of New Zealand boxes. If our boxes were like the New Zealand their condition at the end of the journey would be much better. Our second and third grade cheese do not go to London but to Manchester and more or less around those districts. He also spent some time in Denmark especially in the city of Copenhagen and to his belief he found it a very fascinating city. Their methods of farming are very much the same as ours with the exception of the building and equipment for sanitary purposes, but if the milk producers of Ontario get together and co-operate with our cheesemakers this Association will in time be bringing in far beyond the rest.

Mr. H. S. Colliver M.P.P. said he was very glad to have the opportunity to attend this meeting as he had never been at any of them before. If every milk producer got down to business and keeps up the good work that they have done so far this year, Prince Edward will maintain the top standing at least that she had in 1925-26.

Mr. J. Irwin, Cheese Grader, was very glad to see that the cheesemakers not only attending but also their wives. The standing up to last week was 3.2 per cent undergrade for the province in comparison with last year of 4.3 per cent Belleville District this year has the increase of 2.1 per cent first grade cheese over last year Prince Edward breaks the record with nearly 100 per cent of 8.25 per cent first grade cheese. If Prince Edward keeps on working like she has in the future her name looks very good.

Mr. Griffen was visiting in Perth a short time ago and the general feeling around those districts is that everything is going to Prince Edward this year. But there are many others working hard also. There used to be a general feeling that any kind of milk would do but not today as the Ontario Milk Producers are right to work. Mr. Griffen said that in one way of looking at it he thought the producer him self was the smaller end of the work to do. This producer very often has some difficulty to overcome and if he can get in touch with his fellow men it can be solved, so in order to do this he should take this paper. It not only solves these problems but educates him in the condition of other agricultural products. He was pleased that the cheesemakers had chosen this as their official paper, 30c a year, and in not extraordinarily expensive so why be without one in your farm-home. Mr. W. I. Hicks told of how he started out in this world and how he accomplished his position today and he was also very pleased to see so many at his home.

Mr. J. R. Anderson has known Mr. Hicks for twenty years or more and in fact he believes that he and Mr. Hicks were the only people on earth when Noah built the Ark. However he thinks that Mr. Hicks is doing all in his power to bring Prince Edward up to the standard again.

Mr. Thos McLaughlin, Champion cheesemaker of Central Ontario and cheesemaker of Sydney Town Hall fame story, spoke wit of Prince Edward and said that he was going to be very generous that if he didn't succeed in capturing that cup again, which he is working very hard at pres'nt to get, he hoped that Prince Edward would have it.

Several other short addresses were given by Mr. Linn, Dairy Instructor of Hastings, Mr. Campbell of Montreal; Mr. J. Hagerman, Belleville and Mr. W. Henderson, cheesemaker of Foxboro.

Moved by Mr. R. Dalmage, second ed by W. Anderson that a vote of thanks be tendered Mr. and Mrs. Hicks for the very excellent supper partaken of. Mr. and Mrs. Hicks must certainly have worked hard to provide such a sumptuous repast and the cheesemakers were very grateful to their instructor and wife for their labors on their behalf.

SUCCESSFUL BREEDER OF ANGORA RABBITS

Kingston, Ont. (CP)—Mrs. W. H. Spence of this city is a successful breeder of Angora Rabbits. "My advice to beginners, is to get the best foundation stock possible, stock that is pedigreed and from reliable breeders. The best is the cheapest in the end. There is one outstanding drawback of wool farming over pelt farming. In the latter branch of farming, the animals have to be slain to produce their pelts. With wool farming, you have your wool and your rabbit too.

BELLE THEATRE

One of the highlights of the Fox Films sensational drama, "Honor Bound" which opened at the Belle Theatre last night for a three days' engagement, is the excellent characterization and acting of George O'Brien in the stellar role. Sasa as young Ogletree, the convict in the motion picture takes from Jack Rathen's comic relief. O'Brien again gives a worthy performance. O'Brien pits himself against fate and proves himself the master of every situation.

ARTS CLUB IS FINE SETTING

For Small Exhibition; View ed Amidst Comfortable Surroundings

Montreal, Que.—It would be hard to find a setting better adapted to the requirements of the small exhibition than the general room of the Montreal Arts Club.

For the forty or more landscapes, studies, drawings and wood-cuts make up an intimate collection with a personal flavor that can best be appreciated in this room, where the artists whose work it represents are wont to gather for discussion and recreation —a collection to be viewed without haste amid comfortable surroundings. There are two or three striking harbor sketches, products of the sure skill of Adrien Hebert, tramp steamers fanning all their port accoutrement of booms and ropes and winches, and their portrayal by Hebert has caught the sonorous rhythms and harmonies so often more fundamentally present in the harbor than in the ornamental expressions of contemporary life. In contrast he presents two Ste. Rita, "The Charleston" and "The Flapper" the appeal of which is limited.

Scattered about the wall are a number of examples of Thurstan Topham's deft water colors, especially a green-blue symphony entitled "Tinker", the composition of which is highly characteristic. Then one must pause to enjoy the decorative quality of "The Village Church", Hilder's winter landscape by A. Wilkie Ellsgour.

Several sketches from South Carolina done in delicate pastel shades by Kenyon Hopkins in which winter woods are employed with original effect. The austere force which marks this artist's woodcuts, the almost Biggardly restraint, is here finely manifested.

Paintings from the brush of Harold Beament indicate that this young painter is gaining surely in power, both technical and pictorial. The handling of the distant sunlight on snow in "The Old Curiole" constitutes one of the most pleasing achievements in the exhibition, while in the other entry Mr. Beament has portrayed the sunset hereals with refreshing individuality.

Among the other exhibitors are W. H. Taylor; Wilfred Barnes, A.R.C.A.; R. H. Lindsay Smith, Felix Shee and D. H. MacParlane.

Th wine shades for early autumn are a new note in sweater suits with the monogram molls on the pockets.

G. K. Chesterton thus explains: "Conscientious marriage is so called because the people involved are not married and will very rapidly cease to be companions."

Tourist traffic to Saint John this season is the largest in its history, said an estimate issued by the C.P.R. than during the whole of last season. Tourists started arriving earlier this spring, and have continued in much larger numbers than in other seasons.

Colonel Scott, who is vice-president producing radio bodies at Scarboro, Ont., British Columbia, believes that the industry has a future. He has one now under the production with drying, cleaning and storage sheds. He grows fifty-two varieties of bulbs and has about a quarter of a million bulbs on hand growing.

The Alberta Amateur Championships will take place shortly at Banff, Alberta, where the annual Highland Gathering and Scottish Musical Festival is being held from August 31 to September 3. An elaborate programme has been arranged of a Scottish character, many of the athletic contests being peculiar to that race, such as tossing the caber and putting the shot.

Plans are reported to be on foot among sheep raisers to establish in Vancouver a wool grading centre, similar to that functioning in Trenton, Ontario, where at present most of the wool business of Canada is centered. The industry states this would probably have the result of increasing the price to the producer from 35 to 50 per cent.

Although the automobile is sometimes said to be a rival to the railroad, it is proving itself a great deal of traffic. The number of freight cars used by the Canadian Pacific Railway for the transport of automobiles has doubled during the past three years, and the latest order of 900 new cars for the company has just been completely filled.

Trans-Atlantic records have been made by the steamships "Duke of Richmond" and the "Duchess of Atholl", the first two of the new cabin class quartette to be built by the Canadian Pacific Steamships. The former has just accomplished an eastbound voyage from Liverpool to Montreal in six days, fourteen and a half hours, while her sister ship, enroute at the same time, made a westbound crossing from Montreal to Liverpool in six days, 13 hours.

STATISTICS SHOW "SUNNY" GREEN LED LOCAL TEAM IN BATTING

George Ada, Kingston Outfielder, League's Best Hitter

(Compiled by Fred G. Bromley, official C.O.B.J.L. statistician.)

George Ada, outfielder of the Kingston team, was the league's hitter in the C.O.B.J.L. finishing up the season with a mark of .438, or five points better than his team-mate Harold Buck. Del Cherry was third among the regulars, with .370, thereby creating the unique situation of the whole Kingston outfield topping the league in hitting.

Buck lost his leadership by virtue of being at bat once more than Ada. Both Ada and Buck were tied for the most hits during the season, each getting 31. Ada had 24 singles, 5 doubles and 2 triples, while Buck had 29 singles and 2 doubles. For slugging Young of Oshawa took the palm, his 26 hits being good for 44 bases. Young slapped out 13 singles, 5 doubles, 3 triples and 4 home runs.

Kingston led the league in batting with a mark of .284, Belleville dropping down considerably by weak hitting to tie in the last few games they played. Oshawa came along in both Peterboro, while Peterboro and Dekorn were trailing. Oshawa led in run scores, Belleville had the most hits, Oshawa most total bases, and the Nationals were ahead in sacrifices and stolen bases.

Cherry was the best scorer during the season he tallying 29 times. Individual singles Ada and Wolf of Belleville were tied with 24 each; Buck, Cherry, H. Mills and Harrison had identical doubles, 5; Bretton showed the way in triples with 8; and Young of Oshawa was the home-run king with four, in fact Oshawa hit more homers than all the other teams together. Harry of Belleville was the only best base-stealer with 13 sacks pilfered, one more than Cherry of Kingston.

"Hoot" Gibson's mark for the Belleville Nationals was the outstanding feature of the C.O.B.J.L. season. Gib batted consistently all through, and in 31 games while he dropped but 3. He only allowed 31 runs and 79 hits, fanned 60 and walked 15.

Dainty gave him a run for the title of leading batter in the league, but he was hit for better than a safety every inning.

Jack Hillott, of Peterboro was the leader in strikeouts, forcing 71 men to whiff the air, while Heath of Kingston was leading in walking 27 men. Wood of Dekorn led the most, 6.

Of the Kingston pitchers, Fournier proved the best, winning 3 and losing 1 in 36 innings pitched.

ATHLETICS CLOSE IN ON YANKEES

Lefty Grove Pitches Team To Win Over Cleveland

New York, August 24.—Bob Grove, southpaw ace of the Athletics' pitching staff, hurled the Mackmen to with 4 1-2 games of the league-leading New York Yankees yesterday by defeating Cleveland, 3-1, at Philadelphia.

Grove had his strike-out ball working in great style and blanked the Tribe until the ninth inning when Summa scored Lind with a single to left.

In the second inning Grove fanned Morgan, Hasrvel and Autry on nine straight strikes without permitting even a foul. Continuing in the third frame, Grove fanned Miller and had a record of 15 strikes, one of which was a foul ball, before he threw a ball wide of the plate to Leopard.

His next pitch then fanned the Indian lead-off man, giving Grove five strike-outs on 17 pitched balls.

Washington made it two out of three from the White Sox by taking a 10-inning game, 4-3. Reeve's single to centre scored Goslin who had beat out an infield hit with the winning run.

Marberry held Chicago to five hits. Thomas relieved Blankenship in the eighth inning with a man on base and none out.

Detroit again defeated Boston by a one-run margin, 3-2, in a fourth straight victory in three days by the margin. The visitors scored their runs in the first inning when Collins slugged. Gehringer tripled, and Hargrave singled. Tavener continued his brilliant play at short-stop. It was Owen Carroll's fourteenth victory of the season.

AS OSHAWA SCRIBE SAW THE BIG GAME

The Central league slaughter yesterday was cause for much sorrow. Thanks to passing tourists several Oshawa fans arrived home in style instead of hoofing it for the second following misplaced bets.

A great game to get out of one's system and now that it's gone Belleville might suffer a like pasting this coming first of September. "Hoot" Gibson has stepped on the locals every time he faced them this year but it can't go on forever. Neither can Belleville victories as long as the law of averages holds good. Several ball breaks are headed in this city's direction.—Oshawa Times.

NAPANEE BEATEN BY ONTARIOS 7-3

Beavers And Ontarios Meet In Finals of Quinte League

Ontarios defeated Napanee in a scheduled five-innings play of Quinte League game on the Armouries Lawn last night by a score of 7-3. The Leals were thereby eliminated from the Quinte League and the Ontarios will meet the Beavers in the finals and the right to meet Kingston Senior for the Eastern Ontario honors. Last night's game was curtailed, with darkness having settled down at an early hour and only five innings were played. The Ontarios practically sewed up the game in the first inning, when they shoved over five runs and clinched the verdict when two more were scored in the fourth frame. Hilda Matthews was on the mound for the Ontarios while Miss McGuire twirled for the Leals, tested bird possessing a number of

There were few outstanding plays in the league clashing but a fair brand of ball. The Napanee team are facing a financial deficit and to assist the M.D. management the Beavers and Ontarios have each consented to play the Leals a game here and give them all of the gate proceeds. The date for the play offs has not yet been decided but it will be announced in a day or two.

VALUE OF GOOD POULTRY SIRES

Should Be Borne In Mind Good Male Essential To Success

The first step in the breeding of poultry is the selection of birds to make up the breeding pen. The kind of birds to be used, depends upon the aim or ideal which the breeder has in mind, and the higher this ideal, the fcaer will be the individual birds that will be considered suitable for the breeding pen No matter what may be the ideal of the breeder, all agree that a good sire is the male element to success. While it is very important to have vigor and active health in each individual of the breeding pen, it is even more important that the male be exceptionally strong in vigor and constitution. It is necessary that the breeder should bear in mind that the various characters of a bird may be transmitted to its progeny separately. Certain birds may have the ability to transmit several desirable characters, and may likewise transmit one or more very undesirable characters. The more desirable the characters which the breeder wishes to develop in his flock of poultry, the more particular he must be in the study and selection of the individuals which he uses for breeding purposes. Therefore it is plain that the first essential is the selection of individuals having the characters desired and the next step is to test their ability to transmit how characters. As an example of the value of good males in transmitting the ability to produce a large number of eggs, the males used at the Lennoxville Experimental Station may be taken. No. D240 mated to individuals with an average production of 200 eggs each, sired 16 daughters that completed their first year of laying with an average of 211 eggs each, while No. D230 sired daughters that averaged 186 eggs each, and No. D238 sired daughters that averaged 180 eggs each. Another character which is highly important is the size of egg produced. In the transmitting of this desirable character to the female progeny, the male may be either a help or a hindrance. An outstanding example might be taken from the experience of a contestant who had 5 pen of birds, catered in the Third Quebec Egg Laying Contest, which were producing under-sized eggs throughout the year. By the purchase and use of a male which had the power to transmit the ability to produce a good number of large eggs this contestant has been able to build up a flock noted for egg size as well as for production.

By the use, at the Lennoxville Experimental Farm, of males that had the power to transmit higher production to their progeny, the average production has been raised from 121 eggs to 179 eggs per hen, while the use of males from dams known to be producers of large eggs, a number of which have had the power to endow their daughters with this desirable character, the average egg size has been improved very much. The saying that "the sire is half the flock" is very true, and especially is this so when the sire is a

COCKROACHES WILL PREY ON BED BUGS

Washington, D.C.—(By The Canadian Press).—The research bureau of the department of agriculture, which at time helpful bulletins to all who care to read them, occasionally varies the monotony of their style with sly humor. They have discovered that cockroaches have a redeeming virtue. "Thin mattresses and offer house pest will prey upon that other disgusting insect, the bed bug," says a bulletin from the department, which adds: "It is not recommended, however, that cockroaches be kept for eradicating the bed bug."

The bulletin proceeds to recommend methods for ridding buildings of both pests. "Commercial sodium fluoride, a powder easily obtainable, is about the best for the purpose."

AWAKENING OF WOMEN IN CHINA HAS BEGUN

Edmonton, Alta. (C.P.)—emancipation of women-kind in China, is one of the fundaments of her new awakening as described by one of her native sons and scholars, Dr. Teyyi Hsieh, in a brilliant lecture delivered here at Chautauqua.

The organization of women in China is already bringing about laws for abolition of child labor and in a short time no children under 14 years of age shall be employed in factories. For several years past Dr. Teyyi Hsieh says, shoes for bound feet could not be purchased even for souvenirs, but French heels made in Canada are easily procurable there.

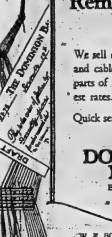

"Education," said the speaker, "is China's greatest hope," and he explained the meaning of the thousands of Chinese symbols into a simplified alphabet.

Dr. Hsieh is a Christian—a Methodist he described himself with five Presbyterian sisters, four Baptist brothers, a mother who was a Buddhist and Confucianist father. "The upbuilding of the teaching, 'Honor thy father and thy mother,' through the centuries in China has been an important factor in national life," the

FOURTEEN KILLED IN SUBWAY CRASH

Cabinet Minister Will Open Annual Fall Exhibition Next Tuesday

TENNIS STARS WILL PLAY HERE

Big Labor Day Tournament On Country Club Courts

PRIZES OFFERED

Every Club In Eastern Ontario Will Be Represented

The invitation tournament which is to be held at the County Club under the auspices of the Bay of Quinte Tennis Club, should bring the best players that Eastern Ontario can produce. The Eastern part of the province has not had a gathering of this kind in history and it is likely to meet with great favor.

The winners of this tournament will unofficially be considered the Eastern Ontario Champions and the tournament another year will likely be handled by the Ontario Lawn Tennis Association. The Club has some real good players, both men and women, and the winner of these events will be worth watching in future.

The desire of the games committee in charge is to have one representative from each club for each of the follow events: Men's Singles, Men's Doubles, Ladies' Singles and Ladies Doubles. Each club is to send the best players that they can choose and if this is done every round should be good. The various clubs will run elimination tournaments to get their representatives and this with the tournament itself will be the means of promoting a lot of tennis and thus developing better players as the best ones send representatives to the Ontario and eventually, in the Canadian playoffs. This tournament will be elimination and the draw will be made not later than Friday, Aug. 31st, 1928.

The proposition has met with favor with a good many of the clubs in the Central Ontario League and the Toronto Tennis League. It is expected that players will also be here from Cobalt, Kingston, Smiths Falls and Brockville and in fact places outside of Ottawa in the extreme East, and Toronto in the West.

The Belleville Club is supplying prizes for the winners and the runners-up.

The representatives from this section will likely be chosen from the following players:- Either Army Armstrong or Tweney Black for the Singles, with the pair playing Doubles for the Bay of Quinte Club; Tom Bowler will likely represent the Canada Cement Club in the Singles, while a strong Doubles can be counted on; Holloway Sr. Clay will have a hard job picking out the best representatives as there are a number who play about the same calibre of game.

The Ladies' events will be well contested by players like Mrs. Reid and Mrs. Hanna from the Bay of Quinte Club, Miss Barr from the Canada Cement, Miss Longmore of Campbellford, and many others. Miss Longmore won the International Ladies' Singles last fall and is playing even better game this season. For the sake of competition it is hoped that this tournament will bring out more first-class lady players.

PICKLING SEASON DRAWING NEAR

"Pickling season" is rapidly drawing near as was evidenced today by the abundance of tomatoes, cucumbers, onions, etc., for sale on the Belleville market. Tomatoes sold at 40 cents a peck, cucumbers at 75 cts. a peck and the same pulic prevailed for gherkins. Beans were 25 cts. a quart and carrots and onions, 5 cts. a bunch. The ever popular corn was present and sold generally at 20 cts. a doz. Cabbages were going at 3 for 25 cts. and cauliflowers sold at 10c a bunch or 2c cts by the peck. It is indeed the season of vegetables.

Chicago Golf Champion

After a gruelling battle for the women's golf championship in Chicago, that ended on the 30th hole, Mrs. Harry Prenzler, above, of Los Angeles, retained the champion ship when she beat her opponent, Virginia Wilson of Glen View, Ill. When the match ended Mrs. Prenzler was 7 up and 6 to go.

HON. WILLIAM FINDLAYSON WILL OFFICIALLY OPEN BELLEVILLE FAIR

Stables Taxed To Capacity With Scores of Horses

Hon. William Findlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, in the Provincial Government, will officially declare Belleville's Annual Autumn Exhibition open on Tuesday afternoon, in the main bandstand. Secretary R. H Ketchenon received official notification in the form of a wire from the Cabinet Minister last evening. Other dignaries including local members of Parliament, W. H. Ireland, M.P.P.; W. R. Tummon, M.P., and James Bull, M.P.P., will be present.

From all indications the Fair this year will be one of the biggest in years. The Pageant, under the direction of Miss Freeland of the John B. Rogers Production Company, of Fostoria, Ohio is progressing splendidly and rehearsals have already been held at the Fair Grounds. The scenery is almost in order and an army of carpenters have been at work for some days past. The light directrons is personally supervising the work. Exhibitors have their displays in order and by Monday night the big stage will be set for the Fair. A special rehearsal will be held at the Fair Ground on Monday night and citizens will not be privileged to witness it as all will be conducted behind closed doors.

Seven hundred entries have been received in the Paisywork department and the same applies to practically every other department. Many busy men have their steeds quartered in th stables and new arrivals were noted this morning with the close of the Napanee Fair yesterday.

President Charles Hanna, Secretar R. H. Ketcheson, and Treasurer C. B. York, have been among the busiest men in the city for th past week or so ranging the last-minute details. When the doors swing open on Tuesday afternoon patrons will be assured a one of the finest Exhibitions in recen years.

One Hundred Injured As Train Over-Runs Switch

ONE ARRESTED

Mayor Walker Orders Investigation Into Gotham Tragedy

New York, Aug. 25.—Fourteen dead and more than a hundred injured is official figures this morning of the toll of the subway disaster at Times Square last night when the ninth car of a ten car express subway train split a damaged switch and ripped through a concrete-supporting wall, breaking in two as it struck.

The tragedy was the second worst in the history of the New York Rapid Transit. Ninety-six persons were killed on November 1, 1918, in the derailment of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit train running through the open cut in Brooklyn. Last night's crash occurred on the line of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company, advertised as the "safest railway in the world", and equipped with all modern safety devices. The ten car train consisted of all steel cars. It carried 1,500 passengers.

Emergency crews which were rushed in to the subway to clear away the wreckage, worked all night and succeeded in getting the line cleared and resumed service at five o'clock this morning. The accident disrupted service throughout the city and vehicles were several hours getting home last night, having to use surface and elevated lines or cabs.

Mayor J. J. Walker, who played a prominent part in the rescue wo-rk, plainly unnerved after viewing the wreck from what many of the rescuers had not been removed when he arrived. He ordered an immediate investigation. When the motorman of the train which was wrecked was slow in appearance he threatened Frank H. Hedley, President of the Interborough line with arrest unless the man was produced immediately. H. Ralph Smith, who was in charge of the train and switchman King who had been standing on the damaged switch were had pronounced it working were finally found and taken to the 30th Precinct station where they were questioned several hours. Baldwin ijter was arrested on a charge of homicide.

Survivor Tells Story

New York, Aug. 25.—Miss Alma Vezana, 24 year old Brooklyn dressmaker, tells a graphic story of last night's subway crash of which she was a survivor. The first indication of the impending tragedy, she said, was the terrific grinding noise.

"A second later I saw the car behind ours rip through the steel pillar, and the roof seemed to sag and bend in a slop. Everybody was yelling and screaming. Everybody rushed to the doors.

"Oh, the horror of it all. I saw women with their legs cut off between the tracks. One man, all blackened I guess by an electric current was lying across the third rail, I guess he had been electrocuted.

"I don't know how I ever got out. The crowd just seemed to push me past people screaming, moaning and crying."

Other passengers told how they had been penned up in the cars for more than an hour and one said it was as if it "couple of thousand wild animals had all been turned loose at once in a cramped, dark pen full of smoke and were fighting to get out."

FRENCH PLANE IS FORCED BACK

Lebourget, Aug. 25.—The mono plane France was forced, due to unfavorable wind and a heavy load of fuel, to return to the flying field this morning, 13 minutes after taking off on an attempted non-stop flight to New York. In order to gain a flying height the pilot, Louis Coudourot, dropped most of the plane's gas and even then barely had sufficient altitude in which to manoeuvre back to the field.

Foreigner Emerges From Jail With Discolored Optics

Cochrane, Ont., Aug. 25.—An investigation is being made of the circumstances under which Percy Frack, Cochah miner, suffered a slight fracture of the skull, a ruptured ear drum and a black eye while held in Porcupine jail. Found for the harvest fields, Frack was arrested in Porcupine for being drunk and when he was released from jail as a result of Councillor McGillis taking an interest in the case, his condition was such that he was taken to a hospital.

CASE GOES TO APPEAL COURT

Frederick Higgins May Have To Spend Term In Jail

The last witness in the Higgins' case was cross examined by the Crown this morning in the person of Roy Mathries, of Trenton, garage man. This is the case in which Frederick Higgins got, fined of sport. Ship. To 18 years of was charged with being drunk in charge of a car, the defence taking the stand that he could not be convicted as the car was not under motion. There was no evidence to show that Higgins was drunk when he ran the car in the ditch, but he admitted that he had had several good drinks after the accident occurred.

Higgins' automobile car out of the ditch when it was pulled out by the service car, and the Crown maintains that he was in charge of a motor vehicle at that time and he admitted same in court at the time. This was the case the Crown prosecuted and Magistrate Mikel found the man was intoxicated in charge of the motor vehicle, but not while it was operating under its own power.

Mr. Payne, attorney for the defence, asked for a stated case as to whether there was a motor vehicle and if it was not moving under its own power. The case will go before the Court of Appeals and if they find that a car is still a motor vehicle, after it has been stalled by Higgins, Higgins will be found guilty of being intoxicated and will be fined and go to jail. If not, he will be a free man. Bail was renewed for a week, when he will appear again to hear the verdict of the Court of Appeals.

NINE ESCAPE IN JAIL DELIVERY

Severed Bars And Slid Down Rope To Freedom

Newport, Ky., Aug. 25.—Nine prisoners, one a convicted murderer under life sentence, escaped from the city jail here some time during the night. Eight hack-saw blades severed the iron bars and a rope dangling from the second story window of the lock-up told the story of the escape which officers believe was perfected at least an hour before the discovery was made, this morning. Seven other prisoners, who also might have escaped, did not take advantage of the opportunity.

FEDERAL POSTS MUST BE FILLED

Premier King Will Face Task And Return In October

Ottawa, August 25.—When the Prime Minister returns here in October from Geneva he will be confronted with a considerable number of federal vacancies to be filled. At present, the judgeships, commissionerships, directorship for the Canadian National Railways in New Brunswick and the Radio Commission awaits appointment.

Three of the vacant judgeships are in Quebec province—those caused by the death of Mr. Justice Roy of Quebec City, and by the resignations of Justices Bruneau and Dorion of Montreal. In addition, there is the Toronto vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Justice E. M. Mowat, and one in Manitoba caused by the death of Mr. Justice Mather.

DRIVERS WHO VIOLATE TRAFFIC BY-LAWS ARE FINED IN COURT

VISITING CANADA

Lady Mary Hope

Daughter of the Duke of Newcastle who is accompanying him on his Canadian trip, is a normal English girl, fond of sport. She is 18 years of age. This is her first visit to Canada, indeed her first long trip of any kind and she is taking delight in every moment of it. Her father became Duke of Newcastle only three months ago on the death of his brother.

G. BERNARD SHAW TO MEET TUNNEY

Retired Champion Fondles First Edition of Shakespeare

London, Aug. 25.—A despatch to the Daily Mail from Antibes, France, where George Bernard Shaw is holidaying, says that Gene Tunney is likely to have his desire to meet Shaw satisfied. The author will be back in London soon and said he hoped to meet Tunney. Tunney had something in common, he said, in that both disapproved of Shaw's book, "Cassel Byrons' Profession."

Dublin, Aug. 25.—Visiting Trinity College, Gene Tunney gazed across the first edition of Shakespeare which he handled lovingly and then left reluctantly. He remarked that if a miracle were to happen and he was offered what he liked most in the room he would choose the folio.

TILDEN VIOLATED AMATEUR RULES

Tennis Star Is Barred From Further Amateur Competition

New York, Aug. 25.— William T. Tilden gaunt veteran of the Tennis courts has been barred indefinitely from amateur competition.

The Lank Philadelphian, the veteran of nine Nation cup campaigns, six times winner of the national singles title and by many regarded as the greatest tennis player of all times, was found guilty, early today of violating the amateur player writer rules of the United States Lawn Tennis Association.

The committee announcing its decision in a lengthy statement, held that Tilden clearly had violated the player writer rule by his newspaper articles on the English championships this summer at Wimbledon where he was competitor. Tilden, when informed, refused, to comment but friends intimated he would seek re-instatement, at a meeting of the executive committee next month.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Do not say what will happen tomorrow.

HORACE.

PLAY FOR CHILDREN

Dr. Lindley K. Leuhrs, who is an authority on psychiatry, has been advising parents in New York about refractory children, and his views will accord with the recollections of all the "bad boys" and girls who may remember how they felt at that stage of their existence. The trouble with most parents is that they forget what they did when they were children, and how they felt and what they wanted and the effect of punishment upon them. A cry and words or a wise passing over the rebellious mood was and usually is better treatment than a lecture or a scolding on the ear or more drastic measures visited on other portions of the body. Dr. Leuhrs says that some emotional kink or the desire to "show off" is usually the only trouble with refractory children and in every case he has recommended increased playing facilities. It is more natural for children to play than to do anything else. They want it and need it just as letters or puppies do and if they do not get it, it spurs their disposition and makes them the cranky and difficult subjects to handle that they sometimes become. Let them play till they are tired. Maybe then play when they are cross.

LEVELS RISE

Every newspaper reader has heard of what is frequently called "the Chicago water steal." If you asked the average citizen what the term covered to him, he would reply that it referred to the Chicago drainage canal, and that canal was carrying off so many millions of gallons of Lake Michigan water per day that it was lowering the levels of the Great Lakes, thus endangering shipping and other economic activities, and finally that such diversion was selfish and unjustified if not criminal.

Not only is that the popular understanding of "the Chicago water steal," it is one that has been put forward as the truth in many responsible places. Now the diversion of water through the Chicago drainage canal may be a "STEAL," but in fairness to Chicago it ought to be pointed out that it is to be blamed for a small part of the lowering of the lake levels. Events have repudiated the claim that the canal caused all the lowering.

A report just issued by the United States government says that in July Lakes Huron and Michigan gained nearly three inches in depth, that the lakes are now more than nine inches higher than they were a year ago, Erie stands higher than the average stage for the last ten years and 20 inches higher than they were at their lowest in July, 1926.

The lakes are deeper because of the more generous rainfalls that have fallen on the area drained by them. When three years ago the lake levels fell to their lowest there was naturally some shortage in the drainage canal diversion was blamed. But it is clear that the explanation is to be found in part in climatic conditions. This does not let Chicago, nearby Chicago from the charge of selfishness in using lake water for its drainage canal, but it does relieve the city of the charge of being wholly responsible for imperilling the prosperity of other cities by lowering the water levels.

PASSING YEARS

Maid: "Mrs. Woods is out."

Visitor: "Oclod. When I entered the gate and saw her looking out of the window, I was afraid she'd be in."

Realtor: "By the way, there are some old Indian remains at the south end of the estate."

New Owner: "Are there? Well, please have 'em all cleared away before I take possession."

A young and immaculately dressed man sought, to enter the crowded Dupont Court, when he was held up by a watchful janitor.

"Excuse me, sir," he inquired, "but are you interested in this case in any way?"

"Not in the least," came the bored answer; "but as I am the co-respondent and shall probably have to pay the bill, I might as well go in and hear it—what?"

Scribbles—"What made him so famous as an author?"

Wrotlus—"He sent a book to the publisher and then waited so long for it to be published that the book became rare and commanded a high price as a first edition."

Ernest: "Didn't you tell her she was pretty ugly?"

Edward: "I almost did. I got as far as 'pretty' and she looked so pleased that I hadn't the heart to say any more."

The thin, pale man in a large bathing suit, standing knee deep in the water, sighed.

"Why," he asked, "are you so sad?"

"Alas!" he answered, "the sea is the grave of my first wife."

"But you married again."

WANTS TEACHERS SENT TO COUNTRY

Are Powerful Influences For Good In Rural Centers

Toronto, Oct., (CP)—Bride Brodes in the Mail and Empire writes on Women's Institute suggestions.

Why should not the Institutes be seeing to it that only the cream of the teaching profession goes to the country school? If a good teacher, someone who loves the work and her pupils in every respect is needed in town, how much more in the country, where the teacher is such a powerful moulding influence. Why should our rural women be given instruction in the making of paper flowers, when the whole trend of things is towards spinning, weaving, and artistic embroideries? Has the country woman not got a right to know of the best? Or why should the women in the country be allowed to go on basing her ideals of art on the coloured calendar given her by her grocery man? Are there not as many potential artists among country as well as city women? Should they not be brought a share of the trend in architecture? Why should not the rural woman be told of the unsightly houses of a type now being built only by the cheaper poorer classes of city architect- son contractors, when she could, just as easily, have something permanently beautiful. How many travelers look out beyond themselves, to see what other branches are doing? How many, to be concrete, know, and have discussed the recent move whereby the W. I. in Alberta parted company with the Government, and has set out "on it's own?" How many older Ontario branches have thought seriously of befriending the branches in more isolated regions to develop the home making industry, as a means, not only of livelihood for less well-off sisters, but as an interest in lives that tend to be or- monotonous unless there is a fresh outlook? How many are there bearing contracts with other lives?

How many of our branches in Ontario know that through the efforts of Miss Helen Macdonald (the W.I. super intendent) and others, five Institute organizations have been established in Nova Scotia, the articles sold there being made by rural women in their spare time? When we begin to think, we realize that the ways in which the institute could go forward, in the Province of Ontario, are manifold.

FINAL PARTY OF HARVESTERS SAIL

Contingent of 1,900 Leaves From Liverpool, Belfast And Glasgow

Liverpool, Eng., Aug. 23.—The sailing of the final party of Canada-bound farmers and others to aid in the Canadian harvest, coincided with the departure for Canada on the same steamers, the Laurentic and the Montcalm, of many of the Canadian Olympic athletes.

The Laurentic carried 150 men from Liverpool, 50 from Belfast, and 15 from Glasgow. The Montcalm has 300 aboard. Two other steamers, th Andania and Adriatic, set sail with respectively 300 from Liverpool, 400 from Glasgow and 50 from Belfast on the one boat and 500 from various centres on the other. The total in the contingent was 1,900 men. It has been announced that 2,500 instead of the previously arranged 10,000 would go to the Dominion.

The harvesters reached Liverpool at all times during the night and today. The Laurentic detachment were well clothed, quiet in their bearing and with presentable outfits. They did not differ a great deal from a crowd of holiday-makers who were boarding an isle of Man steamer while the men were being taken to the Laurentic.

New POWER New BEAUTY in General Motors' Lowest Priced Six

PROVIDING even finer performance, revealing even smarter style and built by General Motors under manufacturing processes unsurpassed for precision and accuracy . . today's Pontiac Six represents a value the like of which has not been known since the beginning of Pontiac history.

To the sound basic design which has made Pontiac Six internationally famous for stamina and long life—to those important advancements, such as the G-M-R cylinder head . . Pontiac has added improvements leading to even greater power and to smoother performance.

To the inherent style and beauty of Fisher bodies—to the effective symmetry of sweeping fenders and high, straight hoods—Pontiac has added the freshness of new Duco colors and the modish air of smaller, smarter wheels and oversize tires.

This lowest priced six of General Motors has won its sensational success by always reflecting General Motors' ability to build a better car for the money. Now it offers new power and beauty. See it and drive it today. P-18-8-28

STUDENTS MADE BRIEF STAY HERE

"Omnibus College" Novel Education System; Learn By Travel

One hundred students of the State of Kansas composing the "Omnibus College" passed through the city last evening enroute for Toronto where they planned to stop over for the night. This is a novel Educational system and is an annual affair. On July 19th the caravan set out from Winfield, Kansas, bearing undergraduates of twenty-three Colleges intent on seeing the chief points of interest on the North American Continent. "Omnibus College" is in charge of William M. Goldsmith, Dean of Biology at Southwestern College, Winfield, Kansas, who privately owns the trucks, names the itinerary and conducts the lectures on the stops are made in the chief historical points. The students pay $200 on the start of the tour which includes board, text books, etc. Six buses are employed to transport the students and one arm misery vehicle. The latter is in the van. Tents are pitched at various points in the journey and convenient spots. The College is co-educational and includes many teachers in the public schools of the State of Kansas. The party started from Winfield through Oklahoma, Arkansas, Georgia, Virginia, proceeding to the District of Columbia where four days were spent in the nation's capital. The educational idea is the study of American History and Biology through observation. The College carries its own nurse and physician. These trips are an annual affair and conducted through different sections of the country. It is believed still the buses are making all possible speed as the rest of the teachers are scheduled to commence teaching early in September. Starting from Belleville at 8 o'clock last night the party planned to reach Toronto early this morning.

CANADA DID NOT ENTER PROTESTS

P. J. Mulqueen Says Press Despatches Exaggerated Affairs

Quebec, Aug. 25.—P. J. Mulqueen, President of the Canadian Olympic Games Committee, arrived here this morning with his party from Berlin. "I more than 30 members of the Canadian Olympic games team on the Laurentic and in a statement declared emphatically that Canada did not protest conformance at the Olympic games as many people had imagined from press despatches. It is quite old true that we made one protest, purely on a moral question and that is as far as we went," he said. "Of course there were many occurrences which, would have justified complaints and parties larly with regard to genral arrangements, but it is erroneous to say that we kept on filing protests."

CONVICTED YOUTH AGAIN CAPTURED

Montreal, Aug. 25.—Kingston Pen. Hentiary authorities had a cell ready last week for Arthur Birchett on Aug. 16, whom an Ottawa judge sent to the institution for a two-year term. Birchett, however, unbolted a door in th Capital courthouse and walked to free dom and the penitentiary officials are still waiting for him. They will have to wait for another two years now as till St. Vincent de Paul authorities ar through with him.

Local police were on the look-out for Montpetit all week, following his spectacular escape from the Ottawa jail. On Thursday night a report was received that the fugitive was in hiding on Bannockburn Avenue, Verdun, with a relative. The report proved accurate and the escaped prisoner was arrested.

Too Much ACID

Many people, two hours after eating, suffer indigestion as they call it. It is usually food gone bad, decayed in an acid. The best way, the quick, painless and efficient way, is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained for 50 years the standard with physicians. One spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in stomach acids, and all once. The symptoms disappear in five minutes.

You will never use the crude methods when you know this better method. And you will never suffer from excess acid when you prove, out this easy relief. Please do that—for your own sake now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. Each bottle contains full directions—any druggtore.

A. MOORE DANIEL MADE DIRECTOR

Has Had Much Experience In Works of Art In England

London, Eng. — Augustus Moore Daniel is to succeed Sir Charles John Holmes as Director of the National Gallery, when Sir Charles retires in September.

Among artists and scholars Mr. Daniel has a great reputation for judgment and scholarship. He is well known in Scarborough where he has resided for many years. He was educated at Repton and at Trinity College, Cambridge, where he took honors in history, and he holds the degrees of M.A. and M.B. His father was a Yorkshire man, and he himself qualified at London Hospital but has never practised.

Mr. Daniel has taken great interest in Greek antiquities, and has travelled extensively in Greece. A member of the Contemporary Art Society for many years, he possesses a valuable collection of pictures by modern artists, a good many of which were form erly in much request at exhibitions.

Among Mr. Daniel's Scarborough activities have been those of Chairman of the Borough in 1912-13, resident of the Scarborough School of Art, and he has been a member of the Board of Management of the Scarborough Hospital. He was the founder of the Scarborough Council of Social Welfare, which succeeded the Old Charity Organization Society, and the Guild of Help, with both of which he was associated. He is a Justice of the Peace for the North Riding, and is the Borough of Scarborough.

Mr. Daniel has also had close an valuable experience in the domain o local government and education and contributed useful to this field of activ zation and control of hospital and other institutions during the war. His appointments by the Prime Minister three years ago to a trusteeship of the National Gallery was a time when his knowledge and experience proved of service in the matter of the keen competition put up by United States collectors of great wealth and enterprise.

APPEAL TO BE MADE FOR CASH

Nation-Wide Cry For Funds Conducted By National C. O. W.

A nation-wide appeal for a foundation fund of $200,000 will be conducted by the National Council of Women of Canada, it is announced by Mrs. Frederick Ribertington, of Kingston, Ont., convenor of the fund committee. Headquarters have been established in Kingston and preparations are being made to begin the public effort in the latter part of September or early October.

The National Council is a federation of local councils which are composed of women's organizations of every kind. It is represented in every principal city of the Dominion and has a membership which, allowing for duplications, is estimated to exceed 200,000 women.

The foundation fund, when invested by a board of directors to be named, is expected to yield an annual income of $10,000. This will be used to pay part of the expenses of delegates to national conventions or the organizations, and also to continue the work and publish the findings of national standing committees. It is also hoped that the fund will make feasible the establishment of a national headquarters.

National officers are: Her Excellency, Viscountess Willington, Ottawa, honorary president; Mrs. J. A. Wilson, Ottawa, president; Mrs. Norma Pearson, Toronto, acting corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. C. Tweed, Westboro, recording secretary and Mrs. W. A. Quibell, Toronto, treasurer.

The vice-presidents are: Mrs. Etherington, Miss C. E. Carmichael, New Glasgow; Mrs. Wilburby-Cummings, D. C. L., Toronto; Dr. Stowe Gullen, Toronto; Lady Aikens, Winnipeg; Mrs. Charles H. Thorbern, Ottawa; Judge H. C. McGill, Vancouver. The provincial president of Ontario is Mrs. R. O. Smythe, 87 Chestnut Park Road, Toronto.

A Word to the Wise

If, a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded is as the opportunity of a lifetime.

Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25¢ to 50% or more under levels established last year.

The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have increased the equities behind the shares.

Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

Why not consult with us in the matter and let us make some suggestions?

CROWD REACTIONS RARELY ELEVATING

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

It is a common experience to hear elder married folks, those who loved and mated according to the old standards, blame the fanciful and highstrung kind of romance for many of their heartaches. They cannot get out of their minds what might have been and they believe that, had they been more sophisticated, all would have been different.

"But I am bringing up my daughters differently," said a mother of three daughters and two sons, "and my husband feels exactly as I do. I want my children to know what life is, so that they may choose more wisely. Too many of those I know are still longing for a type of romance that is absolutely unattainable. And that's what leads to trouble. It is far better to get used to the truth about life than to wish and yearn and wonder. It makes people happier in the end."

One must admit that in breaking away from ancient traditions many of our young people have gone to undesirable and dangerous extremes. Such over emphasis, however, is characteristic of all marked changes in social conduct. In due course the pendulum always swings back. Nevertheless, girls who think and behave in accordance with the newer sophistication are to become the mothers of the next generation and one may justly question the soundness of their philosophy.

If it leads to immorality it cannot be too strongly condemned.

But if thereby the purely inciting element is removed and virtue still remains triumphant, the result, on the whole, has advantages.

We must not forget that fashion and women's slavish imitation of fashion has a lot to do with their seeming sophistication.

But their hearts still respond to the deep-rooted, fine instincts implanted by the motherhood urge for all that.

No matter how flirtatious and frivolous a girl may be, if you are able to probe her deepest and most sacred feelings, you will find that she is a mother for all that.

Women may say that they do not want children that they are costly and troublesome, but how many of them really mean what they say?

Hair Removed in 3 Minutes

Seems almost too good to be true. But it is true. Science has at last produced a fragrant, snowy-white cream called DEL-A-TONE. It's just as easy to use as cold cream.

No fuss or muss. Just chik—you apply Del-a-tone Cream, and in 3 minutes wash the hair away. Leaves skin smooth and white. Retards regrowth. Far better than shaving or pulling hair out by roots. Thousands of ladies and women would use no other.

Del-a-tone Cream, or Powder at your dealer's, $1.00 per package. Money back guarantee. Distributed by Lewis-Hall Iyman Inc., Dept. 1, 1 Front St. East, Toronto, Ont.

Woman's God-given function of reproduction has been part and parcel of her very being since the beginning of time. No artificial or man made standards, no matter how radical, could ever possibly wipe it out.

I, for my part, have complete faith in the attitude of the modern girl toward love when I see the menace being palmed by the contagion of flapperism in its more outlandish aspects. I believe she will come out of it safely, that she will develop wisely.

It may easily happen that the next generation will become more conservative than the last because of the battles of the present day.

The world in its progress through the ages has often seen such balancing reactions.

What Robert Louis Stevenson wrote is one of his letters is apropos here: "And the little dears will soon be skating on the other foot. Sooner or later, in each generation, each half of them at least begin to remember all the material they have rejected when their mads said it was foolish and their theory of life; and these became reactionaries or conservatives, and the stiff-arsidan of man begins to fill upon the other tack."

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Last summer I met a boy whom I fell in love with at first sight, and I thought he did with me. Our parents also liked me, but I don't see how that's true because one night in kept seats he left me for another girl and told him I didn't think that this was the place and I wasn't sure he really cared for me, so I didn't. Since then he has been very indifferent. Please advise me as what I can do to win him back. I really am secretly very much in love with him. My friends tell me to forget him and I've tried time and time again, but it's impossible. I want to win him back. How can I do it?

H. E. B.

H. E. B.: I wish some good fairy would come along and hand you a recipe which would tell me what so many girls ask, and that is "How to win him back again" Its such a difficult thing to answer, for each case really has its own solution, if I did but have a personal acquaintance with you all and all the circumstances surrounding each case. But not having that, sometimes I am truly in a quandary. All I can say, H. E. B., is this. If I were in your place I really should forget the young man. If he so plainly shows that he does not desire your company your pride should come to your rescue and prevent you from doing anything which would make you appear foolish in the young man's eyes. A man likes to be the hunter, never the hunted, and as soon as he feels that a girl is pursuing him, he runs. What to hard to win, he wants, but the girl who is ready and willing to fall in with his every suggestion. So ignore him. Have a good time with your other friends, and I am sure in a few months, you will laugh at yourself. Being a girl in my late teens I have been going with a fellow four years my senior for a little over a year.

He is very jealous of me and does not want me to speak to any other fellow. There is another young man whom I care for. Because I have carried on conversations and have been friendly with him the first young man has made it very unpleasant for me thus causing a separation. Please advise me. Am I to blame for this separation?

J. P.

J. P.: As you are not engaged to the young man, he is acting very selfishly in not wanting you to speak to your other friends, and you will perhaps be better off without such a jealous, unreasonable friend. Try to forget him, my dear, and enjoy yourself with others who are not so prejudiced and narrow-minded and selfish.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a fellow for about a month, and love him dearly. I do not see him often as he lives out of town. Would it be proper to ask him to accompany me on a two or three day vacation trip?

I am awaiting your advice.

WORRIED BROWN EYES.

WORRIED BROWN EYES: If the trip is to be properly chaperoned, I see no reason why you should not ask your friend to accompany you.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl of twenty. I met a young man two years my senior. The young man I go with says he loves me and cares for me. We have gone together for about a year and a half. We became engaged six or seven months ago. He kept calling me on the 'phone and coming to my house and making dates until the last two weeks, and does occasionally now. Last week he was with another girl at a dance, but he said he loved me far better than the other girl. Should I ask him point-blank to stop going with this girl, or should I give his ring back now?

Please advise me.

DIMPLES.

DIMPLES: When a boy and girl are engaged, their friendships are more or less limited as regards the opposite sex, my dear. If you explain tactfully and gently to the young man how you feel, I am sure he will do anything to please, as he loves you and has asked you to marry him. If he persists in his attitude, it might be better to return his ring. Sometimes this has the desired effect and makes a man realize how foolish he has been. Good luck and happiness to you.

Wilful Wives
By Mildred Barbour

"But won't you miss him right good for marriage, Mamie you appreciate your fetters. And," she added flippantly, with a wink at an imaginary eye, "I've got your Hal to contend me when I'm lonely."

She sauntered off the table.

"Are you willing to bet that I'll give Lydia a run for her money?... I'll say you are. The cat.... And, Marguerite, you know you can trust me, don't you?"

"Yes, I know that."

After she had gone, Marguerite sat in the window, trying to catch a cool breath from the street. A week later she would be on the sea, according to plan. But could she, dared she, risk Hal's displeasure?

Suddenly she told herself that she couldn't. She had to stay home. When one was married, one didn't run away from one's husband—even if he was a husband in name only. Something happened to force her hand.

The Final Count

The week-end preceding the sailing of the Imperial, on which Steve Brockton and his sister Mary were returning, dawned on a city that sweltered in torrid heat. Marguerite, pale and weary, but feeling that she must not leave Hal, had told Laura Brockton that she wasn't going away. Laura had looked at her with wide, kindly eyes, shrugged, and said;

"All right. It's for you to decide, of course. But I think you're making a great mistake, Steve and I will be very disappointed."

"And Irma, too," added Marguerite, with a faint smile.

"And Irma, too," agreed Laura gravely. "She's been counting on this summer of freedom from her maternal responsibilities!" Faint irony tinged Laura's placid tone.

"As you will," Laura had left it at that. "But do come to the boat on Monday to see us off. We all set soon."

Marguerite promised, and Laura went away. On Saturday, at noon, when the down-town offices closed, Marguerite dressed herself with care, for Hal was coming home to lunch. Saturday was the only day he came home for lunch, and Marguerite so chose the menu with extra care. Then she went down to await him in the drawing room.

An hour passed and no Hal. Finally, at three o'clock the 'phone rang. Hal was on the wire.

"Sorry I couldn't get up-town," he explained curtly. "Lydia and a gang descended upon me at the office at noon and we lunched at a pet place of mine near the factories. I say, Marguerite would you mind putting a few things in a bag and sending them down to my office by Messenger? One of the chaps Lydia brought along. Ray Patten, has a shack near Long Beach and he's invited us all down for the week-end. I didn't suggest your coming, because, from what he tells me, we'll have to rough it, and that wouldn't be pleasant for you."

SINCLAIR'S

In a queer, tight little voice, Marguerite heard herself asking: "Is Lydia going ?"

"Yes, yes. Lydia wouldn't miss a party, and she doesn't mind 'roughing it.'"

Marguerite shut her eyes. She had a vision of the sanguinous Lydia "roughing it." But perhaps she'd do even the latter.

"I'll send your things at once, Shall you want your golf clubs."

"Rather," he laughed, "and dinner jacket, too,..... We'll probably go over to Long Beach to dance after dinner tonight."

"Good-bye," said Marguerite abruptly, and hung up the receiver. That didn't sound exactly like roughing it. She also longed for a week-end in the fresh air, away from the hot city! She could even have endured Lydia's "crying" for that.

The whole situation merely boiled down to the fact that Hal didn't want her with him. Tears sprang into her eyes.

Hal called her back petulantly. "Why did you cut me off? Aren't you going to with me a good time?"

"Of course, Hal," she answered. "I hope you'll have a splendid time."

"Don't be lonesome," he said. "Get Irma or Steve or Laura to come in to see you.....By the way, they're sailing on the Imperial, Monday."

"Monday noon," she told him.

"Then run 'long 'vayage' for me. I simply be bored alone in the quiet room and thought.

What was the use of it all? Hal didn't want her, didn't need her. Except to perform little tasks such as sending his golf clubs, and a servant could do that equally well,.....perhaps better. He thought so little of her comfort and happiness that he went blithely off for the week-end, leaving her alone in a sweltering city. Went off with only that casual word of farewell. With no inquiry as to how she was feeling. What if she were for Saturday and Sunday, how she would pass her lonely days.

And Lydia was going to be a member of the house-party. Lydia, whom every one had thought would some day be Mrs. Hal Reynolds. Lydia who had, apparently, not entirely relinquished hope.

"I'm not jealous!" protested Marguerite hotly to herself. "I'm not! I don't care a snap for Hal. But it's not playing the game. Hal objects to my going on a perfectly decent trip with Laura just because Steve's along, but he can go off on a party whenever he wants to. It's not fair!"

In her state of resentment, she overlooked the fact that a sea voyage of several months and a week-end party were not to be put in the same class.

The cook sent in to ask when Madam wished dinner served, and Marguerite replied that she didn't want any. It was too hot to eat. She told her staff to take the week-end off and go to the movies, anywhere....She didn't care. They obeyed with alacrity. She was alone in the apartment. Alone for the entire week-end, for she didn't call Irma or Steve or Laura, and no one called her.

At noon on Monday she was on the pier of the Imperial, dressed for traveling. Her luggage was neatly stacked near-by. She met Steve's look of amusement with a faint smile.

"If it isn't too late,.....I'm going with you.

Two most infantile of young mothers will delight in this adorable little cooks coat of baby blue flannel trimmed with pale pink ribbon silk. It is an excellent style for a child because it is simply made for comfort—to run piece and with loose linnens sleeves. The tiny tot herself is sure to like the colorful roses embroidered in pink silk.

A blouse of this sort, or one made of fancy crevenon, challis or crepe, would make a charming birthday gift for a little girl.

Dead Heat Heirloom

Hal came home Monday evening, weary and out of sorts. The week-end day had been long and hot. He had a seven o'clock train Monday morning to get to the office on time, and the day had been long and hot. Hehad thought of calling Marguerite up, but there seemed little use. There was nothing to tell her, except that he would be late for dinner, and he'd already knew that.

All the way up-town, he was looking forward pleasantly to a cool bath and a change.....the bath had been sketchy at Patten's shack.....the absence of the apartment, after the noisy crowd that had made up his week-end companions, and a good dinner. Marguerite's quietness would be a relief, after the strain of avoiding Lydia's obvious determination to have tete-a-tetes with him.

He let himself into the apartment with his latch-key and was surprised to find it warm and close, as if all the windows had been closed for a time. There was no light in the hall, where usually an alabaster globe glowed like a pale opal.

He walked to the drawing-room door and glanced in. It was empty The room was silent. The windows were tightly closed. There were no fresh flowers to give a soothing fragrance.

"What the deuce," he muttered sharply, "Marguerite!"

There was no answer.....He hesitated before the closed door of her bedroom. Then he rang for the maid.

"I'll bet the little idiot went down to Steve or Laura to come in to see you,.....By the way, they're sailing on the Imperial, Monday."

"Monday noon," she told him.

"Then run 'long vayage' for me. I simply be bored alone in the quiet room and thought.

Guard Baby's Health In the Summer

The summer months are the most dangerous to children. The complaints of that season, such as cholera infantum, colic, diarrhoea and dysentary, come on so quickly that often a little one is beyond aid before the mother realizes he is ill. The mother must be on her guard to prevent these troubles or if they do come on suddenly to banish them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during hot weather as Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the stomach and bowels and are absolutely safe. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SINICAL SADIE'S SEES

IF WE DIDN'T HAVE TO EAT
Life would be an easy matter
If we didn't have to eat.
If we never had to utter,
"Won't you pass the bread and butter,"
Likewise push along that platter
Full of meat?"
Yes, if food were obsolete
Life would be a jolly treat,
If we didn't—shine or shower,
Old or young, four times every hour—
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
'Twould be jolly if we didn't have to eat.

We could save a lot of money
If we didn't have to eat.
Could we cease our busy buying,
Baking, broiling, brewing, frying,
Life would then be oh so sunny
And complete;
And we wouldn't fear to greet
Every grocer in the street
If we didn't—man and woman,
Every hungry, helpless human—
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
We'd save money if we didn't have to eat.

All our worry would be over
If we didn't have to eat.
Would the butcher, baker, grocer
Get our hard-earned dollars? No,
Sir!
We would then be right in clover
Cool and sweet.
Want and hunger we could cheat.
And we'd get there with both feet.
If we didn't—poor or wealthy,
Have to eat, eat, eat, eat, eat—
We could get there if we didn't have to eat.

STUFFED ONIONS
Peel Spanish onions and cut slice from top ends. Carefully remove centres, leaving a two layer case of onion. Prepare a potato salad, well seasoned, and fill cases. Garnish with parsley and stuffed olives.

CHICKEN MOLD
One small chicken (about a three-pound broiler), 1 green pepper, 1 pimento chopped fine, 1 tablespoonful pearl onions, 1 tablespoon of Worcestershire sauce, 2 pieces of celery chopped, ½ package of gelatin, 1 hard boiled egg, ½ teaspoon thyme, 1 tablespoonful salt, ½ tablespoon pepper. Boil chicken until tender with salt, pepper and thyme, let cool and remove the meat from the bones. Soak gelatin in half a cup of cold water ten minutes. Heat chicken stock enough to dissolve gelatin, add gelatin and pour over the rest of the ingredients. Line a mold with the sliced hard-boiled eggs and add the chicken mixture. Set in the ice box to harden. This may be used as a salad and served on lettuce with tomato and mayonnaise.

SEE WORLD-WIDE RELIEF FROM FLIES

Liquid Spray Supersedes Old Fashioned Methods

Throughout the United States and Canada and in 96 foreign countries FLY-TOX is the accepted insecticides. From Australia to Norway and from Alaska to South Africa FLY-TOX is killing flies, mosquitoes and other household insects.

In Alaska, the worst pest by far is the mosquito. FLY-TOX has come as a great relief to the inhabitants in the land of the midnight sun.

In Australia FLY-TOX is the outstanding insecticide. Europe, Asia, Africa and South America all are finding certain relief with this scientific insecticide FLY-TOX.

This fragrant and stainless insecticide, when used with the improved FLY-TOX hand sprayer, forms a fine, mist-like vapor that reaches and penetrates to all parts of a room and reaches and kills insects quickly.

FLY-TOX was developed at Motion Ray Research Fellowship, Fragrant—Stainless—Harmless to people. FLY-TOX is sold everywhere.

JUST IN PASSING

By Arthur Guiterman

Clear-eyed and grave, you look me through and through
And know me as I am, not as I seem,
The masks I wear may cheat the world, not you,
What I have done the coldly-wise may deem
Noble or paltry, weighing good and ill;
Byrrra sifts sellers! Let them meet and dole,
Appraising gauds and tokens as they will,
But, all unconsciously, you see the soul.

Can you believe in me, in me who must
Be humbly schooled by you before I teach?
You smile the smile of childhood's perfect trust:
I am not all unworthy? May I reach
Again the stainless peaks of April's prime?
Put your small hand in mine and help me climb.

SMOKING

What a change has come over the country in the matter of smoking! Before the war any good woman who crossed for a cigarette indulged her fancy in private. To be seen smoking in public was to risk not so much criticism, but a flinking up with those more doubtful characters who always hang on the fringe of Society. Nowadays, of course, smoking is no longer looked on as a privilege for men, and a vice for women. True, org does not smoke at Court, but then neither do the men, and although I am dead against excess in any form, I have never been able to see why men should smoke and women should not.

x x x

A common argument used against women smoking is that it is aping one of the vices men have so far had the exclusive enjoyment of. But, it is a little difficult nowadays to see why smoking should ever have been regarded as a vice. I am in sympathy with those who dislike women imitating men. It is a profound mistake, and I cannot understand why any one who has had the good fortune to be born a woman should want to behave like a man. Personally I very much dislike the lion' crop for that very reason—the last thing a woman should want to look like is a man.

x x x

If they want to.

x x x

Personally, I see nothing in the cigarette which other people find so charming, but when I remember that in the early years of Queen Victoria's reign smoking among men was looked on not so much with horror as with indignation, I cannot help wondering what people of 1976 will think about us. We all remember when those men who had to spend a night under the same roof as Queen Victoria were forced, if they wished to indulge their craving for a weed, to go out and "weed," to smoke carefully up the chimney.

x x x

I well remember the case of the clever young man who was marked out for rapid promotion in the diplomatic service ruining all his chances by being detected in the heinous crime of enjoying a quiet cigar. Now comes the news that women, not content with cigarettes, are gradually taking to pipes, a horrid custom, I think, but I am assured that in the Southern Princess, who was well-known in London before the war, is a regular pipe-smoker, and has a number of these bubbling, nasty-smelling things at her home.

'POEM IN STONE' IS CRUMBLING

Houses of Parliament In Old London Not 80 Years Old

London, Eng. — The Houses of Parliament, architecturally, may be a "poem in stone", as they were so described by the Emperor of Russia soon after their erection. But it hardly speaks well for the outward material of which they are composed that it should require a wholesale renewal after the lapse of less than 80 years.

The present Works Department has charge of national buildings—is making arrangements for the disposal of the material necessary to such alterations as may care to use it for making rock gardens on their private property, at ten shillings a ton. Carpenter and other carved stonework will also be available in moderate quantities. Out of session, therefore, as M. P., will able to smoke a contemplative pipe, the while he gazes upon what used to help make up the Mother of Parliaments.)

The present House of Parliament were designed by Sir Charles Barry, after the fire of 1834 which destroyed the old Houses. Although much of the libraries both of the Lords and of the Commons were saved, many priceless documents perished in that fire, including the original warrant for the execution of Charles the First, Barry's great design in Gothic was accepted only after the most expert examination but time has shown that while magnificent limestone may stand up well to the weather in its native countryside it is no means for the aside which are in the atmosphere of a great city. All the same it seems to have been singularly bad advice which permitted an expenditure of three million sterling on a building that cannot keep its outer face secure for something under a century.

NEW INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC NOW

Edmonton, Alta., (C.P.)—Along the Coppermine river, which flows into the Arctic to the east of Aklavik, the entire tribe of Coppermine Indians, men, women and children have been practically wiped out by the flu, Northmen say, but this has not yet been definitely established owing to the isolated nature of the country.

A telegram received here by Geo. Wilson, Fort Simpson trapper, said that thirty-seven Indians had died at that post, since the disease broke out, coincident with the arrival of the first down-river steamer, at the opening of navigation.

It was only owing to the splendid work of the sisters in the hospital mission at Simpson that the total of deaths has not been greater. The sisters visited the stricken tribesmen in their teepees, dispensing drugs and directions to the suffering men, women and children. There is a fine doctor at the post also.

Ready to follow the binder on the grain ranches, thousands of young men are now speeding westward. British, too, is sending some 10,000 men, mostly miners. The picture shows a group of "greenhorns," men who, making their first try at the game, are ready to board one of the "harvester specials" in the east.

Let Me Tell You

Always strain a dye through muslin before adding it to the water.

Blackhead jelled with vinegar gives a brighter and more lasting polish.

When making mint sauce a sprinkling of sugar over the mint will enable it to be chopped in half the time.

Never hang the oven door when cakes are being baked; cold draughts always prevent a cake rising properly.

Thin slices of currant bread make delicious bread and butter pudding, besides saving time and trouble.

Cabbage which is creased and shabby looking should be well brushed, dusted and ironed between tissue paper.

Use a pot with a pot chicken, etc., from cracking, put them in cold water, bring to the boil, and leave them in this water till cold. They can then be taken safely into wear.

Success in cooking may depend upon the addition of ever so little seasoning, spice, or flavouring, without which the dish is flat and unpalatable, and likely to become stale.

A trace of nutmeg improves fresh Lima beans. Use a little more in dried Limas, baked or boiled.

Add both ginger and mustard to Boston baked beans—mustard for flavour, and ginger, instead of pepper, for heat.

A chip of stick cinnamon helps the oatmeal served at breakfast, but by all means remove it before the family discovers what makes the cereal so good.

The best cinnamon is of a light, yellowish brown colour, slightly rolled, and with small round spots on its outer surface.

"When in doubt, add salt," is a good motto for nearly everything cooked—apple sauce, for instance, and other stewed fruit.

Grated orange rind or bits of preserved orange skin make hot ginger bread fruity delectable. It is also a distinct addition to raisin or currant loaf flavoured with lemon extract.

WAS VERY DELICATE

New Health Came Through Using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Mrs. Caspar Miller, Lourdes N.S., says that twice in her lifetime she has reason to be thankful for what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for her. She says: "I was a very delicate girl going into womanhood when I first found health from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was a sufferer with cramps and pains every month and was left so weak I was unable to be around at all. One day when I was very sick a friend came in to see me, and she asked to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I know they will do her a world of good. I was result was my mother got six boxes and I began their use, and I soon found relief from these pills. By the time I had taken them all I felt an altogether different girl and no longer suffered from those pains.

Then a few years ago I was attacked with nervous trouble and was sick for six weeks. Again I started taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and again they brought me good health. I am the mother of a family and so as my own health is good I have to keep in good health. And depend upon these pills to keep me so. Now I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any of my friends who may be sick."

If you are suffering from any condition due to poor, watery blood, or weak nerves begin taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now and note how your strength and health will improve. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HEADSTONE FOR A QUARREL
By Lawrence Lee

I, who have lived but briefly, feel life sweet,
Yet find it is not good to be alone;
And so, I scan the faces in the street,
Half hoping that the next will be your own.

Noon is less brilliant on the Avenue
Since you and I were tender with our pride,
And humbly I confess a want of you
In every change the passing days provide.

Youth is a little while, and I would seek
The face that loved me and the eyes that shone.
I, who was full of vanity, am meek;
Yet, in my meekness, I remain alone.

One cannot teach the injured dead to speak,
Nor call again the sparrow that has flown.

RAT FREETIDIGITATION

How do rats carry eggs? Some time ago the query was put to the famous naturalist, John Burroughs. He admitted that he did not know. He had heard an explanation, current among farmers, but he could not say that it was the correct one. The mystery of how rats carry eggs is unsolved "officially," after hundreds of years of conjecture. That eggs disappearing are borne off by rats is proved clearly enough by the discovery of whole uncracked eggs beneath the floors, in partitions, and other hiding places. In farming communities various theories are advanced, and every now and then some one actually claims to have seen the rats at work. These eye-witnesses of the most unusual thing say the rat holds the egg between chin and forefeet, or legged tightly between the forefeet and he walks off elevations deftly, protecting the egg as he falls; that usually there is a crowd of rats about to drag the egg rat, lying on its back, by the tail across the floor to the hole. Others say the rat carries the egg. Red Cross outpost hospital in "run-ars parked on the front lawn.

SOCIETY WOMEN USE BICYCLES ON ISEAND

Toronto, Ont.—(C.P.)—To come to see me—I'll send my motor for you," says a kindly city hostess, but when the lady at the Island asks you to cross the bay to drink a cup of tea with her at her charmingly arranged summer home she informs you that a bicycle will be at your service when you step off the ferry. On popular summer resident on the Island found much use for her "chariot" but one of the best it would seem is the service she is able to render those these same neat little bicycles

REGENT THEATRE

Charming, dark-eyed Madge Bellamy, who plays the stellar role in her Fine "Soft Living," a frisky comedy-drama coming to the Regent Theatre, Monday, says that she got a great thrill out of humorous jokes. "After all," quoted Miss Bellamy, "the days that make us happy make us wise and it is just as much fun to decide a humorous situation on the screen as something that happens in real life.

"What person is really interesting without a sense of humor? I don't believe anyone, unless he was so dry as to be uninteresting. Humor is one of the greatest lifting things in every day life, that afford joy and amusement.

"That is why I like comedy-drama. When you play just an ordinary girl who experiences all of the heartaches and humor of life, then it is a real pleasure."

BELLE THEATRE

Once more George Bancroft is playing a role which suits the type of role so dear to his heart. In "The Drag Net" a sensational crook melodrama coming to the Belle Theatre on Monday, Bancroft plays the part of a man who sells dope, concealed pearl and mocks at cagger.

It is such a role in "Underworld" which transformed the dynamic Bancroft from the "smiling villain" of the screen to one of his foremost dramatic stars in motion pictures. It was another such part in "Blood and Sand" which again demonstrated Bancroft's great dramatic abilities.

In "The Drag Net" Bancroft was directed by Josef von Sternberg, the man who discovered him in "Underworld," Evelyn Brent and Fred Kohler, two other outstanding members of the "Underworld" cast are playing in the new picture as is William Powell, one of filmdom's outstanding villains.

MANUFACTURES SHOES FOR HER OWN USE

Cookerville, Ont.—Not only can the Canadian women can point to the shoes on their feet and say, "I made them!" as can Mrs. Alexander Hall now in her 79th year, a native and lifelong resident of this village, who makes the same boast of her brooms with which she tidies her comfortable home and little store, not only making the brooms but sowing the brush corn which manufactures into brooms. To talk with this active lady is to turn back the clock of time half a century and to step into an era in which necessity was the mother of invention.

The sheds at the rear of her home, the chimney to her summer kitchen, the shingled roof of the little verandah which shelters the front of the store, are all evidence of her adaptability to different trades. In her life, begin a humorous situation on the big room are a couch which she made and upholstered, and a comfortable rocking chair, a relic of bygone days, which she also covered. On the living room window is a pair of curtains, manufactured out of sugar bags from the store, and a lesson in thrift, with crocheted lace made from the string which sewed the bags.

CANADIANS "PASS" UP GOOD FOOD IN THEIR REFUSAL TO EAT FISH

Canada's Fishing Industry Is Potentially Great

Fish is an article of food available to Canadians and in great abundance, but unfortunately it is being sadly neglected. Each year our fishermen land between eight and nine hundred million pounds of fish. Of this amount, less than one quarter is consumed in Canada and for the balance a market must be found abroad.

Canada is potentially the greatest fish producing country in the world. We have more ready access to the great fisheries of this north than has any other country, but, and to relate, we do not take the same profit from them that others do. We also have at our door the great banks of the Pacific, invaluable fisheries and may prolific inland areas.

The United States lands approximately two billion pounds of fish per year. Canadian fishermen could land as much or more if they were assured a market for their fish. If our Canadian people were to consume a reasonable quota, it would be a big encouragement to the fishermen and a tremendous stimulus to the industry.

There are apparently, two things standing in the way of a more general use of fish, one is unsatisfactory distribution, the other is lack of knowledge on the part of housewife as to the fine qualities of fish when properly prepared. A wider knowledge of proper methods of cooking fish will lead to better appreciation of its worth.

As for our distributing system, there exists a situation analagous to that ever-present tramway question. The tramway company says to city dwellers: "Build up your outlying districts and we'll extend our lines." The average citizen says "You extend your lines first, then we'll build."

So it is with the distribution of fish in Canada. The railways say "Wait until the demand warrants it, then we'll give it better service" and the fish farmer says "Well, I can't make fish a regular item on my diet, because I can't get it regularly. Sometimes its not altogether fresh when it gets to me."

And the solution? Let each purchaser for the household in his or her family budget for fish, make provisions for a pound of fish per week for each one at the table. Increased consumption will mean cheaper handling, reduced overhead, charges and better service.

And this means to the consumer cheaper fish, better fish and regular delivery.

It is reckoned by scientists who have made an exhaustive study of the question that pound for pound, fish is as rich in nutriments as meat, and in some instances richer. In addition there is a tremendous variation in prices between fish and meat which makes the use of fish from the very economical practice.

In Belleville, citizens may be assured always of a good variety of high-class fish reasonably priced at Brown's Fish Store, Bridge Street West. A phone call will give you prompt service.

WONG'S ADOPTS NEW METHOD OF REFRIGERATION

An announcement of interest to patrons of Wongs restaurant and to the public generally is that to the effect that this popular restaurant has had installed the Frigidaire system of electric refrigeration in its kitchens.

The more is in line with Wongs policy of ensuring patrons the best food at all times, and electric refrigeration will assure these patrons being served just that kind in future—perfectly kept food at all times.

Electric refrigeration is being generally adopted by hotels and restaurants in all the larger cities as the most advanced and best means for the preservation of food in winter and summer. Automatic control eliminates any possibility of imperfect operation.

Belleville is fortunate in having such a progressive restaurant service as this, offered now by Wong. Wongs is located on Front Street next the Intelligencer.

THE STRAIN OF SOCIAL LIFE

The strain of social life—the excitant excitement, mental effort, late hours, etc.—draws heavily upon the nerves and robs the eyes many times of their rightful share of nerve energy. Men and women in all walks of public life who are under almost constant stress and strain should be extremely careful of their eyes, and at the very first indication of eyestrain or defective vision should have their eyes examined—and wear glasses immediately if the examination shows that glasses are needed.

We specialize in correct examination, and the fitting of glasses that will correct the deficiencies of vision and at the same time improve your appearance.

Cowgill Edwards, eyesight specialist, at 230 Front St., for an early examination and glasses if necessary.

NEW BUICKS ON DISPLAY NEXT WEEK AT FAIR

1929 McLaughlin Line Is Noteworthy Exhibit

McLaughlin-Buick's thousands of women admirers are likely to find the 1929 car one over which to wax enthusiastic. Not only is its style but in its ease of handling and its provisions for the comfort of driver and passengers, the new car is a noteworthy exhibit at the Fair.

The refinements made in the driving compartment of the 1929 cars are now supplemented by additional changes, which will appeal to women as well as to men. For example, the car is now fully adaptable to the requirements of any individual. Its adjustable steering column, introduced last year, is retained, and the front seat in every closed model is now adjustable also. It may be shifted 2 1-2 inches, to accommodate a driver of any stature. This adjustment is accomplished with one hand, by means of a small hand knob located just below the front edge of the seat cushion, and can be made without disturbing either driver or passenger. The seat automatically locks in any of seven positions within its range of adjustment.

Another refinement is the electric windshield wiper with tandem blades, standard equipment on all closed models. This type of wiper not only maintains an even speed regardless of the engine speed, but cleans the entire windshield, in front of the passengers as well as the driver. It is connected with the ignition switch in such a way that shutting off the engine stops the wiper, a provision which prevents discharging the battery through accidental failure to turn off the device when the engine is stopped.

HYDRAULIC IS FAVORITE SHOCK ABSORBER NOW

If some responsible individual should say to you—

"For only $2.00 plus a small installation charge I can improve permanently the riding quality of your car to such an extent that you will be completely satisfied—your impulse would be to make him prove this statement."

We will "make good" the statement mentioned above if you will let us install a set of Delco-Remy shock absorbers on your car. Immediately after they are installed you will notice the greater safety at all speeds.

Is it any wonder that Buick, Marquette, Cadillac, Reo "Flying Cloud", LaSalle, Reo "Wolverine", Chandler, Auburn, Stutz and Elmar are now equipped with Lovejoy Hydraulic shock absorbers when they leave the factory.

25 SCHOOLGIRLS VISITING CANADA

Will Visit All Provinces To Get Idea of Canada

Toronto, Ont. (C.P.) — One of the most interesting of the many visits from Britain that Canada is experiencing this year is the visit of 25 schoolgirls, aged 16 or 17, from British schools in Canada on a tour of the countries under the auspices of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire. The girls, arriving this month, will travel to the Pacific coast and back, returning to Britain Oct. 19.

These girls who will travel with a conducteress will first visit Quebec and the Maritime Provinces "so that they will be able to get an idea of the early history of this country after which they will spend a week in two girls' camps in Ontario—Miss Edgar's near Sundridge and Miss Hamilton's in Algonquin park. From Toronto they will continue their course westward and will arrive in time for the wheat growing in the prairies, as it is cut and harvested. They will visit the Prince of Wales Ranch, Banff, Lake Louise, the fruit district in the Okanagan Valley and the oil wells and will travel through the Kettle Valley Pass after which they will visit some of the beautiful farming country in British Columbia. On arriving in Victoria, they will have a rest after their long trip and the continuous sight-seeing before undertaking the return trip via Jasper Park and Saskatchewan visiting Edmonton and Saskatoon. On arrival in Ontario, they will be taken to see the Mond Nickel mines in Sudbury, and will later go to Hamilton, Niagara Falls, and other places in Ontario.

After this, the party will be divided into three sections, each section to spend a week at Toronto, McGill or Queen's University where special lectures will be given for their benefit and an opportunity provided for meeting the Canadian students, so that the girls may be given an idea of Canadian University life. When this experience the girls will be taken to Ottawa where they will spend two days seeing the capital and enjoying the special entertainments to be given for them. The next two days will be spent in Montreal and one day in Quebec for which interesting plans for sight-seeing and entertainment have been made. The party will sail for England on 19th of October.

Miss Stewart Gill, the dominion national officer of the I.O.D.E. will be in charge of the Canadian trip.

FARMER INSTANTLY KILLED IN CRASH

Steps Are Taken To Provide Universal Peace-Fair Opens Tomorrow

BOTH CARS WERE THROWN IN DITCH

Motor Driven By Miss G. Kill, Ottawa, In High-way Crash

MINOR INJURIES

Gasoline Was Spilled On Road When Tank Was Punctured

At ten-thirty this morning a Ford Sedan, driven by Miss Gertrude I. Kill, of Ottawa, collided with a Chevrolet car and trailer owned and driven by John Exley, 197 Victoria Ave., who is employed by the Canadian National Railway in this city Exley was coming out of the lane which leads toward the Bay of Quinte, by the Fish Hatcheries, and although he had stopped his car in accordance with the law when he came to the Highway, Miss Kill failed to see him and crashed into the trailer

Both cars were hurled into the ditch, but fortunately no one was par ticularly injured, although a lady companion of Miss Kill's received a few minor bruises from flying glass. Mr Exley was uninjured, but both cars were in very bad shape, and had to be towed into Belleville for repairs. High way Traffic Officer Frink investigated the accident, and no one was held, an amicable settlement between the two parties apparently being made.

Two Cars Damaged

When Percy Lucas, or Stoney Lonesome, backed his car onto the Canifton Road from Reid St., last night about seven-thirty, he did it with such force that he crashed into a new Dodge coupe owned and driven by Wilfred Bey, jr., of Trenton, and caused harch damage both to his own Chevrolet coupe and the new car.

They was proceeding north toward Canifton when he neared the inter section of Reid and the Canifton Road, and rounded a curve coming out backwards from Reid St., at a fair rate of speed, but was unable to get out of his way. The windshield of the Bey car was smashed, as was the radiator and bumper. The left front fender and running board were also completely ruined, while Lucas came out of the smash with only a broken wheel and a ruined gasoline tank. A jagged hole was pierced in the tank and it will have to be replaced by a new one. Gasoline fell all over the road, and care had to be taken last fin destroy both cars.

ONE MEMBER HAD PREVIOUS RECORD

Jack Collier Was Given Term In Reformatory For Theft

Word was received this morning by the Provincial Police from Toronto that the three young men who were arrested by Sergeant Clarke and Provincial Constable Hammond on the Stirling Road last week had no previous record, with the exception of Jack Collier, whose record for his age is extremely bad.

Charles Falconer and James McPhee, according to the Ottawa records have never been finger-printed before, but Collier has been up on various charges since 1923, when he first was convicted of stealing cars, in Toronto. For that offence he was whipped, but no jail term imposed. In March of the next year, Collier was given from six to twenty-four months in the Ontario Reformatory for breaking, entering and theft. In November, 1926, he was convicted at Toronto on a charge of stealing cars, and was given two years in Kingston Penitentiary, from which place he has just been let out.

On Saturday in Toronto the trio appeared charged with the theft of Dr. Houston car, and were remanded for one week. The car was recovered at the same time that the Provincial Police captured the men, and had been left in a garage at Stirling for safe keeping. Falconer still has a month to serve on a charge of carrying concealed weapons without a permit, but if he is convicted on the more serious charge of stealing a car, he will not likely come back here.

RAIN SPOILED FAIR AT NAPANEE FRIDAY

Napanee, August 27.—The final day of the Lennox Fair was a great disappointment to thousands of people in town and throughout the district.

During the morning many people had arrived in town to take in the last day but towards noon a heavy rain setting in and continued throughout the after noon and part of the evening. As a result the horse races and various specialties had to be abandoned.

The final day's horse races promised to be a treat for every one as twenty-six horses were listed for this very exciting races. Very few people braved the elements to go to the grounds as outside the midway there was practically nothing doing. Miss Kitles Band remained down town in the afternoon and held towards evening for home.

CONDUCT SEARCH FOR MISSING BOY

Requested That Clothing Be Sent To Toronto Hotel

Cobourg, Aug. 27.—Pat Taylor, a 15-year-old boy of Cobourg, has been missing from his home since Friday, August 10. On that day the boy left his home declaring that he was going to Toronto with his employer, a man living his name as LeChance, who had falsely represented himself as an employe of the government, who had been sent to Cobourg to make some measurements on the Esplanade.

Police all over the province have been notified and an intensive search has been conducted, but no trace of the missing boy has been reported. Wednesday morning of last week, however, a letter, evidently genuine as far as the hand-writing was concerned, requested that clothes be sent to the Walker House, Toronto, where he could call for them.

AUTOMOBILE SINKS AND PARTY DROWN

Kingston, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Three persons are reported to have been drowned at Avord when they attempted to ford the Mombaccus creek in an automobile. Finding the main highway between Kingston and Ellenville flooded they drove into the creek which ordinarily can be forded but their car sank in several feet of water.

NATIONS AGREE TO PEACE PACT

Countries Resorting To War Denied Privileges of Treaty

NATIONAL POLICY

Effort To Achieve Permanent And World-Wide Peace

Paris, Aug. 27.—The 1928 renunciation of the war treaty which is to be signed today condemns the recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and the signatory nations renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

The treaty provides that "settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts, of whatever nature, or whatever origin they may be" shall be sought only by pacific means.

The preamble declares that any signatory power which seeks to promote its national interests by resort to war shall be denied the benefits furnished by treaty. Thus if the signatory should resort to war in violation of the pact, other contracting parties are released from their obligations under the treaty to that state.

Germans First To Sign

Paris, Aug. 27.—Significantly, Dr. Stresemann, first German Foreign Minister officially received in Paris since August of 1870, was the first to sign under the alphabetical rule applied to the names of signatory countries. The United States was considered as being called America in order to make Secretary Kellogg the second signer. Aristide Briand, Premier of Belgium was third and Foreign Minister Briand, of France, came fourth.

The signatures for Great Britain and Dominions were as follows: For His Majesty the King of Great Britain, Ireland British Dominions beyond seas, the Emperor of India, Great Britain and Northern Ireland and all parts of the British Empire which are not members of the League of Nations, Right Hon. Lord Cushendun, Acting Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs.

For the Dominion of Canada, Right Hon. William Lyon Mackenzie King, Prime Minister and Minister of State for External Affairs.

For the Dominion of New Zealand, Hon. Harry Asquaneus Reed, High Commissioner in Great Britain.

For the Irish Free State, Wm. Thomas Cosgrave, President of Executive Council of Irish Free State.

When Foreign Minister Briand finished the address of welcome and the Pact had been read, both were translated into English. This took forty three minutes and then the French Foreign Minister, after a burst of applause, read the message of Germany to sign the historic instrument.

Paris, Aug. 27.—Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg was present to sign the treaty. Premier Mackenzie King signed for Canada and Lord Cushendun for Great Britain.

Foreign Minister Bones of Czechoslovakia affixed the fifteenth and final signature at 3.55 p.m.

By the pact 15 countries renounce war "as an instrument of national policy."

With its signing all the people o the world were invited to join in a great effort to achieve permanent universal peace. Soviet Russian being asked to take part through French Government.

PALS PATCH UP THEIR TROUBLES

Toronto, Aug. 27.—George Young, and Bill Hastings who drove a dilapid ated motorcycle to the Pacific coast in 1926 when Young won the Catalina Swim and who later were estranged, are friends again. Circling the deck on the steamer Northumberland on their way to Port Dalhousie Saturday, the two crashed into each other at the corner. They glared and were about to pass on when Johnny Walker, Young's trainer yelled "aw, be yourselves". Both, lads smiled, shook hands and turned to walk the deck together.

$100 IS STOLEN FROM CREAMERY

Police Seeking Men Who Entered Belleville Creameries

Belleville has suffered another robbery, this time between Saturday night and Sunday morning. The police were informed yesterday that a thief or thieves had broken into the Belleville Creamery and had succeeded in making away with well over a hundred dollars in cash.

It was later reported that two men got on the train at Belleville and purchased two tickets for Brockville, but when the train arrived in that town the men were not on Board. One man is stated to have been about five feet seven in height and the other slightly smaller.

The police are working hard on the case, but by press time today no arrests had been made in connection with the robbery. Belleville has suffered a series of minor break-ins this summer, and the same gang may have committe the majority of them.

INDIANA VISITOR TALKS TO ROTES

Advises Formation of Sheep And Hog Clubs In District

Rotarian E. M. McNabb, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, who is summering at Oak Lake gave the local Rotary Club something to think about in his talk on "Selling one's self" Although Mr. McNabb is a United States citizen he is a firm believer in the great future ahead of Canada and he urged that Canadians could best serve their country by selling to the young Canadians the opportunities of their homeland and keep them from drifting away to other countries. His talk contained good practical ideas such as the formation of sheep clubs or hog clubs among the young people of the surrounding districts.

President Alec Robertson and Secretary O. H. Scott were absent as they are attending the district meeting of Presidents and Secretaries at Kitchener today. Rotarian Owen Herity accompanied on social invitation of the District Governor and he will deliver an address. Rotarian Tom Webber went with the party.

TRAIN DERAILED AT COLLINS BAY

Six Freight Cars Tie Up Traffic On Main Line Tracks

Six freight cars on Canadian National freight train No. 490, were derailed at Collins' Bay yesterday morning. The train was proceeding east when a wheel on one of the rear cars broke throwing the six cars off the tracks. As a result of the derailment traffic on the main line was held up for two hours and all main-line trains were delayed. The train was composed of freight cars containing manifest freight and the cars thrown off contained automobiles in shipments to Eastern points. The track was torn up for four hundred feet. Auxiliary trains from Belleville and Brockville were called to clear the debris away. Speaking with Superintendent George H. Stokes, the Intelligencer was told today that the wreck was not serious but all trains were held up for two hours. The names of the train crew were not ascertained.

CHILDS IS SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Committed By Magistrate After Short Court Hearing

Woodstock, Ont., Aug. 27.—Robert John Childs, 20, was today committed for trial on a charge of murdering Gertrude Yelland on August 30th. The girl died from chloroform fumes in a suicide pact with Childs but the latter recovered.

The preliminary hearing was held before Magistrate Paterson. Very little evidence was taken. Two doctors' clerks testified they sold Childs chloroform and Dr. S. M. McLya told of finding the girl's body in Childs's car and declared she had died from the effects of chloroform.

Magistrate Paterson expressed the opinion that the accused could not be committed on a charge of murder, stating that the charge should be one of aiding and abetting suicide but the commitment was made on the charge laid.

Heart Trouble May Have Been Cause of Accident

WIFE WAS HURT

Car Struck Tree Head-On At Dangerous Curve In Road

Alexander Mills, 55 residing at R. R. No. 1 Napanee, was instantly killed 43 Marysville last night shortly after six o'clock when the car in which he was driving left the road and struck a tree head-on at the turn opposite Wellesley's Gasoline station. His wife who was riding beside him in the front seat sustained a fracture of the right arm and scratches and bruises. She was taken to her home at Napanee where she is reported to be resting comfortably today.

Mills and his wife had been visiting a son at Oshawa and were returning home. It is stated that he was endeavouring to reach home in order to perform several chores before dark at. Though eye-witnesses state that he was not travelling fast at the time of the accident. He had purchased the car, a new Ford sedan only a few days ago and was unaccustomed to the road over which he was travelling and from all accounts when the motor headed for the ditch he lost control completely.

The radiator struck the tree with full force and Mills was hurled against the steering wheel, his chest was crushed just above the heart and he passed away within a few minutes. The resident of the car was badly damaged in the crash. Hundreds congregated at the scene and Mills' body was taken from the car to await the arrival of the Coroner. Dr. Sergeant, of Shannonville, was called but he was absent from his home and Dr. Boyce, of Belleville, was summoned. The latter ordered an inquest and a Jury was immediately empanelled by Sergeant Clarke of the Provincial Police who was present. After viewing the body the hearing was adjourned until Sept. 10th, at Marysville.

The jurymen are: John Black, Percy Hagerman, James McAlpine, Michael McAlpine, F. McGuinness, Lonsdale; Joseph White, M. J. Murphy, F. Mcguire, Eric O'Connor, Lonsdale and James McFarlane.

Mills who had resided around Napanee all his life had a wide circle of friends who were shocked to learn of his sudden death. Besides his wife he leaves several children all away from home. Interment will be made at the Napanee. It is understood that Mills was unaccustomed to driving a car, which accounts for the crash.

Last night's accident was the third within ten days at this identical spot." Dr. Samuel McAvoy, of Lonsdale, was the first physician to arrive on the scene but life was extinct on his arrival. The inquest was held at the home of James McAlpine and will be resumed there on Sept. 10th. After the remains had been identified the Undertaker at Napanee was given charge and he took the body to Napanee to prepare it for interment.

PETERBORO SOCCER TEAM LOST TO DELORO

Peterboro, Aug. 26—A good crowd of spectators turned out last evening to witness the Deloro versus Peterboro soccer benefit game at King Edward Park. It was a very good match in which the Deloro team was defeated by the score of 4 goals to 2, and they will make interesting contestants in the cup that will be played for in the near future. The committee in charge of this game wish to thank the fans for the generous response to their appeal on behalf of the injured player; also the Deloro team.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Men trust rather than' eyes that ideas cure. The effect of precept is slow and doubtful; that of example is quick and effectual.

SIMEON.

PROHIBITION THE ISSUE

Governor Alfred Smith of New York states, "Democratic candidate for the presidency of United States has announced himself plainly in favor of changing the prohibition enactment which operates in the republic under the name of the Volstead law."

If that change cannot be brought about, Mr. Smith says he is in favor of enforcing the law as it stands, and declared it to be his belief that all citizens think those who have been engaged in the business.

In a State where politics is a serious business, he asks that to mean that if Mr. Smith is elected he will proceed to "get all the Republican enforcement officers and replace them with those of his own political stripe."

Whether this will render for better enforcement or not is problematical. Would the Democratic appointees not think that the big chief is not in favor of this law, and therefore there is not much urgency in its enforcement?

So far as we can gather it is very much to be doubted whether Mr. Smith is elected, can carry out the change he proposes, which is that each state shall have the right to regulate its own liquor laws.

An amendment cannot be made to the constitution simply because a revolutionist candidate has some such a desire. It is about the contrary of changing the British North America Act, and it has been clearly demonstrated that it requires more than the opinion of some one man, even of a dictatorship group, to change that constitution.

Apart from that, though, the attitude of Governor Smith in the contest makes it quite certainly a wet and dry fight. The convention which gave nomination to Mr. Smith did not authorize him to ride on a wet platform, and of that point Sir Lee made the plank himself emphatic.

The Democratic candidate made it clear that his party had to admit the radical changes in the tariff, and on that issue there is very little for the people to choose between the two parties in United States. The Democrats, like the Liberals in Canada, are theoretically a low tariff people, but low tariff has ceased to be an issue in United States.

The logical business center to the front as one of the chief issues, if not the chief issue, in the United States election. The majority of people in United States are in favor of the law as it stands, but it will require for the success to reaffirm that position.

BELLEVILLE FAIR

Early weeks of planning the Directors and Officers of the Belleville Fair are about to see the fruits of their labor either accepted or rejected by the citizens of the Bay of Quinte district when the doors of the magnificent new grounds swing open to-morrow afternoon. The people of Belleville and vicinity who know this city has established in the lives of men who have spent their time and labor in bringing to the present state of perfection that the President, Mr. Chas. Hubbs, is representative of those who for twenty-five years have rendered service to Belleville, experience, energy, and foresight, initiative, and supervision which has made them leaders among their contemporaries. Year after year these services have been given unselfishly until now Belleville is the scene of the finest fair in the Bay of Quinte district. Year after year the Belleville Exhibition Grounds have worked more lovely until the Exhibition has now assumed a cosmopolitan aspect with the erection of the spacious new buildings the exhibits have been noticeably increased until, this year they will exceed all previous records. The decorative effect and influence is not the least important of what in other respects is the finest entertainment that could be provided. It is Belleville folks chiefly, who will turn out in hundreds to make it a success and to renew their interest in, and add to the knowledge of this County of Hastings, the products of which will be on display in the varied exhibitions. In special wicket and deepen the consciousness of the people of Quinte District to have this realization of the products of the soil, factory and fitne displayed annually for those who care to see. This year's fair will be marked by added features in the form of the Historic Pageant, depicting the early history of the District.

Mr. R. H. Ketchison has acted as Secretary for the past score of years. He has witnessed the rise of the Belleville Fair from a small country affair to one of the finest Exhibitions in Eastern Ontario. Mr. Ketchison has been instrumental in providing the patrons with the finest displays possible. His father before him acted in a similar position and the Ketchison name has been associated with the Fair since early history. Mr. H. B. Stock as Treasurer is a capable and efficient official and his ready knowledge of financial matters is valued. It now remains for the people of Belleville to lend the support that is necessary in any affair of the kind. The erection of the new buildings was undoubtedly a wise move as the old buildings were antiquated and entirely unsuitable to house the increasing number of exhibits which poured in. Belleville may be justifiably proud of the Annual Industrial Exhibition and their patronage during the next four days is solicited. Merchants and manufacturers will display the latest "Made in Belleville" goods and in the Special edition published by The Intelligencer today will be found many valuable suggestions for the prospective buyer and it is to be hoped that people will take advantage of the opportunity before them. The Fair has became an institution and something which should enlist the interest of all. Old of the leading Cabinet Ministers will officially open the Fair to-morrow afternoon and the next four days will see the finest exhibition in Belleville's history.

—Say so too, Bob.—

AVERAGES ANNOUNCED

The batting and fielding averages of Central League players which appear on the sport page of today's page will no doubt create a great deal of interest among sport fans. George Ada, shagging outfielder with the Kingston team is the leader in batting this year. Belleville team made a remarkable showing in all departments of the game. A portion of the averages were published on Friday.

HONORED BY CHOIR

Mr. Lorne Young, foreman of the Intelligencer job-printing department, who is leaving shortly to accept a similar position with a large job printing concern at St. Thomas, was honored by the choir of St. Michael's Church following Mass yesterday morning. Mr. was presented with a suitably-engraved cigarette-lighter by Mrs. Trudale on behalf of the choir members. Mr. Young was taken by surprise at the presentation but made a short reply thanking the choir for their kind wishes. Mr. Young took a deep interest in the affairs of the choir and will be missed.

THE TEMPERATURES

TRAFFIC COURT

It's a bad policy to drive past the red light stop signal at the corner of Bridge and Front Streets these days as the local police are checking up on violators.

At 3 p.m. on August 25th, E. A. Tenney of R. R. No. 1, Belleville, violated By-law 2787, it is alleged, which expressly provides against passing the traffic signal.

Mr. James Walden, College Street, will be summoned for committing the same offense.

John Coe, of Madoc, it is alleged, at 3.10 p.m. on August 25th, ran his automobile past the red light and will in consequence be summoned to appear in court.

C. J. McPherson of the same village was another driver who failed to see the red light at 3.40 on August 25th, and will come up before Magistrate Mikel in the near future.

Frank Tucker, R.R. No. 2, Belleville, it is alleged, failed to stop for the red light here, and will face the music in police court shortly.

Mrs. Bowler, Bridge Street, is another unlucky one to transgress against the light.

L. Drummond, R.R. No. 3, Belleville, will either plead guilty or not guilty to a charge of running against the red light before the Cadi shortly.

C. F. Wessel, Trenton, at 2.30 p.m. on August 25th, failed to stop the traffic red light signal at Belleville's main corners, it is stated.

Alex J. Charlton, Chatham Street, faces the same charge.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

MRS. JAMES McLAREN

The funeral of the late Mrs. James McLaren took place this afternoon from the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frederick Hall, Melrose, to the Melrose cemetery. The service was conducted by the Rev. E. Farnsworth, of Belleville.

JANE ANN SARGENT

The funeral of the late Mrs. Jane Ann Sargent took place from the late residence, 130 Moira Street West, on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. P. A. Smith of Plainfield officiated at both services and many former friends of the deceased gathered to pay their respects to her memory. The bearers C. Rable, A. Garrison, E. Collins, J. Hinds, R. Hall and W. Parks. Interment was made in Victoria cemetery.

MRS. W. S. MacTAVISH

The funeral of the late Mrs. W. S. MacTavish took place from the family residence, 130 Moira Street West, on Saturday afternoon. Although announced as a private funeral, a goodly number of friends and relatives assembled. All the children, with the exception of The Winnipeg Tribune, were present, but he expects to spend several days in Belleville in the near future. A very touching address was delivered by the Rev. R. G. Stewart of St. Andrew's Church who spoke highly of her many attainments, her delicate tact, her unselfishness and her sterling character. The pall bearers were James Whytock, D. MacKinnon and George West, representing St. Andrew's Church. Madoc, and W. J. Campbell, C. A. Cameron and I. L. Moore, elders of St. Andrew's Church.

EDYTHE McGEE

Picton, Aug. 26—The death occurred at Kingston Hospital of Edythe McGee, wife of Pilgion James Clapp, a well-known ex-shoe merchant of Picton, in her 61st year. Deceased had been a patient sufferer for several months and though everything that medical skill could do was done to save her life she passed peacefully on.

Mrs. Clapp is survived by her husband, Mrs. Milton Carter, Mrs. Austin Whitton, Belleville; Mrs. Milton Carter, Detroit; two sons, Percy, living in Rochester, and Gordon, Belleville.

A private funeral was held on Saturday afternoon, service at her home, conducted by Rev. Cecil Winter, interment being made in Glenwood cemetery.

WILLIAM TRACEY

After an illness of three years' duration, the death occurred this morning at the home, North Front St., of Mr. William Tracey. The late Mr. Tracey was born in Tyendinaga Township in 1853 and for the past ten years had lived a retired life in this city coming here from Thurlow. He was a member of St. Michael's Church. He is survived by his widow, six daughters, Mrs. R. D. Dangler, Detroit, Mrs. R. D. Aston, Winnipeg, Anna, Mabel, Clara and Helen at home and five sons Roy and Frank of Reslin, John and Tom of Youngstown, Ohio, and Edward, Niagara Falls. One sister, Mrs. C. Davis, of Detroit, also survives.

MRS. MINNIE M. SIMMONS

Sorrow was expressed throughout the city this morning when it became known that Mrs. Minnie M. Simmons wife of George H. Simmons, had passed away in the Belleville General Hospital last night. Deceased had been ill for some time and was apparently on the road to recovery when she took a relapse and died shortly afterwards.

The late Mrs. Simmons was born in Prince Edward County and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John S. Carnrite. She was a faithful attendant of Bridge St. United Church and was prominent in church work, being a member of the W.M.S. and the Ladies' Aid. She is survived by

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

The human mind has always been considered important but, only of late years has its importance as a supreme, ally mastered, again been recognized. So strong is the entire 20 powerful is its influence, that it can even create in the body symptoms that may correspond in their number and variety to every known "form fide" disease. From blindness and paralysis may be caused by thoughts—thoughts that originally were suppressed and sent out of, tone with the rest of the mind, play such frightful havoc.

In the shape way thoughts can cloud cancerpath your self-reliance. Thoughts can't make fearful inroad upon your energy. Thoughts can make you afraid.

We all know that regular hours, good food, suitable exercise in the open air, happiness, your failures, your mistakes and a steady, planned life keep bodyes in life.

All of us fall into the habit of running away from unpleasant thoughts—of forgetting them.

They are not absolutely forgotten, however, in the sense that they disappear completely from the mind.

All that happens when we forget is that these unpleasant thoughts are pushed down into deeper layers of the mind, into the memory storehouse we call the unconscious.

But such suppression has never yet wiped them out nor deprived them of a possible pernicious influence.

To cajole oneself is really what may cause trouble.

Outlawed thoughts, ideas and emotions may influence the unconscious in such a way as to cause mental and bodily illness, dissatisfaction, inefficiency, and a host of other symptoms.

Psychologists, psychiatrists and people nowadays always to face facts squarely, honestly and unflinchingly.

Fight in the middle. Never run away. Make your conscious mind master. Don't suppress too much. Try to develop a healthy wa. Then your Then your unconscious mind will exercise the mastery it deserves.

'Wilful Wives' By Mildred Barbour

honestly. But I guess I was born to be a failure. Thank you for being as considerate as you were.

"Margarite—"

There was a sponge. "I send the servants away and paid them two weeks wages, in lieu of notice. I believe I've attended to everything about the apartment. Don't forget to close the windows when you go out."

"Well for the ....." His explosion was violent. Then he dropped in one of the pretty silver chairs near to his hand.

Chairs and shared stupidity at the let.

He couldn't believe that it wasn't a jest, though Marguerite never joked He wouldn't believe that Marguerite the simple, patient, quiet child, would have the courage to carry through an thing so preposterous.

But there was the silent apartment as proof. There was her empty dressing table. He went to the wardrobe and flung it open. It too was empty.

She had left him. There was no doubt about it. Left him cold and flat with only those few careless words of farewell. And left him.....for Brock. Oh! He reddened with anger at the thought. He was not jealous of Steve, but what would the world, his world, say? That Hal Reynold's wife had run off with Steve Brockton. Of course, that was really what she had done. Sister Laura was all a blind. A sop thrown to the conventions.

And, worst of all, he, Hal, couldn't do a thing about it. His hands were tired by that interest agreement between his father and Marguerite's. He'd have to grin and bear it, swallow his pride and, look as though he enjoyed it.

He found himself staring seriously around the apartment, as though he'd never seen it before. He didn't seem to be able to focus his thoughts, to discover what to do next. He only knew that he was simply tired and hungry.....and that he'd just received the biggest wallop in his life that had come his way in all his arrogant, spoiled young life.

It was at that unpropitious moment that Irma Brockton chose to ring up her apartment. She was singing and doing a few dance-steps while she held the telephone-receiver to her ear.

CHAPTER 20

Summer Widow—Summer Widower

Hal answered the telephone mechanically. It was only as he took down the receiver that it occurred to him that it might be Marguerite calling from somewhere by toll line that she hadn't gone away after all. At the last moment she might have gone away to a hotel, fearful of returning home to face him.

He was vaguely surprised at the eagerness in his own voice as he said "Hello."

Irma's blithe tones answered him: "Hello, summer widower, how goes it?"

He burst out wrathfully: "Irma, what is this all about? Is Marguerite up again with you."

"Marguerite, dear infant, is far out on the ocean at this instant."

Her shallow laughing Hal's already jaded nerves. "It's a joke," he said. You've cooked it up between you. I won't believe it."

"If it's a joke, it's a darned good one and pleases me to pieces," was her gay retort. "Before the summer widow preparing for her fling! Let's start off with a good roof-garden tonight, Hal."

He experienced a sudden wholly unprecedented distaste for Irma. Lydia was as bad as Lydia.

"I'm in no mood for roof-gardens tonight," he told her sharply. "See here, Irma, this thing is serious. You've got a clear mind, if you think it over funny, and, if you actually aided and abetted it.....

"But I did old dear," she assured him. "What's wrong about it, for Heaven's sake?

"My wife and your husband,....." he began angrily.

"And Sister Laura," she broke in mockingly. "Don't forget Sister Laura, the faithful duenna."

"How many people will believe that "

"Need we care? People can always find something to gossip about. They'll probably be saying awful things about you and me."

"They won't have the chance," he promised himself grimly.....but silently. Aloud he asked: "Then you absolutely straight stuff? Marguerite and Steve have embarked on this mad journey?"

"The old bean seems a trifle cull tonight, Hal,...Of course, dead-straight stuff. And, of course, they've gone. Didn't I stand on the pier like a bad human wife, waving my handkerchief until I've a stiff arm?.....Marguerite said she left you a letter. She didn't want to disturb your office during business hours. And anyway she wasn't sure that you'd get back from Long Island by noon. How was the house-party? Did Lydia vamp you?"

He ignored that. "I have Marguerite's letter," he answered bitterly. "And as a matter of fact farewell it is. You'd think she'd just gone off for a day's shopping tour."

"But isn't that like her?

Always!" with long and slender lines.

quiet. No domestic scenes. You were luckier than you knew, Hal."

He had a feeling, as his eyes sweep the stuny silent apartment, that he might come to realize that yet.

"Have you dined?" Irma said. He admitted unwarily that he hadn't.

"How can a chap dine when all the servants have been sent away?"

"Well, Marguerite thought it was best that they shouldn't be around to see and hear things. You know how servants gossip. I sent mine off for the same reason. It was Marguerite who put the idea into my head. She's a bonehead thoughtful little person.....

But listen, Hal, if you won't go to a roof for dinner, you might come upstairs and have my delicatessen repast. Or I can telephone down-stairs and have something hot sent up. I feel like lounging, and I've got some peachy new dance-records, too."

Hal was angry to be tactful. "Don't be an idiot, Irma. After what has happened today, you surely know that I couldn't dine alone with you in your apartment especially if all your servants are gone."

"What a conventional old darling it is." Irma's laugh came over the wire. "Perhaps you're right."

Hal experienced a sense of relief. He'd bathe and change and go to the club for dinner, he decided. A rubber of bridge with a few congenial companions would put him in good humor again.....maybe. He didn't want to see a woman all that evening.

But Irma's cool accents interrupted his pleasant reflections. "If you won't come here to dine, and you won't go to a roof, at least you can take me somewhere later to dance. I absolutely refuse to spend my first evening of freedom sitting at home like a deserted wife, and I just happen not to have another invitation."

"Under the circumstances! As if we haven't been going about together all winter. You sound like an old maid or Mrs. Grundy.....I'll be ready at 9 o'clock and I'll meet you downstairs."

She rang off before Hal could think of another cogue. By the time he was dressed and ready to go to the club to dine, he heartily wished that Irma were on the sea that night.....

At it.

An excellent dinner at the club refreshed him slightly and he eyed the bridge-tables with a wistful expression. It was too blamed not to dance. Why were all women such fools about it?

Something reminded him that there was one woman who wasn't.....Marguerite. But he hardened his heart against the thought of her. Little trailor!

Irma was waiting impatiently for him in the foyer of the apartment-house when he arrived rather tardily. But she looked so fresh and gay and pretty that he couldn't be angry with her.

They set out upon their mrr evening together as deserted wife and deserted husband, summer widow and summer widower.

Advice to Girls By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We would like you to please answer these questions for us.

1. When meeting on the street who should speak first, the girl of boy?

2. When getting into the back seat of a car should the girl sit at the right or move over to the left?

MIKE AND IKE.

MIKE AND IKE: It is the lady's privilege to speak to the man first.

2. The young lady should get into the car first, and, naturally, would move to the far side of the car that the gentleman would have to pass in front of her in order to sit down.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens and need help. I have a boy friend four years my senior and I love him dearly, and he also seems to care a lot for me, but my parents object to my seeing him, as he is so much older than myself. Please advise me if I should keep seeing him against my parents' will.

A HEART-BROKEN BLONDE.

A HEART-BROKEN BLONDE: Are you sure this is the only reason for your parents' objection to the boy, Blonde? Four years isn't too great a diference in age, and I am sure there must be something else that causes your parents to take this stand. And, of course, you must do as they say, and not see him.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am in love with a boy a few months my senior. He seemed to like me for awhile, but lately he has been acting very queer and he never speaks to me. I'd like to know why he's that way, but if I wrote a note he would tear it up and if I called up on the phone he'd hang up. I love him dearly and I know I can't give him up. Can you please advise me what to do?

BROKEN-HEARTED.

BROKEN-HEARTED: Where have you hidden your pride, Brokenhearted? For goodness sake, nd it right away, and keep it in front of you every minute. Because, when a young man acts as this one does, your pride should keep you from doing anything foolish .If he feels that he doesn't care to continue the friendship let him go. Show him by your actions that it is a trivial thing in your young life, and cultivate the friends whom you may have neglected. Don't call him or write to him. Just ignore him, and I'm sure that this will bring about a reconciliation.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

When you burn the cake just cut off the burnt portion, or if it is only lightly scorched grate it off. Then cover the cake with frosting and the cake will probably be pronounced perfectly delicious.

When one lives in a boarding house one cannot permit the alarm clock to get too noisy early in the morning. Yet we must get to work on time. Procure a heavy rubber band and snap it around the sides of the clock and the bell. It will muffle the bell enough to prevent it becoming a nuisance and yet permit enough noise to awaken the sleeper.

ABIDE WITH ME BY CLARA BUTT

Tells of How Famous Hymn Was First Created

London. (C.P.—Dame Clara Butt's association with "Abide with Me" is described as celebrated as was Patti's association with "Home Sweet Home." How the former identification came about is set forth in Winnifred Ponder's life-story of the famous contralto published here by Harrap.

The composer, Samuel Liddle, was a fellow student at the Royal College of Music with Clara Butt. She had sight of him for some years, and then happened to hear he was evening a precarious living as a hack pianist. He agerly accepted an offer to play regularly for her when she was preparing for engagements. "You know, Miss Butt," he once declared to her, "Your voice gets right into my fingers." He went home her voice ringing in his ears. Next morning he started to write, and at three o'clock "Abide with Me", as all the world knows it, was on paper.

The song of course has paid the penalty of its popularity. As the enthusiasts of this book loudly remark there is cause for gratitude to evidence that one who not called upon to live next door to the lady who wrote to Clara Butt: "I have never missed a night's sleep since I first heard you sing it."

Probably Sullivan's "Lost Chord" is the song next most closely associated with Dame Clara Butt. It was Mrs. Ronalds writes for her but to Mrs. Ronalds, a famous patron of music of a bygone social age. Irma Queen Alexandra's favourite song. There is a tradition that the manuscript of the song was buried with Mrs. Ronalds. This is however, for though the script was lvequeathed by the composer to Mrs.

"Land of Hope and Glory", the refrain of which is taken from Elgar's march, "Hope and Circumstances", was written actually at Clara Butt's suggestion, one was talking to the composer just after a performance of the march at the Queen's Hall, and remarked: "What a tune! Why don't you write a song for me and use that as a refrain?" "Land of Hope and Glory," of which Dr. A. C. Benson wrote the words, was the result.

A whole chapter might be written around the duet "The Keys of Heaven." If the letters that have been written to Dame Clara Butt and her husband, Mr. Kennerley Rumford, are to be believed, the song has been responsible for hundreds of engagements and love matches, and for the healing of many lovers' quarrel. In one letter, nevertheless, objection was taken in all seriousness to Clara Butt's acceptance of the "keys" of her lover's heart after her unqualified rejection al "the keys of Heaven." The writer regarded the preference as a grave affront to Paradis.

UNITED CHURCH COUNCIL MEETS

Will Come Together At Winnipeg In September For Two Weeks

Winnipeg.—From September fifth to fifteenth this city will be the scene of the deliberations of the third general council of the United Church of Canada. Over 800 commissioners, representing every presbytery in Canada as well as Newfoundland will be in attendance, prepared to deal with many weighty matters of policy which have been in abeyance since the council met two years ago in Montreal.

To prepare for the reception, accomodation and entertainment of the commissioners, committees have been busy in Winnipeg for weeks. The visitors will be met at the stations by United Church laymen and conveyed in automobiles to Young Church; where the sessions will be held. At the church they will be advised as to the billeting arrangements, and introduced to their respective host. Approximately 150, however will be accommodated in Wesley and Manitoba colleges.

With morning, afternoon and evening sessions provided for it will be a busy period for the commissioners, and consequently the entertainment features will not be extensive. On Saturday afternoon, Sept. 8, they will be guests at a garden party to be given by Hon. T. A. Burrow, Lieutenant-Governor of Manitoba, and the following Tuesday the commissioners will be entertained at a luncheon. Other forms of luncheons will also be held during the course of the council.

Illustrating the work of the United Church in Manitoba, a special booklet is being prepared, a copy of which will be placed in the hands of every commissioner. Manitoba is one of the strongholds of the United Church, in Canada. The union movement made sweeping strides in this territory, as it did all over the prairies, and long before the union was actually consummated, in 1925, denominational church-es were virtually eliminated over wide areas.

In this city itself the United Church is perhaps relatively stronger than in any other city in Canada, local church-men declare. Only one Presbyterian church remained out of union, with the result that today in Greater Winnipeg there are no less than 48 United Church congregations.

Young church, where the council sessions will be held, is a commodious structure at the intersection of Broadway and Furby streets. Prior to union it was probably the strongest Methodist church in Western Canada, and boasted of the largest membership of its denomination in the Dominion. Its congregation had its beginnings some 36 years ago, its first pastor having been Rev. Dr. J. H. Riddell, principal of Wesley College. Among its ministers have been Rev. Dr. W. A. Cooke, Rev. Dr. G. K. B. Adams, the late Rev. Dr. Richard Whiting, Rev. Basil Thompson, Rev. Dr. J. W. Aikins. The present minister is Rev. Dr. R. H. Bell.

Whether a westerner will be chosen as the new moderator of the general council is a moot question. Rev. Dr. James Endicott, the present incumbent, while residing in Toronto is actually a member of the Manitoba Conference and receives his credentials from that body. Rev. Dr. E. H. Oliver, principal of St. Andrews' College, Saskatoon, and Rev. Dr. David Christie, minister of Westminster Church, Winnipeg, have both been nominated and prominently mentioned for the post. A few eastern names have also been mentioned, including that of Rev. Dr. J. W. Pedley, a native of the former Congregational church.

On Sunday, Sept. 9, arrangements are being made for the commissioners to fill the pulpits of not only the United churches but those of the other denominations in Winnipeg.

SYNOD BOARDS OF CHURCH MEET

Will Come Together At Hamilton In Near Future

Hamilton, Ont.—(By The Canadian Press).—The annual meetings in connection with the work of the three General Synod Boards of the Church of England in Canada, as well as meetings of various committees and councils of the General Synod will be held in the parish house of Christ Church, Hamilton, from September 11 to September 22. The Primate Archbishop Matheson of Rupert's Land, will preside and about twenty-five bishops from the various dioceses all over the country are expected to be present.

According to announcement made by General Secretaries of the various boards, meeting will be held in Hamilton on the following dates: The House of Bishops, Saturday, September 15; the executive of the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada, and the Anglican National Commission on Monday, September 17; on Tuesday, September 18, the Anglican National Commission will meet again and the Board of Management M.S.C.C. will convene and General Board of Religious Education will meet and the Council of Social Service. On Friday, September 21, the Executive Council of the General Synod will convene and on Saturday, September 22, the House of Bishops will meet in conference. Special committees of the various boards are to be appointed by representative boards. As all dioceses are entitled to send four representatives from each board, it is expected that the gathering will be a large and important one. Those desiring hospitality are requested to make application to Rev. John Sammuel, Hamilton, not later than September 1.

REGENT THEATRE

Madge Bellamy again scores as the unrivaled queen of comedy in the stirring "Rich Living," which opened today at the Regent Theatre. Miss Bellamy, besides looking more than beautiful throughout the production, guarantees a laugh a minute in her fun.

BELLE THEATRE

Jesse Lou Hershberg is the director of "The Drag Net," Paramount's latest production starring George Bancroft. He directed "Underworld" which brought fame to both. He also directed "The Last Command" with Emil Jannings.

Francis MacDonald, who was one of the self-condemned aviators in Para mount's "Legion of the Condemned" now at the Belle theatre, appears in "The Dragnet" in which George Bancroft is starred. The new Bancroft vehicle is said to far surpass Bancroft's previous hits, "Underworld" and "The Showdown." Watch for the play dates.

George Bancroft and Fred Kohler, who have thrilled thousands with their fights in "Underworld" and "The Showdown," have another fistic argument in "The Drag Net," a story of gangland penned by Paramount. Their little argument in this new picture puts the others to shame.

William Powell is "villaining" again. This time he is Dapper Frank Vetch, head of a band of hi-jackers and gangsters who receives the full attention of George Bancroft in "The Drag Net" coming here soon. For a man who is constantly getting himself disliked the screen, Powell has more fans than any other villain of the celluloid.

Evelyn Brent is the only feminine member of a band of gangsters in "The Drag Net," Paramount's latest production starring George Bancroft. Miss Brent is well acquainted with the life of a gangsters, having played in "Underworld." Today at the Belle.

BOERS COMMENCE THE GREAT TREK

Capetown, South Africa (CP) — South Africa was claimed for white civilization 180 years ago by the first two "voortrekkers" who journeyed with their covered wagons and their cattle into the unknown territory of the north.

The "Great Trek," as it is called, is being treated today as a great stirring episode in beginning which will find a place in the South African History Books of the future.

On the banks of the Kuenene River, marking the border between the Protectorate of South-West Africa and Portugese Angola, 3,000 boer men, women and children are preparing to return to the land of their forefathers.

The story of their trek across the Kalahari Desert to Angola, nearly 50 years ago, is one of the most tragic of the bravest pages of South Africa's adventurous past. Their return after years of oppression at the hands of the Portuguese is a dramatic sequel.

The spirit of the emigrants, the "trek gees" as it is termed in Afrikaans, is imbued in every Dutch-speaking South African. When the Transvaal had been conquered and a Boer Republic formed some of the restless settlers decided to move on.

They had heard from hunters and traders of a fertile country across the pass, far away in Angola, where there was said to be fine farming country like the healthy Transvaal highlands. They aimed to settle thereafter further up the Kalahari Desert and passing into Nyasaland.

So they set out....126 wagons, 2,000 head of cattle, 500 white men, women and children. Their suffering during the journey across the desert read like a nightmare. Hunger, thirst fever battles with wild Bushmen—the trail of the trekkers is marked today by heaps of whitening bones. When a water-hole was reached the cattle mad with thirst, stampeded. Women and children who left the wagons to look for water were never seen again.

But the courage of the Afrikander people never failed these trekkers. Out of the desert came a few score of the fittest. Led by Commandant Koos Botha. A party of them marched up to the Portugese fort at Huilla, while their wives waited in the laager surrounded by the tented wagons. The gate was thrown open and the Governor came and shook hands with the Boer leader. The Boers fired a round of blank cartridges, and with that little ceremony began an alliance between the two races in the hinterland of Angola.

As the country developed the Portuguese did not obtain the benefits that the Boers who had done so much for the territory. The Boers found that they could not obtain title to their farms. Settlers were flowing in from Portugal, and the authorities desired to keep the country for themselves. So the land which the Boers had won and cultivated.

It became plain to the Boers that they were not wanted in the land they had conquered, and deputies or delegates were sent back to the Union to see General Hertzog, the Prime Minister. They asked for land in the former German territory of South-West Africa. Permission to emigrate to help them start life fareah. The trekking spirit revived. They moved away from the Portuguese to camp on the Kuenene, awaiting permission to cross over into South-West Africa.

When the matter was discussed in the Union Parliament, General Smuts urged the Government not to bring pressure to bear on the Portugese and to secure fair treatment for the Boers. Some of the Dutch newspapers went further, and suggested that an armed force from South Africa would be the best argument. There was universal sympathy with the heroic trekkers and their descendants.

But the Portugese were unmoved. It became clear that the Boers would have to return to South African territory.

BELLEVILLE NATIONAL TEAM HAD DISTINCT EDGE IN CLUB FIELDING

Weir, Blakely, W. Mills And Hagerman Were Leaders

Belleville's good work in the field gave them the edge during the season, though Oshawa were close behind them. The Nationals fielded at a mean for .958, six points on top of Oshawa. Kingston dropped down to fourth place in fielding, four points better than Peterboro.

Of the leaguers the best work was done by Cherry, who handled 48 chances in centre field without an error. Among the regulars the leaders were: 1st base, Ash, Peterboro; 2nd base, Weir, Belleville; 3rd base, Johnston, Peterboro; shortstop, Blakely, Belleville; outfield, Cherry, Kingston; Hagerman, Belleville; Williams, Oshawa; catcher, W. Mills, Belleville; pitcher, Matthews, Oshawa.

The fielding averages are:

SPORTOGRAMS

The sudden and untimely death of Herbie Walls erstwhile Peterboro ball player and latterly a member of the Oshawa Motors team has wrought sorrow in the ranks of Central Ontario baseball fans, and messages of sympathy have this city to the bereaved wife. Herbie Walls was every inch a sportsman, second to none, and his sudden death is keenly regretted. He was the leading, if not the best outfielder in the League and his batting ability was one of the chief features of his playing. A rare judge of fly balls, he was sought by every team in Ontario. A quiet unassuming chap, he endeared many friends during his baseball career and even when victory crowning the other Wednesday were not slow to recognize Wolfe's sterling play.

His heart and soul was in the game and when the last man was cast he bore no malice toward the opposition and ran across the first, to our congratulations. His absence from the Belleville-Oshawa game last Wednesday was noted by Belleville fans but they little knew that he was lying on his death-bed and it was the loyalty for his team that in reality brought about his death.

Belleville will play the return game in Oshawa on Saturday and it is on the cards for the Nationals to take two straight from the Motors. Their top-sides victory last Wednesday leaves little room for doubt that they are the best team of the two and while, "Doc" Dainty will put up the worst kind of a battle before succumbing it is very doubtful if he is capable of pitching the Nationals into submission. Dainty is not the hurler he one was, not by a barrel-full, and "Hoot" Gibson, who will probably after a long rest, be found back at the Oshawa team should come through with flying colors.

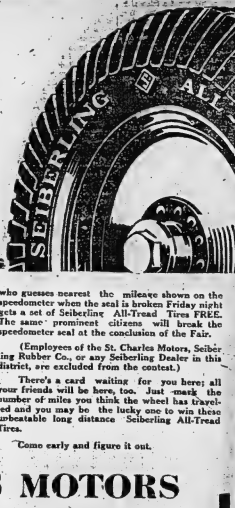

The finals of the Bay of Quinte girls league will be played this week and the Ontarios have been installed favorites to take the series. The Ontarios were beaten in the majority of games by the Beavers but is not considered that Bloomfields are strong enough to defeat Walter Gerow's smart team. Hilda Adams has hills advantage over Mollie Gray as a pitcher and the latter is considered the most improved player in the city this year. The Ontarios are individually a better team. At first base there is little to choose on between Pearl Tuttle and "Peg" Holway although the latter has more experience at the game. Audrey Kelleher plays a nice game at second base but when "Smiley" Melchoir is in good form she is hard to beat. Olive Adams at short-stop is always dependable and is a good hitter and should overshadow Enie Thrasher at that position. Greer at the right corner and Marry Adams will outplay Lena O'Neill. There is little to choose between the outfielders with Twila Warham of the Beavers having it over anything the Ontarios can produce, although Audrey Wilkins always turns in a good game. In the catching department Aneva Wilkins is considered better than Gladys Knott.

Both teams have their supporters and it will be a great series.

The action of the Beavers and Ontarios management in playing the Exhibition games here for the gate proceeds is to be commended. The Management of the Napanee team is behind considerably as the support for the Leals was meagre at times. Accordingly both of the local Clubs will entertain the Leals and the visitors will be given the entire gate proceeds aside from the expenses.

The return game of the Central league play-off here a week tomorrow is eagerly awaited by every ball fan. It is hard to understand how Belleville could walk away with the till in that manner after Oshawa had shown such promise in the last few games. Dainty doesn't usually lose control especially at critical times but he forced in two runs by charities in the seventh session. He was smart enough to save for relief and give another hurler a chance to save the game. Hank Morrison wasn't the right party but they didn't find that out until Gibson and Rose rose to the occasion for triples.—Oshawa Times.

Win a set of SEIBERLING ALL TREADS FREE At The Belleville Fair

Here's the biggest FREE offer Belleville has ever seen, and YOU may be the winner.

We are giving absolutely free a complete set of these Famous Seiberling All-Tread Tires, any size, to fit any passenger car, to the winner of this contest.

NOW THE CONTEST!

Tuesday morning at the opening of the Fair, the following prominent citizens will seal the speedometer: Mr. T. P. J. Power, Owner New Queens Hotel; Mr. Chas. Hanna, Ex-M.P., of Walker Hardware Co., and President of the Fair; Alderman W. A. Woodley, Acting Mayor; Mr. G. A. C. Weir, Manager of Bank of Montreal.

The speedometer that these men will seal is on an automobile wheel in our booth at the Fair; the speedometer starts at zero and the person who guesses nearest the mileage shown on the speedometer when the seal is broken Friday night gets a set of Seiberling All-Tread Tires FREE. The same prominent citizens will break the speedometer seal at the conclusion of the Fair.

(Employees of the St. Charles Motors, Seiberling Rubber Co., or any Seiberling Dealer in this district, are excluded from the contest.)

There's a card waiting for you here; all your friends will be here, too. Just mark the number of miles you think the wheel has travelled and you may be the lucky one to win these unbeatable long distance Seiberling All-Tread Tires.

Come early and figure it out.

GIANT AIRSHIP NEARLY FINISHED

Largest Ship Yet Made Will Be Ready This Fall

London, Eng., (CP)—It is announced that the giant airship R100, scheduled for service between Britain and the United States, would not be able to make the first trip this year as had been hoped, though an initial trip is possible before the winter is over. This is being built by a private company at Howden and is nearing the final stages.

No delay marks the progress of the sister airship, R101, however, being constructed at the government works at Cardington. The R101 has been more or less surrounded in secrecy, being a state ship, but is largely similar to the R100 and is designed for an Hag hard-India Service.

In a description of the R101, which along with the R100 is an entirely new conception of air conveyance, probably most general interest will attach to the passenger quarters, which are carried on duralumin girders and provide a lounge 23 ft. by 64 ft., accommodation for 50 people to dine at once, with a service from electric kitchens, two-berth cabins, and promenade decks along the side of the ship enabling views of the world outside to be gained through the transparent sides of the ship at this point. Forced ventilation is provided and the passenger quarters can be heated if necessary, while there is a proper smoking room —a luxury hitherto impossible in airships. Access to the middle section is obtained by a long gangway entered by a door in the nose of the ship.

A number of ingenious ideas are incorporated in R101. Probably the greatest advance other than that, of constructional methods, is ensuring strength under the worst operating conditions.

R101 has been designed to withstand the most rapid vertical current known, and this is estimated to amount to an upward gust at the rate of 4,000 ft. a minute, or more than double that which caused the wreck of the Shenandoah.

The very considerable advance made in the method of transferring the lift of the gas bags, to the actual hull can now be seen at Cardington, and a system, which may be likened to two parachutes placed in a vertical plane back to back, has been devised, which virtually eliminates the dangerous stresses likely to be set up under the old system if one bag became deflated. Another feature making for increased safety is the use of the Beadmore solid fuel injection engines, which run on crude oil instead of petrol.

Hollow steel airscrews will be used, the pitch mechanism is being incorporated for manoeuvring purposes. A small auxiliary engines must also be installed for various purposes, just as auxiliary power units are required in a ship, and these must be run with control, but special precautions have been taken to isolate the more volatile fuel from the ship power.

The full size of the ship will not be realized until she is complete, but a useful comparison can be made with a modern battleship. R101 will be practically as long. Actually she is 734 ft. long and 131 ft. in diameter at the point of biggest girth and, with the control car, is 140 feet high. The control car projects underneath the ship by the passenger quarters, and consists of a lower and upper deck, the former in the case of an airship being the bridge, as the main view required is downward.

The first flights of R101, after her trials are complete, will be to the East, and the ship, in fact, has been designed to fly without a stop 2,500 miles to Basra at Egypt and Karachi. Commander Burney, on the other hand, wishes to develop the Atlantic route, as offering the best prospect of a commercial return, and, as three hours flying a longer distance without stopping, he is already planning the value of 1,500,000 to 2,000,000 cubic feet capacity so that the journey can be made with an adequate reserve. Indeed yet at the same time permit a commercial load to be carried.

ROUMANIA WILL COPY CANADA'S EXAMPLE

Winnipeg, Man. (C.P.)—Western Canada's system for the handling of grain is to be instituted in Roumania in order to enable that country to ship its export grain business.

A government delegation consisting of eight members of the Roumania ministry, has just completed a tour of Western Canada during which they gave attention to every phase of grain production, handling and marketing. At the head of the delegation is P. Demetriad, general director of docks and harbors and secretary of the Roumanian ministry of communications.

The delegation visited many farms on the prairies, studying the Canadian methods of cultivation, grain-garnering, transportation to interior and terminal elevators; visited experimental farms and conferred with officials of the Canadian Wheat Pool.

COMPARE GRAVES OF FOUR NATIONS

Recent Pilgrimage From Britain To Vimy Brings About Companion

London. (C.P.)—The recent mammoth pilgrimage from Great Britain to the battlefields around Vimy and Beaucourt, in which 11,000 persons participated, has led a correspondent of the Manchester Guardian to a comparison of the cemeteries of the four nations most concerned in the fighting in Northern France.

The German cemeteries, says this correspondent, are certainly tidy, but there are no flowers, no grass. With frugal memories the general effect is of an uncared-for plot of ground.

In every French cemetery visited all the new work had been badly disabled during the war. The wooden memorials on the graves, each with the inscription "Mort pour la France," are suffering,too, from the weather. The Belgians have taken their time with their comparatively few cemeteries, which are now exceptionally beautiful. The headstones are made of the ordinary blue Belgian stone and are arranged in semi-circles. The United States cemeteries seem to suffer from a superabundance of somewhat pretentious memorials.

The British cemeteries, as is well known, are dignified and serene. It was a happy thought of the Imperial War Graves Commission to ask Sir Reginald Blomfield to design the Sword of Sacrifice and Sir Edwin Lutyens the Stone of Remembrance. As this single stone is estimated to weigh at least 10 tons the British will, be commemorated in Franco-Belgian soil that are probably as enduring as the Pyramids.

LIGHT AEROPLANE IS BECOMING THE VOGUE

Winnipeg, Man. (C.P.)—What is believed to constitute a record for light aeroplane clubs has been established by the Winnipeg Flying Club, where members have made more than 4,000 flights since the club opened on June 26, of this year.

The club has two Deflavland Moth planes and during the period the club has been in operation at Stevenson Field inclement weather has only interfered with flying on about six days. Thirty students have passed their tests, of which more than half have qualified as full-fledged pilots.

Club officials have received word from Ottawa that Stevenson Field has been authorized as a customs air harbor for Manitoba.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, AUGUST 27, 1928

BELLEVILLE FAIR EDITION

ON Tuesday the gates of Belleville's Beautiful Exhibition Park will swing open and the city's fourth Annual Industrial Fair will be underway.

The untiring efforts of the Fair Board, in cooperation with a vast number of exhibitors from city and country, have resulted this year in one of the greatest displays ever witnessed locally. The year's progress in store, factory and on the land will be graphically depicted by even larger and more varied displays than those which have made Belleville's Industrial Fair so successful in the past three years.

The stage is set—and all that remains to make the Big Fair Bigger and Better than ever, is the attendance in force of the residents of the city and district; the Fair represents four big days of education, entertainment and amusement.

In this edition, The Intelligencer offers its readers a resume of some of the interesting features to be seen there—a pre-view of the 1928 Exhibition.

EXHIBITION GROUNDS READY FOR INVASION OF HAPPY SIGHT-SEERS

Belleville Fair Expected To Break All Previous Records

To-morrow Tuesday, the Belleville Fair will open its gates to the people of Hastings and the surrounding country. A beautiful fountain, a new and modern and splendid road will excite the admiration and surprise. Successful as the Fair was last year, it will be much more so this year as there are still improvements in the capacity for displaying the products of industry, commerce and Agriculture. The Poultry Building has been enlarged, the other buildings have been made over, Speed Boking, and the motor cars will be housed in their respective places. The Fair Grounds have presented a scene of great activity and sounds of hammers and saws could be heard for some distance in the last few weeks as the industrious workman endeavored to finish his appointed task so that on Exhibition Monday night they might enjoy the best Fair in Belleville's history.

And just what is the citizen to see when he arrives at the Fair Grounds. The first building to strike his eye will be the Manufacturers' Building.

The Manufacturers' Building is impressing to see, and the long side of it is presented to the gate entrance with good effect. The colour scheme of this as with all the buildings in the district is yellow with brown trimmings, the roof being painted a light red. The harmony cannot be visualized by anyone but an artist, the eye is the only thing which can adequately convey the effect.

The Manufacturers' Building is 60 by 180 feet, on the inside are lattice frames resting on the upper beams of the building. The frames are for the decorations and the whole interior can be made to any given colouring which is deemed suitable.

Merchants' Building.

Immediately to the right of the Manufacturers' Building is the Merchants' Building. It is an exact replica of the Manufacturers', being built from the same plans.

Poultry Building.

To the north of the Manufacturers' Building is the Poultry Building, which has been enlarged considerably this year to give accommodation to the variety of fowl which we see shown.

Agriculture Building.

To the west of the Merchants' Building can be seen a fine structure that was made to hold the Agricultural products that have made Ontario famous the world over. This building is also 60 by 180 feet long, and there is plenty of space for the cheese, vegetables, flowers, and in fact everything which has to do with Agriculture which can be shown.

The Race Track

The next thing which looms up on the horizon is the Race Track. It is oval, and the long axis of it runs east and west. The track is banked properly at the turns, and is entirely enwrapped with rock. It is a sand-clay track, fenced on both sides, and even in the matter of the fence has art and decoration been strained.

The Stables

The Stables, across the track from the stands, are 1450 feet long, and are equipped with 33 box stalls, 8 by 11 feet. Seventy-five single stalls, 8 by 11 feet, accommodation for 150 head of cattle, and with 25 sheep pens, 25 hog pens, with room for three to five of the latter in each pen.

Features of the grounds are: No parking of cars inside the Race Track. There is room for five hundred or more between the track and the fence. There are comfort stations for the women, for men, for mothers and for children.

There will be great interest shown in the bandstand, fountain and park at the entrance this year, all of which comes into view from the Yeomans Street entrance. The fountain, especially is a real work of art, with its many flower plots draped around it. A unique feature of the fountain will be the lights which cause the water to look like beautiful jewels as it gushes out.

But the exhibits will be the only thing worth seeing this year. Far from it. Amusement booths, ball games, a Pageant depicting the growth of Belleville as a city for the past fifty years, fireworks, day and night, will all go to make the best Fair that Belleviliians have thus far experienced.

GOVERNMENT STOPS OVERLOADING SHIPS

London, (C.P.—By an understand that the government is taking through the Board of Trade, is soliciting advice from all parts of the world with a view to abolishing the evil of the overloading of ships. The object of this important move may be summarized as follows:

The placing of idle ships in commission employed mercantile officers and other men. Work found for hundreds of unemployed in the mechanical marine. More activity in the shipbuilding yards. Greater safety of life at sea. Removing the unfair competition which overloading necessarily involves.

Towards stamping out the practice which, in the past, has led to a considerable loss of life and property at sea, two things are being done:

A technical committee is dealing with the revision of the load line and when its work is completed an effort will be made to confer with Dominion and foreign Governments and secure an international agreement.

The Board of Trade has issued a secret memorandum to shipowners reviewing the subject of overloading from all points of view, and asking for their guidance and support in the campaign being undertaken.

SEIBERLINGS IN MUSICAL RARITY

Will Provide Choice Program For Radio Enthusiasts

The rhythms and technique of modern America will take command of the Wagnerian classic next Tuesday evening, August 28th, when the Seiberling Singers orchestra will provide a real musical rarity—"Wagner "in modern dress". The lyrical melodies from such operas as "Tannhauser" and "The Valkyrie" will be played in the typically American blind modern concerto from which rose out of the ashes of "Jazz" —its manner whose most famous example is Gershwin's "Rhapsody in Blue." It should be a treat worth staying home to hear.

The transcriptions, which have been grouped under the title "Wagneria", were made by Josef Bloch, Orchestral Director of the Seiberling Hour and one of the foremost of present-day arrangers and composers. They will open the August 28th Seiberling Singers program.

Two other selections, besides, should draw their millions to this Tuesday evening program. For the first time, that delightful novelty, "The Gingerbread Brigade," as sung by the composer, Vaughn de Leath, will be played without words. And, in response to an overwhelming demand from listeners-in, Phil Ohman and Victor Arden, guest stars of the Seiberling supper-time program, will repeat their unique arrangement for two pianos of Herbo's beloved "Mighty Lak' a Rose", first broadcast by them on the July 31st program.

The Seiberling Hour goes on the air every Tuesday evening from 8:30 to 9:00 p.m., Eastern Daylight Saving Time (from 7:30 to 8:00 p.m., Eastern Standard Time—from 8:30 to 7:00 p.m., Central Standard Time) through 39 Stations of the National Broadcasting Company's Red Network.

Rex Giles will be the guest vocalist of the evening. She will sing the "Shadow Song", from Meyerbeer's "Dinorah" and "Lo, Hear the Gentle Lark" by Bishop.

The program includes, besides, "Chiquita Waltz" by Wayne and "Funny Face" from the Broadway hit of that name, Ohman and Arden, stars of the show, will play this number accompanied by the orchestra.

The complete program:

Wagneria—Black—Orchestra

Mighty Lak' a Rose—Verdi—Two Pianos

Shadow Song (From: "Dinorah")—Meyerbeer—Soprano Solo.

The Gingerbread Brigade—Vaughn de Leath—Orchestral Novelty.

Chiquita Waltz—Wayne—Orchestra and Two Pianos.

Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark—Bishop—Soprano Solo.

Funny Face (From: "Funny Face")—Gershwin.

REINDEERS TO RACE ON TRACKS THIS YEAR

Prince Albert, Sask. (C. P.)—That proportion of the public in western Canada which is thrilled by racing, whether horse, motor, aeroplane or dog, will be provided with a new diversion, this winter, according to H. J. Opashi, of Vancouver, B.C., who proposes to stage a series of reindeer races in the principal cities in the west.

Mr. Opashi, who owns 30 reindeer, states that he has arranged for this innovation in the field of racing to show the public "what speed means." He proposes to bring six Eskimos from their northern habitat to drive and care for the animals.

Present plans provide for races in Calgary, Regina, Saskatoon, Prince Albert and Winnipeg. There is a possibility that Mr. Opashi will take his "stable" across the international border and stage races in some of the United States cities where weather conditions permit.

BELLEVILLE, HUB OF PROGRESSIVE FARMING AREA

Dairying, Mining And Fruit Growing Flourish Here

Belleville is situated in the centre of one of the most famous Agricultural districts in the Dominion of Canada and the products of the most fertile soil in the Province of Ontario will be on display at the Belleville Fair which opens at the imposing new Agricultural Grounds tomorrow afternoon. Hastings County cheese is known and regarded as the finest produced in Canada and is in constant demand in the British Isles and in European countries. The quality is so high that it is a RAM seller on the British Markets and the wholesalers cannot produce sufficient cheese to supply the demand. Thousands of boxes are packed and shipped each year from Hastings and it was recently announced that the standing for Belleville District is 4.2 per cent. undergrade which is one per cent. better in comparison with that for the entire province.

While excelling in the production of dairy products this County has gained a world-renowned reputation for the apple crop which supplies the metropolitan centres. Farmers specialize in this branch of their vocation and the orchards are among the finest in the country.

Mining which at one time formed one of the chief industries, has lately been more or less inactive but measures are being taken to open up some of the mines in the northern townships. The talc mines at Madoc supply thousands of bags of the raw material each year. Fluorspar, hematite, and other minerals of the lesser class are mined in small quantities but it is predicted that in the not far distant future Hastings County will be the centre of thriving mining operations. The exhibit at Toronto Exhibition last year which was in charge of W. H. Nugent, County Publicity Chairman, was the object of considerable interest. Developments may commence shortly.

In the days of long ago lumbering was an important industry in this County and the Moira River with the logs which were floated down for cutting at the Rathbun Company's Mill which stood on the present site of Victoria Park. This industry is still carried on to a certain extent, but with less vigor.

The northern sections of the County are known as a sportsman's paradise and the elusive fish are in abundance in the Lakes in the vicinity of Bancroft. Thousands of tourists swarm from the United States for the great angling facilities. Papineau and Wellemkoon Lakes are meccas for pleasure seekers and they return to their native States with wonderful tales which invariably bring more here each year. In order to provide the visitors with accommodations dozens of summer hotels are making their appearance.

Hunters trek back into the northern wilds each Autumn in pursuit of the deer which frequent the dense forests. Seldom do the hunters return without their quarry. Trapping forms to a large extent the chief industry in many of the isolated sections.

Truly, Hastings is a wonderful County!

BOYS STARTED FIRE TOOK MANY BIRD LIVES

Marysville, Alta.—(Canadian Press).—Fire believed to have been caused by small boys took a heavy toll of bird life recently in the Sirch Lake sanctuary near here.

Hundreds of young birds were burned in their nests and a large number of eggs destroyed. Investigators found one mother goose still protecting its brood despite the fact that she had been badly scorched and was scarcely able to fly.

Scenario of The Historic Pageant

Time—The Dawn
Place—The Moira River Valley.
Event—The Valley Prehistoric.
"Manito" God of the Indians, comes to the Valley with his Court of Spirits, as Echo, Fire, Water, Trees, etc., and claims it for himself. Calling one of the spirits to him he endows this spirit with the power of prophecy. This spirit assumes the body of the Indefinite Man of the Huron tribe and tells of the different events to follow.

The Prophecy
"Round about the Indian Village
Spread the meadows and the corn fields,
And behind them stood the forest
Green in Summer, white in Winter,
Ever sighing, ever singing."

Episode Two
Time—The Indian Period.
Place—On the banks of Ba-gon-ash-ing, the River Moira.
Event—Camp Fire of the Hurons.
Silently thru the dusk of evening, the weary Indians canoe, seeking their camping ground. The chief hails as the place is reached and gives an order. The squaws lay down their burdens and build fires while the braves tend the horses. The eerie chant of the Indian camp songs float thru the evening air.

A sound of alarm [illegible] runner dashes in with a message of warning—an enemy tribe is approaching. The braves seize their weapons. The Medicine Man utters a frenzied exhortation, while the braves dance an exultant war dance around the fire and headed by their Chief dash off in defence of the village.

The Prophecy
"Women at work by the tents and warriors horrid with war paint seated about a fire and smoking and talking together. Who, when they saw from afar, the sudden approach of the white men, saw the flash of the sun on breastplates and sabre and musket straightway leaped to their feet, and, advancing came to parley."

Episode Three
Time—The Period of Exploration, 1615.
Place—The Valley.
Event—The Coming ofChamplain.
From the world across [illegible] sea came the fore-runner of a new civilization to the Red Men's hunting ground. The braves leap to their feet at their approach. The French adventurers, headed by Samuel de Champlain, approach the Indian Village bearing with them gifts from the King of France. Directed by Champlain his men plant the Cross and Fleur de Lis and claim the land for God of France. Gifts are distributed and the Indian dance a tribal dance in honor of their visitors.

Episode Four
Time—1710.
Place—Queen Anne's Court.
Event—Presenting the Communion Plate.
With regal carriage Queen Anne ascends her throne and receives five Iroquois Chieftains. They are escorted by General Nicholson. Amidst the grandeur of Court they are presented with Communion Plate, a gift from the Mother Country to her children of the New World.

The Prophecy
War!
War!
The song of Shell
Thru Stricken Skies
It sings the Dirge of Death as it flies.

Episode Five
Time—1759
Place—The Plains of Abraham.
Event—The Defeat of Montcalm.
From the distant background comes the sound of battle and the clash of arms. Two nations arising against each other to gain supremacy over a new land that gives promise of being the fairest of the fair. Closer and closer comes the sound of battle, and suddenly a flash of color comes before our eyes and then we are in the midst of the struggle. We are enacted here one of the greatest battles in the history of Canada, the defeat of the French under Montcalm, and unlikely death of General Wolfe.

The Prophecy
"And so they came into this land
Adventurers bold on every hand
The early founders of our race.
The man who took the Red Man's place."

Episode Six
Time—The Loyalists Period, 1815.
Place—The Wilderness.
Event—An encampment of Loyalists.
Into the clearing of the great Ontario forests, with the tall pines, hemlock and cedar throwing their shadows and Fleur de Lis and claim the to build their homes. Many are the hardships encountered and [illegible] them, officers, soldiers, refugees, trekking into the unknown wilderness. They make an encampment for a short rest, and after their duties have been performed some of their number entertain while those worn by travel are resting. Then camp is broken and all move on again, some going in one direction, some in another.

Episode Seven
Time—1816.
Place—Meyers Creek.
Event—The First Ball.
The gallant old U. E. Loyalists who fought in the Revolutionary War together with their sons who fought at Detroit and other battles of the war of 1812 decide to give a ball for Sir Francis Gore, the Lt.-Governor of the Province of Upper Canada, and his wife, Lady Belle Gore, who are driving thru by horse and carriage from Kingston to York. Messengers on horseback are hurried sent out to invite the Loyalists and others from Napanee Mills on the east, Carrying Place on the west, Prince Edward County on the south and the surrounding country. Music is secured and the guests arrive at the Simmons Hotel where the ball is to be held. Old age, youth and middle age mingle; uniforms flash and fair ladies and brave men all chase the glowing hours with flying feet.

The Prophecy
'And so a town is born to live
And to this place, a name we give—Belleville."

Episode Eight
Time 1816.
Place—Meyers Creek.
Event—The naming of Belleville.
In the small village of Meyers Creek we see a gathering of citizens including Capt. Mikel, James and Simon McNab, Mr. Wallbridge, R. Leavens, S. Nicholson and a group of villagers. Something unusual seems to be in the air for everyone is excitedly talking and discussion is rife. After the preliminaries the meeting is opened and names for the village suggested. After much time spent in discussion the name Belleville is selected in honor of Lady Belle Gore, to show the appreciation of the villagers of the gracious and agreeable manner of the wife of the Lt.-Governor towards them.

Episode Nine
Time—to-day.
Place—Belleville.
Event—Symbolic Representation.
"Manito" and the spirits are surrounded by all of those who have contributed to the present day prosperity and happiness. In review now pass the interests of Belleville. Religion, Farm and Stock, Civic Organization, Education, Manufacturing, Shipping.

PRESENT ALBERT COLLEGE GROUND ORIGINAL AGRICULTURAL FIELD

Farmers Drove Cattle Fifty Miles For Exhibition Purposes

Belleville's Annual Fall Fair will open with the largest entry list in its history to-morrow morning, and no doubt the Fair this year will be the most successful in the history of the whole city. From near and far the entries in the various different classes have poured in, while race horses whose owners have never before designed to bring their horses will be seen in large numbers. Well over two thousand dollars in prize money will be spent in the four days of light harness racing, and the trotters and the pacers should do their best on the first smooth track at the Agricultural Grounds.

Some difference would be noted by those hardy veterans of the turf who raced in Belleville at the Fall Fair in the early days when Belleville was a small town, but nevertheless the centre of industry in the community. At that time the Annual Fair was known as the West Hastings Agricultural Fair, and many a gay day and night was spent by the farmer folk and their city brothers during the Fall Fair days.

The Fair Grounds used at that time are now a part of the New Albert College grounds, this being some seventy years ago, and the track was only one third of a mile around, which kept the horses turning almost all the time, and kept the time from getting too close to the record. At that, however, many a fine race was held on the old track, which stood along the present Provincial Highway, and was directly in front of the New Albert College buildings.

MacKenzie Bowell President

MacKenzie Bowell was president, being still a young man, and David R. Ketcheson, father of the present secretary, R. H. Ketcheson, was secretary of the Fair. Of course at that time there were more horses exhibited because there were more of them in the country and people drove or rode all over. Many prominent men would bring their cattle to the exhibition, one well remembered being Mr. Coe, who bred big red shorthorns, and after whom Coe Hill was named. He lived at Coe Hill, but every year would drive his cattle from the farm some fifty or sixty miles into Belleville to exhibit them.

R. H. Ketcheson, present secretary of the Belleville Fair has in his possession a prize ticket and an entry form of the Fair of 1855, which was given to him by an old friend now deceased. At that time ball playing was coming into vogue, although it was much different from the baseball as played to-day, and a ball game at the fair always attracted a great deal of attention. One venerable gentleman of Belleville recalls for our benefit the trip of a Belleville Baseball team to Zion's Hill on the occasion of the Fair at the latter place. The Belleville boys went out with nice new ball suits and looked like world beaters, but crept back into town the next day with a far different story to tell than the one which they in their naivity had predicted would be told.

And How They Played

Although the Zion's Hill boys came to play ball in their old overalls, and looked as though they had never seen a ball before, as this old gentleman put it, when they hit that ball we needed a horse to go after it." Professional baseball was played in the old Fair Grounds north of the present Albert College, and directly south of the present Agricultural Grounds. These grounds were used for the Belleville Fair until 1925 when the new grounds were opened.

When the Old Fair Grounds were first opened about 1880, the grandstand was on the east side of the grounds, and the sheds for the cattle were on the same side. One spring when a circus had wintered in the Fair Grounds, all the buildings burned the same day that the circus left, probably due to some circus roustabouts carelessly throwing away cigarette butt. For many years there was no Fair held, because of the lack of accommodation, but about ten years after, new buildings were built and the East Hastings Fair moved from Thrasher's Corners to Belleville. The new buildings were put up in the north west corner and along the west side.

For a term of years again the Fair was a success, and then interest lagged with the result that the Fair was dropped again from 1911 till 1925, when the new grounds were made directly north of the old ones. Since then the Fair has been better, and this year should see the best Fair in Belleville's history.

Visitors who have not been into the grounds since the last Fair will be very agreeably surprised when they see the beautiful flower beds and the fountain at the entrance to the grounds proper. Neatly kept lawns will be seen, and the park-like effect is not lost as one goes farther in. The buildings have been painted and flower beds planted all around, making the whole a pleasing ensemble of beauty and color.

At the present there are four buildings, the Merchants, Manufacturers, Agricultural and Poultry Buildings, and the Board of Directors expect to build a new barn for the accommodation of horses next year. At the present time there is accommodation for 60 horses, and about 150 cattle. Pens and sheds are along the north-west wall for the sheep and hogs. The Grandstand, facing north gives an unobstructed view of the whole race track and the ball field, and incidentally, both the track and the ball field are rated as much above the average, and the finest in Eastern Ontario. The officers of the Fair this year are President, Charles Hanna; treasurer, R. H. Ketcheson, secretary, R. M. Mitchell. 1st vice-pres.; Earl Wrese, 2nd vice-pres.; H. B. Stock.

DESTINY OF FAIR IN GOOD HANDS

Chas. Hanna, K. H. Ketcheson, H. B. Stock Compose Official Board

Belleville Fair Board Executive is indeed fortunate in their choice of a President, Chas. Hanna is a Belleville boy, born and bred here and he has never in all his career felt the urge to seek greener fields. He is one of the foremost business men of the community, one who has the interest of the city at heart, who is always the right hand man in any undertaking. "Charlie" probably has more friends than any other individual in the Bay of Quinte district. Faced with some difficult situations his executive ability has been the means of saving more than one project when it appeared to be doomed to failure. There are few civic celebrations or affairs of any description in which he does not play a prominent part. He served as Mayor of the city of Belleville for a number of years and spent at least nine months at Ottawa as a representative of this constituency. A member of practically every fraternal organization, he finds sufficient time to take an active interest in each. He is Secretary of the Argyll Light Infantry band and was a prime mover in the recent reorganization of the band which is now regarded as one of the finest musical organizations in Eastern Ontario. He was instrumental in bringing the present bandmaster Alfred Zealy here and the latter has brought the band to the high plane which it now occupies. Charlie is a friend of everyone, a great worker on behalf of the poor, the Children's Aid Society and its branches.

Belleville Fair is sure to be a success with Charlie at the helm. He has an able lieutenant in R. M. Mitchell, Reeve of Thurlow and Mr. Mitchell is an ardent Agriculturalist and takes a deep and keen interest in Belleville's Annual Fall Fair. Mr. Earl Weese, of Carrying Place, is Second Vice-President.

In Mr. R. H. Ketcheson, the Belleville Fair Board has one of the most efficient and capable Secretaries in the Province of Ontario. Mr. Ketcheson has acted in the official capacity for many years and is now in a position to handle the Secretarial duties in the most efficient manner possible. Entries have been pouring in at a tremendous rate, but Mr. Ketcheson has them all filed and numbered. Copies include those of supervising advertising, answering correspondence, mailing prize lists and, among other things, "Dick" is known to practically every horseman and exhibitor in Eastern Ontario. He has witnessed the elevation of the Belleville Fair to one of the finest Exhibitions in Eastern Ontario.

Mr. H. B. Stock, Treasurer, handles the financial transactions and his ability is readily recognized in this branch. Mr. Stock came here from Hamilton, has been associated with the Belleville Fair Board for some years occupying the position of Treasurer. As City Auditor he is in a position to discharge the duties with accuracy. Mr. Stock is connected with the Belleville Hospital Board, but takes an especial interest in the Belleville Industrial Fair and like all other officers feels that this year's record will eclipse those of all previous years.

King George V and Queen Mary visit Moffat's Exhibit at The British Industries Fair Birmingham England

THEIR Majesties paid Canadian Industry a gracious compliment by departing from a previously arranged route to see the Moffat exhibit of all-Canadian made Electric Ranges at the British Industries Fair.

You can see the same range of designs as those admired by the King and Queen, in the leading Electric or any Hydro Shop in Canada.

Over 95,000 women the world over are enjoying the pleasure and profit of Electric Cooking and Baking on a Moffat.

If you cannot see a Moffats Electric Range in your district, write us for full particulars and we will send them to you.

PRIVATE POOLS ARE INCREASING

Due To Veto, Government Pools Are Dying Out

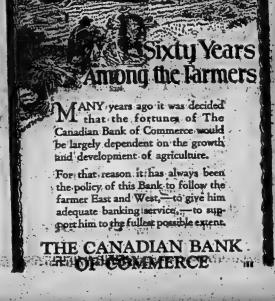

Washington, D.C.—(By The Canadian Press).—With the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, providing for government system of marketing pools, a dead letter because of the president's veto, more farmers are turning to the private co-operative marketing organizations, says a report of the department of agriculture. A government survey notes a steady increase in membership in private pools, which is the system favored by the present administration.

Farmers are participating as members of particular associations, as shareholders, as shippers, consigners or patrons, using the facilities furnished by the various co-operative enterprises. Including duplications where farmers belong to two, or more associations, the estimated membership in private pools to date is 3,000,000, says the report. In grain marketing organizations there are 909,000 participants; in dairy products' associations 450,000; livestock associations, 460,000; fruit, land vegetables marketing clubs 215,000 and cotton pools, 140,000.

About seventy percent of the total membership is in the twelve north central states, compared with 53 per cent in 1925. Less than twelve per cent is now in the Southern States compared with thirty percent in 1925. The Pacific Coast states remain about the same.

In a recent speech before the American Institute of Co-operation, Secretary of Labor Jardine said:

"Co-operation in agriculture should be advanced conservatively as soundly, but aggressively. It is unnecessary to point out to this group that marketing is as much the business of the farmer as production. Thoroughly he will continue to en-

IMPROVED FEATURES IN LATEST MODELS OF M'LAUGHLIN - BUICKS

Fisher "Masterpiece" Bodies Make Bid For Appreciation

Dashing as it is in its new "masterpiece" bodies by Fisher, the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick makes its equally strong bid for appreciation on the basis of improved performance. For its six-cylinder valve-in-head engine is almost one-fifth more powerful than heretofore, and the entire chassis has undergone a commensurate enhancement.

The power increase has been attained largely through refinements in the engine. There has been an 11 per cent increase in the piston displacement of the larger engine and a 13 per cent displacement increase in the smaller. The balance of the added power is due to changes in the carburetor and manifold system, re-designing of the crankshaft, and provisions of a new muffler, in which back pressure is reduced to a minimum.

There has been a marked improvement in the automatic heat control unit built into the fuel intake system. This device, developed for McLaughlin-Buick, is responsible for the engine's rapid warming up in cold weather. The butterfly valve which controls the flow of heat from the exhaust manifold toward the carburetor and intake is now made of a special heat resisting metal, and its shaft is of larger diameter than formerly, to prevent bending at extreme heat. To insure efficient fuel supply throughout the long speed range of the new engine, two main jets are incorporated in the carburetor, instead of the former one.

McLaughlin-Buick has now eliminated the vacuum tank, substituting the mechanical fuel pump with which experiments have been carried on for many months. The pump, which is driven off the camshaft, does away with the fuel failure under heavy engine load such as prolonged high speed or steep grades sometimes impose. The action of the pump is regulated entirely by the amount of fuel in the carburetor bowl, drag links in the pump mechanism idling when the supply on hand is adequate.

Fuel Consumption Maintained

The fact that economy of fuel consumption has been maintained in the 1929 McLaughlin-Buick, despite the marked increase in power, is an indication of the extent to which refinements of existing features, rather than mere enlargement of the power plant, figures in the car's improved performance. Many parts, both in the engine and outside of it, have been made heavier, but still greater numbers have been strengthened by the use of costlier materials in their manufacture. The car is heavier than heretofore, but its new power is more than sufficient to give it brilliant performance despite additional weight.

Operation is smoother than ever before too. There is a heavier crankshaft, with larger main bearings of the steel-backed interchangeable type, heavier pistons and pins and gears throughout the driving mechanism. The propeller shaft, differential, and rear axle. In other words the improvements in this engine have been carried right back through the entire driving mechanism to insure all-round first-class performance.

Newest in the lines of the new features is the provision of multiplates to effect gradual engagement of the driving and driven faces, and thus soften the clutch action. The entire clutch assembly is now accurately balanced in the factory, so as to run dead true at all speeds.

Minor refinements, the aggregate contribution of which is impressive, will be found all through the chassis. The double-drop frame is now straightening the axle, and its channel sides are heavier steel, reinforced top and bottom by additional strength. Additional cross-members, and drop-forged gussets, instead of stamped, in each corner. Torque tube is of heavier gauge steel in all models, as is the rear axle housing. The front axle beam is more massive than ever before, and the safety factor of the front wheel spindles has been increased.

Better Lubrication

All established McLaughlin-Buick engineering features, including vacuum ventilation, the sealed chassis with its air cleaner, gasoline strainer and oil filter are proclaimed. All improved The centralized system of lubrication, adopted in the 1928 car after exhaustive trial of many types of systems is retained. Grease nipples in inaccessible points beneath the car are extended to places within easy reach from outside, so that it is never necessary to crawl under the car to grease it. The system could be employed practically only on a car having torque tube drive, for in other types, it would be necessary to lubricate the universal joint, at least, by crawling underneath. In the McLaughlin-Buick, this point is lubricated from the transmission.

A notable refinement in the clutch action system is the baffle provided in the differential housing, aimed to improve the differential lubrication in light of the extra high speeds at which the new car will operate.

Among the miscellaneous improvements to be found in the engine and chassis of the new car are steel-backed rocker arm bushings, heat treated valve springs, larger intake and exhaust valves, new and larger oil pump, larger battery and new coil, assuring hotter spark, metric spark plugs, designed for long life under the demands of higher compression, new tooth design in starter gears, assuring long life and better cranking, and a thick rubber engine mountings to insulate power plant from frame completely, vastly improved and more easily operated steering gear, hardened and ground steel bushings in the universal joint, bushed spring seats, new and stronger shock absorber supports and tougher alloyed steel in all gears throughout the driving mechanism.

Postmaster-General Veniot Here On Special Visit of Inspection

COMPLIMENTS STAFF

Question of Adequate Federal Building Is Again To The Front

The possibility of an adequate new Federal building for Belleville to house the various governmental departments located in the City, looms up again in the visit here last evening of Postmaster-General the Hon. P. J. Veniot. Mr. Veniot was accompanied by his Deputy-Minister A. Dubourg, Inspector C. C. McGrail and Mr. Regan.

The ostensible purpose of the visit of the official party was the inspection of the post office building. They came in from Ottawa by motor and were met by Mr. Chas. Hanna, ex-M.P. and Postmaster Gilles. After going thoroughly over the building Hon. Mr. Veniot expressed himself as delighted with the efficiency of the Belleville post office and congratulated Mr. Gilles and his assistants.

Visited the Fair

Later Mr. Hanna took the distinguished visitors for a tour of the Exhibition grounds and they expressed a desire to stay over and see the opening of the Fair today. However, they were obliged to be in Toronto at noon today and left about eight o'clock this morning. Mr. Hanna was to have accompanied them as he is a specially invited guest for the Toronto Exhibition luncheon tomorrow but so long as the Belleville Fair is on Mr. Hanna refuses to leave Toronto. The luncheon at Toronto tomorrow is for the Retail Merchants and Service Clubs and as Mr. Hanna is Vice President of the Ontario Retail Merchants' Association he feels he ought to be in Toronto but is too busy in Belleville.

Placed in Estimates

The matter of a proper building for the different Government offices has been raised many times and in the estimates of the last session of Parliament Mr. Hanna succeeded in having an amount included for this purpose but it was eliminated in the parting down process in Committee. While no announcement can be made it is understood that the visit last evening of the Cabinet Minister may have had some bearing on this and there is a possibility that at the next session the item for Belleville may be allowed to go through.

STEAMER RAMS TUG IN HARBOUR

One Man Reported Missing —Tore Fifteen Foot Hole In Hull

New York, Aug. 28—Passenger steamer Chester W. Chapin, of the Providence line, rammed and sank a tug to-day in Hell Gate off Ditmars Cove, Astoria. A fireman on the tug was reported missing. The other ten of the tugs crew were rescued by a motor launch.

A fifteen-foot hole was torn above the waterline on the starboard side of the steamer bound from Providence with 350 passengers. After the collision the steamer swung onto a reef where she lay for nearly an hour before being pulled off by two tugs. She reached North River pier two hours later.

FAIR OPENS FOR A RECORD YEAR

Entries Far Surpass Any Previous Year In Number And Quality

PAGEANT TONIGHT

Grounds Beautified—Midway Ready To Amuse—Races This Afternoon

Belleville Fair opened in the New City Grounds officially at 1.30 p.m. this afternoon, with the turnstiles clicking in fine shape pressging the largest opening day crowd ever to come to the Belleville Fair. Beautiful sunshine and a light breeze made almost perfect weather and everything ran as smoothly as could be desired.

Entries have been pouring in to the office of the secretary for the past two or three weeks and the list alone will show that the Belleville Fair will have surpassed any previous mark in its history when the four days and nights are over. Becoming more cosmopolitan in its aspect each year, the Belleville Fair can now be justly called an Exhibition, taking its place as one of the largest and best between Toronto and Ottawa.

Entering the grounds, one comes, this year, into a veritable garden of flowers and lawns, with neat roadways running through, a bandstand in the middle and a splashing fountain surrounded by a walk, making the scene one of beauty indeed. At night the coloured lights which adorn the fountain make the spot even more beautiful.

Exhibits Are Growing

Through the Manufacturers' Building, where practically every progressive business manufacturer in the city and surrounding district has a display of his company's products, into the Merchants' Building, is the regular parade. As the scene begins, the Merchants' Building holds the principal exhibits of talk of the town of the city and in this building can be seen on display almost anything which a modern home could possibly expect.

Passing on to the Poultry Building, one sees hundreds of fowl of all descriptions, all ranking as prize pullets.

KILLED IN COLLAPSE OF THREE BUILDINGS

Shelby, North Carolina, Aug. 28.—Four people were known to have been killed and an undetermined number injured here today when three buildings in the business district collapsed. The dead are Mrs. Lula Spangler, 45, cook at the Piet National Bank, one unidentified white man and two unidentified negro laborers.

Stories of Giant Fish Enliven the Sultry Days Along the Bay

George Wallbridge, well-known Prince Edward County drover, has broken all records held by local anglers when he captured his fourth muskinonge of the season yesterday in Moquito Bay. George was travelling a few rods off shore when he felt a terrific strike and simultaneously with the jerk a huge fish leaped three feet out of the water. The beauty staged a lusting fight for half an hour but George finally pulled him close enough to insert the gaff hook and land him in the boat. The lunge weighed exactly 27 pounds and measured 36 inches in length. Mr. Wallbridge brought the fish to Belleville and it was placed in the refrigerator at Clark's butcher shop.

Mr. Wallbridge landed a muskinong tipping the scales at 21 pounds some weeks ago. Besides these he has captured two smaller lunge within the last month. Mr. Wallbridge maintains that the Bay of Quinte is the angler's paradise.

Morris Connell and Alan Boyle brought in five fair-sized bass after two hours' fishing near the old Rolling Mill plant this morning.

Drowned In Creek While On Corn Raid for Summer Camp

Brockville, Aug. 28—Dr. E. J. P. Williams, has ordered an inquest into this evening to investigate the circumstances of the death late last evening near the mouth of Jones Creek, west of here of James Healey, a Brockville youth who is believed to have been drowned when running away from a farmer in whose cornfield he and some companions are alleged to have been raiding corn. Their presence in a field adjoining a short distance west of the summer residence of Sir Clifford Sifton is said to have been detected by the owner of the property, who gave chase and Healey is understood to have jumped in the water in an effort to rescue. Two members of the party left in the motorboat heard a cry but through inability to start the craft could not respond to it, and when their associates joined them and began a

FOUR DEAD FROM MORNING BLAZE

Parents Give Their Lives In Vain Effort To Save Children

Toronto, Aug. 28.—The number of victims of the fire which early this morning resulted in the deaths of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kleinman and their three-year-old son Sidney, was increased to four later in the day when the eldest child, Sadie, aged 14, died in St. Michael's Hospital. Morris and Bennie, two younger children, are still in a serious condition."

Police this afternoon are investigating a story told by the girl, Sadie, just before her death, that her father had recently received threats of harm to himself and family. Relatives have also made similar statements.

Firemen are of the opinion that Kleinman and his wife, finding there was no hope of escape for the entire family, sacrificed their own lives for their children. Kleinman's body was found covering the living bodies of his two boys from the flames and smoke. Mrs. Kleinman had the dead body of her baby clasped to her in an effort to shelter the little one.

Mrs. Martha Huddleston, former world's champion endurance swimmer, was among those who did not appear.

MOTOR THIEVES TOOK TWO CARS

Both Recovered Later But One Is In a Damaged Condition

Two cars were reported stolen last night but both were recovered later after being abandoned by the thieves. One had been ditched and more or less damaged.

John Donovan, Pinnacle Street, had parked his car near the Capitol Theatre but when he returned at the conclusion of the performance the machine was gone. The police were notified and the car, a sedan was found on the highway in the ditch near Trenton. The running boards were partly demolished and the thieves had left the car and struck the ditch. Garage men from Trenton hauled the abandoned car to a garage and Mr. Donovan brought it back to the city this morning.

Shortly afterwards a visitor from Bancroft reported to the authorities that his car was taken from the Gilbert House, Trenton. Police along the Lake Shore district were notified and the motor car was found near Cobourg, the men having fled when the gasoline gave out. Apparently the men responsible for the thefts were making their way to Toronto.

Newsies To Have One Great Evening At Belleville Fair

The news boys of the city will be happy to-night, for they're going to be the guests of the Fair Board at the big display of the 1928 Industrial Fair.

"Free rides, free shows and everything for them," Director of Publicity T. F. J. Power announced this morning, so it looks as if the boys are in for a great time. "Duke" Smith has generously donated his large bus for the use of the boys, and it will leave the city hall sharp at seven o'clock this evening.

On arrival at the Fair Grounds the boys will be given identifying badges and, under the guidance of genial Tom Power, will make the rounds of the shows and rides; they'll take them all in, from start to finish, at no cost to themselves, thanks to the generosity of the Fair Board.

THE WEATHER

Moderate to fresh southwest winds, mostly fair and decidedly warm. Possibly few scattered thunderstorms tonight. Wednesday westerly winds, fair and somewhat cooler.

At the Directors' luncheon held at the Fair grounds today, the Fair Board had as their guests the reeves of the Townships in the County of Hastings and several of the reeves from Prince Edward County, as well as the members of the Kiwanis Club. Hon. J. B. Finlayson, W. H. Tummon, and W. H. Ireland, of Trenton, were present, as well as many prominent men in this district.

Charlie Hanna, president of the Belleville Fair for 1928, acted as Chairman, in his usual capable manner. George Ostrom, immediate past president of the Fair, told of the growth of the Belleville Fair since moving into their new quarters in 1920, with good weather, and everyone getting behind the directors, this year should be the best in Belleville's history.

Must Interest Farmers

The Hon. J. B. Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ferguson Government, spoke briefly on what should be the aim of all Agricultural Fairs, namely, the keeping of them all as agricultural fairs. Too many of the smaller fairs try to emulate the Provincial Exhibition, and get special straw ideas to draw the crowds, with the result that the exhibits fall down and the people of the district fail to take further interest in it. A large fair may be enticed to come on the day of the special attraction, but it is only the farmers it will make a fair permanent and prosperous, the farmers must be interested.

Ontario has gone ahead by leaps and bounds in certain things, power development being one of the farthest ahead. In aerial photography and survey work, we are second to none", the speaker declared. "The country is the backbone of the province, and the farmers are the backbone of all country fairs. I am glad to see that many agricultural fairs and as long as the farmers of this district are interested, this Agricultural Fair at Belleville will be a permanent success." Mr. Finlayson thanked the directors of the Fair for inviting him to be present and wished the good wishes of Premier Ferguson for the success of the Fair.

Extend Scope of Fair

W. E. Tummon, M.P., spoke briefly with regards to the Belleville Fair, but thought that there was much more appropriate if next year it was called the Bay of Quinte Fair. Belleville is so much more favorably situated for a district fair than any of the other lake shore towns that a great district fair second to none could be developed here". Mr. Tummon thought that both newspapers of this city should be thanked for the wonderful work which they have done in cooperating with the Fair Board, which suggestion was heartily endorsed by the other directors and officials.

W. H. Ireland, M.P.P., of Trenton, also said a few words, declaring that he would do all in his power to co-operate with the Fair Board and to make the Belleville Fair the great success that it deserves to be. He has great hopes for the Belleville Fair, and sees many changes for the better since the Fair was opened again in 1925 in the new grounds.

Everyone a Booster

T. P. J. Power, chairman of the Fair Board, concluded all and had in any way helped with the Fair, especial the newspapers. With everyone boosting, declared Mr. Power, it will be the best in the district. He also thought that a Bay of Quinte Fair would be much more adequate than the Belleville Fair. Warden Rawlins, of Hastings County and Harry Greenleaf, President of the Kiwanis Club, each spoke a few words, and Secretary Mike Mikel presented to Rev. Andy Anderson, a member of the Kiwanis Club, a large basket of flowers, Mike is emblem. Rev. Anderson will leave

A TRANCE

The body of Lord Haldane, who was so interesting in his lifetime, is not allowed to rest in its grave, and the strange fanatic which pursued his metaphysician who recognized the British envy follows him after death. The man who stopped the funeral service and tried to pry open the casket has evidently deluded, and the public will authorities have obtained will demonstrate the danger or some temperaments of dabbling in spiritualism. Though there are a number of authentic cases of premature burial on record, the evidence that a person is not dead, but in one of those mysterious trances which occasionally occur, is not to be sought in the seance room, but in a rigorous diagnosis, and physicians to-day, warned by the few cases of hasty judgment, have devised tests which place the question of death beyond all doubt. The fear of being buried alive, that haunted some people until it is one of the arguments for cremation. In one cemetery in Spain the bodies are placed in the caskets, the wires running to the keeper's lodge. One of the most famous cases of premature burial is that of the mother of Robert E. Lee, who was buried in Virginia before he was born. She had been placed in a private mausoleum, and it was accidentally discovered that she was still alive, although the doctor had pronounced her dead.

MOVIES IN INDIA

American films predominate in India, as they do in Canada but may not be able to maintain their position. The Indian Cinematograph Committee has recently made public the report and recommendations of a careful study, and laid emphasis on the necessity of encouraging the industry in India. Hollywood no doubt thinks of the 300 millions population as a promising field for sales, and it is true at present that four-fifths of all pictures shown there come from America. But only about a tenth of that vast population has the cinema habit, and India's needs to educate the other nine-tenths to like stories of home production. Producers on the ground realize the disadvantages under which American or even British producers labor. A picture which may be a great success in one part of the country is likely to have no appeal for another district. The language and the customs in various provinces differ so greatly that even an Indian-made film is not certain of universal popularity. Historical subjects have been regarded as desirable, but "communal differences" make their production a very delicate matter.

In some ways conditions for the home industry are extremely favorable. The cost is low, as actors do not receive the magnificent salaries of Hollywood, and settings of all kinds are to be had easily and cheaply. Distribution troubles are serious. The well organized circuits of this country are unknown. Educated Indians complain of the poor technique and inferior artistry of native films, but the tremendous illiterate class prefers them to importations. This should give the native producers a big start. It also places in their hands a remarkable opportunity for educating the unlettered Both English and Indian members of the committee stress the value of the cinema in promoting adult education and principles of health.

EXPLORING

Three expeditions headed respectively by Commander Richard E. Byrd, Sir Hubert Wilkins and Commander Douglas G. Jeffrey, still set out this year to explore Anarctica, the little-known continent at the South.

All three parties will use airplanes in the work of exploration, Commander Byrd's, the most comprehensive attempt to date to solve the mysteries of the region, should prove the most effective. But the Antarctic is so veiled in secrecy that there is room for three expeditions. Each has an opportunity to distinguish itself.

There are many things which man does not know about this polar region. It is more difficult of approach and therefore less explored than the North Pole. Perhaps the expeditions will return with explanations for the strange storms that come from there with great suddenness and die away in a manner equally abrupt; with semarish measurements of the great ice cap under which a territory believed to be as large as Canada is buried; with proof that there are two continents instead of one, and with new knowledge concerning the Aurora, still more pronounced in the South than in the North. If the expeditions solve some of these riddles, they will have justified themselves.

Exploring the Antarctic by airplane will be more hazardous than the aerial invasion of the Arctic. There is little moisture, but terrific blizzards spring up without warning, and the winds have tremendous force, but the expeditions are making painstaking preparation for every possible emergency.

IMMORTAL HOPE

Who speaks of Age!
The Spirit knows not age,
Of life divine apart
Its quality immortal.

Housed for a time
In human habitation,
Through daily wear and tear,
Deep lines show here and there:
But how the walls do crumble.

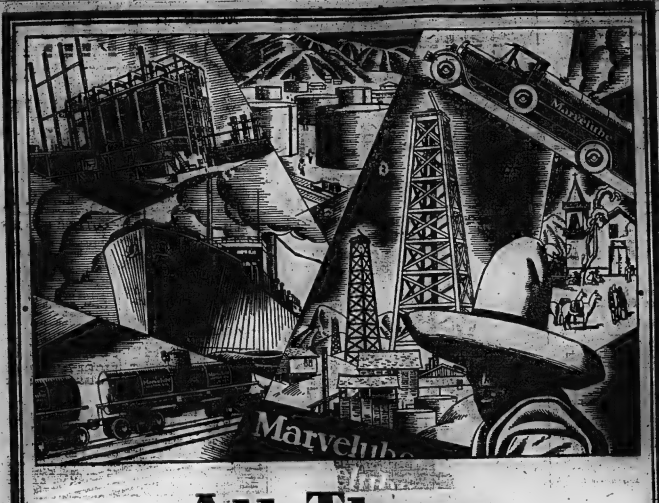

The casements old
Swing wide upon their hinges—
The parting walls worn thin
Thus leading to confusion.

Ruthless is time,
But nature's hand more kindly
With flowers that she bore,
Hath draped the ruins o'er—
Adorning Age with Beauty.

How fares the man?
Tenant of this building,
Within—Youth prisoned in the mortal.

He hears the call—
Come forth to Love's own portal,
Bearing the precious ore,
Memory, character and lore
He spends him forth immortal.

S. Beagley.

All These

Oil wells beyond the equator, tank ships transporting a better crude from far Peru, tank cars, refineries, thousands and thousands of men—all these enter into production of Marvelube, a better oil made from a better crude. And then there are the years of research and experiment; millions of dollars expended in perfecting better methods of manufacture, and the unending, jealous vigilance that maintains Marvelube quality always. Only Imperial Oil Limited has resources to make Marvelube, only Imperial Oil has access to Peruvian crude, the better crude from which this better oil is made.

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

STILL HOT.

Although today appeared to be hotter than yesterday, the official thermometer at the Pump House decided that yesterday the degree above was the high est level to which the mercury rose to day as against eighty-five for yesterday.

WORK PROGRESSING.

Work since today erected, the New Columbia and Vocational School is getting well on to completion, a board of Education member has stated. The building will be ready for occupancy early in December, when school begins. The exact date for the official opening is to be conducted by Premier Premier Hon. Col. Howard Ferguson, is not known yet.

SMALL MARKET.

Today's market was a small one, with few buyers, no doubt due to the opening of the Fall Exhibition here. Blueberries and fine cons, too, were offered at 20c a quart, while splendid blueberries sold for 25c per box. Corn is to stay and golden bantam this morning was bagging all fifteen cents a dozen, while some asked twenty five. Other vegetables maintained their former prices. Here are still expensive retailing at 25c and 30c a dozen.

PLAY SUDDEN-DEATH GAME

Arrangements was made today by Mr. Jas. Bowers and Ontarios will play a sudden-death game at the Intermediate ball park at 6 p.m. The winner of this game will meet the Kingston Dairymen in the Eastern Ontario semi-final. It was decided to play a sudden-death game as both the usual three-game series will be at fair enough for tomorrow night's game and Melvin Gore will pitch for the Ontarios while Hughes Matthews will do the catching for the Ontarios.

MIXED PLEASANT EVENING.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Simmons, Cartierville, when Carmel Young People's League met there for a social evening. The guest of honor was present in number, was seated on benches on the lawn which was lighted with Japanese lanterns. A splendid programme which was prepared by the conveners of the Social and Literary Department of the League, Miss Ferne Simmons and Mr. Percy Reynolds was given and consisted of instrumental and vocal numbers, readings and games. At the close of the programme the young ladies served ice cream and cake. The following took up at a social evening: Misses Ferne Simmons, Gertrude Shier, Marjorie Simmons, Mrs. Percy Reynolds, Mrs. Wallace Simmons and Mr. Percy Reynolds.

FAIR CREATES BUSINESS

Front Street was busier a day appearance since today with the merchants display ing their wares as a mark of the opening day of Belleville Fair. The thoroughfare was crowded this morning with visitors bent on witnessing the opening features of the greatest Fair in Eastern Ontario. The police reported no accidents although the traffic was heavy especially at the corner of Front and Bridge Streets. Following a determined effort by the authorities, motorists are paying more regard to the red-light signal at the intersection.

IN CHARGE FISH EXHIBIT

Mr. Arthur Hill, employed by the Dominion Government at the local Fish Hatchery, is in Toronto supervising the exhibit by the Fisheries Department. Mr. Hill has been employed by the branch at Belleville for the past ten years. He will be in Toronto for the next two weeks.

CAR WAS RECOVERED.

John Donovan, of this city, had his automobile stolen from the Market Square last night, but it did not remain missing long. The Trenton police recovered the car in that town later in the night, but the culprit or culprits who stole it could not be found. The car was in good condition when found.

HON. WILLIAM

shortly for China where he will take up missionary work. He made a very suitable reply, thanking the donors.

Mr. Andrew Carruthers, an old Bellevile boy, well over eighty years of age who has been living in California for the past twenty-five years also told how the Belleville Fair had progressed since he had been here last. He would never have known it was in the same city, he declared.

The luncheon was enlivened by the presence of a piano which was played by Jack Denmark, and H. Aylesworth acted as song leader.

Opening Ceremonies Brief

Immediately following the directors luncheon the guests repaired to the band stand where Mr. William Fisher, son shortly before two o'clock, official ly opened the Fair for 1935. A consi derable crowd was in attendance when the band stirringly played "God Save the King" and the fountain was turned on, immediately after Mr. Fislayyp of ficially declared the Fair to be open. The Minister of Lands and Fisheries who was introduced by President Charles Hanna, spoke only for a few seconds. He congratulated the directors and officers on having such a splendid Fair and wonderful buildings and exhibits. Every success was wished to the Exhibition of 1936 and Mr. Finlayson closed by presenting Premier Ge. Howard Ferguson's best wishes for the Fair, and his congratulations.

Immediately after the Minister declared the Fair open, President Hanna gave the signal for the flag to be unfurled, the fountain to be turned on and the cannon to be fired.

FOUR DEAD

badly injured that little hope is held out for their recovery. The dead are: Joseph Hillman, his wife, Sarah, and his young son Sidney, aged three Sadie, 14 and Morris 8, two other children are lying in a critical condition while Benny, six, escaped with less serious injuries.

The Hillman family lived on the third floor of the building at 323 Queen Street East and fire was discovered by the store on the ground floor about four o'clock this morning by a neighbour Mrs. Dacey who was called off. It is reported there was no fire escape on the building.

The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Hillman and their young son were found in an upstairs room in the front of the premises while the other children were taken from a room at the rear.

Heartrending Children

The charred bodies of the father and mother, side by side with the body of the baby clasped to the breast of its mother were found in the front room. When the body of the father was lifted, Morris and Benjamin were found in a position which indicated that Mr. Hillman was covering his two boys to protect them from the flames and suffocating smoke. Across the other corner of the room Sadie Hillman was found lying near a window.

The three children are lying in St. Michael's Hospital suffering from dead ly fumes which filled the apartment. The condition of Sadie and Morris is serious.

Two stairways acted as flues to draw the flames upward and within a few minutes of the outbreak the interior of the building was a mass of flames. When firemen arrived ladders were run up and deputy-chief Sinclair was the first into the room where the family had sought refuge.

Relatives state that the family had made arrangements to visit the Canadian National Exhibition to-day where a happy picnic was planned.

Total by summertime 25,000 were planted in Judge's Creek. Lots closed last week.

TUNNEY-HEENEY FIGHT PICTURES AT CAPITOL

A full house at the Capitol last evening viewed the great title feature attraction programme offered at this popular playhouse the first half of the week. The big attraction is the showing of the official ringside pictures of the recent Tunney-Heeney Champion ship Bodgy Match, and it is a fight which is intensely interesting shows clearly the remarkable battle put up by the game New Zealand champion against Tunney through eleven hectic rounds.

The fight pictures are preceded by the regular programme, the screen offering being "Shield of Honor" with Neil Hamilton and Ralph Lewis, a gripping full of action and interest.

On the stage the Imperial Players commenced their farewell week here with the excellent play "The Higher Law", an offering that is well up to the good standard set by this company during their long and success run here. Altogether, the programm is one of the best seen at the Capitol in some while.

FAIR OPENS

roosters, hens, fighting cocks, pigeons, bantams, English Pheasants, and last but not least, the pride of the children, the rabbits. Brahmas, Orpingtons and Leghorns seem to be the predominating note in the exhibition of poultry, but many other varieties are also there to be judged.

The Agricultural building is one of the most interesting buildings to be visited, as it contains not only the product of the grown-up exhibitor, but the hard earned results of the young Canadian's labour, who has probably been thinking of nothing else for the last several months, and watching his pet exhibit grow until he feels sure that no one else's can possibly reach the stalk of perfection of his own. This is the building in which will be seen the majority of the youngsters, with the possible exception of the Poultry Building.

Seven large tents this year will house the automobile exhibits. Sooner or later another building will have to be built for motor cars, but a new barn is even more necessary, as it will be built first, probably for next year. The race track will be, in the best of shape for the races which start this afternoon, and several acts of vaudeville will be enacted between heats. A large midway has been secured for the four days, and no doubt much fun and entertainment will be derived by many from this attraction.

Of course, the pageant is the feature of the evening performance and those who come to watch it will be by no means disappointed for according to advance reports it will be one of the best ever put on in this city. It will depict the growth of Belleville, from the time when the Red Indian held sway over the forests until the present day; how the city received its name and other outstanding events of its history. At the conclusion of the Pageant, which will be held every night at the Fair, a monster Fireworks demonstration by Prof. Hand of Hamilton, will be given.

DID YOUR VACATION HELP YOU MUCH?

By DR. EMIL A. BUNCH

Vacation time is about over for most of us. And most of us, I am afraid, have returned, to work or dwelling as fit as the proverbial fiddle, or we have returned to an accumulation of work which has accumulated in our absence, the perplexities of which will soon pull us down again.

Vacations should be planned.

I do not mean where to go, the clothes to take, etc. I mean that vacations should be planned in such a way that the brain will be properly rested and recreated, and the like rest period will not be followed by an increased amount of work to make up for lost time.

The way to get a maximum amount of benefit from a vacation is to leave your work in such shape that it will not worry you while you are gone. If you rush away leaving important things undone your mind will be bound to return to your duties at a time when you ought to forget that such duties actually exist.

Then plan to do something absolutely different from what you have been accustomed to doing.

Go somewhere—woods or seashore—where you can put on old clothes and won't be bothered by what people think.

Be lazy and indifferent. Exercise if you feel like it. Read or do—as it suits your fancy. Lead a carefree animal life as much as you can.

Such a scheme of life will rest the brain cells that need to rest, while at the same time it will use brain cells which your ordinary life seldom calls upon.

Then, later, when you are thoroughly rested, you will feel like being active again.

But do not make the mistake of returning too soon to activity that is similar to the work you usually are engaged in.

For example, suppose you should happen to be a proofreader. It would be folly for you to read many books at the end of your vacation period.

The point is that you must store up reserve force for the grind ahead.

Remember that the brain cells are like little electric storage batteries.

When you are worn and tired and ready for your vacation these batteries are run down.

It is not enough merely to bring them back to normal again. You should do more than that. You should increase their vitality to the highest possible degree. Then you will have abundant energy to draw upon for the long stress-and-strain Winter months.

The very best course to pursue, the one that pays in the long run, is to take frequent vacations or only a few days each.

That is really better than one long holiday. Short, frequent vacations do not let the nerve energy drain too low. The nerve cells are never allowed to function to the limit of physical endurance.

If, however, the kind of vacation I have in mind cannot be carried out, then at least regulate your activities on the long recreation stretch so that you may receive the maximum amount of good out of it.

When on holiday you are your own boss for once anyway. There is really no excuse if you abuse the privilege.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Do you believe in office romances? I have been working in an office for six months and met a young man in the same department. He has asked me to go out to dinner and I don't know whether anybody is serious in invitations. I hear that's so much about the inadvisability of going out with men who work in the same office that I hesitate, although I should very much like to go out with him, as I like him very much. What do you think I should do? S. SWEETY.

SWEETY: I don't see any harm in accepting attentions from the young man, Sweety, provided, of course, you do not let any sentimentality in regard to the situation creep in and interfere with your own and his work. Many pleasant friendships are formed through the medium of mutual interest such as office work, school work etc. and I see no reason at all for not accepting his invitations. The only time I do advise against such situations is when the triangle circle into such friendships—that is, if the man is married. Then, of course, friendship outside of the office is taboo. If the young man is all you think he should be invite him to your home first, that your parents may place the stamp of approval on him. But NEVER let it interfere in the least with your work.

Are You Ready

When your Children Cry for It

Baby has little upsets at times. All your care cannot prevent them. But you can be prepared. Then you can do what any experienced nurse would do—what most physicians would tell you to do—give a few drops of plain Castoria. No sooner done than Baby is soothed; relief is just a matter of moments. Yet you have cared your child without use of a single doubtful drug; Castoria is vegetable. So it's safe to use as often as an infant has any little pain you cannot put away. And it's always ready for the crueler pangs of colic, or constipation, or diarrhea; effective, too, for older children. Twenty-five million bottles were bought last year.

"Wilful Wives"
By Mildred Barbour

CHAPTER 31

The First Free Evening

As usual, Irma was not at all hesitant about naming the night club she wanted to visit. It happened to be the one that Hal liked least.

"Oh, I say, Irma, it's so stuffy there on a hot night," he protested.

"Don't talk like a husband!" she snapped in a tone more irritable than any he had ever heard from her.

He raised his brows, but he yielded with good grace.

It was full there. A single turn across the crowded dance floor proved that to Irma, too. Irma, in slimy sunset chiffon, remained serene.

"I suppose you men really do suffer in summer," she remarked carelessly, as Hal mopped his forehead.

"It's your own fault for being so stupid and not dressing properly in hot weather."

Hal wanted to say: "It's your fault for wanting to go out on a night like this." But he governed the retort in an iced drink.

"I wonder what your wife and my husband are doing tonight," Irma remarked idly, after a while.

Hal frowned. "Let's forget that subject."

She laughed softly. "I believe you really have taken it to heart, Hal, you're not jealous are you?"

"If course, I'm not jealous!" he exploded.

"Neither am I. It's better that it's all out. And yet, I'm sure I love Steve, because they say it's simply impossible to be in love without being jealous. Perhaps that's it. I love Steve, because he's a brute, but I'm not in love with him. There's quite a difference, isn't there?"

"I'm sure I don't KNOW," he answered abstractedly. Across the room he saw Lydia Converse coming in with a party.

"You're not a bit in love with Marguerite are you?"

"Good Heaven, Irma, how many times must I tell you....."

"Well dont be so touchy about it," she laughed good-naturedly. "I know all about your domestic affairs. Your marriage interested me.....it was so different in those days when every one goes about doing and saying and being the same thing, just as if we were all cut from one pattern!"

"I think every one in New York knows details of my home life," he remarked moodily.

"Still, it's queer you didn't fall a little bit in love with Marguerite," mused Irma. "She's awfully pretty and sweet and deliciously young. Men like you adore the lack of sophistication in a woman, even when you think you don't.

"I'm afraid that mere prettiness and lack of sophistication are insufficient in my formula of love," he said dryly.

"What is love, but the result of propinquity? The two most unlikely people can become fond of each other, if they're thrown together once and long enough."

He looked at her a trifle startled.

"Is that an implication that has any bearing on this voyage to Africa?

She laughed. "Hardly. I don't, in my heart of hearts, think that Marguerite and Steve are the unlikely people I had in mind. It has occurred to me several times that they were rather peculiarly suited to each other."

"I wish you'd cut out this discussion, Irma," he said irritably. "Of course, you're only joking, but I don't think it very good taste under the circumstances."

"Don't get huffy." She patted his hand consolingly, her eyes dancing with mirth. "The point I'm trying to get at is this.....that you might try falling in love with me.....a little."

Lydia Converse chose that moment to signal Hal imperiously. Irma's eyes glittered dangerously as she observed that.

"If you leave me, as you did the other time, to go and talk with that .....that creature, I'll never speak to you again as long as I live," she told Hal.

In his state of irritation with her, Hal wanted to plunge directly across the room to Lydia, trusting Irma would abide by her ultimatum. But he knew she wouldn't. She'd only be very angry. So she could only raise and bob. In answer to Lydia's gesture, Hal said he wanted to talk to Lydia. Far from it. He wanted to be less bad-taste with Irma.

"Let's dance," Irma commanded when the music began. He rose wearily and held out his arms.

She slipped into them with a triumphant glance over her shoulder in the direction of Lydia's table.

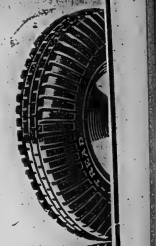

But Lydia was not, so easily foiled. She too rose to dance with one of the men of her party, and she deliberately steered him close to Irma and Hal.

"Hello there," she drawled, over her partner's shoulder to Hal, pointedly ignoring Irma, who as pointedly tilted her chin in the opposite direction. "I see you survived the house-party, Jarrold, I was a wreck. I only came up for air at midnight."

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

Aluminum dishes can be cleaned on the inside by boiling tomato skins in them, or water containing a little vinegar.

To remove discoloration from aluminum without injury, cut up a piece of rhubarb (either fresh or canned) in small pieces and boil it in the discolored utensils until clean. Apple peelings, or a few cranberries, are also good.

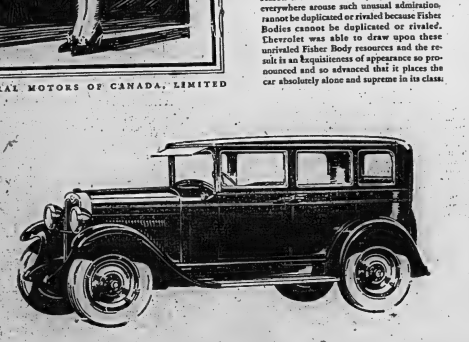

CHEVROLET

FISHER

Body by FISHER

FISHER Body and Fisher Body alone made it possible for Chevrolet to demonstrate what wonders can be accomplished in beautifying a car of popular price. There is an obstacle which quite literally prevents any car from getting that which only Fisher gives. This obstacle is the stubborn fact that nowhere in the world is there anything even remotely approaching the unrivaled facilities of Fisher Body in the creation either of beauty or of value. For that reason the cars with Body by Fisher which everywhere arouse such unusual admiration cannot be duplicated or rivaled because Fisher Bodies cannot be duplicated or rivaled. Chevrolet was able to draw upon these unrivaled Fisher Body resources and the result is an exquisiteness of appearance so pronounced and so advanced that it places the car absolutely alone and supreme in its class.

ALEMITE HELD ANNUAL PICNIC

Splendid Day of Sports And Baseball At Outlet

The Alemite Products Company held their annual picnic to the Outlet yesterday afternoon, and over one hundred members of the staff and their friends were in attendance. Ideal weather favored the pleasure-seekers and from the time the cars-vai left the city yesterday morning, at nine o'clock until the strains of the last waltz had floated away there was not a dull moment in the day's proceedings. The Outlet is a beautiful place for a picnic and the bathing beach which is among the finest in the district was swarmed with visitors during the morning and afternoon.

After lunch in the summer hotel the party adjourned to the Athletic Grounds where a series of races and general sports were held. A snake dance, was held on the beach and a baseball soft-ball game was played which created unusual merriment. The Sports Committee left nothing undone to make the day a success. "Duke" Smith and Ernie Rowsome acted as Masters-of-ceremonies and kept things moving along in lively fashion. Following are the winners of the various events:

Ladies' Plate-Throwing Contest—Miss Mabel Dynan.

Men's Soft-Ball Throwing—Harry Blakely.

Ladies' Single, 50 yards dash—Jessie Tiley.

Men's Single, 100 yards—J. Kerr.

Pal Men's Race—"Duke" Smith.

Tug-of-War—Office vs Shipping Room—Won by Office. In this connection, it is to be added that it was chiefly due to Ernie Rowsome's avoirdupois that the Office won.

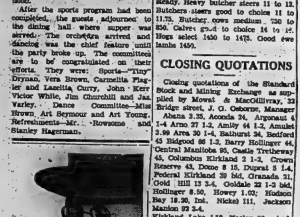

Ladies' Ballcon Race—Miss Brown.

Men's Balloon Race—Donald Rid-dy.

The Mysterious Mr. and Miss Alemite paraded the grounds and prizes were given for the persons bearing them. The Mysterious Mr. Alemite proved to be Earl Darragh and he was captured by Jas. Varley. Miss Myrtle Moore was the Mysterious Miss Alemite and she was located by Miss Carmelita Flagler. The spot dance prize was won by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Rigby.

The Alemite Quartette composed of "Duke" Smith, Mr. Greenlee, Montreal, Mr. McLaren, Montreal, and Mr. Jas. Varley, rendered several selections during the course of the afternoon.

After the sports program had been completed, dancing commenced in the dining hall where supper was served. The orchestra arrived and dancing was the chief feature until the party broke up. The committee are to be congratulated on their efforts. They were: Sports—"Tiny" Dynan, Vera Brown, Carmelita Flagler and Lauretta Curry. John Ross, Victor White, Jim Churchill and Jas. Varley. Dance Committee—Miss Brown, Art Seymour and Carl Young. Refreshments—Mr. Rowsome and Stanley Hagerman.

THERE is nothing that has ever taken Aspirin's place as an antidote for pain. It is safe, or physicians wouldn't use it, and endorse its use by others. Sure, for several million users would have turned to something else. But the real Aspirin (at any druggists) with Bayer on the box, and the word genuine printed in red:

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer-Aspirin will be stamped with their Bayer trade mark.

WEDDINGS

RICKARD—CLARKE

A wedding of unusual interest took place in Bridge Street United Church at high noon on Tuesday, August twenty-eighth, when Miss Helen Gertrude Clarke, B.A., only daughter of Inspector and Mrs. R. J. Clarke became the bride of Rev. Roy H. Rickard, B.A., M.R.E., of Pickering, Ontario, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. F. R. Malott, D.D., pastor of the church.

The church was decorated with a profusion of pink and white asters and ash and ribbon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a sleeveless gown of white satin with drapes of Venetian lace caught in front with a bow knot of pearls. Her veil of palest pink tulle, edged in lace, was arranged in cap effect with a coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pale pink Butterfly roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Elva Mayhew, of Preston Falls, wore an imported sleeveless gown of powder blue georgette with hat and shoes to match and carried Premier roses. The best man was Mr. William Skilling of Toronto and the ushers were Mr. Grant Maiden of this city and Mr. Howe Martyn of Stirathoy, nephew of the groom. Throughout the ceremony, wedding music was played by Miss Wylda Palmer. During the signing of the register, Mr. S. Anglin of Albert College sang "All Joy Be Thine."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents on Foster Avenue, Mrs. Clarke receiving in a French gown of black silk lace and georgette with peach coloured scarf metallic hat and corsage of roses. Mrs. Rickard, mother of the groom, wore a gown of black crepe back satin and a small hat of black panne velvet.

Rev. and Mrs. Rickard left immediately on a motor trip through the Adirondacks to New York. The bride's travelling costume was an ensemble of blue flat crepe with grey kasha coat and hat in the same shades and white for fur. On their return they will reside in Pickering.

DEATHS & FUNERALS

STANISLAUS TOMCHUK

Stanislaus Tomchuk, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Tomchuk died at the home of his parents Point Anne, yesterday. Interment will be made in St. James' cemetery tomorrow.

GEORGINA McGREGOR

Mrs. Georgina Ann McGregor, widow of the late W. H. McGregor passed away in the Belleville General Hospital at an early hour this morning. The deceased was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Hopkins and was born in Ireland, coming to Canada at an early age and had resided here practically all her life. She was born in 1856 and as her husband predeceased her some years ago she was the surviving member of the family. She was a faithful member of John Street United Church. Mrs. McGregor was taken ill some two months ago.

GEORGE E. WILSON

The funeral of the late George E Wilson took place yesterday afternoon from the mortuary parlors of the Belleville Burial Company, the Rev. L. S. Wight conducting the service at the Burial, Parlors and at the grave. Worshipful Master Fred Wigelon and Worshipful Master George Dulmage conducted the services for the Masonic Lodge, of which fraternity the deceased was a member. The bearers were, J. D. Reddon, A. Babcock, R. McCrudden and R. Anderson.

REGINALD SINE

Reginald Sine, a life long resident of the community of Sine, near Stirling, passed away at an early hour this morning after having been in ill health for some time past. The deceased was a veteran of the Great War and went overseas with the 80th battalion from this city and was later transferred to another unit in England. He suffered wounds overseas and on his return he was troubled with heart disease which was the ultimate cause of his death. For some time after his return from overseas he followed the occupation of farming but ill-health forced his retirement and latterly he had been engaged in the insurance business for the Stirling district. Besides his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Sine, he leaves a widow and two children. The late Mr. Sine was a member of the United Church and the Oddfellows. Interment will be made at Sine.

EDWARD MEEHAN

The funeral of the late Edward Meehan took place Saturday from the residence of his sister, Mrs. Daugherty, Wharf St., to St. Michael's Church and St. James Cemetery, the Rev. Father Kinlan conducting the service. The bearers were: C. Mulling, W. Lynch, P. Cody, J. Hunter, J. Bawden and S. Pelkier. The spiritual offerings and floral tributes were many and beautiful.

DEATH NOTICE

McGREGOR—Died in Belleville, August 28, 1928, Georgina Ann McGregor, widow of the late William McGregor.

The funeral will take place from the residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Adams, 1 Forin Street, on Thursday, 30th inst. Services in the home at two o'clock. Interment Belleville cemetery.

CHRYSLER Plymouth

Plymouth 4-Door Sedan, $915

. . . A New Standard of dollar value in the lowest priced field

$850 AND UPWARDS

Coupe, $850; Roadster (with rumble seat), $850; Touring, $870; 2-Door Sedan, $875; De Luxe Coupe (with rumble seat), $910; 4-Door Sedan, $915.

All prices f. o. b. Windsor, Ontario, including standard factory equipment (freight and taxes extra).

Comparison quickly shows the host of buyers who count the cost of motoring that the new Plymouth is definitely above and beyond all other cars in the lowest-priced group.

The Plymouth is full-sized — long, low, wide and roomy — with ample seating accommodations for adult passengers.

The Plymouth is enriched with the new Chrysler style features — new chromium-plated slender profile radiator, new "air-wing" fenders and pleasing new arched-window silhouette.

The Plymouth has true Chrysler performance and safety. Real high-compression power at last in the lowest-priced field through the "Silver-Dome" engine, using any gasoline for the first time at such price, internal expanding hydraulic 4-wheel brakes sure in any weather.

The Plymouth is Chrysler-built, assuring years of dependable service with marked freedom from mechanical trouble.

The millions in the lowest-priced field find they need seek no further than the new Plymouth for the quality and performance to which they have long been entitled. They find that, in this field, no other automobile dollar gives as great return as the dollar invested in Plymouth.

A PEACEFUL IDYLL

While in Life? Is it a never-ending routine of shopping, visiting theatres, or attending dances? Or is it the gliding beneath a canopy of leafy trees imagining that the hardships and worries of life are far distant, and in front of us the steady lap of waters? The latter, we all agree, for it has many compensations not found in the moments. It is with the noble trees, and hills and valleys, that the beauties of life are reflected and the highest emotions creep forth. Go to the Kawartha Lakes, Muskoka, Georgian Bay, the Bungalow Camps at French River and Algiquin or the many other delightful spots for which Ontario is noted and revel in the peace and beauty of forest and stream.

Let the Canadian Pacific assist you with your trip, consult their nearest agent for travel particulars. a28 3

REGENT

"Say Girls" "Soft Living," which opened at the Regent, Theatre last night for a 3 day run, is a clever farce based upon the question of love or all money, with that lovely comedienne, Madge Bellamy in the stellar role.

It was this little star's beauty that first brought her fame on the silver sheet, but now Miss Bellamy surely capitalizes on her ability and intelligence because she has found her forte in comedy.

BELLE

"The Drag Net," the Paramount picture now playing at the Belle theatre, George Bancroft is starred in this high voltage melodrama of the fight to the death between police and an organized band of murderous hi-jackers.

Recalling Bancroft's performances in "Underworld" and, "The Show Down" it was easy to expect a virile and gripping vehicle of screen entertainment in "The Drag Net." It has all the thrilling qualities which made "Underworld" such a tremendous success and all of the tense drama of "The Show Down." In addition there is a strain of pathos and an unusual thread of romance which easily entitle "The Drag Net" to be placed as a really great picture.

The picture, deals with the underworld theme but steers the problem from the standpoint of the men who defend society with their lives. Bancroft takes the part of a detective lieutenant who doesn't know the meaning of fear. He is given orders to clean up the gang of crooks who have been making law and order a mockery in a tough district of the city.

CLACOS BRINGING FAST TEAM HERE

Nationals Practise On Corbyville Diamond This Week

Clacos Baseball team have arranged for a game for Tuesday afternoon and Worts team of Toronto her on Labor Day. The Gooderham and Worts team play in the Industrial League in Toronto and are reputed to be a fast outfit. The Clacos won the Ideal Industrial League, and will play a fast team against the visitors. The local team will probably be augmented by several good outside players for this important exhibition game. The Good grimm and Worts Club will bring their strongest team to Belleville and local fans will see a real fast game.

The Nationals are practicing on the Corbyville grounds this week in preparation for the big game with the Oshawa team on the Motors diamond on Saturday. The Motors lost the first game here but facing elimination tives the running they will field their best team. "Duke" Delaney will probably pitch for the Oshawa team and Manager Walter Cerove is grooming Dineen to do his pitching for the Motorists. Belleville should win two straight games, without a struggle following their one-sided victory over the Motors here, last Wednesday. The same two umpires who officiated here will likely handle the game at Oshawa.

READING TIED FOR 1ST PLACE

With Leafs; Royals Win Handily From Jersey City

Montreal, Aug. 28.—The Royals started their drive to get back into first division yesterday afternoon and although there was nothing very auspicious about the manner in which they defeated Jersey City, 5-4, the fact remains that the local heroes did manage to win their third victory in the last ten games. There was a lot of satisfaction, too, in the fact that Toronto lost to Reading and that Rochester was beaten by Newark with the result that the Royals pulled to within three games of the lead despite the fact that they are reposing in sixth place.

Reading went into a tie with Toronto for the International League lead by winning the first game of the series with the Leafs, 3 to 2. It was a pitchers' battle between Johnny Fredhomme and Nick Harrison, with the Keys getting to the Toronto pitcher for the running run in the ninth on Conroy's double, a walk to Moore, Dugahetty's single and another one-base hit by Legeti.

Dale Alexander, of the Leafs, hit his 36th home run of the season in the fourth inning with none on base. It was a drive over the right field wall. Whitman, of the Keys, put the ball in the same place in the sixth.

The Newark Bears temporarily halted the Red Wings' drive for the pennant, when they captured the opening game of the series, 7-3 Great hurling by Al Mamaux gave the Bears the victory, for although him was touched for ten hits, he tightened in the pinches and scored an easy win. Joe Jenkins, his team mate, was batted hard.

The Orioles dropped their fifth straight game as the Bisons captured the opening contest of the series, 6-3. The locals drove Johnson from the mound in the second inning with four hits before any were out and Holstead finished the game, getting sicked four times in the eighth. Urbin hit a homer with one on in this frame.

JOE WRIGHT TO DROP TRAINING

Tells Scribe He Will Endeavour To Retain Sculling Laurels

Joe Wright, Jr., winner of the Diamond Sculls in England, and the Canadian Olympic Team passed through Belleville yesterday afternoon in a special car on the International Limited. Practically all the stars who made Canada's name famous overseas as a country of athletes were on the train, bubbling over with high spirits and glad to get home again after one of the finest trips on earth.

In conversation with a representative of the Intelligencer, Young Joe declared that although he had had a fine time since going away, he was glad to get back to Canada, and to Toronto especially. When asked who their car had he would treat training now or not, the Diamond Sculls winner said with his breezy smile: "I have been in training now for the past five years, but expect to do a little training on my own this time, until next spring. Its almost time I took a holiday."

"Goestie", as they all call Jack Guest, Joe's partner in the doubles, was having a little sleep in preparation for the demonstration which they all knew was awaiting them in Toronto so could not be seen. Joe is as brown as a berry, and one of the best built med seen in a long time. Standing six feet and three inches in height, he is so well proportioned that until one stands beside him one does not notice his stature. He is always ready with a smile, and thanked those who recognized him and offered him congratulations in a simple straight-forward manner.

Joe Wright deserves all the nice things that have been said about him both in Toronto and in Europe, and is a fine example of young Canadian manhood, both in his skull and when one meets him in everyday life. More power to him.

SPORTOGRAMS

Those arbiters, Oscar Hitt and Babe Steppuhl handled Sid's game without a complaint. The first time Belleville fans ever sat back and listened to decisions without giving opinions as to the umps' family tree, and naming his gaw-backs for the world to hear. Hett almost breaks his arm signalling a strike and that made a hit right away. Steppard is the man famous for his water-drinking ability. The Babe can kill a pail without any effort whatever, generally, between innings in the seventh. He carries a mere three hundred pounds around, but that doesn't stop him from bending over to give his decisions.—Oshawa Times.

HUMANE GAS TO END WAR EASILY

Chicago, Ill.—Chemists, members of the American Society, who were recently talking magic at Northwestern University, heard a brother tell that soon it would not be necessary to kill men in war. Whole divisions and corps of soldiers could be ruined from business temporarily by humane gases.

A thousand planes, each carrying 5,000 pounds of chloroform, could lull all of Chicago or New York to sleep in time of war, declared Dr. Gustav Egloff, Chicago research chemist and lecturer.

"The use of lachrymatory gases is a start in this direction," he said. "Perhaps an anaesthetic can be developed of such power that it may be distributed by aeroplanes over intrenched positions and cities, enveloping their defenders in quiet slumber—even with the addition of pleasant dreams."

All that would be necessary to put a place to sleep, Dr. Egloff continues, is to fill 1 per cent of the air with an anaesthetic. "The thousand planes, each carrying a full load of chloroform would distribute this anaesthetic in such doses that gas masks would be useless.

And if science puts its mind to it, the doctor predicted, anaesthetics more potent than any now known may be produced."

DECKHAND DROWNS IN BAY

Fall Chic and Individuality Makes These Newly Arrived Frocks Wonderful Values

New and very fashionable frocks for Fall—and at such a remarkable price—Wednesday. They're made from a soft wool covert cloth or frisette—both wool fabrics which make many chic styles. Come early and see these fine values.

Both smartly tailored and the more feminine modes are shown in this exceptional group—in two piece styles with a sleeveless frock-tunic in tailored effect with narrow collar—skirts pleated in front or entirely pleated. One piece dresses are very becoming and show the softer line in a slight flare effect in the pleated skirt—or the soft crepe-de-chine collar scarf, showing a smart note in the degrade tones of tan as a trimming which also emphasizes the neckline. Diagonal stitchings also play an important part in their chic—used from one shoulder to the waistline on opposite side, seemingly to end in a soft drape which causes an irregularity of hem line.

Many other interesting decorative treatments are shown which are too numerous to mention—pay them an early visit Wednesday—you'll appreciate the value to be found in them—in new shades of grey, tan, gun, sailor blue or black and white.

Half-Holiday Attendance Spurs Fair Directors To Greater Efforts

FOUR THOUSAND ATTENDED FAIR

Exhibition Promises To Break All Attendance Records

KEEN COMPETITION

Judging of Fowl, Heavy Horses and Live Stock Today

There were four thousand, seven hundred and thirty-two visitors at the Exhibition at different times yesterday and today being Wednesday and a half-holiday, there should be nearly as many more again. The judging was well started yesterday, the entries of first class order and all prizes keenly contested.

This afternoon are more trotting races and that ever-popular contest, a Baby Show. The baby show has been one of the greatest attractions of the Exhibition in the past and many entries than ever secured this year by the Secretary.

This morning the judging of the fowl and models began. There are about six hundred, birds entered, splendid specimens, and there will be keen class competition. R. E. Hingham, 182 Evelyn Street, Toronto, is the head judge and he will have his work cut out for him.

Mr. Walter Maher has some beautiful pheasants displayed, and yesterday and today they proved a strong drawing card to the fowl. The Polish fowl, too, of which there were a great many entries, were another popular bird.

Of special notice are the fine Chihuahua rabbits entered by William Rowland, Bleecker Avenue. William is only a youth still in his teens but his rabbits would take a prize in any show. The boy has about forty-odd animals, but he entered only the best at the exhibition.

Judging Live Stock

All live stock was paraded before the vigilant eyes of the judges this morning. Better than ever this year was the stock exhibit, the entry list swelled and the quality finer. A keen interest was taken last year in that section of the fair, but not more so than today.

Always popular with the grand-stand crowd is the judging of heavy horses in harness, which event took place this afternoon. Some of the finest horses in the province were on parade and this event is only excelled in interest by the showing of light horses, scheduled to take place tomorrow afternoon.

This evening the pageant will be staged again followed by fireworks, in front of the grand-stand. The Argyll Light Infantry Band played this afternoon and will repeat tonight.

All the leading lines in various buildings are most artistically decorated, but one or two are worthy of special mention. One of these that today drew large crowds was the Victorian Order of Nurses' stand, with its pictures of innumerable babies. Another was that of the F. S. Anderson Coal Company. This booth has on display a huge piece of coal, weighing well over a ton.

BELLEVILLE'S EARLY HISTORY IS DEPICTED IN FORM OF PAGEANT

Vaudeville Acts By Trained Performers Feature of Exhibition

There who took the opportunity of seeing the acts of vaudeville put on in front of the Grandstand last night at the Fair were well rewarded, as the high class acts were seen. Added to this, the Pageant depicting the history of Belleville was also well worth viewing and no one was disappointed by the show.

Commencing with an equestrial act by Mr. Ag. Crocker and his eight well trained ponies, the vaudeville continued with a flying trapeze act by Jeffries. He gave the audience several thrills by his hair raising stunts on the trapeze which was suspended many feet in the air. Clayton, the Human Frog, presented an amusing fantasy, doing something of a contortionist. As a comedy juggler, Mr. Gavin was quite good and made a hit, especially with the youngsters. His clapton, dancing and walking on the tight wire gave a fine exhibition, one of the best on the programme, but it remained for the Selby Aerial Trio to furnish the feature event on the whole programme. This trio of young acrobats did everything imaginable as far as tumbling and trapeze work was concerned. They are really good, and should be seen to be appreciated.

Belleville's own band, the Argylls were in attendance and supplied the very necessary music for the vaudeville acts as well as for the Pageant which followed. They are a fine band of musicians, and their work is appreciated by the public, as well as by the directors of the Fair.

The opening scene of the Pageant reveals fairy form flitting about in a fairy dance, about thirty local girls taking part. Many more drill in and out, soft music being played meanwhile. This scene depicts the dawn in the Moira River Valley. Our next scene shows the weary Indians who come seeking their camping grounds, and when the Moira Valley is reached the chief orders camp to be made. A scout comer in with news of an approaching party, and immediately the natives start a War Dance and prepare to defend their village from the invaders.

CHILDREN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE

Sherwood G. Scott, Fox boro, Exonerated of Blame

When Sherwood G. Scott, of Fox boro, turned off the Upper Brider last night at 8.45, two children, ages about five and seven, the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Tisdale on South Front Street, darted out from behind the steel abutment and were struck by Scott's car.

Probably because of the fact the the car, a Ford coupe, was travelling at a slow rate of speed, the children were not seriously injured, although Scott took them to Dr. Cronk's office for medical attention. Dr. Cronk declared that he did not think that injuries were serious, although the little girl received a nasty cut on the side of the head and the left arm The boy escaped with bruises. Today both are visiting much easier. The driver reported the accident to the police and was not held as it was clearly no fault of his.

COBOURG LAD IS STILL MISSING

Niagara Falls Police Have No Traces of Pat Taylor

PROMISED JOB

Unmailed Letters To His Mother Found In Rooming House

Niagara Falls, Ont., Aug. 29.—No word of the arrival here of Pat Taylor, the missing Cobourg youth, who with his alleged abductor J. H. Lachance, was reported on his way to Niagara Falls has been heard. Inquiries at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. White, whose name is said to have been mentioned by Taylor in a letter to his brother revealed the fact that he had not yet arrived. Both Mr. and Mrs. White said they knew nothing of the boy and were surprised their name had been mentioned. They stated no one is Cobourg, they said.

The police of Cobourg have been searching for Taylor for some days. He left his home with Lachance who, it is said would give the boy a job on surveying work. The pair were traced to Brantford, where unmailed letters written by the boy to his mother were found in a rooming house. Yesterday Mrs. Taylor stated she received a letter from her son to the effect that he was going to Niagara Falls.

INDIFFERENCE ON PART OF RUSSIA

League of Nations Encounter Difficulty In Framing Text

Geneva, Aug. 27.—Continued difficulties in framing the text of the con ference for the limitation of armaments of arms prompted Count Von Bernstorff, of Germany, President of the Commission engaged in work to voice his doubt today as to the wisdom of the convening international conference at this time.

Russia has refused to collaborate with the present efforts of the League of Nations to obtain control of the manufacture of arms. Maxim Litvinoff of the Soviet government, telegraphed this decision to the league today pointing out his government's conviction that the league has done nothing toward the solution of the problem of real disarmament. Meanwhile the League draft provision for the control of armaments with reservations attached is being considered by the council of the League which with assembly which opens October 3 is wire to convoke the international disarmament conference.

FIRST VISIT IN EIGHTEEN YEARS

Walter and Harry Handley Graduates of Intelligencer Office

Walter H. Handley, instructor of printing at the Central Technical School, Toronto, was a visitor at the Intelligencer office today. Mr. Handley who is the guest of his mother on Octavia Street, learned his trade in the intelligencer composing room but left here several years ago for Turoto. His brother Harry, of Calgary, Alta. who is associated with the Pat Burns Pork Packing Company as Superintendent of the plant was employed by the Intelligencer for a short time and is also spending a short time here. The latter took up his residence in the west eighteen years ago and this is his first visit to his old home during that time. He reports that crop conditions in the west are promising and predictions are, for the biggest harvest in years. Mr. Handley said that most of the grain along the C.P.R. line had been harvested and although touched by frost it had been sufficiently matured and was not harmed. Messrs. Handley will spend some days in the city renewing acquaintances before returning to their respective homes.

BATTLE OF PEN WAXING WARM

Chicago Publisher Resents Cartoon In New York Paper

New York, Aug. 29.—Gunmen and bootleggers' wars figure in a difference of opinion set to Chicago and New York. The New York World printed a cartoon depicting a gunman with a smoking revolver and the British Empire exhibit in flames with the inscription "Chicago" in the forewords "hundred per cent American Thompson Hall".

The Chicago Daily News asked the World if this represented general New York opinion and the World said it was the opinion of the cartoonist, a former Chicago man. How the battle is on, with Reuben Donnelly, President of the Chicago Printing Corporation, saying the only differences between gangsters in New York and in Chicago is that in Chicago "We extradite them while in New York they make them club members."

PRINCE CLIMBS WIRELESS MAST

Heir-Apparent Was Able To Translate Morse-Code Messages

Rugby, Eng., Aug. 29.—The Prince of Wales today ascended the tallest wireless mast in the world at Thurleigh station, arriving unannounced in the course of a motor tour and saying he wanted to have a look around. The visit to the telegraph wireless room where messages were being sent to America proved he had a working knowledge of the Morse Code, apparently being able to read the ordinary messages. He went up the mast in the electric elevator and said on returning he would not like to be up a the top in dirty weather.

FINE EXHIBIT OF FARM PRODUCTS

Poultry Building Contains All Classes and Breeds of Fowl

Particularly pleasing to the farmers will be the Agricultural Building and the Poultry Building. Never before has such a gorgeous display of produce of the land been shown in Belleville and surely there has never been so many entrants and so many fine birds in the poultry section.

T. W. Bamford, perhaps has the finest and most pleasing array of vegetables in the Agricultural Building. His booth is a work of art, with every commodity necessary for the housewife in the way of fresh vegetables and fruit artistically arranged Mr. Bamford is well known in this city, having one of the largest booths on the Market Square on Saturdays and every market shopper stops and inspects his offerings.

Nevertheless, every exhibitor, and there are many of them, has contributed with his fellow displayer to try and make the Agricultural Building an artistic display one of the most important factors in life — food. Pumpkins, tomatoes, potatoes, carrots squash, cauliflowers, cabbages, early cucumbers, corn, in fact every vegetable grown in this district has its place in the Exhibition and this I the finest exhibit of the farmers has ever been seen here for years.

And then there are the fowl! It would be unfair to mention one displayer without commending them all for never before has there been such birds shown and never before so many of them. Orpingtons, Wyandottes, Plymouths, every breed imaginable is on display and the judges will have a hard time deciding whose fowl is the best. There are some fancy birds, too, such as pheasants and pigeons.

The poultry have a building all to themselves, and they certainly need it. It was only last year that adequate accommodation was given to fowl displayers but they certainly have responded nobly and filled the building to overflowing when special quarters were provided for them.

Placed in man's primary need in life and the Agricultural display and Poultry exhibit certainly exemplify this absolute necessity and the fine qual ity produced in Hastings County.

Olive Gatterdam, Seattle, Finishes Second, 3 Minutes Behind

1ST PRIZE $10,000

"Trudy" Ederle Is Disappointing To Her Many Admirers

Toronto, Aug. 29.—Ethel Hertle, twenty-year-old New York aquatic star this afternoon won the ten mile Wrigley Marathon swim at the Canadian National Exhibition emblematic of the women long distance championship of the world and $10,000 prize money.

Miss Hertle established an early lead and although challenged by Miss Gatterdam, of Seattle, Washington, during the third lap was never headed and completed the course about 150 yards in front of the Pacific coast swimmer, who won the second prize money of $4,000.

Miss Hertle's time for the race which was about five-eighths of a mile longer than the ten miles including short stretch to the finishing point was 3 hours, 35 minutes.

Miss Gatterdam's time was 3 hours 38 minutes.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—At three p.m. with ten miles to go, the standing was Ethel Hertle first, 100 yards back Miles Gatterdam second, half mile back Ruth Tower, third; Gertrude Ederle fourth, Jane Thoma, fifth; Helen Galand, leading Canadian, eighth.

Toronto, Aug. 29.—During a rough trawl stroke, which she favor through the water at a startling speed, Ethel Hertle, of New York, last day swimmers in the women's section of the Wrigley marathon at the Canadian National Exhibition today, having a slight margin of a few yards over the speedy Olive Gatterdam, of Seattle, after a five mile distance half the course, had been covered by the veteran.

After Miss Hertle and Miss Gatterdam came Ruth Tower, of Denver, Colorado, and shortly back of her in fourth and fifth Gertrude Ederle, of New York, Jane Thoma, of Terre Haute was sixth at this stage.

The leading Canadian was Helen Galand, of Ottawa, who was about a mile behind the leaders at the halfway mark. A bunch of Canadian boys swimming together not far back of Helen Galand, Hilda Cook Corson and Hilda Hudson, star entrants, were about a mile behind the leaders at this stage.

Indications of the quality of the field was the fact that only three or four had dropped out in the first hours of early afternoon, these including Marie Mahon, of Ottawa, Mrs. Ethel Lamond of Whoo-in and May Tyrell, of Springfield, Mass.

Miss Hertle's time for the five miles was two hours 17 minutes, 13 seconds.

Miss Hertle increased her lead to 100 yards later on. Mrs. Ethel Lamond was forced out by cramps after over ing two and a half miles.

The New York girl leading the field received an ovation as she cavled along the shoreline but the greatest cheers were reserved for Trudy Ederle, Miss Gatterdam, second place, used a peculiar Indian stroke which sent up streams of water to mark her progress.

Miss Gatterdaff had a lead of about three quarters of a mile on Ederle and Elwell.

Ideal Weather Conditions

Canadian National Exhibition; Toronto Aug. 29.—City C.P.).—Promptly at 9 a.m. today, Eastern Standard time today fifty-two women swimmers plunged into Lake Ontario in the first part of the third Wrigley Marathon swim for the Championship of the world and $10,000 prize. Scores of thousands of spectators were massed along the water front as Allen Gross, the official starter, gave the signal which started the women on the ten mile grind for fame. Ideal weather conditions were ideal for the event, brilliant sunshine being tempered by a slight westerly breeze, which made little more than a ripple on the course. The water was about sixty degrees and promised to get warmer.

The course was a rectangle, two and half miles around. The first five finishers start in the mens swim next week over the fifteen mile course.

TODAY'S THOUGHT

True lasting riches can be placed only on the most exalted foundations.

—LYTT.

ROAD TO SUCCESS

There is a generation of young men starting out on the railway of life today, with high hopes for the future, wonderful ambitions to be realized, wealth to be accumulated and power to be gained. Their schooldays have been completed and their real life is about to commence. Their success or failure will depend upon their willingness to work, and their ability to surmount the most discouraging difficulties.

Typical of these young men there is encouragement and inspiration in an incident which occurred in Toronto the other day when Mr. Harry McCrae, Deputy Minister of Labor, and T. Eaton Company was honored upon the completion of this forty-fifth year in the service of that great organization.

There has been nothing spectacular in Mr. McCrae's career. His rise to his present position is merely the result of intelligence and industry. He was born of Irish parents and came to this country at a time when the Toronto City Baker was establishing the foundation of the present business which carries his name. He got a job, and he stuck at it. He made himself essential to the business until today he holds one of the very highest offices in the directorate.

Young men of today need such worthy examples held before them. We need about the "changing times" and unfortunately the ideas which young people held today are not always an improvement upon the principles adhered to by those who were young a half a century ago. This is the age of speed, and there are too many young men who think they can travel along the road to success, at the same pace at which they speed along the country highway in their fathers' cars. But it won't be done. In the first place they bend, break, and provide unreliable; and they will not always find the road as straight and smooth as a well-kept pavement.

They expect to step out of school into highly remunerative positions and in some cases even the parents object to their off-spring starting at the bottom of the ladder. But it is the only way to make a success of life. High salaries are for experienced men, and before such positions can be reached there is hard, strenuous and discouraging work ahead.

He should Mr. McCrae's pals regarded his future as hopeless when he accepted a position with a small struggling commercial concern, but they didn't realize what energy, faithfulness and ambition would do.

There are just as many opportunities for young men today as there were forty-five years ago—in fact there are more. In all lines of employment the way is open to success and fortune—and to no pathway of rose. It requires patience and application, and a spirit which never recognizes, much less admits, defeat.

A CLOSE CONTEST

The press correspondents are trying to figure out how the various States will vote in the presidential election. It is believed that the solid south will remain pretty solid for Smith and give him 114 of his necessary 266 votes. His next great strength lies in the east, and New York, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Maryland are counted upon to vote for the Governor. Many believe that he may carry Pennsylvania, and if this were to happen it is said it would mean a landslide for Smith. Illinois is not definitely on the Smith list since Brennan's death, but he has almost a certainty of Chicago and the State. Montana, Arizona, Minnesota, Wisconsin and New Mexico are counted upon by the Smith adherents. Oklahoma and Kentucky are thought to be lost to the Democrats. Missouri and North Carolina are doubtful and Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa are counted on as Hoover strongholds with Indiana doubtful. Ohio is pretty safe for Hoover. If he lost that he might lose everything. Smith could carry the east pretty safely to win. On the other hand there is testimony from the west that Hoover will not get a farmer's vote, and that he cannot carry his own state of California. There has never before, in a straight issue between the two parties, been so close a decision at this stage of the proceedings. The Ku-Klux-Klan may swing the balance to the west for Hoover. The vote in the cities may decide in Smith's favor in the east.

TUNNEY AND SHAW

We put Mr. Gene Tunney's name first, because, being in a Shaktan humor, we think he deserves to come before Mr. George Bernard Shaw. As evidence we point to the London despatch, which says that when the two men met Mr. Shaw desires to talk about boxing, while Mr. Tunney will discuss literature. Any one who prefers to talk boxing in preference to literature is obviously entitled to occupy that role. Tunney is kind of put. Him, but Mr. Shaw shows few signs of being weary of that literary pugilism, which has made him famous, which is another reason why Mr. Tunney deserves the premier position. As there will be no reporters at the meeting, the world will miss an independent account of the encounter which should be historic in the annals of boxing and literature. Mr. Tunney's fiancee should be there to encourage him, as handsome Isobel Berners did to Gene. Georges Carpentier, who delightfully mixed writing and boxing, used to shout, as Nelle did in the famous fight with the Flaming Truman "Hurrah for Long Melford," meaning the good right arm.

As Mr. Tunney has lectured to the Shakespeare students at Yale university, he will be able to appraise the man who sent shivers up and down the spines of the pedants by avowing he was a better playwright than the great Stratfordian. But that Mr. Shaw spoke with his tongue in his cheek was apparent to those who knew him and when he got into a dispute with Mr. Arnold Bennett on whether it was easier to write a play than a novel, he went to Shakespeare for his illustration. Mr. Bennett argued that a play was shorter than a novel, ergo, a novel was the most difficult composition. But G.B.S. took a 40-line scene out of a Macbeth and wrote it as a chapter in a novel, which took a page and a half of the 67 Nights weekly. It is hard to compress what you have to say in a small compass and make it understandable. Mr. Shaw shows a great interest in the ladies these days. It was Mrs. Annie Besant who published his first play, and he returns his debt by writing a play about one woman and describing a book to woman in general. We'll have some of Mr. Shaw's plays performed in Canada shortly, and we look forward to seeing them.

A trolley car going east to the depot left the bank a little on the other side of Chown's Factory. The passengers escaped without injury.

Dr. Jas. F. Corbett one of the oldest practitioners in this district, died at his residence on Grove St., last evening. He came of the U.E.L. stock and had lived in Belleville practically all his life.

IN MEMORIAM
(Yvonne McKenna)

Untimely Death destroyed her in her bloom;
Youth, beauty, fortune, place, availed her not.
Nor all the graces buried in her tomb
Nor all the pity by her fate begot.
A father's mourning and a daughter's tears,
Sorrow of kinsfolk, grief of loving friends,
Follow her, and shall hold her through the years.
In dear remembrance, till remembrance ends.

Yesterday about 11 o'clock Percy Glenn who was visiting his uncle Rev. Rural Dean Forneri, of Adolphustown, fell from an apple tree and broke his left arm at the elbow. He was taken to Picton where he was attended by Doctors Karn and Platt. The little sufferer bore his sufferings like a hero. Percy accompanied by his uncle came home last night.

Mr. Clark's B. C. Cowboy has returned from his trip to Winnipeg. He is delighted with that city and its business prospects.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

By No Means

Jane: My dear, Bertie was perfectly priceless last night.

Joan: In what manner?

Jane: Oh, broke again.—Judge.

Contrary Proposal

Suitor: I want to marry your daughter.

Father: What does she say?

Suitor: She is willing—if you disapprove.—Answers.

He Should Know

"Waiter, I ordered a calf's tongue and you brought me a sheep's tongue."

"Sorry sir, it was just a slip of the tongue."—Boob Humor, Madrid.

You're Fired

Hotel Manager: You're a long time blacking them shoes.

New Bootblack: Well! I can't help it—some of 'em was brown when I got 'em—Bulletin, Sydney.

Nobby Home

Master: I have been waiting for my bedding water for half an hour, isn't it ready?

New maid: No, sir, I thought the first lot was too long getting 'hot so I changed it.—Pages Gales, Tverdon.

One of Step

Old lady: My dear, would you care to join in the new missionary movement?

Flapper: I don't mind trying it, anything like the Charleston!—Leiesteir Chronicle.

The Proof To-Hand

Motorist: Hurray! I've passed you by fifty miles! Hello!

Pedestrian: Young fellow! I'm willing to take on fight with you! I hate that guy!—Life.

Naturally

"Why would you rather marry an aviator?"

"It would be silly to discard an ace."—Tit-Bits.

Keep It

Indignant Householder (holding up dead cat): Here, constable, look what I found in my garden. What are you going to do about it?

Constable: Well, you know the law, mum. If it ain't claimed in six months it's yours!

The Self Abuser

The football went through the window of the constable's house.

The wobbly shrew took to the bench.

"Can cause the irate Bobby, and after a long chase managed to catch one of them. Puffing and blowing, he marched to your cell. "You broke my window, didn't you?"

"Yes, sir!" said the miniature international, "and I was running home as fast as I could to get the money to pay for it."

Just An Experiment

Miss Cobden was very rich and Mr. Hanna was very poor. She liked him, but that was all, he was well aware of the fact. One evening he grew somewhat tender and at last said: "You are very rich aren't you, Helen?"

"Yes, Tom," replied the girl frankly. "I'm worth about two million dollars."

"Will you marry me, Helen?"

"Oh, no, Tom, I couldn't."

"I knew you wouldn't," he said.

"Then why did you ask me?"

"Just to see how a man felt who had just lost two million dollars."

OTHER MEN'S THOUGHTS

Although there may be a few exceptions, Percy Williams has demonstrated that the race is to the swift.—Vancouver Province.

Another slot machine vending device has been declared illegal by a supreme court judge. These adverse court decisions in the case of the slot machine are proving a wonderful incentive to inventive genius, as well as a profitable source of income for the lawyers.—Calgary Herald.

There are now enough autos in America to permit every man, woman and child to ride at the same time, and pretty soon all the cars will be able to get gas simultaneously.—Brunswick (Ga.) Pilot.

The present-chess champion of the world took two hours and ten minutes to make one move in a recent match. Naturally there is a certain amount of jealousy in bricklaying circles—Missouri Outlaw.

"Why do I deposit in two Banks?"

"It's just straight business, that's all. Part of my savings I put in the bank around the corner. This account we use freely to get enjoyment out of life, and to meet the payments on our home.

"But it's the other account that puts the backbone into my estate. Immediately I opened this account my 'banker' placed a $10,000 cash bond in a safety vault for me.

"According to the agreement my deposits amount to only 2½% per year but cover interest, principal, and all. Should I become totally laid up the 'Bank' pays me $100.00 a month. And when I die my wife gets the whole $10,000 bond in cash just the same.

"I learned of this plan through some of my successful business friends, who finance this way. Some people call it life insurance."

A Word to the Wise

If a few months ago, good mining stocks had been offered to you at today's prices, you would have regarded it as the opportunity of a lifetime.

Today the cream of Canadian mine issues are available at prices from 25% to 50% or more under levels established last year.

The opportunity is still there, in fact it is greater, because of constructive developments in the interim which have surrounded the equities behind the shares.

Good mine stocks purchased at current low levels and held for a few months give every indication of creating substantial profits.

Why not consult with us in the matter and let us make some suggestions?

THE BULLETIN BOARD

Mainly About People You Know

ATTENDING CONVENTION — Mackenzie Millet, of this city, is in Toronto today attending the Annual Dominion Matchmakers' Convention. He will be there until the convention closes on Friday of this week.

RADIO BROADCAST — Miss Irene Baker, formerly of Belleville, and a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Judge, Carleton St., will sing over the radio on Friday evening between seven and eight o'clock from the King Edward Hotel, broadcasted from Canada's Charity Station. Many who have followed her musical career will probably tune in for her numbers.

GOOD DEAL COOLER — The Weatherman promised us cooler weather and this has been justified. Whereas the mercury jumped to eighty-five degrees above yesterday at noon today it was only seventy-six degrees above. Sixty-three degrees was the minimum temperature today as against sixty-six for yesterday.

RECEPTION WAS GOOD — Radio broadcasts had little trouble in "picking up" the account of the big swim at the Canadian National Exhibition as broadcast by CKCW, the "Chesterfield" station this morning. The reception was excellent, with its static marring the broadcast little. At the Fair a good number of people heard the swim over radios on exhibition.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER. — Last evening a very enjoyable time was spent at the home of Miss Lillian Marchant, 11 Potts street, when the "Bon Ton" and "Live Wire" Classes of the Tabernacle Sunday School gave a miscellaneous shower for Miss Olive Redmond in honor of her approaching marriage. The back lawn was very fully decorated in blue and white streamers with the gifts tied to the trees. Miss Redmond was completely taken by surprise and after opening the numerous presents thanked the girls in a few well-chosen words. After a very enjoyable lunch on the delightful party closed, wishing Miss Redmond every happiness.

AMHERST ISLE HAS COW CHAMP

Amherst Island is in the limelight, in that it is now the home of the champion Holstein cow of Canada—Rets Segis, the latter having won the honors from the previous champion.

R. H. Hepburn, of Amherst Island, is the owner of the champion.

Rets Jensen was born in February 26, 1921, to Mr. and Mrs. Kornelyus Mepse, being bred and raised by L. P. Hagar, at Hay Bay and was a grandson of Lulu Keyes Segis, who established the world's record performance. The dam of Rets Jensen was Stella Pontiac Jensen with a seven-day record.

Through the government inspectors she have made the following records: Seven lapses finished her 36-day lactation period, breaking all records in Canada for such a day milking, producing in this period 34,000 pounds of milk and 1,361.6 over 700 pounds of butter fat.

During one month her cow was milked three times a day. The highest amount of milk given during that time in one day was 82 pounds, and at twice a day-milking 56 pounds, with the largest average at one milking 42 pounds. On commencing the test, she gave 43 pounds a day and finished at 40 pounds, showing an average of 42 pounds per day.

Shipping fever, the public school are now nearing completion.

AUTUMN STYLES IN FULL ARRAY

Merchants Display Latest Models For Milady's Wardrobe

Women, as male in general will testify, is a complex creature but there is one respect in which every member of the gentler sex is on a common footing and that is in their love of pretty things both for personal adornment as well as for beautifying the home. This fact was fully exemplified by the steady stream of feminine visitors to the Merchants' Building at the Belleville Exhibition Grounds yesterday afternoon. Everything the heart could desire was there.

Among the exhibitors of women's apparel was Sinclair's, showing some of the latest models in fall and winter coats with rich fur trimmings. Smart dresses in suits and crepe were also shown.

Wolfen's, Ltd., had on display some very pretty gowns in the new Fall shades and an attractive assortment of Winter coats in the latest mode.

The Walker Store had a particularly attractive booth in connection with a beautiful collection of Irish linen. There was arranged an Irish Weavers' Cottage fully equipped to exhibitors. A lovely luncheon set in beautifully designed shades was noticed and many Irish linen in shades of blue and green lent a touch of color to the ensemble.

Earle and Cook's booth showed a finest assortment of silk tapestries in rich shades of rose and blue, taken by some, time. Axminster and Wilton rugs were also shown.

Woodbury Fur Store were catering to the prevailing demand for fur coats and had many smart models in the fall hats for ostrich and fancy feather trims.

Delaney's were also displaying some beautiful fur coats, one particularly attractive being a coat of seal with deep collar of black fox.

The Hydro Shop had a wide range of kitchenware and electric washing machines on view and the H. H. Chisholm Co. were also showing kelvinators and other electrical appliances.

J. W. Doyle and the Heintzman Co. had a variety of the latest models of orthophonics on view and the latter company was showing grand pianos and other music producing instruments.

The J. J. Haines Company and Leslie's Baby Store had a very neat booth models in new fall shoes as well as an assortment of good looking travelling bags.

The St. Charles Motor Company are featuring a new model Chevrolet in their booth. A wheel, stapled at ten o'clock on Tuesday will be in continuous motion for four days and the lucky one by means of an affixed speedometer the number of miles it will be recorded. The one guessing nearest the correct number will receive a set of Seiberling all-weather tires for a passenger car.

The Modern Dry Cleaners are also featuring a contest. A picture display, using the old method of dry cleaning and the mattress is being shown and a prize will be given for the best name given the picture.

Wray's Home Furnishings booth is particularly attractive and is of great interest to those embarking on the state of matrimony. All manner of beautiful home furnishings are shown and the wide variety of lamps in their various colors makes the booth a very pretty corner of the building.

Smith Hardware and Howe and Hagerman's booths display the latest in bathroom fixtures as well as stoves and electric washing machines.

The F.-S. Automobile with its exhibit of the ever needed antifreeze reveals the fact that stuff will soon be upon us.

Other exhibitors are the Singer Sewing Machine Co., and the Dominion Co., showing a fine assortment of sewing machines and the Citizens' Gas Co., are introducing a new drink called Sillicious which is said to be ice local agents.

Dolan the Druggist has an especially noticeable booth. Among the various toilet accessories is a beautiful grey pearl tone ivory manicuring set which would grace milady's dressing table in a most effective manner. Laura Secord Candies also have a fine display place in their booth.

All together the exhibits make a most attractive showing and fully demonstrate the policy of "buying at home." Prospective shoppers whether in the interest of the home or the wardrobe would do well to visit the local merchants' showing where they can procure the same products as sold in larger centres. Doubleday come and see for yourself.

ANCIENT FINERY IS FOUND NEW MEXICO

Minneapolis, Minn.—Necklaces and bracelets that bedecked warriors and maidens of a people who lived in New Mexico centuries before the Aztecs swept out of the northwest to rule Mexico have been found in the Mimbres valley of New Mexico by an expedition from the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. The jewelry was made of semi-precious metals.

The party sought traces of the Mimbres race. It was in charge of Albert E. Jenks, University of Minnesota anthropologists, and had headquarters at Harley, N.M.

Social and Personals

Miss Gertrude Alford has returned from a most enjoyable trip to the British Isles, visiting friends and relatives there.

Miss Hilde Gill who was operated on by Dr. Stobbs for appendicitis in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday night, is doing nicely.

Bud Cook, who has been attending the 49th R. C. for the past six months has completed his course and left to day for his home in Sherbrooke.

James Coughlin, Mrs. Coughlin, their daughter and son from Windsor, Ontario, will be the week-end guests of Cole Roscoe Vandervaeer and his sister, Mrs. (Col.) M. J. Hendrick.

Dr. Coughlin and Mrs. Coughlin, Belleville Ontario School for the Blind, will dine with Col. Vandervaeer and Mrs. (Col.) M. J. Hendrick, Saturday, September 1st.

Miss Mary Aird, of Darvel, Ayrshire, Scotland, is the guest of Major and Mrs. Bumpstead, Bleecker Ave. Miss Aird arrived in Montreal on Saturday last on the White Star Liner, Laurentic.

Miss Annie Ickell and Miss Josephine Ickell have returned to the city after an extended visit with friends and relatives in the western provinces and California.

DUG 3 MONTHS FOR TREASURE

But Failed To Find It; Discovered "Sacred" Stone Instead

Honolulu, Hawaii—An aged women's dream of finding buried treasure by four men busy three months digging a pit 20 feet broad and 20 feet deep in a lonely yard of one of Honolulu's residential districts.

As they dug ancient Hawaiian charms were brought into use to protect them from evil spirits.

Mrs. Pele Kaiwalani, 89 years old, was the dreamer. In her vision she explained, she saw the Hawaiian goddess of fire and the volcano, Pele, pointing out a spot in the yard where there was $50,000 in five boxes covered gold pieces of the old Hawaiian monarchy. The money was supposed to be contained in the bow of a canoe.

The excavation work went on for weeks before it came to official attention when two motorcycle officers reading the register for sixth automobiles noted the unusual activity.

At the end of three months no treasure had been found, but the excavating continued. The searchers had, however, unearthed a peculiar stone, differing in composition from the others in the shaft, and this has been declared by Hawaiians as the "sacred stone."

A midnight of the treasure hunt was the arrest of Kaalawai and Kaiwi, Hawaiians, one of the diggers, the chief of police and the owner of the land. The charges were dismissed when it was found that the treasure sought might be found. The stone held, had invaded plan of good omens from spirits was not criminal.

Indians from the King of Prairie. The Cross and the Fleur de Lis are planted on the land, thus claiming it for France. The Indians then become Champlain's friends and dance a tribal dance in his honour. The next scene depicts the coming of five Indian Chieftans to the court of Queen Anne, who with regal bearing hands them the Communion Plate.

Swiftly the scene changes to the Battle of the Plains of Abraham. Here the immortal Wolfe and the gallant Montcalm each meet their death, and the scene is realistically played by the French and British soldiers in the Pageant. About 1813, the Loyalists come to Ontario, and many settled in this district. Scene six shows an encampment of some of these Loyalists, who left home and friends to be loyal to their King.

Lady Belle Gore is the guest of honour at a Ball given by the people of Myers Creek, and a short time later the name of Myers Creek was forever taken away and that of Belleville put in its place as a mark of respect for the Lady Belle Gore. The last and final episode in which every member of the cast is shown, represents Belleville as she is today, a fine, growing Canadian city, loyal to Britain, and ever willing and ready to lend her help to any who may need it in a good cause.

Miss Freeland, the directress, is to be congratulated on the splendid work which she has done with regards to the Pageant. She has had only two short weeks in which to train the several hundred young people under her care and she has certainly done her work well. After the Pageant, a magnificent display of fireworks was put on by Professor Hand of the Hand Fireworks Co., of Hamilton. The Pageant will be repeated each night during the Fair, as will be the vaudeville and fireworks.

IN MEMORIAM

LOCKWOOD—In loving memory of our dear wife and mother who passed away one year ago today, August 29th, 1927.

No one knows how much we miss you
No one knows the bitter pain
We have suffered, Since we lost you
Life has never been the same.
In our hearts your memory lingers,
Sweetly tender, fond and true,
There is not a day, dear mother,
That we do not think of you.
—Children Dorothy, Raymond, Maxwell, Gordon and Lillian.

Remembrance is a golden chain
Death tries to break but all in vain:
To have, to love, and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart.
The years may wipe out many things,
But this they will not,
The memory of those happy days
When we were all together.

EMOTIONS PLAY SOME QUEER TRICKS

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

An old adage says that "Seeing is believing." But is it true? Can our eye eyes actually deceive us?

Try an experiment.

Take a walk with a friend. Be sure that you both look at the same shop window, then each of you write down what you saw.

There is no question but what each of you will write the same account in its broader outlines but that you will differ markedly concerning details.

One may say that there were seven cars on display and the other five, for instance. The way the coats were made will be variously reported as well.

Now then, if our eyes can deceive us this way, how much more is it true when emotion enters into the account?

Suppose a commotion takes place in the street. Several persons look out of the window to witness what is going on.

Let us say that after a while the quarrel in the street, which happens to be between two men results in shoot ing.

Take two eye-witnesses to the affair and ask them what happened. Regarding the main facts both will probably agree. But concerning the details there will be wide discrepancies. Both witnesses might agree, why the man was that fired the shot.

But whether the man shot in self-defence, or whether first there were blows—hardly what happened before the shooting—particulars such as these would be variously noted.

If we only depend upon our eyes perhaps we could always be certain of what we see.

But other factors enter for consideration. Our eyes are not really photographic lenses. Our brain is not a camera.

To be sure, an image is perceived through the lens of the eye just like in a camera. Then this image is stored away in the back part of the brain, in the occipital lobes.

But if the person does not pay much attention to what he sees only a blurred and inaccurate image is recorded.

Accordingly, when he tries to recall the image he adds to it, he pieces it together, he tries to make it logical and convincing. And therefore he doesn't recall exactly what he saw.

The accounts of any eye-witnesses must therefore of necessity be different. That is why seeing and believing do not always dovetail.

MOTHER OF TWINS HELPED

Restored to Health by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mitchell, Ont.—"I had little twin babies and for quite a while after I was so weak I could not do my work because of pains all the way up my legs at the back. I also had headaches and got very little sleep. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and soon I was able to get up and do my work. I have taken three bottles and I am fine, do my work without trouble and am gaining in weight and strength. I will gladly recommend the Vegetable Compound to anyone."—Mrs. F. Starrow, Box 220, Mitchell, Ont.

This question is really a most important one in court trials, and as regards the testimony of eye-witnesses.

Often a witness would tell the truth and actually believes he is telling the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

But can you not see the possibilities for error and perhaps consequent miscarriage of justice?

Wilful Wives

By MILDRED BARBOUR

The Game had separated the two as couples before Hal could reply, but during the next round, she called sweetly: "Bring me at noon tomorrow, will you old dear? I've something frightfully important to tell you."

Her languid eyes said plainly to him: "There's one for you."

Irma said loftily to Hal: "I think your friend is positively mean. But, by I don't see how a man of your calibre can stand being crowed upon like a barber's pet dove."

He smiled to himself. But, to his intense relief, Irma suggested that they leave.

They parted in the foyer of the apartment house, where you remember, were Irma's good night words.

Hal's gallant bow in acknowledgment of this promise covered a mental reservation that she wouldn't... if not if he could help it, and he rather thought he could.

CHAPTER 32

Another Free Couple

While Irma and Hal were bickering at the night club in New York, Marguerite was lying in a deck-chair on the Imperial, staring at a dim white light that rose and fell rhythmically. On one side of her, Stephen Brockton read, his book held sidewise to catch the rays from a deck-lights on the other, his sister slumbered peacefully in her chair.

Marguerite was not jealous of her own thoughts, and they were the natural thoughts of a dutiful and orderly little spirit that has rebelled suddenly and acted on impulse. She was regretting her decision, just as she had known all along she would. It seemed incredible to her, that she could ever have done such a thing as to close her apartment, dismiss her servants, pack her bags, and write that letter to Hal. Leave home and husband, to go gallivanting off on a several months' voyage with people who were, after all, almost strangers.

"I must have gone temporarily out of my head with the heat. Or the loneliness," she thought. "Sure I couldn't have been sane. Oh, I wonder what Hal will do about it?"

During the afternoon, after the limit had sailed and she had waved good-bye to Irma, chic and gay and smiling on the pier, she had kept up bravely. Her courage hadn't flagged for an instant. Irma Brantony's presence had stimulated her, as always. Then there had been the unpacking to see to.

"I think you're going to prove the ideal roommate," Laura had said, as she watched Marguerite's careful and orderly arrangements of toilet articles, gowns, hats, and shoes. "Now, I can understand why your home was so attractive. You have a gift for creating charming surroundings out of the most unlikely material. I can't imagine worse fate than having Irma for a roommate."

"Irma has taste," Marguerite had defended her friend staunchly.

"Purchased by expert assistance," remarked Laura dryly. "She also has oceans of powder and various concoction to scatter about the place. I dare say, you're familiar with her dressing room."

Just before the hour when tea was served on deck, and while Marguerite was putting the last touches to her task, there knocked at the door.

"Come up on deck, you two. What's the use of going to sea for the air, if you're going to stay in a cabin, fooling around with trunks?"

They followed him up, and Marguerite let him help her in a chair and throw a light rug across her feet.

"You're not strong. Mustn't take chances, at first, Laier, you'll be hard as nails."

She thanked him gratefully. She had never had little attentions like that from Hal. Steve held her cup of tea while she nibbled a biscuit.

"You'll soon get used to balancing things against the roll of the ship," he laughed.

"I hope I won't be sick." She smiled faintly.

"A touch of it won't do you any harm," he assured her. "They say every one's better afterward. Sort of tones you up."

Laura, from her chair, laughed outright.

"My heavens, Steve, you're the world's worst optimist."

"I feel optimistic today," he told her. "For the first time in months. All winter and spring I was slashing around in the blue depths. I guess it's the sea-air."

Laura smiled.

"I brought a book with me," Steve was telling Marguerite. "If you've finished your tea, I'll read aloud to you a bit, if you care for it. Maybe it'll put you to sleep."

He read. But it didn't put Marguerite to sleep. She lay with eyes wide open, staring at the horizon line. For the first time since she had met Steve Brockton, she wasn't listening to a word. Her thoughts were back in New York in the apartment she had quitted a few hours before.

Had the cook taken everything from the refrigerator before she left? Were all the taps in the baths turned off? Had she remembered to close the window in Hal's dressing-room? Had she done with the key to the linen-closet? She might send fresh towels before he moved to his club!

Steve was reading Tolstoi's "Resurrection." He closed the book after a while and looked down at her.

"Well, what's your opinion of that theory?"

She was bewildered. She hadn't heard a word he had been reading. She stammered:

"I—you—what's yours? You tell me first."

He looked disappointed. "I wanted yours. I thought it would be interesting. If I speak first, I'm likely to impose my sentiments with my own."

Her thoughts desperately: "I must get hold of that book and read it as quickly as possible. If I tell him I wasn't listening, he'll be hurt. That's what Irma always did."

It occurred to her that possibly Laura had read "Resurrection," and could be drawn into a discussion of it while Steve dressed for dinner.

"Let's postpone the argument until this evening," she suggested, with unwonted guile.

He shrugged. "As you please. Care to walk a bit?"

She struggled out of her rug and took his arm—but she hadn't got her sea-legs yet, and their promenade on the deck was not a great success.

"You'll be all right, once you're used to the motion," he assured her, but it was with relief that he led her to her chair and Laura. Laura as a companion for his next round.

And then there was dinner and music and coffee, and, over the coffee, Steve brought up the subject of Tolstoi. Laura had not read "Resurrection," so Marguerite hadn't been able to learn anything about it from her. Steve sought gave it it and, when they went on deck, he returned to the book without any further suggestion of reading aloud.

So, on her first evening at sea, Marguerite lay and, started at the wide, strange, unfathomable ocean and experienced a certain feeling of futility and a great deal of remorse.

SINCLAIR'S

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

What is right? Should a young lady invite a young man to her home or should the young man ask to call?

M. F.

M. F.: Either is correct. The young lady is privileged to ask the young man to her house to spend the evening, or the young man, if he is sufficiently interested in the lady, may ask her if he may call some evening.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

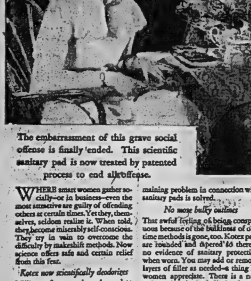

I would like to know if it would be proper to invite a young man to spend a week-end at my home? I have never seen this man but was introduced through a letter and have been corresponding with him since. He is a very nice young man and I would like to know him better. Should my mother send an invitation along with mine?

UNCERTAIN.

UNCERTAIN: The invitation should be extended by your Mother. Uncertain, as it would be most improper for you to do the inviting.

"Amazing—so many women must learn this from others"

—writes a Toronto hostess

The embarrassment of this grave social offense is finally ended. This scientific sanitary pad is now treated by patented process to end all offense.

WHERE smart women gather socially—or in business—even the most attractive are guilty of offending others at certain times. They themselves, seldom realize it. When told, they become miserably self-conscious. They try in vain to overcome the difficulty by makeshift methods. Now science offers safe and certain relief from this fear.

Kotex now scientifically deodorizes

Millions of women have learned to depend on Kotex within the last ten years. It has brought them better health, greater peace-of-mind under trying conditions. Now comes an added advantage. Kotex chemists have discovered (and patented) a process that absolutely ends all odour. After several years of research, the one remaining problem in connection with sanitary pads is solved.

No more bulky cushions

The awful feeling of being conspicuous because of the bulkiest of all-time methods is gone, too. Kotex pads are beautifully soft and flat! No there is no evidence of sanitary protection when worn. You may add or remove layer of filler as needed—a thing all women appreciate. There is a new softness, besides both filler and gauze have been specially treated. Finally, Kotex is so easy to dispose of, eliminating all need of laundering.

Deodorizes . . . and 4 other important features:

1—Softer gauze ends chafing; unlike filler shreds it no other substance can;

2—Corners are rounded and tapered, an evidence of sanitary protection under any gown;

3—Deodorizer—safe, thoroughly, by a new and exclusive patented process;

4—Adjust it to your needs: filler may be made thinner, thicker, narrower or broader;

and

5—It is easily disposed of no unpleasant laundry.

A Comfortable Frock For School Days

A one-piece dress of navy blue flannel with plenty of roomy comfort—is an excellent contrast for school wear. Box pleats attached to a yoke at both back and front give all the freedom that the most tomboyish girl could wish, while matching bloomers also anticipate strenuousness. Mother will approve the practicability of the separate blue linen collar and cuffs, which are detachable for laundering.

She thanked him gratefully. She had never had little attentions like that from Hal. Steve held her cup of tea while she nibbled a biscuit.

"You'll soon get used to balancing things against the roll of the ship," he laughed.

MANUFACTURED GOODS ARRANGED

Walker Hardware and T. Eaton Companies' Booths Attractive

One of the most important attractions with the Bellerville Fair is the Manufacturers' Building which fronts the entrance and catches the eye upon entering the grounds. As the name indicates, the building contains the products of factory and mill, and for the prospective builder the exhibits would be found prove of great interest. All of the exhibits have been so arranged as to create a fine impression upon the visitor. The Fair Board Officials have allotted sufficient space for each exhibitor to arrange the products in a manner that will appeal to the general public and while all of the stalls were not occupied last night, it was expected that today would see the additional number of Manufacturers take advantage of this opportunity. From a local standpoint it would appear that local Manufacturing plants have not realized the value of placing "Made in Bellerville" goods before the patrons of the Fair. Innumerable Bellerville plants have not taken the trouble to arrange an Exhibit of their products.

The first booth contains Mason and Risch pianos, both square and upright. Mason and Risch have, through the years, built up a reputation in their line that is unequalled and the instruments that are on display are in the latest model and design. The tone of the pianos is pleasing and they are well finished. The Mason and Risch Company is an old established firm and their reputation is known throughout the breadth of the Dominion of Canada.

Walker Hardware have one of the prettiest displays in the building. The scene is taken from nature with a vast painted heather waters and a complete view in the smallest detail. The Walker Hardware specialize in outfitting the Camper with paraphernalia of every description. The foreground is of evergreen trees and nestling among the trees is a boat drawn up with the tent in the background. Among the feastres is the ever-ready Coleman lamp, Johnston Outboard Motors and Fishing Tackle, all of which the Walker Company find in constant demand.

The Victorian Order of Nurses Booth contains photos and charts demonstrative of the work done in being carried on by this branch. The Victorian Order of Nurses carry on their duties faithfully and many needy families have been assisted in trying times by these loyal workers. The well-baby clinic is only a part of the regular routine and here mothers are taught the correct methods of caring for infants.

Bellerville Gas Company which is a comparative new business, is the list of Exhibitors at Bellerville Fair have on display gas ranges and stoves. Bellerville City Council have spent thousands of dollars on the local plant and householders find it most convenient with the quality of the gas greatly improved.

Springer Locks are known the world over and orders from foreign countries have recently been filled. Springer Locks are made in Bellerville by Bellerville people and Mr. William Springer the original organizer, has been forced to make an addition to the plant in order to cope with the increasing business.

Arthur Sills will furnish builders with mouldings, both for doors and windows, the famous Brantford roofing and hardwood flooring. Mr. Sills has a splendid booth of his manufacture while asbestos and particularly pleasing is a miniature Gas stove which is entirely built from the material which Mr. Sills has for sale.

Electric goods including Vacuum Cleaners, Edison Mazda Lamps, and rills are featured by the Quinte Electrician in their show display. Columbia Orthophonics compose the exhibit by Mr. Elliott, the local agent for the Company and the booth is most attractive in appearance.

Visitors to the Big Fair who contemplate the purchase of a Radio are advised to look over the Kolster model by the John Lewis Company.

The T. Eaton Company have one of the most elaborate displays in the building and the arrangement is especially attractive. Women will be interested in the Fur Coats, Evening Frocks and Dresses while in the men's side of the booth the latest models of Suits, Autumn Coats and Haberdashery are to be seen.

Gyproc and Insul Board products are the features of the Houston Company who took over the quarters of the Sisco Company last night. The Houston Company supplies every form of building material at the best prices. Houston's have been located in Toronto for some years past and sold out their interests there and came to Bellerville last year. Mr. Fred E. Houston is First Vice President and Treasurer, and a welcome addition to Bellerville's growing list of business men.

Chas. Hyde is local agent for Dominion Stover manufactured at Pene tang, and he finds a ready market for them in this district. Gas stoves and hard coal stoves are arranged in the booth and the Dominion Stover Company have kept abreast of the times and from year to year plan improvements to their products.

McIntosh & Bell, Manufacturers Agents and Jobbers, supply confectionery, candy and tobacco lines to the district merchants. The color scheme of the booth is especially attractive and visitors have taken a keen interest in the exhibit.

C. B. Scantlebury has been dealing in Fuel in this branch 71½ years and for a quarter of a century and he offers the latest in coal and paper for home and office. Mrs. Baalis has a novel exhibit of wild flower paintings which call forth admiration and add a decorative effect to any room in the house.

"Tlzol" is a compound used as a hand cleaner and undertakes find it almost essential. It removes grease from the hands and will erase spots from clothing or wearing apparel "Tlzol" is known as the "Waterless Handcleaner". And the Walker Hardware have been appointed local agents. "Tlzol" is applied over grease stained hands and the dirt is easily removed. Flogiage is a floor varnish that dries in four hours. It can be used on boats, cars and farm implements. Walker Hardware are local distributors for Flogiage as well as Johns-Manville asbestos roofing which is exhibited in the same booth.

F. E. Gordon, of Dunsford, was severely injured when a hay fork fell and struck him over the head.

100,000 PEOPLE FLOOD SUFFERERS

Washington, D.C.—The Red Cross reports that 100,000 persons have been affected by floods in the Mississippi Valley this year and that one-half of many counties have been inundated as during the spectacular disaster a year ago.

In describing the situation, the relief organization said the only reason why public attention has been directed toward conditions this year is because they lack the dramatic feature of the 1927 rise.

SPIRITED RACES AT LOCAL FAIR

One Unfortunate Accident Marred Yesterday's Turf Program

Patrons of the racing game were given a fine treat yesterday afternoon when the 2.22 pace and the 2.10 class were run off. The 2.22 went five heats before a winner could be decided, but the 2.10 was over in three straight heats. Only one accident marred the day's racing and luckily it was not serious, although it undoubtedly spoiled any chance which the horse in question might have had of winning.

In the second heat of the 2.22 class, Della J. fell when about half way around the track for the first time. Her driver, A. Bowen, jumped clear and was uninjured, although a bad mix-up of horses was narrowly averted. This was the only accident of the afternoon, the track being fast, but no record times being made. Joe McGregor, owned by W. Hillock, and driven by the same man, won first money, after winning the fourth and fifth heats.

Billie Duke, owned by L. Fraser, of Forest, won the first heat, with Dick Sunday, owned by T. McCracken, of Trenton, and driven by Billy Smith, of Bellerville a close second. Fred Patch owned by F. Brown, of Centerville, won the second heat, beating out Billie Duke by a nose. In the best heat of the afternoon, Dr. Byron, who had not been counted in the running up until that time, beat out Joe McGregor by the narrowest of margins. In the fourth heat, Joe McGregor was not to be denied and won hands down. This made a fifth heat necessary, and only the four winners were allowed to run. Joe McGregor won by half a length from Billie Duke, with Fred Patch third and Dr. Byron fourth. Peter Wonder, and Eleanor May were scratched. The fastest time was made in the second heat, when Fred Patch stepped the mile in 2.17 flat.

Only four horses faced the starter in the 2.10 class, Alfred Zik having been scratched. This race was won in straight heats by Sid Hall, owned by Dr. Whitley, of Goderich. Jack Abbe, owned by J. Akey, of Peterboro, took second place three times in a row, and Sisco finished third three times. Norine Todd was a consistent fourth. The fastest time was 2.13 1-2.

REGENT

You'll like "Powder My Back." It is amusing and intensely human. Miss Rich is superb as the scarlet lady of the stage, and her support is excellent. The modern scene sequences are of exceptional beauty. Tomorrow at the Regent.

BELLE

Rin-Tin-Tin, the "world's best-loved dog, is here seen in a story of the desert country that is over-shadowed by one of the thrilling dramas which have preceded it. There have been fourteen flinty pictures before this one, and with each a growing multitude of friends for the amazing dog who saw the light of day on the French War Front.

"Rinty of the Desert," outcast among his lowly land-dogs, gets to the city by means of a truck, and there makes himself at home with old man Markee and his grandchild, Mary, keepers of a small clime museum. Mason, a partner of Markee, flees the old man, and when Rinty and Mary's husky lover, Pat Casey of the R.C.M.P., in search of him—Pat is attacked by a strange and ferocious dog, and Rinty is sentenced to be shot by a firing squad. Then comes the whirlwind play and counterplay which fills the screen from then on with Rinty at his greatest! Tomorrow at the Belle.

ANOTHER $300C FINE HANDED OUT

Liquor Export Companies At Windsor Having a Rough Passage

Windsor, Aug. 26.—For the second time within two days a fine of $3,000 and costs was levied on a border liquor export company by Magistrate D. M. Brodie, in Windsor police court today. The fine was assessed on the Inter Transit Corporation which has been on trial since Friday last on a charge having illegal possession of liquor under section 92, sub section one, of the Ontario Liquor Control Act.

The judgment in today's case, unlike that in the case of the Canada Export Company, fined Monday, was delivered orally from the bench immediately after arguments in the case were heard. The fine was paid immediately.

BEAVERS AND ONTARIOS MEET IN A SUDDEN-DEATH GAME TONIGHT

PRINCE LAYS CORNER STONE OF HOSPITAL

Aberdeen, Scotland, Aug. 26—Prince of Wales on his way south from Balmoral castle, where he had exchanged good-byes with the King, appeared today before a great crowd which watched him lay the corner stone of a new hospital here. This was his last official engagement in Great Britain before leaving on September 6 with his brother, the Duke of Gloucester, on an African tour.

PEACE PACT NOW GOES TO SENATE

Other Nations Express The Wish To Sign Treaty Outlawing War

Ashington, Aug. 26.—What will the United States accept as the condition which interests Washington, now that the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty has been signed.

The answer to it at this time is that there appears to be no reason why the pactshould not be ratified promptly but this view is qualified by the admission that many things can happen in international and domestic affairs between now and Winter to change the current outlook.

Fortified by an undeniable public mood toward international amity that will make armed conflict less likely and still absolve United States from foreign entanglements, the administration is expected to put the full force of its prestige behind the treaty when it is presented to the Senate.

Asleep in Sign

Paris, Aug. 26.—Effect of the signing of the Kellogg-Briand war renunciation treaty already was apparent today. Nations in various parts of the world had announced their desire to become parties to the pact.

The original signatures were still wet when telegrams and cables of adherence by other countries began to pour into Paris. The governments of Denmark, Jugo Slavia, Roumania and Persia were among those that announced this wish.

The compact is now open to adherence by all civilized nations. An official invitation to join in the pledge has been handed by the French ambassador to Maxim Litvinoff, Russian Soviet commissar for foreign affairs at Moscow.

Two Local Teams In Bay of Quinte League Finals

Walter Gerow's Ontarios will meet Alan Meagher's Beavers in a sudden-death game tonight at the armouries here to decide the championship of the Bay of Quinte Ladies' league. The winners of the game tonight will be pitted against the Kingston Tropenes in the Eastern Ontario finals. Following the series with the Napanenes the finalists will meet the Toronto champs. This game tonight will be the most important fixture of the season and fans are advised not to pass it by. The Beavers have taken the majority of the games from the Ontarios but in their last meeting clan Gerow came out with the bacon. The Beavers had but to toss their bats in the ring to defeat the Ontarios but Napanee proved a stumbling block to them. On the other hand the Ontarios vanquished the Leafs every time out. The Ontarios emerged first place with the leavers occupying second position and rather than play a three game series it was agreed that it should be a sudden-death affair.

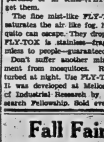

The Ontarios are highly favorited to take the Beavers into camp although the latter may upset the apple-cart. Mollie Gray will pitch for the Beavers while Hilda Matthews will twirl for the Ontarios. Tonight's game will be a battle for blood and as there is little love lost between the two, local ardent baseballers will be assured of a nip and tuck struggle. The game will commence promptly at 7 o'clock.

JITNEY DRIVERS TO TAKE CASE THROUGH

Toronto, Aug. 26.—Following representations made yesterday by a delegation of Hamilton Jitney Drivers Association, Hon. W. H. Price, Attorney General of Ontario announced today, his intention of granting the Association a fiat in order that they may take their case to the Supreme Court.

MOSQUITOES SUCCESSFULLY REPULSED

Just a Few Strokes of Spray-ing With FLY-TOX and Humming Pests are Silenced Forever

Mosquitoes are the most dreaded pests but with FLY-TOX they are as harmless as flies. They pierce the skin and bleed it as the bite itself does. FLY-TOX kills mosquitoes on contact. Spray it on walls and ceilings in case of bites from scalping these vicious pests.

No matter where mosquitoes seem in bedrooms, porches, garages, piazzas or in tents—FLY-TOX will get them.

The fine mist-like FLY-TOX spray saturates the air like fog. Not a mosquito can escape. They drop instantly. FLY-TOX is harmless to humans. Guarantees to people—guaranteed.

Don't suffer another night's torment from mosquitoes. Rest undisturbed at night. Use FLY-TOX freely. It was developed at Melon Institute of Industrial Research by Rex Research Fellowship. Sold everywhere.

FARMER'S HOME BURNED TO GROUND

Chain Store Will Locate in Anglo Block---Success Attends Fair

ANGLO - AMERICAN BUILDING SOLD TO WEALTHY CHAIN STORES CO.

U. S. Interests Absorb Valuable Front Street Property

CASH SALE

Deal Consummated Through Petch Moores, Local Agent

It was announced this morning that the Anglo-American Building on Front Street has been sold; the firm making the purchase, whose name is withheld for the present, was represented in the deal by Mr. W. J. Waller of Detroit, agent. It is understood for one of the wealthy American chain stores planning to locate here.

The building was the property of Miss Kathleen McMahon, of Tacoma, Washington, and the deal was put through by Mr. Peter Moores, agent of Miss McMahon here for the past four years. The purchase price is $45,000 cash, of which an initial payment has already been made, the balance to be paid on or before September 15th.

The purchasers of the building are planning a store 132 by 60 which will necessitate extensive alterations to the present structure; the ground floor and basement will be used. The store will replace those now occupied by, Meagher's Clothing Store and the Hydro Shop; the latter has a number of years lease and arrangements will be made to take this over.

The sale of the building will not affect the ice cream and candy business of Mr. Moores, the other store in the building. Mr. Moores will continue in business at the same place and will act as local agent for the new firm.

BANK MANAGERS ARE ENTERTAINED

Mr. A. Y. Snider Is Host To Colleagues At Banquet

Mr. A. Y. Snider, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Commerce, was host yesterday to managers of the Standard Banks in this district, which includes Brighton, Kingston and Trenton. Bank of Commerce managers from Belleville, Napanee and Madoc were also his guests. A "get-together" meeting was held in the afternoon.

In the evening Bank Inspector Bailes, Toronto, entertained the visiting bankers at a dinner held in the Quinte Hotel. These meetings are held every six months but it was only for this one that Standard Bank officials were present. Mr. John Elliott, manager, and Mr. J. Whelan, account, represented the local branch of the Standard Bank.

TINCUP IS RECALLED TO MAJOR LEAGUES

Chicago, Aug. 30.—After ten years absence, Ben Tincup is to have another chance in the National League. The thirty-five year old Oklahoma Indian was purchased by the Cubs from Louisville of the American Association yesterday and was ordered to report at Cincinnati today.

FLIERS' BODIES TORN TO BITS

Milford, Pa., Aug. 30.—The bodies of M. M. Merrill and Edwin M. Horne were found today by Arthur Mc-Carthy, according to a telephone call from Port Edly. They were said to have been mangled by the plane crash and resulting fire.

The bodies were located about six miles from Milford in the heart of the almost impenetrable forest. McCarthy said that the gasoline tank of the plane which the two men were flying from Buffalo to New York appeared empty.

The bodies were almost torn to pieces, McCarthy said.

KIDDIES WERE LOST

Charlie Hanna Rescues Youngsters To Their Anxious Parents

With the swirling crowds at the Exhibition, kiddies are bound to stray from their parents' sides and three youngsters were wandering aimlessly about, following the Baby Show yesterday afternoon. They were taken in charge by Charlie Hanna the genial President who finally located the worried parents of the lost children and sent them on their way rejoicing.

DIES SUDDENLY IN TRAIN COACH

Miss Mary E. Smith, Belleville Visitor, Passed Away

Miss Mary E. Smith, of New York City, died on the Canadian National train No. 19, at an early hour this morning, from heart failure. Miss Smith, who had been visiting with her niece, Mrs. William Lockyer, 62 Bridge street west, through the summer had intended to return to her home on Tuesday, but was stopped by the Immigration Officers on the United States side. Although she had lived in New York City for the past seven years, she had placed all her papers in her trunk and it had been sent on ahead, with the result that she was not allowed to continue her journey.

Wednesday was spent in trying to cross the border, and early in the evening the unfortunate lady decided to come back to Belleville and have her trunks shipped back here so she could get her papers. Somewhere west of Cornwall, however, she passed away, the Coroner's jury finding that death was due to natural causes. The train was held up in Belleville for thirty minutes while Dr. Tennant, the Railway physician, examined the remains which were then removed to Tickell's Undertaking Parlors.

The deceased was an aged lady, being in her seventy-fourth year, and had been visiting relatives in Toronto for the past five months. At the inquest held this morning at Tickell's Undertaking Parlors, before Coroner Dr. Boyce and Crown Attorney Donnan, evidence was given by Dr. Tennant, the G.N.R. physician, as to the cause of death, and identification was made by Mr. William Lockyer and Constable Pringle. The remains will be sent to the family home in New York tonight, being accompanied by Mr. William Lockyer.

EXPLAINS MEANS OF CURBING CORN BORER

J. M. Carl, corn borer inspector, had one of the most interesting and decidedly instructive tests at the Fair this morning which explains the menace of that destructive grub, the corn borer, and the ways of getting rid of it. He has on hand a great deal of corn stalks which should be obtained by all farmers visiting the Fair, as this is one of nature's most-destructive pests.

NEW YORK FLIGHT POSTPONED

LeBourget, France, Aug. 30.—Sergeants Anskari and Lefevre, French airmen who planned to take off this morning on a non-stop flight to New York, postponed their departure on account of head winds. They plan to start the flight as soon as weather conditions permit.

"Big Bill" Reaps Princely Sum From Gullible Visitors

There's one born every minute, as has that grand old man of the Big Tents a flattering wish to be even one truly exemplified than at the Midway here.

"I'm Big Bill
From over the Hill
I've never worked
And I never will."

And Big Bill doesn't have to work as long as he can get the gullible, the easy ones, and there seems to be plenty right here in Belleville. Bill's "racket" is to offer a box to the public, neatly wrapped and tied up. "Folks, this box

JUDGING LIGHT HORSES TODAY

Sun Shines Brilliantly On Surging Visitors At Fair

Although nearly ten thousand, nine thousand five hundred and nine people to be exact, attended Belleville's great exhibition yesterday it is not expected that so many will attend today. Nevertheless officials confidently expect that there will be no scarcity of pleasure seekers.

Today, starting before noon, people have commenced visiting the fair grounds and this afternoon the Midway and grandstand as usual, were thronged with perspiring humanity. The judging continued today in all departments, the Agricultural Building being the centre of bustling activity on the part of the judges starting at an early hour this morning.

Despite the fact that the Midway was the recipient of a well-conducted raid by police last night, it was doing a roaring business again this afternoon.

At nine-thirty this morning the judging of Light horses on the half-mile track also and there were many fine entries in this division, making it hard for the judges to choose the prize winners.

This afternoon, as usual, the trotting races proved a big drawing-card for the crowd. The races this year seem to be better than ever and there has been a fine, hard track.

The Argyll Light Infantry band vaudeville acts and other attractions in front of the grandstand all combined to make another big day.

ENDS DAYLIGHT SAVING PERIOD

Brockville, Ont., Aug. 30.—Brockville's period of daylight saving, which went into effect on Sunday, June 17 is to be ended on Sunday morning next.

KIWANIS SPECIAL

Miss Ethel Catherwood of Canada's Olympic Team Coming Here

It is now virtually certain that Miss Ethel Catherwood, world's Champion Lady High Jumper will be at the Kiwanis Karnival this year. Miss Catherwood besides being a wonderful high jumper was the Queen of Beauty at the Olympic games and should be given a great reception when she arrives here.

COUNTY EXHIBIT AT TORONTO FAIR

Products of Hastings Soil Displayed To Exhibition Visitors

Hastings County may well be proud of her showing at the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, as the display is unsurpassed in the Agriculture Building. While attending the Exhibition on Tuesday, Mr. John Elliott visited the exhibit which is in charge of Mr. Wilson, district representative, Stirling. "A most creditable showing," Mr. Elliott stated to the press today.

The County Council members deserve great credit for having taken advantage of the splendid opportunity offered to bring to the attendance visitors from all parts of Great Britain, Canada and the United State the advantages which this county has to offer to those seeking a location in Canada.

Every vegetable grown in Hasting County has its place in the display which is artistically arranged.

WERE OPERATING GAMBLING GAMES

Pleaded Guilty In Police Court And Were Assessed Usual Fine

Provincial and City Police combined last night when they raided two booths on the Fair Grounds and took six men into custody, charged with operating gambling devices. Some were gambling for money, and others were operating what might be termed a "skin" game. This morning before Justices of the Peace Newton and Elliott they all pleaded guilty and were assessed fifteen dollars and five dollars costs each.

These men are not connected with the Lethbridge Midway, but are merely concession men, and thus should not be confused with the others who are running what are believed to be honest games. The names of the men arrested are Earnest Delabaie, an Italian, Frank Hardy, United States John Karman, Montreal, Richard McMahon, United States, Francis Anderson, United States, and William McCook, of Kenora.

SIDNEY FARMER'S HOME TOTALLY DESTROYED BY FIRE EARLY TODAY

Blaze of Unknown Origin Burns Buildings To Ground

NEIGHBOURS ASSIST

Frank J. Knight of Sidney Township is Heavy Loser

A disastrous fire, breaking out about four-thirty this morning totally destroyed a fine house and drive-house, the property of Frank J. Knight, 4th concession of Sidney. Today only one wall remained standing to bear mute testimony of the conflagration which had occurred. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Mr. Knight is an unmarried man, but his mother lives in the house with him. Both of them were able to escape from the house without suffer ing injury. It was stated today that although there was some insurance placed upon the house and drive-shed it would not nearly cover the loss fifteen the flames.

The furniture in the house, too, except for a few pieces was destroyed in the flames. Neighbours of the Knights turned out of bed to render any possible assistance to check the flames, but when they arrived the buildings were a seething inferno. A bucket brigade could do nothing towards quenching the fire.

Knight was a prosperous farmer of this district, but the blaze will mean practically almost a complete loss for him, it is stated.

Mr. Knight's farm was adjacent to that of J. A. Deline. Speaking to the Intelligencer today Mrs. Deline stated that they had been awakened by the fire and that the men of the neighboring countryside turned out to help, but could do nothing as the fire had made too much headway. "It was a fine house of the Knights", she stated, "and was built quite large, with a living room, dining room, bedroom and the drive house attached."

SCHOOL OPENS NEXT TUESDAY

Premier Howard Ferguson Will Take Part In Official Opening

"There will be no official opening of the new Collegiate and Vocational School for at least a month, when Premier Howard Ferguson will officiate in that capacity", stated Mr. Peter Deyell, Minister of Public Education to the Intelligencer today.

School begins the Tuesday following Labor Day, which falls on the 4th of September, but no ceremonies of any kind will take place on that day or before the Premier arrives.

Questioned as to the condition of the ground in front of the new school Mr. Ellis replied that it would be all levelled, and used as a campus, but at present, at least, there will be no lawn.

51ST SESSION OF LEAGUE COUNCIL

Premier Mackenzie King Attends Gathering First Time

Geneva, Aug. 30.—The fifty-first session of the Council of League of Nations opened today, the meeting is gathering at a private meeting to discuss the various agenda questions.

The warmth of the welcome extended to Premier MacKenzie King of Canada, the first Canadian Premier Minister ever to attend a council meeting was typical of the feeling of yesterday. All members of the Council extended cordial greetings to Mr. King.

Another feature of this session was the appearance, for the first time of a representative of the new Chinese Nationalist Government. In accepting Wang King King, the Chinese Minister at Brussels as the Chinese member of the Council, the League gave official recognition to the new regime.

TEN THOUSAND ATTENDED FAIR

Second Day of Exhibition Sees Biggest Crowd In History

All attendance records for the Belleville Fair were broken yesterday when ten thousand people passed through the turn-stiles. The grounds were thronged from early morning until late in the evening and the Directors are now assured that the Fair will be the biggest financial success in history. The half-holiday and the effect of drawing many city visitors and the grandstand and midway did not satisfy crowds both for the afternoon races and the pageant in the evening.

Chas. Campbell, City Engineer, made a check of the cars which were parked within the grounds and reported that thirteen hundred vehicles occupied almost every inch of available space. Perfect order prevailed and there was no untoward incident to mar a perfect day. The officials at the various points less every assistance in handling the crowds and within five minutes of the conclusion of the fireworks display the stands were empty. The only excitement came when the police closed one of the booths operated by the Lotteries Sisters. An investigation will be held by the authorities. The Exhibits in the various buildings were visited by thousands of people, the Manufacturers and the Merchants' displays being especially attractive, proved to be the most popular.

The Historic pageant was even better than on previous evening and Miss C. Freeland directress corrected the few mistakes which were noted on Thursday night. Mrs. Freeland had but three weeks in which to rehearse the spectacle and the affair won hearty approval with the patrons of the Fair last evening. The vaudeville acts are of high class and the feats of bike taking parts called for admiration. The Fireworks which followed the pageant were equal to the best brilliant and the display brought the affair to a fitting close.

MUSKETRY STOLEN FROM RIFLE RANGE

Toronto, Aug. 30.—Military and police authorities are investigating the theft of two Lewis guns, a thousand rounds of ammunition and possibly a number of rifles from the storage bungalows at Long Branch Rifle Ranges. Chief Constable Draper of the Toronto force says he suspects the guns and ammunition have been stolen by bank bandits. The guns are supposed to be of thetype used in some of the recent bandit raids in the Province of Ontario and the United States and Canada have been informed.

Gorgeous Display of Fur Coats Attracting Feminine Fancy

Attracting the feminine element by the thousands this year, is Woodley, Furrier's booth, with its gorgeous display of that which is closest to a woman's heart, a fur coat. There are twelve coats on display, fifteen chokers and seventeen hats in the latest styles. Nearly $5000 worth of fur is on display.

The women, too, are irresistibly drawn to Findale's stand, with its multitude of dresses of every style, while the Walker store, and its display of beautiful linens has greater attraction for the feminine visitor.

Visitors today should not miss seeing the automobile display. Nearly every make of car that is sold in Belleville is to be seen.

THE WEATHER

Fresh southwest to northwest winds, a few scattered thundershowers, but mostly fair; cooler tonight.

CUP IS WON BY EARDLEY WILMOT

Last Dinghy Race Sailed At Bay of Quinte Club

The last race for the Club champion ship was sailed yesterday in a light but steady breeze from south west. The course was sailed in windward and return, twice around. Six boats cheir over the line with the gun, Prescott, G. Graham and Martin scrapping on the lee end of the line, with Wilmot coming up through their weather and Walker and B. Graham slightly astern. Martin and Wilmot pulled out ahead of the rest of the fleet and engaged in a battle which was to last all the way to the finish. Two minutes after the start Prince worked into Martin's wind and passed him at close quarters. After that the title red took no never headed but Martin was always right on her heels and at one time was so close that only quick playing prevented a foul. The remainder of the fleet were fighting manfully and rounded the first mark in close order. Unfortunately the writer is not able to give their positions.

The time at the finish was, Wilmot, 2.03; Martin, 2.04; G. Graham, 2.05; Walker, 2.10; Prescott, 2.11; B. Graham, 2.13.

Mr. Wilmot's "Flame" thus wins the August Wednesday cup and the club championship, for which the Wednesday points during July and August count. The standing is as follows: Wilmot, 42; Martin, 32; G. Graham, 28; Prescott, 24; Walker, 12; B. Graham, 8; Medd, 2; Wills, 1; Deacon, 1. Mr. Freeman on behalf of the Skipper's Diamond Company has present ed a handsome shield emblematic of the Club Championship.

Mr. P. H. Wills of Canada & Bigrar has presented a fine trophy to be sailed for on Labour Day in a series of races which will commence at One O'Clock sharp. A number of races which will be held for this trophy and boats will be exchanged at the completion of each.

BANFF—LAKE LOUISE AND THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

A region, which each year visited from its natural beauty is the one which makes a direct appeal to the vacationist. If that region has good hotel accommodation and every facility for vacation enjoyment, then greater is the appeal.

For the person taking a late August or September vacation no better choice could be made than that of Banff and Lake Louise in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. There one can enjoy the finest of golf, tennis, horseback riding, mountain climbing —and now exhilarating, the warm pools afterward.

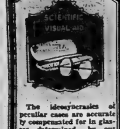

Year day at the world renowned Banff Springs Hotel or Chateau Lake Louise will be a delight long remembered.

Low summer tourist fares in effect until September 30th. Full information, rates, etc., from nearest Canadian Pacific Agent. Mr. J. W. Davies, D.P.A., C.P.R., Belleville, Ont. 4308a

IN MEMORIAM

FRENCH—The following poem was written by Mrs. Gilbert French, in memory of their son, Malcolm, who died for Home and Country, Aug. 30th, 1918.

He's never quite left us, our Loved one who passed.
A thousand sweet memories
Are holding him fast.
We miss him, and mourn him
In silence unseen
And live in the memories
Of joys that have been.

We saw him in his infant days/
Grow up from year to year
Then he would some day be a man
We never had a fear.
Tenderly we watched his every step
'Twas our united joy
To think what he would be some day
Our ops and only boy.

When war broke out to us he said
"My conscience tells me go"
For I must do my duty Dad
They need my help you know.
He leave dear mother, don't worry, please,
For I'm no better than they
Who suffer and die on Flander's Fields
With their loved ones far away."

A chance to do something, be someone
To prove there's a purpose in life
With a vision of manhood before him
He bought to take part in the strife.
One day—there came a message,
That message gave us pain
For the one we loved and lived for
Would never come back again.

Some day, sometime, our eyes shall see
The faces kept in memory.
Who grew to highest manhood
Modeled on Christ's plan
Who died for others, died a perfect man.
Only a little while! and then with Him we'll be.
We do believe we'll meet again
Our one and only son.

WEDDINGS

ORRIL—HANNA

St. Michael's Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at nine o'clock this morning when Miss Flossie Hanna, B. M., of Bowmanville, Ontario became the bride of Mr. John Francis Orrill of Belleville. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Father Killeen.

The bride was daintily attired in a gown of navy georgette over navy georgette crepe and she wore a close fitting metallic hat and brown fox fur. Miss Isabel Orrill acted as bridesmaid and wore a becoming frock of powder blue georgette with hat to match. Mr. Percy Hanna, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man.

Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Queen's Hotel. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Orrill left by Canadian National for a wedding trip to Peterboro and Ottawa. On their return they will take up their residence at Poplar Plains Road.

READY—O'HALLORAN

St. Helen's Church, Dundas Street, West, Toronto, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday morning when Marguerite Louise O'Halloran, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph O'Halloran, of Orillia, was united in marriage to Mr. Francis J. Ready, of Kirkland Lake. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Webster. The bride who was given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Mr. E. A. McCabe, of Peterboro, entered the church to the strains of the wedding march played by Mrs. A. E. Marchand. She wore a gown of white satin and georgette embellished in brilliants with veil of embroidered net bordered with Brussels lace and carried a shower bouquet of Butterfly Roses and Baby's Breath.

Miss Mildred Hillman, of Belleville, very capably performed the duties of bridesmaid, she wore a gown of orchid georgette with hat to match. Alfred Hillman, brother of the bride, performed the duties of best man.

Following the ceremony the wedding breakfast was served to the bridal party at the Queen's Hotel. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Orrill left by Canadian National for a wedding trip to Peterboro and Ottawa. On their return they will reside in Belleville.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. Coulby, 154 Albert St., a delightful birthday party was held in honor of the third birthday of little "Billy" Coulby. Twenty-five little boys and girls were present and a happy time was spent in games and contests. Supper was served on tiny tables on the lawn under the trees and Mrs. Glen McKinnon and Mrs. Croof assisted Mrs. Coulby in serving. About 6.30 the little guests returned to their homes after having spent a most enjoyable afternoon.

LATEST MODELS OF TRUCKS AND CARS MAKE ATTRACTIVE DISPLAY

Local Dealers Present Newest Designs At Belleville Fair

One of the big features of the Fair is, of course, the fine display of the very newest models of automobiles and trucks, advance models in many cases, which represent culmination of automotive engineers efforts during the past years.

From the four cylinder models improved now until some of them compare favorably in performance, and comfort with many sizes, to the straight eight models in quite a jump, but they're all at the Fair.

Bright colors again predominate, and the crowds yesterday thronging the various tents which house the cars, were impressed with the new beauty of the models on display; all day long interested visitors filled the automobile tents and gave ample evidence of the growing popularity of the motor car, also bespeaking even greater value than several years ago.

Several of course in the display are new to Essex Hudson with its famous 110 horse-power engine is another great seller in the class, one of its smartest models is a maroon colored coupe with rumble seat. The Hudson Essex cars are displayed by J. B. Boyce local dealer.

J. T. Warren, Chevrolet agent has a fine display of this popular four cylinder Gener.l Motors product, along with the Oakland. Chevrolet has been an outstanding favorite with the public; several of the models are finished in bright colors, and disc wheels are prominent.

The New Fords are of course there; the Roadster, Tudor, Touring and the very latest model on which production has now begun, the Four-Door Sedan attractively finished in brown. The new Ford models, having proved to the satisfaction of the public that they are all that the makers claim for them—and that's a lot—are claiming a big share of the auto show interest; they are on display by Belleville Motors.

Chandler is the only eight cylinder model at the Fair, the new Chandler "75" at $1195, being the latest model, a smart low priced eight cylinder car powered with the famous Chandler engine, renowned for its speed, and efficiency. L. E. Cooper, local Chandler agent has arranged a fine display of the various Chandler models, both sixes and eights.

Allegattet, Belleville Fair Motor Show for 1928, supervised by Mr. Allen MacConnell, is better than ever, and one of the things at the Fair which certainly ought not to be missed.

Between heats the regular events on the 1928 Buick models, shown along with the new model Peerless by the local factory branch of the McLaughlin Motor Car Company, Limited. The new Buick cars have created a sensation in the motor world, and the attractive display of the various models at the Fair indicates as a glance the remarkable progress Buick has made in the industry as "Canada's Standard Car.

Open cars seem to be increasing in popularity; it is seen in Riggs Motor Sales Display of the New Dodge cars the newest car to be offered the public; Dodge is shown in both open and closed models, the roadster being finished in bright yellow, and is a most attractive car. It is a six cylinder job, chart in appearance and performance.

Hudson-Essex models are well represented with a coach, coupe and Sedan of each, these has achieved the enviable reputation of being the world's largest selling six, and models for the growing popularity of the model car, also represent even greater value than

PEGGY ALLERTON WINS 2.14 CLASS

Thrilling Finish Mark Second Day's Racing At Belleville Fair

Yesterday afternoon's races at the Belleville Industrial Fair were productive of some fine sport, the best time being made by Peggy Allerton the eventual winner, in the third heat as she hosed under the wire in 2.13 flat. This was in the two fourteen class, after getting away to a poor start in the first heat, which was won by Peter Direct, she redeemed herself by winning the next three heats and first money.

The 2.25 trot, was won by Irene Pringle in three straight heats, but not before she had been made to realize she was in a race. Liberty Bell, owned by Joe Payne, of Bloomfield, in the first start, took second money away from other more experienced horses, when she had started pretty by finishing fifth in the first heat. In the next two heats however, she pressed the winner hard and took second place twice, thus getting the second money. Ridge-O-Lee, owned by the Nowinski Brothers, of Weston, took third money, and Cornelia Cranston, owned by W. Briggs, Toronto, Driver C. Chapman, fourth.

In the 2.14 class, Peggy Allerton took first money, being owned by Dr. E. Jones, Peterboro. Driver same.

Peter Direct, S.C., owner L. Bennett, Port Hope, Driver A. Symons.

REGENT

"Powder My Back" is a whimsical, sparkling story of "back stage" people and some who are "up stage." Irene Rich is cast as Petsy Foy, star of a travelling musical show known as "Powder My Back." The reform candidate for a second term as mayor takes exception to the seamy attire of the players and closes the show.

Prizel, scheming to get even, is thrown from an auto at the mayor's door, and, against his protests, but with the insistence of his impressionable son, is carried into the said gentleman's home. Gossipy tongues wag. The son falls in love, forgetting his young sweetheart, the father frets his wave of ambition for civic betterment, subsiding. Then develop fireworks which would credit any Fourth of July celebration. Now a the Regent.

EARTH WATCHES MARS' APPROACH

Planet Comes Closer Day By Day, And Scientists Are Excited

London.—(By The Canadian Press) —Mars is again approaching the earth, and Mars, who is ever on the Martian's track is getting excited over the prospect of at last winning from the ruddy planet one of its most intelligent beings.

Two years ago, when Mars was in a very favorable position, changes were noticed compared with the observations of 1924. The large area of vegetation known as the "Lake of the Sun" had completely altered its shape and shifted several hundred miles northwards. The "canals" had also changed their configuration.

Was it due to Martian agriculture on a colossal scale or was it the result of a catastrophe of nature? asks the Daily News. The extraordinary fact remains, however, that the "canals" as seen in 1926 had reverted to their appearance in drawings made half a century ago.

In December, when the planet will be at its nearest again, scientists hope to solve many riddles and to gain some clue whether rational intelligence lies behind the movements of "The lake of the Sun" and the canals."

Dr. R. h. Waterfield, the News astronomical correspondent, writes that the approach of 1926 was probably the most remarkable since those of the late 'seventies and early 'eighties when Schiaparelli made his discoveries of the Martian "canals." For two years ago things happened on Mars that had never happened before. Certain prominent features of the planet's surface had undergone an entire transformation since the previous apparition. Of these the most remarkable was the case of that large, dark oval marking the so called "Lake of the Sun."

This is large area of vegetation covering several hundred thousand square miles; not only had it changed greatly in shape since 1924 but it had been shifted bodily northwards several hundred miles, a distance greater than its own diameter. Moreover the system of "canals" leading in and out of it had taken on a quite new configuration.

"Such a phenomenon is entirely unexplained," says Mr. Waterfield. "Was it an earthquake or some stupendous hurricane or tempest that wrought the change?—for none has as yet been observed. There are no large oceans on the planet into which the water of which countries can sink or rise. One tentative suggestion was that this was just another manifestation of the existence of intelligent beings that we might have been witnessing the fashioning of land upon a vast scale.

"But there were other remarkable changes on the planet. Thus in the region of the Greater Syrtis the configuration of the canals and the dark markings had reversed to the form which they exhibited in the drawings of Schiaparelli half a century ago.

"And this is why this looming of the planet is going to be so exciting. Will the Lake of the Sun have moved back, to its position previous to 1926, will it have remained the same, or will the changes have progressed further in the same direction?

"Moreover, we are going to find changes of the same kind in other parts of the surface? Finally, will the study of these 1926 Martian manifestations shed any new light on the riddle of the arcsale or, in fact, on the whole of this mysterious little world?"

NECESSARY TO AGAIN RECONSTRUCT NATION

London. (C.P.)—The necessity of reconstructing Scottish nationality apart from England, and of establishing a Scottish Parliament to handle Scottish scales, was proclaimed from the Wallace Memorial Cross, at Robroyston, recently. These Scotsmen who have the present movement so much at heart have announced that attention to contest every constituency in Scotland at the next general election and to have already 18 candidates have been secured.

The Scottish Nationalist candidate for West Renfrewshire, said that the two characteristics that had from time to time tended to the lowering of he country were susceptibility to flattery and love of "blawhoves". All the wars of the Treaty of Union many individuals were flattered to think that they were to go up to London.

"During the 300 years since the treaty Scottish nationalism has been gradually taken away by central government in London," he said. Only a few months ago he had visited Central European States, and he found that in many respects they were more advanced that Scotland.

They did not need to fear the Kopsch people. The Ruthenian people would give them self-government. If they demanded it, he declared.

NOVA SCOTIA WANTS RETIRED NAVAL MEN

London.—(By The Canadian Press)—Even Scotia is making a bid for retired officers of the British Army and Navy to settle in the province by offering them, with a "generous" climate conditions" and fertile landscapes resembling those of Scotland, in independence. Strongly encouraging for retired middle-aged officers with growing families, who are urged to settle in the glorious Annapolis Valley, where there is 100 square miles of apple orchards country and where only 20 percent of the land is laid out with trees.

A special envoy has been sent to London and London newspaper correspondents on behalf of the special appeal Nova Scotia has for Britishers. Col. Robert Innes, Deputy Minister of the natural resources, says the province can offer to prospective settlers 30% acres farm, with 14-roomed house, barns, stables and sheds complete, at $10,000. "In due course we intend to develop Nova Scotia as a playground that will attract people from the British Isles, and Europe," he is quoted as saying.

BEAVERS ARE SOUNDLY BEATEN BY ONTARIOS IN SUDDEN-DEATH GAME

Will Now Meet Kingston Supremes In Eastern Finals

SCORE 12-2

Ontarios Far The Best Team In Last Night's Game

Belleville Ontarios captured the championship of the Bay of Quinte Ladies' Soft-ball league by disposing of the Beavers in a sudden-death game at the armouries before a good crowd last night by a score of 12-2. The Ontarios will now meet the Supremes of Kingston in the finals for the Eastern Ontario honors and the right to advance into the play-downs for the Provincial title. The Ontarios had things all their own way last night and the Beavers were not in the picture although they put up a plucky battle and went down fighting. The Ontarios staged a slugfest in the seventh inning to scge six runs and clinch the verdict. The hits tell the story of the game, the Ontarios having nicked Mollie Gray for a total of twenty blows while the Beavers secured but five hits and these were kept well scattered by Hilda Mailboys who did the flinging for the Ontarios. The Ontarios were complete masters of the situation from the start and a smart double play in the last inning closed the affair and sent the Beavers into the discard. Mrs. Matthews struck out four while Mollie Gray fanned one. The Ontarios pounded out three home runs, Audrey Kelleher, Hilda Matthews and "Peg" Holway doing the trick. Miss Gray got the Beavers only circuit-drive.

Miss Holway poled out her drive over the fence at a critical moment in the game with two on bases. Evelyn Cook supplied the chief fielding feature when she managed to get under a long fly by Miss Cameron in the seventh frame. Enid Thrasher made at least two sensational catches for the Beavers. Audrey Kelleher ended the game with a lightning double play when she took a liner to double Pearl Tuttle off third base.

The Ontarios went into an early lead scoring one in the first while they notched another in the second chapter. They added one in the fourth and fifth, two more in the sixth while in the ninth they hammered the ball hard and drove out half a dozen more. The Beavers tallied in the third and sixth. A close decision by Vern Weir on second went against the Beavers and it could have been called either way.

EXTENDED TRIP FOR LOCAL BEAVERS

Belleville Beavers soft-ball team will be given a trip to Toronto over the holiday and will clash with some of the leading teams in the Queen City in exhibition games. This trip was promised to the team if chances would permit and the players paid strict attention to playing the game and the instructions from their coach es during the season.

The girls have earned it, have applied themselves, and this year have played real good ball; have conducted themselves as ladies at all times; so on Sunday next will leave here for the

SPORTOGRAMS

A report from Chatham in a morning paper, writing about the O. B. A. A. play-offs, says: "Belleville, winners of the Central Ontario League, are awaiting the winners of the T.A.B. A."

What supreme courage! Let a little 12-3 victory like last Wednesday's walk-over give one that idea? Knowest thou not, fellah, that Belleville will be here this Saturday to take a most excellent lick ing?

This game should be one time the local Central Leaguers who have worked so hard all summer should get a break and a crown.

Walt Schultz, assisted by Stan Burgoyne, has brought the team along in wonderful style. No less than four players who were Junior's last year are making their senior debut with the club this season.

Lady Luck has made it a point to keep away from Oshawa's senior ball team practically all year. One run margins have been all too frequent with the other team taking the long end.

Belleville captured first place with little difficulty but the race for the place position and a chance at the leaders was neck and neck right up until Kingston took the gate due to lack of finances.

Even then Peterboro had a chance, coming here to meet final elimination when Duke Dainty, who has been the mainstay of the pitching corps all year, lamed the Petes while Jeff Hardill's offerings went on long journeys.

The game last Wednesday was terrible we'll admit, but not until the seventh inning when the dam broke loose. Dainty may be sent right back and there is nothing the veteran would like more than to take a fall out of Walt Gerow man, who have been his jinx all season.

The loss of Herb Wolfe is a terrible blow and the likable outfielder will always be missed around the circuit. His teammates will go into the game fighting harder than ever. Herb was bound Oshawa would win the league.

Several of the players were up to Toronto yesterday to get a line on Hornsby's stance. Nipper Jones sat right behind the plate until some blibber asked for his check.

Hornsby is a wonderful leader and has his men working in close harmony although one wouldn't think so to look at the National standing.—Oshawa Times.

SOME COMPENSATION IN THE COMMON LOT

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

The special interest paid to the memory of Beethoven, pointing the greatness of his musical genius, brings to mind once more the sadness in which most of the world's geniuses have lived. Almost, invariably are geniuses misunderstood. Frequently are they unhappy. Often are they considered insane! And when we stop to consider what genius really is, all these misfortunes that genius is heir to, become understandable.

In the first place, if a genius is any thing at all, he is different. He sees the world differently. Within his own brain he builds up a world of imagery that is unique.

And in consequence they do not harmonize with the world as most people do, and they become unreliable persons, personalities that are frequently considered insane.

But the greatest geniuses, although peculiar and usual in many respects, are not insane.

Shakespeare certainly was a genius. But, John Ruskin also said he was not insane, he was in addition a marvelous poet, a shrewd hard-headed business man who always wrote his plays with an eye to the box office."

For was Beethoven insane. He had many idiosyncrasies to his character make-up. He was irascible, over-idealistic, intelligent men and women are not. Genius may be supermen, yet they are but human.

Nowadays we are very tolerant of the peculiarities of our fellow men, but we still fall into the habit all too readily of calling anybody who differs radically from us a crank or possibly a "nut."

Whatever we do, let us at least respect genius.

Let us remember that often they have suffered, that they have paid dearly for their unusual gifts.

And often too, dogged, their ability and the honors paid them by fellowmen, these geniuses are most unhappy.

It is probably a happier state to be superior rather than to be average.

Certainly, however, it is questionable whether it pays to be a genius no matter what the rewards may be.

Advice to Girls
By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am 17 and have always been considered somewhat of an extremist, I am liberal in my views on the relations between intelligent men and women and I try to be tolerant of other viewpoints. It is the irony of fate that I should fall in love with what might be called an old-fashioned gentleman. I can believe woman's place is at the kitchen range. For two years I tried to dismiss him from my mind because I had so little in common. But he has made me realize that love is our common meeting ground and now we are engaged to be married.

Although he has not made an issue of it, I know he would like to have me give up my job when we are married, and while I am a conventional married life. Now Annie Laurie, I cannot do that. All my life I have been building a career for myself and now that my position is secure I don't want to shatter it. Shall I break my engagement and go with my job or give up my job for marriage?

ENIA.

ENID: I am sorry, I think you are answering your own question when you say, "I cannot do this." You talk of your career and compare it to conventional married life." Do you know of any marriage other than a home and family of your very own? Think of the years ahead of you, when young or girls will cease to be charming for your place in business. When, perhaps, you will not be quite as sure of your hold as you are now. Then will come the day when you regretfully think of the conventional married life you now scorn. You say your talents has made no issue of your keeping up your work after marriage. Why not talk the situation over frankly with him? If you are as thoroughly in love as your letter implies you will be willing to meet him half way, and I know he will do the same. Otherwise you would have to assailed with doubts. But think long and earnestly before you decide to give up the truest career of all—marriage and a home and family of your own—and love.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my teens. I have been going with a boy near my own age for three months. While keeping company we fussed continually. He asked me not to go with any other boy. I did not promise. I went out. So later he saw me with a fellow and times. But this time it seems he is angry. We made up three or four times but he doesn't still care whether we make up or not. He is now going with another girl. Do you think if I leave him alone for a week or two he will come back? Do you think he really cares? He has proven in every way that he does care. He is the only boy I have ever loved and I can't live without him. What can I do to win him back.

ANXIOUS.

ANXIOUS: Do just as he is doing, my dear. Go about with other friends and try to forget. You are not engaged, and you are both free to have as many friends as you may desire. And, for goodness sake, don't go writing or phoning him and let him see your heart hanging on your sleeve all the time. If he thinks you don't care, and he really cares anything as all for you, he will soon find that a good time with others he'll be ripping the doorbell the first thing you know.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

Should a girl ask a young man to call her on the phone, or wait until the young man asks permission to do so?

A. M.

A. M.: In a casual way she might ask the young man to call on her sometime. And too, she can invite him to her home. However, if he is sufficiently interested in gaining her friendship, he will make the first advances and ask her permission to call.

"Wilful Wives" By Mildred Barbour

CHAPTER 33

Not According To Plan

When she crept into her room that night, Marguerite thought: "I'm certainly going to be punished for all this."

Just what she meant by "all this" she didn't quite know.

Laura Brockton watched her with kindly eyes, but she said nothing. She understood that this was a crisis that Marguerite would have to weather alone.

She awoke heavy as ocean and very nervous. When she stepped out of her berth, having lain for a long time, staring listlessly at the sea through the port-holes, the floor of the cabin seemed to rise up to meet her, and she sank into bed. On getting up a moment later she fell to the floor.

Laura was waiting for her bath. When she entered the cabin, Marguerite opened her eyes and tried to speak.

"Hush," said Laura. "You poor kiddie.....Don't apologize.....I know just how you feel, I've been through a dozen of times and I've travelled on boats all my life. It's just like love affairs.....You never know when you're going to hit you."

She busied herself making Marguerite comfortable and mixed a dose of something that she took from her travelling-bag, while the girl started apathetically at the ceiling.

"You're awfully good to me," murmured Marguerite, in a whisper-like little voice. "I'm sorry to be so much trouble."

"Trouble!" laughed Laura. "My child, I'm just like a hen without a chick to mother, when I haven't some one to care for. I wanted to be a nurse, but the family put its foot down on the idea, as families have such a disastrous way of doing, sometimes. Otherwise, I might had my niche in the world, by this time, instead of being a silly old globe-trotter."

When Steve heard that Marguerite was ill, he was honestly distressed. "Gosh, I hope it doesn't hit her hard. She's such a frail thing."

He wandered forlornly about the deck most of the day. Laura stayed with Marguerite, and he had not responded to any of the friendly overtures from other travelers. He preferred to remain alone and look around over rather carefully, for this would be a long journey and could be made or marred, by a bad beginning.

As it turned out, Marguerite was seriously ill, even dangerously so. The ship surgeon removed her to hospital quarters. She had every attention, but she remained ill.

Steve said apprehensively to Laura: "People do die of seasickness don't they? Wouldn't it be too ghastly, if anything happened to Marguerite while she is in our care? After all, it was our fault that she came on this beastly voyage."

Laura made no comment. She too was worried, but she didn't want Steve to see it. He was becoming more and more morose. The trip was turning out to be everything but the pleasant thing he had anticipated. Every one seemed to be having a good time, except himself and Laura and poor Marguerite.

He hadn't the heart of make acquaintances, so he read a great deal, but, somehow he didn't find much pleasure in it.

"And I've been promising myself a vacation with books for years," he lamented to Laura.

He decided that his flagging allegiance to literature was due to the fact that he had no one with whom to share his feast, no one with whom to discuss things. He reached the stage when his sense of humor was a thing of torture to Laura every time he made a witty remark. Her laugh was a shrill, screaming thing, that grated on his nerves.

He tried to remember when Irma had been sick, and he couldn't think of a single instance. Very, very rarely, she pleaded illness as an excuse for not paying a week-end visit to his rather sedate New England family, but he had a strong suspicion that, the moment he was out of the house, she was out of bed and telephoning friends to come in for bridge or dancing.

"Of course, she'll ruin her health with that, stuff and be as bad as Marguerite," he thought....but not very convincingly.....having watched Irma time and time again, mixing lobster and rarebit and ice-cream at some midnight supper and going to bed afterward to sleep like a child.

At the end of nearly a fortnight, Marguerite staggered up on deck, supported by Laura and a ship's nurse. She was looking more like a ghost than a girl, but Steve drew a breath of relief.

"Ah, at last, the worst is over," he thought.

If he had known what the future had in store for him.

WHAT'S NEW
(From a Woman's Standpoint)

Pigskin gloves with colored cuffs are new and smart for Fall wear.

Lisle mesh hosiery, which was so popular this summer, will be a favorite choice for sports and general wear right through the autumn.

While the fur collars on the new coats do not show a great deal of change, the cuffs are quite different. For instead of being merely muff shape, the fur now spirals up the arm like a snake.

Some Helpful Hints For Busy Housewives

A substitute for whipped cream is—Slice a very ripe banana, beat it to a pulp with a fork, add a little sugar, and it can be used as cream.

Some household cleaner or salt sprinkled over a doubled newspaper is excellent for cleaning off the soiled iron. Rub the hot iron over it several times, then over a clean cloth before ironing.

Federal Commission To Protect Radio Reception For Amateurs

Washington, D.C.—Drastic but extensive use of picture transmission may seriously interfere, with reception of audible programmes the Federal Radio Commission is taking steps for the regulation of this new radio service to the public.

Commissioners O. H. Caldwell and Harold Lafount have been designated to draft regulations concerning the sending of pictures or facsimiles, by stations in the broadcast band, Mr. Caldwell, who is in charge of technical matters for the commission, has the speech, which can be eliminated written station owners, engineers and by attaching a filter. The commission manufacturers, outlining the problems is taking testimony to find out at what and requesting suggestions for their times picture transmission of either solution. class should be permitted in the public interest.

"It is my understanding that the systems now in use operate under two conditions," Mr. Caldwell said. "In Class I there is no audible programme sent during the period of picture transmission. Therefore the wave is wholly given up to a series of whistles which renders it temporarily useless to the average broadcast listener.

"In Class II, pictures are transmitted during the same period as speech. A listener, without a picture receiving device, will hear on his loud speaker a high whistling as a background for

TODAY'S THOUGHT

Like I know not what then art,
But know that then and me must part.

BARNABULD.

AFTER PRISON, WHAT?

Changing times bring changing customs. There have been notable prison reforms in Canada in the last decade, but there are not more important than co-ordinated efforts being made to rehabilitate and re-establish those who have run afoul of the law, after they have paid their debts to society to the prisons and penitentiaries. We read that at the conviction of police chiefs in Toronto whole-hearted sympathy for the ex-convict in his struggle to rehabilitate himself in society was expressed by the delegates. The change has many times been made by habitual offenders that they had been denied the opportunity to re-establish themselves—that they were hounded by the police, that they were dismissed from honest employment when their prison records were revealed to their employers, in other words, that they were given no chance to live down the mistakes they had made. There is no doubt that's was basis for the criticism and it is equally certain there has been a notable improvement in the last decade. The man who has made a false step paid his debt and who seeks to become a good and useful citizen with now find the police ready in the majority of cities, we think. After outlining the modern penitentiary system to the assembled chiefs at the convention a few days ago, Brigadier, W. P. Hughes, federal Inspector of penitentiaries, stated that for years he had been trying to interest the government in the problem of the ex-convict. He had met with little success, he was forced to admit, in that quarter—though recently the co-operation of the minister of Justice had been forthcoming. Governments inaction in this regard and the total lack of restoring these ex-convicts upon police departments and social agencies, and Brig.-Gen. Hughes paid tribute to the chiefs for the whole-hearted manner in which they had co-operated. The feeling of the convention, however, was that a serious gap between the work of penitentiary reform and the re-establishment of the ex-convict in society remained to be bridged. The government that closes its eyes to the problem of restoring ex-convicts cannot evade responsibility for the development of habitual criminals.

DOUBLE TRAITORS

If anything further was needed to show that war is tainted with villainy, we have it in the forged letter which was reported to have been sent by Sir Auckland Geddes, the ambassador's secretary of state to the foreign office, to M. Aristide Briand, French foreign minister. Just as the leading nations of the world were gathering to sign a treaty to abolish war among them, this spurious document was published. Its intention was obviously to create suspicion and distrust among the nations, to make it not prevent the understanding to which the civilized world was coming. Its repercussions have not yet ceased, and may occasion unhappy incidents. Forgery, the art of scoundrels, has been used before in international relations. The forgeries around the British general strike and the United States-Mexico relations are fresh in the mind. People will look with suspicion upon all unofficial disclosures in future. But what are we to think of the men who connect these infamous documents, these international poison-pen writers? The harm an ordinary forger or libeler does is confined to the comparative few. Here the welfare of millions is affected. The men who through hate, or the desire to gain by war, are doubled-dyed traitors; they are traitors to the country they helped with their nauseous citizenship, they are traitors to humanity. Few would grieve if they met the fate allotted to those whose national treachery is discovered in war time.

SPOILING LANDSCAPE

Signs are all very well in their way, but there is a logical location for everything, and we cannot understand the ignorance or psychology displayed by some advertisers who have a fair billboards. There are often placed in positions which cannot avoid giving offence and the resentment of the spectator is transferred subconsciously by the product of which the advertisement tells, and a prospective customer is given a negative suggestion, which, as salesmanagers tell the men they send out on the road, is very undesirable. Still it seems that advertisers must be protected from themselves and in Montreal they are pressing forward with a proposal to restrict billboards, and the Quebec legislature will be asked to pass an act which will give municipalities power to restrain them. One of the United States—Kansas—has passed a state law prohibiting all signs except markers on a right of way and within 300 feet of a turn of road, an intersection and a crossing.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 25 years ago)

Brockville is boasting that it has furnished Archbishop Lewis to the Church of England and Archbishop Gauthier to the Roman Catholic Church.

At 10 o'clock this morning at the residence of the bride's parents, Ind. Con. Thurlow, Miss Alice M. Wilson was married to Mr. Frank Bennett, at the same township, Rev. Mr. Arthur, of Melrose performed the ceremony.

The funeral of the late Dr. James Curtell took place this afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. John Ferguson, a life-long friend of deceased, conducted the service.

Manager Farley went to Toronto yesterday.

Mrs. H. Greenleaf and son are visiting friends in Toronto.

Consul Hendricus returned yesterday from a visit to Judge Fralick's camp.

Mrs. A. C. Vermilyea and Miss Consul have gone to Toronto to attend the Fair.

Miss Sarah Thompson, Catherine St., left this morning to visit friends in Toronto.

POEM

What beauty in sea-water
The bright and sparkling water
Whose joyous waves go dancing all the day,
With fireless sea-gulls winging
Where salt-sweet winds are flinging
Aloft the snow banners of the spray!
Great wealth is like sea-water,
Great fame is like sea-water,
A double to the eyes that look thereon;
Love lies for every fancy
In that bright necromancy,
A lure like that of dancing seas at dawn.
But who would drink sea-water,
Would drink the salt sea-water
That feeds the sight but leaves the third unslaked?
Such drinks are wealth and power,
Which brings but barren dower,
Denying joys for which the heart has ached.

HAVE YOU HEARD THESE?

"I want to get this cheque cashed," said a young wife to a clerk at the bank. "Yes, madam, but you must endorse it." "Why my husband sent it to me! He is away onbusiness." "Yes, madam. But just sign it on the back, and your husband will know that we paid it to you." The young lady went back to the desk, and in a few minutes returned with the cheque endorsed: "Gone, loving wife, Lily!"

If Jones, as an ordinary individual, were to give Brown an orange, he would simply say, "I give you this orange." But if Jones were a lawyer he would adopt this written form: "I here by give and convey to you, all and singular, my estate and interest, right, title, claim and advantages of and in and to said orange, together with all its rind, juice, pulp, and pips, and all rights and advantages therein with full power to bite, suck, and otherwise eat the same, or give the other deed or deeds, instrument or instruments of whatever nature or kind sower to the contrary in any case notwithstanding?"

A popular author was talking to an old countryman about his books. "Do you know," he said, "I often get paid at the rate of sixpence a word for my writings?" "Oh, that's nothing so wonderful" said the old man, somewhat contemptuously. "I'm not much of a writer, myself but when I do write I get paid five shillings a word." "You do?" said the author, laughingly. "Yes" was the reply. "When I go to a certain office on Friday all I have to do is to write 'Thomas Hart' on my pension-form, and I get ten shillings!"

PLAN MOOTED TO CURB OPIUM TRAFFIC

New Minister Inducted At John St. Church--Closing Day Of Fair

FINAL DAY OF BELLEVILLE FAIR

Prize Livestock On Parade Before Grand-Stand Today

FINANCIAL SUCCESS

Concluding Performance of Vaudeville And Pageant Tonight

Far better attendance has been the case this year at Belleville' great Fair than last year. Once again yesterday a huge mob milled about the grounds in the afternoon and evening. Seven thousand seven hundred and forty six was the record for yesterday, a splendid turnout.

To-day it is confidently expected that fully as large a crowd should attend. In front of the grandstand this afternoon will take place the judging of light horses in harness, a most pop ular event, besides the splendid vaudeville acts and other attractions. Then this evening, the pageant will be displayed for the last time, and it is well worth seeing. The judging of exhibits is gradually being finished, and as today is the last day, there should be a splendid attendance.

Last night, once again, the grandstand was packed from end to end. There was not one available seat shortly after the performance started.

A great and decidedly wonderful surprise was handed to a large number of last night's patrons when President Charles Hanna announced that Mrs. McLeod, prize winning soprano of last years Toronto Exhibition, would render two selections. "The Maple Leaf" and "Annie Laurie", were Mrs. McLeod's numbers, and were enthusiastically received by the audience.

Notice should be taken of the Shetty Brothers act in the vaudeville. Patrons to-night should not miss seeing these men perform as they are of a high-class order.

SCHOOL BELLS TO CLANG AGAIN

Belleville Has Now Six Up-To-Date And Model Buildings

A glorious and long adventure, two months of summer holidays, comes to an end on Tuesday next when all the school children in Belleville will troop back to the daily "grind." It has been a glorious summer for vacationing with little rain and not too much heat. It will be a little hard at first to get back into the routin again.

Many familiar faces will be missing from the schools this fall, but other will come along of take their places Those who leave the schools this year will be replaced by youngsters just starting their elementary education.

With the new Collegiate and Vocational School ready for occupancy next week there will be no necessity for sending the students home on a cold morning in January because the rooms are too cold.

Belleville now has, due to the foresight and tenacity of the Board o Education, six schools that cannot b excelled anywhere in the Dominion and six artistically beautiful build ings.

TWO HUNDRED KILLED IN THE HURRICANI

Port Au Prince, Haiti, Aug. 31.—Situation on southern Peninsula of Haiti, devasted by a hurricane, August 17, appeared today to be desperate. Aviators who made a reconnaissance flight over storm-damaged region reported that they could see little sign of human activity. About two hundred were killed and ten hundred rendered homeless.

REV. ROBT. HALL IS INDUCTED AS MINISTER AT JOHN ST. CHURCH

Dr. Kent of Queen's And VETERAN MEMBER WILL NOT RUN AGAIN

Rev. Richard Roberts Officiate

Rev. Robert Hall was officially inducted as Minister of John St. Methodist Church at a largely attended meeting held in the Church last evening. Rev. Hall assumed charge of the pulpit some weeks ago but the induction ceremony was withheld until the vacation season was over. Rev. T. B. Kerr of Maple, Ontario, former pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church led in prayer and Dr. H. A. Kent, Principal of Queen's Theological College addressed the minister and outlined the duties that evolved upon him as the leader of the Church. Rev. Richard Roberts, pastor emeritus applied the Shepherd of the Flock, or pastor. He said that he thought the word "minister" more adequate as it herald means "servant". He advised the Minister to study the, thoughts and lives of his congregation and said he owed a duty to the Church which was far above that to the Congregation. "The duty to Christ is greater than that to any Church, Dr. Kent stated. "A minister should not spend too much time with th people that he likes, but rather should visit those who are not so closely associated and need the help an assistance of Christ.

Rev. Richard Roberts of Sherbourn St. Church, Toronto, addressed th congregation and spoke of the duties and obligations of the pew.

Following the Induction Service social gathering and reception for Rev. and Mrs. Hall was held in the Sunday School rooms. Rev. Hall was presented with a new gown by the Congregation, the presentation being made by Mr. J. B. Fiday. Mr. J. W Cook on behalf of the congregation and Session presented Rev. L. S. Wigh with a cheque as a slight apprecia tion for his services rendered during the vacancy in Intermediate.

R. J. Graham who acted as Chair man of the reception committee greet ings from the session to Mr. and Mrs Hall. Mack Robertson brought greet ings from the Board of Managers and Mrs. J. W. Cook extended th greetings of the Missionary Society Mrs. Dr. Kinnear extended th felicitations of the Help Society and Mr. A. D. Archibald, Superintendent of the Sunday School extended the best wishes from the members and teach ers. Mrs. Hall and Mrs. Wight were the recipients of flowers presented by little Misses Jean Archibald and Dor Bankier. Musical numbers were ren dered during the Induction Service and social evening by Mr. Leo Biggs Miss Leona Riggs and Mr. James Bankier. It was one of the most en joyable evenings spent in the Church for some time and Mr. and Mrs. Hall were more than delighted with th reception tendered them.

URGES BRITISH TO INVEST HERE

Empire Parliamentary Association Spend Busy Time In Toronto

TRIP TO FALLS

Premier Describes Development of Ontario's Natural Resources

Toronto, Aug. 31.—Premier Ferguson and members of the Ontario Government welcomed the delegates of the Empire Parliamentary Association to Toronto today. During their four-day stay in Toronto, the delegates face a busy programme interspersed with visits to Niagara and London.

The programme opened with an informal conference at the Parliament Building between members of the provincial government and the delegates.

In the opening conference, Premier Ferguson described the development and the possibilities in mining, agriculture and industry in Ontario. "You will be told" he said, "that the prairie provinces raise a wheat crop which brings five hundred million dollars into Canada. Ontario produces agricultural products to the value of five hundred million dollars which we never say anything about."

The Premier urged the British investment in Canada saying that forty per cent of the industrial development was by American Capital, and American branch plant interests which were spent in the United States.

Viscount Peel, who headed the parliamentary party, voiced the sentiments of the entire assembly in saying that the members were more than delighted with the success of their tour and with their reception in Canada.

Commenting on the bringing of miners from Great Britain to Canada Viscount Peel said it was a vital experiment in emigration.

W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader in Ontario joined Premier Ferguson in the welcome to the visiting delegates

UPWARD TREND IN CHICAGO WHEAT MART

Chicago, Aug. 31.—A heather loss at Liverpool brought a little more confidence into the Chicago wheat pit at the opening today and prices ranged unchanged to 5.4c above Thursday's close. The buying was rather restrained uninterested and there were enough offers on the upturn to bring a small reduction. The cool weather sent a liveness to the corn market and with shorts covering and some buying by local interests prices were unchanged to 1-2c higher. Oats were steady and provisions easy.

UNCOVERS NEST OF GOLF BALLS

B. Noble Stacey, Kingston, Finds Balls Cached In Trees

Kingston, Aug. 31. — B. Noble Stacey had an interesting experience while playing golf yesterday. On the seventh hole, leading to the club house, he sent out a fairly drive, followed by a second and shorter shot which sliced into the trees to the right. While Mr. Stacey was looking around for the lost ball, his club stuck in a hole at the side of a tree and loosened some grass and turf in front of it. Replacing the sod, to his astonishment, a perfect nest of golf balls—eleven in all. Singularly enough, as revealed by the names on them, none of them had been in play this year and the only explanation now offered for the presence of the balls is that they were "cached" there by a dog, which it is recalled, was running loose on the course last year and which had a habit of picking up balls and running away with them to hide them. The balls seemed none the worse for their year in the hole.

Heir To Throne Spends Happy Hour With Gene Tunney

London, Aug. 31.—The Prince of Wales had a fifteen minute chat with Gene Tunney at St. James palace today, the meeting between the two being purely informal.

Tunney would not talk about the interview with the Prince but his happy manager as he emerged from the room where they chatted indicated that he had enjoyed the experience hugely. The Prince paid the great the unusual honor when he himself escorted Tunney to the door and by ushering him out, stepped back and insisted that the ex-champion pre cede him through the exit.

It was learned the Prince was very much his natural self throughout the talk. He displayed an expert knowledge of boxing and other sports and gave evidence that he had followed the ex-marin's career in the ring with considerable attention

CHECK SPREAD OF PARALYSIS

Ten Lives Have Been Taken In Manitoba Rural Districts

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—An active campaign to check the spread of infan tile paralysis in Winnipeg and the rural districts of Manitoba, which during the past month has taken the toll of ten lives, mostly children, will commence immediately after the election of a prominent local physician who will co-operate with the city and Provincial Health authorities.

This was decided upon at a meeting of the Winnipeg Medical Society last night at which a committee was formed to conduct the campaign of education. The first case of the dread disease was reported on July 21 and since then 77 cases have been record ed in Winnipeg, sixty of which occurred during the past thirty-one days.

WEST REQUIRES HARVEST HELP

Canadian Pacific Says Every Man Was Suitably Placed

Winnipeg, Aug. 30.—A good steady stream of requests for harvesters is be ing received at the local employment service of Canada here, said J. A. Bowman, manager, today, referring to reports reaching here to the effect that many harvesters were walking the roads in search of jobs unable to obtain work. Mr. Bowman declared only one complaint had been received from the British Harvesters and this, they had been turned out at night by a farmer, was being investigated. The remainder of the men had been directed every harvester it handled had been sent to a definite farmer. Mr. Bowman said Eastern Canada harvesters insisted on picking their own place of employment and this might cause a suspicion that some were out of work.

CLOSING DAY

The curtain will ring down today on Belleville's 1928 Annual Autumn Industrial Exhibition, one of the most successful "seasons" of its kind ever held in this City. Favored by ideal weather from the start the Directors have realized their fondest hopes and all records in regard to attendance have been shattered. Belleville Fair is gaining recognition throughout the Province as one of the leading Exhibitions, and in the years that follow the Directors will reap by their past reliable past no doubt this City will, within a few short years become the home of a Fair that is second to none among the leading Ontario centres. It has become an institution, your Fair, and any Fair, and with the people of Belleville supporting the support that is necessary in all such ventures the Fair will assume a metropolitan aspect. Section Club members have given unstintingly of their time and the Directors have endeavoured to provide only the best and cleanest of entertainment. With one united effort the Fair Club has a success and it is the unanimous spirit that has been truly accomplished in the Fair that really lies for success. The smaller things have not been overlooked and traffic rules which are frequently an unfortunate feature have been averted by a fine squad of Traffic Directors under the capable supervision of Chas. Campbell, Belleville is the centre of one of the richest farming communities in the Province and it is the distribution of the products of its field and garden that are a prime necessity in any successful Fair. Hon. William Finlayson, Minister of Lands and Forests, created food for thought in his opening-day speech, when he stated that the farmers interest must be maintained, otherwise the Fair problem is doomed to failure.

The sensational form of entertainment that has been carried too far by Co-operative Fair Directors," he said "and we must not lose sight of the fact that it is primarily a Fall Fair." The spacious new buildings were taxed almost to capacity and it will be but a few years before additions must be made. The motor car has been a great stimulant to Fairs as was indicated by the fact that over thirteen hundred autos were parked on the grounds on Wednesday.

Belleville is an ideal establishment city and while the growth has not been as rapid as many other cities, nevertheless the foundation has been laid and situated as we are with water and rail facilities for manufacturers, bounded on all sides by a fertile farming country and composed of a happy and contented people, the progress of the city in the next ten years will be marked as never before.

TOURISTS' PARKS

Orillia is a busy town on Lake Couchiching in the Muskoka Lake District, but the fame of its tourist park has been brought to our direct attention and by way of suggestion we might pass it on to our readers. Orillia has a tourist park situated at a beautiful waterfront where water-craft can be procured at nominal cost and motorists are invited to remain a few days and enjoy the pleasures derived from boating, angling and swimming. In several cases it has been known that tourists bent on seeing the country have been so enthused with the novel method of entertaining visitors that they have remained as long as a week, pitching their tents on the Park and spending their money with the merchants of Orillia. Belleville has an ideal tourist camp, situated on the main highway with every convenience provided, but there is another spot which might be converted with a little thought into another attraction. Also of the finest parks in the Province Zwick's Island was formerly a mecca for picnic parties, but with the advent of the motor car, pleasure-seekers have sought greener fields. This spot is but a few minutes drive from the heart of the city, on the shores of the beautiful Bay of Quinte with its rock-ribs of Prince Edward County with its picturesque rolling hills for a background. Tourists naturally seek a swimming beach after a tiresome day on the road and the western point of the island might easily be transformed into a splendid beach. In this manner tourists would be induced to remain here longer than a few hours. Belleville merchants would benefit considerably and ratepayers would thank it's Hero to step annually here. Its one disadvantage is the fact that it is off the main highway but signs would have the effect of diverting the traffic in this direction.

HIKE FOR HEALTH

Automobile hatreds is responsible for many physical defects, than Kilometric accidents, says a bulletin of the Canadian Parks association. The automobile, it points out, by making it possible for us to go through life with luxury and physical inertia, has completely changed our mode of living. But we have not materially changed our diet; we still eat the same quantities of fatty food, customary fifty years ago.

The medical profession has been sounding a warning note for some time. Easy and quick transportation at any time is one of the great blessings of the automobile. But its greatness of blessings is capable of abuse. A recent investigation in the United States shows that an ever-increasing percentage of well-to-do people have either undergone an operation or are suffering from some kind of physical weakness, while the number of sudden deaths of apparently healthy people is increasing at a rapid rate. These facts are all well known to life insurance companies.

To preserve his health, man must exercise and exercise regularly. The most natural of all exercise is walking in the open air; the briskier the pace, the better. But, though it is the easiest of all forms of exercise and recreation, hoofing no equine delay and no club dues, it is perhaps the one form least patronized on this continent.

The blame for all this may be placed on the thoughtless use of the automobile. So strong has the habit of riding become that many persons will use their cars to go to the next block, although the journey could be accomplished much easier on foot. Many people out for a day's healthful recreation will drive through the parks as far as the law allows, thus missing the main benefits for which the parks were made.

Business men engaged in sedentary occupations frequently claim that they have no time for walking. They might as well claim they have no time for eating, or for living. If any more "weeks" are set aside for specific drives, the "walk to work" week should be given a chance. They is no better time of the year for early morning walking exercise than in the fall week that is ahead. But doubtless some active spiritual would quickly throw cold water on such a proposal by pointing out that a walk to work might involve walking home afterwards.

PASSING YEARS
(From The Intelligencer of this day 30 years ago)

Tom Rogerson received serious injuries about the face yesterday when a horse he was driving became unmanageable and kicked the vehicle to pieces. His jaw was badly cut but was not broken.

The John St. Kindergarten taught by Miss Yeomans will re-open on Monday, September 13.

CARE COURTESY COMMON SENSE

REMEMBER
these 7 Rules of Safety

1. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape—particularly Brakes, Steering Gear and Headlights.
2. Give your undivided attention to your driving. In passing traffic, be sure there is a place for you in the traffic line ahead.
3. When other motor vehicles try to pass you—let them pass.
4. In entering main streets or highways, or in approaching a railway crossing where a full view of the track is obstructed, stop and look.
5. Don't "loaf" where traffic is heavy.
6. Always signal before you slow down, stop or change your course.
7. Never back up before ascertaining that the road behind is clear.

Their Holiday Ruined Perhaps WORSE

They left for their week-end holiday by motor—all happy and free from care. But the driver took a chance—was careless or inattentive for just a moment. An accident! Their holiday ruined—perhaps worse.

It happens too often. Yet most automobile accidents can be averted if drivers will only be alert all the time.

Again Ontario highways lure the holiday seekers. Because of the International Holiday on Monday—Labour Day—during this week-end over three million persons will be touring on the roads of Ontario. Automobile traffic probably will reach a volume never known before. The hazards of accidents will increase in far greater proportions.

The slightest bit of carelessness or inattention is a positive risk. Play safe always. The few minutes to be gained by taking a chance are not worth while if even a slight risk is incurred.

The driver who maintains a reasonable, steady speed, gets there almost as soon—and gets there safely. The reckless driver, cutting in and out of traffic, now "stepping on it," now jamming brakes, gains little in time and is a constant danger to himself and to his passengers and other innocent people on the road.

During this week-end Traffic Officers and Municipal Police will be particularly vigilant and maximum punishment may be expected by all who receive a summons. Be Careful.

COOLER EVENINGS

Although yesterday promised to be a "scorcher" Bellevillians last night arrived in the lightest of summer clothes, shivered miserably and top coats were in order. Today the high temperature recorded was one of the slight degree above, while the low point of fifty was the most comforting shivering last night. Twas perilous by close to frost! Yesterday's ten paratures were seventy-nine and sixty-four.

A FINE DISPLAY

When visiting the Fair one should not fail to see the booth sponsored by A. Hale. Here are shown beautiful examples of fir wood, while pine and dyeddish spoon. Another feature of this booth is the examples of Brantford Roofing, handled exclusively by Mr. Hale.

"COLUMBIA ORTHOPHONICS" INDORSED

In a report in Wednesday's issue describing the various exhibits in the Manufacturers' Building at the Fair, the terms "Columbia" and "Victor phonic" talking machines were linked up together. This description of the Columbia "Viva-tone" at the Fair is incorrect as the Victor Company was the exhibitor of the new "orthophonic"—true in sound; hence there is only one Orthophonic talking machine that produced by the Victor Company. Doyle's Drug Store, Bridge street, Belleville agents have an attractive display of these machines at the Fair along the recently announced Victor Radio and combination sets.

WON SPECIAL PRIZE

LEAVE AT NINE O'CLOCK

Belleville Nationals will leave by automobile tomorrow morning for Oshawa at nine o'clock. The game is scheduled to start at three o'clock Oshawa time, or two o'clock Belleville time, so plenty of time will be had for the players to stretch their legs and eat before the game. It is not yet known who will play although Gibson will likely be the starter.

A CHOICE ATTRACTION

The contagion of laughter is one of the reasons for the great success of The Cohens and Kelly's in Paris, which will be shown at the Belle next week, starting Monday. Laughter is the most infectious of all human experiences, and those who see this great comedy-drama will be aware of this if they never has before. Suitable music is always supplied at the theatre by the capable Jazz Dennark, and a pleasant evening is in store for Belleville theatre-goers.

AIR MAIL SERVICE

Every day since the Toronto Exhibition opened its gates, a Mail Plane has passed over Belleville on its way to Kingston or on the return trip. Exception is now one of the regular stops of the mail plane and this city had a suitable landing field, Belleville could also be made a regular port of call. It takes a little less than two hours for the Toronto to Kingston trip, and service will be maintained all winter, so the great advantage of having this fast service can be seen especially as it applies to business men.

SHOW REMAINS OVER

Charles Hanna announced to the Intelligencer today that the Lotier Bros Brudwell carnival would be back over to-morrow for the benefit of those who have not been able to reach the Fair before. The bulletin will still contain some of the exhibits, although the work of removing the wares will be going on all day to-morrow.

PLEASING DISPLAYS

When visiting the Fair for the last time to-night, patrons should take especial notice of the Hydro Electric display in the Merchants building. Model Teapee, Kalvinator electric washers are pleasingly arranged in artistic display. This booth should prove a great attraction to the housewives.

Doyle's drug store has on display some beautiful Victor Orthophonics, the latest models. There are four or five of these machines shown, ranging in prices to suit the modest purse but all are worth seeing.

Social and Personals

Provincial Inspector Howard Graham, of Ottawa, is in Belleville for a few days on business.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Franklin Hinchey, George Street, are leaving today for Banff and Lake Louise.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Smith and son Edward of Erie, Pa., are visiting relatives in this city for a few days.

Mrs. Dr. Downs of Toledo, Ohio, is expected in town this week to visit Miss Edna Morgan.

Mr. P. Smith and daughter Doris of Delora are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Morley, Myers Street.

R. J. Hilliard was a guest on the "Dalhousie City" the official guest boat of the third Wrigley Marathon on Wednesday.

Mr. E. P. Connolly of Scranton, Pa., and Miss Winnifred Connolly of Trenton were the guests of Mrs. J. C. Mulligan this week.

Mrs. M. J. Clarke, of St. Catharines has returned to Toronto after spending a few days in this city renewing acquaintances.

Mrs. Geo. Perry and family have returned to their home in Toronto after spending the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Jno. Colden, Hillcrest Ave.

Mr. W. C. Reid informed the Intelligencer today that he expects returning to the accident in which Rev. Harold Reid was involved are greatly exaggerated. Mr. Reid was not injured and Rev. Moodie who accompanied him was much improved.

Geneva, Aug. 31.—The League of Nations council today referred to the league assembly for action, the British project for the appointment of a commission of experts to study the opium situation in the far east. This was done on the proposal of senator Macdonnie King of Canada.

BUYING BY TEST IS RECOMMENDED

There is no other commodity of like value, in the sale of which the producer has so little to say. This remark was made by a member of the Dairy Cattle committee during a discussion on the question of the problems affecting the distribution of milk. The committee met recently in Ottawa under the chairmanship of the Dominion Live Stock Commissioner, H. S. Arkell, and Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture attended the sessions.

The representatives of Dairy Cattle Breed Association, Milk Producers' Organizations, the Milk Dairy Council & Agricultural College of Ontario & Quebec, all took part in the matter of fluid milk production, control from practically all angles in the hands of the distributing agencies.

The Committee was agreed producers of high grade milk must be given adequate protection against unfair competition from the low grade and unsanitary producers. It will found that the higher cost of producing milk on inspected premises placed at unfair burden on the producers when, as is frequently the case, they are selling and often bargaining competition with the product of uninspected plants. Despite existing dissatisfaction, a clear improvement is reported in the quality of milk both as regards butter fat content and sanitary conditions, but the producer responsible for this improvement is not securing the benefits.

The recommendations of the committees include the providing of facilities for the purchase of whole milk and cream by test through the establishing of a testing service in which producers would have full confidence; and action by cities and municipalities to bring about uniformity of inspection services as regards requirements and application in a given area shipping to one market and as between areas where shipping overlaps.

A special meeting is to be called shortly to which representation be invited from the Federal, Quebec cream by test though the establishing

OUR CRAVING FOR THE HAPPY ENDING

By DR. LOUIS E. BISCH

As theatre-goers we all instinctively crave a happy ending to the play we see.

And this is why playwrights, managers, actors and the critics are forever concerned with this problem.

Cannot a play be commercially profitable without the happy ending?

Is not the art of dramaturgy demoralized when the plot is deliberately and artificially twisted around simply to please the audience.

Why do people go to the theatre, to start with?

First and foremost, it is because they wish to be entertained, to get away from reality and lose themselves.

The theatre is one of the most convenient methods of escape.

We like to pry into the affairs of others, see how their lives compare with our own, watch the interplay of human emotions, observe the effects of clashing wills.

Thirdly, we are all AVERS at heart and "all mankind loves a lover." Most plays deal with the problem of love.

Fourth: we are all children at heart deep down.

We identify ourselves with every hero and heroine we see on the stage. The first person, however, dominates all the others.

We don't, you see, try to escape from something we like.

We try always to get away from the hideous, cold facts of life because we do not like them.

Then way go to see a play that ends unhappily? Why see a drama that ends in a hopeless, discouraging or despondent key?

Does not such a play defeat the very object we went to the play for?

That is the reason why the majority of playgoers prefer the happy ending.

That is why also plays with happy endings continue to be the most likely to be profitable.

Plays with unhappy endings have gaining in vogue but probably they never will supplant the other kind.

That, however, is no valid reason for not producing plays that end naturally and logically as they should.

Plays should be true to life.

They should not distort life.

No happy ending is justified if the play itself purposely twists facts of life in order to finish happily.

When a play does that, then the happy ending is merely a lie in disguise!

feel it to be artificial and triumphed-up under such circumstances we up and our pleasure, reaction to the want the happy ending as much as European audiences do not seem to we Americans do.

Undoubtedly the many wars and hardships the people have suffered over there has made the happy ending seem just too improbable.

Furthermore the drama abroad has always been much more of an educational agency than here.

And education demands truth rather than fiction.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

When at a dance, I see has to sit out two or three dances in succession, alone, is it proper for her if her partner for the evening isn't dancing and has not noticed that she is not dancing, to go to him and ask him to dance with her? That is, if it does not happen often and she usually has plenty of partners. LILLIAN.

LILLIAN: Well, Lillian, I don't think I'd want to go to a dance with a partner who so utterly ignored me. And, too, I shouldn't ask him to dance with me. When he invites you to a dance, he should see that you are provided with a partner for every dance, first, however; reserving such dances for himself as he may want.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my early teens and have been going out with a boy for seven months, who is two years my senior. He comes to the house every night and my mother doesn't object.

Would it be advisable for me to be engaged after one year of steady company? He always talks to me about getting married and I object to his talking about it. He tells me he loves me and I love him but how can I find out if he really does care for me?

BLUE-EYED DOT.

BLUE-EYED DOT: The young man has certainly given sufficient proof of his love for you, when he asked you to become his wife. Why not become engaged, and then wait a year before getting married?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a young man of twenty. I think a great deal of a girl whom I met last fall, and I know she thinks very well of me. I have two more years in college, but I would like to know if you would advise me to become engaged. She is two years older than I. Do you think that makes any real difference? She is the one I'm going to my ideal of a wife and have ever known.

If you do not advise becoming engaged, do you think a talk with her would help much?

TOMMY.

TOMMY: Yes, I think a talk might clear the situation up very satisfactorily. At least it would let you know where you stand in the young lady's estimation and save you, perhaps many anxious hours. I shouldn't advise an engagement until after you have college, for you will need all your time and thought for your studies. Yes two might come to some sort of an understanding—that is, if she cares she might promise to wait for you. But in the meantime, I should advise you to steer clear of engagements until you are through college and in a position to take proper care of a wife.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two girls in our late teens and considered very good looking and very popular.

As we were walking home from town one beautiful evening, two very popular boys stopped in a coupe and asked to take up home and we hopped in.

Do you think it was proper for us to do so?

CAP AND RED.

CAP AND RED: No, I don't think you did the right thing, unless you knew the young men and had been introduced to them. No man, except in very rare cases, has much respect for a girl whom he can "pick up" and you would have only yourselves to thank if you insult that might be offered you.

CHAPTER 34

Jarring Notes

The day that Hal moved from his apartment to his club, Irma was busy loading her apartment for the summer. It didn't take her very long. The superintendent had been to see the details for her, and she airily refused even to make a list of her belongings.

"Too much trouble," she told the superintendent, when he expressed his amazement.

To Hal that evening she had rung him up at the club and suggested that a dinner invitation was in order.... she sighed. "My dear, what I need is a perfect week from so much work and responsibility."

He eyed her. "You don't look it.... But I didn't know you intended to sub-let your place."

"Neither did Steve," she laughed gleefully, attacking a dry martini. "He'll just about murder me, because there's a lot of old junk in it that his family sent down from New England. Sort of Pilgrim relics, you know. I'd be only too glad if the few tenants would use them for kindling."

"You're terribly heartless, Irma. Haven't you any regrets for his feelings?"

"I have much more respect for my own purse," she answered tartly. "And I can use the rent very nicely for pin money. You know, living at hotels is expensive. One simply must have heaps of clothes, and I've got a ducky suite besides."

He found himself trying to picture Marguerite in like circumstances—and failing. She was so punctilious about money matters, absolutely as he had thought all winter, when she insisted upon him looking over her household accounts, that he might know just what she had done with every penny of the generous allowance he gave her. He had made a pretense of doing, much as it bored him, and had noted that she ever paid strictly record to the price of every potato and hat and pair of gloves. Poor girl!

On a sudden impulse, he mentioned this to Irma. She nodded "I know. Isn't she a bore? Little fool. Mr. Loyd Steve unmercifully by raking the prices on every bill that comes in."

"But, here in hell, that you don't think that's straight shooting? If a chap can't trust his own wife, whom can he trust?"

She made a grimace of distaste "Oh do drop that like. I've served it for five years now, and I'm sick to death of it.... Let's talk of anything else

A PEACEFUL HOTEL

What is Life? Is it a never-ending routine of shopping, visiting theatres, or attending dances? Or is it the sitting beneath a canopy of leafy trees imagining that the hardships and worries of life are far distant, and in fresh of us the steady lap of waters? The latter, we all agree, for it has many compensations not found in the former, it is in the country that we find a new sense with the hidden brook oering its peaceful accompaniments. It is with the noble trees, and hills and valleys, that the beauties of life are reflected and the highest sentiments creep forth. Go to the Kawartha Lakes, Muskoka, Georgian Bay, the Bungalow Camps of Prentiss River and Hungry Hall, a truly other delight full spots for which Ontario is famed and revel in the peace and beauty of forest and stream.

Let the Canadian Pacific assist you with your trip, consult their nearest agent for travel particulars.

That may have been the reason that you found that we, when first saw Rin-Tin-Tin, and that you kept on going to see him whenever he came to town. He appeals to all ages—everybody as he affected you. That is because everybody—member, seven or seventy, elder lass, or lad, all of us wanted to have, a dog of his own.

HELP FOR THE QUEBEC BLIND

Social Service Workers Will Help Sightless People

Montreal, Que. (C.P.)—Aware of there being eighteen persons in rural districts of Quebec who have been taught to read or write in raised type or to occupy themselves with handicrafts, the Social Service and Montreal Association for the Blind is anxious to have its properties known to all residents of the province who are without their vision. A. W. Campbell, supervisor of social service and home teaching for the association declared that he knows of no fewer than 60 blind persons in small towns and villages who, he stated, "side cheir selves away in corners because they feel helpless and discouraged."

"These are the people the Home Teaching Department would like to reach," added Mr. Chandler. "And there must be many more than those who are afflicted and whom lives would be much happier if they studied the Braille or the Moon system of reading and writing in raised type.

"They would have confidence in themselves and would be restored to usefulness."

DAVIDITES GET STERN REBUKE

Michigan Courts Threaten Action If Dissensions Do Not Cease

Benton Parbon, Mich.—The House of David, divided against itself has drawn a new rebuke from the State of Michigan.

Unless there is a cessation of the dissension threatening the colony of sects, the State will ask reinstatement of the receivership which was suspended by the bloody appeal to the Supreme Court. The ultimatum to the Davidites was issued by Attorney General Brucker who declared the situation in the colony is "sad."

Since the death of "King" Benjamin Purnell, who organized the cult, two factions have sought control, the state charges. One faction is headed by "Queen" Mary Purnell, widow of the "King." The other is led by R. T. Dowland, one time California jockey and the man who headed counsel for Purnell when he faced charges brought by former girl members of the colony.

The Attorney General expressed the belief that the division within the House of David was about equal. Each group seeks to control the policies of the colony.

Brucker does not believe that there has been any appreciable decrease in the number of members since the state took over the receivership. He said that the House of David baseball team, touring under the management of Purnell, the former jockey, a follower of Queen Mary, has turned in no receipts this year. Although in former years its receipts have been about $14,000. There also is a jazz band of bearded Davidites which regularly fills theatrical engagements.

The farming power of the colony, however, has been as free of grease than during the heyday of King Ben, the Attorney General said. All derelictions of individual members are pooled in a common fund.

FELLOWSHIP OF TRUTH AND LOVE, IS MOTTO

Winnipeg, Man.—(Canadian Press). Fellowship of the Inexpressible is of "Fellowship of Truth and Love" is to be brought before the meeting of Rev. Jonas D. Trout, Mr. Chowen in Winnipeg, September 5-15 by Rev. Dr. B. D. Chown, Mr. Chowen's brother-in-law, and a former Methodist Church of Canada. Dr. Chown states he has discovered a saving doctrine for each a fellowship among the adherents of the church throughout the world.

Enlarging upon his program, Dr. Chow declared he was the medium of a "new movement" which includes a choice methods of the old class meeting "a revival of the love feast." He said, "the marvelous success which has attended the Round Table Conference of Stanley Jones in India, New Zealand and Australia as describing these conferences as "open ad frank, and mean nothing to anyone, what religion means to him." Confidential in that Dr. Chown said, "This kind of conference is a search for truth, reality and spiritual freedom. It is not related to spiritual organization of any kind, but is confined to the supreme purpose of discovering what religion means to each person." This is the method of science. It grows upon experience, and what one discovers it freely declares to all."

BELLEVILLE NATIONALS HOPEFUL OF TAKING SECOND FINAL GAME

Gibson And "Dainty" Will Oppose Each Other At Oshawa

After a week's lay-off the Belleville Nationals will step into Oshawa tomorrow and judging from the comments that has filtered through the big locals' camp they have all intentions of making it two straight and sending the fifteen into the dismals the Nationals played the Chiefs an exhibition game yesterday on the Centreville diamond and it proved a tight affair—but the critical gaps between some of the regulars were absent and "Penny" Mills says he's suffering from a bad cold did not, get the big edge. Ben Scott doing the twirling. It was an abbreviated affair "Hoot" Gibson pitching five innings while "Dainty" pitched the other frame. Manager Walter Gowe announced that Gibson would be sent to the hillock. "Duke" Dainty will probably be Gibson's opponent and Dainty if he is in the best form that he was down here will be sent to the skewers before many innings are over. The Nats' line does not the nationals this good shi with the clicking display with the Parrots they have been unable to hold any home-to-goodness pro- cific session. The batting practice will be held on the Fair Ground tonight and the team will leave, by motor for Oshawa, o'clock in the morning for the night of the contest. The umps will call "play ball" at 2:30 o'clock sharp in two o'clock, Standard time. No ticket money Belleville Take will accompany the Nats to Oshawa for this game. The Nats won the game from the Chiefs at a score of 6-5 in the first and over-hung themselves. Bill "Penny" Mills, Sunny Green are one of the other regulars whose names were not in uniform. The Corby Nats people turned out to see how th, phenomena of the Dominion League stacked up against the finalists o the Central League and at that the witnessed a good game.

RUTH GETS 47TH CIRCUIT SMASH

Wake Hoyt Lost Pitching Duel To Sam Jones

Washington, August 31.—Sad Sam Jones caused the downfall of the Yan kees yesterday.

But, because of the defeat of Philadelphia, the league-leading Yanks still retain their margin of two and a half games over their nearest and only rivals footsie pennants.

The only thing the Yanks did to mar Sonny's record was to allow one run, and that was the result of a worth emphasizing except for the fact that it was Babe Ruth's forty-seventh home run of the season. Had it not been for that blow, the Senators didn't do a thing all afternoon but fan helplessly at Waite Hoyt. But they did enough to roll up a 3-1 victory, which was the main purpose of the affair.

After five furious innings of air-tight pitching by Sad Sam and Waite Hoyt, the Washington broke the scoreless tie with an outburst of hitting that knocked the latter out of the box. They made only ten hits altogether, but they made five of them in the ninth and caused the fourth defeat of Hoyt this year.

The Yanks just were not hitting. Whether it was the pitching supplied by Jones or just a habit they have formed in a winter which hasn't been satisfactorily answered, but the fact remains that only seven of their swings left the infield, and only three of these able to bunch as many as two hits in the same inning.

That happened in the ninth, when they might have turned the tide attempts for an unbroken lookout that befell Mr. Ruth. He hit into a double play. Pinelling by two runs in the last stand, Gehrig made an unpleasant start by singling to center. Lazzeri hit safely but Koenig walked, but in between the hits bounced into a double play, and when Robertson filed to centre it was the third out.

BULLETIN SERVICE ON FINAL BALL GAME

With the interest that has been attached to the ball game at Oshawa tomorrow for the championship of the Central League between Oshawa and Belleville the Intelligencer has arranged for special bulletin service from a solid reporter at Alexandra Park. Scores will be served at the conclusion of each inning and hour data will be kept in direct touch with the progress of the game. Telephones 1242 and 36 will be at the service of the fans and they will be given information on the latest scores by calling either of these numbers. The game will start at three o'clock Daylight Saving Time which is two o'clock Standard time.

JOE RAY WILL JUMP TO PROS

New York, Aug. 31.—Joe Ray has decided definitely to turn professional, Intelligencer readers will be Harold J. Dibbles at a conference with Madison Square Garden officials this place are indefinite, but embrace the possibility of a return race with his Olympic partner, Schoppert, Finnish, the French druh.

Dibbles said that he arranged conference with Ray to "sound out" the runner on the subject of turning professional. The Garden officials, said, Ray, not only was willing to race the Arab, but intended to accept a position as coach at some school or college as soon as possible.

Ray has been regarding as an amateur for almost eighteen years.

SPORTOGRAMS

Belleville nationals played an exhibition game with the Ciaco Chiefs yesterday. The Nats have entered for the second of the series with Oshawa in the latter town on Saturday afternoon. The Nats have every confidence that they can drive Skipper Dahoy to the showers and Thursday's exhibition game will help them to get their eye on the ball, after a week's layoff. "Hoot" Gibson will perform on the hillock for the Nationals on Saturday and the league's leading pitcher is ready to step in and hand the Mokers a lacing.

The Oshawa team have been practicing faithfully and should put appearances here and will endeavour to even the series with the Nationals.

If four-leaf clovers mean anything then "Hoot" Gibson should come through flying, as a youngster presented him with one last night with the understanding that it be placed in his shoe on the day of the big game.

The Raftsmen team of Peterboro, champions of the East Peterboro League disposed of the Napanee team handily yesterday. Maud ley was twirling for the Raftsmen and limited Napanee to a few hits and won his game 15-1. Collins and Clenye of Belleville umpired. It is impossible that Napanee will make the trip to Peterboro for the return game.

HOLLANDER GIVES UP SWIM

Cape Gris Nez., France, August 31. —Alexander Bakker, of Holland, who started a cross-channel swim at 8.45 p.m. last night, gave up the attempt early yesterday morning. He entered the water about two hours after Annie Meyerl, of Germany, started. She was forced to quit after five hours of fruitless effort.

John McDermott, oldest resident of Harrison, recently celebrated his 80 birthday.

SPILLS FEATURE HORSE RACING

Two Accidents Marker Yesterday's Contests At Local Fair

Although no record time was made at the fair yesterday, every one got their money's worth in racing before the afternoon was over, two spills, in which, fortunately no one was seriously hurt, adding to the excitement of the contests. Owned by Dr. Johnson of Port Hope, and driven by W. Elmhurst, took the 2.30 class in three straight heats, having won the two of the other entries. Irene Private owned by Dr. Hedge of Milton, came in for second money, while Roya Knight owned and driven by Dr. Col lins of Toronto, the third money. Eva McKinney was able to come in fourth while Peter D. Lee an added starter, in fifth and last.

In the first heat of the 2.30, Rober D. Lee's mare, Royal Knight locked wheels on the first turn after the start, and Fred Rowntree, Robert D. Lee's driver, was thrown from behind trampled on by the rest of the horses while his horse, who had broken free continued over to the stables. Rowntree was thrown out of the sulky but rolled under the fence just as his horse came down where he had been a second before. Royal Knight was tangled among the harness and neither horse finished the heat.

The other accident occurred brief ly at the end of the 2.18 class when Minnie Patchen, driven by Louis Beatty of Port Hope, fell as she entered the stretch on the last heat. Beatty and Bennett was thrown high overthe horse, and landed on his forehead, receiving a nasty, bump, but wasall to pick himself up and get his free off the track. Bennett was luckier as he received no serious injury, a he could easily have been stepped on by the others. Minnie Patchen was without with the leaders at the time but failed to show her true form until next three heats, as she no doubt was suffering from her heavy fall.
